TIDAL WAVE; EARTHQUAKE; HURRICANE

French, Japanese and Russian Communities Suffer Disasters.

Coasts of Normandy and Brittany Suffer Damage.

Towns on Sea of Japan Shaken — Hundreds Dead in Russia.

Paris, March 16.—A terrific gale and the highest tide of the year have worked great havoc along the coasts of Normandy and Brittany. In the bay of Saint Michel, in the southwestern part of Normandy, no such tide has been experienced in forty years.

Huge waves dashed against the ramparts of Mont Saint Michel, a rocky little island in the bay on which is situated the famous old Benedictine abbey, to a height not usually reached by the waters and the gardens and fields in Avrancheo Genest and other villages and towns on the coast were flooded. Three hundred feet of the sea wall at Granville were swept away.

The damage at Dieppe was very great. A large portion of the promenade was wrecked and harbor improvements under construction were destroyed.

In the region of Le Treport, sixteen miles nor of Deippe, the sea penetrated at many places half a mile inland, inundating houses, from which the inhabitants made hasty escapes.

Earthquake on Hondu.

Tokio, March 16.—A serious earthquake occurred Sunday in the prefecture of Akita, island of Hondu. A number of persons in the city of Akita were killed and many houses destroyed or damaged. In the village of Kowakubi, which was ruined, there were many casualties.

Full details of the disaster have not been received on account of the interruption to communications. Sixty bodies were found in the basin of the Omono river, where 320 houses were destroyed. The village of Kiameno was burned.

As a result of the earthquake a cop-

CANADA WILL CUT FARM MACHINE DUTY

May Reduce It to 10 Per Cent on All Agricultural Implements.

Winnipeg, Man., March 16—It was reported here today that the Canadian government, when the annual budget speech is delivered this month in Ottawa, will announce a substantial reduction in duties on agricultural implements.

It is understood that on binders, reapers and mowers, the duty will be reduced from 17 to 10 per cent and a corresponding cut made on the duties on other farm implements.

Strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the government to make a duty of 10 per cent on all farm implements. The reduction, if ratified, will go into effect by April 1, and will greatly encourage the sale of United States implements in Western Canada.

OWEN GOES AMONG THE BULLS AND BEARS

Visits Stock Exchange to Get First Hand Impressions.

New York, March 16.—The New York Stock exchange received an unexpected visit today from Senator Robert L. Owen, chairman of the senate committee on banking and currency, the chief exponent of the proposed regulations affecting operations of stock exchanges. He was admitted to the floor and escorted about by Vice President H. K. Pomroy and several of the governors. Such an honor has been in the past extended to Sir Thomas Lipton and the Duke of Connaught.

The object of Senator Owen's visit was a study of the stock exchange at first hand.

POLICEMEN GUARD TERRE HAUTE CARS

Threat to Send Militia There Stops Rioting By Mobs.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 16.—Street cars today were running as usual, with two policemen on each car, but very few persons attempted to ride on the cars. There were no evidences of trouble and the police department was confident of being able to control the situation.

The warnings sent here late yesterday by Governor Ralston that eighteen companies of militia would be placed here with little delay should conditions warrant had a tendency to preserve order.

Labor union interests centered in the appearance in the Federal court in Indianapolis today of union officials who have been active in the organization of the street car men's union, when the matter of any violation of the injunction recently granted the traction company to prevent the calling of a strike was to be taken up. Also an effort will be made to fix the responsibility for the calling of a strike on Saturday night which resulted in a riot, when many cars were wrecked and several persons injured.

GOES TO TALK WITH COLORADO GOVERNOR

"MOTHER" MARY JONES, Who Was Arrested at Trinidad, Colo., Jan. 12, as an Agitator.

TAFT BEGINS BUSY TIME IN TWIN CITIES

Attends Willard Funeral and Will Lecture at Law School.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Five days of activities were begun here by Former President William H. Taft on his arrival this morning. The prime reason for Mr. Taft's coming was to deliver a course of four lectures before the University of Minnesota law school, beginning this afternoon at 4 o'clock. He has, however, accepted invitations to dinners, luncheons and other functions to keep him well occupied throughout the week.

The former president was welcomed by a committee on his arrival, and escorted to a hotel where he was guest at a private breakfast tendered by William H. Eustis and attended by a number of professional and business men. At noon he was the luncheon guest of the University club.

This afternoon he attended the funeral services of the late Charles A. Willard, whose death occurred Friday. Mr. Taft and Judge Willard were warm personal friends, the two men serving the Federal government together in the Philippines, the former as governor general and the latter as justice of the islands supreme court.

On Tuesday evening Prof. Taft will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at a banquet by the Ramsey County Bar association at St. Paul. Other functions at which the former president will deliver addresses will be a luncheon by the Psi Epsilon club, an address before all of the students of the university, addresses before the local chapter, American Institute of Banking, the Minneapolis Rotary club, and the Northwestern Yale association. Besides he will be the guest of several private and semi-private dinners and luncheons.

The subject of the lectures before the university law school will be trust legislation.

WOMAN CONVICTED AS POISONER DIES

Mrs. Lindloff Had Lost 100 Pounds Since Her Arrest.

Chicago, March 16.—Mrs. Louisa Lindloff, convicted on Feb. 28 of having poisoned her son and sentenced to twenty-five years in the penitentiary, died in the county jail here Saturday. Mrs. Lindloff had been in jail since her conviction awaiting the result of an appeal to the supreme court.

When she entered the jail Mrs. Lindloff weighed nearly 200 pounds. Immediately after her conviction she began to lose weight so rapidly that a week ago she weighed less than 100 pounds. She refused to enter the jail hospital.

She was accused of having poisoned her son for his life insurance. Evidence attempting to show that she also poisoned five other members of her family was introduced at the trial.

Of fourteen charged with murdering men in Chicago during the last three years, Mrs. Lindloff was the only one convicted.

ATTRACTIVE WOMAN IS ON TRIAL AS SPY

Nora Baron One of Nine Russians in Austrian Court.

Vienna, Austria, March 16.—The second stage of the attempt to unravel the alleged extensive Russian espionage campaign in Austria was opened today by the Austrian government. Nine Russian suspects were placed on trial before the provincial court, accused of being employed by the Russian general staff to ferret out Austrian military secrets, especially in regard to Galicia, where the Austrian and Russian frontiers run side by side.

The accused all are civilians. They include two women, one of whom, Nora Baron, is youthful and very attractive, and is alleged to have succeeded in obtaining much information from susceptible officers at Lemberg.

The first stage in the campaign against spying in Austria was marked by the suicide of Col. Alfred Redl, chief of the general staff of the Eighth Austrian army corps, whose headquarters were at Prague, Bohemia. He shot himself in May, after his treason had been discovered. It was stated at that time that he had been given an opportunity of taking his own life instead of being brought to trial.

Evacuation Day.

Boston, Mass., March 16.—Boston today began its annual celebration of the evacuation of the city by the armed forces of King George III March 17, 1776. The celebration will be concluded tomorrow.

TAKEN OUT OF COAL REGION

"Mother" Jones Is Transported Quietly From Trinidad to Denver.

Goes on Understanding Governor Wants to Meet Her.

Trinidad, Colo., March 16.—"Mother" Mary Jones, noted woman strike leader, who has been a military prisoner in San Rafael hospital here since Jan. 12, was put aboard a train quietly last night and sent out of the coal district. Her departure became known today.

It was said this action was taken at her request and on orders of Gen John Chase.

"Mother" Jones was taken to Denver.

The military authorities proceeded with the utmost secrecy to remove "Mother" Jones and the announcement was not made public until today.

"Mother" Jones was arrested here Jan. 12 after having been deported from the district the week previously and told not to return. Since her confinement several efforts have been made to secure her release.

At Her Request.

Denver, Colo., March 16.—Adjt.-Gen. John Chase confirmed today the report from Trinidad that "Mother" Jones had been sent out of the strike zone, adding that she was in Denver. He stated that the action was taken at the request of "Mother" Jones.

"'Mother' Jones is in Denver," was the announcement made by Horace N. Hawkins, attorney for the United Mine Workers of America. Hawkins gave out no information about her transportation from Trinidad, stating that he would arrange for "Mother" Jones to give out a statement later.

When located, "Mother" Jones was in conference with Mr. Hawkins, her attorney.

At the headquarters of the mine workers here it was said preparations were being made to file with the state supreme court, probably today, an appal in the case, asking the release of "Mother" Jones on a writ of habeas corpus, which was denied in the district court at Trinidad recently.

Gen. Chase admitted that "Mother" Jones had not promised to return to the strike district, but came to Denver because the governor had intimated that he would confer with her. He added that if she did return to the district she would be rearrested.

SEARCH EVERYBODY WHO ATTENDS TRIAL

Violence Is Feared at Terre Haute Mayor's Hearing.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 16.—Arguments upon a motion to quash the indictment marked the opening here today of the trial of Mayor Donn M. Roberts on charge of conspiracy to corrupt elections. The motion was presented by Mayor Roberts' attorney last week, and was the same as those made in the trial here three weeks ago of William Huffman. The motion to quash the indictments made in Huffman's case was overruled and he was found guilty and sentenced to serve three to ten years in the state prison.

Court officials requested that Governor Ralston furnish protection for the witnesses and officials during the trial, but the governor refused to call out the militia for this purpose. Every person who entered the courtroom today was searched for weapons, and after the court convened the doors were locked and no one allowed to enter or depart until the noon recess was taken.

NEW MOVE TO FREE HIM HAS BEEN BEGUN

LEO M. FRANK.

Atlanta, Ga., March 16.—A new inquiry into the murder of Mary Phagan, factory girl, was begun here today by a detective agency. The investigation is said to have the backing of several private citizens. Leo M. Frank, under death sentence for the crime, disclaims connection with the visit of the detective.

FELLS SUFFRAGETTE WHO WHIPPED HIM

Scottish Prison Official Uses Fist—Women Burn Railway Cars.

Glasgow, Scotland, March 16.—Dr. James Devon, prison commissioner for Scotland, when attacked today by an irate militant suffragette armed with a dog whip, took the law into his own hands and knocked his assailant down with a well-aimed blow.

The woman, whose identity was not discovered, met the prison commissioner at the entrance to the Duke street prison and belabored him over the head and shoulders with her whip.

Mr. Devon, who is an advocate of forcible feeding and is bitterly opposed to what he considers the farcical release of suffragettes because they are suffering from the effects of "hunger strikes," promptly knocked her down. The woman was picked up by a policeman and placed under arrest, but Dr. Devon refused to prosecute her and she was released.

Railway Coaches Burned.

Birmingham, Eng., March 16.—Nine coaches belonging to the Midland railway were burned by a suffragette arson squad early today at King's Norton, six miles from here. Suffrage literature was found littered about the vicinity.

FIND BODY OF MAN LOST FOUR MONTHS.

Burlington, Iowa, March 16.—The body of John H. Janke of Gerrard, Ill., was found floating in the river here today. Janke disappeared Nov. 24, 1913.

VETERAN DIES AT THE AGE OF 115.

Liberal, Mo., March 16.—Henry Dorman, 115 years old, died at his home here today. He served in both the Mexican war and the Civil war.

U. S. CUSTOMS HOUSE BURNED

Postmaster at Tecate, Cal., Killed By Supposed Mexicans.

Bitterer Feeling Has Developed Along International Border.

San Diego, Cal., March 16.—Bitter feeling, caused by the killing Saturday night of Frank V. Johnston, postmaster at Tecate, near the Mexican border, and the burning of the United States customs office and postoffice by bandits, continued today.

Secretary of State Bryan and Governor Hiram W. Johnson of California have been asked by relatives of the dead man to make an investigation of the affair.

According to information received here, three bandits, said to be Mexicans, shot Johnston in the heart when he refused to give them the combination of his safe.

A posse is in pursuit of the bandits. Maj. Davis, commander at Fort Rosecrans, San Diego, with several officers and a platoon of men, departed for Tecate by automobile. Maj. Davis said he would conduct a rigid examination in behalf of the war department and report immediately to the department commander at San Francisco.

Charred American Flag.

Johnston's body was brought to San Diego.

A charred American flag was found in the ruins of Johnston's store, which also was the customs office and postoffice.

Bitter feeling along the border, caused by the tragedy, was intensified when a newspaper photographer on the American side was fired at yesterday by Mexicans. He was not injured.

All Rangers at Border.

Austin, Texas, March 16.—The entire force of Texas Rangers, totaling at present only fifteen mounted men, was assigned to duty on the 800 miles of Texas-Mexican border with the arrival yesterday of two rangers at Raymondville, Texas, in response to an appeal from citizens there for protection against cattle thieves and desperadoes.

Along with news of the Rangers' disposition, Governor O. B. Colquitt made public a long list of Texas border troubles on which his appeals for more power to protect the boundary have been based, and will explain the nature of the Rangers' activities. Many of the incidents mentioned by the governor were comparatively petty crimes, the handling of which by Rangers, the records show, prevented their developing problems of international complications.

The sending of Rangers to Raymondville was based on a petition asserting that "for the past few months cattle thieves have been depredating and several murders have been committed."

NO RESERVE BANK STATEMENT AS YET

Announcement Before April Is Declared Improbable.

Washington, March 16.—There is said to be no prospect of announcement of reserve cities under the new banking act before April 1. The same statement applies to the personnel of the Federal reserve board.

President Wilson has been informed by the treasury officials that there is little likelihood of the organization necessary as a preliminary to the operations of the board being effected, for at least another two weeks.

I. W. W. LEADER WHO IS IN TROUBLE IN NEW YORK

FRANK TANNENBAUM.

New York, March 16.—Frank Tannenbaum is the latest leader of the I. W. W. to come into prominence. He has been organizing the unemployed at New York to storm the churches and demand lodging and food. He was arrested when the army he led acted in a disorderly fashion in a Catholic church. Tannenbaum is just 21 years old.

JOHN D. HAS BOUGHT 250-TON BIT OF ROCK

Will Have It Carved Into Fountain at Pocantico Hills.

New York, March 16.—Speculation over the use of which John D. Rockefeller intended to put a huge boulder which he recently bought for his estate at Pocantico Hills, has been set at rest. The rock is to be placed in front of his new house and carved into a huge fountain.

The boulder, which, it is said, weighs 250 tons, was discovered on Long Island, and Mr. Rockefeller purchased it. It is twenty feet wide and is too large to be placed on a flatcar, so a boat has been chartered to take it to Tarrytown. There it will be transferred to a great truck and drawn to Pocantico. The drawing will take 100 pairs of horses on level ground, it is said.

CLAIM DAVE ROSE IS NOT MILWAUKEEAN

Taxpayers' League Will Fight His Mayoralty Aspirations.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 16.—The Taxpayers' league of Milwaukee plans on preventing David S. Rose from assuming the office of mayor of Milwaukee in case he is nominated at the primaries on March 24 and elected on April 7, because, it is declared, he is not a resident, according to announcement today. The league claims the former mayor, since he left Milwaukee three years ago, became a resident of Paw Paw, Mich., and San Francisco.

Mr. Rose denies having become a citizen of either Paw Paw or San Francisco, and claims the rule of law is that one does not lose his citizenship in one place until he acquires citizenship in another place.

REFUSES TO ORDER LOWERING OF RATES

The Commerce Commission Passes on Charges Via St. Louis.

Washington, March 16.—The interstate commerce commission today declined to reduce freight rates via St. Louis, Mo., on shipments originating enst of the Indiana-Illinois state line to destinations west of St. Louis, of which Springfield, Mo., is typical. The commission held that existing rates were neither unreasonable nor discriminatory.

The roads were given permission to continue to charge proportional class rates from St. Louis to Kansas City, via the Frisco lines, on eastern and southeastern traffic.

BIG CHILD LABOR MEETING IS OPENED

New Orleans, La., March 16.—After an auspicious beginning at an open-air meeting yesterday, the National Child Labor conference today began its tenth annual meeting, which will continue for three days. Interest today was particularly centered in a review by Owen R. Lovejoy, general secretary of the national committee, of what the organization has done and what is needed.

An address on the long and varied program that attracted a great deal of attention, was that of Senator Robert T. Owen of Oklahoma, on "the relation of the Federal government to the states in the regulation of child labor."

PRIESTS ARE MURDERED BY THE MEXICANS

Three Held for Ransom and Convent Burned By the Rebels.

Federal and Rebel Armies Are Moving Toward Torreon.

New Orleans, La., March 16.—Five priests have been slain by rebels in the Mexican state of Tamaulipas since Nov. 18 last, three are held for ransom, a convent has been burned, and a cathedral and a smaller church looted, according to two Catholic priests, Father Jose E. Moreno Madina and Father Raymon Gonzales, who have arrived here from Brownsville, Texas. Both said they had been driven from Victoria, Mexico.

"Three weeks ago soldiers under Col. Cavalero demanded money," said Father Madina. "We gave them what we had, but it was not enough. Becoming angered, they took away the gold and silver utensils and wrecked the inside of the building. The figure of the Savior was smashed to bits and other statuary broken and trampled under foot.

Burned American Convent.

"The archbishop, Jose De Leon, and his aged aunt were thrown into the street by the marauders," continued Father Madina. "Father Cuzman died two days later, and just before we left we heard the aunt was dying. The rebels then went to the American convent, drove out the sisters and set the building on fire."

At Tula a church was looted by rebels in the same manner as at Victoria, said Father Madina, and the rector, Father Cela De Leon, and his two assistants, Basilio and Louis Romanes, were kidnaped. He said they were taken into the hills, where they are being held for a ransom of 500 pesos each, their parishioners having been notified that unless the ransoms are paid the priests will be put to death. Father Madina said five priests had been killed by rebels since they entered Tamaulipas last November.

THIRTY-NINE ON THE DES MOINES BALLOTS

Great Interest Is Taken in the City Primaries.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 16.—With seven candidates for mayor and thirty-two for commissioners, Des Moines today is holding its annual primary election, with prospects of a record vote being cast. The election will be held March 31.

Use Voting Machines.

Sioux City, Iowa, March 16.—Interest in today's primary election centered in the mayoralty contest. Mayor A. A. Smith is opposed by three other candidates. Nineteen candidates seek the eight nominations for councilmen. Voting machines were used for the first time here.

Vote at Burlington.

Burlington, Iowa, March 16.—Thirty-five candidates for councilmen and three for mayor appear on the commission form ballot being voted in the city primary election today.

BANKRUPTCY SEQUEL TO ROBBERY STORY

Samuel Epner Is Accused of Trying to Conceal Assets.

New York, March 13.—As an aftermath of the reported robbery of Daniel Epner in Chicago recently of $50,000 worth of diamonds, New York creditors today filed an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against Epner's brother, Samuel, a diamond dealer. The petitioners alleged that Samuel Epner gave the diamonds to his brother to conceal "with the intent to defraud creditors."

THIRTY DAYS FOR CIGARETTE SMOKERS

Marinette Judge Proposes to Stop Smoking By Boys.

Marinette, Wis., March 16.—A campaign to prevent cigarette smoking among boys in Marinette was today launched by Judge A. E. Davis of the county court, who asserts that juvenile offenders invariably smoke and that smoking alone is responsible for a big percentage of juvenile crime.

The judge proposes to punish all cigarette smokers brought before him, even if he is obliged to hand out thirty-day sentences, which is permissible under Wisconsin law.

He will ask District Attorney Miller to co-operate with him and prosecute all tobacco dealers who violate the Wisconsin law, which prohibits the sale of cigarettes except in original packages.

PAID POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT.
Inserted by John Glode in behalf of himself, candidate for County Commissioner. Amount to be paid, $11.20.

To the Voters of the Sixth Commissioner District.

In announcing myself as a candidate for County Commissioner from the Sixth District my whole idea is to be of real service to the district, and I have so arranged my business as to be able to give all the time necessary to the duties of County Commissioner.

My platform is GOOD ROADS FOR EVERYBODY. The farmers can never prosper in this or in any other district unless he has a good road to the nearest market. All will receive the same consideration from me no matter in what part of the district they live. Yours respectfully,

JOHN GLODE.

OPPOSE FEDERAL OWNED SYSTEMS

Telegraph Head Says Private Lines Serve People Better.

Opposition to government ownership of wire lines was the keynote of the annual report of the American Telephone & Telegraph company issued through all its sub-offices today. President Theodore N. Vail justifies his opposition on the ground that private lines are more efficient and that no government owned lines is giving as cheap and efficient service as the Bell system.

The company has erected 676,943 new stations during the year, bringing their total number up to 8,133,017. The extension of the telephone company amounted to $54,871,866, making the total cost for fourteen years, $646,915,200.

In speaking of government ownership, President Vail says: "Our opposition to government operation and ownership is not based on pecuniary, partisan, prejudiced or personal reasons. It is because of our interest in the upbuilding of a great public utility and its preservation.

"We are opposed to government ownership because we know that no government-owned telephone system in the world is giving as cheap and efficient service as the American public is getting from all its telephone companies. We do not believe our government is any exception to the rule."

Mr. Vail states that the common impression that the postmaster general has made a report favoring the acquisition of the wire lines is erroneous. It is not a department report, he says, but merely the conclusion of three officials of the postoffice department, transmitted without comment by the postmaster general. He says further that with all government owned lines there is a deficit, not due to giving cheaper service, but through errors in management.

Taken by itself the American Telephone & Telegraph company shows net earnings of $40,576,745.19, an increase of $2,669,101.93 over 1912. The number of shareholders was increased 5,686, the number being 55,983 at the first of the year 1913.

STRIKE-BREAKERS HELD FOR SHOOTING

One Man Is Dead and Another Dying at Oak Creek, Colo.

Oak Creek, Colo., March 16.—A. H. House and A. D. Perkins, two strike-breakers employed at the Oak Creek mines were arrested by Sheriff Chivington last night, charged with killing one striker and seriously wounding a second in a street fight here Saturday night. The two men, who had been pursued by the sheriff and deputies since immediately after the shooting, were apprehended as they were entering the mine.

Reports were that two men were killed in the fight, but it was discovered that the second victim, Juan Demosa, was alive. Demosa fell with John Gill, who was instantly killed, and the constable ordered the two bodies, both dead, he believed, taken to an undertaking establishment after the fight was ended. There it was found that Demosa still was alive, though probably fatally wounded.

According to Sheriff Chivington, only four men were engaged in the brawl, which was precipitated, he says, by cries of "scab," hurled at the strike-breakers by the union men.

Both House and Perkins declare their innocence of any connection with the shooting. Because of high feeling here on the part of the union men, the sheriff deemed it advisable to take his prisoners to Steamboat Springs, and the two men were driven overland in a sleigh guarded by a squad of deputies.

NOT ENCOURAGED ON HOME RULE PROGRAM

Asquith Declines to Give Parliament Details of His Plan.

London, March 16.—"I do not feel encouraged over the reception of my proposals in regard to Ulster," said Premier Asquith today in the house of commons.

He was replying to a number of requests for details of the scheme of local option, under whose provisions the nine counties of Ulster will be permitted to vote separately on the question whether they shall be left out of the control of the new Irish government at Dublin.

Premier Asquith said he fully adhered to his proposals in the hope that they would form a "basis of settlement. He added:

"I am anxious, in the interests of agreement and peace, that the main principles of our proposals should be considered on their merits, without being encumbered with minute details liable to draw the discussion into backwaters."

Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, took exception to the premier's attitude. He declared it was impossible to debate the proposals without details being given.

Premier Asquith then promised to give the house an opportunity to discuss his refusal of the details before knowing whether the opposition would accept the main principles of the proposals.

PREDICTS FAILURE OF SUFFRAGE MOVE

Senator Ashurst Says Senate Will Defeat Resolution.

Washington, March 16.—Hundreds of telegrams from many states, some urging an immediate vote on the woman suffrage constitutional amendment and others appealing for delay until after the national woman suffrage demonstration on May 2, put the senate in a quandary today.

Senator Ashurst, pressed to say when he proposed to have a vote, insisted that Senator Thomas of Colorado was in charge of the question. He was out of town for the day.

"If we vote now and the resolution fails of the necessary two-thirds majority—as it will fail, no senator doubts that—some of these good women will feel that their cause has been betrayed by precipitate action," said Mr. Ashurst. "If I thought a single vote could be gained by the delay I would take a decided stand for that action. I do not believe so, however, and my position is that I am willing to vote now, but would prefer to vote in May."

It finally was agreed to postpone debate today until Senator Thomas' return.

HESITATED AT THE ALTAR

And Eva Heikkinen and Anton Ilomaki Are Locked Up.

John Goes to Work Before He Is "Dash Blanked Ready."

Although they took out a marriage license last summer, Eva Heikkinen, alias Smith, and Anton Ilomaki, also alias Smith, have not yet had the knot tied. Nor will they be able to enter the holy bonds of matrimony for at least another three months.

For in police court this morning Ilomaki was given a straight sentence of three months at the work farm, while the woman was handed the alternative of paying a fine of $100 or spending sixty days in jail.

Eva and Anton were arraigned in police court this morning on a disorderly charge, to which both pleaded guilty. Their arrest at the Commercial hotel on West Superior street did not come about because they were living as man and wife, but because Eva couldn't resist the temptation to swipe the watch of William Kangas, who was brought to her room by Anton and left there with her.

After he had left the room William wanted to see what time it was and missed his ticker. He concluded that Eva must have touched him for it and hurried to headquarters to tell his story. The three of them were detained at the station and after denying that she knew anything about the watch, Eva produced it from her stocking.

Both Eva and Anton were locked up, Anton was booked on the disorderly charge, as was Eva, but the additional charge of petty larceny was lodged against Eva. In police court this morning they made a plea for their freedom by promising to proceed immediately to a clergyman and become man and wife. But the judge couldn't see it that way. He sent Anton to the work farm for a three months' sojourn. Eva denied that she had stolen the watch, but was convicted after a trial, whereupon she got $100 or sixty days. The disorderly charge against her was dismissed.

Some days ago reports reached the police that a blindpig was doing a nice little business at 114 North First avenue east. Yesterday two stool pigeons were sent to the place to learn what they could learn, and also to make a purchase or two if they could. They had no trouble in finding the place and no more trouble in buying a cold bottle or two. This morning Carrie Nelson, who said she was a dressmaker, was arrested on a charge of selling liquor without a license. She pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $100.

Willie was the first name and White the surname. But Willie isn't a male and Willie isn't white. Willie White is a negress of dark hue. She was arrested yesterday when she made amorous advances to two employes of the police department who had been sent to investigate reports about her home on St. Croix avenue. In police court this morning she admitted that she was a woman of the streets and got $75 and costs or sixty days in jail. Ida Poole, a colored, was arrested on a similar charge. She pleaded not guilty and her trial was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

All last week John Wesley Boardwell applied at the police station for lodgings. Last night Jailer Andrew Wanvick suggested that he ought to get a job.

"I'll go to work when I get dash-blanked good and ready," answered John Wesley, although in terms somewhat less polite.

This morning John Wesley admitted that he was without visible means of support and got thirty days on the work farm. Wherefore he will be going to work before getting "dash-blanked good and ready."

When Tom Golis went to bed in the rooming house at 707 West Superior street last night he didn't lock his door and he did leave $60 of hard-earned cash in his trousers. When he woke up about 3 o'clock this morning his first thought was of his wealth and he learned in another minute that it had taken flight.

He immediately notified the clerk and Patrolman Callahan was summoned. The clerk had seen a suspicious character loitering about and upon his description Jack Morley, alias James Gullet, was arrested. The police state that Golis' watch was found on him but no trace of the money was obtained. Morley was not arraigned in police court this morning.

Golis said that he did not intend to fall asleep until his partner arrived, on whose account he had left the door open.

MAY DEPORT FOOTLESS MAN

William Milesko May Be Sent to Austria as Public Charge.

Froze Feet in Woods--Has Been Working as Cobbler.

Although William Milesko, 22 years old, who froze his feet so badly in Canada a year ago that amputation was necessary, came to America more than four years ago, during part of which time he lived in Canada, he failed to declare his intention of becoming a citizen in either country and as a result is now held by the immigration authorities and may be sent back to his home in Austria, because he is apt to become a public charge.

Milesko came to Duluth several weeks ago and upon arriving here was given shelter by Rev. F. E. Plumb of the Duluth Gospel Mission. After a few days, Rev. Mr. Plumb became interested in Milesko and secured a cobbler's outfit for him, opening a small shop for the man in the front part of the mission. Here Milesko hoped to ply his trade and thus obtain enough money with which to purchase some artificial feet.

Saturday afternoon the local immigration authorities began investigating the case of Milesko and in a few hours he was under arrest on a charge of being a non-citizen of the United States, who had smuggled his way across the Canadian border and who is now apt to become a public charge.

According to Milesko's own story, he came to the United States about four years ago and after spending a short time in New York, went to Canada. He spent most of his time there and it was while in the Canadian woods, that he froze his feet during the early part of the winter of 1912-13. He was taken to a Winnipeg hospital, where amputation of the feet was found necessary.

After he left the hospital, Milesko was cared for by the authorities. Several weeks ago he left the institution for the poor and decided to return to the United States. Had he remained in Canada, Milesko would never have suffered at the hands of the immigration officers and could have in time become a citizen, as it was there he lost his feet and became a public charge.

But Milesko purchased a ticket to Fort Frances and then crossed the border without the knowledge of the immigration officials. As he is a cripple and liable to become a public charge, this country has the right to deny him admission or residence here.

The local officials have taken the matter up with Washington and a final order as to the disposition of Milesko is expected within a week or ten days. In the meantime Milesko will await the decision in the county jail.

George Hesszko and Fred Hesszko, two brothers arrested at International Falls last week, are also to be deported.

Doings at the Bankrupt Sale in the Columbia Basement

Just now the busiest spot in all the town! No wonder! The words "Bankrupt Sale" and "Bargains" have been so often and so shamefully used and abused by transient cheats and mountebanks that laws had to be passed against them. But here is a true "Bankrupt Sale," a real "63-cents-on-the-dollar" affair, a good, reliable and almost new stock of an unfortunate big store in Superior, and, last and most, a sale conducted by the Columbia Clothing Co., a concern with an unsullied and long-sustained reputation for always doing as they advertise and one of the active sponsors of the "Minnesota Pure Ad Law" of 1912.

Sale re-opened at 9 o'clock this morning and will open at that hour every morning of this week.

ORE SHIPPING ABOUT NORMAL

Rock Tonnage of Copper Country Mines About Average.

Calumet, Mich., March 16.—The rock tonnage of the mines of the Copper country, that is, all of the mines which resumed operations, is about normal again. During the past week the output of the Mohawk, Wolverine, Ahmeek and Allouez mines has increased appreciably and is but a few cars daily short of the output immediately preceding the strike.

The rock shipments over the Mineral Range road Friday were as follows: Osceola, 25 cars; Kearsarge, 43; Ahmeek, 33; Wolverine, 41; Mohawk, 48; Centennial, 14; Allouez, 21; Mass Consolidated, 12; Superior, 16; Hancock, 14; La Salle, 6; total, 283 cars.

Last Friday Big Day.

Close inspection indicates that Osceola, Wolverine, La Salle, Centennial, Superior and Hancock produced more tonnage last Friday than they did on the day before the strike, while Tamarack and Franklin Junior have made no efforts so far to resume operations.

The record of rock shipments for March as given out by Supt. T. W. Smith of the Mineral Range, shows an increase in rock shipments each day.

SUNDAY SERMONS IN DULUTH PULPITS

CAREER OF MOHAMMED

Pastor Tells Strength and Weaknesses of Christianity's Chief Foe.

Pilgrim Congregational church supports a foreign missionary pastor at Cesarea, Turkey, Rev. H. M. Irwin. At the morning service yesterday the pastor, Rev. C. N. Thorp, read a letter from Mr. Irwin at the close of his sermon on "The Strength and Weakness of Mohammedanism."

Speaking of Christ's command that the gospel be preached unto the uttermost part of the world, Mr. Thorp said: "We of Duluth live on a land that was beyond even the uttermost parts of the known world when Jesus gave this command. With the shifting of Christianity's frontier, we send our missionary to what is to us 'the uttermost part,' a land through which Paul traveled and a city less than 500 miles from Jerusalem."

Characterizing Mohammedanism as the bitterest foe and the most difficult problem that has been facing Christianity these last thirteen centuries, Mr. Thorp sketched the dramatic career of Mohammed, whose followers, a little over a hundred years after his death, conquered by the sword the greater part of the known world, swept across Northern Africa, conquered Spain and were swarming northward through Gaul when they were stopped by Charles Martel on the plain of Tours, in 732, thus saving Northern Europe from the blight of the Mohammedan faith.

"One cannot read the history of the spread of that faith," said the speaker, "without wondering what would be the mighty forward movement of Christianity if all its adherents, dead in earnest, believing as they believed in their prophet, should set the cause of our holy religion in the forefront and by the mighty persuasion, not of the sword, but of truth, love, faith, justice should march through the dark places in our city, into the homes of unbelief, down through the streets wherever wrong is found, shouting, singing, living and, if need be, dying for the cross of Christ and for what that cross means for the life of God in the lives of men."

Mohammedan Message.

Mr. Thorp gave a sketch of the message carried by these Mohammedan zealots, showing that with an admixture of truth and a fine contempt for idolatry in every form, the teachings of the Koran, wherever practiced, have resulted in unspeakable and almost unprintable social corruption. The true son of Mohammed is generally untruthful. He is a man of unbridled lust, cruel to women, practicing atrocities in war, believing that if faithful to his creed he will surely inherit a place in heaven of sensual bliss.

"More than 200,000,000 of our fellow men are disciples of Mohammed," he said. "Every third person in Africa, every seventh person in Asia, 70,000,000 in India, 30,000,000 in China, go to swell this army of those who, five times a day, bow down and worship toward Mecca.

"Constantinople has been for centuries the official center of Mohammedan influence. Recent events in Turkey have shaken the Moslem prestige. The revolution of 1908 has now been followed by the Balkan war, in which four little lands, smarting under centuries of injustice, have driven the unspeakable Turk to the frontier of Europe, permitting him to occupy Constantinople by courtesy only.

Must Mend Ways.

"Turkey sees that to hold her place among the nations she must mend her ways. The fighting hosts of Islam have discovered at last that their barbarism will no longer be tolerated. The young Moslems are baffled, beaten, bewildered. For fifty years our missionaries have circulated the Bible in Turkey and it has been read. Our colleges, schools and hospitals have been giving fine witness to Christianity. But the special work developed by our own missionary, Mr. Irwin, at Cesarea is acknowledged to be one of the most hopeful plans yet devised for removing Moslem prejudice. The young Moslems would not enter a Christian church, but they frequent this young men's club, enjoy the gymnasium, read the literature, attend the lectures and talks four nights in the week, sometimes as many as 300 hearing a talk on purity, on the life of Christ, or on various problems of government, or of daily problems. These young men came to see the gulf between their own hideous system of social ideals and the high noble ideals of Christianity. Who knows but at this very time, in our Pilgrim church club at Cesarea, some young Moslem leader is seeing a great light, who will go out and enlist others, and organize a great peaceful yet zealous crusade, whereby those 200,000,000 benighted, waiting Mohammedans shall come to the light and life of our Christian religion. Thank God that He has given to our church a place out on the firing line in this marvelous movement, whereby control of the orient shall soon be saved from the scourging corruption of Mohammedanism, and the long patient waiting of our Christian missionaries for entrance to the citadel of Mohammedanism shall be rewarded."

DEBATING WITH SIN IS FOLLY

Rev. J. W. Hoffman Talks on "Desire and Duty."

At the First Methodist church last evening, Rev. John W. Hoffman, the minister, gave a forceful sermon on "Desire and Duty." He took for his subject the great Bible character, Balaam, at the time that a certain king wished to block the advance of the Israelites and asked Balaam to curse them. Balaam, forbidden by Jehovah, urged that he be permitted to do so because of the material reward promised him.

"Balaam knew what was right, but he argued with wrong. That is what most men are doing today," said Dr. Hoffman. "There is no argument where sin is concerned; there can be no debate where justice is involved. Every man of normal mind, who commits sin is in the same position as Balaam—he argues with the devil. You may not believe the story of Eve and the serpent as an historical fact, but no matter how you look upon it—as a fact, as a myth, or as an allegory—it is true in this day. It was an illustration of debating with the devil and men are doing it right today.

"The man who enters the saloon to be one of the boys, knows that he is doing the wrong thing, but he is a fool for he argues with temptation. Soon desire has him and duty is put aside. The girl who envies her sister finer clothes until she lets desire put her virtue on the bargain counter knows that she is doing wrong, but she lets desire debate with sin, and the result is damnation. The employe who takes a little of his employer's cash, saying to himself that he will put it back at the next pay day, knows he is doing wrong, but he, too, argues with sin.

"And so it goes in various walks in life. The safeguard is never to permit temptation to start the argument. When you sin, and when you are outside of Christ you are playing a game at which you can't win; it's impossible for you to win. Balaam, who appears to have been a man of extraordinary mental qualities, fine moral conception, made the fatal mistake of arguing with sin, and later religious writers, St. Paul among them, revile him. So it is with all who argue with sin and let desire go ahead of duty."

INFLUENCE UPON LIFE REAL TEST

That influence on life is the only real test of greatness was the keynote of the sermon on "False Ideals," preached by Dr. George R. Gebauer, pastor of the Unitarian church, at the service yesterday morning. The influence of great men in history was cited as illustrations to prove his point. His sermon in part follows:

"Influence upon life is the real test of greatness. The great man is he whose influence is enduring. Talent speaks the quickening word of the day; genius utters the word eternal. Hence, if we find today a certain definable power working in society for good, and can trace this influence to some one person in the past, we call such a one great. Shakespeare is great, not because he wrote entertaining dramas for the subjects of Queen Bess, but because these dramas have influenced thought and literature for three centuries. Copernicus is great, because he gave to the world an enduring new view of the cosmos. Darwin is great, because he has given science a new direction and ushered in a new epoch of biology. So true is this, that we can instantly tell if a book on natural science has been written before or after the appearance of the 'Origin of Species.' Now in the religious world, too, have appeared from time to time great masters. In every great nation have arisen men, who pronounced a higher ideal of life.

"But without belittling others, we certainly shall all agree, that the greatest of them is Jesus, the prophet of Nazareth. He is one of those great geniuses who was not appreciated by his own generation. He was not prominent in his time and country. He was an obscure peasant not to be mentioned by the side of the men of might and thought of his day. But while the mighty and wise of his day have dropped into oblivion, his influence has been inceasing through the ages until today those great and mighty men of his time are only seen in the light reflected from this simple man of God. Jesus exemplifies the power to simple consecrated personality. He took the old truth about God and man, which the world possessed and dipping the same into his heart's blood, made them living ideals. He presented a new attitude toward life. He showed the world the meagerness of a mere life in the flesh, of a mere life of self-consideration, of material enjoyment falsely called happiness. He would urge them to take hold of a greater, richer life, the life of the spirit, life in the spirit of love, the All-father. Like most men of genius he was misunderstood by those whom he loved most. He preached the kingdom of the heart, they dreamed of an earthly kingdom, and already saw themselves in high places in his cabinet.

"'To have a drunken soul is worse than to have the intoxicated brain. The drunken soul has no sense for the beauty of life, no ear for truth. Ah, the master played the most soul-stirring music on the instrument of his simple peasant life, but the crowd saw only a wonderful performer, admired hos skillful hands, his music fell on deaf ears.

Spiritual Drunkenness.

"In other words, these people to whom he spoke were so full of false ideas about life, that they had no room for his ideals. There was spiritual drunkenness in the days of Jesus; there is such today. Few men are filled with what gives life, many live in their illusions. Even the best among us indulge from time to time in the cup of folly, and for a season lose sight of truth and right. While we say we believe in goodness, we mean largely our goodness, the kind that will advance our material happiness. We do not see that the kingdom of heaven is within us. We are constantly ready to praise God and his Christ, but we serve self. What the world needs is the true vision of men, who will praise God by a godly life and show his faith by faithful service."

LIFE IS PROCESS OF STEADY GROWTH

Dr. W. F. Hovis Illustrates Sermon By "The Chambered Nautilus.

That man's natural life is the process of growth, from larger to larger things, was the theme of the sermon preached yesterday morning by Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church. The text of the sermon was "They Go From Strength to Strength," and the subject was beautifully illustrated from Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem "The Chambered Nautilus."

"It is a great thing to be able to read life's lessons in nature's books," said Dr. Hovis. "Robert Burns saw the relationship between the cotter's home and the nation's grandeur, and gave the world 'The Cotter's Saturday Night'; Longfellow saw the picture of a man hammering out his fortune in 'The Village Blacksmith'; Holmes read a parable in the habits of a strange sea-animal and wrote its message in 'The Chambered Nautilus.'

"The nautilus has the habit, peculiar to itself, of walling up at certain periods of its growth the old empty section of its shell, and living in only the last-built and largest of its compartments. This habit from which it gets its name suggested to Holmes the poem with its splendid moral."

Dr. Hovis said life was divided into three parts—physical, mental and moral. Progression was the law of life. The past becomes "low vaulted" in the natural course of development and newer and larger chambers are required as this process goes on. The "good old days," he said, were good enough in their time, but changes are necessary to meet newer conditions.

In closing, he said worthy work shall be rewarded. "If this earthly house be dissolved, we have a building of God."

PRACTICAL WORK INTERESTS CHINESE

Mrs. Lingle of Shantung Tells Presbyterians of Successes in China.

Mrs. W. A. Lingle, a missionary at Shantung, China, who is spending a year's vacation in this country, spoke yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian church on "Present Conditions in China." Mrs. Lingle's talk proved most interesting. She has spent a large part of her life in missionary work in the celestial kingdom and yesterday morning said that practically all of the self-sacrificing part of the work which was needed in the old days is gone.

"Under present conditions in China," said Mrs. Lingle, "the work is not as hard as some think. The thing that hurts us in the field most is that because of a lack of money we can do no more. That is the whole trouble—lack of money. We are not opposed by the natives or by the authorities any more. The fact is, they seek our aid and instruction and give us every encouragement. Thousands of Chinese are Christian and a very large number of them are entering the active service of Christ. The change is almost unbelievable.

"As an instance of what we have to contend with: A short time ago a certain American missionary board was offered complete control of one province in China, with every encouragement from the government, even eagerness being shown. But they would not take advantage of this opportunity because, they said, they 'would have to place two more families in the field and that they could not do.' Think of overlooking so great an opportunity on so trivial an excuse! Much can be done and is being done with very little money over there and the results are more than repaying the outlay.

"China is a fine country to live in and the people are earnest. They are exceedingly practical, however, and it was through their practical minds that the most important of the entering wedges was gotten in. That was in the conducting of hospitals, and the caring for the sick and curing apparently incurable diseases; also the curing of many deaf and dumb. This appealed to the Chinaman's practical mind and he began to take an interest, slowly beginning to believe that there was something worth while in the 'white devils'' work. That was the way he was secured first. Other things—education, for instance—followed and was quickly accepted. Then came the greater progress in the teaching of Christ; and since then the work has become a wonderful success."

Sermon on "The Traffic."

Rev. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church, will speak next Sunday morning on "The Price of a Soul," in which he will give a sociological study based on "The Traffic."

Mahoney Is Weak.

Chicago, March 16.—Charles E. Mahoney, vice president of the Western Federation of Miners, who was operated on here a week ago for appendicitis, still is weak and in danger of complications, according to his physicians. Mahoney has been making favorable progress, but it will be some time before he can be pronounced out of danger, it was said.

To Reopen Mandan Bank.

Mandan, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. P. Ernster of Minneapolis will be the president of the Farmers and Merchants bank of Mandan, now in process of reorganization. Mr. Ernster announces that the bank will be reopened within three or four days.

Authentic Spring Styles As Established in Women's Suits, Coats, Wraps and Costumes

The ever turning wheel of Fashion has revolved again. The assured modes which now ride its topmost rim are splendidly shown in the displays of the week in our outer garment sections. There have been changes. What these are can only be outlined here briefly and in a general way. The details—they are important ones—must be supplied by the garments.

In Suits probably the most prominent feature is their increased elaboration in design and trimming, a tendency foreshadowed in the later Fall and Winter garments. Many, indeed, encroach upon costumes in their picturesque lightness of fabric and beruffled coats, sleeves and skirts.

Three-piece suits with novelty coats to match waist and skirt are an interesting development. In no former season have combinations of materials been carried to such length as now. Woolens in light weaves are variously combined with the leading weaves in silk, such as soft taffeta, heavy faille, moire and silk crepe. Skirts strongly suggest the bustle effect, with fullness at the hips, gathered in back and narrowing to the feet. Some of the smartest suit coats are cut high in front; sleeves are mainly three-quarter length, or if long, very narrow at the wrist. Light, airy laces are much in evidence.

In Costumes taffeta is featured above all other fabrics for spring. It earns its popularity by its adaptability. So much can be done with it in draping, flouncing and puffing—three characteristics of the new modes. Combinations are greatly favored, as in suits, and three different materials, in a single attractive costume are by no means rare. From waist to feet costumes hang straight in front either plain or with a long tunic, and gather up in back into a bustle effect or large bow. In colors, soft, faded shades are brightened with Roman stripes, plaids, or embroidery of colored beads.

Coats and Wraps for Spring are notable for their flounces, shoulder cape effects, sashes and vests, all reminiscent of colonial times. As in suits and costumes, silk have entered prominently into their designing. Shimmering, changeable, rustling moires and taffetas mingle with Roman striped weaves. These light, airy garments have linings of filmy chiffon or no linings at all. The tendency in length is to short coats and wraps, flaring sharply away from the hips.

NORTH DAKOTA LAUNDRY MEN MEET.

Fargo, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota laundrymen are in session in Fargo today and tomorrow. A. J. Johnson of Devils Lake is president, and C. D. Billings of Grand Forks is secretary-treasurer. In addition to the delegates from this state there will be representatives from Minnesota and South Dakota.

"The Community Laundry" was the subject of the address this afternoon by Orlando Hegge of Fargo. C. D. Billings of Grand Forks will speak on the "Minnesota Compensation Act" and J. E. Halstead of Jamestown on "Laundry Legislation."

This evening the visitors will be guests of the Fargo Laundry club at a banquet.

SURPRISES MANY IN DULUTH

The QUICK action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis, is surprising Duluth people. Many have found that this simple remedy drains so much foul matter from the system that A SINGLE DOSE relieves constipation, sour stomach and gas on the stomach almost IMMEDIATELY. Adler-i-ka is the most thorough bowel cleanser ever sold. W. A. Abbett, 205 West Superior street.

IRISH MUSIC AT CONCERT

Julius H. Barnes Predicts Duluth Will Be an Ocean Port.

George H. Madison Is Soloist—Last Concert Next Sunday.

The attendance at the free concert at the Masonic temple yesterday was fully up to the average, and the program gave due recognition to the near approach of St. Patrick's day by the prominence given on the program to Irish composers and Irish songs.

The speech of the day was by Julius H. Barnes, who predicted that within fifteen years Duluth will be a great inland port communicating with the sea. He declared that the further development of Canada depends upon the cultivation of its wheat-growing lands, and as this is being done Canada must find an outlet to the Atlantic seaboard. Duluth being the logical point will then reach the height of her power.

As to the musical part of the program seclections were played from the tuneful "ballad opera" "Maritana," following a short account of its Irish composer, William Vincent Wallace. A selection of popular Irish songs and dance airs was also received with much enthusiasm. Beethoven's magnificent "Prometheus" overture, especially adapted for rendition on the pipe organ, was most effective. A collection of three Mexican dances was also played, being prefaced by a humorous explanation of the titles and timely allusions to the present Mexican troubles.

The vocalist, George H. Madison, was received with much enthusiasm. His magnificent bass voice was heard to fine advantage in Huhn's virile and inspiring song, "Invictus," and in Flagler's declamatory composition, "The Horn." Mr. Madison was equally happy in his presentation of the lighter Irish ballads, in the interpretation of which he proved that he is a humorist as well as a finished musician. His accompanists were admirably played by Miss Louise Murchison.

Next Sunday's concert will be the last of the season. The vocalist will be Miss Florence Hyland, soprano, and the speaker will be announced later.

PRIESTS MURDERED BY THE MEXICANS

from San Ignacio, Mex., forty miles southeast of Laredo, say Gen. Guardiola's command of 1,200 Federals yesterday burned the few remaining buildings in the town and moved toward the interior. Guardiola was supposed to be advancing on Matamoras.

No Important Fighting.

El Paso, Tex., March 18.—There has been no important fighting at Torreon. A Chihuahua dispatch from The Associated Press correspondent last night reported the situation quiet except for the orderly movement of rebel troops in the direction of the selected battlefield, and a high rebel official talked directly with Gen. Villa from Juarez at the request of newspaper men, and Villa denied there was any basis for a battle story.

Surround Federal Party.

Naco, Sonora, Mex., March 16.—Constitutionalist troops sent from here and Nogales were reported today to have surrounded the party of Federals who destroyed two railroad bridges on the Canauea railroad yesterday. Rebel officials on the border expected to hear of their capture and execution at any time. There were twenty-two men in the party of bridge burners, according to report.

Bryan Orders Investigation.

Washington, March 16.—Secretary Bryan today ordered an official investigation of the death of Frank V. Johnston, postmaster at Tecarte, Cal., who was killed and burned by Mexicans Saturday night while defending his property. Military authorities from Fort Rosecrans already are investigating. The killing occurred on American soil, and it is said by officials here to be within the jurisdiction of California state authorities.

None of the foreign governments to whom Secretary Bryan transmitted copies of Gen. Carranza's last note on the right of American consuls to look after foreigners in Mexico has made any response.

Secretary Bryan declined to comment upon Carranza's note, but it is taken to be significant of his purpose that the secretary states that he will continue to instruct American consuls to intervene to protect foreigners in the war zone, precisely as in the past.

Villa Scoffs at Rumors.

Chihuahua, March 16.—(Censored)—If there has been any real fighting in the vicinity of Torreon, Gen. Villa does not know it, he said last night. He scouted a rumor that the Federals had advanced northwest from Torreon to meet him.

Gen. Villa's utterances were accepted here as putting a quietus on reports, apparently based on little or nothing, that the rebel army might be called upon to defend Chihuahua. The story had it that Gen. Orozco was about to execute a flank movement in conjunction with an advance by Gen. Velasco from Torreon. This, Gen. Villa said, was too silly a report to require comment.

In the course of conversations, the old question of Villa's loyalty to Gen. Carranza came up and the former took occasion to emphasize his devotion to the supreme chief of the revolution.

Will Not Foot Bills.

Washington, March 16.—Pending Charge O'Shaughnessy's report, there was no official comment here on the action of the Huerta government in giving notice that it would refuse to meet the cost of maintaining the Mexican Federal refugees now held by the United States at Fort Bliss. It was pointed out, however, that since the United States government has no intention of recognizing Gen. Huerta, and expects to put in its claim for expense in connection with the interned fugitives after a new government has been installed at Mexico City, the attitude of the Huerta regime in this matter is of no moment.

Both Armies Moving.

Houston, Tex., March 16.—A general forward movement of both the Mexican Federal and rebel armies at Torreon was begun early Sunday, preliminary, it is believed, to the opening of the long deferred battle for possession of that city, according to a Chihuahua, Mexico, dispatch to the Houston Post.

In the first skirmishes the Constitutionalists, it is said, were put to flight, but in later minor engagements the rebels were reported victorious.

Orders were given by Gen. Villa for the advance of his troops last Saturday night. His action was hastened by the interception of a wireless message from President Huerta at Mexico City to Gen. Refugio Velasco, commanding the Federal garrison at Torreon. As caught by Villa's wireless station, the message directed Velasco to take the offensive against the Constitutionalists immediately.

A special train was started for Juarez to bring Gen. Felipe Angeles, secretary of war in the cabinet of Gen. Carranza, to Chihuahua to command the artillery with Col. Zriven; second in command. Gen. Villa is said to be impatient for the arrival of Gen. Angeles, in order that he may get to the scene of battle. He has suspended regular train service, as all rolling stock will be used for troop movement.

ENGLAND WILL BUY FIELD OF WATERLOO

Move to Save It From Being Used By Speculator.

London, March 16.—A committee which includes the duke of Wellington, Lord Roberts and the lord mayor of London, has been formed to raise a public fund of $50,000 to purchase the Waterloo battlefield in order to preserve it from a speculative builder.

per mine at Tsunmdato collapsed. The fate of the 300 workmen in the mine is unknown.

Simultaneously with the earthquake came terrific explosions and the bursting of flames from the volcano Azama-Yama, which terrified the inhabitants of that district.

Akita is a garrison town on the Sea of Japan. It does a considerable export trade, especially in rice. The population of the city is about 30,000.

Azama-Yama is the largest active volcano in Japan. Its crater is about three-quarters of a mile in circumference.

Waterspouts on Sea of Azov.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—Some details of the hurricane which swept the province of Kuban, Southern Russia, Saturday, have reached here from Ekaterinodar. A northerly gale caused numerous waterspouts of the east coast on the Sea of Azov and the shore, from Yoisk to the Strait of Kertsch, a distance of about 500 miles, was flooded and seriously damaged.

One hundred and seventy-six construction employes on the Kuban railroad were sleeping in a shed when awakened by the storm and fled to a train and endeavored to escape. Soon, however, the engine and cars were overturned by the rushing waters and swept away.

The hurricane raged for ten hours. When it ceased the receding floods revealed scenes of great destruction. Eight miles of the railway embankment were in ruins. The wrecked train was covered with bodies of dead. Forty-eight of the 176 men finally got to shore on floating wreckage, but it is feared all the others were drowned.

Many courageous rescues of persons floating on wreckage on the sea have been reported. Many bodies have been washed ashore at various points.

The meager dispatches received reported that 1,500 lives had been lost as a result of the storm, but no reliable details giving what may be termed an accurate estimate have yet come to hand.

A similar catastrophe occurred along the shores of the Sea of Azov thirty-seven years ago.

Seismograph at Work.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 16.—Disturbances recorded by the seismograph at St. Ignatius observatory here early today indicate an earthquake of forty minutes' duration at a distance of 5,000 miles. The shocks began at 2:36 a. m. and lasted until 3:16 a. m.

Underwriters For Taylor.

Fargo, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota Life Underwriters are for W. C. Taylor for renomination. The hatchet has been buried and the commissioner will cooperate with the insurance men in securing a competent actuary. That has been the chief contention for some time.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross Drug Store, 13 West Superior street.

DEMONSTRATION IN DIABETES

In proof of the fact that Hepatic degeneration can be succesfully opposed and sugar eliminated in many cases of Diabetes in people aged fifty and upwards, on May 6th, 1912, we published in San Francisco dailies an offer to the effect that if any four physicians in good standing in this city would send us a Diabetic between fifty and seventy years of age, strong enough to call at our office, showing high specific gravity, thirst and a large quantity of sugar, we would attempt to return the patient in 60 days with half the sugar eliminated and thirst and symptoms largely reduced and on the road to recovery.

Later we published the name and address of a Diabetic patient with an invitation to physicians to take samples and make their own tests, and thus see the sugar declining week by week.

The ability of Fulton's Diabetic Compound to reduce sugar in many cases of Diabetes in people of fifty and upwards is not a matter of opinion but a FACT IN PHYSICS and we will send formula for sugar test that will show the percentage of sugar from week to week. As the sugar disappears improvement commonly follows, recoveries having been reported in many cases. Formula and literature mailed on request. John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco. DEATH COMES SUDDENLY TO MRS. MINNIE EVERINGTON

Apparently in the best of health last Saturday afternoon, when she went shopping, Mrs. Minnie Everington, 59 years old, for the last twenty years a resident of Duluth, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at her residence, 3 Munger terrace. Death was entirely unexpected and came as shock to the members of the family and friends of Mrs. Everington, who was very well known among the earlier residents of Duluth.

Mrs. Everington was the widow of Thomas Everington, who died twenty-seven years ago in Northern Michigan, whence the former came with her children, all of whom still reside in Duluth. They are: Mrs. Jane Everington Scully, Mrs. Florence King and James R. Everington. Two brothers, Thomas and Frank Tresise of Duluth, and three sisters, Mrs. Richard Fox of Port Arthur, Mrs. R. Collins of Fort William and Mrs. George Pirrie of Vancouver, B. C., also survive her.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the family residence. Rev. A. W. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church will officiate and interment will be at the Forest Hill cemetery.

MRS. MINNIE EVERINGTON.

JURY WILL HEAR DIVORCE CASE

Adultery Is Alleged By Both Parties to the Action.

For the first time in a number of years, a divorce action will be tried in the local courts before a jury.

In district court this afternoon it is expected that the action for divorce instituted by Victor H. Gran against his wife, Olga Gran, will be reached for trial, in which event a jury will be selected to try the issues which are involved.

Mr. Gran, a local attorney, is seeking an absolute separation from his wife on the grounds of adultery. Mrs. Gran, answering in the case, counter-claims adultery and also makes a further charge of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Under ordinary circumstances, divorce actions are tried by the court without a jury. The law provides, however, that when charges of adultery are preferred, the issues may be tried by a jury, in a contested case.

SMALLER SUNDAY SCHOOLS WIN

Report the Larger Attendance in the Weekly Contest.

In the weekly attendance contest among the Presbyterian Sunday schools of the city the Westminster school led last week with an increase of 43 per cent. The group of smaller schools won with an attendance of 825 over the larger schools which had but 734. Following is the standing of the schools for the week.

First Presbyterian, attendance, 506; increase, .06 per cent; Second, attendance, 193; increase, .04; Endion, attendance, 35; total, 784; Westminster, attendance, 240; increase, .43; Hazelwood, attendance, 60; Highland, attendance, 71; increase, .38; House of Hope, attendance, 59; increase, .06; Glen Avon, attendance, 238; gain, .17; Lakeside, attendance, 194; increase, .18; total, 852.

INSPECT NEW ROAD EQUIPMENT

County officials who have spent the last week at Galion, Ohio, Chicago and Minneapolis inspecting various kinds and types of road machinery with the view of making the best selection before purchasing equipment needed for work in St. Louis county during the coming year, are expected to return to Duluth this afternoon.

St. Louis county will expend about $15,000 this spring for road machinery. Three or four tractors, one or possibly two rock crushers, one or more power rollers and othe equipment will be purchased. The purpose of the inspection tour was to visit the plans where the machinery is manufactured and demonstrated.

The party included Odin Halden, county auditor; George W. Cooley of St. Paul, state highway engineer, and County Commissioners John Tischer, Walter Swanstrom, Charles Kauppi and Alex Frazer. It is expected that the county board will direct the auditor to advertise for bids for the purchase of the machinery within a short time.

SUE FOR FEE.

Attorneys Ask $779 From Explorer for Services Rendered.

An action involving a dispute over attorney's fees in which Crassweller, Crassweller & Blu, lawyers, are seeking to recover $779.90 from John Helmer, mine explorer, as balance due on an account for legal services performed, was brought to trial this morning before Judge Cant and a district court jury. The attorneys allege that the amount sued for is due in connection with handling two suits for Helmer against the Jennings Mining company and in defending Helmer in an action brought against him by the Diamond Drill company and the Marshall-Wells Hardware company.

PAGE'S EXPLANATION SATISFIES PRESIDENT

Full Report of Speech Will Be Sent to the Senate.

Washington, March 16.—Ambassador Page's explanation of his London speech, touching upon the Monroe doctrine and the Panama tolls repeal, is satisfactory to President Wilson, who regards the incident closed so far as the administration is concerned. When a full report of the speech is received it will be forwarded to the senate, which asked for it by adopting Senator Chamberlain's resolution.

President Wilson told callers today that any agitation over Mr. Page's references was caused by a misunderstanding of what the ambassador said, and that a fuller report of the speech showed that the ambassador had correctly stated the situation. The president is satisfied that Mr. Page referred to the Panama repeal as "not to please England," instead of "not merely to please England."

GERMANS AND POLES CLASH OVER CHURCH

Authority of Rome Declared at Stake in Language Controversy.

Berlin, March 16.—A repetition of yesterday's scene in St. Paul's Catholic church in the Moabit district of Berlin is promised for next Sunday, when many of the children of the worshipers will be present at their first communion. The incident has created a deep sensation in the German capital, where the trouble between the Polish and German Catholics had hitherto not attracted much attention.

The cause of yesterday's outbreak was the announcement of the church authorities that they would refuse to admit to the first communion children who did not attend the regular German preparatory classes, but who had gone through an irregular Polish preparation.

Poles Swear to Act Together.

The Poles, who are numerous among the working classes of the district, have taken an oath to insist on the preparation of their children for confirmation in the Polish language, and will send the prospective communicants to the church next Sunday.

It was stated at the office of the arch-episcopal delegate today that any concessions to the Poles in this connection would undermine the authority of the church. The children understanding only Polish, it was declared, would naturally be permitted to receive their preparation in Polish; but virtually all of the Polish children concerned could speak German. The demonstration of yesterday had, it was stated, been needlessly and deliberately provoked.

KEEL OF NEW GIANT BATTLESHIP IS LAID

Vessel Will Be Finished in Ten Months, It Is Claimed.

New York, March 16.—The keel of the battleship No. 39, which will be the most powerful fighting machine of the superdreadnought class in the United States navy, was laid in the Brooklyn navy yard today after a brief and simple ceremony. As the two giant strips of steel were swung into position in the exact center of the ways, five sons of attaches of the navy yard stood at attention with bowed heads.

The navy department was represented by Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary. Mrs. Roosevelt also attended the ceremony. Others present were Senator and Mrs. O'Gorman and Congressmen William Calder and James T. Maher of Brooklyn.

Commandant Albert Gleaves of the navy yard made a short address in which he said that the giant battleship would be launched within ten months.

"It will establish," he said, "a new record in naval construction."

KILLED NEAR MANDAN.

Mandan, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Peffer, aged 38, was killed near here while engaged in hauling feed, being caught between the end of the wagon and the barn door. There are no relatives in this country, but his mother, resides in Hungary.

Fair Weather Friends

When fortune smiles, when skies are clear
You'll have friends a-plenty, never fear.
But when adversity's chilling winds do blow,
Your fair weather friends on a journey go.

Here's to the friends that never fail;
The staunch, the tried and the true.
What care we if the timid ones sail
To fairer lands, where the skies are blue.

The friend that sticks through thick and thin is the one to tie to. Many a man this Winter has cause to remember that a friend in need is a friend indeed. That fair weather friend, ordinary coal, failed miserably to make good. It sailed away to fairer lands, (via the ash can route). It was weighed in the balance and founding wanting. Don't be caught again. Buy Pittsburgh's Pittston, the guaranteed hard coal. It has stood the test for a hundred years. It has been weighed in the balance and NOT found wanting. Remember next time it's Pittsburgh's Pittston, the guaranteed hard coal, that staunch and true friend. This wonder coal costs no more than the ordinary kind.

WHY FAMOUS PASTRY COOKS USE KC BAKING POWDER

The patrons of our first class hotels and restaurants are exacting—they demand the best. Women go where the pastry and cakes are noted for their excellence. Men are attracted by hot bread and biscuits—when fresh and moist and light.

The pastry cook with a reputation uses K C Baking Powder because he knows that results are certain; every time everything is as good as his best.

Then, too, with K C Baking Powder he can mix the various kinds of batter before the rush of the meal begins and bake as needed so that every order goes to the table fresh and hot, yet the last he bakes are just as good as the first.

The reasons behind these reasons is that K C is really a blend of two baking powders. One commences to give off leavening gas as soon as moistened. The other requires both moisture and heat to make it active. Dough or batter will remain in a partially leavened condition for hours, and when put in the oven, will come up as light as if mixed a moment before.

For cookies, pancakes, doughnuts and the like, which cannot all be baked at once, K C is indispensable. For all baking the double raise makes doubly certain.

Follow the example of the professional cook and your baking will be equal to his.

U. C. T. VOTE FOR FESTIVAL

"Best Boosters" Give Midsummer Pageant Their Approval--Committee Named.

Elect Officers and Delegates to the Grand Council Meeting.

At their meeting on Saturday night, the United Commercial Travelers, the "best boosters for Duluth," unanimously indorsed the proposed midsummer festival and pageant and appointed a committee to act with the general committee being organized. This committee consists of E. F. Chalk, C. S. Nixon and J. E. Lawrence.

This is the sixteenth indorsement of the festival and pageant, the first being by Aad Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

This action of the U. C. T. is looked upon as being most important for, it is acknowledged, there is no organization in the state than can do more to make an affair a statewide success than the U. C. T. They are naturally boosters, and generally, when interested, make it their business to get what they are after. In this case it will be advertisment for Duluth and an immense attendance that they will be seeking. And they will get it.

The Duluth council of the U. C. T. also elected officers and delegates to the grand council which will meet this summer at Mankato. The council also learned with interest that George M. Peterson of Duluth, who was elected grand sentinel of the grand council at Crookston last year, has been advanced to the office of grand page. One hundred and twenty members were present at Saturday night's meeting. The following officers were elected:

Senior counsellor, E. F. Chalk; junior counsellor, C. L. Munro; past counsellor, George Spires; secretary, C. W. Sutton; conductor, Sewart Dearborn; page, Thomas Rankin; sentinel, H. J. Tonskemper; executive committee, E. W. Russell and George Mason.

Delegates to the grand council of the state, E. F. Chalk, George Spires, C. W. Sutton, J. E. Lawrence and O. C. Reitan.

THIRTEENTH WOMAN FREED IN CHICAGO

Chicago, March 16.—Mrs. Louise Van Keuren, who has been on trial here for shooting and killing her husband, John B. Van Keuren, last June, was found not guilty of murder by a jury. Mrs. Van Keuren's defense was that she mistook him for a burglar.

Van Keuren, who had been separated from his wife, was a hardware dealer on the South Side. The prosecution introduced evidence that Mrs. Van Keuren had been receiving attentions from George Penrose, a jeweler, whose place of business was near that of Van Keuren. Penrose was a co-defendant with Mrs. Van Keuren, but the court took his case from the jury and ordered him discharged.

Mrs. Van Keuren is the thirteenth woman freed here in three years after trial on charges of killing men. Only one conviction, that of Mrs. Lindloff, an alleged wholesale poisoner, was obtained in that time.

MOTHER OF SIX NUNS IS DEAD.

Baltimore, Md., March 16.—Mrs. Josephine M. Muth, mother of fifteen children, six of whom are Catholic nuns, died here Sunday. She was born in Germany seventy years ago. Her husband's brother, the late Brother Clementian, was superior general of the Christian Brothers, with headquarters in Lembres, Germany.

FIVE YEARS FOR JOHN LOVE ELLIOTT.

Lewes, Eng., March 16.—A sentence of five years penal servitude was pronounced at the Assizes here on John Love Elliott of New York. He was found guilty by the jury of flagrant breaches of the law, the nature of which was such that the public and the press were excluded from the courtroom during the trial, which lasted six days. The charges against him were based on neighbors' reports of statements to them by the man's daughters.

SAY NAVIGATION MAY OPEN APRIL 15.

Fort William, Ont., March 16.—Springlike weather during the last few weeks has affected the ice on Lake Superior and has given rise to the opinion among marine men that with continued mild weather, navigation will open here at least a week or ten days earlier than last spring, when the first steamers departed April 25. There will be no shipping, however, before April 14, when the marine insurance goes into effect.

NEW PARCEL POST EXTENSION APPROVED.

Washington, March 16.—Postmaster General Burleson has approved an amendment to the parcel post regulations under which butter, eggs, fruits, vegetables, poultry and other articles weighing from twenty to fifty pounds may be shipped in the first and second zones in boxes and crates similar to those handled by express companies.

The amendment provides that parcels weighing twenty pounds or less will be handled as heretofore, and must be securely packed in "such manner as to be carried in bags with other matter."

PASTORS URGE NEW TRIAL FOR FRANK.

Atlanta, Ga., March 16.—Pulpit utterances favoring a new trial for Leo M. Frank, under sentence of death for the murder here of Mary Phagan, 14-year-old employe of a pencil factory, of which Frank was superintendent, were made in several Atlanta churches yesterday. Several pastors told congregations they believed that the public feeling at Frank's trial made a fair trial impossible. The ministers said they did not assert either the innocence or guilt of Frank, but believed conditions warranted a new trial.

ADMIRAL ARRESTED FOR ALLEGED GRAFT.

Tokio, March 16.—Vice Admiral Tsurutaro Masuo, inspector general of naval construction on the reserve, was arrested Sunday charged with complicity in alleged graft in naval expenses. Admiral Masuo, who is 50 years old, graduated from the engineers' department of Tokio university in 1886.

INTERESTING PEOPLE WHO ARE DOING INTERESTING WORK HERE

No. 6.

To protect an unsuspecting public against "loan sharks" and to provide a place where the honest and well-meaning man or woman in financial straits may be able to secure a loan without paying usurious rates of interest—these are the aims of the Duluth Remedial Loan association of which Harry A. Berg is manager.

Several years' experience in the loan business has eminently fitted Mr. Berg for his work. Although it is true that the remedial loan society is not primarily a money-making institution, its very existence is dependent upon being operated on a self-sustaining basis. While the society is not yet self-supporting it is expected to be very soon.

Under the law, the remedial loan association is allowed to charge only 1 per cent interest per month and a reasonable fee for interest on the chattels mortgaged. The law also provides that stockholders can obtain no more than 6 per cent on their investment after all expenses have been deducted from the profits.

The Duluth Remedial Loan association, which has offices at 401 First National Bank building, is the only chattel loan society in the city which is operating under the law passed by the 1913 legislature. The other loan companies are still engaged in doing business in the same old way. The present law does not make usury a crime and consequently companies practicing usury have nothing to fear.

The local association was organized largely through the efforts of Warren E. Greene, county attorney, Julius H. Barnes of the Commercial club, F. W. Paine, J. T. Armstead and others.

PARTNERS GO TO COURT

Owners of Bijou Theater Ask District Judge to Settle Differences.

One of Partners Wants Receiver and Order for Accounting.

John Richardson and Charles Pavey, sometimes known as Charles A. Collins, owners of the Bijou theater, 2023 West Superior street, are in court with partnership troubles.

In district court Saturday afternoon, Richardson petitioned for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the business and for an order requiring Pavey to make an accounting.

Judge Fesler who heard arguments on a motion for the appointment of a receiver, declined to grant the motion and held the matter in abeyance. The temporary restraining order recently issued by the court enjoining Pavey from selling or disposing of any of the property of the partnership until final determination of the action now pending, will remain in effect.

Richardson purchased the theater during the month of June 1913, upon the solicitation of Pavey, he says. Pavey agreed to work for him on a salary of $30 a week. Richardson claims that this arrangement was satisfactory for a short time. On July 15 last, he alleges, Pavey threatened to leave the theater unless he was taken in as a partner in the business.

A partnership agreement was entered into after which the business prospered. Richardson alleges that he was taken sick last December. While he was in the hospital, he declares that Pavey came to him with a proposition to sell out to a prospective customer for $3,000. Richardson agreed. Pavey then explained that he had represented himself to the prospective purchaser as the sole owner of the theater. He asked Richardson for a dissolution of partnership contract.

The contract and promissory notes running from Pavey to Richardson were drawn up and according to Richardson were to be destroyed in the event that the deal for the sale of the theater was not consummated. Richardson claims that a short time afterwards he learned that it had been the intention of Pavey to acquire the business for himself and not to dispose of it to another.

Richardson alleges that he then demanded the return of the dissolution agreement and that the notes be canceled and destroyed, and that the partnership continue as before. Pavey, however, refused to listen to this proposition. The matter was then taken into court.

Ledingham Funeral

The funeral of John Ledingham, 49 years old, well known West end resident, who died Thursday, was held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon from the family residence, 1927 West Third street, and at 2 o'clock from the Second Presbyterian church. The Masons were in charge of the service. Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the church, officiated. The body will be taken this evening to Chatsworth, Ont., for burial.

CLUB CELEBRATES ITS ANNIVERSARY

Norwegian Play Given; Varde Membership Now Numbers 200.

The Varde club celebrated its tenth anniversary last evening at the St. Jean Baptiste church hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street.

During the evening the Norwegian play, "Sovande Sorg," was presented by members of the club as the stellar feature of the celebration. The leading parts were capably handled by Miss Elizabeth Hobberstad and Jacob Stensholt. They were ably assisted by Misses Inga Lund, Olga Vaage and Caroline Hobberstad and H. Hobberstad. Several musical selections were rendered following the playlet.

The Varde club now has an active membership of 200 Norwegian young people and is one of the strongest organizations of its kind in the city. It was organized ten years ago for the purpose of taking a part in the annual Norwegian celebrations on May 17, when the anniversary of the independence of Norway is observed throughout the world.

PAVING MATTER TO GO TO THE COURTS

Property Owners Plan to Hire Attorney to Fight Assessment.

Property owners on Twenty-seventh avenue, who are opposed to the paying of the paving assessment, declare they will hire an attorney in their fight against the public works department of the city.

Those opposed to the paying of their assessments say that the paving does not contain the proper ingredients and that the contractor has failed to live up to his agreement. The pavement laid last fall, the property owners say, was not properly inspected by the city department.

A meeting of the owners will be held this evening at the voting booth at Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street to take concerted action in the matter. An attorney, it is understood, will be hired and he will be instructed to enter an objection against the paying of the assessment, at least until the payment is satisfactory.

John Moir, West end grocer, will act as chairman at the meeting.

REVIVALS THIS WEEK.

Four Churches Will Unite in Evangelistic Meetings.

Revival mass meetings will be held during this week by the four Scandinavian churches of the West end, the first having drawn a large attendance yesterday afternoon at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. Rev. C. W. Wermine of the First Swedish M. E. church, preached yesterday.

Tomorrow evening another meeting will be held at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church; Wednesday at the First Swedish Baptist church; Thursday Swedish Mission church and Friday, First Swedish M. E. church. The meetings will begin at 7:30 o'clock each evening.

VETERAN ENGINEER IS SUMMONED

W. Frank Mallett Dies at Home in West End.

One of the oldest engineers on the Northern Pacific railroad in point of service and a resident of Duluth for the last thirty years, W. Frank Mallett, 51 years old, died last evening at his residence, 2121 West Second street, following an illness of long standing.

Mr. Mallett was taken ill several months ago and at the time was taken to a local hospital for an operation. He was too weak at the time for the operation and an effort was made to prepare him for it but the effort was found to be useless and he was taken back to his home two weeks ago, where he sank gradually until his death last evening.

Besides a widow, Mr. Mallett is survived by six children. They are: Merita, Doris, Margaret, William, Robert and Kenneth, all of Duluth.

Mr. Mallett had been employed as an engineer for the Northern Pacific railroad for more than thirty years and was one of the best known men in the service. He came to Duluth about thirty years ago and had made his home here ever since. He was a member of the local Masonic order and local 949, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of St. Paul.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made, but the services will probably be held Wednesday afternoon. Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church will officiate and interment will be at the Oneota cemetery.

WILL DISCUSS BEILISS TRIAL

Prof. Ohsol Will Speak at Bryant School Wednesday Night.

Prof. John Ohsol will deliver a lecture on "The Mendel Beiliss Trial" at a social center program at the Bryant school Wednesday evening. Several musical selections, including a violin solo by Gustav Jackson, will compose the program for the evening.

Prof. Ohsol is very well known in Duluth, and for the last few years has made a careful study of the conditions in the Russian empire. He followed closely the Mendel Beiliss trial and his lecture will tell in detail the features of the murder of the Russian boy in Kiev, the arrest of Beiliss, the Jew, on a charge of ritual murder, the trial and the final acquittal of the latter after a hearing that lasted several weeks and created a wide-spread interest throughout the world.

MISSION SOCIETY.

Women of Trinity Lutheran Church Will Meet Wednesday.

Plans for the year will be outlined by the Women's Missionary Society of the Trinity English Lutheran church at a meeting to be held Wednesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. E. G. Pash, 1614 East Sixth street.

Rev. F. O. Hanson, pastor of the church, will preside at the meeting. Following the outlining of the work, the various committees to handle the respective features will be appointed by the president.

The committee of the society, consisting of Mesdames D. E. Seashore, A. Lofgren, C. E. Lonegren, Albert Swenson, O. F. Wennerlund and F. H. Ekman, who were recently appointed to purchase the linen and silverware for the dining room of the new church, will meet this evening. A final report will be made by Mrs. Seashore, chairman of the committee.

MISS MURDOCK WILL SPEAK ON NURSING.

Miss Beatrice Murdock, superintendent of nurses at St. Luke's hospital, will speak at the Bryant school social center meeting this evening. She will address the meeting on "Nursing as a Profession." The lecture this evening is one of a series that is being given by women of Duluth, on the pay taken by members of their sex in the business and industrial world.

Girls in Contest.

The Spaa girls' basket ball team will clash with the Lakeside school quint at the latter's gymnasium Wednesday evening for the basket ball honors of the city. Both teams are still undefeated and provided the Y. W. C. A. does not enter in the field the game Wednesday will decide the championship of Duluth.

Lenten Tea.

St. Luke's Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church will entertain at a Lenten tea for its members next Thursday afternoon in the guild hall of the church. Rev. W. E. Harmann will read from Dr. Schuyler's "The Making of a Churchman." Mesdames G. Holloway, T. E. Halford and Oliver Kurker will be the hostesses during the afternoon.

For Missionary Society.

Mrs. C. D. McPhail of 1817 West Second street will entertain the Women's Missionary society of the Central Baptist church at her home Wednesday afternoon. "Our Baptist Missions in India" will be the subject for discussion, with Mrs. W. A. Berridge as leader. Mrs. F. W. Mentzer will lead in a discussion on a "Mission News."

Semi-Annual Meeting.

The Lake Superior circuit of the United Norwegian Lutheran church held its semi-annual business sessions yesterday at the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. Rev. N. Lockrem of Superior presided. A morning and afternoon session was held.

Sunday School Program.

The Sunday school of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will entertain at a banquet this evening in the church hall for the members of the school, their parents and friends. Charles E. Peterson, superintendent, is in charge of the entertainment, which will also include several addresses and musical numbers.

West End Briefs.

North Star lodge, No. 11, I. O. G. T., will entertain for its members next Friday evening at the Sloan hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

The Rosary Society of St. Clements' Catholic church, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, will entertain at the first of a series of Lenten teas next Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Nunan of 324 Twenty-fifth avenue west have returned from a short visit at St. Paul, where Mr. Nunan attended the grocers' convention.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen will entertain at a card party tomorrow afternoon at the Sloan hall.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lawrence of Brainerd are the guests this week of their son, W. J. Lawrence, 2009 West Second street.

Mrs. W. S. McDonald of Superior will entertain the members of the West End Five Hundred club at her home Wednesday afternoon.

Beta Council, No. 2, Modern Samaritans, will give a card party at the Sloan hall this evening.

The play that was to have been presented by the Allen Bible class of the Grace M. E. church next Friday evening, has been postponed until April 17.

Registered at the Esmond hotel are: J. W. Simpson of Minneapolis, Paul Miller of St. Paul, F. P. Carson of Chicago and Fred Arnold of Minneapolis.

WROTE TO WILSON; LANDS IN JAIL.

Newark, N. J., March 16.—Charged with having written a letter couched in objectionable language to President Wilson, Samuel Barr, 49 years old, of Brunswick, was arrested late Saturday night by police inspectors and committed to jail by United States Commissioner Stockton. Sunday the commissioner released Barr in the custody of his counsel. Barr, it was said by officials, was a victim some time ago of a fall which necessitated his confinement for several months in a hospital for treatment for concussion of the brain.

STATE COMMERCIAL CLUBS WILL MEET.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tonight the annual meeting of the North Dakota Federation of Commercial clubs will open here. Tomorrow evening the visitors will be guests of the Grand Forks Commercial club at dinner, with President D. M. Neill of the Minnesota Federation of clubs as the principal speaker.

Mr. Neill and Maj. J. S. Murphy of Minot will be the principal speakers during the opening session. Publicity will be the main theme of the federation meeting.

Three Seek Mandan Job.

Mandan, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three candidates are out for the position of president of the Mandan city commisston, which has been again declared open by virtue of the recall election directed against President H. L. Henke.

The recall election will be held March 20. H. L. Henke, the official against whom the recall is directed; T. G. C. Kennelly, who has directed the fight on Henke, and Loren S. Royer, are candidates.

DELEGATES NAMED FOR ANTI-MACHINE MEETING

Republicans Who Wish to See State Released From Control of the Ring Meet and Name Representatives to Conference to Be Held in Minneapolis Next Thursday—Democratic County Conferences Week From Tuesday—Several Booms Started.

St. Louis county made provision Saturday evening for participation in the anti-machine conference to be held next Thursday in Minneapolis, when the Republicans of the state will try to unite upon a man to oppose Governor Eberhart at the June primaries for the governorship nomination.

The meeting was very decidedly a representative one, the leading Republicans of the city who are not tied up to the Smith-Eberhart bandwagon being present and taking enthusiastic part. The attendance was much better than had been looked for, and those gathered there went about the matter in a businesslike way that showed determination to try to rescue the state from the incubus that is in control and wasting the commonwealth's substance.

There was not the slightest hitch. The gathering, while formally organized with John E. Samuelson as chairman and Frank T. McNally as secretary, discussed the anti-machine activity informally and in a matter of fact way that—if the same spirit is rife throughout the state—bodes no good for the political vaudeville team, Adolph and Ed.

Only once was there mention of sending an instructed delegation. One man present believed that the delegation should be instructed for somebody—he did not say whom—so that it might have some sort of an anchor; but that it be not tied to anybody in particular, being left in a position to trade. But this was so thoroughly voted down that there was no mistaking the sentiment of the others. This motion did not get the least support, the others being unanimously against it. Aside from the naming of delegates and arranging for proxy blanks, nothing else was done. The delegation will be as follows:

Duluth—John E. Samuelson, Frank E. Randall, D. H. Lyford, Andrew Myles, Robert Patterson, W. T. Faust, Dr. R. W. Bowden, Frank P. McNally, C. R. Magney, Richard M. Funck, Neil E. Beaton, A. H. Davenport, P. A. Nelson, I. K. Lewis, Jay H. Hoag, Elmer F. Blu, Dr. F. C. Bowman, Watson S. Moore, W. T. Wilke, Lief Larson, L. S. High, A. A. Fider, W. H. Gurnee, W. A. Pond, Elmer N. Whyte, L. H. Whipple, W. A. Watte, Hans B. Haroldson, T. H. Martin, S. W. Hill and R. M. Weaver.

Hibbing—Victor Powers and Con Kepple.

Virginia—W. J. Archer and George H. Harvey.

Eveleth—Jacob S. Saari and A. E. Pfremmer.

Aurora—Charles T. Murphy.

Buhl—George Barrett.

Chisholm—J. H. McNevin.

A week from Tuesday the county conferences of the Democratic party will be held to select delegates to the state Democratic conference to be held in St. Paul on March 31. Unlike the Republicans there is practically no schism in the Democratic party. Of course there is Daniel W. Lawler, but as he is perpetually erupting the Democratic condition can be said to be normal. It is expected that aside from a little beating of the tom-toms in the Lawler section, the conference will be peaceful and will do something for the party, in the way of backing some strong candidate for the governorship nomination as against Lawler. Of course the party leaders expect Lawler to bolt, but that being his habit it will ocasion no surprise in this case. He would surprise the party were he to stick, that's about the only way he could, according to the tone of the Democratic press about the state.

In case the anti-machine Republicans, who will meet next Thursday to try to agree upon a candidate to oppose the outfit now in the state house, fail to put up a strong enough man to beat the present governor, another John A. Johnson may be produced in the Democratic camp.

The hope is that the anti-machine Republicans will unite upon a man who will be strong before the people, who has a good record either in or out of politics. The factional side of the affair should be lost sight of and the state as a whole and its welfare should be the chief consideration. The popularity of Senator Ole Sageng throughout the state is growing daily and the anti-machine men could go farther and fare much worse than naming him. One man remarked the other day with much evidence of sincerity:

"Senator Sageng has the making in him of another John A. Johnson.

But admirable as is the figure of Senator Sageng, the Democratic opportunity is not limited to one man.

And this is good news, because very clearly, with the Republican party in its present chaotic and hopelessly divided states, with the Eberhart-Smith machine in control of the party destinies, and with the Eberhart opposition so split by self-seeking individuals that there is practically no hope from that source, the state of Minnesota must look to the Democratic party for rescue if rescue there is to be.

And the conference of March 31 will have a splendid field to choose from.

There is Senator Sageng.

There is Congressman Winfield Scott Hammond of St. James, a stalwart, clean-cut, able and commanding figure who could splendidly lead the cause of state redemption.

There is Judge C. M. Stanton of Bemidji, a highly attractive possibility with a host of friends in all parts of the state, who would make a candidate without fear and without reproach.

There is John Lind, Minnesota's "first citizen," as many of all parties have been pleased to term him.

And there are others as well.

So far as St. Louis county is concerned the chief political matters are the filing of O. H. Griggs of Virginia for the state senatorial nomination to succeed Senator James P. Boyle and the filing of John Glode of Eveleth for the nomination for county commissioner from the Sixth district. The unanimity of the range press for Mr. Griggs is quite remarkable and foreshadows, it is believed, an easy victory.

Mr. Glode's platform is:

"Good roads for everybody. The farmer can never prosper in this or any other district unless he has a good road to the nearest market."

An editorial in the Mora Times, edited by Henry Rines, candidate for the state auditorship, makes the statement that Mr. Rines and C. H. Warner are authors of the new gross earnings tax law, which went into effect Jan. 1, increasing the tax from 4 to 5 per cent and changing the time of settlement from annually to semi-annually. The increase will be $1,146,742.62, and because of the change in time of paying the state will be ahead $50,000 to $100,000 in interest.

W. B. Richardson, mayor of Rochester, it is said, is about to announce himself as a candidate for lieutenant governor.

In a recent editorial, the Ironton News comes out strongly for State Senator E. P. Peterson of Litchfield for the Democratic nomination for governor, claiming that he is the type of man who can beat Governor Eberhart. Be that as it may the News certainly gives the truth in the introduction of its advocacy of Senator Peterson, as follows:

Even a casual acquaintance with the political conditions existing in Minnesota will satisfy any one that the prospects are favorable for the nomination of Governor Eberhart to succeed himself. This is in spite of an apparently large majority opposed to him, and will result from the division of that opposition.

There seems to be no question but that the opposition to him is based on substantial grounds. It comes from men of all shades of political opinion, from all parts of the state, from all kinds and qualities of men.

Cass Lake Times: The Duluth Herald's political prophet advances the idea that Eberhart and his machine can be routed and driven from the state house if all the progressives unite for that purpose. Of this proposition we have no doubts, but can the progressives be gotten together? Who will be our next governor is a question, not for the political forecaster but for the people in the plentitude of their manly power to answer and if we mistake not, with the present election privileges, it will be answered in favor of human rights and human liberty.

The aforementioned rule for the selection of state auditor may be safely applied in the selection of a chief magistrate. Of the three so far in the field for nomination, all are Republicans of the mortuary class, neither has shown himself competent to perform the important duties of such an important position, neither has risen above the common level of partisanship and neither has any conception above partisanship nor any ideas for the common good. The Democrats may not be able to secure enough votes to elect but the liberals and the progressives of the state are in sufficient numbers to do it. The people want a man to fill that position of broad mind and possessed of a full measure of the milk of human kindness with ability to get beneath and overturn any and all the evil schemes concocted to plunder and deceive the common people. Let us find such a man, no matter what his politics are, no matter what he believes about the fads and isms that now stalk rampant over the fair fields, give him your votes and stand by him till he has brought the commonwealth under control. We can do it if we try, but adherence to old political heresies will not bring us victory.

Anybody or any faction that ties itself to a certain man because of his politics or his party, ceases—this year in particular—to be a patriot. The state is in great need of release—must have it in fact, and party considerations should be forgotten.

SENATOR OLE SAGENG
Of Ottertail County.

ELLIS SAYS HE IS GOING

Aviator Determined to Make the Flight to San Francisco.

Will Fly Over Lakes, Ocean, and Through Panama Canal.

Murrell Ellis, the aviator who is planning to fly from Duluth to San Francisco by way of the Great Lakes, the Atlantic ocean and the Panama canal, making a circuit of the country, claims that he is meeting with much encouragement in his preliminary plans.

"I am going to make the flight," said Ellis Saturday. "I have made up my mind to do it, and I will if I start alone in my own flying boat, and without any backing but what I can provide from my own pocket. I want to be the first man to fly around the country and through the Panama canal. There are three possibilities. Either I will go backed by the business men of Duluth as a whole, just for the purpose of advertising Duluth and the greatness of the city as an industrial center and as a summer resort; or I will go advertising some particular Duluth industry, or I will go as a free lance, but I am going.

"I have had word from Glenn L. Martin and he has agreed to make a special hydro-aeroplane for me, to be delivered by June 1. This boat will be of a very substantial type and strong enough to make the long flight around the country. I want to call the boat the 'Duluth' and stop at every city of importance on the coast of the United States.

"I have had letters from several motion picture concerns asking me to keep them informed of my plans, as they want to get motion pictures of the 'Duluth' when she starts and scenes during the trip.

"You can put it down for a fact that I am going this summer, and will leave Duluth not later than Sept. 1 for the longest flight ever undertaken by any aviator."

Mr. Ellis is making his home at 219 Fifth avenue west.

WILL BOOST NAVAL HOLIDAY PROPOSAL

Committee Will Meet in Baltimore Next November.

Baltimore, Md., March 16.—Cardinal Gibbons, Bishop John G. Murray of the Protestant Episcopal church, Governor Goldsborough, Dr. Ira Remsen of John Hopkins university, and B. Howell Griswold, Jr., have consented to form a preliminary committee to organize a movement to bring together in Baltimore in November of this year an international peace conference, designed to crystallize interest and sentiment behind the proposal of Winston Churchill of England for a year's suspension of battleship construction.

Winston Churchill's suggestion, made several year sago, was taken up by Congressman W. L. Hensley of Missouri last December and indorsed in a resolution adopted by the house of representatives after several days' debate, with only eleven dissenting votes.

The committee which has agreed to start the movement, is merely preliminary to a general organization. The members are expected to meet in a few days at the call of Mr. Griswold, who will act as temporary chairman, and will then ask for the co-operation of all the leading people in the country at large.

Baltimore was suggested as the meeting place because Maryland was the pioneer in religious liberty and religious peace in this country, and because of the proximity of the city to Washington.

SUPREME COURT WILL PASS ON IT

Constitutionality of Corrupt Practices Act Will Be Decided.

In order that the supreme court might be enabled to pass upon the constitutionality of the corrupt practices act which has been attacked in the Eveleth mayoralty election contest case now pending in district court, Judge Dancer Saturday afternoon amended his order overruling the demurrer interposed by John J. Gleason to the petition of Jacob S. Saari, who is contesting Gleason's election on the grounds that Gleason violated the corrupt practices act in securing his office.

Under a law passed by the 1913 legislature, a demurrer is not appealable unless the court expresses doubt as to its own ruling. Judge Dancer in his order overruling the demurrer and upholding the constitutionality of the law made no reference to the proposition of doubt. However, when attorneys for Gleason, asked for an amended order, providing for an expression of doubt on the part of the court, it was granted.

Judge Dancer granted the motion for the amendment with the understanding that there would be no delay in getting a ruling from the supreme court. It is probable that the matter will be argued before the higher court at the April term.

Gleason defeated Saari in the Eveleth mayoralty contest last November by a margin of ten votes.

FURTHER INCREASE IN STEEL TRADE

Out of 234 Furnaces in America, 153 Are Operating.

Operations of blast furnaces in the East and in the Chicago district using Lake Superior iron ores are said to be showing a decided increase over February so far this month.

Where but 134 out of the 234 furnaces were operating a month ago, the number has increased to 153. During February seventy-four of the 106 United States Steel corporation stacks were in blast as against sixty-two in January. Four more furnaces of the independent steel companies are now in operation than a month ago.

The railroads are now coming into the market more freely for equipment though the orders being placed are mostly small and calculated to just cover immediate requirements. The Great Northern and the Soo line are said to have inquiries out for both freight cars and locomotives. The Illinois Central has just ordered fifty locomotives and orders have been booked from a number of the smaller roads in the East and Middle West. In preparation for the new season's ore and coal handling trades, the Bessemer & Lake Erie road is advised to be in the market for 3,500 cars.

The report of the Bethlehem Steel company for the year 1913, just issued, shows that its earnings were $8,752,671 or more than 70 per cent greater than those of 1912, its previous best year.

One Killed; One Injured.

Crosby, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A defective pressure guage probably was the cause of the explosion of a welding tank, which was being given its initial trial, and the explosion of which killed Berger Wold and seriously injured James Peterson of this city.

Cut on Circular Saw.

Lancaster, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Halvor Olson of Caribou had his right hand cut off and his arm so badly cut that it may have to be amputated the last of the week, when he reached across the revolving blade of a circular saw to oil it.

The Lancaster Commercial club held its annual banquet at the Lancaster hotel Saturday evening and enjoyed a program of speeches and music.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

THE general council of Paducah, Ky., has taken steps to prohibit the serving of free lunches in saloons, contending that they are insanitary. While some of the saloon proprietors object to the proposed law, many favor it, claiming that the free lunches are costly and forced upon them because their competitors serve them. A number of proprietors are arranging to evade the law by selling the lunches at a nominal price, while others say they will sell the lunches at the price of a drink and give away the drink.

Free lunches went out of fashion in Duluth when the Hicken liquor code was approved at the referendum held last September. This feature of the new ordinance met with the approval of the saloon men generally. At the time there was some talk of evading the section by selling lunches for a nickel and giving away the drink. But this has not been done. Sandwiches and more elaborate lunches are served in a number of bars but any drinks accompanying them are paid for in addition to the sandwich or lunch.

Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic pain, soreness and stiffness. Don't suffer! Relief and a cure awaits you. "St. Jacobs Oil" is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache and sprains.

Woman's Realm

"Votes for women" deceived an unusual amount of attention at the University of Minnesota last week, the occasion being the appearance of a "Woman's Number" of the Minnesota Daily.

The edition was prepared entirely by women. There was a great deal of news of women's activities, but athletics and other subjects of interest to men, received some attention. The paper had a good appearance and was newsy. The feature of the number was an editorial on woman's suffrage by Miss Katherine Nelson of Owatonna, who was the editor. Miss Nelson's editorial reads:

"Equal suffrage is bound to come. We all know that it is merely a matter of time, but we do not believe that this change will be brought about by militant methods or stump speeches. The work of the organizations upon our own campus form a much stronger argument in its favor than any flight of oratory in the subject of our 'rights.'

"Though the excuses given are legion, the really serious charges made by those opposed to granting women the vote are that we have an inadequate knowledge of affairs, and lack interest in public issues. Both of these charges rest upon a firm foundation of fact, but women by no means possess a monopoly upon political ignorance, and the interest and executive efficiency shown in the management of campus organizations proves that our indifference is as much a product of environment as a fundamental trait."

Y. W. C. A. VESPERS.

J. E. Hauter Talks on Mexican Situation.

At the Y. W. C. A. vespers yesterday afternoon J. E. Hauter, assistant secretary of the Y. M. C. A., gave an interesting talk on Mexico. Mr. Hauter was connected with the Y. M. C. A. of Mexico City three years and is familiar with conditions in the country.

He gave a geographical description of Mexico, and a brief account of the political conditions and explained the ethnology of her peoples.

"There is no middle class in Mexico," Mr. Hauter said. "Members of the wealthy class have magnificent homes and a servant for every duty, whereas those of the poor class live in hovels with almost no furniture, except a mattress. In this class a family of seven can subsist on a meal costing 18 cents. The noon meal is carried to the place where the father of the family is working and father, mother, children and the dog eat together."

Mr. Hauter described the national drink that he characterized as the curse of the country. It is made by distilling juice of the century plant and has such a soothing effect upon the natives that often several days must be spent away from work to allow the effects to wear off. The manufacture of this drink is an important activity in Mexico, century plants being cultivated in rows as corn is in this country.

Miss Frances Crittenden of Minneapolis, the national field secretary, told of the Y. W. C. A. house that will be on the grounds of the San Francisco exposition to accommodate 1,000 girls who will be employed on the grounds. Plans are also being made for the erection of a hotel for women just outside the gates.

After the vesper services there was the usual social hour.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"Officer 666."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—"The Funny Moon."

AT THE LYCEUM.

"Officer 666" Pleases Audience in a Return Engagement.

"Officer 666," one of the cleverest and most humorous farces on the road, made its second bow to the Duluth public at the Lyceum last night. A small audience was well entertained and the players left a very favorable impression.

This breezy comedy is not at all along usual lines The villain, a gentleman crook, makes his get-away and by his winning personality, cleverness and "high brow" bent of mind, excite the admiration of all who come in contact with him In other words he is another "Raffles"

The plot of the play is no less clever than is the gentlemanly villain. There isn't a dull moment from beginning to end, and the situations are so naturally and cleverly turned and such delightfully humorous effects are produced that no audience has escaped being convulsed with laughter. Some of the escapes are well nigh incredible, and the keen wits and cool self-possession of the crook excite admiration.

J. M. Clayton as Alfred Wilson, acts very naturally as he poses as Travers Gladwin, the owner of priceless paintings and proves conclusively that he is no mean judge of the old masters. His personality fits in well with the part and his dignity, height, and deep voice, make him impressive in the part. His success in "taking over" priceless paintings wherever he finds them he counts for nothing, and his losing the heroine at the close touches him so deeply that he gains the sympathy of his audience. The playwright probably considered this sufficient punishment for his high-handed thefts, and everyone seems satisfied to have him chloroform a patrolman and escape in his uniform.

Miss Lois Burton in the heroine's role has no very difficult acting to do, but her pleasing personality and temperament are very appropriate for her part, and she fills her place well.

Martin Malloy as "Officer 666" is a big, jolly Irishman, who inspires laughter at first sight. His blundering performances and his arresting of the wrong man at a crucial point in his career make excellent comedy.

Miss Leota Sinclair as Sadie Small is very charming and while her part is not heavy, her appearance is refreshing at all times. Campbell Duncan is a good Cockney character, and he disports his monocle and deals in conversational nonentities with considerable cleverness. George Ahern as Travers Gladwin could greatly improve his work by better enunciation. His jumbling of words make him almost incoherent at times.

The play will be repeated tonight and Tuesday night.

Rose Stahl in "Maggie Pepper," a three-act play of department store life by Charles Klein, will be the attraction at the Lyceum Friday and Saturday.

There is no more adept playwright in the development of themes on American life than Charles Klein. This has been proved many times, yet it is hard to imagine "Maggie Pepper" without Rose Stahl, for there is no other actress on the stage who could visualize so perfectly this typical American character.

"Maggie Pepper" tells the story of a shop girl, which by reason or its everydayness, has a powerful appeal. From her first appearance as a slangy, caustic-tongued, brave-hearted shop girl, who finds, after fifteen years of faithful service as a drudge in a department store, her ambition to rise to the head of her department is not to be realized owing to the antiquated ideas and prejudices of the general manager, Miss Stahl as Maggie holds the sympathy of her audience. The subtle change in her appearance, address and manners, after her hopes have been realized, and her ability has won her a leading place in the management of the store, stamps Miss Stahl as a finished artist. At first she gives the impression of a witty, brainy woman, lacking in education and refinement, but self-reliant and honest. By her own efforts, as the progress of the play discloses, she educates herself to fit the advanced position she desires. At the same time this store girl looms big in her self-sacrificing desire to reclaim a niece from the teachings of a wicked mother.

The Henry B. Harris estate, under which Miss Stahl appears, has surrounded her with an excellent company of players, and this well-balanced cast will visualize each familiar character conceived by the author.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Double Headline Bill of Vaudeville Best Attraction of Season.

With Odiva's act improved 100 per cent by the addition of a troupe of trained sea lions, and with Lillian Shaw sharing the headline honors, the Duluth Orpheum this week has what is probably the best bill of the season to date.

Odiva was seen here two years ago in her swimming and diving exhibition, and at that time she was generally ranked as the best of the numerous vaudeville swimmers. This season, however, her act has been immensely improved by the addition of a troupe of trained sea lions, which add greatly to the interest in the act. The animals are remarkably well trained, and their movements in the water are fascinating in their grace and agility. The fair swimmer appears in the same tank with the sea lions, and her movements are scarcely less agile, and none less graceful than those of the animals. The act is elaborately staged, and unlike many swimming and diving acts provides real entertainment.

The personality of the bill is Lillian Shaw. Thin, with small features and no claim to personal beauty, she offers with great energy a German dialect song that makes up in spirit what it lacks in refinement. A quick change and she is back in Italian peasant garb to sing "I Gotta Da Rock," which, by the way, is one of the foundations on which her fame is built. A Yiddish song follows and then Miss Shaw demonstrates her facility for character by trundling out a perambulator with an infant and singing of the woes of the German mother, whose life is a weary round of waiting on the infant. The fatuous smile with which she looks at the child, the indignant protest against the burden it has put upon her, and underneath the caricature, the mother-love—these are done with amazing clearness. Since Cecilia Loftus' little episode of the mother in the tram, nothing has been seen that equals Miss Shaw's work.

The rest of the bill is entertaining and of a high class.

The Berrens have a musical turn, playing the violin and the piano, and there is a big surprise at the finish which made them one of the hits of the bill last winter. Horace Wright and Rene Dietrich are most unusual vocalists for a vaudeville stage, and the audience last evening would willingly have heard more of their singing. Their grand opera medley was exceptionally good.

Wheeler and Wilson, a man and a woman, make up by their dancing for their inability to sing. Their dancing is quite in a class by itself, and the audience bore with their songs.

The Moralis Brothers open the bill with an unusual juggling turn, and the Six Samarins, Russian dancers, bring it to a whirlwind finish with an excellent dancing number. The motion pictures and the orchestra selections complete the strongest offering the Orpheum has presented this season.

AT THE EMPRESS.

New Musical Tabloid Pleases the Three Sunday Audiences.

Patrons of the Empress theater were entertained yesterday with a musical tabloid, the vehicle being "The Funny Moon," a clever comedy interspersed with catchy, tuneful music. The usually large Sunday chowds were present and the new show left a favorable impression. Tabloids are always popular with Empress patrons, and "The Funny Moon" is one of the best shown at the Empress.

James P. Lee has the distinction of being not only the author, but carries the stellar part in the cast. The Lee family is further apparent by the presence of the author's daughter, Miss Madeline Lee. Both are clever and play their parts in a very capable manner. Miss Lee is also a very attractive young woman.

Lee has no mean ability as a comedian, and his fun bubbles over in such a fashion that it infects his audience. Miss Madeline looks well and sings charmingly. Her songs "Isle D'Amour" and "Mammy Jinny's Jubilee" were among the best of the numbers. She also appears to advantage in a duet with Le Roy Kinslow. The chorus is good-looking and costumed attractively.

Katherine Murray sang "Peg O' My Heart" pleasingly, and Alline Rogers and Minnie Vandevoort featured the chorus numbers with a graceful dance.

The play, unlike many musical comedies has a good plot. It is well staged and the scenic effects are unusually good. It will be presented four days, ending its engagement here Wednesday night.

ENTRIES FOR DIVING CONTEST.

Eight entries have already been secured for the diving contest for men which will be held at the Orpheum theater Tuesday evening in connection with the engagement of Odiva, the Samoan swimmer, this week.

Friday evening a contest for women will be held, and Manager Billings announces that three entries have already been secured for this. Silver cups will be given as prizes to the winners.

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

A "Successful" Husband Makes His Wife Happy.

What is a successful husband?

Let me think, what have I read about successful husbands recently that made me resent the theories advanced?

I remember. It was an article by a prominent woman writer in which she asserts that "if a man only be troublesome enough, a wife's existence is never at a dead level—it is full of surprises" — and, therefore, the husband may pride himself upon being a success in the role. That's a woman's slavish devotion to man running all through it. It carries the old plea that man must be served and that woman is his door-mat. I don't like it.

Not long ago I read a story entitled "A Successful Wife." I have forgotten the author's name. The heroine in the story played a waiting game, enduring in the meantime more than ten average wives could be expected to bear and survive. How she managed to keep her faith in the face of what she suffered of humiliation is beyond me. But she did, and we leave her enjoying her husband's devoted attention. The writer ended it in that "live happy ever after" fashion, but by no power of reasoning could one hope for a continuation of domestic felicity with such a man.

If success, as applied to wifehood, is just another term for the sacrifice of all a woman's hopes, ambitions and happiness, then the man who makes trouble and is faithful to neither word nor vow, is successful in that he keeps the sacrificial nature of woman working overtime. Many a woman is content to let conditions exist on this basis. The two are friendly. The wife is provided with food and shelter and clothing, but for all her ability, for all the man's well-being, and success is as much to her credit as to his, she has to stand well out of the limelight.

The good wife does not work for hire. If sacrifice of every earthly aim would conduce to make a man out of one of the kind who allows a woman to give all and make no return, wives would consider their lives to some purpose, not wasted.

A woman cannot be a successful wife to a worthless husband. And a man is very nearly worthless who constantly takes from his wife without making any return of the good cheer, courage, faith and love which she so freely gives to him. Being a successful husband is compounded of all the elements of a successful wife. Neither can exist, in any real sense, without the other.

ST. LOUIS AND ITS PAGEANT

Forty-nine American Cities Asked to Co-operate in Staging Big Spectacle—7,500 Citizens in the Cast.

When the general committee that will have charge of the great midsummer festival which seems assured for 1915, begins to make definite arrangements, the assistance and co-operation of other cities will be among the features to be considered.

This is being done by the city of St. Louis in connection with the big historic pageant which will take place there the last four days in May. Duluth's fete will be carried out on a scale without precedent in this part of the country and the representation of other municipalities in characteristic roles might be of great value in several ways. Not the least of these would be bringing the attention of the midsummer festival to the residents of those cities more forcibly than would otherwise be impossible. It would also be a further inducement to bring visitors of other cities here and would be the medium for much desirable advertising.

In behalf of the city of St. Louis, Mayor Kiel has issued an invitation to the forty-nine cities of America, requesting their co-operation in the biggest civic and art movement ever attempted in this country—the upbuilding of a democratic spirit by means of an historical pageant and of a symbolical drama, which will be given at the national amphitheater in Forest Park, May 28 to May 31 inclusive, in connection with the 150th anniversary of the founding of St. Louis.

Not only are these leading cities of America invited to co-operate by the sending of envoys to this outdoor drama, in which a cast of 7,500 will reenact the principal scenes in the city's romantic history—they are further requested to name as their envoys men representative in the field of civic art, and who in addition will be able to appear as symbolical figures—on horseback—in the masque itself, thereby lending their histrionic support to the symbolical hero Saint Louis.

In the civic drama, entitled "The Masque of Saint Louis," by Percy MacKaye, a symbolic interpretation of American community life, the city of Saint Louis will appear as a youthful crusader in the cause of civilization, and as a leader in the new civic movement which is urging the great American cities toward a more socialized future. His mission has been laid upon him by Cahokia, the spirit of the Mound Builders, handing down to him the torch of a co-operative spirit from the far past.

Co-operating with him in the Masque will be cities of the plains, the rivers, the mountains, the lakes, and the two coasts.

The Masque, by Mr. MacKaye, acted by night, interprets the world meanings of the historical pageant by Thomas Wood Stevens, which immediately precedes it. The musical features of the Masque will be composed and directed by Frederick S. Converse; the lighting, staging and costuming by Joseph Lindon Smith, who will devise new and impressive symbols for the costuming of the cities.

THE STATE EFFICIENCY PLAN.

There is a good deal of talk in the state press about the tentative reorganization of the state government proposed by the efficiency and economy commission after several months of hard and intelligent work.

That's good. There ought to be a lot of talk about it. It is good, too, that most of the talk is favorable; though if there are flaws to be picked, picking them is a public duty.

The plan is only tentative. It is before the state and the commission for further study and discussion. The commission wants to be sure it is as nearly perfect as it can be made before it draws up its report, and to that end it welcomes public discussion and criticism.

Some of the comment, however, would be very embarrassing if the commission paid too much attention to it. For instance, while one newspaper says the abolition of the board of control is in itself reason enough for approving the plan, another newspaper says that if the commission proposes to abolish the board of control, that is reason enough for abolishing the commission itself.

Both can't be right, of course.

In point of fact, retaining a board of control which was intended to be a check on a systemless organization would be an anomaly when the organization had been systematized. The reorganization has done away with the need of a board of control, so the board of control must go.

We note, too, criticism to the effect that the tax commission is too valuable to lose and should not be abolished. That's correct; but the tax commission is not abolished. It appears in the new plan under the new name of "board of finance," with its duties enlarged and made more important. It still exists, though its name has been changed and its public usefulness enlarged.

In this connection, protests against the abolition of this or that board, officer or function should be scrutinized very closely. Neither the members of abolished boards nor their friends are going to be agreeable to this plan; and yet if it does not abolish something its work will be wasted. Protests against changes that make for efficiency and economy should be examined very carefully to see if there is an underground wire connecting them and the pain of unneeded public servants who will be separated from their jobs if the plan is adopted.

The Federal leaguers claim to have fifty million dollars back of them. The next question will be how much they can get back of the home plate, in the grandstand.

WIGS.

We are sorry that we are unable to keep up regularly with the fashions in women's wearing apparel. Perhaps we should, and doubtless these columns should be a faithful mirror of the currents of these fashions—if the swift and tumultuous and precipitate changes in styles can be likened to anything so quiet and orderly as currents. Rapids, or cataracts, perhaps would be more fitting.

But our frail canoe will not follow these tortuous and perilous waters, and so it is that we do not discuss such subjects except when something uncommonly awe-inspiring like slit skirts and diaphanous gowns makes us tremble for the future revelations thus hinted at.

Now there are wigs. There is nothing new about wigs. Bald people sometimes wear them. They have been in fashion before both among men and women, and curious ones, too. But though there is nothing new about wigs, there is something new in them, and that is the lady of fashion of today in brilliantly colored ones.

We read that at a court ball in St. Petersburg the wife of the czar's chief of staff wore a wig of burnished gold; that Princess Gortchakoff wore one of magenta; that Mme. Isolvsky had one of silver; and that the wig of Mme. Fedoseiff was of violet. Moreover, we read that in New York, in Philadelphia (et tu?), in Chicago, coming dangerously closer, are wigs of blue, of green, of pink and purple, of any shade imaginable.

Why not? The idea, seemingly, is to have a wig to harmonize with the gown of the moment. Those with many gowns, then, will need many wigs. There is method in the madness of those who propel fashions on the world. They are cunning at devices to make it increasingly expensive to be in the fashion, and increasingly profitable to them.

Still, there are worse fashions than this. We reflect with rather pleasurable anticipations upon its possibilities. They include the illumination of a drab world with the brilliance of many colors. They include the interesting probability that we shall need a new introduction to madame every time she appears in a new gown and therefore in a new wig.

If wigs, why not false complexions? Now don't take that to mean that we believe all complexions to be real now, any more than we believe all hair to be real now. But if it suits madame's new gown to be a blonde today, and suits her other gown to be a brunette tomorrow, what's to prevent? Nothing, except that such a fashion wouldn't profit the makers of fashions so much as new skirts or startling styles in hair. If it keeps on, madame may yet vie with the New Guinea savage in rainbow-hued complexions, as she seems now about to outdo any savage that ever lived with her riot of vividly colored wigs.

Thirty-five thousand Irishmen emigrated last year. Must be they heard something over there about the dismissal of a New York policeman.

SHOWING A CHURLISH SPIRIT.

There is a very petty project before the senate. Recognizing that the shipping trust must be forced to let go the subsidy given it by the law exempting American coastwise vessels from the payment of canal tolls, some of the senators propose, instead of repealing the provision, to amend it so that the president can suspend it if he wishes.

This may seem to these senators to be a way to save their dignity by avoiding direct action; but in point of fact it is a most undignified subterfuge, because it is mean and churlish.

It is unworthy of the senate or of any senator. The honest, manly thing to do, the only honest and manly thing that can be done, is to repeal the provision which constitutes not only a ship subsidy but a flat violation of a treaty to which the nation's word and good faith are pledged.

"The difference between a man and a cake of yeast," says the Philadelphia Record, "is that any cake of yeast can raise the dough." Sorry to have to differ, but it's a fact that even the successful cake of yeast has to be a live one.

THE THROTTLING COILS OF RED TAPE.

Orville Wright and others have said with much emphasis that our patent law system is greatly in need of improvement.

Ex-President Taft and other lawyers and judges have said that our court practices need simplification because they have in many cases got so cluttered up that they too often work injustice where justice is sought.

A case decided the other day by the circuit court of appeals seems to support both of these contentions.

This court sustained the claim of the Goodwin Film and Camera company against the Eastman Kodak company to patent rights covering the tremendous photographic film business.

The case, it is related, is twenty-seven years old. Eleven years were consumed in establishing the Goodwin patent right. The other sixteen years have been spent in fighting for the fruits of this right through one court after another.

The inventor has died, and his widow has grown gray and old, while the case wound its weary way through the circumlocution process.

And now the Eastman company states that it will seek a writ of certiorari from the supreme court of the United States.

In view of this case it isn't hard to believe that there must be something to the contention of those who criticize our patent law system and our court practice.

Now comes the declaration that Villa really has serious intentions regarding the Mexican presidency. Maybe Mexico is to see a little dramatic action between "Dear Francisco" and "Dear Venustiano."

Brotherhood and Dividends.

Springfield Republican: "Calumet & Hecla dividends in short, have no bearing on the equities of the copper strike." Prof. F. W. Taussig in the Survey—That may be, from the professor's point of view, but they cannot help affecting public opinion. What of profit-sharing? The professor in one of his books says of profit sharing that "unfortunately" the spirit of altruism among employers is "rare." "Were it common the whole aspect of the economic world would change." If the Calumet & Hecla company had shared with its employes those enormous dividends even a little, in all the gone-by years, it would now be easier to concede that Calumet & Hecla dividends have no bearing on the equities of the strike.

March

Editorial in Chicago Evening Post.

It was an ancient lady who said many, many years ago that she had noticed all her life that if she managed to struggle through the month of March she had always lived the rest of the year. March is a maligned month, and it probably will continue so to be just so long as people think that they cannot avoid catching cold and being generally miserable when the wind blows. March, however, is the mother month, and mothers rarely are unkind.

This is the month when the country folk and even some city folk look for the harbinger of spring, which is by common consent, country and city, a bird. The robin comes to us in March, and usually it is this bird which is called spring's harbinger. There never was an ornithological mistake like unto this. Robins frequently appear in late February, and almost always they are in the fields in early March, and yet their coming may be followed by days and weeks of weather which is first cousin, if not closer kin, to winter.

The harbinger of spring is the phoebe. Why? The answer is easy and it ought to be convincing. The phoebe lives entirely upon winged insects, and it will not come into our north country until insects are a-wing, and they do not wake and take wing until warmth is abroad and conditions fairly settled.

The swallows, like the phoebe, live entirely upon winged insects. Shakespeare knew something about the swallow's habits when he wrote:

Daffodils that come before the swallow dares

It is said that one swallow does not make a summer. There are daring ones to disagree with the old saying. The appearance of one swallow in our northern sky means summer conditions, for the bird is rarely fooled. The slightest touch of cold checks its northern flight, and it makes its way to us slowly, feeling out conditions as it comes. In the late March, occasionally as early as the 20th of the month, the green-backed tree swallows come to us, and rarely has it been reported that they paid for the rashness of early arrival.

For the man who tramps the fields March is a month of expectancy. Each day turns up something new and worthy—the robin, the phoebe, the bluebird, the meadow lark, the chewink, the hermit thrush, the white-throat, the fox sparrow and the swallow, and with them come the flowers. March is the mother month. She bears and nurtures, and when she leaves the scene she turns over her children to the care of April, the foster mother.

The First Prohibitionists

Washington Post: The Pilgrims were the first prohibitionists in this country. They prohibited by law many things which were elsewhere regarded as purely personal rights, though they had emigrated to America for the purpose of securing greater liberty of conscience. Some of them prohibited the people from eating mince pie, from dancing, from playing cards or having cards, from crossing a river on Sunday, from kissing their children on the Sabbath and feast days, from having any musical instrument except the drum, the trumpet and the jewsharp, from giving food or lodging to a heretic, from traveling or cooking on the Sabbath day, and from doing many other things that are not now regarded as customs to be regulated by law.

These prohibitionists in the early Pilgrim colonies were so harsh that William Bradford, the first governor of the Plymouth Plantation, in his history of that enterprise, expressed regret that in the first twenty years "it is a question whether ye greater part be not grown ye worser." In trying to account for the failure of the people in the colony to live up to the high purpose of the enterprise, Governor Bradford suggests that it might be—

"Like it is with waters when their streams are stopped or dammed up, when they get passage they flow with more violence and make more noise and disturbance than when they are suffered to run quietly in their own channels. So wickedness being here more stopped by strict laws, and the same more nearly looked into, so it cannot run in a common road of liberty as it would, and is inclined, it searches everywhere and at last breaks out where it gets vent."

The members of the Plymouth Plantation had been selected with care, in order to make it a collection of homogeneous people, but the old governor found that those people grew "worser" rather than better under the undue restraints of law. It might be well for those who would force people to be good by law to read the Bradford history.

Mince pie is now a favorite New England product and is claimed as a Yankee invention; the tango is popular in Boston, and bridge is a favorite pastime with the descendants of the Pilgrims, while the street cars carry the people of Boston across the Charles river to church on Sunday. However, the pendulum is swinging back, and, perhaps, it may again become a crime for a mother to kiss her child on the Sabbath day.

New York Americans.

Philadelphia Telegraph: In no city in the world are there so many Jews as in New York. In no city except Naples are there so many Italians. In only two cities (Berlin and Vienna) are there as many Germans. The number of New Yorkers descended from Anglo-Saxon parents is slightly in excess of any of the other groups named, comprising 21 per cent of the city's population. Those of Jewish ancestry equal 19 per cent, of German 18 per cent and of Italian 12 per cent.

All but a small percentage of these people speak English and are citizens of the United States. They are Americans. Most of them were born on American soil. They are not interested in the dead past. Their faces are turned toward the future. The figures given here are indicative of nothing but the many sources from which this nation has drawn its population. Unless a native Indian be among them, every reader of this page is of "foreign" extraction. Maybe that is why we are such good patriots, ready to fight for the flag before we can speak the language.

Taken Literally.

Lippincott's Magazine: One morning while Mrs. Cobb was at her summer home in the country, she decided to go up in town and spend the day with a friend. Her grocer had not called by the time she was ready to leave, so she wrote on a card:

"All out. Don't leave anything," and tacked it on the door.

Upon her return at night she found the house had been ransacked and nearly everything of any value had been taken. On the card which she had left on the door these words had been added.

"Thanks. We haven't left much."

A Public Spirited American

From the American Contractor.

America owes much to her statesmen who have advocated important and highly beneficial measures in congress and other legislative bodies, but vastly more to public-spirited, non-office holders who have exploited and developed, frequently originated, them. The really great and successful movements in this country have been originated and nursed by men outside the pale of practical politics.

A man who is rendering and long has rendered valuable and highly practical aid to the genuine interests of this country is found in the person of F. W. Fitzpatrick, the well-known consulting architect of Washington. Postal savings banks, long established in Europe and now fairly in the way of becoming an American institution, were first ably and persistently advocated here by Mr. Fitzpatrick, who employed much of his time, genius and means in explaining the advantages that the system would confer upon the United States. With enthusiasm and effectiveness he agitated the question, writing voluminously and most intelligently of it—and to his efforts, put forth without hope of reward, except such as comes to a patriotic man through benefits conferred upon his country and countrymen, the development of the plan to a point where it received the practical indorsement of both of our great political parties, must largely be ascribed.

Realizing the awful loss of life and property incurred through the combustible character of a great portion of our construction work, Mr. Fitzpatrick has rendered yeoman service to the cause of fireproof construction, which he understands perhaps better than any other American. For years he has pursued this course, adding decidedly to the valuable literature of the subject and producing a marked effect upon the architects and builders of the United States. Much of the recent valuable legislation in favor of fireproof construction can be traced, and that without any great indirection, to the public-spirited efforts of Mr. Fitzpatrick.

Formerly a citizen of Duluth, where he was, and is, highly esteemed and valued, Mr. Fitzpatrick has long been a resident of Washington, from which cities he has carried on splendid crusades for the real interests of his countrymen. He has had much to do with the development and beautifying of our capital city and his plan for constructing there a vast and permanent international exposition, where the manufactures and products of all nations may be seen without crossing the Atlantic, will doubtless find fruition before the passing of many years. The high estimation in which Mr. Fitzpatrick is held in Washington, where he is widely known, appears from the following extract from a letter by a prominent citizen of that city. After telling of his splendid work for postal savings banks, the writer continues:

"Now that it is virtually an accomplished fact he will be able to give more of his time to his two other 'hobbies,' that, with postal savings, have occupied his every active moment not devoted to his own business, architecture, that has also developed into a splendid success. Those other two schemes of his, 'fire prevention,' and the 'city beautiful,' have prospered amazingly. They are no longer adolescents, but they have become lusty 'full-growns.' You see evidences of them in every city in our country. He planted them there and zealously watches over them and fathers them and must derive a world of pleasure in noting the magnificent results of his indomitable energy, his unbounded public spirit and devotion to the weal of his adopted country."

For years the American Contractor, recognizing the importance of Mr. Fitzpatrick's work, has published writings from his pen and feels something of pride in having aided in giving publicity to his splendid and practical ideas, all aiming at the betterment of existing conditions and the general advancement of the country.

Now, How Do You Say It?

Kansas City Star: The canal builder pronounces his name "Go-th'lis," with the accent on the "go." This pronunciation is vouched for by Peter C. MacFarlane, the writer, and by others who know the colonel personally. According to Funk & Wagnall's Standard dictionary the name should be pronounced "Gē'tuls," with the vowel sound as in "Goethe." The colonel, however, appears to prefer the American way, purists to the contrary notwithstanding. So "Go-th'lis" goes.

"Go-thaels," Boston Decides.

Boston Globe: The pronunciation of Colonel Goethals' name, according to the colonel himself, is "Go-thawls," with the "th" sounded as in "thaw"—or "Thaw," if you will have it so—and what the czar of the zone says goes. The colonel's ancestry, by the way, is Swiss. His father was born in Switzerland, went to Amsterdam in early boyhood and in 1845 came to this country, making his home in Brooklyn, where in 1858 Colonel Goethals was born. The family name in good Dutch is the equivalent of the English "stiff-necked," and it was conferred on the first of the present line, who was one of the Crusaders, by an early king of Flanders.

There is a man in Washington
Who never seems to be afraid;
He does the things that must be done,
With little noise and no parade;
He flourishes no heavy stick
Nor calls upon mankind to see
While he proceeds to hurl a brick
Or jab things with a snickersnee;
He does not claim that he can lick
A bunch of catamounts—not he.

There is a man in Washington
Whose speech is mild, whose look is bland;
He wears no chaps, he totes no gun,
Nor does much threatening off-hand;
He rides no fiery charger where
The timid would be filled with dread;
He learns what measures may be fair
And calmly pushes them ahead;
He never wildly tears his hair,
And says no more than should be said.

Those who were erstwhile filled with doubt,
Who feared the pallid pedant, find
That wondrous things have come about;
Old notions have been left behind;
The scholar, it appears, may lead
Where splendid victories are won;
The ones who sneered are giving heed
And Privilege is on the run;
A miracle is wrought, indeed!
There is a MAN in Washington.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—In William S. West, the new senator from Georgia, we have a tall, angular man of 65, or thereabouts, who wants what he wants when he wants it. And when William S. West wants a thing he grabs hold and hangs on with a tenacity that makes a bulldog seem irresolute, wishy-washy, vacillating, insipid, and undetermined. He is a positive quantity.

West wanted recently to become a United States senator, and he wants people at all times to keep away from his private trout pond on his estates at Valdosta.

All excitement loving persons are hereby offered the suggestion that they go to West and propose them selves for guests on his fish pond.

Just say to him, pleasantly: "Senator, I understand there's some mighty good fishing on your place. I must get out my rod and reel and drop in on you some day."

Try it, I say, you who go in for excitement. It is said to furnish a thrill that compares favorably with aviation. In fact, there would probably be some aviation on the part of West.

That trout pond on West's country place is there for West, and not for any Tom, Dick, or Harry who might desire to try his luck. The man is not without Southern hospitality, understand; he would gladly take the humblest stranger into his home and feed him all the delicacies of the season, including a nice big platter of speckled trout from the private pond. But as for letting him go and CATCH the trout!—that is distinctly something else again.

Once in a long while—once in a very, very long while—West leads a personally conducted excursion of one or two intimate friends to his trout pond and permits them to make a few casts. But he is always right on hand taking note of the number of fish yanked out and placed in the creel. The man doesn't live whom West would trust to go to his trout pond alone. And only his most intimate friends—an extremely, brief, hand-picked list—are ever taken to the sacred waters at all. It is the holy of holies, a place reserved to mark the deepest depth of intimacy. West has a number of friends for whom he might gladly submit to transfusion of blood, but he would hesitate a long time before allowing them to venture on his premises carrying a fly book and trout rod.

When it comes to trout ponds West, you see, is almost rabid on the subject of property rights. It is his trout pond. He had it built and stocked and he did so because he likes to fish in waters where fish are to be caught. He doesn't purpose to devote forty to fifty acres to a pond that has been "fished out," whether by friend or foe.

When he does take a friend to the forbidden pool, West carefully examines his bait to see that there are no minnows of uncouth variety that might grow into large fish and multiply. One of his greatest horrors in life is that some day a catfish might find its way into his pond. He would not have that happen for all the money in Georgia—and that statement is less of an exaggeration than it sounds.

Senator West is philanthropically disposed and gives liberally to all worthy charitable projects in his locality, but in a business transaction he insists on having what is coming to him. There is no record of him ever forgetting his change, and he sees no reason why a man should throw off the odd cents. If you owed him $8,411.01, and the debt fell due on Christmas eve, let us say, he would not offer to settle for $8,411. He would expect you to pay the 1 cent also. But if he thought you needed a few tons of coal, the chances are that the next morning he would send it to you.

West walked up to a hotel newstand one day, according to a story, to buy a paper containing an article that he was anxious to see. The paper was intended by the publishers to sell for 2 cents a copy, but the hotel newsdealer was in the habit of asking 3 cents. West threw down a nickel, got only 2 cents in change and demanded an explanation. The newsdealer would not come down to the price plainly printed on the "ear" of the paper, and West threw the paper down and refused to do business. Then he went and hired a boy to go out and buy him a copy of the paper some place where it sold for 2 cents as prescribed.

Some of West's closest friends say that their idea of an entertainment worth while would be to see him in a New York restaurant dealing with the boys who check one's hat, cane, coat, gloves, etc., and perform similarly useless service in expectation of tips.

West started out to be a lawyer but saw that he could make more money in business enterprises and has found fortune in the lumber business. He is commonly regarded as worth half a million, which in his part of the country is sufficient for a man's actual needs, and to give him standing in the community.

There are two great political factions in Georgia—one allied with Senator Hoke Smith, and known as the Smith faction, and the other anti-Smith. West belongs to the anti-Smith, and so does Governor Slaton.

After the death of Senator Bacon a short time ago, it was up to Governor Slaton to appoint a successor. West felt that the successor should be one William S. West. Did he modestly sit back and say that he was in the hands of his friends, and that he was willing to serve as senator provided that would make for the best interests of the state?

Ah no, he did not. Instead he hastened at once to the governor's office and made it perfectly clear to the governor that he desired to become a United States senator right ay-way quick.

The governor was disposed to hesitate for a day or so in an effort to pacify various candidates, some of whom, obviously, seemed certain to be disappointed. West grew impatient, and is said to have spoken to the governor substantially as follows:

"I would not influence your decision for the world, but I want this job, and I don't want to be hanging about here any longer waiting for it. I've been playing you fellows' game for some years, helping you all I could, and now I want to be senator. Understand, I want to be senator right now—immediately. If I don't get the job I may give my entire time and $100,000 to a campaign fund to beat the whole bunch of you. However, do as you think best. I would not unduly influence your decision."

That is not a verbatim report of the speech, but it is near enough. And West was appointed.

Q.—Now that the governor has appointed West to the senate, will West let the governor fish in his trout pond?

A.—Perhaps, perhaps. But you can wager your final penny on this: That the governor will not fish there unless West is on hand personally to see how many fish are taken out.

Democrats to Have Chance of Their Lives

Press Talk on the Democratic Opportunities.

If So It's Because He Earned the Place.

Little Falls Transcript: The net results as shown by news reports of the Democratic love feast in Minneapolis indicate that Lynch is the big man in Minnesota's Democracy.

May It Be Great in Accomplishment.

St. Cloud Times: The recent Democratic gathering at Minneapolis brought to that city as large an assemblage of party members as a state convention. It was great in more than one respect—great in numbers; great in enthusiasm; great in satisfaction over accomplishments of a Democratic president and congress; great in determination to make a winning fight in Minnesota, and great in the complete harmony which existed.

No Machine to Spoil Democratic Chance

Preston Times: They are trying the elimination route in the Democratic party, as well. Boss Lynch is trying to get Hammond into the gubernatorial race and thus eliminate one Daniel Lawler, for several months an avowed and active candidate for the office. Naturally Daniel refuses to be eliminated and in the offing stands Frank Day ready to shove Thomas Cashman into the ring. Yes, it is elimination, but unlike the Republican malcontents they seem willing to let the people do it, and that's what the primary is for.

The Chance of a Lifetime.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: If anyone for a single moment thought that the Democrats of Minnesota were going to put a ticket in the field this year simply because it was customary to do so and with no hope of electing their candidates, the proceedings at the meeting of state Democrats at St. Paul recently should dispel the idea. Full of determination and enthusiasm the party will this coming election present a united front to the enemy and never since the second election of John A. Johnson have the signs of success been so good. If there are any matters of difference within the ranks they are of such small importance that they will disappear long before the time comes for choosing candidates. Good men and true will be put forward, men that would test the strength of the opposition even were that opposition united and harmonious. As it is, with the enemy divided and scrapping among themselves, a progressive platform, clean, capable candidates and a united stand ought to carry the day.

The Proper Spirit.

Waseca Herald: The Democratic get-together meeting and banquet in Minneapolis recently, was probably the most successful affair of the kind ever held in the state. Over 1,000 enthusiastic Democrats, representing every part of the state, were present. There was no effort at slate making, but an apparent desire on the part of all present to eliminate factional differences as far as possible and work unitedly to elect whoever may be the party nominees in the state and congressional districts.

Good Ground for Encouragement.

Madison Independent Press: The Democrats have now decided to hold a conference meeting on March 31. The present divided condition of the Republican party has encouraged the Democrats in the belief that they can elect a governor again the coming fall and they propose to go in to win. In order to do this many of them think that some other man than Mr. Lawler, who has already filed for the nomination on the Democratic ticket, should be nominated.

Enthusiasm and Union Win.

Albert Lea Standard: The big Democratic state committee meeting and conference, one of the largest in attendance and most exultant and confident in the history of the party in Minnesota, held in Minneapolis recently, predicates enthusiastic and united action all along the lines and spells the best prospects of success in achieving real administrative reform in state government of any like occasion since the inspiring times of John A. Johnson.

What of That?

"Tired!" Well, what of that?
Didst fancy life was spent on beds of ease,
Fluttering the rose leaves scattered by the breeze?
Come, rouse thee, while 'tis called today.
Coward! Arise, go forth upon the way!

"Lonely!" What of that?
Some must be lonely; 'tis not given to all
To feel a heart responsive rise and fall,
To blend another life into its own;
Work may be done in loneliness; work on!

"Dark!" Well, and what of that?
Didst fondly dream the sun would never set?
Dost fear to lost thy way? Take courage yet;
Learn thou to walk by faith and not by sight;
Thy step will guided be and guided right.

"Hard!" Well, what of that?
Didst fancy life one long summer holiday,
With lessons none to learn and naught but play?
Go, get thee to thy task; conquer or die!
It must be learned; learn it then, patiently.

"No help!" Nay, 'tis not so!
Though human help be far, thy God is nigh.
Who hears the ravens, hears his children cry;
He's near thee, wheresoe'er thy footsteps roam,
And he will guide thee, light thee, help thee home.

—The Living Church.

The Friend.

Gibbons: Among the blessings and enjoyments of this life there are few that can be compared in value to the possession of a faithful friend who will pour the truth into your heart though you may wince under it—of a friend who will defend you when you are unjustly assailed by the tongues of calumny, who will not forsake you when you have fallen into disgrace, who will counsel you in your doubts and perplexities, who will open his purse and aid you without expecting any return of his favors, who will rejoice at your prosperity and grieve at your adversity, who will bear half your burden, who will add to your joys and diminish your sorrows by sharing in both.

The Real Irony of Fate.

Lippincott's: At the Authors' club in New York one evening a number of members were swapping stories, when one told a tale, dring the course of which he more than once used the term "the irony of fate."

"That expression," remarked one of his listeners, "may well have fitted the emergency of your story, but I have a better one. Once in San Francisco, when I was nearly down and out, I received a money order from home in the sum of $40, and the only man who could identify me was one to whom I owed $38."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

HIS SOLUTION.

To the Editor of The Herald:
When I come home from work each night,
And sit down to rest and read,
I turn at once to the "Open Court"
To see what the people need.

I saw that "Lakesider's Lament"
One night not long ago;
And then the East end guy's reply.
But that won't help, I know.

It won't keep crowds from the Lakeside cars,
Nor give "Rudolph" a seat,
Nor help that unfortunate family
Who had only hash to eat.

When that weary "East end feller"
Stands shivering on the street,
With cold winds whistling 'round his ears,
And tingling hands and feet.

He's going to get on very quick
When that Lakeside car goes by.
You can't make him wait any longer;
It wouldn't be wise to try.

I think the street car company
Has the cart before the horse.
What they should do is surely plain.
Send the East end car first, of course.

Duluth, March 14.

THE STREET CAR RULES.

To the Editor of The Herald:
In looking over the rules and regulations of the street railway company I have thought of sending in my views for some time. Children ride free if accompanied by some paying passenger. Children of size and general appearance of a 5-year-old are charged full fare. I hear a great deal of talk of mothers with two babies having to pay full fare for a 2-year-old, because she has a bundle not bigger than many mothers carry on the car with a 5-year-old child, but being a live 6-week-old child in it, she has to pay. Being a woman who has the blessing of having only one child, she can go for a nickel till her child is 8, 9 and 10 years old. Did you ever take notice of some women holding a child aged 10 in their laps so they don't have to pay, being a disgrace nowadays for young couples to have children, at least more than one. Few break the record, and I myself believe in raising a family. Have they a right to throw mothers off for refusing to pay fare for babies 2 years old? Going home on a car last summer I paid full fare for my baby child—car being crowded. I took my two babies in my lap, asking a woman passenger to sit down. How long is the company going to keep it up? Hoping someone will take up this matter who has more power than the writer of this subject,

A MOTHER.

ONE OF THEM.

To the Editor of The Herald:
Inclosed is the first song asked for by M. L. W. of Scanlon, Minn., in the Open Court of March 12. I do not know the other one asked for. Yours truly, Fallen Leaf.

Far beyond the rolling prairie,
Where the winds and breezes sigh,
Lived the fairest little maiden
Ever seen by mortal eye.
She had eyes just like the sunshine,
Daughter of a noble chief.
And she came to us in autumn,
And we called her Fallen Leaf.

CHORUS.

Fallen Leaf! the breezes whisper
In their spirits early flight;
For within that lonely wigwam
There's a wail of woe tonight.

One fine day a hunter wandered
O'er the prairie west alone.
And alone she watched his coming,
But his fate was never known.
Like the autumn leaves she faded,
Like the autumn leaves she died.
And she closed her eyes and slumbered
By the gleaming riverside.

EXPLAINS IT.

To the Editor of The Herald:
Every little while we read of some foreigner who, while being quizzed with relation to the Constitution of the United States, in order to satisfy some judge as to his qualifications for citizenship, springs the following:

"Your honor, there is a grammatical error in the preamble where it states, 'In order to form a more perfect Union,' etc., as anything already perfect, cannot become more so."

If some of these wise foreigners, and others, would consider for a minute just what is meant by that passage, written by men so far above the average in intelligence, they would eschew such foolish, puerile remarks.

Serious consideration of this wording shows distinctly that in saying, "A more perfect Union" the writers simply were referring to the fact that they were trying to form a Union that would be nearer the perfect than any that had before existed. "A more perfect Union," therefore, means simply a Union that would come nearer being perfect than any that had existed up to that time.

CORRECTED.

To the Editor of The Herald:
Your usually accurate editorial writer slipped in Saturday evening's issue. In listing the "legal" holidays observed in the United States, he failed to mention Discovery Day or Columbus Day, Oct. 12. That date is a statutory holiday in some thirty-four or thirty-five states. Outside of the five holidays observed by all the states, Columbus Day is second only to Memorial Day in the number of states accepting it. Consider yourself corrected.

D. M.

Duluth, March 14.

"D. M." is correct, and the mistake is ours. Columbus Day is a legal holiday in twenty-eight states.—The Editor.

NAMES THE SONG.

To the Editor of The Herald:
In your issue of March 12, M. L. W., Scanlon, Minn., asks regarding a Scotch song.

Will say he will find Lauder's "I've Loved Her Ever Since She Was a Baby" to be the song he is looking for. Yours truly,

A. M. GORDON.

WASHING WON'T RID HEAD OF DANDRUFF

Dissolve It, That's Best Way

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to preserve your hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair more quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everyone notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

WILL GUARD SUGAR INTERESTS IN HAWAII

Government Is Prepared to Act, Says Judge Wilder.

Honolulu, March 16.—If the new tariff law threatens the extinction of Hawaiian sugar industry, measures will be taken by the government to protect it, either by removing the application here of the Chinese exclusion act or by doing away with coastwise shipping restrictions.

This announcement was made today by Justice Arthur A. Wilder of the Hawaiian supreme court, who has just returned from Washington. He said the announcement was based on statements made to him by President Wilson.

Judge Wilder has been authorized to make a full investigation of the situation and instructed to report personally to President Wilson.

SUFFRAGETTES PAINT SIGNS IN CATHEDRAL

Birmingham, March 16.—Worshippers in the cathedral yesterday found the walls and floors of the edifice covpainted in white letters a foot high, reading "Votes for Women! The Clergy Must Rise in Our Behalf and Stop the Torturing of Women in Prison!"

Every foot of space except the altar had a sign painted on it, including the pews.

The work is believed to have been that of women who concealed themselves in the cathedral Saturday night. It is thought it was done for the benefit of the justices of the assizes, who attended the services. The assizes opened here today.

Chanted During Service.

Glasgow, March 16.—A band of suffragettes rose in the cathedral during the service Sunday and chanted: "O Lord, we beseech Thee to save Emmeline Pankhurst, Helen Crawford and all the brave women who are suffering for their faith."

In Westminster Abbey.

London, March 16.—Suffragettes yesterday chanted prayers in Westminster Abbey, Yorkminster and the Brighton parish church for their imprisoned colleagues.

Sylvia Pankhurst has written the dean of Westminster acquainting him with the intention of the East London suffragettes to march to the abbey next Sunday and participate in the evening service and pray for the success of their cause. In her letter she said she would be present personally, and that she desired the dean to adapt the services to a special occasion for the suffragettes.

THREE BROTHERS KILLED AT REUNION.

Chicago, March 16.—Death ended a reunion of three brothers, two of whom had not seen the third in many years, when an express train hurled them off a bridge and into the Des Plaines river, killing them. The men were identified as Andrew Hanson, 50 years old, and Otto and John Hanson, twins, aged 52 years.

Plan Traffic Pool.

Berlin, March 16.—Representatives of all the trans-Atlantic shipping companies arrived in Berlin today to attend a conference tomorrow for the purpose of arranging a renewal of the traffic pool. Separate preliminary meetings of the British and continental lines were held today. A general feeling of optimism prevails.

JEWELERS ARE VICTIMS

One Loses $1,500 Worth of Jewelry By Bold Burglary.

Other Sells Diamond for Worthless Certificates of Deposit.

Two local jewelers lost nearly $2,000 during the past thirty-six hours, one by a swindle and the other by burglary.

On Saturday afternoon Albert Polinsky of the Albert Jewelry company, 601 West Superior street, was careless in accepting two certificates of deposit from an unknown man as part payment for a $250 diamond. While some time Saturday night the front window of the D. A. Miller jewelry store, 217 West Superior street, was broken into and more than $1,600 worth of jewelry taken from the display cases. The fact that such a large quantity of valuable jewelry was left in a display window, especially over Saturday night and Sunday, is considered by the police to have been carelessness on the part of Mr. Miller, proprietor of the store.

It is the general custom of jewelers, the police say, to remove valuables from the display windows over night as a precaution against robbery.

A large pile of bricks next door, where the new Cook theater is being erected, hides the store and afforded a splendid opportunity for the burglars.

Early Saturday afternoon a well-dressed young man, about 25 years old, entered the Albert jewelry store and purchased a $250 diamond ring from Mr. Polinsky. As payment for the sparkler he gave the proprietor two certificates of deposit, one for $135 and the other for $70. The remaining $46 he paid in cash. The certificates bore the name of Charles Linn and were issued by the State bank of Cumberland, Wis.

Becomes Suspicious.

Shortly after the man left with the ring, Mr. Polinsky became suspicious as to the worth of the certificates. Mr. Polinsky telephoned the Cumberland bank and learned that the certificates and even the $45 in cash were stolen property, having been taken from Charles Linn of Cumberland, while the latter was asleep in his hotel in the Wisconsin town. According to the bank authorities, Linn was robbed of the two certificates and $70 in cash.

The man who bought the ring is described by Mr. Polinsky as being about 25 years old, weighing 160 pounds and is about five feet eight inches tall. He was dressed in a brown suit and wore a cap and flannel shirt. He carried an overcoat on his arm, a clerk at a jewelry store said this morning. Mr. Polinsky left the city Saturday evening and is not expected back until tomorrow.

Hunt for Burglars.

Every detective on the Duluth police force is today on a hunt for the burglars who broke into the Miller store Saturday night, taking with them about $1,500 worth of jewelry. The police have recovered a ring, which was found by Patrolman Dave Olson at Lake avenue and First street yesterday morning. This gives the authorities a clue to the direction taken by the burglars following the theft.

Patrolman Englert arrested a suspect last evening, but after an investigation the man was released.

The burglary was committed, the police believe, sometime after 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning, probably between the hours of 4 and 6. The broken rear panel, facing the entrance to the store, was discovered a few minutes before 6 o'clock by Harry Danielko, a newspaper carrier, who lives at 914 Fourth avenue east. He immediately notified Sergt. Butchart at Third avenue west and Superior street and the latter summoned Patrolman Ricketts, who was walking the beat on which the burglary occurred. The patrolman guarded the store until Mr. Miller arrived on the scene.

After a careful inventory, Mr. Miller declared that his loss will amount to at least $1,500 and possibly $2,000. He declared that the articles stolen consisted of fourteen watches, varying in value from $10 to $25; four dozen bracelets, valued at $5 to $10 each; four dozen wedding rings, $5 to $12 each; four dozen signet rings, $4 to $15 each; two dozen scarf pins, $3 to $10 each, and two dozen lockets, $3 to $8 each. In addition to this, a collection of miscellaneous jewelry, valued at $50, was stolen.

Patrolman Englert was the officer on duty near the Miller store up to 3:30 o'clock and it is his contention that the burglary must have been committed after he left. The fact that he passed the store several times, he said yesterday, and that several pedestrians passed also, no one discovering the burglary, causes him to believe that the robbery did not occur during his watch. Chief Troyer is inclined to agree with Patrolman Englert and is of the opinion that the jewelry was stolen after 3:30 o'clock.

Ricketts on Duty.

After 3:30 o'clock the number of officers patrolling Superior street is reduced from six to four. Patrolman Ricketts having been detailed at that hour to cover the beat from Second to Fifth avenue west. It is assumed that the burglars waited until the officer was at the western end of his beat before committing the theft.

Chief Troyer rejected any supposition that aPtrolman Ricketts was remiss in the discharge of his duty. "Ricketts is a comparatively new man," he said, "having been on the force but two years, but I regard him as a capable and conscientious officer. I have much confidence in him. His record is good."

The trays in which the jewelry was left were found lying in the excavation that has been made for the theater building next door. Mr. Miller complained yesterday of the large pile of bricks and declared that it served as a screen for the burglars. The police concur in this.

Mr. Miller said this morning that he has no burglary insurance.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA, GAS OR INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Settles Sour, Upset Stomachs in Five Minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

"Food Fads"

The Government has issued a timely warning against the food faddists who are offering to cure all sorts of ailments with strangely concocted food preparations that are supposed to supply the needed elements for restoring wasted tissue and energy.

Shredded Wheat

is not a "food fad". It is the one universal, staple breakfast cereal that has survived all the ups and downs of public fancy. It will not cure disease, but its continued use will keep the stomach sweet and clean and the bowels healthy and active. It will correct many digestive disorders and thus restore health and strength through proper nutrition—a food for invalids and athletes, for outdoor men and indoor men. Ask your grocer.

Always heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with hot milk or cream will supply all the energy needed for a half day's work. Deliciously nourishing when eaten in combination with baked apples, stewed prunes, sliced bananas or canned or preserved fruits. Try toasted Triscuit, the Shredded Wheat wafer, for luncheon with butter, cheese or marmalade.

BURDICK WILL OPEN CAMPAIGN

Williston, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—U. L. Burdick of this city, progressive Republican candidate for governor of North Dakota, will open his campaign this week, making his first address of the campaign at Grand Forks Thursday. Friday he speaks at Hillsboro, Saturday at Fargo, and Sunday he will deliver an address at Mandan.

Mr. Burdick, in announcing the platform on which he will take his race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, says he will support woman suffrage. He also will support the state tax commission of three members, against which Governor Hanna is already on record; initiative and referendum, applicable to both statute and constitution; the recall of all public officials; the short ballot; laws for the betterment of farm life, including a comprehensive rural credit law and good roads; the reduction of the contract rate of interest from 12 to 10 per cent; economy in state, county and municipal government; the retention of the state tax commission as a means of just and equitable taxation; the abolition of the offices of game wardens and the placing of the responsibility for the enforcement of the game laws on county officials; after the adoption of the recall, elections every four years; the enforcement of all laws without fear or favor; a thoroughgoing workman's compensation law; the single tax on agricultural land; amendments improving the primary election and corrupt practices laws.

MUD STORM AT TIFLIS, RUSSIA.

Tiflis, Russia, March 16.—An unusual phenomenon occurred here and in adjacent towns Sunday. The sky was covered early in the morning with dark, yellow clouds and fog. Later there was a heavy snowfall, mixed with dust, which covered the ground in a thick layer of pasty mud. The phenomenan is attributed to storms in the Bacu district, where the wind raised such tremendous clouds of dust that railroad traffic was stopped by accumulations of it piled at various stations.

PROHIBITION MEET NOW ON AT FARGO

North Dakota Enforcement League Claims Law Is Being Observed.

Fargo, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following a dozen meetings in the leading cities of North Dakota this month, the state meeting of the North Dakota Enforcement league opened here today with a large attendance. One of the speakers of the state-wide campaign is Attorney Youngdahl of Minneapolis, anti-saloon league worker, who is here for the meeting. Among the leading speakers are District Judge Pollock, Supt. Watkins, President Griffith of the organization, President Anderson of the State W. C. T. U., R. M. Pollock of Fargo and others who have been prominent in the work in this state.

Say Dry Law Is Effective.

The members of the organization are greatly elated over the success of the past year in the enforcement of the prohibition law. They insist that public sentiment is at last back of the movement in practically every county in the state and local officers are now doing more for the enforcement of the law than at any time since statehood.

SAVAGES FAIL TO ATTACK ROOSEVELT

Rio Janiero, March 16.—Col. Rondon, a member of the Brazilian commission accompanying Col. Theodore Roosevelt, telegraphs that the expedition reached Baro de Malgato after a ride of over 500 miles on horseback through the interior of the country, without being attacked by savages. The telegram says Col. Roosevelt is in excellent health, and that he was greatly surprised by the richness of the region traversed.

A Storm May Contribute To Danger

DON'T walk toward the middle of the street holding an open umbrella so as to obstruct your view. It is better to face the snow, sleet or rain without protection of an umbrella than to risk stepping in front of a moving street car or automobile—the automobile may be able to dodge you, but remember a "street car can't dodge," and the very storm that makes an umbrella necessary makes it more difficult to stop the car quickly. Think of safety first.

WOULD BRING COOPER BACK

Governor Hanna Asked to Extradite Principal in Jury Bribing Case.

Another Juryman Is Arrested in Sensational Grand Forks Affair.

Bismarck, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Hanna today was asked by counsel for McLain Cooper, under arrest at Hood River, Or., charged with being wanted in Grand Forks in connection with the alleged bribery of the jury that acquitted him of murdering J. Frank Ross, to require a better showing on the part of the prosecuting officials than is made by the filing of the complaint and the warrant.

Young Cooper is accused of complicity in the alleged use of money and liquor in the influencing of the jury that freed him. Since a week after his acquittal he has been in Oregon.

Attorney F. B. Feetham for Cooper presented affidavits made by Attorney Tracy Bangs of Grand Forks and Harry Cooper, the parent of the acquitted man, who declare that young Cooper had nothing to do with the defense of his case; that he is without money and means of any kind, and that he could not at any time have participated in any scheme of bribery as charged.

Deputy Sheriff Martin Haugen of Grand Forks county probably will be called to make a statement before the governor to the effect that Cooper was kept in jail during the entire period, and that special precaution was taken to keep outsiders from getting into communication with him.

Another Juryman Arrested.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 16.—The Cooper jury case took on a wider scope Sunday when E. N. Bruyere of Larimore, a juryman, was arrested on his arrival from Minneapolis.

Bruyere faces charges almost identical with those lodged against J. C. Stevens, the juryman who is alleged to have made a clean breast of the affair.

Each to Get $3,000.

The charges are that each received $30 in cash from J. Andy Sullivan, the bailiff who has turned state's evidence, and that each agreed to the proposal of receiving $3,000 in consideration of their efforts on behalf of the accused man in the murder trial that brought on the present charges, that of McLain Cooper.

Bruyere appeared before Justice McLoughlin and asked for a continuance till March 20, which was granted. He is engaged in farming near Larimore, and formerly was a baseball player.

Complaints lodged against Stevens and Bruyere do not disclose the names of the parties from whom it is alleged they received the promise of consideration for supporting the verdict of acquittal.

Bangs Gives Ball.

Attorney Tracy Bangs, who is also accused, was arrested Saturday afternoon, or rather went to the courthouse and gave himself up when the warrant sworn to by J. A. Sullivan, the bailiff in charge of the jury at the Cooper trial, was served on him. The hearing was continued to Friday, March 27, and Bangs furnished bonds for $5,000 to secure his release.

Bailiff Sullivan's support of the prosecution causes considerable feeling throughout this district. State authorities have refused absolutely to give any information except that contained in the several complaints that appear in the justice court records over Sullivan's signatures. Sullivan, when asked if he had turned state's evidence, simply said: "I am helping these fellows," indicating the prosecuting attorney and his staff.

Alleged Cattle Thief Held.

Towner, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Winfield, alias "Kid" Trailor, notorious horse thief, recently turned over to American authorities by the mounted police of Canada after they had arrested him for breaking his parole from a horse stealing sentence, was bound over to the district court for trial. Several witnesses swore that they saw Winfield with horses stolen from T. W. Kinsey of this county.

DULUTHIAN'S BROTHER BURIED IN MILWAUKEE

M. A. POWERS.

Ontonagon, Mich., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of M. A. or "Mike" Powers as he was known to a host of friends in the Lake Superior region, for thirty years county clerk of Ontonagon county occurred at Milwaukee last Friday and was attended by many of his friends from this section.

Mr. Powers was born in New York city, Nov. 19, 1845, whence he moved to Hancock, Mich., and later to Ontonagon. In 1868 he was elected county clerk and register of deeds of Ontonagon county, a position which he held for thirty consecutive years. Mr. Powers was widely acquainted throughout the Upper Peninsula and at the Head of the Lakes. From Ontonagon Mr. Powers moved to St. Joseph, Mich., where he stayed but a short time, and then moved to Milwaukee where he resided until his death last Tuesday.

Mr. Powers is survived by his widow, three daughters and four sons, also three brothers and one sister. His brothers are Henry M. Powers of Ontonagon, James H. of Duluth, and John R. of Peoria, Ill., and his sister, Sarah Powers of Milwaukee.

Mr. Powers was very prominent in lodge circles, being a member of Ontonagon lodge, No. 67, F. & A. M., De Witt consistory of Grand Rapids, the Noble of the Mystic Shrine of the same place, and the Odd Fellows of Ontonagon. His remains were interred at Milwaukee, March 12, Kilbourn lodge, F. & A. M. conducting the services.

ARRESTED SIX YEARS AFTER ALLEGED CRIME

Former Scranton, N. D., Postmaster Taken in British Columbia.

Bowman, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with embezzlement while postmaster at Scranton, N. D., six years ago, N. C. Mosgaard is under arrest at Wilkie, B. C., and will be extradited.

Mosgaard's arrest came as he had almost completed paying various debts left here when he disappeared six years ago. His bondsmen who were called upon by the government to settle for Mosgaard's shortage, had been reimbursed in full by Mosgaard, and other debts also had been paid by the former official, who had been successful in business in Canada.

CARLTON MARKET WILL BE OPENED

Miss Barnard, Manager, Has Built New Building Since Fire.

Carlton, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Out of the disastrous fire of Jan. 27 last, which cremated twenty-two head of fine horses and other stock, the Carlton Stock market has arisen and will reopen for business again next Thursday evening, in a fine new building which has been fitted up for them within a block of the union depot.

They have made arrangements to have music and a program and speakers. The building is a very attractive one and the sign can be seen from all passing trains coming into the city.

Ladies Invited.

Miss N. E. Barnard, the manager of the stock market, wants it understood that the ladies are especially invited to come out and greet her in the new location, and help to boom Carlton, and make it the best market in the Northwest. Freeman's orchestra has been engaged for the occasion.

FREEDOM NOT WELCOME.

Marquette Prison Convict Not Anxious to Be at Liberty.

Marquette, Mich., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bemoaning the fact that he must face the world and claiming the officers have made a mistake, Peter Pelinski, aged 70, is on his way to Bay county, after spending the last twelve years in Marquette prison. The man has the unique distinction of having rebelled against what he believes is the cruel decree that has given him a freedom he does not want. Pelinski has striven vainly to stay within the walls.

Pelinski was convicted in Bay county in May, 1900, of murder in the second degree and was given a sentence of twenty years. He served at Jackson until July, 1902, when with a large number of other convicts he was transferred to Marquette. The man had not distinguished himself at Jackson with good behavior, but his record here has not been a bad one and for the last few years he has been employed in the kitchen. Pelinski was comfortable and happy until a few days ago. Then the officers advised him his term was about completed and he was to be released.

TO BOOST COUNTRY.

Copper Country Commercial Club Has Two Novel Propositions.

Baraga, Mich., March, 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two novel propositions are under consideration by the Copper Country Commercial club. Raising animals for their furs is contemplated. One project is the idea of breeding foxes on Isle Royale. The other looks to the establishment of a colony of seals in Lake Superior. It is believed both schemes are feasible and would be profitable. Authorities on such matters are being consulted and it is not improbable that if the data procured are favorable the novel projects will be undertaken.

NEW GOPHER LAW MAY BE INVOKED.

Ryder, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmers of this part of the state are to take advantage of a newlaw for the extermination of gophers. Formerly no organized effort was possible. If some resident or non-resident farmer refused to join in the fight his land acted as a breeding ground for the pests and the efforts of the other land owners would be nullified. Under a new law the township officials serve notice on the property owner; if this is disregarded the officials are empowered to expend anywhere up to $10 per quarter section in the purchase and distribution of poison. In this way each township can wage an organized campaign.

MAKE ELECTRICITY WITH WINDMILL.

Wahpeton, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wahpeton may secure a new manufacturing plant. George Mankowske, who was a student of the agricultural college last year, originated the plan of generating electricity for farm use by windmills. On his father's farm he put in an electric plant to operate all the farm machinery and light all the buildings. The power was generated by the windmill process and a storage system used. The idea caught on so popularly with the farmers in that vicinity that several of them installed the system and the young student was kept working overtime. His father and brothers are so impressed they will finance a manufacturing plant to make windmills of a certain design and the rest of the machinery required for these rural electric systems.

Blood Outbreaks—AVOID Their Return by Giving Your Blood a Good Searching Bath

If you should meet anyone varnishing a blood outbreak with greasy ointment, your best advice would be to quit such things and attend to the blood.

To successfully fight any blood trouble, some eruptive skin affliction—call it eczema, lupus, psoriasis, malaria or what you will—there is but one sure, safe way to get rid of it. Ask at any drug store for a bottle of S. S. S. and you are then on the road to health. If we are to believe the students of science the action of this remarkable remedy is just as direct, just as positive, just as certain in its influence as that the sun rises in the east. It is one of those rare medical forces which act in the blood with the same degree of certainty that is found in all natural tendencies.

Out through every skin pore acids and other blood impurities are forced in the form of invisible vapor. The lungs breathe it out, the liver is stimulated to consume a great proportion of impurities, the stomach and intestines cease to convey into the blood stream the catarrhal, malarial germs; the bowels, kidneys, bladder and all emunctories of the body are marshalled into a fighting force to expel every vestige of skin eruption.

There is scarcely a community anywhere but what has its hale and hearty example of the results of S. S. S. Get a bottle of this famous remedy to-day, and if your case is stubborn or peculiar, write to The Swift Specific Co., 300 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Do not permit anyone to talk you into some useless compound they put up as a substitute for S. S. S. No honest druggist will do this.

NATIONAL ORGANIZER HELD FOR SHOOTING.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 15.—Dennis F. Gorman of Detroit, national organizer of the upholsterers' union, was held to the Hennepin county grand jury, charged with shooting Joseph Bayerle, foreman at a factory where a strike is in progress, by Municipal Judge W. W. Bardwell. Forman was identified by Bayerle as having previously threatened him with personal injury, and also as the man who fired the shot which wounded him. Bayerle was shot and dangerously hurt while boarding a street car on Feb. 14. Gorman was arrested two weeks ago. At that time Bayerle was in a hospital suffering from his wounds, and the hearing of the accused union official was postponed until Bayerle was able to appear in court.

TRAGEDY ENDS ROMANCE

Mill City Man Murders Affianced Widow and Kills Self.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 16.—Mrs. Hattie Benson, a widow aged 40 years, was shot and instantly killed in her home here late Sunday by George Lewcock, who turned the gun on himself, inflicting a wound from which he died an hour later at a hospital. The shooting occurred in the kitchen of Mrs. Benson's home, following a quarrel. A young daughter of the murdered woman was the only witness. The couple were engaged to be married, the wedding day having been set for early in April.

WANT 5 CENT BEER.

International Falls Drinkers Line Up With Prohibitionists.

International Falls, Minn., March 15.—With the slogan, "Give me 5-cent beer, or give me prohibition," the drinking men of this village have arrayed themselves with the prohibitionists for the election next month. They are determined that the price of beer in International Falls shall be the same as is universally charged in other towns in this part of the country, or there shall be no saloons. On the other hand the saloonkeepers are equally determined that there neither will the a reduction in the price of beer nor International Falls a "dry" town.

International Falls is the only town in Minnesota where more than 5 cents is charged for a glass of beer.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—Four games will be played by the University of North Dakota against Minnesota college on a tour in May.

Casselton, N. D.—That it is easily possible for Casselton to have both waterworks and sewers is the opinion of two experts who have been here looking over the field.

McHenry, N. D.—The Northern Pacific will change its train service on this line. For years trains have been run up here from Sanborn in the morning and right back in the afternoon. Under the new arrangements one train will leave Sanborn in the morning and another will leave McHenry.

Bismarck, N. D.—Mrs. E. H. Napstad and son, Walter, have returned from Scepter, Can., where they have been visiting the past three months with the lady's parents and many friends. Mr. Napstad is a traveling salesman with the Rust-Parker-Martin company of Duuith.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Mrs. Lena Stevenson, over 80 years of age, who has made her home in Northwood for several years, was committed to the state asylum for the insane at a meeting held by the insanity commissioners of Grand Forks county. Mrs. Stevenson has been cared for in Northwood for some time, but of late has become violent.

Fargo, N. D.—Prof. Edwin Diller Starbuck of the University of Iowa gave three lectures in the city on Sunday. He spoke at the Methodist church Sunday morning, at the regular morning service, at the Y. M. C. A. at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and at the evening service at the Broadway Methodist church.

Milton, N. D.—Matt Holum's appeal to the supreme court from the verdict of manslaughter in connection with the death of his wife, will be perfected within three or four weeks, according to the announcement of his counsel.

Rogers, N. D.—One of the local general stores is to be converted into a farmers' co-operative store as a result of stock subscriptions by local farmers. The company is to be incorporated and will take over the store within a few days.

Fargo, N. D.—Secretary Hardy of the Commercial club has received a communication from the Milwaukee Commercial club announcing that the party which is to take a trade extension tour from that city this summer will stop in Fargo June 2.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Newberry—Upper Michigan's annual ice harvest has been completed. A home there, the groom being employed in the big Freimuth department store.

Madison—Judge B. B. Park of Stevens Point, candidate for re-election in the Seventh judicial circuit, filed a statement showing that his compaign expenses thus far have been $7.30. Judge George W. Burnell of Oshkosh, candidate for re-election in the Third circuit, certifies that he has expended $10.39.

Milwaukee—Plans for a new 8-story hotel building, to be erected at Wells and Fourth street, were submitted to Building Inspector W. D. Harper. The plans were presented by a firm of Chicago architects. The names of the builders were not given. The hotel will have a frontage of 100 feet on Wells street.

Eau Claire—Miss Matilda Miller, principal of the Sixth wark school reports a perfect attendance for the eighth grade during the past six weeks.

Milwaukee—Lyman D. Goodrich, former resident of Milwaukee, who died at his home in Sanford, Fla., was buried here March 14. Mr. Goodrich was born in this city and spent his early boyhood here. He was the oldest son of Dwight Goodrich, for years master mechanic of the Milwaukee road.

Appleton—N. B. Dexter of Ripon, speaking on "Peace in Evolution," won the annual state peace oratorical contest held under the auespices of Lawrence college. Paul C. Winner of Lawrence won second with "A World's Elusion" and Harold Wade of Beloit, was awarded third honors with "The Dynamics of Peace."

Janesville—The Janesville Park association has increased its capital stock from $20,000 to $50,000, and will erect new buildings and hold a fair on its grounds in this city in connection with the three-day race meet of the Wisconsin Grand Circuit races. J. C. Nichols is president and Charles Putman, secretary.

La Crosse—In an indoor track meet here Saturday at the high school, George Michaels, while engaged in the 100-yard dash, fell dead on the running track from heart failure.

Green Bay—Joseph Cellner, butcher, of New Franken, was killed when his team ran away, throwing him from his wagon upon the frozen road. His skull was fractured.

Madison—Robert A. Campbell, secretary of the state board of public affairs, has resigned his place here to accept a position with the municipal reference library in New York city.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Washburn—Miss Myrtle Ramsted, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Ramsted of this city, was married at Duluth recently to Charles Williamson of that city, and they will make their home there.

Mr. O'Neal says that the lumber industry on the coast is looking confidently forward to a better market for its product.

Fosston—On Wednesday afternoon, March 18, in the high school gymnasium, Fosston, there will be a meeting of farmers to organize a co-operative shipping association.

Red Lake Falls—In the first election in Red Lake county's youngest village, Oklee, the people voted for a "dry" town by a decided majority, 38 to 7. St. Hilaire will continue to be without saloons.

Wahkon—C. E. Williams, Andrew Larson and C. Oscar Peterson of Mora, have secured a charter to open a state bank at Dalbo, in Isanti county, twelve miles south of Ogilvie, on the line of the proposed new railroad from Anoka to Wahkon.

International Falls—The jury in the case of Catherine A. Marshall vs. City of Little Falls brought in a verdict of $1,760 for the plaintiff. The amount asked was $3,000 damages and the amount of the expense Mrs. Marshall had been under because of the accident for hospital and medical fees. The verdict was for $1,500 and expenses.

Sauk Center—James Coughren is having plans drawn for a building to be jointly occupied as a Masonic Lodge temple which will have a lodge room, banquet hall and club room and theater. The theater will have a seating capacity of 500. The structure is to be of handsome pressed brick and stone and will be 40x100 feet with an estimated cost of $35,000.

Crookston—Mrs. Adolph Dorr, aged 43, died March 12 at her home here after a lingering illness, a number of complications contributing to her demise. She has been a resident of Crookston for a number of years. She leaves a husband, two daughters, Alma and Mrs. A. W. Hoglund, and four sons, Harry, Alfred, Elnar and Axel. The remains were taken to Erskine for burial.

Onamia—The local contractors and carpenters look forward to a busy season in their line, as soon as spring arrives. Several buildings will be started as soon as the weather will permit.

East Grand Forks—W. H. Bird has sold his half interest in the East Side Hardware to G. A. Noonan of Grand Forks. H. G. Giese retains his half interest in the business and the firm name will probably henceforth be Giese & Noonan.

Ada—Ole Larson of Ada has invented a dirt or gravel loader which is in the form of an attachment which can be attached to any gas tractor and will load dirt or graval on wagons at the rate of about one yard per minute. The attachment to be left on the tractor while hauling. So the same tractor can be used for hauling as well as loading.

Mankato—The body of William Osher, aged 62, was found Friday in the ruins of his house at his farm on the shore of Eagle lake. The building burned early Friday morning.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Stillwater — James O'Neal, who has been in the North Pacific Coast country for the past month or so, is home for a couple of weeks, intending to return to his headquarters, Seattle, April 1.

PLAYING FOR WORLD'S OPEN TENNIS TITLE

Jay Gould, American Amateur, and Cowey, English Professional, Meeting.

Both Show Great Speed and Skill—Play Three Days.

New York, March 16.—The initial international sports competition of 1914 is being held in Philadelphia today when Jay Gould, the American amateur, and George F. Covey, the professional title holder, meet in the opening games of the match for the world's court tennis championship.

As the forerunner of the polo, tennis, yachting and other contests scheduled for this season, the match has attracted much attention both in England and the United States.

The demand for seats is far in excess of the capacity of the racquet club, despite the fact that the charges range from $10 to $30.

Gould and Covey have shown exceptional speed and skill in their practice matches during the last two weeks, and a close and clever exhibition of the court game is predicted by those who have followed the work of the players.

The match, which is the best seven out of the thirteen sets, will be played in three sections, Monday, Wednesday and Saturday.

Gould, in addition to holding the American amateur championship for several years won virtually the world's amateur title in London in 1907 when he defeated Eustace H. Miles, the English amateur champion, for the international title, three sets to two.

Covey won his world's championship in professional court tennis in 1912 when he defeated C. Punch Fair, in a match of the best seven out of thirteen sets. This was his second attempt for the title, for in 1910 he fell before Fair's skill in a similar test. Fair gained the title in 1908 when Peter Lahm, the champion retired from titular tournament play.

HOCKEY IS PROBABLY ENDED FOR THE SEASON

Standing of the Teams.

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Lakes	9	1	.900
Northerns	8	1	.889
Big Duluths	6	3	.667
Kelleys	2	7	.222
Universals	2	8	.200
Bagleys	1	8	.111

With the weather continuing warm it is probable that the hockey season in Duluth has closed for this year. The amateurs this year have played an unusually good article of hockey, and the contests between the teams has been close and interesting all the time. Two games are scheduled for this week, in the city league, but it may be impossible to play them, as the skating ice at the curling rink is about gone.

Play last week was exceptionally good. The Northern-Lake contest was close, ending in a score of 3-2 in favor of the former team. Despite the fact that the ice was soft the playing was fast and full of interest. The Northerns certainly proved their mettle in turning the trick on the Lakes for that aggregation has not known defeat for two years. Manager Norsted began the season with a bunch of players who had never been in action together, but through the coaching of Capt. Grenner the team was rounded into form which puts it on a level with the best of the amateurs.

The Lakes have put up a consistent, skillful game all season. But one defeat in a season is an enviable record especially when the team has been pitted against strong teams in every game.

The Big Duluths after a rather poor start, got to going fast later in the season and came very nearly spoiling things for the two leaders being beaten by only one score by these two teams.

The Kelleys are new in the league. They now hold fourth place in the list and if they defeat the Bagleys in the coming game, they will have undisputed right to fourth niche. Should the Bagleys win three teams will be tied for the place.

The Universals have had hard fighting all winter but have shown rapid improvement. After meeting defeat by every team during the early part of the season, they turned the tables by defeating both the Kelleys and Bagleys, landing in fifth place.

The Bagleys have been under the spell of the jinx most of the year. Some of their best men were out of the game and in three games they were defeated by only one score. If their postponed game with the Kelleys is played and won, they will be tied for third position from the bottom with the Kelleys and Universals.

ALL EVENTS COMPLETED

Regular Season of the Duluth Curling Club Has Ended.

Board of Trade Curlers Have Challenged "The World."

WINNERS IN TROPHY EVENTS.

Hurdon — Herald trophy.
MacLeod—Manley trophy.
Catterson—Universal trophy.
Catterson—Grueson trophy.
Whyte-Brewer—Bagley trophy.

Despite the early arrival of spring and mild weather early in the winter, the Duluth curling season has been one of the most successful in the history of the club, and all the trophy events have been finished.

The bonspiel, too, coming in January, the best part of the season, delayed the regular trophy events. Curlers have had to fill in the time to the very best advantage in order to get through with the trophy events. The hockey season for the club is now over.

Curlers played two practice games Saturday night, and the Board of Trade has challenged the world for as many games as there are teams to be met. These games will be played tonight, and it is probable that four or five rinks will participate on each side. Probably tonight's play will end the curling for this year.

The trophy events were hard fought and spirited, and close enough in all cases to keep interest at high pitch until the last. The season began unusually late, no good ice being available until about Jan. 1. After that time, however, the ice was in excellent condition until last week when "Old Sol" began to soften the surface and cause pools of water to form on the surface. The cool weather of last night again put a smooth surface on the ice, making the games of tonight possible.

In the trophy events the Catterson rink was twice victor, winning the Universal and Grueson trophies. Hurdon won The Herald trophy, the Whyte-Brewer rink, the Bagley trophy, and MacLeod the Manley.

CHICAGO MEN LEAD.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 16.—Chicago bowlers again proved prominent in the American Bowling Congress tournament here yesterday, furnishing two new scores in the individual event.

E. Hess rolled high score, 642, taking first place, while T. Riermler, also of Chicago, took second place with a score of 638. Hess' scores were 182, 249 and 211. Riermler rolled 202, 221 and 215.

G. Reagle and Leo Mayer of Milwaukee rolled high score in the two-men events, 1,171, taking third place. J. Graff of Chicago, rolling in the doubles, rolled the high single score of the tournament, getting 266 in one of his two-men games.

COBB WILL PLAY ONLY WITH DEROIT

New Orleans, La., March 16.—Tyrus Cobb, outfielder for the Detroit Americans, has set at rest reports that he had been approached a second time with an attractive contract by the Federal league. He declared no such offer had been made.

Cobb said he had refused one Federal proposition and added that he would play this season with Detroit.

ENGLISH RELAY TEAM IS NAMED

Coming to Meet Pennsylvania at Philadelphia April 25.

New York, March 16.—Official announcement has been made of the personnel of the Oxford university four-mile relay team which will run against the best of the American college fours at the University of Pennsylvania relay games at Philadelphia on Saturday, April 25. The English team will consist of A. N. S. Jackson, Norman S. Taber, G. M. Sproule and D. N. Gaussen, forming the most cosmopolitan team that ever represented England in a track meet of importance.

Under favorable conditions of track and weather and presuming that the English runners are not affected by climatic changes, it is expected that if the team is hard pushed, the time will be much nearer 17 than 18 minutes.

DELEGATES TO OLYMPIC CONGRESS

Many Questions to Come Up at Paris Meeting in June.

New York, March 16.—The following United States Olympic committee delegates to the Olympic congress to be held in Paris in June have been appointed by Col. R. M. Thompson, president of the American committee: James E. Sullivan, New York; Alfred J. Lill, Jr., Boston; Justice Bartow S. Weeks, New York; Everett C. Brown, Chicago; Joseph B. MacCabe, Boston; Dr. Graeme M. Hammond, New York (fencing); Dr. G. Randolph Manning, New York (soccer); Lieut. Commander Harris Lannigan, Princeton (shooting); Col. Robert M. Thompson, Washington and two alternates to be appointed later.

The congress of 1914 has been convened by the International Olympic committee in response to the feeling expressed in most countries that the Olympic games of the future should be governed by a uniform code of regulations and a permanent program. Among the questions to be submitted to the congress, the decision of which will be final, are the following:

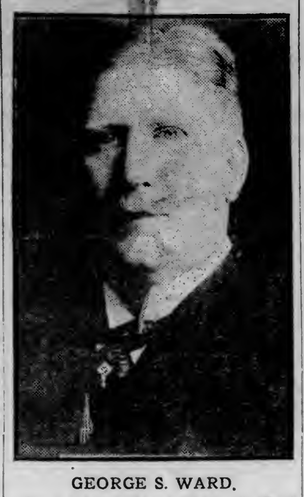
Should women be permitted to take part in the Olympic games; minimum age of competitors; questions of nationality and naturalization; should a competitor who has represented a nation in one Olympiad be permitted to represent another nation in a later Olympaid; number of entries in each event; manner of counting points; table of results.

It being established that an Olympaid should include the following sports: Athletics, gymnastics, combative sports, water sports, equestrian sports, pantathlons—what are the indispensable items in each sport program?

Billiard Tourney Continues.

New York, March 16.—Amateur billiardists are deeply interested in the progress of the annual championship 18.2 balkline tournament which will continue through the week at the Amateur Billiard club and be concluded next Friday or Saturday. There are seven competitors, two of whom, Eugene L. Milburn of Memphis, Tenn., and Charles Heddon of Dowagiac, Mich., are new aspirants for the title, and eleven of the twenty-one games called for in the schedule have been decided.

VICE PRESIDENT OF BROOKLYN FEDS



GEORGE S. WARD.

George S. Ward and Walter S. Ward are two members of the Ward Bread company who are interested in the Federal league team in Brooklyn. George S. Ward is vice president of the club. He represented Brooklyn at the last Federal meeting in Chicago recently. Walter S. Ward is treasurer of the club. He is a very enthusiastic baseball fan. The Brooklyn team will be known as the "Tip-Tops," taken from the name of the bread manufactured by the Ward company.

CRITICAL FOR CREWS

Coach Ten Eyck Insists on Attendance at Wednesday Meeting.

Absentees Will Not Be Considered Candidates—Condition Imperative.

Candidates for the boat club crews who do not report at a meeting called by Coach Ten Eyck for the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday, will not be considered for the crews this season. Such is the ultimatum handed out by the coach; and it is generally understood that when Jimmy says anything like that, "the bet goes as it lays."

It is clear that Coach Ten Eyck does not feel satisfied with the condition of some of the seniors, and it would not be surprising to find that with the finish of Wednesday's meeting there will be some radical changes in that crew. Mr. Ten Eyck complains that unless the men are in condition there is no use fooling with them.

"I would hate to see the boys quit the sport," said he, "but I would rather have a conditioned beginner than an experienced man out of condition. Condition can be obtained only through hard work, and the men know that. There is also no time to waste, for we will soon be working on the bay, and the men must be in good condition before that time. Wednesday will probably settle matters for the season."

The senior men are Horak, D. Moore, McNary, Morrison, Hoover, Rheinberger, P. Moore, Kent, Grant, Quimby, Thorburn, Beschenbossel and Thompson. The latter and McNary are out of the city.

Aside from the faults mentioned, the coach says that conditions are very favorable for a successful year, and that with a continuation of present weather conditions the men should soon be able to get into actual shell practice. He suggested that Horak and Hoover will probably be entered in the junior singles of the Northwestern International regatta, where the coach expects to have senior and junior crews.

Likes Early Form.

New Haven, Cinn., March 16.—Announcement is made of the organization of class crews at Yale, from which candidates for the varsity boat will hereafter be selected. Coach Guy Nickalls, the English oarsman, is putting the varsity men through long practice rows of twelve or fifteen miles daily, and he says the sweep swingers are showing good early season form.

ROSTER OF NORTHERN LEAGUE PLAYERS

President Burmeister Announces All Except Winona and Superior; Many New Faces.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 16.—John Burmeister, president of the Northern league, is back on the job after a brief illness. He has issued a complete list of players signed to date. Two of the organizations, Winona and Superior, have not as yet handed in the names of those who will play during the coming season.

Many new men will be seen in action this year, although a large majority of last season's players are again trying for jobs. The men signed follow:

Fargo—R. Unglaub, M. Peterson, E. W. Clarke, William Bellen, E. E. Swanson, Al L. Erickson, H. McLaughlin, A. G. Yost, E. J. Donelly, Joe Weidel, Joe Sullison, Jack Doyle, John Pugh, Roger Ryan, A. C. Lindberg.

Simms, Ben Van Patten, Charles Marotta, Richard Hager, Ray Lampman, F. Griesch, W. Hardgrove.

Duluth—A. O. Sicky, L. J. McGonnigal, E. C. Miller, O. W. Winkle, C. A. Fisse, William Frank, O. A. Anderson, J. L. Beebe, J. G. Myers, Jerry Phillips, Andrew F. Vauters, Emmett Goff, Charles Few, J. M. Papes, Harold F. Perry, Charles Summer, Ray Hollingsworth, Paul Bailey, George H. Cunningham, Jr., M. W. Westholm, Morris Berlin, Sam Meneice, Darby O'Brien, James Buckly, Henry Brackett.

COLLEGE RIFLE CONTEST

Michigan Aggies Still in Lead With Massachusetts Second.

Washington, March 16.—Results of the twelfth week's contests among the colleges and universities for the gallery rifle shooting supremacy, show the Michigan Agricultural college still in the lead, the teams having turned in a new record for the match during the week, 989 points.

The Massachusetts Agricultural college is in second place.

In class B, the Washington State college is still holding first place with the United States naval academy close behind, and only one more match to be shot.

Class C has finished its series, the University of Illinois winning with a series of nine straight victories. The University of Pennsylvania and the Notre Dame university tied for second place, each having lost two matches.

McGOORTY GETS THE DECISION; CROWD MAD.

Sydney, N. S. W., March 16.—Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, Wis., yesterday was given the decision over Jeff Smith, another American fighter, at the end of a hard twenty-round fight.

The referee's decision was unpopular. The fight took place in the stadium and was witnessed by 10,000 persons.

Consult With Tener.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 16.—Representatives of a Chicago syndicate which is negotiating for the purchase of the Chicago National League Baseball club held a conference with President Tener of the National league here yesterday and assured him of their ability to finance and conduct the affairs of the club. While no details of what took place at the conference were made public, the Chicagoans expressed confidence that they would obtain the club.

Would See Race Start.

New York, March 16.—Oakland, Cal., Portland, Or., and St. Louis are rivals for the position of starting point for the national balloon race which will be held next July, the Aero club of America announces. The Chamber of Commerce of Oakland will provide $3,500 in prizes in case the start is made from that city, while Portland is offering $3,000 for the same purpose. What the St. Louis offer is was not made known.

CONFIRMS THIRTEEN SING SING CONVICTS.

Ossining, N. Y., March 16.—Thirteen convicts in Sing Sing prison were confirmed Sunday in the Protestant Episcopal cathedral by Bishop David H. Greer of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New York. The bishop was assisted by Rev. Burton Lee, the chaplain at the prison, who had instructed the candidates for confirmation.

BRITISH GUNBOAT TO ESMERALDAS.

Panama, March 16.—Information received here from Ecuador says the British gunboat Spearwater has been ordered to proceed at top speed to Esmeraldas, at the request of the British vice consul. Communication with Esmeraldas has been interrupted since Friday night, when the cable there apparently was cut. From Guayaquil it is learned that the Federals still are in control.

THREE GOOD BOUTS ARE ON

Big Crowd Expected to Attend Superior Arena for Mills.

Salvatore-Brown Bout Expected to Be Whirlwind Affair.

Everything indicates that there will be a lively session—in fact several lively sessions—at the boxing arena at Eighth street and Ogden avenue in Superior tonight. There will be four bouts, each of them expected to be good ones, and a knock-out or two would not be surprising. The main bout is that between Johnny Salvatore and Joe Brown, two good performers, and who are expected to show some speed in the line of fighting this evening which will make the spectators sit up and take notice throughout. All participants are on hand in Superior today according to Herr Curley Ulrich.

Salvatore, it is claimed, has recently acquired the quick knockout habit. During the last sixty days he has made two men by the name of Kelly believe that his name is Maud, hanging the slumber hook on one Oscar's jaw in four rounds and curing that feeling of insomnia for one styled Cyclone in three sessions. Decisions have been obtained over Jimmie Potts and Buff Seidel. There are also further victories to his credit in both the East and West.

Brown has a record just about as good as that of Salvatore, and those who have seen him go declare that Salvatore had better be careful of the vital part of his chewing apparatus for Brown has a nasty habit of unceremoniously slinging one over when least expected.

The other three bouts, which are expected to be pretty even, are as follows:

Jensen vs. O'Dowd; Cushway vs. Joseph Ertle; Young Clements vs. Kid Schuster.

The bouts start at 8:30 sharp. The attendance is expected to be large.

Sunday's Ball Scores.

New Orleans, La., March 16.—The New Orleans Southern league team yesterday defeated the Detroit Americans 8 to 4. Ty Cobb, in his first appearance this season, struck out the first two times at bat, but doubled to left on his third time up.

Wichita Falls, Tex., March 16.—The Kansas City Federals won from the Indianapolis club of the same league 10 to 5, here yesterday, scoring five runs in the fifth inning.

Shreveport, La., March 16.—The St. Louis Federals hit batter in the pinches yesterday and won an exhibition game, 3 to 1, from the Chicago Federals.

San Francisco, Cal., March 16.—After having defeated the Oakland team of the Pacific Coast league in the morning, 8 to 3, the Chicago Americans came across the bay yesterday afternoon and were defeated by San Francisco, 5 to 1.

Memphis, Tenn., March 16.—The St. Paul American association team yesterday defeated Memphis of the Southern league, 6 to 2.

Houston, Tex., March 16.—The New York Americans defeated the Houston Texas league club, 2 to 1, in a fast game here yesterday.

Dallas, Tex., March 16.—The New York Giants defeated the Dallas Texas league team, 8 to 5.

Kansas City, Mo., March 16.—The Kansas City American association baseball club's first team defeated the second team, 12 to 8, here yesterday.

FEDERALS TRY TO BUY MINOR LEAGUE TEAM.

New York, March 16.—The first known step by the Federal league to secure control of a minor league was taken yesterday here during a meeting of the Atlantic league, formerly known as the New York and New Jersey league.

While the owners were in session, a Federal league agent appeared before Otto Deisseroth of the Newburg club and attempted to obtain admittance to the meeting to make a proposition on behalf of the Federals to obtain the Atlantic league as a "farm."

The minor league men refused to listen to the proposition.

TRADE COMMISSION BILL TERMS ARE MADE PUBLIC

"Efficient, Independent Body Is Its Aim," Says Author.

Washington, March 16.—The interstate trade commission bill, bearing the approval of President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds, has been made public following many conferences among the members of the house interstate commerce committee.

The Democrats expect this measure to command substantial Republican support, and an effort will soon be made to bring about concerted action between the senate and house on this phase of the administration program of commerce regulation and anti-trust legislation. The new bill was unanimously agreed upon by its framers, a subcommittee of Democrats and Republicans headed by Representative Covington of Maryland, and it is approved by practically the full committee.

"The whole theory of the creation of the commission," said Mr. Covington, "has been to make it an efficient, independent body. In most of the matters of publicity it has entire control of the facts gathered.

Control of Publicity.

"Publicity is left to its discretion, and the bill contains ample authority for it to prevent the disclosure of those necessary trade secrets valueless to the public in promoting lawful competitive business, but which, when disclosed, simply afford opportunities for injurious use by competitors.

"Powers of investigation, safeguarded by proper constitutional limitations against unlawful searches and seizures, are taken from a new subordinate department under the control of the executive and given to this non-partisan body."

The bill would transfer all the powers and duties of the bureau of corporations and the commissioner of corporations to the proposed commission of three members, presidential appointees subject to confirmation, whose salaries would be $10,000 annually each. Only two of the commissioners could be from the same political party.

Differs from Clayton Bill.

The original Clayton bill, from which the Covington bill differs variously, had provided for five commissioners, and that the present commissioner of corporations should be automatically chairman of the new commission. The new bill makes no mention of the commissioner of corporations. It makes the fixed tenure of the commissioners six years, and the commission would choose its own chairman.

The Covington bill defines as corporations all bodies incorporated under the law, and joint stock associations and all other associations having shares of capital or other capital stock or organized to carry on business for profit.

Annual Reports.

Section 9 of the bill, requiring annual reports to the commission would provide that:

"Every corporation engaged in commerce, excepting corporations subject to the acts of regulation of commerce, which by itself or with one or more corporations owned, operated, controlled or organized in conjunction with it so as to constitute substantially a business unit, has a capital of $5,000,000 or more, or has a less capital and belongs to any class of corporations which the commission may make, shall furnish to the commission annually such information, statements and records of organization, bondholders and stockholders, and financial condition, and also such information, statements and records of its relation to other corporations and its business and practices while engaged in commerce, as the commission shall require. And the commission may, to enable it to better carry out the purposes of this act, prescribe, as near as may be, a uniform system of annual reports.

For Fiscal Year.

"The annual reports shall contain all the required information and statistics for the period of twelve months ending with the fiscal year of each corporation's report, and they shall be made out under oath or otherwise, in the discretion of the commission, and filed with the commission at its office in Washington within three months after the close of the year for which the report is made, unless additional time is granted in any case by the commission. The commission may also require such special reports as it may deem advisable."

This section penalizes violations at $100 a day fine. The Clayton bill made no such classification of corporations, but penalized violations at $1,000 a day.

Authorizing Investigations.

Authorizing investigations and reports by the commission, the bill would provide that:

"Sec. 10.—The commission shall, upon the decision of the president, the attorney general or either house of congress, investigate the organization, management and business of any corporation while engaged in commerce, to aid in ascertaining whether or not the corporation investigated is violating the acts relating to restraint of trade. And the commission shall make a report of such investigation, which may include recommendations for readjustment of business in order that said corporation may thereafter maintain its organization, management and conduct of business in accordance with law. Reports made after investigation may be made public in the discretion of the commissioner.

Reports to President.

"Sec. 11.—When, in the course of any investigations made under this act, the commission shall obtain information concerning any unfair competition or practice in commerce, not necessarily constituting a violation of law by the corporation investigated, it shall make a report to the president, to aid him in making recommendations to congress for legislation in relation of regulation of commerce, and the information so obtained and a report thereon shall be made public only upon direction of the president."

The bill would authorize a secretary at $5,000 annually and any other necessary employes. It makes the commission's principal offices at Washington, but authorizes it to hold special sessions anywhere in the United States. All employes would be in the classified civil service, except the secretary and a clerk to each commissioner.

The commission would be required to report annually to congress on Dec. 1, giving facts and statistics contained of value in the determination of questions connected with the conduct of commerce, together with legislative recommendations.

KEEP THE ROOFING BUSINESS IN YOUR OWN HOME TOWN.

By George M. Brown, President, General Roofing Mfg. Company

You are sometimes offered mail order roofings for your buildings at prices so attractive that you can't see how you could possibly lose.

Sometimes the words "bankrupt" "busted" etc., are used to give a reason for such prices. Stop to consider that firms who build roofing right and who deal squarely with their customers don't go "bankrupt" or "busted."

In buying mail order roofing you are taking a chance on a product you don't know and buying from someone whom you never saw. It's a tax upon your town and upon yourself and your family when you give your roofing custom to mail order houses?

In our three big mills we have worked out scientifically the way of producing the best roofing.

And we have worked out the way of selling this roofing to put the least possible tax upon the user who buys it by giving him the most for his money and the least possible tax upon the dealer by giving him a product that is well known, well advertised and easily sold.

Certain-teed Roofing has never been and never will be sold through mail order houses. It is sold through your roofing dealer whom you know.

Certain-teed Roofing has never been sold by "bankrupt" or "busted" methods. Our methods have been "progressive" and the result has been "prosperity."

Every dealer from whom you buy Certain-teed Roofing makes a fair, modest profit on his sale to you. But most important of all, you get more for your money than you have ever been able to get before.

Don't buy bargain roofing at "busted" and "bankrupt" prices. Keep the roofing business in your own home town. Buy of your local dealer Certain-teed Roofing, the roofing which both you and your dealer know will give the best and most permanent protection to your buildings.

The three biggest roofing mills in the world are behind our 15-year guarantee. This guarantee protects you when you buy the best protection for your buildings.

Whether it's a big building or a small one, whether for business, industry or residence—roof it with

Certain-teed

There are roofings priced lower than Certain-teed. Your saving, however, is but a few dollars at the most.

Certain-teed is always least expensive in the end. Sold by dealers at a reasonable price.

"CAREFUL" CLUB FORMED

"Better to Be Careful Than Crippled," Railroad Men's Motto.

With a view to reducing accidents to employes on its system to a minimum, the Northern Pacific railroad management has promoted the organization of a "Careful club."

Three of the road's veteran conductors at the Head of the Lakes set the lead yesterday in joining the new organization. A. V. Brown, division superintendent, hopes that within a few days every man in the Duluth and Superior yards will have become a member.

Membership in the club is voluntary and there are no fees or dues. Employes sign an application, which reads: "I wish to become a member of the Careful club because I believe it is better to be careful than to be crippled. I will avoid all risks, take time to do all work carefully and in every way possible endeavor to prevent accidents or injuries to others."

A gold-plated and enameled lapel button bearing the Northern Pacific emblem and the words "Careful Club, Bureau of Efficiency," will be worn by members of the club.

Splendid results are reported to have been achieved by the bureau of efficiency established a year ago. Through instructing employes of the company in methods of checking waste and promoting safety it is conceded that a long forward step was taken.

By means of bulletins and circular letters the attention of employes in the railway shops, yards and stations is called to conditions, habits and practices which endanger life or limb. The Careful club is expected to greatly supplement that work through giving the men a personal interest in it.

It is claimed that as a result of the precautionary measures adopted through the efficiency bureau the percentage of fatal accidents to Northern Pacific employes was reduced from .04 per cent in January, 1913, to .009 per cent in October, 1913.

In October last 57 per cent of the accidents were slight and only 43 per cent were termed serious, necessitating a layoff of more than three days. This was a gain of 20 per cent over the month just prior to the organization of the efficiency bureau by the railroad.

Swedish Sailors Lost.

London, March 16.—The Swedish bark Trifolium was driven ashore on Landsend Saturday night and Capt. Olsen and four sailors drowned. Six members of the crew were saved. Storms all along the coast did much damage during the night to small craft, and there also were several vessels wrecked in Queenstown and Liverpool harbors.

ARGUMENTS NOT FINISHED

Judge Withholds Decision in Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

Judge Cant, at a special sesion of the district court this evening, will listen to final arguments on the writ of habeas corpus directing the sheriff to show cause why Henry Johnson, bartender convicted of selling liquor at Charles Sholund's saloon after the license of the proprietor had been revoked, should not be released. The arguments were started Saturday afternoon and adjourned until this evening.

While reserving his decision until he has heard all points in the case argued, Judge Cant Saturday indicated his attitude on the question of whether or not the writ of certiorari issued by the supreme court prior to Johnson's arrest and providing for a review of the city's action in revoking Sholund's license, operated as a supersedeas or stay of all proceedings regarding the saloon.

In his arguments, Charles McCoy of McCoy & Hanson, attorneys for Sholund and Johnson, contended that after the writ was issued, Sholund had the right to continue business until the writ was returnable before the supreme court in St. Paul on April 7. The court intimated that there was some doubt as to whether that was the intention of the supreme court order.

Judge Cant also intimated that the entire question might hinge on the possibility of a mistake in the judgment of the municipal court. If this were true, Judge Cant stated, the proper remedy was not through habeas corpus proceedings, but by an appeal from the conviction and judgment of the lower court. This is also the city's contention in the matter. W. H. Gurnee, assistant city attorney, is representing the municipality's interest in the case.

SUES WIFE'S RELATIVES

James J. Ryia Says They Broke Up His Home.

Charging his wife's parents with breaking up his home and turning her against him, James J. Ryia, started suit for $6,000 damages in district court Saturday against Charles and Sarah Atol.

Ryia and Victoria Atol, their daughter, were married in this city on Aug. 24, 1913. One month later, he claims, her parents maliciously induced her to leave him and institute divorce proceedings.

The bride did leave and remained at the home of her parents for three weeks after which Ryia succeeded in securing a reconciliation, he says. She returned to live with him.

On Feb. 21 last, he states, her parents again induced her to desert him and renew divorce proceedings. So far, he has been unable to bring about a second reconciliation, he says.

Ryia is suing for damages for the loss of his wife's society.

"KING" OF CHICAGO STOCKYARDS DEAD

Father Dorney, Known on Both Sides of Atlantic, Passes Away.

Chicago, March 16.—Rev. Maurice J. Dorney, a Chicago Catholic priest whose name is familiar on both sides of the Atlantic, died Sunday at Mercy hospital, where his sister is one of the nuns in charge. Death was due to paralysis, following heart trouble which attacked him a few weeks ago. Archbishop Quigley was at the bedside shortly after Father Dorney became unconscious.

Father Dorney, often called the "King of the Stockyards," was one of the strongest and most picturesque characters in the West. Counsellor, protector, friend to thousands, he had the power for thirty-five years of the ruler of a principality, in one of the greatest industrial centers in the world—the packing house district of Chicago. His prestige extended to the White House in Washington, and on a memorial occasion he earned the gratitude of Celts everywhere as a trusted envoy from Irish leaders on this side of the Atlantic to Charles Stewart Parnell, in London.

Kept Saloons From Parish.

What is said to be the most Irish parish outside of Ireland was Father Dorney's official charge—St. Gabriel's at Forty-fifth street, the nearest Catholic parish to the main entrance of the stockyards. To people well acquainted with that part of Chicago, no more evidence is needed to illustrate the force of his personality than the fact that, by his efforts, a mile square of territory surrounding his church has for twenty years been absolutely free from the presence of a saloon.

Perhaps the meeting of Parnell and Father Dorney in the house of commons at London was the principal event in the long activity of the priest. It was the priest who there delivered to the Irish parliamentary leader the documents which showed that the informer Pigott's accusations against Parnell were based on forgery.

The Pigott charges, which formed an elaborate attempt to link Parnell with crime upon crime, had threatened to bring about the expulsion of Parnell from the commons and to cause the wrecking of home rule for Ireland. Largely as the result of Father Dorney's successful mission, the prosecution suddenly collapsed and Pigott, not long after, committed suicide in Spain.

AN OVERBURDENED WIFE

If the work that women do and the pains they suffer could be measured in figures, what a terrible array they would present! Through girlhood, wifehood and motherhood woman toils on, often suffering with backache, pains in side, headaches and nervousness which are tell-tale symptoms of organic derangements which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—made from roots and herbs—can undoubtedly correct. Women who suffer should not give up hope until they have given it a trial.

THIS WEEK'S WEATHER

Washington, March 16.—Fair, early spring weather over nearly all parts of the country during the coming week, is promised by the weather bureau.

"The weather will be unsettled Monday, however," said the weekly bulletin, "along the northern border from the Great Lakes eastward and there will be rains the first part of the week in the North Pacific states.

"The next disturbance of importance will appear on the North Pacific coast Monday night or Tuesday and cross the great central valley Wednesday or Thursday and the Eastern states about Friday. This disturbance will be attended by local rains and snows, and it will be followed by colder weather over the northern states east of the Rocky mountains."

FRENCH REMEDY FOR STOMACH TROUBLES

The leading doctors of France have for years used a prescription of vegetable oils for chronic stomach trouble and constipation that acts like a charm. One dose will convince you. Severe cases of years' standing are often greatly benefited within 24 hours. So many people are getting surprising results that we feel all persons suffering from constipation, lower bowel, liver and stomach troubles should try Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. SAYS NEW HAVEN MEN ARE WASTING TIME

Senator Weeks Declares President Must Force Action on Railroad.

Washington, March 16.—"They are fiddling away while Rome is burning," said Senator Weeks, Republican, of Massachusetts today, after a conference with President Wilson, in which he declared the New Haven railroad conferees with the department of justice were wasting time and that executive influence was needed to bring them together promptly.

It was understood that the senator suggested to the president that he call in Attorney General McReynolds, Governor Walsh of Massachusetts, Chairman Howard Elliott of the New Haven, and T. W. Gregory, special counsel for the department of justice, to bring about an agreement. The president had a conference arranged with the attorney general later today, and it was not supposed that he would determine upon his course until then.

Senator Weeks pointed out what he believed to be a serious aspect of the situation.

"The New Haven," he said, "must raise about $100,000,000 in the next four months to meet maturing obligations, and under the present conditions it cannot. There is one man who can bring all the various elements together. He is the president of the United States."

$45,000 VERDICT IS UPHELD ON APPEAL

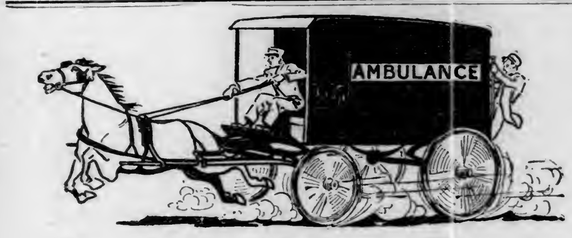
Government Wins Again in Big Alien Contract Labor Case.

Washington, March 16.—One of the largest verdicts ever recovered by the government for a violation of the alien contract labor law—that for $45,000 against the Grant Bros.' Construction company, a California corporation—was affirmed today by the supreme court. Through its representative the company participated in bringing into the United States forty-five Mexicans to work on railroad construction near Naco, Ariz.

TRADE COMMISSION BILL IS APPROVED

Washington, March 16.—The interstate trade commission bill, as made public, was agreed to by Democrats and Republicans of the house committee on interstate commerce today and favorably reported.

It would create an independent commission of three members to aid the legal operation of business, to require regular and special reports from corporations and to make investigations upon the direction of the president, the attorney general or either house of congress.



Don't Let Your Truss

Make Operation Necessary

Operation for rupture would hardly ever be heard of if it weren't for the mischief done by elastic and spring trusses.

Mighty few people ever have to be operated on when first ruptured.

But wearing makeshift trusses year after year is sooner or later almost sure to make work for the surgeon.

You know that from your own experience—you know you're worse now than a year ago—probably getting worse all the time.

If you keep on that way, how long will it be before you'll have to undergo a dangerous and expensive operation?

Aren't you willing to let us prove—by a sixty-day demonstration—how you can save yourself from all that?

Especially when you can make this sixty-day test without having to risk a penny?

60 Days' Trial to Prove How Good It Is

Here is something—a guaranteed rupture holder—which has saved thousands of people from ever having to be operated on.

It has so thoroughly proved its merits that we are willing to send it on 60 days' trial.

We'll make it especialy for your case—make it to your measure—and practically lend it to you just for a test.

If it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out or from bothering you in any way, then you can send it back and it won't cost you a single penny.

Don't Send Any Money

Simply write for our free book—that will tell you everything you want to know.

It shows how our guaranteed rupture holder is made on an absolutely new principle. How it instantly and automatically protects you against every strain so your rupture can't possibly be forced out. And how in addition it provides the only way ever discovered for overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture.

The book tells how our guaranteed rupture holder—the famous Cluthe Automatic Massaging Truss—is so beneficial that physicians in all parts of America now recommend it instead of advising operation. How it has completely cured thousands of people whose cases seemed almost hopeless. How it does away with the curse of belts, legstraps and springs. How it is perspiration-proof and water-proof and will hold in the bath. How you can try it sixty days without having to risk a penny, and how little it costs if you keep it.

This Free Book Is Full of Facts Never Before Put in Print

This book sums up all we have learned about rupture during forty years of experience.

Exposes the humbug "appliances," "methods," plasters," etc.

Explains why operation is nearly always a needless gamble with death—and why, even if you manage to live through it, you may have to keep on wearing a truss.

It shows why sixty-days' trial is the only safe way to buy anything for rupture and how the Cluthe Truss is the only thing you can get on such a long trial because the only thing good enough to stand such a test.

Don't fail to get this book—don't put it off—the minute it takes you to write for it may free you from rupture troubles for the rest of your life.

HOTEL CASE IN COURTS

Receivership Question Set Over Pending Unlawful Detainer Action.

Until unlawful detainer proceedings instituted in the West Duluth branch of the municipal court against Mary C. and Carl J. Petruschke, proprietors of the Grand hotel, 5219 Ramsey street, by M. Kamerer, owner of the premises, are disposed of, Judge Bert Fesler of the district court will reserve his ruling on a motion entertained in his court Saturday for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the hotel business. The motion was made by attorneys for Kamerer.

Kamerer, through his agent, J. J. Frey, leased the property to the Petruschkes on Sept. 1, 1912 for three years. It is claimed that at that time the defendants purchased $1,600 worth of furniture from the owner of the property agreeing to pay for it on monthly installments. It was also agreed, according to Kamerer's claims, that saloon fixtures in the bar of the hotel would be purchased for $700. The plaintiff alleges that only one month's rent was received for the saloon building and that about $1,500 is still due from the Petruschkes.

On March 7, under replevin proceedings to recover the furniture and fixtures in the building, the sheriff levied an attachment against the property. The doors of the hotel were locked and the place closed. According to the Petruschkes, Kamerer at that time took possession of a sum of money belonging to the defendants. He is asked to make an accounting to the court for this.

The case will be taken up before Judge Fesler in district court Wednesday. It is expected that the unlawful detainer proceedings in municipal court will be disposed of by that time.

CITY ATTORNEY WILL EXPLAIN

Clapp Will Speak Before West Duluth Commercial Club.

It was announced yesterday that City Attorney Harvey Clapp will address the members of the West Duluth Commercial club at their regular meeting next Friday evening.

City Attorney Clapp will explain the fire hall situation in this end of the city, he said this morning, and will endeavor to also make a suggestion regarding the construction of a viaduct over the Northern Pacific tracks at Smithville. The residents of West Duluth are objecting to the present location of the fire hall alongside the Canadian Northern tracks and have repeatedly asked for a new building.

TWO ON TRIAL FOR ROBBERY

Daniel Koruga, 25, and Mike Oblin, 22, brought to trial before Judge Dancer and a district court jury this morning on an indictment charging them with having on the night of Feb. 20 held up and robbed Rudolph Balch of $9.50. The two men with three others, were arrested for holding up Balch and William Downes on Commonwealth avenue at the Missabe bridge on the night in question.

George Yurcovich, 25, Peter Kaich, 24, and Isaac Neguin, 29, the other members of the quintet, were convicted of the crime of highway robbery last week. Balch and Downes met the five men in a saloon on the evening of Feb. 20 and shortly after 11 o'clock after all had left the place, they were set upon. Downes declared that three men attacked him and identified Yurcovich, Kaich and Neguin as the trio. Balch alleges that the other two, Oblin and Koruga, assaulted him.

Warren E. Greene, county attorney, is appearing for the state and the defendants are represented by Attorney E. J. Kenny.

Bachelors' Club.

The Bachelors' club of New Duluth will entertain at another of its series of winter and spring dancing parties tomorrow evening at the Maccabee hall. The large hall has been decorated for the occasion.

DEATH RESULTS FROM A COASTING PARTY

Taken ill three months ago following a coasting party, Miss Janet Campbell, 20 years old, daughter of T. J. Campbell, 632 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, one of the best known young women in this end of the city, died Saturday evening at the Duluth hospital.

About four months ago Miss Campbell was operated on for appendicitis at the Duluth hospital. Following her recovery she was permitted to go home, but after being out but three weeks she attended a coasting party.

MISS JANET CAMPBELL.

She caught cold at this time and her death Saturday followed a serious illness of pneumonia.

Besides her aged father, Miss Campbell is survived by three sisters, all of Duluth. They are: Mrs. J. F. Campbell, Mrs. Ell Le Beau and Mrs. Oscar Olson. She was very prominent as a church worker and took an active part with the younger people of the St. James' Catholic church. She was born and brought up in this end of the city and was a graduate of the Irving school.

The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning from the St. James' church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Kinnear place. The body will be placed in the Oneota vault and will be removed to Ashland, Wis., some time next month.

NORTH WIND ROUTS "GEN." KELLEY'S ARMY

Only 300 Are Left, and the March to Washington May Be Dropped.

Sacramento, Cal., March 16.—A strong north wind last night did more to solve the problem presented by "General" Kelley's army of unemployed than any human agency has yet been able to accomplish.

Camped on the Yolo levee, across the Sacramento river from this city, with no protection from the wind-driven sands, the army disintegrated rapidly during the night, and it was estimated today that not more than 300 remained of the 1,500 that came here a week ago. Hunger also had much to do with the desertion.

It is believed the march to Washington will be abandoned and the remnant of the army will scatter in various directions. The organization seemingly was on the point of disbanding yesterday, but the members were cheered up by a collection taken for them at a meeting held in their midst by Sacramento clergymen, and by the exhortations of Mrs. Cora Bates of Sacramento, who spoke from a soap box. The collection, amounting to $14, was ordered used to buy food.

GOOD POSITIONS OPEN WITH CITY

Examinations Will Be Held for Civil Service Applicants.

Saturday will be the last day on which applications will be received for the city civil service examinations which will be held the following Saturday, March 28, for city positions.

The examinations will be for clerks of the first and second grade, stenographers, chauffeurs, chainmen, rodmen and axmen and promotion to lieutenant of the police department.

Appointments will be made from the eligible list for places in the office of the city assessor, the water and light department, the engineering department, the works division and the police department. As the positions are desirable it is believed that there will be a large number of applicants.

BUSINESS MEN FREE FROM FEAR

George A. Gray Finds Conditions in East to His Liking.

George A. Gray returned today from Florida, where he went for a rest after a purchasing and business trip to New York. Mr. Gray is looking as though the trip has been a successful one.

"While in Florida," said Mr. Gray today, "I refused to talk business with anybody and to be sure to get a complete rest from business matters, I did not even read a newspaper. I simply stayed out in the sun as much as I possibly could."

Asked as to the business feeling in New York he said:

"I can see no difference from any other time. Nobody seems to feel the least apprehension. There is no curtailment of buying and no greater restriction on credits by the wholesalers and manufacturers than always exists. The business world feels easy and there is apparently no reason why it should not. All business matters that the administration has had anything to do with have been handled, put into shape and have, to some degree, been tested with satisfactory results. Business may therefore go ahead.

"So far as the administration is concerned, I talked to only two men while I was away. One was a Florida man and he was emphatic in his praise of the president, although he said that at the beginning he was not in favor of Mr. Wilson, being an adherent of Champ Clark. The other man was against the president because he has not recognized the Huerta government in Mexico; but then I suppose no matter what stand the president took he would be found fault with. Generally speaking, however, it seems to me that he is satisfying the country in general."

THIRTIETH BODY TAKEN FROM RUINS

READY TO RENEW MINE WAGE TALK

Coal Operators and Miners Will Meet in Chicago.

Chicago, March 16.—Wages and working conditions of bituminous coal miners in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois are the subject of a joint conference of operators' and miners' representatives which will begin here tomorrow. The agreements now in force between the miners and employers will expire April 1.

A previous meeting to consider the demands of the men for 5 cents a ton advance, 10 per cent advance on dead work, and that all coal should be paid for on a mine run basis, was held in Philadelphia several weeks ago, but was adjourned at the request of the miners. In the interim a conference of the policy committee of the miners' union has been held in Indianapolis.

Both sides admit that it will be difficult to reach an adjustment before April 1, but the situation is not considered critical unless possibly in Ohio. Indiana may be involved with Ohio, but Western Pennsylvania and Illinois look for an amicable settlement. It is said by persons in touch with the situation.

We sell lots of these Watches to Rail Road men

A railroad man is just as much entitled to a handsome looking watch as any other man. And that's why the is such a prime favorite with railroad men who feel a pride in carrying a watch which not only registers perfect time and passes inspection with a high grade, but possesses the attributes of refinement in appearance that one naturally expects in a high-quality watch.

We show the famous South Bend Studebaker in both 16 and 18 size, 17 and 21 jewels, adjusted to temperature, five positions and isochronism at $24 to $40. Indorsed by Chief Railroad Time Inspectors for railroad service.

FINDS GEMS ON STREET

Duluth Woman Picks Up Handkerchief Containing Jewels Worth $3,500.

Had Been Lying in Plain View for Several Days.

For two weeks hundreds of people have been walking past or over diamond rings valued at $3,500.

The fortune in gems was lying on the sidewalk at Sixth avenue east and Superior street, wrapped in a small handkerchief, where they were dropped late on a Saturday night by Mrs. George Brosseau.

Mrs. H. A. Whittiker of 902 East Third street saw the handkerchief on the street yesterday afternoon. Where scores upon scores of others had seen the weather-stained bit of linen and passed it by after a single careless glance, not considering it worth the trouble of stopping for it, Mrs. Whittiker picked it up. She noticed the knot in the corner and curious as to what it concealed, untied it. An involuntary gasp of amazement escaped her as the glittering jewels rolled out into her hand.

Mrs. Whittiker has seen the advertisements offering a reward of $500 for the return of four diamond rings valued at $3,500 and hastily looked it up. The address given was at the St. Elmo flats, 721 East First street, where she returned the gems to Mrs. Brosseau.

Mrs. Brosseau is a tango demonstrator, assisting Prof. Dahl with his classes at Aeolian hall in the Dodge block, Third avenue west between Superior and First streets. She had tied the rings in her handkerchief before leaving the hall and on her way to her apartments in the St. Elmo flats she dropped it and its valuable contents at Sixth avenue east and Superior street.

The handkerchief and the fortune hidden in its corner have lain their since. The probability is that the handkerchief with the $3,500 fortune knotted in the corner was covered by the snow, which effectively concealed it from the eyes of the searchers who searched the ground from the hall to the St. Elmo flats. The recent thaw again brought it to sight and for several days it has been in plain view of the throngs passing the corner daily.

IDLE MEN ARE SENT TO FARMS TO WORK

Fifty Thousand Are Said to Be Needed in New York State.

New York, March 16.—As a preliminary test of Governor Glynn's plans to help the city's unemployed by sending them to the country, where the farmers were said to be crying for laborers, 150 men were chosen today to start for Fonda tonight. If the plan succeeds, C. W. Larmon, chief of the state land and labor bureau, will send others to places in the state.

"The country is in immediate need of 50,000 men," said Mr. Larmon today. "We have applicants here to fill every position, from farm superintendents to milk maids."

The crowd of laborers included some who did not belong strictly to the class of the unemployed, but who, tired or sick of the confinement of the city, wanted to begin life again in the country.

ALL YELPING AT HIS HEELS.

—From the New York World.

TOOK $5 FROM PASTOR AND NOW REPAYS IT.

Washington, Pa., March 16.—Forty years ago an officer of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Ligonier, Pa., was handed $5 by a member of the congregation to be applied to the salary of the pastor, the Rev. Charles M. Miller. Pressed for money, the recipient put the bill in his pocket and said nothing about it.

The Rev. Mr. Miller, father of District Attorney Miller, and retired, has lately received a letter from the parishioner, in which the writer, who conceals his identity, reveals the theft, tells of his inability to find peace and incloses $17, the original $5, with interest for forty years. The writer says that since he has made restitution he can die with a clear conscience.

VERACITY DEPENDS ON UNIFORM HE WEARS.

Washington, March 16.—E. T. Williams, former charge d'affaires at the United States legation at Pekin, China, and at present chief of the division of Far Eastern affairs of the state department, in a lecture on China before the National Geographic society recently, told the following story as illustrative of the character of Yuan Shih-k'ai, president of the Chinese republic:

"President Yuan Shih-k'ai is very fond of the military uniform, but often he wears the old Chinese dress. While premier he called at the American legation in a Chinese gown, and when the conversation turned to the subject of dress, he said, laughingly: 'Soldiers are straight-forward; they speak the truth. Now, when I wear this gown'—pointing to his civilian dress—'you can't always believe what I say; but when I wear military uniform you can depend upon it.'"

TITLE TO BE DEFENDED.

London Opinion: "What are you going to call the new baby?"

"Reginald Claude," replied Mr. Bliggins.

"Isn't 'Reginald Claude' a rather affected name?"

"Yes. I want him to grow up to be a fighter and I fancy that 'Reginald Caude,' will start something every time he goes to a new school."

LABOR WORKER WILL GO TO CONVENTION

AGNES NESTOR.

Agnes Nestor will be one of the delegates to the convention of the National Women's Trade Union league, which will meet in St. Louis June 2. She is president of the International Glove Workers' union and of the Chicago Women's Trade Union league. She has been at Springfield, Ill., a great deal working with the Illinois legislature for laws affecting working women and is regarded as a very successful lobbyist. She helped put through the ten-hour law and is now working for a law still further reducing the hours of labor of women.

SOLVING THE OUT-OF-WORK PROBLEM

Insurance Against Unemployment—What Norway and Denmark Have Done.

By KATHERINE COMAN,
Professor of Economics, Wellesley College.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

The first application on a national scale of government aid to voluntary insurance against unemployment was undertaken by the new kingdom of Norway. The year 1904 had brought serious industrial depression to Scandinavia, and the desperate endeavors to meet the necessities of the men thrown out of work led to the appointment of a commission. Its recommendations form the basis of the law passed by the storthing in 1906.

Norwegian Plan.

The object of the law was to encourage and develop the efforts toward self-insurance already in operation among the principal trade unions. The statute provided that the state and the communes concerned reimburse one-fourth of all benefits paid from unemployment funds organized in accordance with certain prescriptions. Only such employment funds are recognized as derive at least half their resources from member's dues, and their treasuries must be independent of trade union funds and devoted exclusively to the care of unemployed members.

It was recognized from the beginning that without the momentum of a labor organization, there was little hope of enlisting wage-earners in the task of self-insurance. But the non-union men were precisely those most liable to unemployment, and the legislators felt that they must be provided for. The law stipulated therefore that a "recognized fund" must admit to membership any man or woman exercising the trade in question whether or no he was affiliated with the corresponding trade union.

During the six years' operation of the act, but one non-union man has applied for membership in an unemployment fund. There are 75,000 unorganized laborers in Norway, unskilled men for the most part, and with this one exception, they are as yet uninsured against unemployment.

Benefits.

As to the terms on which benefits may be paid, the law provides that the unemployment must be involuntary, i. e., it must not have been caused by strike or lockout or by drunkenness or bad temper. The applicant must have reported at the nearest employment agency without being able to find suitable work, and he may not be in receipt of aid from any other fund. No benefit is granted until a man has paid dues for twenty-six weeks and never within the first three days after he has announced himself out of work, and not for more than ninety days in any one year. On these terms it is possible to make an average membership due of seven krone ($1.90) per year cover the normal amount of unemployment with an allowance of half the daily wage.

In 1912, $39,009 were paid out in benefits of which the government paid $9,803.56. The number of men belonging to the recognized unemployment funds amounts to 27,000, only one-half of the total number of union men in Norway. It is probable that the present industrial situation discourages thrift. Norway is very prosperous and labor much in demand, so that unemployment is not a live issue. Prof. Ryegg of the University of Christiania, in his report to the recent congress on unemployment, makes clear the necessity of a campaign of education among the laboring classes by way of preparation for the next period of depression.

The Norwegian system seems well adapted to national conditions, but it has entirely failed to reach the weaker unions and the unorganized men. A project for revision is now being discussed which may render insurance against unemployment obligatory for the seasonal trades.

In Denmark.

The Danish law of 1907 also utilizes organized labor to promote this most difficult form of insurance. The trade unions had, indeed, done much already. In the nine years between 1899 and 1907, the organized trades of Denmark spent $807,686, in unemployment benefits, and they lent all their influence in support of the bill offering state aid. At the present date, fifty-two trade unions, practically all the federated trades, have established unemployment funds in accordance with the terms of the law, and 111,000 union men are thus insured.

The Danish law differs from the Norwegian in a few points. The state offers a subvention to "recognized unemployment funds" amounting to one-third and premiums paid by the members. The communes are urged to pay an addition of one-sixth to the sums contributed by persons residing within their limits. The advantage of estimating the government contribution according to premiums paid rather than to benefits paid lies in the possibility of accumulating a reserve fund in good times against the years of depression.

Denmark has been peculiarly fortunate in the personnel of her state bureau of inspection. Th. Sorensen, the inspector general, enjoys the full confidence of the trade union men. He annually convenes the officials responsible for the unemployment funds for conference and advice, and this personal contact obviates many misunderstandings. Six representatives of the unemployment officials, together with the inspector general, make up the Council of Unemployment, and in this body all questions of policy are threshed out. The section of the law which provides that "a recognized unemployment fund may not give aid to persons engaged in a strike or to persons unemployed because of a lockout" was discussed at length, with a view to the interpretation of doubtful cases. For example, men thrown out of work because of a strike for which they are in no way responsible and men who at the close of a strike or lockout are not able to return to their former employment are entitled to benefits; on the other hand, strikers moving about in search of work are not entitled to traveling benefits.

Workers Insured.

Fully 111,000 persons and 60 per cent of the workmen in Denmark are now insured. (The proportion is 73 per cent of the men insurable and 28 per cent of the insurable women). Practically all the industrial laborers, who are Unionists and Socialists to a man, are insured under the act. The men not covered by state-aided insurance are government employes (on the railroads, in postoffices, etc.) who are not subject to the hazards of unemployment, and agricultural laborers.

The unskilled workmen and the casual laborers, untouched by the Norwegian unemployment system, have been brought within the scope of state aid in Denmark, by a very effective labor organization. The membership of the Unskilled Laborers' union is now 39,000, fully one-third of the total number of organized laborers, and all this within four years.

Within the limits prescribed by the law, the conditions of unemployment insurance vary with each fund. The dues vary from the minimum of $1.40 paid by the unskilled workwomen to the maximum of $7 per year paid by the workers in stucco. The daily stipend is one, one and a half, or two krone according to the financial status of the fund. A krone is equal to about 27 cents. The period of payments runs from fifty days in the year allowed the unskilled laborers to the maximum of 160 days allowed the printers. The total amount of the benefits paid in 1912 was $459,810, of which 53.8 per cent was contributed by the members, 31.9 per cent by the state, and 14.3 per cent by the communes. The sums spent in aid of unemployment from all sources for the five years during which the act has been in operation amounts to $1,755,000.

The success of the Danish system of unemployed insurance may be attributed in large measure to the spirit of team play which obtains in all classes and which renders mutual helpfulness and the co-operation of state and commune with labor organizations acceptable to all classes.

It is just to conclude that the Danes have demonstrated two economic truths: first, that unemployment is the most frequent cause of pauperism, and, second, that insurance is the most effective remedy for unemployment.

AN AUSTRALIAN MUNCHAUSEN.

Norman Duncan in Harper's Magazine: "Snakes hereabouts?" I chanced to inquire.

"Thousands," said the sawyer.

"Deadly?"

"They tell me, and I believe it," he replied, weighing his words, "that the death-adder and tiger-snake kill in half an hour. I'm told," he drawled on, in harmony with the droning weather, "that a dog won't last no more than twenty minutes. The death-adder, now, he's a slow, stupid beast, and won't move along. The tiger-snake comes at you; but the death-adder, he's a slow, stupid beast—lies still and bites when you tread on him. There's the black snake, too, and the brown snake—they're deadly; and a few others, like the tree snakes, and maybe some more. I reckon the carpet-snake is the only snake we got in this country that can't do too much damage."

"Mortality high?"

"What say? Oh! Well, I'll tell you, if you go hunting for snakes you're likely to be kept real busy; but if you mind your own business, and give the snakes a chance to mind their own business, and if you look out for them slow, stupid death-adders, you're likely to be let off. I heard tell of a kiddie being bit once. He put his hand in a rabbit-hole."

"Did the child die?"

"Ah, well, no; he took an anecdote." It had been a mild abrasion; for these snakes—the black snake and tiger-snake and death-adder in particular—are more virulently poisonous than the rattlesnake or cobra. Yet death from snake bite is by no means common in Australia.

How You May Throw Away Your Glasses

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunates, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona; fill a two-ounce bottle with water and drop in one Optona tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so, or who wear glasses, would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong, magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.

ON THE IRON RANGES

NO EVIDENCE AGAINST HIM

Homesteader Arrested for Erick Lake Killing Is Released.

Charge Dropped Upon Motion of Assistant County Attorney.

Virginia, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Paavo Huttala, the Finnish homesteader arrested last week by Deputy Sheriffs Witte and Mollan for the murder of Erick Lake at Markham Lake, on the Vermilion road, out thirty miles southeast of Virginia, was discharged from custody in municipal court this corning by Judge Carey upon motion of Assistant County Attorney Edward L. Boyle.

The evidence against Huttala was considered insufficient to connect him with the crime. Huttala expressed great pleasure at the outcome and will leave this afternoon for his homestead, where the arrest was made by the deputies.

VIRGINIA BOYS ARE PAROLED

Judge Hughes Suspends Sentence, Giving Them Chance.

Virginia, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ted and John Stubler of this city, arrested with their father charged with selling liquor to minors, were given another chance by Judge Hughes in district court at Hibbing. He sentenced them to one one year each at the county workfarm, then suspended sentence.

The court deferred sentence in the case of L. W. Newtown of this city, charged with forgery, and it is expected he will get a suspended sentence.

Coal Thief Punished.

Tony Kutcher, alleged to have stolen coal and broken parole, was also sent back to the state prison.

Ellis Manna, convicted of stealing dynamite from the Lincoln mine here, was also ordered back to the penitentiary for the third time, having also broken parole. Manna has twice been paroled from Stillwater and this will make his third entry into the institution. He claimed that his head was injured in a mine accident, and that this caused his downfall. He further said that Governor John A. Johnson came to Virginia several years ago to personally supervise his return to the penitentiary.

GRAND FORKS HAS CLOSE FIRE CALL

Prompt Work By Firemen Prevents Business Block Burning.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire was discovered in the second story of the Third street last evening at about 9:30, which resulted in a loss estimated at $1,000. A prompt response by the fire department saved a total loss of the structure and stock of confectionery and notions. No damage resulted to adjoining buildings. The work of the department saved the entire block of frame buildings, as a strong breeze was blowing from the west in direct line with the street. The damaged building was occupied by the Marston family, the first floor being used as a confectionery store and the second floor as living rooms. The fire started on the second floor.

HAWKEYE SETTLERS COME TO ITASCA

Locating in Splithand District Southeast of Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 16—(Special to The Herald.)—F. J. Kuppinger of Kuppinger Bros., Davenport, Iowa, has arrived with Robert Boussilat and wife of Dixon, Iowa, and Roy S. Baugh of Davenport, who have bought farms through the Kuppinger agency in the Splithand district, southeast of Grand Rapids.

These settlers have shipped their household goods, farm machinery and livestock, and are apparently valuable additions to the citizenship of Itasca county. Kuppinger Bros. have been operating in this county during the past three years, and are among the most successful real estate hustlers for Northern Minnesota in bringing substantial farmers from Iowa, Indiana, Kansas and Nebraska into this section.

Bring Practical Farmers.

Their aim has been to bring only well-to-do, industrious families into the county—that class that makes good—and on their reports of success it is easy to get others of the same class. Mr. Kuppinger says his company has plans to bring about fifty families into Itasca county during the next year to become permanent residents. The company works on the community settlement plan. In the Splithand district, where a number of families have bought homes through this company, it is planned to provide them with telephone service from Grand Rapids, and also secure rural free delivery of mail.

DID CHILD WAKE UP CROSS OR FEVERISH?

Look, Mother! If Tongue Is Coated Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Counterfeits are being sold here. Don't be fooled!

EVELETH MAN WOULD GO TO LEGISLATURE

SOLOMON SAX.

Eveleth, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Solomon Sax of this city announces he will be a candidate for the state legislature from the Sixty-first district. John Gill, Jr., of Virginia has already filed for the office.

Mr. Sax is a pioneer resident of Eveleth. Up to two years ago he was actively engaged in business and still has large interests here. Mr. Sax has been president of the Commercial club and held various positions of trust.

VIRGINIANS LOSE FATHER

Thomas Coughlin, Pioneer of Ishpeming, Passes at 75.

Ishpeming, Mich., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Coughlin, aged 75, a resident of Ishpeming for nearly sixty years and who enjoyed the distinction of playing on the first baseball team organized here in the 60's was buried today. He was a native of Canada and for half a century worked for the Cleveland Cliffs company.

Mr. Coughlin is survived by his widow, six sons and three daughters. The sons are Joseph, Patrick and Pat Coughlin, living in Ishpeming; Thomas and Frank in Virginia, Minn., and William, in Marquette. The daughters are Mrs. Herbert McDonald and Miss Agnes Coughlin, living in Ishpeming, and Miss Nora, residing in St. Paul. All of the children were here to attend the funeral.

SIX MORE GAMES TO BE BOWLED.

Hibbing, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Six more games and the schedule prepared for the Village Bowling league will be completed. The interest in bowling this year has been greater than ever before and the teams have proved to be exceptionally evenly selected.

The averages compiled up to and including the game played March 10, but not including the game scheduled for March 2, shows an exceedingly close race.

In percentage, the Council Chambers lead by a handsome margin, the standings being:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Council	16	2	888
Messners	14	4	777
Godfreys	12	6	666
Buffalos	9	9	500
Burrows	6	12	428
Reds	7	14	333
Klass	5	16	238

The Townships took two games out of three from the Rivals in the Five-back Bowling league. Peterson rolled high score with 59 and high average with 30.

The scores were:

Rivals.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Hughes	25	22	30
McCoy	15	21	18
Peterson	59	19	11
Sparen	20	16	18

Total pins, 344.

PLAN ITASCA EXHIBIT.

Dates for County Fair at Grand Rapids Are Also Agreed Upon.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Itasca County Agricultural association met at the village hall Saturday afternoon. There was a good attendance of the membership, and much interest shown in discussing matters relating to the 1914 county fair, and particular attention was given to the matter of an Itasca county exhibit at the state fair.

Secretary M. A. Sisler of the association made a number of very practical suggestions relating to the proposed state fair exhibit of Itasca county's products. It was decided to hold an elimination contest of products intended to exhibit at the state fair on Wednesday, Sept. 2, at Grand Rapids, when selections will be made for shipment to Hamlin.

For these, special prizes will be offered by local merchants, and the exhibits made at the state fair will be returned for the county fair. A committee appointed by the association some time ago, to make plans for the Itasca county show at the state fair, has already taken the matter up with farmers in different sections of the county, and the effort in this direction promises to be fruitful of excellent results.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 23, 24 and 25, were decided upon as the dates for holding the county fair. O. J. Niles, Henry Hughes and J. G. Allen, Grand Rapids merchants, were named by President D. C. Anderson as a committee to look after the selection of exhibits for the state fair.

SELECT DELEGATES.

Itasca County Anti-Eberhart Forces Meet at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The anti-Eberhart contingent of Itasca county Republicans met at the village hall here Saturday afternoon to select delegates to the state meeting, to be held in Minneapolis March 19. Eleven delegates were named, as follows: W. M. West, John S. Severts, H. E. Nightengale, O. J. Niles, A. L. Lafraniere, F. R. Harrison of Grand Rapids, J. A. Vandyke of Coleraine, Frank Provinske of Bovey, George E. Keenan and W. B. Taylor, Deer River, and Max Barbour of Nashwauk. None of those named from the villages outside of Grand Rapids was present and it was reported some have advised the chairman of their refusal to serve. O. J. Niles and R. A. Stone of Grand Rapids were chairman and secretary, respectively, of the meeting.

NEW GRAND RAPIDS COUNCIL ORGANIZES.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new council has organized the following standing committees:

Streets and alleys, Arscott and Forest; purchasing, Sherman and Arscott; sewerage, Russell and Sherman; police and license, Arscott and Forest.

G. O. Johnson was reappointed village marshal, and T. A. Benton street commissioner.

The First National Bank of Grand Rapids was designated as the depository for village funds.

The salaries of twenty-eight firemen, amounting to $700, were allowed for the past year.

ODD FELLOWS TO MEET AT HIBBING.

Hibbing, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing Odd Fellows will entertain the anniversary celebration of the lodge in this village on April 26. All of the range lodges are expected to be here. The time and place was decided upon at a meeting of delegates from the different lodges held in Virginia. Plans for the celebration will be made at the meeting of the local lodge next week.

CAPT. HOSKINS FUNERAL.

Last Rites for Hibbing Mining Man Tuesday Afternoon.

Hibbing, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Capt. J. A. Hoskins, the well-known mining man who died here Friday night, will be held tomorrow afternoon from the Mahoning Street W. M. E. church, Rev. Mr. Elayer officiating.

Capt. Hoskins was born June 15, 1861, near Cornwall, Eng., and came to Canada when he was 20 years old. Twenty-eight years ago he located at Ironwood, Mich., where he remained until 1902, when he arrived in Hibbing, as an employe of the Pickands-Mather company. Later he accepted a position with the Inland Steel company, working at the Laura mine.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Ettie and Alice, and three sons, Wallace A., Ernest and John. A brother is also living in the United States, but his address is not certain.

TOWER BRIEFS.

Mr. Gibbs of the state forestry service was in town Friday. He expects to build a station in Tower if the proper encouragement is given. A telephone line for the service will soon be in operation from Tower.

Charls Johnson of Cook, ex-member of the Virginia fire and police commission, was here Saturday visiting his brother, Fred Johnson. He is a former Tower resident.

L. R. Shively of Vermilion Dam visited at Duluth the past week.

The opera house was crowded Friday when the "Country Kid" was played by home talent. The Commercial Club band furnished a number of selections during the evening. About $80 was netted by the band, which put on the show.

With F. B. Myers of Biwabik on the game and fish commission, it is hoped he may be able to save the fish of Lake Vermilion for the people of Northern Minnesota.

MAY SINK SHAFT.

Report Great Western Will Become Underground Property.

Virginia, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is currently reported that the Oliver Iron Mining company will soon begin the development of the Great Western mine, which will be worked as an underground. The sinking of a shaft will begin in a short time. The property adjoins the Auburn, midway between Virginia and Eveleth and it is understood that the general superintendent will be R. R. Trezona of Eveleth.

GIVE FINE PROGRAM.

Special Music in Two Harbors Church Delights.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A special musical program was given last night in the First Presbyterian church before a large audience. Miss Wood, Mrs. Barton, Mrs. Dorsey and Le Roy Balleau were the soloists and were accompanied by John Tesar, violinist. A large choir also rendered several selections. Miss Wood had charge of the program and was assisted by Fred Doerr, pianist.

BRAKEMAN WILL NOT LOSE HAND.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word has been received from Tower by the friends of Casper Nolden that the amputation of his injured hand will not be necessary. Mr. Nolden, a brakeman on the D. & I. R. railroad, while standing on the step of his caboose last week, in some way lost his balance, falling forward, while the train passed over his hand. Nolden was immediately taken to the Soudan hospital at Tower.

EVELETH VOTES FOR NEW MANUAL SCHOOL.

Eveleth, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Without a dissenting vote the Eveleth school district voted Saturday in favor of the erecting of a new $45,000 building for the manual training department of the schools. Sixty-nine votes were cast all for the proposition. The vote was light as there was no opposition.

At present the manual training department is located in the basement of the high school but the department needs more room and the high school basement is needed for other purposes. The new building will be located on a site east of the high school and will be erected so as to be ready for occupancy when school opens next fall.

EVELETH BRIEFS.

Eveleth, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The manual training department of the Eveleth high school has a fine exhibit at the school. As work is completed it is placed in a room reserved for that purpose and exhibit room is now well filled. Lathe work and pieces of furniture are the most attrative articles displayed.

While splitting wood William Emery, a member of the police force, was informed by Mail Carrier Harry Anderson that his house was afire. The blaze had caught on the roof and was easily extinguished.

R. P. Zeidler, who has been employed at the Spruce office of the Oliver Iron Mining company for the past five years, has resigned to become bookkeeper for the Lawrence-McCann Contracting company.

FAIR

With fair weather still on its good behavior, the worst Duluth has had was the cloudy stuff that has been hanging over the city last night and this morning. But the weather man says that even this will be wiped out and fair weather will prevail tonight and tomorrow, while the mercury will be still at a dormant figure.

A year ago today was fair and crisp. The sun rose this morning at 6:19 and will set this evening at 6:14 o'clock, giving eleven hours and fifty-five minutes of sunshine, six minutes more than Saturday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours light rain or snow fell over Northern Michigan, Wisconsin, Ontario, Wyoming and Washington. Moderate to warm temperature prevails in the central valleys and Southern states, but in the Northwest the weather has turned somewhat colder since Sunday morning.

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 16.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Tuesday; cooler tonight and in east portion Tuesday.

Iowa—Fair tonight and Tuesday; slightly cooler tonight.

Lower Michigan—Fair tonight and Tuesday; colder tonight.

Upper Michigan—Cloudy and colder tonight; Tuesday fair.

DOG BITING CASE SUBMITTED TO JURY

Twelve Men Wrestling on Case That Came From Keewatin.

Keewatin, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The damage suit of Charles Kahlberg of Keewatin against Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunt of the same village to recover $5,296 damages for being bitten by a dog belonging to the defendants, which has been the star attraction in district court for a few days, was submitted to the jury about noon today and the twelve men retired to deliberate over the proposition.

More or less feeling between the litigants developed during the trial. The plaintiff claims he had to go elsewhere to take Pasteur treatment as a result of the injury and that he suffered much thereby.

TWO ELY PIONEERS BURIED ON SUNDAY.

Ely, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funerals of Frank Wigcel and Mrs. John Koval, both pioneers of this city, were held simultaneously at 2 p. m. yesterday from the Catholic church. Both had resided here over twenty years, and many friends attended the last rites.

DOROTHY ARNOLD "FIND" IS MISTAKE

New York, March 16.—The claim of Emily Splawn O'Dell of Los Angeles, Cal., that she is Dorothy Arnold, who disappeared from her home in this city in 1910, is described as "pure nonsense" by the father of the missing girl, Francis R. Arnold.

John S. Keith, the attorney of Mr. Arnold, who has been taking an active part in the world-wide search for the girl, expressed himself similarly. Some time ago, said Mr. Keith, a letter in which knowledge of Miss Arnold's whereabouts was asserted, was received from an attorney in Los Angeles, but no attention has been paid to it because it appeared to offer no better hope of a solution of the mystery than hundreds of other communications of a like nature.

A general police alarm for the missing girl was still out, he said, and both he and Mr. Arnold were confident that they would have heard from the Los Angeles police had Miss Arnold been found. Mr. Keith also denied that Mr. Arnold had sent money to the woman claiming to be his daughter.

Is Married Woman.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 16.—The hallucinations of a young woman, Emily Splawn O'Dell, who was but recently freed of a bad check charge on the grounds of irrationality, is responsible for the latest "finding" of Dorothy Arnold of New York. Her husband, Charles O'Dell, identified her and declared the story she told of being the missing daughter of the wealthy New York merchant was the product of a mental disorder.

Hull Seeks Governorship.

Madison, Wis., March 16.—Speaker Hull of the assembly has announced his candidacy for governor on the Republican ticket and between now and the day of the primaries he will issue a full statement as to his campaign principles.

KILLED TREATING HORSE.

Houghton County, Mich., Farmer Victim of Animal's Kick.

Lake Linden, Mich., March 16.—While treating the wound of a horse, which had been kicked by another horse, Emil Hendrickson, an Isle Royale farmer and fisherman, was fatally kicked. The sharp calk of the horse's shoe entered the crown of his head and killing him. The man staggered to the door of the barn, spoke a few words to his wife and fell dead.

Henderickson was well known at the Isle Royale location. He was 42 years of age and is survived by his wife. He recently returned from a fishing expedition to Jacobsville.

WATERWORKS SALE ORDERED BY COURT.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 16.—Judge Charles P. Orr, in the United States district court here, today issued an order authorizing the receivers to sell the American Waterworks & Guarantee company, April 15.

The American Waterworks & Guarantee company is a $20,000,000 enterprise owning water distribution plants in a number of cities in the West and South, and became involved in financial difficulties when the First-Second National bank of Pittsburg closed last July. It is said that an offer for the company has been made by a New York syndicate.

A TONIC FOR THE NERVES

Nervous people who have not yet developed a disease that can be recognized and treated by the medical profession have the greatest trouble in finding relief. Irritation, headache, sleeplessness, nervous dyspepsia, all these discomforts make life miserable but are endured rather than run a doctor's bill without definite hope of recovery.

Every such sufferer should know the danger of such a condition of the nervous system. Nervous debility and even paralysis may easily result if the tone of the nerves is not restored.

The one big fact that brings hope and relief is that the nerves can be restored by building up the blood. It cannot be too often repeated that only through the blood can nourishment and medicine reach the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the blood rich and red and quickly restore vitality and energy to a weak nervous system. A nervous person who gives these pills a trial is almost certain to see good results and, what is more, the benefit will be lasting because the trouble is attacked at its root. Thin blood makes weak nerves. Building up the blood restores the nerve force.

Scientific Nature Cures for Disease of Vital Organs

Catarrh, Indigestion, Stomach, Liver, Bowel and Kidney Trouble Speedily Conquered.

As the stomach, in health, is a veritable galvanic battery, generating magnetism or heat and force, so the liver is the chemical laboratory and regulator of the human body. The heart is the great pump which sends the blood to the various organs to build up necessary vitality. The function of the lungs is to give out carbonic acid gas and absorption of oxygen. The kidneys eliminate urea and purify the blood. An active liver is essential to health, as it removes the poison from the blood and forms bile which serves as cathartic, aids digestion and promotes nutrition. All the organs work together in harmony, like a watch. When one is out of order the whole machinery is out of gear. Then disease sets in, because of a weakened condition of some organ. Kidney Disease is found in persons whose blood is impoverished and impure. This weakens the nerves which make the kidneys perform their functions of filtering the uric acid from the blood. Then this uric acid is absorbed by the blood and is circulating around to every organ in the body. Sooner or later sickness comes on, such as cold chills with backache, fever, swelling of ankles. Urine is highly colored or red from heavy sediment or milky white with albumen, the most vital elements of the body. When these conditions are allowed to continue the result is one or more of the following diseases: Rheumatism, Dropsy, Gout, Diabetes, Kidney or Urinary troubles. The kidney tissues break down and pass away cell by cell. That is Bright's Disease or Consumption of the Kidneys. Electro-Vito-Tox-Absorb eliminates all poisons from the system where all drugs have failed. This treatment is nature's own panacea for restoring all the organs of the body to a healthy, normal condition.

MARKET UP AT THE CLOSE

Wheat Sells Higher on Fears of Damage to Winter Crop.

Flaxseed Bulges Again With Active Buying By Crushers' Interests.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 16.—The market was strong at the close on fears of damage to the winter crop in a few sections. May wheat closed ½c up and July ¼c up. May durum closed ⅜c up and July ⅜c up.

Oats closed unchanged at 36½c. Rye closed unchanged at 54@56c for the best grades. There was no market in barley.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 30⅝c bid and July at 37¾c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 90¾@91c bid, and calls at 91⅝c bid.

After opening strong and selling up ⅝c during the early trading today, the wheat market weakened slightly and showed only a fractional gain at the final hour. There was no news of special moment out. Cables were about a standoff, and Eastern inquiry was quiet. Advices from the winter wheat territory were reassuring. Experts reported that they were unable to find any trace of damage in the Southwest and that barring unexpected development the indications point to a bumper crop.

A bearish market influence came in an unexpected increase of 5,000 bu in the American visible supply, whereas a substantial decrease had been looked for. Primary receipts showed a decrease of nearly 500,000 bu in the day. Arrivals at Duluth were 48 cars against 39 last year, and there were 102 cars of all grains on the tracks for the two days. Receipts here last week were 576,000 bu, while shipments including amounts taken out by the mills came to 408,000 bu, showing an increase in stocks of 168,000 bu in the six days.

Elevator operators here say advices from their correspondeents show that the spurt of farmers' marketings is over throughout the West, and that grain is again only dribbling in at the interior elevators.

At Minneapolis 1,000 cars today came to 341 cars as against 684 a year ago, while Winnipeg receipts were off to 129 cars, compared with 241 last year.

May wheat opened unchanged at 91⅞c, and after gaining ⅜c it receded to 92c at the final hour. July wheat opened unchanged at 92⅞c and gained ⅜c. There was a fair Eastern demand for durum. The May option opened ⅛c up at 90⅞c and gained ½c. July opened unchanged at 92c and gained ⅜c.

Flaxseed Again Strong.

Flaxseed advanced 1⅛c shortly after the opening on higher cables and active buying by crushers and operators. After the filling of early orders, the market turned dull and reacted but the close was strong 1@1⅛c up. The light receipts at all points contributed to the bullish situation in the seed.

At Buenos Aires the market closed ⅝c up, while Antwerp closed 2⅝c up and London 3c up.

May flax opened ½c up at $1.60, and closed with an advance of 1c at $1.60⅞ asked. The July option opened ¾c up at $1.62 and closed 1⅛c up for the day at $1.62¾.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.40½ and July at $1.43¾.

Clearances reported: Wheat, 375,000 bu; flour, 26,000 bbl, together they equal 429,000 bu; corn, 2,000 bu; oats, 12,000 bu.

B. E. Baker returned today from a six-weeks' holiday trip, during which he visited his father at San Diego, Cal.

Kansas City receipts since Nov. 1 were 16,118,000 bu. On that date there were 385,500 bu of corn in store there. Today they only have 1,778,000 bu, showing an enormous feeding demand from that point.

Minneapolis reported excellent cash demand. No. 1 northern blue stem was firmer, selling at 1½@2½c over May and velvet chaff sold at 1@1½c premium. Flour sales were still reported moderately active. Rated No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 92c to 93½c and No. 2 northern at from 90c to 91½c.

Baker received the following wire from Wellington, Kan.: "Enid to Wellington wheat still continues in perfect condition, all well stooled. Stools are so firm in the ground that they cannot be pulled. Water is still in the ditches and low places in the fields but the surface is dry. A good rain would be beneficial but the plant is not suffering. Many have allowed their cattle to graze it down very close. Many farmers have told me that their wheat has paid them already, as they have the good pasturage all fall and winter."

On passage statement: Wheat, 47,172,000 bu against 46,192,000 bu last week and 57,644,000 bu last year; increase, 1,520,000 bu. Corn, 968,000 bu against 7,226,000 bu last week and 15,606,000 bu last year; decrease, 1,258,000 bu.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Steady American cables on Saturday stimulated some support at the immediate opening, assisted by the firmer Manitoba offers, and prices were unchanged to ⅛d higher. During the remainder of the morning session, the market was very dull, with price changes incons equential, but the undertone was steady. The advance was checked by the liberal world's shipments, a goodly amount to the United Kingdom and an increase in local stocks here. At 1:30 p. m. prices were unchanged to ⅛d higher.

"Corn opened ¼d higher with American. Later March gained an additional ¼d, while July declined ¼d with profit-taking. Light world's shipments and strength in spot caused March shorts to cover, while better weather in Argentina prompted realizing in July. At 1:30 p. m. the market was irregular, March ½d higher and July ¼d lower than the opening and unchanged from Saturday."

Liverpool weekly stocks—Wheat, 3,440,000 bu, decrease, 16,000 bu; corn, 2,346,000 bu, decrease, 128,000 bu.

Kansas winter wheat, about which favorable reports are current, leads all other states in acreage. That state last fall seeded 8,325,000 acres, or 23 per cent of a total acreage of 26,505,000 acres. The growing crop is 825,000 acres larger than that of 1912, when that state's production was 92,290,000 bu.

According to the International institute of agriculture good reports generally for the cultivation of cereals in 1913-14 come from Belgium, Denmark, France, Great Britain and Ireland, Hungary, Portugal and Roumania. Crop conditions are average in Italy, Luxemburg, Japan and Egypt, while they are bad in Tunis on account of cold andlateness in sowing.

Shortage in the wheat crop of Chile has resulted in arrangements for the importation of several thousand tons from Melbourne, Australia, for loading during March.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Bullish Owing to Dry Winds in Kansas.

Chicago, March 16.—Dry winds in Kansas had a bullish influence today on wheat. No rain seemed to be in prospect for a week in the Southwest. Opening prices which were changed to ⅛c lower, were followed by an all-around advance.

Later the market reacted owing to an increase of the visible supply. The close was nervous at a range of a shade off to ⅜@½c up compared with Saturday night.

Active buying on the part of leading houses put strength into corn. The strength of wheat was an incentive. After opening unchanged to ¼c up, the market scored a further gain.

Commission selling on the advance, however, more than wiped out all the gain. The close was steady at ¼c net lower to a shade advance.

There was an absence of selling pressure on oats. Accordingly, prices climbed with wheat and corn.

Plentiful receipts of hogs lowered provisions. First sales ranged from 2½@5c to 7½c down and the market later gave but little sign of a rally.

London Stocks.

London, March 16.—American securities opened quiet and about unchanged. Canadian Pacific declined a point during the forenoon, but otherwise the list moved irregularly within narrow limits, and closed undecided.

MOVEMENT DOWNWARD

Stock Traders Are Inclined to Take the Short Side.

General List Ends With Slight Losses But Closes Steady.

New York, March 16.—The main movement during the morning was downward though fluctuations of individuals were at variance with the general trend. By noon, the whole market was heavy.

The pronounced weakness of Kansas & Texas preferred gave rise to rumors concerning a possible change in dividend policy, and the stock sold within a fraction of its low record for ten years. New Haven again was at a disadvantage, owing to the delay in the company's negotiations with the government. An early rise in the stock was utilized for selling, on which the quotation was depressed 2 points.

Bonds easy.

United States Express continued its advance today, opening 1½ points higher. Westinghouse Electric rose 1¾ and Canadian Pacific lost 1. Trading among the speculative leaders was light, with small and irregular changes.

Attempts to advance the list after the opening were defeated by active liquidation of New Haven and Kansas & Texas issues. New Haven, which started ½ higher, reacted 1½. Kansas & Texas sold a point under last week's close and the preferred 3¾.

Reactionary tendencies continued until well into the afternoon. Rock Island collateral were hammered down a point. London and continental selling aggregated about 30,000 shares.

A few of the more speculative stocks were prominent in the late downward movement, but the general list varied little from the earlier level. Traders were inclined to take the short side because there appeared to be no immediate incentive for an upward movement.

The market closed steady. The late news was without inspiration for speculative ventures, although it included unfavorable comments on the steel trade and sales of some large railroad bond issues. Prices drifted idly except for a late upward spurt in New Haven. The list generally ended at slight losses.

ASKS FINAL ESTIMATE

Contractor Formally Demands Money Due on West End Paving.

Council Will Consider Two Licenses Opposed By Hicken.

George R. King made formal demand upon the city today through his attorney, J. B. Richards, for the payment of his final estimate for the paving of Twenty-seventh avenue west, amounting to $2,498.76. The notice was served upon the city clerk this morning and presented to the city council this afternoon.

City Engineer John Wilson and Works Commissioner R. Murchison refused to accept the job upon the ground that the work was not up to specifications. They claimed that the wearing surface did not contain the required proportion of cement and that defects were apparent last fall.

The contractor alleges that the engineer's refusal to prepare the final estimate was without right or authority and that he is entitled to the money. He also cites that the city is protected by a five-year guarantee bond.

Although it was announced some time ago by Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, that he would recommend to the council that the saloon licenses of A. Matel of 419 West Michigan street and M. R. Timlin at 306 Central avenue be not renewed, both of them have filed applications for renewals. They will be presented to the council this afternoon, but will not come up for consideration for two weeks.

Several protests have been filed against the proposed condemnation of an alley from Seventeenth avenue east to the center of block 37, Endion division. The objectors claim that the alley is unnecessary.

The bids opened this morning by City Clerk C. S. Palmer for the printing of the annual report will be presented to the council this afternoon. The Greer Printing company submitted the lowest bid, the figure being $950. The contract will likely be awarded to it.

The smoke ordinance will be given its third reading and will probably be passed. Several appropriation ordinances will be passed and a number of other ordinances advanced to the second reading.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

JAY GOULD LEADS IN TITULAR MATCH

World's Amateur Court Tennis Champion Takes First Four Sets From World's Professional Champion—Needs Only Three More.

Philadelphia, March 16.—Jay Gould, the American and English amateur court-tennis champion, gained a commanding lead in the first day's play of his match with George F. Covey of England, the professional champion, for the open championship of the world. The American expert won all four of the sets played, 6-0, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3.

The title will go to the player who wins seven out of thirteen sets. Today's match was begun shortly after noon at the racquet club of Philadelphia. Four sets were played, four will be played on Wednesday and the match will be continued on Saturday if one of the contestants has not already won seven sets.

The betting today was 10 to 8 on Gould to win the title.

Among the spectators present were George Gould, father of the American player, and Foxhall Keene, who came up from the South to see the match.

Fosston Beats McIntosh.

Fosston, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fosston defeated McIntosh at basket ball Saturday night by a score of 43 to 27. This gives Fosston a clear right to play Detroit for the championship of the Ninth congressional district.

Number of baskets made by the two teams: Fosston, Fogleberg, 7 baskets; R. Movold, 4; Hanson, 5; L. Movold, 3; R. Movold made 5 out of 14 free throws. McIntosh: A. Talle, 5 baskets; Haaven, 3; Holten, 2; S. Talle, 2. Talle made 3 out of 6 free throws.

Heine at Short for Cubs.

Chicago, March 16.—Capt. Tommy Leach will play third base and Heine Zimmerman will play shortstop when the Chicago Nationals take the field next month, according to an announcement of the team's makeup telegraphed today by Manager O'Day from Jacksonville, Fla. Good, Schulte and Johnston will compose the outfield.

St. Louis Federal Season.

St. Louis, Mo., March 16.—The local Federal league season will open here April 13, it was announced today by officials of the local club after they had examined the progress of the work on the new grandstands.

HEAVY INQUIRY FOR STATE LANDS

Indications Favor Big Attendance at Wednesday Morning's Sale.

Indications are that the first of the series of nine sales of school and other state lands in St. Louis county this year to be conducted Wednesday morning at the courthouse, will be a spirited one. According to L. A. Marvin, deputy county auditor, inquiries for the list of descriptions to be sold have been numerous during the last few days.

The list offered for sale comprises nearly 1,400 descriptions and approximately 55,000 acres. It not only includes the state land on the 1913 list remaining unsold but new tracts which have been put on by the state land department since. Most of the land is appraised at $5 an acre. The terms of purchase are 15 per cent down and the balance on or before forty years, interest on the unpaid balance at 4 per cent per annum, payable on June 1 of every year.

Samuel G. Iverson, state auditor, and Theodore Nelson, manager of the state land department, are expected to conduct the sale. The dates for the state land sales in Duluth during the coming year are: March 18, April 15, May 20, June 17, July 15, Aug. 19, Sept. 16, Oct. 21 and Nov. 18.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Julia Meyers, who had been a resident of Janesville, Wis., since 1845, died March 15, aged 88 years. She was a widow of the late Peter Meyers.

Mrs. Corinne Stubbs Brown, a widely known Socialist and woman suffragist and formerly a resident of Chicago, died at her home in New York March 15 from an attack of pneumonia. Mrs. Brown was born in Chicago in 1849 and after being connected with the public schools of that city for many years became actively interested in politics. In 1901 she was elected a member of the executive board of the Social-Democratic party. She was one of the founders and leaders of the Social Economic club of Chicago, a member of the Woman's Federal Labor union and for a number of years served as president of the Illinois Woman's alliance.

David L. Heiushemer, president of the Iowa State Bankers' association, died in Chicago March 15 at a hospital. He was born in Germany in 1847 and moved to Iowa in 1861. He was a delegate from Boone to the state Republican convention in 1868 and attended nearly every subsequent one. He was for years president of the Mills County National bank at Glenwood, Iowa.

Prof. J. G. Clark, 65 years old, who assisted in the foundation of Ohio Northern university in 1872 and who had a national reputation as an educator and as author of several works of constructional English, died at Ada, Ohio, March 15, from sarcoma of the glandular system.

Stanley H. Lowndes, aged 57, at one time the largest oyster grower in the world, died suddenly in Greenport, L. I., of apoplexy. He was worth over $8,000,000, which he made in oysters.

Rev. Joseph P. Greene, for more than twenty-two years pastor of the Sacred Heart church of Kinsman, Ill., is dead at Sreator, Ill.

Associate Justice Louis M. Clark of the Boston land court, a former Harvard athlete, dropped dead of heart failure at the wheel of his automobile on Beacon street, Boston, March 15. He was 56 years old.

Job Williams, who for thirty-four years had been head of the American school for the deaf, died at Hartford, Conn., March 16, aged 71. He was a graduate of Yale.

PSEUDO DOROTHY ARNOLD DOPE VICTIM

Husband Says Doctor and Another Man Are Responsible.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 16.—Mrs. "Ella" Splawn-Miller-O'Dell, the young woman who created a sensation by claiming that she was Dorothy Arnold, the New York society girl, who vanished from the home of her father, Francis R. Arnold in 1910, was held in the city jail here today while detectives hunted for a physician and another man said by Mrs. O'Dell's husband, Charles O'Dell, to be responsible for his wife's condition.

Physicians who examined the young woman said she was suffering from acute hysteria, apparently induced by hypnotic influence. That she had recently been under the influence of a powerful drug was the assertion of the police, who said the young woman admitted this. Who administered the drug was not disclosed.

Mrs. O'Dell yesterday repudiated her husband, her sister, and even her mother, refusing to admit her relationship to any of them.

U. S. STANDARD OF MINING PROPOSED

Keating Makes Suggestion to Enforce It Through Commerce.

Washington, March 16.—John D. Rockefeller's connection with the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, which figured in the Colorado coal strike, will be discussed at a meeting of the house mines sub-committee Friday, with a view to determining whether Mr. Rockefeller shall be asked to testify or whether a deposition shall be taken. John Mitchell will testify within a few days before the sub-committee which investigated the Michigan copper strike.

Representative Edward Keating of Colorado, in a statement today, proposed that the Federal government establish a standard of mining operations, and exclude from interstate commerce all mine products not produced under that standard.

OHIO POLITICIANS PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Deny They Violated Provisions of State Civil Service Law.

Columbus, Ohio, March 16.—Pleas of not guilty were entered today by four Democratic leaders in state politics when they were arraigned in common pleas court on indictments returned last week, charging them with alleged violations of the state civil service law.

Those arraigned were William L. Finley, chairman of the state Democratic committee; Emery W. Lattanner, state superintendent of banks; A. V. Abernathy, secretary of the state tax commission; and M. A. Goller, chief clerk to the superintendent of banks.

NORWEGIAN BOAT LOOTED BY PIRATES

Hongkong, March 16.—Pirates today boarded and looted the Norwegian steamer Childer off this port, carrying off booty to the value of $30,000, after overpowering, binding and gagging the six Europeans on board.

The steamer was carrying fifty native passengers, and as she was lying outside, the armed desperadoes sprang over the bulwarks, seized the officers and began their search for loot.

The interior of the vessel was badly damaged by the band before they disappeared over the sides and escaped up the river in junks. The pirates wore pieces of white cotton as badges, something like those carried by the revolutionists in the recent rebellion. The badges bore in Chinese characters the words:

"Money comes easily."

CITY NEEDS NEW SYSTEM

Recommends Plan Followed in Milwaukee, With Some Changes.

Duluth should have a systematic purchasing system under way next year, in the opinion of City Clerk Charles S. Palmer, who returned yesterday from Milwaukee, where he spent several days investigating the methods followed in that city.

The clerk believes that all that should be attempted this year is extending the purchasing of office supplies, stationery and janitor supplies, which has been started. But by laying its plans now he is confident that this can be enlarged to include a much wider field in 1915.

The clerk states that an ordinance giving the purchasing agent ample authority to do all the buying and requiring that the purchases of all supplies be through the purchasing department, and an adequate store system be provided, are among the first essentials. He explains that Milwaukee has the latter but that the former is lacking, the effectiveness of the purchasing system being more or less nullified by the fact that heads of departments can make purchases of their own accord. The clerk suggested that when the new armory is completed the present armory building at Second avenue east and First street might be utilized for the municipal store room.

City Clerk Palmer found that Milwaukee has a complete and exhaustive system of bookkeeping and card indexes. It shows the amount of supplies of all kinds used by each department each month or year; the amount of supplies on hand and their cost; the names of bidders and their prices, and in fact, all details which may be useful at any time. The purchasing agent is charged with the duty of keeping fully posted upon market conditions, in order that purchases may be made at the most favorable time. He has several assistants and is under a bond of $10,000.

All bidders are required to state what discounts will be allowed and a considerable saving is made by taking advantage of them. Milwaukee buys from $130,000 to $150,000 worth of supplies annually, and it is estimated that a saving of 10 per cent is made by making the purchases through a purchasing system. The cost of the purchasing department is about $6,000 a year.

Mr. Palmer thinks that a greater economy could be secured in Duluth if comparisons are made with the present cost of supplies. This city has no efficient method of making purchases and following his Milwaukee trip the clerk states that much remains to be done in the buying of the office and janitor supplies, even though this has now been centralized. He asserts that while these are being purchased in bulk the city has no system of keeping track of them or of checking the supplies used by the several departments.

COURTS TO DECIDE HEIRESS' CUSTODY

Father and Grandmother of Virginia Ford Are at Outs.

Chicago, March 16.—The courts were asked today to decide whether a grandmother or a father should have the custody of a 3-year-old girl who is said to be the heiress to many thousand dollars.

On the petition of Mrs. Harriet L. Janney, who with her granddaughter, Virginia Ford, the infant heiress, was detained last night by the police on telegraphic advices from Philadelphia, Judge Walker in the criminal court today issued a writ of habeas corpus applicable to both the woman and the child. The police acted on a complaint from the child's father, William H. Ford, a Philadelphia civil engineer.

The petition for release set forth that the two were detained without legal warrant.

INSPECT MINES.

Representatives of Japanese Government Visit Duluth and Range.

M. Kan Mapu and T. Konuma of the University of Yokohama, Japan, and representatives of the Japanese government, spent Sunday at the Spalding. They left this morning for Chicago. A trip to the range and an inspection of the mines about Virginia formed a part of their itinerary. From there they went to Eveleth and inspected the underground mines there.

The visitors were much impressed with the up-to-date methods of working the mines as well as with the Zenith City and its wonderful possibilities.

RUNAWAY CARS AND TRAIN IN SMASH-UP

Lexington, Ky., March 16.—Ten persons were injured today when a southbound passenger train from Cincinnati to Jacksonville, Fla., ran into sixteen runaway freight cars at Snider, Ky., sixty miles from here, at 1 o'clock this morning. Among the injured are six passengers, but they are not seriously hurt. Engineer John Clark, Conductor Clelland Bryant, and two other trainmen were seriously hurt.

Escaped From Military Prison.

Leavenworth, Kan., March 16.—Using a strip of carpet for rope, Lloyd Bitsburger and Bert Adams slid down from windows in the chapel at the United States military prison here early today and escaped.

WEST DULUTH WOMAN IS AMONG INJURED

Omaha Railroad Starts Probe of Wreck at Mendota, Minn.

St. Paul, Minn., March 16.—The state railroad and warehouse commission and officials of the railroad have started a separate investigation in an effort to fix the responsibility of Saturday night's wreck on Omaha passenger train No. 4 at Mendota, Minn., in which one woman was killed and fifty-six other passengers injured. A coroner's inquest will be held Wednesday. Among the injured is Mrs. Minnie Pelland of West Duluth, who received a cut on the head.

General Superintendent Frank R. Pechin of the Omaha road personally inspected the track and equipment where the wreck occured and issued a statement that a key working loose in a bolt holding the switch rod had caused the bolt to drop out, and the releasing of the rod had opened the switch. The investigation by the railroad officials would be continued, he said.

Twenty-four injured were in Twin City hospitals last night and although several are in a serious condition, hospital attendants reported that all but one would recover. William Nements of St. Paul, whose skull was fractured, was not expected to survive the night.

The majority of those injured were able to go to their homes in the Twin Cities last night after receiving surgical attention and tonight were reported to be recovering rapidly. Of those in hospitals twenty-two are confined in St. Paul institutions.

COMMITTEE FAVORS QUESTION ON HAGUE

Washington, March 16.—The Bartholdt resolution requesting Secretary Bryan to advise the house what steps have been taken by the United States to convene The Hague conference in 1915, "and to make certain the meeting of the conference at that time," was favorably reported today by the foreign affairs committee.

POSES FOR TOURIST SILVER.

From the "Humors of Mountaineers" in the Wide World Magazine: Nearly every adventurer upon the Alps nowadays carries a camera. It is a sign of the times. People have become obsessed with the importance of realities, and the camera is the only possible agent to enable you to show realities to your friends. It is not of much use to tell them about some strange sight, or of some curious conformation of Nature you may have met with in your climb. You must show it to them.

A feature of the Alps today is the number of worthies who earn their bread by means of the camera. There is an old man at Grindelwald, for instance, who makes quite a comfortable competency by standing in front of his chalet when visitors laden with cameras are coming up the side of the mountain, and blowing upon a tremendous horn.

"How very quaint!" exclaims the unsuspecting tourist. "The dear old shepherd is calling home the cows." The dear old shepherd, however, is a man of sound business principles. He doesn't drag his antiquated instrument about his house for the fun of the thing; neither does he perform upon it for the benefit of his flocks and herds, for he owns none. But he will tell you frankly, when you ask him to stand "quite still," that he will very willingly pose in whatever manner you like, but you must first pay him a couple of francs for his trouble. That old man is probably the best known character in the Grisons, and the hero of many local tales.

Sale of School and Other State Lands

State of Minnesota, State Auditor's Office.

St. Paul, March 2, 1914.

Notice is hereby given that on April 15, 1914, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the office of the County Auditor at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the state of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

Terms: Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from date of sale to June 1st, 1915, must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance is four per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year; provided, the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid within ten years from date of sale, the rate of interest will be computed at five per cent per annum.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at the time of sale. Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

Not more than 320 acres can be sold or contracted to be sold to any one purchaser.

Agents acting for purchasers must furnish affidavit of authority. Appraisers' reports, showing quality and kind of soil, are on file in this office.

Lists of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the State Commissioner of Immigration at St. Paul, and of the County Auditor at above address.

SAMUEL G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of four hundred and ninety-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due, and is due, at the date of this notice, and the further sum of four hundred and forty-three and 75-100 dollars declared to be due upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Elmon D. Harding and Minnie Harding, his wife, and Henry W. Schultz and Bertha Schultz, his wife, Mortgagors, bearing date the 1st day of January, 1912, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of June, 1912, at 11:15-60 o'clock A. M., in Book 266 of Mortgages, on page 504; and whereas said mortgage contains a clause whereby it is provided that if default be made by the said mortgagors in any of the provisions in said mortgage, it shall be lawful for said mortgagee to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due, and the sum of $440.00 and interest has been due and not paid for some time, and there is another note for $440.00 and interest maturing on Jan. 2nd, 1915, and the said mortgagee has elected and hereby does elect to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage due, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz.:

The southwest quarter of the northwest quarter, the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter, and lots two and seven, in Section seventeen (17), in Township sixty-four (64) of Range twelve (12), in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 27th day of April, 1914, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the said debt of nine hundred and forty and 75-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

LOUIS J. HERMANSON,
Mortgagee.

J. O. HAUGLAND,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Montevideo, Minn.

PARDON FOR MOONEY AND SEVENTEEN MORE "DYNAMITERS" ASKED

Petition Declaring They Had No Fair Trial Is Filed.

Supplemental Letter Is Sent to President Wilson.

Judge Anderson's Conduct During Case Is Sharply Criticized.

Washington, March 17.—Application for pardon for eighteen of the labor leaders convicted in the "dynamite conspiracy cases" at Indianapolis was filed today with the department of justice.

The petition alleges that the men are innocent and that Judge Albert B. Anderson, who presided over the Federal court at Indianapolis when they were convicted, did not give them a fair and impartial trial.

In filing the application, E. N. Zoline of Chicago, attorney for the petitioners, announced that at least twenty members of the house and several senators would appear before the department or the president in behalf of the convicted men.

Those Asking Pardons.

Those applying for the pardons are Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge & Structural Iron Workers; Michael J. Young, Edward Smythe, Paul J. Morrin, Frank J. Higgins, T. E. Munsey, Fred Mooney of Duluth, Minn., John H. Barry, Peter J. Smith, George Anderson, William E. Reddin, Frank E. Painter, Henry W. Legleitner, Ernest W. Basey, Eugene A. Clancy, Michael J. Hannan, William Shupe and Michael J. Cummins.

The supreme court on March 9 refused to review the conviction of these and six other members of the Iron Workers' union.

Criticize the Judge.

Most of the papers filed were in support of charges against Judge Anderson's conduct of the case. The application alleged that Judge Anderson allowed only such objections to his rulings as suited his fancy; that he repeatedly seized opportunities to make long speeches to the jury commenting upon the facts in a way calculated to show that defendants were guilty, and that he ridiculed and intimidated counsel and witnesses for the defense.

In a supplemental letter to President Wilson, Attorney Zoline stated that a special train to convey the defendants to the Leavenworth penitentiary was ordered forty days before the verdict by the jury, and that the men were on their way to the penitentiary one hour after sentences were pronounced upon them.

Blames Judge for Guard.

He added that, without good reason, Judge Anderson, during the trial, walked from his residence to his courtroom, accompanied by police, many times in view of the jury. This, he urged, the jury gained the impression that a state of lawlessness existed in Indianapolis, which Judge Anderson knew was not the case.

It was also alleged that Judge Anderson, during the trial, frequently consulted with the attorney of the Erectors' association, and heard suggestions from him privately, in the absence of the defendants and their counsel.

ACCUSED OF DEPRIVING MEN OF FAIR TRIAL

JUDGE ALBERT B. ANDERSON, Who Presided in the "Dynamiters" Cases at Indianapolis.

KIDNAP WOMAN AT POINT OF REVOLVER

Six Armed Men Invade Chicago Hotel—Beat Proprietor.

Chicago, March 17.—Six armed men early today went to a North side hotel, knocked down the proprietor, and at the point of revolvers forced Miss Margaret Miller, 24 years old, to dress and accompany them.

D. Evanoff, proprietor of the hotel, told the police the men entered the hotel and demanded to see the girl. When Evanoff refused to allow them to go to her room, he said, the men knocked him down. At the point of their revolvers they awoke the young woman and forced her to dress. Then they pushed and dragged her through a rear exit into a waiting automobile, according to Evanoff's story.

Tony Francis, a guest at the hotel, was awakened, and when he attempted to interfere was knocked down and locked into a room, from which he later escaped, he told the police. The hotel proprietor told the police that one of the kidnapers had been visiting the girl frequently.

EIGHTY-THREE NAMES ON ST. PAUL BALLOTS

First Primary Under Commission Charter Is Held.

St. Paul, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—With seven candidates for mayor and seventy-six for councilmen, St. Paul is holding its first primary election under the commission charter today. A heated campaign has been in progress for several weeks, and interest in the mayoralty contest has been more apparent than in any previous city election here. Mayor Keller is not a candidate for re-election.

Weather conditions favored a record vote.

WALTER WILLARD KILLED IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, March 17.—Walter S. Willard, general auditor of the Goodrich Transit company, was struck and instantly killed today by an Aurora, Elgin & Chicago interurban train in Oak Park.

Mr. Willard, who was 55 years old, was on his way from his home in Oak Park to his downtown office.

NEW HAVEN'S CRISIS PAST

President Wilson Foresees No Receivership for That System.

McReynolds Is Confident of Success of Negotiations.

Washington, March 17.—President Wilson let it be known today he does not foresee any receivership for the New Haven railroad; that he regards the negotiations between the department of justice and the New England railroads as proceeded satisfactorily; and that the most critical stages in the parleys had been passed.

The president looks upon the negotiations as being "equably" arranged and is hopeful of an early settlement. There were no indications at the White House that the president would interfere with the demands of the department of justice, though the president is understood to have been acquainted by the attorney general with the disputed points.

McReynolds Confident.

"There is no reason to believe that the original plan of the department of justice will not be worked out," said Attorney General McReynolds today, just before the cabinet meeting. He said the situation was proceeding satisfactorily; that he anticipated no difficulty in a settlement, but that he did not contemplate any extended discussion of the subject with the cabinet.

The turning in the affairs of the New Haven system, so far as it may be affected by the department of justice, probably will be reached during the present week.

The New Haven virtually has agreed to every demand for the disposition of its subsidiary properties made by the department, and the success or failure of the whole plan now depends largely upon the report of T. W. Gregory and Jesse Adkins, assistants to Attorney General McReynolds. It has become

STEAMER ON ROCKS OFF NOVA SCOTIA

Halifax, N. S., March 17.—The steamer City of Sydney, New York for St. Johns, Nfld., is on the rocks at Sambro, a few miles from here. She struck during a dense fog early today and water in her stokehold put out the fires. She carries a number of passengers.

Several vessels were dispatched to her assistance from here, and boats have gone out from Sambro. The weather continued extremely thick during the forenoon, and boats had difficulty in locating the steamer.

Early reports said that the Sydney had grounded on Stag Rock at the southwest entrance to Halifax harbor, and was in a dangerous position.

The City of Sydney is a steamer of 1,600 tons and plies between New York, Halifax and St. Johns, Nfld. She carries a crew of about forty, under Capt. McDonald.

The tug Rosemary reached the stranded steamer during the morning and immediately took off eleven passengers and part of the crew. The Rosemary reported by wireless that the Sydney was in a bad position and likely to be a total loss.

Had Large Cargo.

New York, March 17.—Sambro Island is off the southeast coast of Nova Scotia, about twenty miles south of Halifax. The City of Sydney is of the Red Cross line and sails under a British flag. She registers 1,640 tons. She left New York for Halifax and St. John's last Friday, under Capt. McDonald.

According to Bowring & Co., New York agents of the line, there were about twenty-five passengers on board. The steamer carried a large cargo when she left New York.

HABEAS CORPUS GRANTED.

El Paso, Tex., March 17.—Judge Edward Meek, in the Federal district court here, today granted a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of the 5,000 Mexicans held as prisoners by the United States government at Fort Bliss, El Paso.

Mexico City, March 17.—It was reported today that Querido Moheno, minister of commerce and labor, was about to resign from the cabinet.

The Mexican foreign office announced today that there was a likelihood that Judge George Gray of Wilmington, Del., and Richard Olney, of Boston, formerly secretary of state, would visit Mexico to investigate conditions here.

Jose Lopez Portillo y Rojas, the foreign minister, said that since the two men named would be acting only in an unofficial manner, the Mexican government would be glad to receive them.

A party of sixteen officers and men from the Japanese cruiser Idzumo, now at Manzanillo, arrived today on a sight-seeing trip to the Federal capital. They expect to return to the Idzumo after a few days' stay.

American's Body Found.

Juarez, March 17.—Oscar Allen, an American, was found dead recently at Fearson, Chihuahua, with his head split by an ax. This was reported yesterday to Consul Thomas Edwards, who at once began an investigation.

Deported Penniless.

Nogales, Ariz., March 17.—Adrian Marcoro, former prefect of the Alamos district, below Guaymas, arrived here last night with his wife, having been deported by Constitutionalist authorities. He is a Maderista, was imprisoned, and paid $10,000 to secure his freedom.

He left two daughters and an aged parent behind because he did not have money to bring them.

Raphael Rosas and Raymond Sandoval were deported at the same time from Hatuabampo. Everything they had was taken, they said.

Martial Law Exists.

San Diego, Cal., March 17.—Although no proclamation has been issued, martial law exists in effect along the border for miles each side of Tecate, Cal., following the destruction by fire of the general store containing the United

M'EWEN FOR POSTMASTER AT DULUTH

Nomination Sent to the Senate By President Wilson.

Will Take Office as Soon as A. P. Cook Retires.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 17.—William E. McEwen of Duluth, Minn., was today nominated by President Wilson for the office of postmaster at Duluth. The term of office of A. P. Cook does not expire until July 1, at which time Mr. McEwen will take office unless Mr. Cook retires earlier. The salary is on a percentage basis, and at present amounts to about $4,300 a year.

The appointment is not exactly a surprise, for Mr. McEwen's name has been expected to go to the senate at almost any time for several weeks. Mr. McEwen is editor of the Labor World, one of the leading weekly papers devoted to the [illegible] of union labor in the West. He was a candidate for mayor of Duluth last spring and made a great run, being only a few votes behind the winner. He is a life-long Democrat and has ever since youth been a hard worker for his party. He was state labor commissioner during Governor Johnson's administration and also served as alderman of Duluth. For many years he was secretary of the state Federation of Labor.

ALASKA "BIGGEST PROBLEM TODAY."

Chicago, March 17.—The development of Alaska's resources is the greatest engineering problem now confronting America, said Edwin F. Wendt, president of the American Railway Engineering association, in his annual address to that organization here today.

"Alaska has an area equal to one-fifth of the United States," said Mr. Wendt. "The mineral resources of the territory are almost incredible. Construction of the government railroad there will mark an epoch in the history of this continent."

FIRE OUSTS STUDENTS AT WELLESLEY

Loss Is $1,500,000 and Work Halts—Students Sent Home.

Wellesley, Mass., March 17.—Two hundred and fifty Wellesley students and 100 other persons, including members of the faculty and servants, fled for their lives early today when fire destroyed College hall, the largest and most pretentious of the buildings in the college group. No one was injured. The loss is estimated at $1,500,000.

The college sessions temporarily have been suspended and special trains were made up to take the girls to their homes. Practically all of those who had rooms in the building lost their personal possessions and clothing.

The superb behavior of the young women probably prevented heavy loss of life or injury to many who groped through smoke-filled halls and down the stairways and fire escapes to safety.

The building was divided into dormitories, administrative offices and quarters for servants. Three hundred and fifty persons slept there last night —250 students, members of the faculty and 50 maids employed by the faculty and students.

Two Seniors Were Heroines.

Miss Charlotte Donnell of Wiscasset, Me., and Miss Virginia Moffat of Orange, N. J., both seniors, were the heroines of the fire. They occupied rooms on the third floor, under the

HARLAN NOW HEAD OF COMMISSION

Is Selected By That Body to Succeed Chairman Clark.

Washington, March 17.—The interstate commerce commission today elected Commissioner James S. Harlan as chairman in succession to Commissioner Edward E. Clark. Commissioner Harlan assumed the duties of chairman today.

Commissioner Harlan's election was in pursuance of a policy adopted in 1911, that the term of office of chairman should be for one year, and that it should be filled by each commissioner in the order of seniority.

Mr. Harlan was appointed from Illinois in 1906, was reappointed in 1911, and his present term will expire Dec. 31, 1918. During his incumbency he has handled some of the most important cases brought to the commission.

Just now he is in direct charge of the eastern advance rate case; the inquiry into the question of the making a charge for spotting cars; the proposed elimination of allowances to industrial railways by the trunk lines and the proposed charges by the railroads for special services rendered to shippers.

MURDER OF EDITOR BY WOMAN FORCES BIG CHANGES AT PARIS

FORCED FROM OFFICE BY HIS WIFE'S [illegible]E

JOSEPH CAILLAUX, French Minister of Finance and Leading Constructive Member of the Doumergue Cabinet.

Caillaux Resigns and the French Cabinet Has to Be Readjusted.

Letters Caillaux Wrote Before Marrying Divorcee Are Sought.

Are Believed to Be Link in Motive for Killing Calmette.

Paris, March 17.—The French cabinet today decided to retain office, despite the resignation of Joseph Caillaux, minister of finance.

M. Caillaux's resignation was made necessary by his wife's assassination of Gaston Calmette, editor of Figaro. Although Caillaux was considered the strongest and most influential member of the cabinet, his colleagues determined to accept his resignation and to reorganize the various portfolios.

Rene Renoult, hitherto minister of the interior, will become minister of finance. Louis J. Malvy, minister of commerce, will succeed M. Renoult as minister of the interior. Raoul Peret, deputy from Vienne and undersecretary of the interior, will become minister of commerce.

Tells of Private Letters.

Mme. Caillaux, who caused this upheaval in French political life, meanwhile is in St. Lazare prison. Her husband today took an affecting leave of the officials of the ministry of finance.

Acting on information given by Mme. Caillaux, the police today took possession of various papers in the office of the editor of Figaro. It is understood that among these papers were various private letters written by M. Caillaux to his present wife before they were married, and while she still was the wife of Leo Clarettie.

It is generally supposed that Mme. Caillaux had received an intimation that Calmette was about to publish these letters, and it was this which

PERKINS GETS SCENT OF WAR

Says Bull Moose and G. O. P. Will Fight to Finish.

Declares Old Leaders' Chance Same as "Snowball in Hades."

New York, March 17.—The position of the New York state Progressives in opposition to any coalition with the Republicans is expressed in a letter signed by George W. Perkins, made public today by the Progressive state committee. Mr. Perkins addressed the letter to Prof. Frederick M. Davenport of Hamilton college.

Accompanying the letter is another signed by O. B. Phillips, acting state chairman during the absence of Theodore Douglas Robinson. Mr. Phillips says:

"This puts at rest all uncertainty as to our stand as to giving up the fight as a Progressive party."

Compared to Snowball.

Speaking of what he terms "the efforts of the Republicans to work up some sort of a scheme by which there would be harmony between the Republicans and the Progressives this fall," Mr. Perkins said:

"Every day it seems to me to make it more and more plain that we are in for a knockdown-and-drag-out fight all along the line. Republican leaders fail entirely to recognize the tremendous changes that have come about in the thought of the people as a result of the mighty evolution that has been under way in recent years, and there is no more chance of their old leaders or old principles ever again being acceptable to our people than there is for a snowball to survive in Hades."

BIG MALTING PLANT AT KENOSHA BURNS

Loss to Pettit Company Is Placed at Over $150,000.

Kenosha, Wis., March 17.—Fire today destroyed the large plant of the M. H. Pettit Malting company, with an estimated loss of upward of $150,000, fully covered by insurance.

Forty families living in the neighborhood were driven from their homes by the flames.

The fire broke out in the elevators of the plant and spread with great rapidity. Twenty explosions occurred within the first hour but no one was injured. The firemen abandoned hope of saving the elevators and devoted their efforts to saving adjoining property. The fire presumably was caused by spontaneous combustion.

SIX WEEKS AT HARD LABOR FOR WOMAN

Suffragette Says That She Meant to Whip Some Official.

London, March 17.—A sentence of six weeks hard labor was pronounced today in police court on Catherine Wilson, a militant suffragette, who was arrested last night in the lobby of the house of commons while dressed in men's clothing and hiding a dog whip in her sleeve. She was charged as a suspected person. She said to the magistrate:

"Of course I shall not serve the sentence. I went to the house of commons to give Premier Asquith or Home Secretary McKenna a good thrashing."

GERMAN AERONAUTS IN RUSSIAN PRISON

Berliner and Two Companions Are Detained as Spies.

Berlin, March 17.—Hans Berliner, the German aeronaut, has been imprisoned at Kirgischansk, Russia, since Feb. 10, on suspicion of espionage.

Berliner and two companions landed at Kirgischansk in the Ural mountains after a voyage of forty-seven hours from Bitterfeld, Germany, setting a new distance record of 1,862 miles for spherical balloons. He and his comrades were immediately arrested, and in spite of official intercession have been detained there ever since by the Russian police.

Berliner is anxious to enter the race for the Gordon Bennett international aeronautical trophy, to be held in the United States in October. He fears, however, that he may not be released in time to make his entry for the elimination contests for the selection of German representatives.

CHICAGO WOMEN ARE LISTED AS VOTERS

Over 100,000 Expected to Register on the Final Day.

Chicago, March 17.—Chicago women had their final opportunity today to register for the April aldermanic election at which they will cast their first vote under the woman's suffrage act, passed by the last Illinois legislature.

Woman suffrage leaders, campaign managers and election officials estimated that the names of from 75,000 to 150,000 women will have been added to the voting lists when the polling places close at 9 o'clock this evening. More than 158,000 women qualified as voters at a registration last month.

The men's registration is expected to be light, as there has been no general moving day since the February registration.

There are now 433,624 men on the registry books. William H. Stuart, clerk of the election board, estimated that 750,000 men and women will be eligible to vote at the April election after today's registration. New York's registry list contains about 692,000 names.

Women's clubs, suffrage organizations, political parties and independent candidates for aldermen made organized efforts to get the women to register today. Many women were carried to the polling places in automobiles while trained nurses took care of their children. More than 700 women acted as election officials.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

THE Massachusetts Civic league has taken up the problem of improving housing conditions. Elmer S. Forbes, chairman of the commission, says: "Tenement houses and congestion go together, and they both contribute to tuberculosis. As many as 150,000 persons will die of tuberculosis in this country next year; and, reckoning each person as worth $5,000, that is a loss to the country of $750,000,000—much more than we pay for military men and equipment. This tenement house loss is an unnecessary waste."

Duluth has a housing ordinance which will prevent tenements and congested living conditions. Under the supervision of the health department the city is also waging war on tuberculosis with gratifying results.

WAITRESS SELLS LIQUOR "ON SIDE"

Minnie Erickson of City Restaurant Draws Stiff Sentence.

While working as a waitress in the City restaurant, 508 West Superior street, Minnie Erickson, 37 years old, was running a little side issue in the booze line, according to the story which she told in police court yesterday afternoon when arraigned on a charge of selling liquor without a license.

The court asked her if she was acting as an agent of the restaurant proprietor or was selling the stuff for her own benefit. She denied that the proprietor had any knowledge of her activity in the "blind pig" line.

The woman said that she made the sale because one of the men claimed to be sick and wanted whisky for medicinal purposes. Asked if the other man, to whom she sold beer, was also indisposed she was at a loss for an answer. The sales were made to Hans Thompson and Henry Gustafson, one buying a pint of beer and the other a small flask of whisky.

She entered a plea of guilty and was given the alternative of paying a fine of $100 or spending sixty days in jail.

PROPERTY OWNERS TO CONFER WITH COUNCIL.

The property owners on Twenty-seventh avenue west will meet with the city council this afternoon to discuss the matter of assessments for the work. The city has refused to accept the job on the ground that it is not up to specifications and the property owners are uncertain whether or not to pay their assessments. The city officials will assure them that they are protected as either the contractor or the city will put the pavement in proper shape.

A FEELING OF SECURITY

You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit producing drugs.

Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

It is not recommended for everything.

According to verified testimony it is nature's great helper in relieving and overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the best.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you will find it on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, fifty-cents and one-dollar.

PELINSKI WILL REMAIN IN PEN

Aged Convict Will Not Be Forced to Leave Marquette Prison.

Marquette, Mich., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Pelinski will not be forced out of Marquette prison after all. For a time at least he will be permitted to remain. Pelinski is the septuagenarian who, when informed last week that his sentence for murder in the second degree would expire within a few days, begged the officials to let him stay, and who became exceedingly downcast when notified to get ready to depart. The prison management has no authority to retain the man as a convict. At the same time it is reluctant to turn him out. It is feared that contact with a world from which the law took him nearly twenty years ago would so bewilder the aged man that he might do harm to himself or to others. Besides, he is too old to look after himself. The man will, therefore, be retained as an employe, without pay. Pelinski has worked in the prison kitchen for years. He will continue in that occupation and in it he will amply pay for his keep. The decision not to turn Pelinski loose was reached when there came from Bay City, the former home of the man and where he was convicted, word that the relatives declined to look after him.

WILL GIVE PRIZES FOR GARDEN ESSAYS.

The American Society for Thrift, with headquarters in the Straus building at Chicago, has announced another contest to promote thrift among the young. Prizes are offered for the best fifteen narratives of persons who have made a success of gardening, each to contain about 100 words.

The first prize is $20; the next four $5 each, and the next ten, $1 each. The contest is open for all pupils from the fifth to the eighth grades, inclusive. A bulletin giving the details has been sent to the superintendent of schools of Duluth as well as those of the other cities of the country. The purpose of the competition is to show that gardening under public school supervision will do much to teach thrift to pupils and through them to their parents.

Legula Back in Peru.

Lima, Peru, March 17.—Robert E. Legula, first vice president of the republic has returned to Lima from a trip to Europe. The police at Callao, where he landed, prohibited any demonstrations. Arriving in the capital, the vice president proceeded to his apartment in the palace. Later, at a concert in the palace, Senor Legula delivered a speech in which he declared that, in assuming the presidency of the republic made vacant recently through the exile of President Billinghurst, he would make no divisions in the political parties.

ASSAULT OFFICER; TWO ARE FINED

Patrolman Monahan Badly Beaten When Breaking Up a Fight.

Joseph Weirsley, 26 years old, and William Stewart, 33 years old, were each jolted to the tune of $50 and costs or sixty days when they pleaded guilty in police court this morning to having assaulted Patrolman W. C. Monahan last night.

Stewart and an unknown man were fighting in First alley near Lake avenue and the commotion attracted the policeman's attention. He separated the combatants. One escaped and Stewart was placed under arrest. Weirsley came to Stewart's assistance and the two attacked the officer, bruising his face and body.

In the meantime some one sent a telephone call to headquarters and Stewart and Weirsley were locked up by Monahan with the assistance of Sergeant Roberts and Detective Irvine. Both pleaded guilty when brought into police court this morning.

CONFERENCE ON SNIVELY ROAD ROUTE.

James Gardiner, representing T. J. Davis, met with Mayor Prince and City Attorney Harvey Clapp yesterday afternoon to learn if some changes could not be made in the route of the Snively road in order that the property on either side might be made more accessible. In return the appeal which has been taken from the award would be dropped.

The mayor said that the city would be willing to make any reasonable change, but he doubted if the result desired could be accomplished by altering the route.

WIRES PROSTRATED BY EUROPEAN STORM

Estimate of Dead in Russian Disaster Now Is 1,200.

Paris, March 17.—Telegraphic and telephonic communication between Paris and many European continental cities was almost wholly interrupted today by the storm which has raged since yesterday. The bulletin boards in the telegraph offices announce that the wires between Paris and Berlin, Amsterdam and Brussels are down and that there is much delay between Paris and London. Much of the stock exchange business between Paris and London was conducted by way of New York.

Flood in Belgium.

Brussels, March 17.—The violent storm broke down the embankment along the River Scheldt, near Termonde, today and the greater part of the city was flooded. The inhabitants of Termonde fled panic stricken into the country, seeking shelter in the farm houses.

United Kingdom Storm Swept.

London, March 17.—A cyclonic gale swept over the United Kingdom yesterday from west to east. The wind reached a velocity of seventy miles an hour and the gale lasted twelve hours. Many vessels were driven ashore.

A tug foundered in the Thames with the loss of five lives. The big Dutch steamer Noodwijk is disabled off the Isle of Wight.

Estimate 1,200 Dead.

St. Petersburg, March 17.—The latest estimates of loss of life in the storm over the Sea of Azov places the casualty list at 1,200. Dispatches say that the storm raging between Ekaterinburg and Viatka and is slowly moving north.

Whole Family Is Crushed.

Tokio, March 17.—Eighty-three persons, according to the official estimate, were killed by the earthquake in the prefecture of Akita, Island of Hondo. Five hundred persons were injured and many are missing.

Eye-witnesses declare entire families were crushed to death. Great gaps appeared in the earth and every house in the towns of Omagari, Yokote and Iizume was wrecked or damaged.

Private Bank Closed.

Seattle, Wash., March 17.—The Christopher, Knickerbocker and Howard private bank of Auburn did not open for business yesterday and a receiver was appointed by Judge Neterer in the United States district court here, on petition of depositors. The bank had $204,000 of deposits, and its other liabilities amount to $21,000. The officers turned over to the receiver about $180,000 in unencumbered real estate, and it is estimated that perhaps $100,000 can be realized on the bank's securities.

CENSURE FOR LOBBY MEN

Action Is Recommended By Sub-Committee of the House.

McDermott, Mulhall, Emery, and Others Are Named.

Washington, March 17.—Censure for Representative McDermott of Chicago, who figured in the house lobby investigation, was recommended today by a subcommittee of the judiciary committee. Resolutions of censure for the National Association of Manufacturers, Martin M. Mulhall, the star witness of the lobby investigation, James A. Emery, J. P. Bird and John Kirby of the Manufacturers' association, also were recommended. The entire committee took the recommendations under consideration.

The subcommittee report will be voted upon Friday. It holds that the house has ample power to expel a member, despite the fact that the actions complained of occurred at a prior congress than that in which the case was taken up, as in the McDermott case. The subcommittee, however, standing on the Garrett findings, does not recommend expulsion.

Under the ordinance the old ward lines are abolished and the number of voting districts reduced from 44 to 43.

Goes After Prisoner.

Edward Shuney, deputy sheriff, left last evening for Pontiac, Mich., to take charge of Allen Hansen, who has been arrested there on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree preferred against him here. Hansen is accused of larceny from the Sixth Avenue hotel several weeks ago while employed there as a clerk. At Pontiac, Mich., he was engaged in the real estate business when taken into custody.

Missed His Train.

Frank Melash, a woodsman, was so busy accumulating a package of wet goods yesterday afternoon that he missed the train which was to carry him to a job in the woods. The employment agent offered to return the dollar which he had spent for his ticket or send him to another job this morning. But Melash refused to be satisfied and persisted in being disagreeable. The employment agent called a policeman, who arrested him on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. In police court this morning he pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

LAKES-TO-ATLANTIC CANAL IS BOOSTED

Senator Townsend Speaks in Senate, Advocating the Scheme.

Washington, March 17.—Senator Townsend of Michigan today addressed the senate, advocating a deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic through the Welland canal and the St. Lawrence river.

RAILROADS ARE READY TO HELP

Show Desire to Co-Operate in Abating Smoke Nuisance.

The railroads operating in the city are showing an encouraging disposition to co-operate with the local authorities to reduce the smoke nuisance to a minimum.

Several railroad inspectors have called upon Smoke Inspector J. W. Schneider and have assured him that they will endeavor to have their locomotives so fired as to emit the least possible amount of dense smoke.

This morning Mayor Prince and Inspector Schneider had a meeting with W. A. McGonagle, president of the D., M. & N. and officials of the road who have charge of the smoke question. The smoking of locomotives on the docks was the principal matter discussed. The city officials were informed that the D., M. & N. will do everything possible to comply with the city regulations.

At the council meeting yesterday afternoon a new smoke ordinance, prohibiting the emission of black smoke for more than six minutes in any hour was passed. The intention of the city is to conduct an educational campaign and use the ordinance only as a club when other means fail to produce results.

SUSPECT RELEASED.

Michael Murphy Arrested While Trying to Sell Bracelets.

Michael Patrick Murphy, arrested yesterday morning while attempting to sell two bracelets in second-hand stores on West Superior street, was released last evening. The police suspected that he might be implicated in the burglary of the D. A. Miller jewelry store. The bracelets in Murphy's possession were not part of the loot taken from the jewelry store. Complete descriptions of the stolen goods have been sent to all parts of the country but no clew has been obtained which might lead to the arrest of the thieves.

McMAHAN WILL SEEK RE-ELECTION.

Grant McMahan of Ely, county commissioner from the Fourth district, formally announced his candidacy for re-election today when he filed with County Auditor Halden a notice of his intention of becoming a candidate at the June primaries.

Commissioner McMahan has served continuously on the county board since Jan. 1, 1907. He is now finishing his second term and is seeking re-election for another four years. No opposition has developed, as yet.

STATE PUBLICITY BEING DISCUSSED.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota Federation of Commercial clubs opened its annual meeting here last night.

No session was held this morning, but the federation has an important meeting this afternoon. This evening the visitors will be guests at a dinner given by the local Commercial club.

State publicity, immigration and equitable transportation rates are the principal topics.

"Correct Dress for Women and Girls"

IN reviewing the new season's styles, one realizes at a glance that Tailleur Suits are no longer the restricted garments they formerly were.

There are suits of many types for both women and misses—Two and Three-piece Silk Suits, Handsome Calling Suits, Street and Outing Suits—of rich dark suitings, Roman stripes, Callot checks, white silk or wool materials and fancy cotton weaves. Of these, many of the smartest are in combinations of cloth with silk, or Roman stripes and plaids with plain materials.

New ideas, reproduced from models by Paquin, Premet, Beer, Doucet, Martial et Armand and other noted couturiers, portraying a host of new creations, such as extended tunics, double skirt effects, abbreviated jackets, clever fan-tail pleatings, the new Cheruit tie-effect, little cape-coat models and innumerable new cuts and drapings.

Prices range from $25 to $150—with an unusually extensive selection at $35, $45 to $75.

Printing Estimates

are based on the cost of the material, labor expended plus a reasonable profit. Few take into consideration the fact that quality costs the printer just as much as does labor and material and is consequently valuable. The printer that can give the highest quality, good material and a price that is more than fair should get your work. We guarantee these. Think it over.

MAY SETTLE ELGIN CASE OUT OF COURT

Hearing of Trust Case Is Postponed Until March 30.

Chicago, March 17.—Hearing of the action against the Elgin, Ill., board of trade, charging the organization with violation of the Federal anti-trust laws was continued today in the United States district court by Judge Landis until March 30.

District Attorney Wilkerson, who recently returned from Washington, has had several conferences with counsel for the board of trade of the Kane county cities, and in his opinion, prospects are bright for an amicable settlement of the case out of court.

GRAND TRUNK IS GUILTY; IS FINED.

Danville, Ill., March 17.—The Grand Trunk railway pleaded guilty in the United States district court yesterday to charges of accepting and receiving concessions in freight rates, and conspiracy to violate the interstate commerce law, and was fined $1,000 each on five counts by Judge F. M. Wright. The Grand Trunk was jointly indicted with the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis and Chicago, Indiana & Southern railroads, and the O'Gara Coal company, the charges growing out of shipments of coal by the latter company from Southern Illinois mines. The other cases still are pending.

FRAUDS MUST PAY COSTS OF TRIALS.

New York, March 17.—A supplementary sentence was imposed by Judge J. J. Martin in the Federal district court upon A. L. Wisner and John J. Meyers, who were found guilty last week of using the mails to defraud investors by the sale of worthless stock. The sentence was that the defendants should pay the costs of their two trials, amounting to over $100,000. The men originally were each sentenced to a term of six years' imprisonment, and in addition a fine of $10,000 was assessed against Meyers.

"TEMPERAMENT" CAUSE OF FAILURE.

Chicago, March 17.—Too much artistic temperament and too little business judgment caused the loss of $600,000 and the financial ruin of the art firm of Moulton & Ricketts, according to a statement by expert accountants who finished an audit of the books of the firm. The report was presented by Michael Geesa, counsel for the receiver, at a hearing before a referee in bankruptcy.

Record Sioux City Vote.

Sioux City, Iowa, March 17.—Sioux City polled a record-breaking primary vote in naming two candidates for mayor and eight for councilman under the commission plan. Mayor Smith was renominated in a three-cornered battle with Johathan W. Brown and James Morne. Brown led the list and will oppose the mayor at the city election March 30.

Charles O. Shonnessy, head of the police department, was the only member of the present administration seeking a renomination to fall by the wayside.

BOTH CLUBS APPROVE IT

New Duluth and Gary Organizations Appoint Festival Committees.

New Postal Station and Carriers for the Latter Suburb.

Duluth's two up-river commercial organizations have voiced their unanimous approval of the proposed 1915 pageant and festival and promised their support in the preparation for the affair.

The New Duluth Commercial club at its regular meeting heartily approved of the project and following a general discussion by the members, appointed a pageant committee to work with the other Duluth organizations. The committee consists of F., W. Damkroeger, Daniel J. Kulaszewicz and L. R. Taylor.

At the meeting of the Gary Improvement club last evening similar action was taken and following a vote of approval, the members gave the chairman authority to appoint a committee to represent the club in the preparation for the pageant and carnival. The following names were suggested to the chairman and it is probable that three of them will constitute the committee of the Gary club: L. S. Zalk, J. E. Gervanack, Albert Loffelmacker, A. Wanszek and Charles Strand.

With the approval of the two up-river organizations, those at the head of the 1915 pageant feel that they have secured a valuable asset. The clubs represent a large population in the western end of the city and are both influential in their communities.

Postal Station.

At the meeting of the Gary club it was announced that a sub-station will soon be established, where stamps and money orders will be sold. A mail carrier system will be placed in operation, the carriers working from the New Duluth office.

L. S. Zalk, chairman of the street and sidewalks committee of the club, announced that a guarantee had been secured for waterworks this coming summer and that active construction would begin as soon as the frost is out of the ground. It is expected that about $26,000 worth of work will be done this summer.

During the meeting ten new members were enrolled, making a total membership of 110 for the organization.

The club has many projects for street improvements under discussion.

ARE CARELESS WITH FIREARMS

Reckless Shooting Is Reported From the Suburb of Smithville.

Numerous complaints of reckless shooting in the vicinity of Smithville have been made to Safety Commissioner William A. Hicken. The residents claim that their lives and property are constantly endangered.

Commissioner Hicken will have a number of signs printed, warning against the practice and stating the penalty, a fine of $100 or not more than three months in the county jail. These will be posted in conspicuous places.

If the reckless shooting continues plain clothes officers will be sent to the neighborhood with strict orders to arrest any one doing any shooting in the city limits. In the past the police court has not dealt leniently with offenders of this class and if convictions are secured severe penalties will undoubtedly be imposed.

GETS DAMAGES FROM NEIGHBORS

Mrs. Beda Lindquist Is Awarded Verdict of $225.

Mrs. Beda Lindquist in district court yesterday afternoon recovered $225 from Ezra D. Nickerson and wife, Matie Nickerson, in a suit for damages tried before Judge Ensign and a jury. The jury reported a verdict at 4:35 p. m.

The plaintiff claimed that the Nickersons, as next door neighbors, had built and maintained a barn on the lot line so close to her house that she was obliged to move to another location. Mrs. Lindquist also claimed that the Nickersons diverted the course of a stream which traversed their lot and caused the water to flood the plaintiff's property, all to her damage.

Fire in Residence.

The residence of Mike Knott, 219 One Hundred-and-first avenue west, was damaged to the extent of $75 by fire yesterday. The structure is a two-story frame building and caught fire from an overheated stove. There was no insurance.

FOSTER WILL BE PRINCIPAL

Will Be Head of New Industrial High School.

Scott A. Foster, principal of the Irving school and the Industrial high school, announced to his pupils yesterday that he will be the principal of the new Robert E. Denfeld high school now under construction in this end of the city.

The announcement by Mr. Foster pleased the students, many of whom will attend the new school when it opens next fall.

Principal Foster took charge of the high school when it was opened and since then has been the active head of the institution. He has also been principal of the Irving grade school, which is in the same building.

No successor has as yet been named to head the Irving school.

FUNERAL OF MISS JANET CAMPBELL.

The funeral of Miss Janet Campbell, 20 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Campbell, 632 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, who died Saturday evening following a short illness at the Duluth hospital, was held at 9 o'clock this morning from the St. James' Catholic church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Kinnear place. The body was placed in the vault at the Oneota cemetery and will next month be taken to Eau Claire, Wis., for interment.

Miss Campbell was operated upon several weeks ago for appendicitis and after her recovery was permitted to leave the hospital. About two weeks after her illness she caught a cold and a relapse followed, which necessitated her removal to the hospital, where she died Saturday evening.

NEW MAYOR WILL TAKE OATH OF OFFICE.

Edward Erickson, who was elected mayor of Proctor at the annual election last Tuesday, will be sworn into office this evening. Mr. Erickson is a conductor on the D. M. & N. and has taken a prominent part in the political life of the railroad town. He was elected on the Citizens' ticket with a majority of forty-three votes over the Taxpayers' candidate.

SCHOOL ANNUAL WILL BE ISSUED APRIL 15.

The executive board of the Oracle, the annual publication of the Industrial high school, met yesterday afternoon and announced that the 1914 issue would be ready for sale on April 15. The edition this year will contain 128 pages.

NEW DULUTH TEAM WILL BE INDEPENDENT.

Frank Wacha, manager of the New Duluth baseball team, announced yesterday that his nine would not affiliate itself this year with the city league, but would play independently of any organization. The New Duluth team is to branch out and play other teams outside of Duluth and for this reason it is dropping out of the league, in which it participated last season.

ICE AGAIN IN GOOD CONDITION.

The cold weather of last evening has put the ice at the Western Curling club in good condition and Frank Wade, president of the club, announced this morning that curling will continue until the warm weather again breaks up the game.

In celebration of St. Patrick's day a special program of entertainment has been prepared for the skaters. This will be the last day the skating ice will be used and the event will be made a gala affair.

Besides the skating, it has been arranged to play the final in the Henricksen event this evening. Frank Wade will meet Charles Iltis for the honors and in addition three practice games will be played.

Fire in Residence.

Sparks from the chimney at 326 South Fifty-ninth avenue west this morning slightly damaged the roof of the structure. The West Duluth department answered the alarm and had little difficulty in extinguishing the flames. The loss will be about $25.

Surprised By Friends.

Miss Mabel Isaacson of 216 South Sixty-third avenue west, was pleasantly surprised at her home Saturday evening by about forty young people from this end of the city. After a program of games and dancing, light refreshments were served.

Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames: Greene, H. Johnson, N. Signer, Hongell, Lind, Thompson; Misses Maedi Takkunen, Larson, Lucy Johnson, Lillian Frank, Ida Point, Maud Greenet, Lillie Nivela, Inga Lind, Ida Sacrison, Jennie Hill, Ida Matteson, Winnie Greene, Jennie Niece, Minnie Greene, and Messrs Iver Niece, George Johnson, Easty, Pearl Green, Charles Ericcson, Larson, Edward Johnson, Fred Kositzke, Charles Sampson, Frank Johnson, Edward Takkunen, Henry Green, Earl Patterson, William Nivela, Arthur Isaacson and Peter Johnson.

Burns Will Preach.

Rev. M. T. Burns, newly appointed superintendent of the Duluth district of the Methodist Episcopal church, will preach next Sunday morning at the Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street. In the evening Rev. W. H. Farrell will give the third in the series of sermons on "Light From Holy Hills."

Illustrated Lecture.

On Friday evening Rev. W. H. Farrell of the Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, will deliver a lecture on "A Trip Through Yellowstone Park." Besides the lecture, Rev. Mr. Farrell will make use of 100 colored lantern slides and a reel of motion pictures, all showing scenes in the national park.

West Duluth Briefs.

State Auditor Samuel Iverson will be the guest of honor this evening at the initiatory exercises of West Duluth Lodge, No. 168, I. O. O. F., in the lodge hall at 602 Central avenue. A social session will follow the exercises.

George A. Dallaire of 312½ Fifty-second avenue west was yesterday called to the bedside of his brother, Louis Dallaire of Minneapolis. The latter is reported seriously ill.

A daughter was born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Towner, 414 North Fifty-ninth avenue west.

Oscar Renstrom of 129 Fifty-sixth avenue west left this morning for a short business visit in Chicago. He will be gone about a week.

The West Duluth W. C. T. U. will meet Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. George Little, 624 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, instead of at the West Duluth library, as at first announced. The change was made because the library will be in use Thursday afternoon.

BRAINERD THIEVES GIVEN SENTENCE.

Brainerd, Minn., March 17.—Charged with stealing a wagon from W. F. Holst, to which they pleaded guilty in district court, Ole Rodman and George Shanks were sentenced by Judge McClenahan indeterminately to the reformatory.

Bert Crocker was bound over to the grand jury on two charges, that of grand larceny in the first degree for taking a wagon from W. F. Holst, and of grand larceny in the second degree, taking $6 worth of cracked feed and corn from M. E. Hitch. No bail can be fixed by the municipal court on the first charge. On the second charge, where he waived examination, bail was fixed in the sum of $200.

JUNKETERS REPORT FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

Chicago, March 17.—The Illinois manufacturers' delegation which has been touring South America, reported from Santiago, Chile, to their Chicago friends today that the trip had been a success and that all members of the party were well. The message said that about twenty of the delegates would return along the West coast, reaching New Orleans April 20. Another party was to journey round the Horn and reach New Orleans about the same time, while the remainder were to land in New York April 10.

Blood Transfusion Successful.

Dunseith, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ten ounces of blood were taken from Lynn Gilbert of this place and transfused into Felix Patenaude, a sufferer from hemorrhage, the transfusion operation proving successful, according to participating physicians.

SOAP ON HAIR CAUSES DANDRUFF, SCALP GETS DRY, HAIR FALLS OUT.

Girls! Get a 25 Cent Bottle and Try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse."

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a "Danderine Hair Cleanse." Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

MR. P. NAUSCHUETZ

Peruna the Best Remedy I Ever Found for Coughs and Colds.

Mr. P. Nauschuetz, No. 221 Sharer St., San Antonio, Texas, writes: "About a year ago I was troubled with catarrh and could hardly find help until I took Peruna, which soon brought me relief.

"Peruna is the best remedy for colds I ever found. I recommend it to any one suffering with catarrh."

The first thing to accomplish in the treatment of a cold is to eliminate the accumulated poisons in the system. The excretory ducts and glands should be stimulated. This the laxative element of Peruna will accomplish.

The next thing is to raise the tone of the nerve centers, and assist the powers of Nature to resist the effects of the cold. The tonic element in Peruna is intended to meet this demand. It gives the necessary temporary strength to throw off the depression that the cold brings.

A tonic laxative is a quick and efficient weapon to meet a cold at all points.

INCOME TAX LAW ATTACKED IN SUIT

Automobile Makers Claim It Is Unjustly Discriminatory.

Washington, March 17.—Suits attacking the constitutionality of the income tax were filed in the district supreme court here yesterday by John F. and Horace E. Dodge of Detroit, Mich., automobile manufacturers. They contend that the law unduly discriminates against individuals and partnerships in favor of corporations, in permitting corporations to withhold from taxation such portions of income as may be necessary for the needs and purposes of their business, while the latter privelege is not allowed to individuals, their bills says.

While the Dodge brothers appear as the only plaintiffs in the suit, it was generally understood here that their case is a test suit in which all the immense automobile industry is concerned.

The Dodge bill does not contest the constitutionality of an income tax as such, but attacks the provisions of the present law, which, it is contended, discriminates in favor of corporations as against individuals and partnerships.

IDA M. TARBELL WRITES ON DRINK AND DIVORCE

In a recent magazine article, Ida M. Tarbell writes of the work of the court of domestic relations in Chicago—a court devoted to the work of settling cases that arise out of marital troubles. On the subject of drink as a cause of such troubles Miss Tarbell says:

"The havoc that drink plays in domestic troubles has never been exaggerated. It is by far the most fertile cause of separation. Last year Judge Gemmill put a system into operation by which he hoped to determine approximately the cause of family separation. The conclusion was that in 46 out of every 100 cases it is due to excessive drinking.

No organization or institution in the land has done more toward saving homes and reuniting those estranged through drink than has the numerous Neal Institutes in many of our principal cities. After three days at a Neal Institute the drinking husband, or son, returns home with a clear brain, the poison of alcohol eliminated from his system, craving or appetite for liquor gone, to spend his money on his family and those dependent upon him instead of squandering it over the bar for drink.

The Neal treatment for the drink habit requires but three days, is perfectly harmless and leaves no bad after effects. No hypodermic injections are given. Our new booklet, "The Modern Method of Treatment for Alcohol and Drug Addiction," tells the whole story. Write for it today. Mailed in a plain sealed wrapper.

Two more Duluth organizations, the Gary Improvement club and Duluth Battalion, Minnesota National Guard, have fallen into line for the midsummer festival for 1915.

With the indorsement of these two bodies, there are now eighteen of the strongest organizations in the city back of the project and it is expected that the other organizations which were forwarded letters asking co-operation, will fall in line at coming meetings. This opinion is based on the fact that no unfavorable comment has been heard from any of these bodies still to be heard from.

The action of the Duluth Battalion was hearty and unanimous according to a letter received from Capt. Roger M. Weaver, adjutant of the Third infantry, and a strong committee was appointed to co-operate with the general committee. This committee consists of Col. F. E. Resche, Capt. George W. Stiles and Capt. Weaver.

The indorsement of the Duluth Battalion is a big boost for the festival, as this large body of men will be of invaluable assistance in formulating plans and putting them into practical working form. It is probable also that they will be active participants in the festival program itself.

The Gary Improvement club is a new organization, but an active one. By 1915 the steel plant suburbs will probably be a very important part of the city and it is only reasonable that this part of the city should be conspicuously represented in the big midsummer festival.

The success of the project so far has been phenomenal. One organization after another has fallen in line after considering the proposition until but a few remain to take action.

"PLAY FAIR WITH CAPITAL," W. H. TAFT

Former President Says Reformers Should Not Go Too Far.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 17.—"The people of this country have put their stamp of disapproval on the over-capitalization of corporations and restraint of trade by the trusts," Former President William H. Taft told the Minneapolis association of office men at a banquet here last night. The ex-president emphasized the fact, however, that the zeal of reformers should not tend to the frightening of capitalists from investing their money in legitimate trade, and that the government should play fair with capital.

"Labor needs capital and capital needs labor," he said.

Addresses Law Students.

The former president's address before the law school of the University of Minnesota, late yesterday, dealt largely with the application of the common law and the restraint of the boycott in labor troubles. He denied the oft-repeated charge that the supreme court exceeded its bounds in deciding against the labor unions in boycott cases.

STERILIZATION LAW HEARING APRIL 14.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, March 17.—Judge Smith McPherson of the United States district court has announced that the date of the hearing of the injunction suit against the enforcement of the Iowa law for the sterlization of criminals has been changed from March 21 to April 14, and the place from this city to Keokuk.

BILL TO PENSION WIDOWS COMPLETE.

New York, March 17.—A widow's pension bill, aiming to contribute materially to the support of fatherless children in the state of New York, has been completed by a state commission of fifteen appointed by Former Governor Sulzer. The commission made an exhaustive study of the subject in this country and Europe, its work extending over a period of seven months.

The bill will be introduced in the legislature in the near future. It provides for a pension of $20 per month for any worthy dependent widow with one child; $35 per month where two children must be supported by the widow, and $10 per month for each additional child. The maximum sum that shall be paid in any case would be $60. Children over 16 years old would be excluded from the provisions of the bill.

GILL MAKES RIVAL HEAD OF THE POLICE.

Seattle, Wash., March 17.—Hiram C. Gill took the oath of office as mayor of Seattle yesterday without ceremony. Seating himself at the desk from which he was torn by the recall three years ago, Mayor Gill's first official act was the appointment of Austin E. Griffiths, late candidate of the Seattle Ministerial association for the mayoralty, as chief of police. This was the reply of the mayor to assertions that his incoming would result in an "open town."

Reichsrath Prorogued.

Vienna, March 17.—The Reichsrath was again prorogued yesterday, the obstruction by the Czechs rendering business impossible. An official communication hints the necessity of having recourse to administrative decrees in order to carry on the public business.

STATE COURT WILL NOT ENTER CASE.

Chicago, March 17.—Judge Baldwin in the circuit court has denied the application of the Central Trust company for the appointment of a receiver for the Inter-Ocean Newspaper company. Herman H. Kohlsaat, president of the Inter-Ocean, was appointed receiver last Friday by the United States court only a few minutes before the Trust company, acting for the bondholders, applied in the state courts. Judge Baldwin declared that, the property being in the custody of the court under jurisdiction first acquired, the court ought to be left to administer it without complications.

YOU NEED A TONIC

Hood's Sarsaparilla, as a Spring Medicine, Is the Best.

Spring sickness comes in some degree to every man, woman and child in our climate. It is that run-down condition of the system that results from impure, impoverished, devitalized blood. It is marked by loss of appetite and that tired feeling, and in many cases by some form of eruption.

The best way to treat spring sickness is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Ask your druggist for this old reliable family medicine. It purifies, enriches and revitalizes the blood. It is an all-the-year-round alterative and tonic, and is absolutely the best Spring medicine.

Get your blood in good condition at once—now. Delay may be dangerous. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, nothing else can take its place.

PREPARE FOR FALL SHOWS

Arrangements for Exhibits at State Fair and Industrial Exposition.

The agricultural committee of the Duluth Commercial club, at a meeting yesterday, decided to arrange a St. Louis county exhibit at the state fair next fall, and went on record in favor of an agricultural exhibition in connection with industrial exposition again this year.

Though the present committee goes out of existence next month and the exhibitions are not held until next fall, the members of the committee believe in acting early. Experience has shown that the best exhibitions are those for which plans are made long ahead and kept in mind during the planting and growing seasons.

The committee will soon designate one of its members to be responsible for the state fair exhibit and he will make arrangements for tracts of ground at various places on which products for exhibition purposes will be grown. As products mature through the season, he will be charged with obtaining specimens for the exhibit and by the time the state fair is held he will have specimens of every product that has matured up to that date.

A new departure in connection with the state fair exhibit is planned this year, in that every farmers' club that will prepare an exhibit will be given space in the St. Louis county building at the state fair for a club display. Several of the clubs are expected to take advantage of this opportunity to show what the organized farmers of St. Louis county are doing.

In indorsing the plan for an agricultural exhibition in connection with the third industrial exposition next year, the agricultural committee followed the lead of the homecroft committee, which took similar action a few days ago. In the case of the Duluth exposition also, plans are being made so early with the idea of having the display at the curling rink next fall as complete as possible. The Commercial club committees are anxious that organized plans be made in the various parts of the city for community exhibits next fall. For instance, the Woodland gardeners have already organized and are preparing a list of all the products that can be grown satisfactorily. Each product will be assigned to three growers, and when the exhibition comes, the best products will be selected for the Woodland exhibit.

Other communities will have to take similar action if the Woodlanders are not to carry off all the prizes next year, and for the Lakesiders at least it may be said that such a result would be woeful.

In view of the fact that some planting will be done with next fall's exhibition in mind, steps will be taken soon, it is expected, to have the date for the third annual industrial exposition set, in order that the scientific gardeners may know when to plant their seeds to obtain the best results next fall.

IF MEALS SOUR AND TURN INTO GAS, TAKE SODA

When everything we eat turns to gas and we eructate sour food and acrid fluids it means there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, says a noted authority. This irritating acid retards the process of digestion and promotes food fermentation. Our meals sour in the stomach like garbage sours in a can, forming gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon, causing a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, constant belching of gas, sour risings or heartburn, fullness and often nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy a package of 10 grain Sodagen tablets and take one tablet any time followed by a tumbler of water which will instantly neutralize acidity, stop food fermentation, absorb the gases and sweeten the entire digestive system.

He further states that those troubled with chronic acidity should take one tablet regularly, an hour after meals for a while, as this simple antacid is entirely harmless, being composed of Soda, Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate U. S. P.

DELAY CANAL TOLL BILL IN SENATE.

Washington, March 17.—Action in the senate on the Owen bill to repeal the tolls exemption clause of the Panama canal act probably will be delayed for a few days on account of the absence of Senator O'Gorman, chairman of the inter-oceanic canals committee. The senator is now in New York and it was announced he would not return until Wednesday.

It had been expected by senators who are leading the fight for repeal on behalf of the president, that a meeting of the canals committee could be arranged early in the week in order to have a vote on the Owen bill, and a report to the senate prepared by the time the house acts on the bill later in the week.

Senator O'Gorman, though unfalteringly opposed to the repeal, it is believed, will not hesitate to call a meeting of his committee upon his return, although it had been his original intention to do nothing until the house had taken action on the issue.

NORDENSKJOLD'S COMPANION KILLED.

Stockholm, March 17.—Baron Nordenskjold, son of the famous Arctic explorer who died in 1901, reports that his companion in an expedition in South America, John Berg, has been killed. The dispatch from Baron Nordenskjold came from Felem, Brazil. It gave no details.

Protocol Signed.

Washington, March 17.—Secretary Bryan and Senor Calvo, the Costa Rican minister, have signed a protocol extending for a period of five years the provisions of the special arbitration treaty between the United States and Costa Rica.

Easy Way to Remove Freckles and Eruptions

Some women have skin of such texture they occasionally are annoyed by the sudden appearance of freckles, slight eruptions or fine lines. March winds usually play havoc with skins of that kind. In such cases if one will procure an ounce of common mercolized wax at any drug store, apply a little of it before retiring, like cold cream, she can easily overcome the trouble. When the wax is washed off next morning, flaky skin particles come with it. The entire outer cuticle is removed in this way in a week or so, with all its defects. No bleach could so effectually remove freckles or blemishes. The new surface is smooth, clear, fresh looking. No pain or inconvenience accompanies this simple treatment.

In case of wrinkles which sink beneath the outer skin, a solution of saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pt. witch hazel, makes a face bath which is wonderfully effective. —Advertisement.

SCHOOL IS DESTROYED

Building in Rice Lake Township Burns—Pupils Escape.

Feud Between Rival Factions Over Location of Town Hall.

School No 2, District 5, town of Rice Lake, was destroyed by a fire of unknown origin last Friday according to word which has come to the office of the county superintendent of schools in this city.

The school was used also as a town hall for the citizens of Rice Lake township and its destruction will have a bearing on a feud between two rival factions in the township.

A more or less bitter feud recently sprung up between some homesteaders in the vicinity of Arnold in the eastern portion of Rice Lake township and the settlers in the western end of the same township, including Homecroft. The bone of contention was the location of the town hall.

Arnold is the oldest settlement in the township and for years the town hall was located at Arnold in a building devoted to that purpose. The town hall burned. A new schoolhouse had recently been erected and the old one was suggested for a town hall.

The matter came up for consideration at a township election last week and after a spirited fight, the day was won by the settlers in the western end of the township, and School No. 2 on the Beyer road was used for a town hall, the settlers refusing to buy the old school at Arnold for the purpose.

The building burned to the ground last week while school was in session. Miss Bertha Miller, teacher, and the pupils, escaped unharmed, however. Classes are now being conducted in a cabin belonging to a farmer living nearby.

C. E. WILL HOLD QUARTERLY RALLY

Field Secretary Walker Will Give the Principal Address.

The Christian Endeavor societies of Duluth will hold their quarterly rally tomorrow evening at the Union church. R. A. Walker, field secretary for Minnesota and Indiana, will be the chief speaker.

Mr. Walker will go from this city to a number of other cities and small towns on the range. He will speak at Fond du Lac tonight. President Johnson of the Duluth union will preside at the rally. Miss Mina MacAskill, pianist; Erling Martin and George Tupper, violinists, and G. A. Anderson, cornist, will give a musical program. The singing will be led by John Brown, Jr.

SUFFRAGETTE TRIES TO TALK TO RULERS

Addresses King and Queen at Music Hall in London.

London, March 17.—Militant suffragettes contributed an extra and unrehearsed "turn" to the program given before King George and Queen Mary at a music hall performance today in aid of a hospital.

During the singing of the national anthem, a shower of militant suffragette pamphlets fluttered from the gallery above the royal box. Some of the papers floated into the box and found a lodging on the shoulders of the king and queen. Simultaneously, a woman occupant in the stalls of the theater stood up, and pointing a finger at the royal party, shouted:

"Your majesties! Mrs. Pankhurst is in prison. I therefore—"

The woman was unable to proceed further with her speech, as a detective clapped his hand over her mouth and she was escorted out of the theater.

SIX INDICTMENTS AGAINST DOUGHERTY

Peoria Man May Be Tried Soon on Forgery Charge.

Peoria, Ill., March 17.—Six indictments were returned today against Newton C. Dougherty, former superintendent of schools of Peoria, charging him with forgery of school script. The indictments against him now pending in the circuit court of Mason county, where the case was taken on a change of venue, will be dismissed. It is expected that Dougherty will be placed on trial here at the end of a fortnight.

There are a total of 215 counts in the six indictments returned today. Dougherty now is under bond on the indictments pending in Mason county. He will be brought to this city from his home in Chicago to give bond on the new indictments.

WOMAN ASSAULTS FRENCH OFFICIAL.

Paris, March 17.—A young woman singer assaulted Victor Augagneur, vice president of the chamber of deputies, as he was about to open parliament today. Much excitement was caused by the attack, owing to its happening so soon after the assassination of Gaston Calmette, editor of Figaro.

M. Augagneur, who is a deputy from the Rhone department, was entering the parliament hall for the session, which was just ready to open, when the attack occurred. His assailant was arrested but was later set at liberty. The motive for her action did not become known.

M. Augagneur later presided calmly over the session of the chamber.

YELLS "BLACK HAND;" NEIGHBORS SHOOT

Italian Grocer in Chicago Gets Scare, Due to Carelessness.

Chicago, March 17.—Nicholas Pigano, an Italian grocer, dumped ashes and live coals into a soap box in the kitchen of his home in Larrabee street before he went to bed last night. Several hours later the smouldering box broke into flames.

Pigano awoke, saw his room filling with smoke and remembered that he had received a Black Hand letter a few days ago threatening him with death if he did not pay the writers $2,000. He ran screaming to the window. Excited neighbors, with the Black Hand letter in their minds, fired revolvers from adjoining windows.

Board to Test Law.

Devils Lake, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—County commissioners of Ramsey, who are attacked in the courts by J. H. Bloom, who charges them with failure to observe the law in the matter of advertising for bids for blank book work and printing, will test the law.

GORGAS FINDS NO REAL BIG PROBLEM.

London, March 17.—Brig.-Gen. William Crawford Gorgas, surgeon-general of the United States army, arrived here today after a three months' investigation of sanitary conditions in South Africa. He declared that "the health problems of South Africa are by no means so complex or difficult as those which have been met successfully in the Panama canal zone."

WILL PUBLISH STATE HISTORY

Duluth Pioneer Will Serve as Advisor to Author.

Capt. Thomas H. Pressnell, deputy clerk of the United States court, has accepted a place on the advisory board for the publication of the new state history, "Minnesota, Its Story and Biography."

Capt. Henry A. Castle is in charge of the publication and it was at the request that Capt. Pressnell accepted a place on the board. Other prominent residents of Minnesota who have accepted advisory positions and who are aiding Capt. Castle in the preparation of the material for the publication, are Hon. S. R. Van Sant of Minneapolis, former governor; Former Congressman Tawney of Winona, Frank A. Day of Fairmont, H. C. Miller of St. Peter, A. E. Rice of Willmar, Elmer E. Adams of Fergus Falls and W. B. Mitchell of St. Cloud.

The advisory editors are aiding in making the new state history accurate and complete in every detail. The publication will review the development of the industries and resources of Minnesota.

Capt. Castle recently published "The History of Ramsey county."

BOYS STEAL FOUR BASEBALLS

Spring has arrived and the baseball season is hard upon its heels, at least the corner lot variety, for the "kids" are getting busy with the baseballs, but not in the accepted manner.

This morning the Tupper-Spiegal company, 327 West Michigan street, reported to the police that three boys had stolen four baseballs from their stock. The company said that one of them answered to the name of "Chinkie" but further than that the description was vague. The chances are more in favor of the baseballs seeing active service with future world's wonders than being returned to the shelves where they have been peacefully reposing for weeks past.

Health and Beauty Hints

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

A. D. C.: That itching and profuse dandruff plainly indicate an unhealthy scalp, and when this condition is overcome your hair will take on its former richness and beauty. Shampooing occasionally with a teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup hot water cleanses and invigorates the scalp and results in healthy, beautiful hair. This shampoo is very inexpensive and you will not only enjoy each shampoo, but the results will be very gratifying.

Janet: You and your husband both can easily get rid of the surplus fat if you follow these simple directions: Get 4 ounces parnotis from your druggist and dissolve in 1½ pints hot water; when it cools take a tablespoonful before each meal. This reduction method is gradual and positive in its action and does not depend on diet or exercise for results. The skin will be left firm and free from wrinkles.

Inquisitive: Your pimples and sallow complexion are caused by impurities in your system. Try this old-time blood purifier and tonic and I am sure you will obtain excellent results: To ½ pint alcohol add 1 ounce kardene (from drug store) then ½ cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and your skin will grow clear and the color of health will come back to your cheeks. This tonic is fine for aches and ills prevalent in cold weather and tends to cleanse body of poisons causing rheumatism and kidney and liver troubles.

Herma: I think all eyes are beautiful if clear and sparkling, and all eyes may be that if cared for properly. I put 2 or 3 drops of my simple home-made tonic into each eye daily. When they are tired or the lids show any tendency to inflammation, I use oftener or bathe entire eye and lids. To make the tonic I get an ounce of crystos at the drug store and dissolve it in a pint of clear, cold water.

Annabell: To be sure, you can have a clear, velvety, pink-and-white complexion if you care enough to give it a little attention each day. I advise discarding powder and using a plain lotion made by dissolving 4 ounces spurmax (get from druggist) in ½ pint witch hazel or hot water, to which should be added 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. This is easily applied, dries quickly and imparts a delightful tone to the complexion. Especially good for oily, sallow skins and cannot be detected when on.

Pearl: Your wrinkles might be caused in many different ways, but without rgard to the cause, I am giving you a certain relief which my friends and I have proven. This is inexpensive and is made as follows: Into ½ pint water stir an ounce almozoin (from any druggist) and add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. Apply the jelly cream plentifully on retiring and massage well into the skin, then in the morning wash off and apply a little more. A few such treatments will soon clear the skin of wrinkles, reduce the large pores and give to you a velvety complexion.

Clara M.: You can help nature beautify your hair by keeping your scalp perfectly healthy and free from dandruff or itchiness. Make your own tonic and massage a little into the scalp and hair roots once or twice a week. I use ½ pint of alcohol, to which I add 1 ounce quinzoin and ½ pint water. This quinzoin tonic soon puts the scalp in a healthy, pliant condition, overcomes dandruff and oiliness and gives to the hair roots the strength necessary to produce a luxuriant growth of long, brilliant hair.

Cora: Objectionable fuzzy or hairy growths are easily banished if you mix enough powdered delatone with water to form a thick paste and apply to hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and every trace of hair is gone. Excepting in very aggravated cases, one application of delatone is enough. No harm will result, but be certain you get delatone. —Advertisement.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

GREEN IS LEADING COLOR IN CHICAGO

Chicago, March 17.—St. Patrick's day was observed by Irish-Americans here with appropriate ceremony today throughout the city. Despite the cold, rainy weather, the celebrations were largely attended.

A set of joy bells imported from Dublin announced the opening of the principal celebration, at the Coliseum, where bits of shamrock had been provided for 15,000 persons. A piece of sod cut from a hill near St. Patrick's Rock in County Armagh, Ireland, was placed on the speaker's stand. Cablegrams of congratulations were read from Thomas Lundon, member of parliament from Limerick; Frank Hayes, general secretary of the United Irish league, and Alderman Patrick McCarthy. Roger C. Sullivan was the principal speaker at this celebration. After the addresses there were Irish folk dances and singing in Gaelic.

Mayor Guest of Honor.

At the celebration under the auspices of the Irish Fellowship club, Mayor Harrison and wife were guests of honor and United States Senator Gilbert Hitchcock of Nebraska was the principal speaker. He spoke on "Centralization of Power, the American Danger." Other speakers were Judge Bernard Fox of Cincinnati and Charles French, president of the club.

Archbishop Quigley was the principal speaker at the celebration held by the Ancient Order of Hibernians. Other speakers were Dudley F. Maloney, collector of the port of New York, and Rev. Francis Kelley, president of the Catholic Church Extension society.

WOULD LUMP TRUST BILLS

President Has Conference With Sub-Committee of the House.

Holding Corporations Measure Has Been Much Changed.

Washington, March 17.—President Wilson, at a conference last night with the house judiciary sub-committee on trusts, put the stamp of administration approval on the substance of the four bills to amend the anti-trust laws which the committee submitted in a practically final form.

There will be another conference at the White House within a week, and members of the committee expect that all four bills to strengthen the Sherman law, covering interlocking directorates, holding companies, trade relations and definitions of restraints of trade, will be reported to the house within a fortnight.

President Wilson indicated his belief that it would be better to consolidate all the bills into one, to expedite legislation. That this will be effected is practically certain.

Made Suggestions.

The president made a number of suggestions to the subcommittee. He insisted that personal guilt of individuals in control of corporations should be prescribed in every bill, in order to break up the evils that have grown up under the present anti-trust laws.

The draft of the holding corporation bill was completed just before the conference. The measure would make unlawful those holding companies that combine the stock of corporations so as to lessen competition, but would not affect companies which hold the stock of corporations that form essential parts of their business. Holding companies that are entirely for investment and not for business directly are not prohibited. This would permit companies like the big insurance concerns to hold the stock of corporations which are not competitors.

Solves the Problem.

The committee believes this bill solves the problem of discriminating between the holding company actively in business and operating business by combining a number of competitors into one company, as in the case of the Standard Oil company and the American Tobacco company, and the corporations that have been compelled to combine a number of concerns that are not competitors but whose combination is necessary in order to make a unity.

The committeemen pointed out to the president that the bill would save to industrial business the investor who buys the stocks and bonds of various corporations, but is not engaged in the business of operating any of them. The bill applies to railroad holding corporations, but not to subsidiaries, by drawing the line at substantial competitors. It included cotton mills if made up of combined competitors; it would prohibit holding corporations of moving picture concerns, which sought exemption, and would strike at various large holding establishments which made pleas before the committee.

Hits Theater Trust.

The so-called theater trust also would be affected. Theater corporations which hold two theaters in any one city, unless it could be proved that they were absolutely non-competing, would be prohibited, but the bill would not destroy a chain of theaters in different cities in which there was no element of competition.

None of the four bills as now framed provided for exemption of labor unions from anti-trust prosecutions.

The trade relations bill prohibits manufacturers from contracting to prevent a merchant from handling a competitor's goods.

The interlocking directorates' bill includes a provision to prohibit directors in various corporations selling to companies in which they are directors. The definitions bill embodies such definitions as seem not to have been covered by decisions of the courts.

WARREN ELECTION NOW BEING HELD

License Question and New Charter Are Being Voted On.

Warren, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Over 300 Sunday school children participated in a temperance demonstration parade here yesterday afternoon. The business streets of the city were paraded and songs were sung on the principal corners.

Each child wore a bag reading:

: "Vote for me." :

This was the conclusion of a vigorous campaign. A. C. Rankin of Pennsylvania delivered a series of addresses at the opera house during the week on the temperance question. During the day posters appeared and were distributed bearing the slogan:

: "Help St. Patrick drive the : snakes out of Warren." :

The election is being held today and both factions have put in much work. The new city charter which is being voted on is expected to pass as both sides appear to be in favor of it. This charter provides for an election only every two years and it will put an end to the annual strife between the liquor and temperance forces.

CROOKSTON PIONEER WOMAN PASSES AWAY.

Crookston, Minn., March 17.—Crookston is mourning the passing of Mrs. Charles Baumgartel, who died Sunday, aged 64. She had lived here since 1880 and enjoyed a wide circle of friends. Besides her husband she leaves three children, Sidstrom of Everett, Wash., Carl Baumgartel of Havre, Mont., and Walter Baumgartel, now atending the Agricultural school at Fargo, N. D., to which he won a scholarship as a member of the Crookston High school championship debating team last year. Walter is here now and Carl will arrive from Havre this evening.

Marshall County Fair.

Warren, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Marshall County Fair association it was decided to hold the fair this year on Sept. 15, 16, 17. An effort will be made to have Pennington, Red Lake, Roseau and Kittson counties to hold their fairs on dates before or after so as to be able to secure better attractions.

How Thin People Can Put On Flesh

A New Discovery

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Omit the flesh cream rub-ons. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating now and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay there" fat should be the net result. Sargol charges your weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh, new red blood corpuscles—gives the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food and prepares it for the blood in easily assimilated form. Thin people gain all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol, and the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a scientific combination of six of the best flesh-producing elements known to chemistry. They come forty tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and Boyce Drug store and all other druggists in Duluth and vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back.

IS LEGALLY DETAINED

Judge Cant Upholds Municipal Court in Sholund Case.

Matter Is Now Up to Supreme Court for Settlement.

Henry Johnson, bartender, who was convicted in municipal court on a charge of having illegally sold liquor over the bar of Charles Sholund, 101 East Michigan street, after the city council had revoked the Sholund license, has been lawfully detained under a commitment from the municipal court, according to the ruling of Judge Cant in discharging habeas corpus proceedings instituted in Johnson's behalf.

Judge Cant announced his decision on the habeas corpus matter in district court last evening after he had listened to arguments on both sides of the question of validity of the action of the municipal court in convicting and committing Johnson. The court remanded Johnson to the custody of the sheriff. McCoy & Hanson, attorneys for Sholund and Johnson, asked for a thirty days stay, which was granted. W. H. Gurnee, assistant city attorney, appeared for the city.

Johnson was arrested on March 4 charged with illegally selling liquor over the Sholund bar. Previous to the sale of the liquor in question, the city council had revoked the Sholund license. Attorney Charles McCoy had, however, procured from the state supreme court a writ of certiorari, returnable before the supreme court on April 7. The writ of certiorari brings the action of the city council before the court for review and decision.

Sholund and his attorneys took the position that the writ of certiorari acted as a supersedeas or a stay of proceedings and gave them the right to open the saloon and continue operations until the matter was finally passed upon by the supreme court in St. Paul.

Johnson, bartender, openly sold liquor over the bar and was arrested. In municipal court, he was convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or go to jail for thirty days. He took the jail sentence for the purposes of making a test case for the courts. Although out on bail, he was, for a few moments, while the writ of habeas corpus was served upon the sheriff in the custody of the officer.

In discharging the writ the court held that the question involved was confined entirely to the jurisdiction of the municipal court in bringing Johnson to trial on a chargo of selling liquor without a license. Attorney McCoy attacked the penalty clause of the Hicken liquor ordinance as unconstitutional.

Judge Cant also held that the habeas corpus proceedings could not be used to reach the matters of which complaint was made. The court suggested that a more feasible procedure would have been an injunction obtained against the city authorities immediately following Johnson's arrest and before his trial.

Judge Cant further held that the municipal court had jurisdiction of the subject matter. The only recourse now left for Johnson and his attorneys is an appeal from the judgment and sentence of the municipal court. It is probable that no further steps will be taken in the case until after the supreme court has passed upon the validity of the city council's action in revoking the Sholund license and upon the constitutionality of the Hicken liquor ordinance.

No Extra Dividend.

Stomach Troubles Due to Acidity

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind, stomach-ache and inability to retain food, are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural, and acid formation is not only unnatural, but may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acidity are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.—M. ACCUSE BOTH SEA CAPTAINS

Inspectors Make Two Reports on Nantucket-Monroe Disaster.

One Blames Berry and the Other Johnson for Collision.

Philadelphia, March 17.—The two United States local inspectors of steam vessels who investigated the disaster off the Virginia coast, Jan. 30, in which the steamship Nantucket rammed the steamer Monroe, causing the loss of forty-one lives, have rendered a divided opinion. One held the captain of the Nantucket was guilty of negligence, and the other charged the commander of the Monroe with responsibility for the disaster.

The report of the investigation, along with the two decisions, was forwarded to Henry M. Seeley, supervising inspector at New York. It is not known here what the next step will be, but it is believed the supervising inspector will consult the department of commerce at Washington before making any further move.

CAPT. OSMYN BERRY
Of the Nantucket.

Berry Was Accused.

The local inspectors who investigated the collision are Capt. R. A. Sargent, inspector of hulls, and D. H. Howard, inspector of boilers. The department of commerce designated them to investigate the charges against Osmyn Berry, captain of the Nantucket, brought by local inspectors at Norfolk after a preliminary examination.

The charges against Capt. Berry included negligence in not reducing the speed of his vessel in a fog, and neglecting to ascertain through the wireless operator the proximity of other vessels. No charges were brought against Capt. Edward E. Johnson of the Monroe.

The opinion filed by Inspector Sargent says that Capt. Berry and all other licensed officers of the Nantucket are exonerated from all blame. Capt. Sargent's report then charges Capt. Johnson with incompetency, negligence and inattention to duty.

CAPT. E. E. JOHNSON

Accuses Johnson.

Capt. Johnson is charged with the violation of the international rules for preventing collisions in giving a wrong whistle signal in the fog; with negligence and inattention to duty because he took no action to prevent the collision or to lessen its force when the vessels came in sight of each other, and with incompetency and unskilfulness because proper discipline or organization was not maintained among the crew in an effort to protect the lives of all persons on board, and because no proper effort was promptly made to obtain assistance from the Nantucket.

Inspector Howard refused to sign this report, and rendered one of his own, in which he found Capt. Berry guilty of not reducing speed in a fog, as charged, but not guilty of alleged failure to use the wireless apparatus, and recommended that his master's license be revoked.

In rending his report, Capt. Sargent stated that he had been a licensed master and was experienced in navigation, and that Inspector Howard was not a licensed master and had no practical experience as a navigator.

Eczema Is Only Skin Deep

A few skin troubles originate in the blood. But very few. Dr. Evans, ex-Commissioner of Health and a famous writer on medical subjects, says:

"We shall begin to make headway with skin diseases when we learn two things: first, that skin disease does not come from impure blood; second, that so-called blood purifiers have no such action."

Begin immediately to clear your skin. Stop that itching and burning. Drive out those pimples.

Make up your mind to start now and give yourself a smooth, velvet complexion.

You can do it with the aid of the wonderful D. D. D. Prescription, a cooling, refreshing lotion—not a salve or grease. It soothes your tender skin, opens the pores, drives out the old impurities and gives you a skin like a baby—smooth and clear.

All druggists have D. D. D. We sell it on a positive no-pay guarantee.

Woman's Realm

Tomorrow evening the people of Duluth will have the opportunity of hearing Clara Butt, called the world's greatest contralto, who with her husband, Kennerley Rumford, will appear in concert at the Lyceum theater.

Madame Butt, it is said, can take the lowest note of any contralto. A visitor of her mother who overheard the young woman singing said, "What a wonderful voice your boy has." When told the singer was a girl the visitor urged the parents to have her voice trained by the best masters.

Kennerley Rumford is a baritone.

HOUSEWIVES' LEAGUE.

Home Makers Hear How to Save Time and Labor.

At the meeting of the Housewives' league yesterday afternoon Mrs. C. A. Smith reviewed an article in the March Good Housekeeping magazine by Mrs. Bauer, a new contributor to the publication. The value of using outside helps, a such as co-operative laundries and bakeries was dwelt upon.

Mrs. A. E. Walker spoke of ways of spending the additional leisure time that labor saving devices give to housekeepers. After the talks by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Walker there was a general discussion along lines of home economics.

Additional plans were made for the lecture on Saturday evening to be given by the pure food expert, Dr. Harvey A. Wiley, who will speak at the First Methodist church under the auspices of the Housewives' league.

NEW SPRING FASHIONS ARE SEEN AT PARIS RACE COURSE

ONE OF THE NEW HATS.

A COSTUME SEEN AT THE RACES.

The first of the spring fashions were exhibited by the Paris mannequins at the race track at Auteuil Feb. 15 and the photographs of them have just reached the United States. Among the features noted by trained observers at this first display of styles were: Unusually short skirts caught up at the back; short waists and strong colors, especially blues and wide stripes of blue and yellow; plain colors only in violent sulphur or blue mixed with violet; Spanish cape coats of heavy satin carried across the shoulders and secured by ribbons under the arms—called toreador; a revised edition of the harem skirt, very tight at the hem but with two openings through which the ankles come, pinned in soft rolls.

gates to the third international child welfare congress to be held in Washington, D. C., from April 22 to 27. The other Minnesota delegates to the congress will be Mrs. Clarence L. Atwood of St. Cloud, Mrs. William Logue of St. Paul and Mrs. M. D. Myers of Minneapolis.

Bishop's Club.

At the meeting of the Bishop's club last night, Miss Jane Davis read a paper on "Tragedy and Comedy of Greek Literature." Miss Louise Lyons gave a Bible reading which as usual was interpreted by the Right Rev. James McGolrick. Miss Marian Worley gave "The Fauns" (Chaminade) and Miss May Spencer read Van Dyke's "The Mansion." Current events of general interest were given by Miss Jane Halley.

Lecture on Minnesota.

The next number of the University of Minnesota extension course will be given at the Central high school Friday evening. Prof. Edward M. Lehnerts will speak on "Minnesota: The Heart of Our Continent," and will illustrate his talk with lantern slides.

The lecture will be on the great wealth and the varied resources of Minnesota, a study of the work of nature and man in the making of the state.

Prof. Lehnerts is a native of Minnesota, being the son of a family of pioneers who settled in Winona county in 1847. He is a graduate of the Winona State Normal school, the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Minnesota. He took special studies in music at the St. Frances conservatory in Milwaukee, in economics at the Wharton School of Commerce and Finance in Philadelphia and in geology and geography at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Lehnerts has been an educator, editor, publisher and lecturer. His magazine articles and his illustrated lectures are directing great attention to the natural wealth and opportunities of Minnesota.

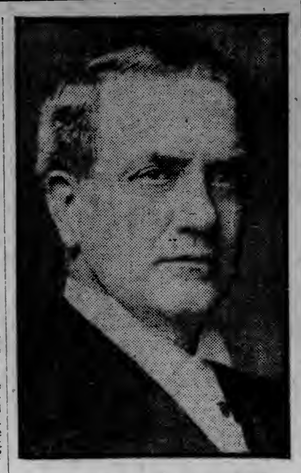
WHERE STORY TELLERS FLOURISH.

Wide World Magazine: Catania is noted for its professional story tellers, one of whom I came across surrounded by a crowd of men, who appeared to be completely absorbed in the story of the moment. As passers-by are at liberty to plant themselves in the chairs provided by the story teller, and need not pay anything unless they feel inclined, this business would seem to be rather a precarious one.

It was at Catania that I observed two men solemnly engaged in the unique occupation of washing hay—why, I cannot say. Driving their carts into an arm of the sea, they gravely took off their trousers, and then, throwing the hay into the water, jumped in and washed it. This done, they reloaded the hay on the carts, and departed for another consignment. Three times did I see them perform this novel task.

METHODISTS OF DULUTH GREET NEW DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENT



REV. MILTON P. BURNS.

At the First Methodist church last evening a reception was given to the Rev. Milton P. Burns, D. D., the recently appointed district superintendent of the Duluth district, and to Mrs. Burns. More than 200 were present, being representatives from the nine Methodist Episcopal churches of the city. The reception was held under the auspices of the newly organized Methodist Social union, of which W. L. Smithies is the president. In the receiving line with Dr. and Mrs. Burns were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smithies, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Forward, Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Hovis of the Endion church, Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Hoffman of the First church, Rev. and Mrs. G. E. Silloway of Grace church, Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Oaten of Lester Park church, Rev. W. G. Fritz of Merritt Memorial church, and Rev. W. H. Farrell of Asbury church. A program consisting of music and addresses of welcome followed, W. L. Smithies, presiding. Mayor Prince extended the welcome of the city to Dr. Burns and family, and in a most impressive way called attention of the assembled company to the growth of religious and moral sentiment both in the city and country, and suggested that the note which must predominate the civic as well as the religious life of the community must be that of service for the good of others.

Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of Grace church, in behalf of the Methodist ministers and their wives wished Dr. Burns abundant success in his work, and pledged the most hearty co-operation of the churches in his plans. Bert N. Wheeler spoke for the suburban churches, and called attention to the need of building up strong religious forces in the suburban communities.

Watson S. Moore pointed out the place of the laymen in the successful prosecution of the work of the church, and made a strong plea for the earnest co-operation of the laymen in the aggressive plans which he felt sure Dr. Burns would inaugurate.

A delegation was also present from Two Harbors, and the chairman called upon Thomas Owens, and Rev. A. H. McKee, both of whom responded. In his reply, Dr. Burns made a very fine impression upon the assembled company. He is a man of fine presence, scholarly attainments, and strong personality. His five years of administration as the superintendent of the Methodist churches of Minneapolis were marked by splendid advances in every department of church activity. Under his leadership the churches had very substantial growth, the church property was increased to the extent of $100,000, and old and troublesome debts were liquidated.

Dr. Burns said last night that he is much pleased with the outlook in Duluth and the surrounding district. He says there is large opportunity for aggressive church and missionary work in the territory. He proposes the unification of all the Methodist churches of the city in an aggressive program which shall look toward the meeting of the church's problem in the city. He advocated the expenditure in the near future of at least $75,000 in the creation of an up-to-date mission, somewhere in the central district. Dr. Burns has just moved his family here from Minneapolis, and has taken apartments in the Munger terrace.

STAGE STARS SOLVE THE SERVANT PROBLEM

Ethel Barrymore, Frances Starr, Mary Nash and Alice Yorke Tell the Secret.

Zoe Backley in New York Evening Mail: Actresses may or may not be the most domestic folks in the world, but they have solved the servant problem. A canvass of the leading ladies of Broadway successes reveals such a roll of honor among maids as to bring the pink of envy to the pale cheek of the average harrassed housewife. If stage maids, like postmen and policemen, wore service stripes on their sleeves, many of them could never indulge in elbow-lengths, but would need extensions way down to their finger tips.

Alice Yorke of the "Oh, I Say" company at the Casino, Mary Nash of "The Lure" and Viola Gillette, the statuesque preceding in "Hop o' My Thumb," have had their "treasures," respectively nine, seven and eight years. They are Leota, Beulah and Florence, and wild horses could not detach one of them from the service of her beloved lady.

Each Worships a Star.

All are colored girls, all are educated, all are stricken with blindness when it comes to seeing any other than their own bright, particular star in the theatrical heavens.

Ask the star ladies how they do this marvelous trick of magnetization and they gently smile. "Oh, it's easy enough," say they, "when you know how. Just treat them like human beings." And you have to interpret this cryptic utterance as best you may.

Leota has but one mission in life, and that is to mother somebody. She has a little girl of her own out in Chicago, but Miss Yorke needs mothering more because she always forgets to put her mufflcr and rubbers on and "don't eat enough to keep a church mouse's body an' soul together" (according to Leota). Leota learned how to cook so as to prepare little surprise suppers for her "lamb child" after the theater. In fact, Leota knows more ways to mother an actress than anybody would suppose there were, and discovers new ones every day.

"I stay with her because I love her," is Leota's answer to the whyfores of her nine years' service. Enough said.

Beulah a Silent Joy.

Mary Nash says her maid Beulah has taught her many lessons. One is the golden quality of silence. Beulah being a sphinx, adored, albeit hopelessly, by every Pullman porter from here to San Francisco. To every suitor Beulah replies with a silent headshake, meaning, "Nay, the lines of my life are cast with my lady; get you gone," or something of that sort. Meanwhile Miss Nash helps Beulah eat some of the candy that comes in a continuous shower from the worshipful porters to Beulah of the Silences.

Florence, who has been with Miss Gillette eight years, is actress as well as maid, having often gone on "as herself" in several plays. She worries more about her mistress' "cues" than that amiable lady ever worried over them. Big words are Florence's Waterloo, but she affords continuous entertainment behind the scenes and would be "a scream" in vaudeville if she would leave Miss Gillette. "Which I would do just as quick," says Florence, "as I would commit harum-scarum like the Japanese worriers."

Miss Barrymore's Faithful.

Frances Starr and Ethel Barrymore have white maids. Mary Worthington has been with Miss Barrymore five years and says she is going to stay until the old ladies' home gets her, if it ever does. Miss Barrymore says it never will. And there you are.

Marie Lewis, maid to Miss Starr, is a ruffly little French thing with a Paris accent and a bubbling enthusiasm that goes off like a pop bottle whenever you speak of her "dear lady."

"We stay wiz our ladies," she says, "because we love zem. We love zem because zey are kind. Zey are kind because zey are g-r-r-reat, for ze greater ze pairson, ze more kind and more good and more humaine zey are!"

After all, Marie puts the whole answer into a nutshell. That is why actresses know nothing of the servant "problem."

RENO'S GAY DAYS ARE OVER

Divorce Center Passed Away With the Old Year--Legal Residence Now Twelve Months Instead of Six.

Reno, Nev., letter to New York Telegraph: The curtain has been rung down on the Reno divorce colony. With the advent of the new year Nevada lost its last bid for notoriety, and Reno as the divorce center of the universe disappeared. The amendment to the divorce laws fixing the legal residence in Nevada at one year instead of six months became operative. The divorce "evil" has passed away almost as quietly and effectively as legalized gambling passed away three years ago.

Predictions that the loss of the divorce business would spell ruin for the merchants of Reno is not borne out by the facts. It has occasioned no more commercial unrest than followed in the wake of the departing gambler. At that time much of Reno's famous night life disappeared with the passing of the roulette wheel, the faro layout, chuck-a-luck, craps and the score of other gambling games and devices.

What remains of revelry—the brilliantly lighted cafes, tamale parlors, roadhouses and such—is tottering. The Reno of old is no more. It has been gradually passing away for six months. Even the prize fight law although finish contests in Nevada was lowing knocked out by the last legislature.

How Reno Became Divorce Capital.

Nevada never made a bid for the divorce business of the world. A shrewd lawyer, afterward disbarred, made the discovery which led to the gathering of the mismated in Reno. It seems that Nevada, although the fourth largest state in the point of area, is really the smallest in matter of population. This population, composed mostly of miners, was constantly on the move. As a new mining camp was selected the miners pulled stakes and made their way to the untrammeled field. They remained on one location but a short period, so in the days when Nevada was a territory the Constitution provided that six months should constitute a legal residence.

This law remained unchanged for many years. One of the first to take advantage of the six months' residence requirements was Mrs. W. E. Corey, wife of the president of the Steel trust. Her presence focused eyes upon Reno and its possibilities for quick divorce, so when Nat Goodwin of theatrical fame followed to gain freedom from Maxine Elliott all the world took notice.

Reno became the Mecca where broken hearts could be mended with neatness and dispatch. The little desert city of 10,000 took on new life. A motley collection of peroxide blondes and fascinating brunettes commenced to pour into the Nevada metropolis. Hotels were filled to overflowing; apartment houses sprang up like mushrooms. Restaurants enlarged their quarters; upstairs dining rooms became popular and the residents of Reno affected extreme styles like the divorcees who paraded the main street of the city. No longer did the lowly Indian hold attention. A change came over the community and from a desert city Reno became a city teeming with life and novelty. Motor cars took the place of horse vehicles and the transformation was as complete as if magic had been wrought.

Looseness Aroused Public Feeling.

The two divorce courts were overworked. The divorce business became lucrative and attracted attorneys of all calibers. Some were good, some were bad, so bad that the Nevada supreme court disbarred two and others were threatened and vanished. There have been numerous divorces granted by the judges in Reno on the unsupported testimony of the applicant without the defendant ever being aware of the filing of the papers. Service by publication became popular—the publication in many cases being in an obsolete town like Sparks, a railroad division point. It was this looseness with which divorce proceedings were allowed to progress in Reno that finally aroused public feeling and the women of the community, fearful of the example which the more brazen members of the divorce colony set before the eyes of their sons and daughters, took up the fight which resulted in the moral wave sweeping the colony out of existence.

There were champagne orgies in the colony cafe, disgraceful affairs at roadhouses, mysterious dances which went beyond the limit of decency, and a flaunting of vice and indecency which resulted in an organized effort upon the part of the mothers of Reno to correct the evil.

Divorcees registered at the University of Nevada, taking up special courses. They invaded the social life of the city and caused dissension in many homes. One banker sent his son away from the city to protect him from the influence of the colony queens. Scandals stirred the city. Husbands were showing too much attention to women sojourners in Reno.

Finally husbands were brought up with a round turn. Lawyers, clergymen, politicians and laboring men were forced into the movement to abolish the colony. Some came willingly, others reluctantly. The fight was carried to the polls, and in Reno, the heart of the divorce business in Nevada, a farmer with flowing beard was elected state senator over W. D. Jones, a lawyer, and the author of the "Timelock" divorce law, which made physical residence of six months all that was necessary in obtaining freedom from galling matrimonial bonds. The lower house of the state legislature passed an amendment to the lax divorce laws, the upper house pushed it through almost unanimously, and Governor Tasker L. Oddie, himself a divorcee, signed the bill.

Some Knots That Were Untied.

If a roster were published of all the divorces in Reno, dating from the time when Mrs. Corey came to get freedom, it would embrace the names of men and women whom the newspapers have made illustrious.

There was Margaret Emerson McKim, daughter of Isaac Emerson, bromo-seltzer king. Mrs. McKim divorced Scott Hollins McKim, a New York society man, later marrying Alfred Vanderbilt. Other widely known persons were Philip H. Dodge, president of the Mergenthaler Linotype company; Mrs. Henry Hutt, the artist's wife, whom he once said was more beautiful than the Venus de Milo; R. M. Buffington, a wealthy manufacturer; Courtland Massie, former New York broker; Mrs. Louis Kribs, wife of Victor Herbert, and Charles O'Connor, a millionaire wholesale milliner dealer of Indianapolis, who purchased a ranch near Reno and invited the divorce judge to visit him there as proof of his assertion that he was a bona fide resident of the state.

With the passing of the divorce colony the number of attorneys in Reno has diminished. The city is accustoming itself to the new order of things, greater interest is being taken in its institutions and a new Reno is in the process of development.

CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT.

New York Sun: A bookseller in New York purchased a lot of books at a sale. Finding several sets of Charles Dickens' works in this stock, he decided to make a special price on them, so he put all of them in the large show window with the following sign in very large letters:

"Charles Dickens' Works All Week for $4."

An Italian who had drifted down that way walked up to this window. Reading the sign, he said: "Dese countree allee wrong. Americana he work ze week, zee zix; one, two, tree, fo, five, six—six days fo for dol!"

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

Old Colonial Style Furniture Has the Call.

Next to the originals, perhaps the costliest pieces of furniture today are the fac-similes of the Colonial model, and this is true of everything designed to make the home habitable and beautiful. Do you want a choice desk? If so, you are promptly shown one, in duplicate at least, the like of which graced the homesteads of a century ago.

Old things are having the call. A few years back the furniture which is today in the height of elegance, good taste and luxury, was only appreciated by the few. Now, original pieces tracing their titles to the New England homesteads of a hundred years back are worth their weight in gold, and thankfully, let it be said, those that own them have less desire to part with them for gold.

Probably the trend in styles in furnishings is responsible for a part of it, for I find that a woman who a few short years ago wanted to clear her house of its beautiful old furniture, and refurnish it in oak, is not so anxious to dispose of the pieces now remaining to her.

The mistress of this house has always been dissatisfied with what she calls "culch." Should you admire an old table with beautiful, slender legs, handsome brasses and all the rest of it, she would immediately express her surprise that you saw beauty in it. For her part she preferred a modern oak table with its high polish, to an old-fashioned table that had been kicking around for more than fifty years. Offer her the price of a new table, no matter how inexpensive, and she would accept it, believing it a favor on your part and not hers.

The last few years have wrought a change in this woman. Probably she values her possessions from the standpoint of sentiment as lightly as before. But she has seen a table with its skin deep veneer of mahogany and has noted that its design is similar to the one on which she keeps the doughnut crock and the cookie jar.

Its pride adds to her respect for the old home table, and if she is a wise woman she will drag it out of oblivion and give it a place of honor in the best room. It is the market value of things that appeals most to her and many of her ilk, I presume, also the fact that such things are having a vogue, but whatever it is, we should be glad that they are giving place to the gimcrack furniture that held sway so long.

LEGENDS OF ST. PATRICK

Little Is Definitely Known of Ireland's Patron Saint.

Believed to Have Been Born in Scotland in 387.

Today is St. Patrick's day.

It is a day dear to the hearts of every true son of Erin's isle and Duluth Irishmen and others who reverence the memory of Ireland's patron saint are doing honor to his name. Bits of green are today very much in evidence on the coat lapels and while there is no special public observance of the day, the occasion will be celebrated by a number of functions in various parts of the city.

It is a day which also recalls the half-fabulous, half-historical character, who had few parallels as a Christian apostle. St. Patrick is fabled to have driven all the vermin off the island of Ireland into the sea. There were also many other miracles ascribed to him.

Legends represent him as having been born at Kilpatrick near Dumbarton in Scotland about the year 387 A. D. It is related that when a lad of 16 he was sold as a slave and taken to Ireland by Irish pirates and is credited with having later converted that country to Christianity.

According to accounts said to be more or less authentic, Patrick spent his first six months in Ireland in servitude under a Druid priest in the County of Antrim. He finally escaped, walked 200 miles to the west coast, boarded a ship for Scotland and returned to his native land, Scotland. His stay was short, however, for three months later he was again taken captive.

Traveled in Europe.

A second escape from Irish servitude followed within a short time. On this occasion, it is said, that he went to Europe and traveled for many years over the continent, associating himself with the recognized leaders of the Christian movement. It is believed that in the year 410 A. D. he was ordained as a priest by the bishop of Auxerre. It is reported that the bishop took him to England and later sent him to Rome, where Pope Celestine I. gave him the name of St. Patrick and sent him to convert Ireland. This was about 432 A. D.

Patrick's grandfather, it is said, was a Pagan priest. His father was a Christian deacon and his mother also a Christian. Yet it was not until he had grown to manhood that he gave himself over to the Christian faith.

Palladius, who preceded Patrick in the work of converting Ireland, had failed. But being more familiar with the language and customs of the Irish people than was Palladius, Patrick met with success in converting to Christianity the pagan Irish.

Many popular ideas with regard to St. Patrick are said to be mere creations of fancy and without any historical foundation. Few people who have not read the history of St. Patrick know anything of the miracles and conversions accredited to him. His character is pictured as displaying love, faith, sweetness, humility and self-sacrifice.

Was Author Also.

St. Patrick was not only a priest, missionary and apostle. He has also been given a place among the contemporary writers of his day. While historians disagree as to some of the writings which have been attributed to him, it is admitted that he is the author of "Confession," "Breastplate" and "Letters to Coroticus."

This morning special services in honor of St. Patrick were held in all of the Catholic churches of the city. In the hotel cafes today, Irish music predominates on the programs.

At the St. Clement's church, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, this evening, under the auspices of the Young Men's Sodality, a play entitled "The Four Leaf Shamrock" will be presented by a cast of local talent. Another local talent performance will be put on this evening at the Cathedral auditorium, Second avenue west and Fourth street, when the play, "Myles Aroon" will be presented.

laboratory, where the fire originated, supposedly from spontaneous combustion. Their rooms faced on the court around which the building was constructed, and the glare of the flames aroused them.

Miss Moffat saw a bright light reflected on the transom over her door, and springing from her bed, rushed into the hall, where she met Miss Donnell.

"There is a fire," she cried.

Miss Donnell replied:

"I'll ring the fire alarm, while you call the girls."

Did Not Cry "Fire."

Suiting action to words, Miss Donnell ran down a flight of stairs and started the fire gong on the second floor. Miss Moffat hurried along the halls, pounding on every door. She did not cry "Fire," but commanded: "Put on your wraps, quickly."

Miss Donnell then joined her and together they roused all those who had not already responded to the gong. Soon the halls were filled with startled young women. Some carried personal effects in their arms, but the greater number had not waited to save their belongings.

Later, borrowing clothes from occupants of other dormitories, the girls returned to the burning building and succeeded in saving many valuable books from the library on the lower floor before the flames reached it. Mrs. Mary Calkins, professor of psychology, who roomed in the building, assisted in the work.

The hall contained many valuable paintings and works of art estimated as worth $200,000.

Work by Fire Brigade.

The college volunteer fire brigade was early in action, and made sure that none of the sleepers were left to the flames.

Miss Mary Smith of Westchester, Pa., secretary to the dean, made a bold dash into the dean's office on the first floor, and with the aid of Edward C. Monahan, an employe, saved most of the dean's records.

President Ellen S. Pendleton announced that the college would be closed until the end of the usual spring vacation, April 7. Sessions were to have continued until March 27. The president asked all who could to make arrangements to leave Wellesley today, so that accommodations could be had for those who would be obliged to remain.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Forbes of 2240 Roslyn avenue have received a telegram from their daughter, Hazel, who is attending Wellesley college, saying the college hall burned early this morning, but that no one was injured. This is Miss Forbes' freshman year at Wellesley.

Miss Ruth Niemeyer of 13 Fifty-eighth avenue east is also a student at Wellesley.

ITCHED SO, HE TORE HIS FLESH RESINOL CURED

Tortured for Three Weeks, But Two Applications Did the Work.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3, 1913: "All over my body were small pimples which itched me so that I could just grab my flesh and tear it apart. For three weeks I could not sleep at night until I was simply exhausted. I tried most everything that was supposed to give relief, and I can truthfully say that not until I used Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment did I begin to feel like the man I was. After only two applications there were no more symptoms of my ailment." (Signed) A. Jackson, care of Water Registrar's Office, District Building.

AH! MY TIRED FEET ACHED SO FOR "TIZ"

How "Tiz" Eases Sore, Swollen, Sweaty, Calloused Feet and Corns.

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "TIZ" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "TIZ" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "TIZ." Its grand—its glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "TIZ." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

Get a 25 cent box of "TIZ" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.

Wept Before Colleagues.

M. Caillaux appeared at the ministry of finance for a few minutes this morning in order to dispose of several urgent matters of departmental business. He called into his private office several of the higher officials of the ministry and informed them of his resignation. The minister was extremely depressed. He broke down during his interview with the officials and wept like a child. His colleagues quietly withdrew and left him alone. When he had become somewhat composed M. Caillaux proceeded to his private residence.

Because of the hostile demonstrations by street crowds, a number of detectives were assigned today to protect the minister.

Murderess Talked Calmly.

Mme. Caillaux, when she was taken from the police station to St. Lazare prison after committing the crime, was accompanied by Arthur Leymarie, chief private secretary of the minister for war. She conversed calmly with him.

"My husband is one of the most honest of men," she said. "The press campaign which has been carried on against him for some time is frightful. I tremble every morning when I open the newspapers."

The prisoner's composure failed, however, when the chief warden of St. Lazare prison told her she was to be put into a cell.

Went to Figaro Office.

Mme. Caillaux went to the office of the Figaro yesterday to carry out her act of vengeance against M. Calmette, who had been waging a campaign characterized by great bitterness against the minister of finance. She fired at least three times, M. Calmette being wounded in the chest, in the side and in the abdomen.

While the editor was being transported to the hospital he said, repeatedly:

"I have done my duty, I have done my duty."

Having committed the deed, Mme. Caillaux submitted to arrest, and while employes were taking the pistol from her hands she said:

"Since there is no justice in this country I take upon myself an act of justice. Take me where you will."

Mme. Caillaux was immediately removed to a police station, where she underwent a preliminary examination.

"No Intention of Killing."

"I am sorry," she said at that time, "for what I was obliged to do. I had no intention of killing M. Calmette, and I would be happy to know that he will recover. I desired only to teach him a lesson."

At the moment of the attack M. Calmette was preparing to leave his office in the company of Paul Bourget, the author. He excused himself to receive Mme. Caillaux, who fired almost immediately.

In her statement to the police Mme. Caillaux explained that the campaign against her husband had become intolerable and she determined to stop it. She consulted an eminent lawyer, who advised her that legal proceedings would be futile—that these were often worse in the case of the innocent than in the case of the guilty. She decided to take the law into her own hands. She bought a revolver, drove to Figaro office and sent in her card.

Was Received by Editor.

M. Calmette asked what he could do for her.

"It is needless for me to pretend that I am making a friendly call," she said she answered.

"Then losing all control of myself at the thought of the humiliations inflicted on my husband by this man, I drew my revolver from my muff and fired all the cartridges. M. Calmette was surprised at the first report, and tried to take shelter behind a desk."

Mme. Caillaux was formally charged with attempted homicide and removed to St. Lasaire prison. Later the charge was changed to homicide.

Mme. Caillaux is the minister's third wife. She is 39 years old and her maiden name was Henriette Rainouard. She was the wife of Leo Claretie, brother of the late Jules Claretie, from whom she was divorced.

Attacks Were Daily Features.

The personal campaign of Gaston Calmette against Joseph Caillaux began on Jan. 12, and since then the attacks against the finance minister have been a daily feature.

M. Calmette asserted that M. Caillaux offered to pay $1,200,000 to M. Schneider, the legal representative of Marcel Prieu, who had entered claim against the government, on condition that 10 per cent of that amount should be turned over to the Radical party's campaign fund for the coming elections.

Marcel Prieu was a French merchant of Brazil. Thirteen of his ships were seized by the Brazilian government in 1880 on the charge that the customs regulations had been evaded. Eventually Brazil paid to the French government an indemnity of $3,000,000. Prieu's claim to this was repeatedly rejected, but his heirs in 1899 formed a syndicate to prosecute the claim.

M. Calmette also charged that M. Caillaux had "tapped" the Comptoir National d'Escompte and other banks to the amount of $80,000.

States postoffice and customs office and the murder of Postmaster Frank Johnston Saturday night by three men declared to be Mexicans.

Every man within a radius of ten miles of Tecate is fully armed and rifles and ammunition have been ordered from this city.

Governor Hiram W. Johnson was asked to make formal demand upon Governor Francisco Vasquez of Lower California for the delivery of the Mexicans suspected of having killed Johnson.

Maj. W. C. Davis, commander at Fort Rosecrans, received instructions from Washington to lend any assistance to the immigration and customs officials and keep the department informed of conditions. He had already taken initiative to the full scope of his authority.

Anti-Mexican feeling is aroused to fever heat in the vicinity of Tecate. Citizens of Tecate and other settlements within a radius of ten miles held a mass meeting last night at which resolutions were adopted demanding that United States troops patrol the border for at least six months.

Rebel Defeat Reported.

Laredo, Tex., March 17.—Decisive defeat of a column of Constitutionalist troops, en route, it is believed, to take part in the proposed attack on Monterey, Mex., at Bustamente canyon, is reported in official advices received at Federal headquarters at Nuevo Laredo.

The rebels were utterly routed, according to the dispatch, with a loss of about 500 men killed, captured or wounded. The Federal losses were not stated.

Bustamente canyon is about midway between Laredo and Monterey.

In their flight the Constitutionalists were said to have left behind large quantities of arms and ammunition, and the Federals claimed the capture of many wagons carying arms and supplies, and 100 loaded pack animals. The rebels, reported to be part of those marching against Monterey, were moving toward Morales, Nuevo Leon. Who commanded the forces engaged, was not stated.

Wants Peace Meeting.

Washington, March 17.—A conference of representatives of the warring Mexican factions in Washington, under the auspicess of the United States, was proposed in a resolution today by Representative Bartholdt, Republican, of Missouri, one of the international peace leaders in congress.

Representative Bartholdt's resolution requests the president to invite representatives of the Huerta government, the Constitutionalists and other revolutionary leaders, to meet here at as early a date as is practicable.

Another promise from Carranza to respect foreign life and property was received today through Consul Simpich at Nogales. Carranza has instructed Gen. Gonzales to permit Dr. Ferguson, an American, held in Sonora, to consult with the nearest American consul.

more than ever apparent that only an agreement between the railroad and the department can keep the case out of the courts.

Concessions Made.

The New Haven has consented to give up its steamship lines, and has consented to trusteeships for the Boston & Maine railroad and its trolley holdings in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. It became known that the railroad officials, at the last conference at the department, agreed that if the department would select trustees to take over the Rhode Island and Connecticut trolley properties from a list of names submitted by the New Haven, the system would give up these lines and make no demands as to the length of their trustees' service.

Messrs. Gregory and Adkins then left for New England and are expected to return to Washington with their report in time to participate in the next conference here Friday. If they advise an acceptance of the trustees' list submitted, it is probable that all other difficulties will be swept aside.

WHEN YOU'RE SICK YOUR WAGES STOP

You know what that means—misery—worry—big bills—debt!

You know you can't afford to get sick. Keeping in good health means food and clothing for you and your family. It is up to you to take care of yourself. It is up to you, whenever you don't feel right, to take something to make you right, to strengthen you, build you up, ward off worse sickness—protect you and your family. That thing we have in Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. In offering it to you, we protect you against money-risk, by personally promising you that, if it does not restore your health, we will give back your money without word or question. We believe it is the best builder of health, energy and strength you can get. It is helping many of your neighbors. If it don't help you, we will give back your money.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is composed principally of pure Olive Oil and the Hypoposphites. Each has long been indorsed by successful physicians. Here they are for the first time combined. The result is a remarkable nerve, blood and strength-building remedy that is both food and medicine. For all who are nervous, rundown and debilitated—no matter what the cause; for old people; for convalescents; for puny children, we know of nothing that will give health and strength as quickly as Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. It is a real builder of good blood, strong muscles, good digestion. Pleasant to take, it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. If you don't feel well, economize both money and strength by beginning today to take Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. Sold only at the Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

RESUME COAL WAGE TALK AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, March 17.—An adjourned joint conference of coal operators and representatives of the United Mine Workers of America was begun here today to select a new wage scale for the bituminous coal miners of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. The present scale will expire April 1.

A previous conference was held in Philadelphia several weeks ago and was adjourned at the request of the miners. At the Philadelphia meeting the miners made demands for 5 cents a ton advance, 10 per cent advance on dead work, and that all coal should be paid for on a mine run basis.

NEW THEATER WILL OPEN HERE JUNE 1

Veteran Theatrical Man Will Be Manager of the Grand.

Edward R. Salter of Detroit, Mich., who has been a familiar figure in the theatrical business for many years, will be the manager of the new Grand theater, now being built on the site of the old St. James hotel. Mr. Salter has arrived in Duluth and announced that the new playhouse would open its doors to the public June 1.

Mr. Salter is not an entire stranger to Duluthians for he visited this city thirty years ago, managing a company which appeared at the Dramatic temple.

EDWARD R. SALTER.

The new theater, which is being constructed by Moses S. Cook, Duluth, will cost $75,000, and will be new and up-to-date in every way.

The new theater will offer three performances a day presenting vaudeville and motion pictures. Five acts of vaudeville will be played and popular prices—10 and 20 cents—will prevail. There will be a matinee and two evening performances daily.

Several features new to Duluth are promised. One of these will be a "children's playground." This will be in the form of a large room at the theater where children will be provided with all kinds of toys to amuse themselves with while their parents are seeing the show.

HAS REAL SHAMROCK.

Michael F. Chalk, United States inspector of boilers, yesterday received a real shamrock from Ireland. The plant was in a pot and had been sent by friends of Mr. Chalk in his home county in Ireland.

Want It All Delayed.

New York, March 17.—Postponement by congress until its next regular session of all anti-trust legislation is asked in resolutions adopted by the Merchants' association of New York, representing 3,600 leading business establishments in this city. The resolutions "deprecate haste in the enactment of legislation of such importance before the judgment of the country has been fully consulted and has come, in President Wilson's words, 'to a clear and all but universal agreement.'"

TWO MORE MEETINGS.

Programs Arranged for Y. M. C. A. Wednesday Night Discussion.

There will be two more Wednesday night discussions at the Y. M. C. A. this season. On Wednesday, March 18, Dr. C. N. Thorp will give a review of the life of John G. Paton of the New Hebrides. Wednesday, March 25, Watson S. Moore of the board of trade will speak on "Why Be a Member of the Church?" Discussions will close at 7:45 o'clock.

These discussions have been conducted under the direction of Religious Secretary J. E. Hauter and have been of a very interesting nature. About forty has been the average attendance, and a fine spirit of sociability has prevailed.

BOMB INJURES TWO POSTAL OFFICIALS.

Melbourne, Australia, March 17.—Two government commissioners named Lee and Hastie were seriously injured yesterday by the explosion of a dynamite bomb. The bomb was mailed in Sydney and the men were opening it in a room in the government building. The building was partially wrecked.

Talk of "Childhood."

New Orleans, La., March 17.—At the national conference on child labor today, "Sixteen Years of Childhood for Ohio Girls" was the subject of an address by Miss Ella Haas of Dayton, Ohio, state factory inspector. Harry M. Bremer of New York, special agent of the National Child Labor committee, spoke on "Twilight Zone Between Childhood and Youth."

YOU'RE BILIOUS AND CONSTIPATED! LIVER IS SLUGGISH---DIME A BOX

Furred tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and constipated bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel cheerful and bully for months.

Don't forget your children — their little insides need a good, gentle, cleansing, too, occasionally.

WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

OLD FOLKS FIND NEW REMEDY RELIEVES ALL KIDNEY AND BLADDER MISERIES

Drives Rheumatic Pains Away, Relieves Backache and Bladder Disorders After a Few Doses Are Taken.

Sleep disturbing bladder weaknesses, backache, rheumatism, and the many other kindred ailments which so commonly come with declining years, need no longer be a source of dread and misery to those who are past the middle age of life.

The new discovery, Croxone, overcomes all such disorders because it removes the very cause of the trouble. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands and cells, and gives the kidneys new strength to do their work properly. It neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; and makes the kidneys filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood and drive it out of the system.

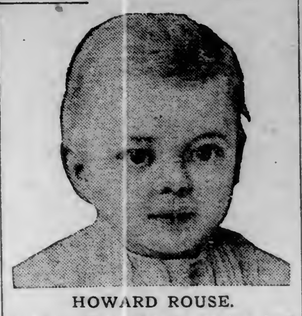
It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, Croxone is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work immediately and more than a few doses are seldom required to relieve even the most chronic, obstinate cases.

It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for restoring the lifeless organs to health and strength and ridding the system of every particle of uric acid, and you can take it with the utmost confidence that nothing on earth will so quickly cure such conditions.

You can obtain an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.

What So Precious as a Healthy Baby?

Every Youngster Can Have Fine Digestion if Given a Good Baby Laxative.



HOWARD ROUSE.

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet, babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But, as we cannot all have perfect working bowels, we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative-tonic very highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Its mildness makes it the ideal medicine for children, and it is also very pleasant to the taste. It is sure in its effect, and genuinely harmless. Very little of it is required and its frequent use does not cause it to lose its effect, as is the case with so many other remedies.

Thousands can testify to its merits in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches, etc., among them reliable people like Mrs. James R. Rouse of Marinette, Wis. Her little son Howard was fifteen months old last April, but he was sick with bowel trouble from birth and suffered intensely. Since Mrs. Rouse has been giving him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin all trouble has disappeared and the boy is becoming robust.

Thousands keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The users of Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and other harsh remedies for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

SAYS HE WAS PUT IN FALSE LIGHT

Bijou Theater Man Makes Statement Regarding Former Partner.

Declaring that he has been placed in a bad light by the suit started Saturday in district court by his partner, John Richardson, asking for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the Bijou theater and an order requiring him to make an accounting, Charles Pavey, known as Charles Collins, made a statement this morning in which he asks the residents of the West end not to misjudge him nor condemn him too quickly.

"All I ask," said Mr. Pavey this morning, "is that the people wait until the suit is over. I am being condemned for something I have never done."

Pavey asserts that Richardson did not attend to business and the latter gave up his partnership willingly last fall, when he was taken sick. Pavey denies the allegation made by Richardson in the suit that the former tried to push the plaintiff out of ownership of the theater.

Richardson, in his complaint against Pavey, says that the latter tried to obtain the theater by fraudulent means and he now asks the court to appoint a receiver for the playhouse and to also compel Pavey to make an accounting. Judge Fesler is considering the case.

THREATEN TO BRING SUIT AGAINST CITY

Property Owners Demand Release From Paving Assessment.

Unless the Twenty-seventh avenue property owners are released from their contracts by the city commission, they will hire an attorney and bring suit against the city, according to a motion passed at a meeting held last evening at the voting booth at Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street.

Forty property owners met at the meeting and it was the general opinion that the Twenty-seventh avenue pavement is below standard. Those assessed for the pavement refuse to meet the obligation. It was the concensus of opinion that the city should release them from their contracts especially since Commissioner Murchison has recently declared the new pavement to be below standard and not to contain the proper ingredients.

Charles Dice was appointed chairman of the meeting last evening and Peter Grignon was elected secretary. After a general discussion a committee of seven was appointed to take the matter up with the city commission and to have full power in representing the property owners.

John Moir, West end grocer, was named chairman of this committee, the other members of which are: Peter Grignon, Rev. F. O. Hanson, O. G. Hulberg, A. Hegland, James Maghan and Fred McClure.

The committee has already arranged to meet with Commissioner Murchison this afternoon and to learn where the head of the public works division stands on the matter.

SAYS NURSING IS WOMAN'S WORK

Superintendent at St. Luke's Speaks at Bryant Social Center.

"The nursing profession holds larger opportunities for women than any other calling, and the appeal for nursing is not mercenary, but a love for humanity," said Miss Beatrice Murdock, superintendent of nurses at St. Luke's hospital, in an address on "Nursing As a Profession" at the Bryant school social center meeting last evening.

"Nursing is a woman's job and it is the one profession in which the average man cannot successfully compete with members of the other sex. The more femininity a woman possesses the more are her opportunities as a nurse. This is accounted for by the importance of intuition in the profession. Although stoicism, in many cases is necessary, this applies principally to surgeons, while heart and a humane interest are essential to the success of all nurses.

"Most patients have some obsession of some kind. The illness is not only physical. To cure anything, it is always important to learn the cause. It is through learning from the patients what is troubling mentally, why they do not take an interest in life, why they are morose—which a large percentage are—and often through such intimate knowledge of the inside workings is the cure effected. It is a nurse's duty to encourage the discouraged, restore ideals in the lives of the misspent, to protect distressed patients, to renew hopes in the down-trodden, and, in a word, to adapt herself to every situation. This requires tact, an insight of human nature, biology and emotions, love for the work and a desire for the better. Nursing is an art in which the motive is prompted solely by love for humanity."

TWO BASKET BALL GAMES SCHEDULED.

A double basket ball game has been arranged between the boys' and girls' teams of the Spaa club and the alumni of the Cooper school in Superior.

The four teams will contend for honors next Friday evening at the Superior school gymnasium. The boys' quint has lost but one game this season, while the girls have gone through the winter with a clean record. Many West end rooters are planning to accompany the two teams Friday.

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

By Donald McCaskey, M. D.

THIS GOITER OPERATION ON ONE SIDE WAS A FAILURE.

A husband from a western state asks: "Can you give me any light on the following subject? My wife, to look at, is a very strong, healthy looking woman. But she is deceiving in this respect. Two years ago she was operated upon for goiter by the Mayos of Rochester, Minn., and for a while she improved very much. But lately she has been going backward. She is very nervous and worries a lot and has no strength. The goiter operation was a failure on one side, but recently she made the Mayos a visit, and they said that another operation would not benefit her health. Her menstrual period lasts about one week, with a very heavy flow. Much blood clotting occurs and the odor is very strong. Is this right? If not what can be done for it? She was examined by the Mayos and our local doctor at home, and they all say she is all right.

"I don't believe it.

"She has some pains and lots of backache. We have paid out considerable, and she is pretty well discouraged. Can you help us?"

If men like Dr. "Will" and Dr. "Charlie" Mayo, whom I have visited and know personally, say that your wife is all right, likewise your own local doctor, and if she still has pains and backache and you ask me if I can help her, I can only say that I must first of all know exactly what a personal examination would reveal.

I would put your wife through the routine course of examination which I put all my patients through as to their kidney elimination, and the relative amount of poison excreted—not once—but over a period of time of several weeks. I would have to give her a good physic and have each bowel movement collected in a separate vessel so that it could be studied as a unit.

As to the condition of her thyroid gland, you can safely feel that if Dr. "Will" or "Charlie" Mayo said their goiter operation was a failure and that another operation would not benefit her, you had better not insist on further annoyance of her thyroid. They have had more thyroid experience than any other living men, and I believe they know.

"I HAVE PAIN IN ALL MY NERVES."

A Minnesota inquiry says:

"I have dreadful pain in my right shoulder and down my right side to my leg. Also a misery in my bowels. I never have a natural passage, and when I do I feel much worse than before. My nerves are in a terrible condition. I have pain in all of them and at nights I cannot sleep and get no rest. I have tried so many doctors and have been to the Hot Springs—all no good. Dear sir, can't you prescribe something for me? etc."

There's no use to guess in the treatment of your condition.

You've evidently been guessing for a number of years. That's why you are still groping around in the dark.

Why not go to your doctor. Have your urine analyzed, your blood examined, your bowel movements carefully studied, your nerve reactions measured, etc. Evidently, you are in a frightful state of toxemia. First find out what is the cause of your trouble. That is your best plan.

HOW TO OVERCOME THE EMBARRASSMENT OF THE SUDDENLY FLUSHED FACE.

"What can I do for relief? I am annoyed greatly by the blood rushing suddenly to my face, which is a great embarrassment. I have been told I am too full blooded. Is this the case? Do you know of anything I can do to overcome this unpleasant condition, or do you think a doctor could cure me?"

Yes, a doctor can cure you. In your case, however, you, YOURSELF, can be the best doctor. There is absolutely no medicine which will rid you of your tendency to become embarrassed. Remember this:

Your tendency to have the blood rush to your face can be readily overcome. It will depend upon two things. First, get your internal system thoroughly cleansed of all its impurities. This will enable the nerves to better control the blood vessels which supply your face. The general principles of treatment will depend upon your taking weekly a five-grain dose of powdered calomel, followed in an hour by two ounces of castor oil, for a period of about two months, and also living upon a diet more richly supplied by graham bread, bran, wheat, fruits and vegetables. If you have been following these articles you will be able to know exactly what to do along this line from reading of the treatments of other readers.

The second thing you must do is to patiently cultivate a better poise and a more collected mental attitude. This especially applies when you are placed in any position which in the past might have been making you feel slightly embarrassed. You won't be able to acquire a stronger grip upon your feelings all at once, but I would counsel you to avoid thinking about your face, and do not talk to anybody about how to overcome your full-bloodedness. You can thank your stars that you have plenty of blood. Being "full-blooded," as your letter terms it, is indeed a blessing. Many folks would give a great deal to be fully and richly supplied with good blood. What your condition needs is, first of all, internal cleanliness, and then the cultivation of a better grip on your nerves, together with the above suggestions in diet.

DEMAND MORE PAY ON WESTERN ROADS

Firemen and Engineers Are Given Hearing at Chicago.

Chicago, March 17.—An increase in wages is being sought by the firemen and engineers on fifty-eight railroads west of Chicago, according to a statement at a conference of representatives of the men and the railroads.

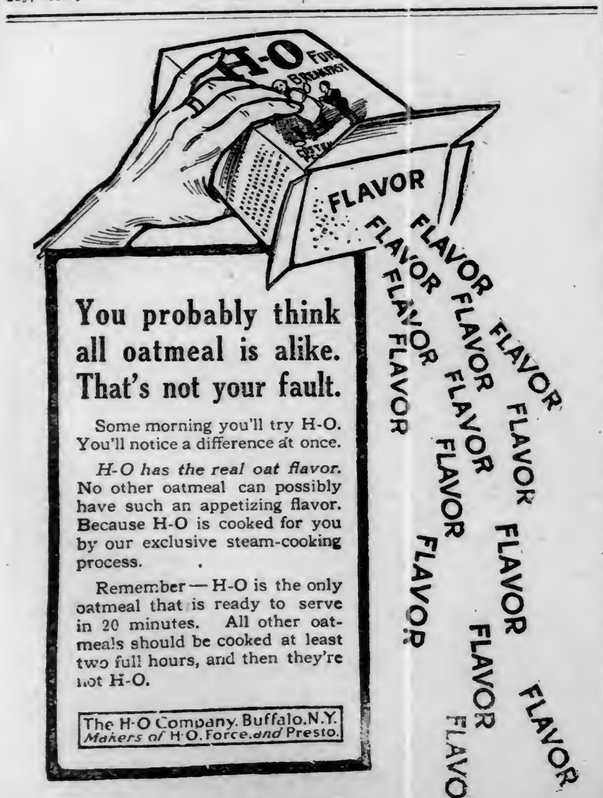
Warren S. Stone, president of the brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, represented the men and P. H. Morrissey, vice president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, and officials of twelve other railroads are representing the railroads.

The firemen and engineers gave notice last October. The hearings, it is expected, will continue for a month.

McCOMBS DECLINES ANY STATE JOB.

Albany, N. Y., March 17.—William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, has declined Governor Glynn's offer to nominate him for a position on the First district public service commission. Mr. McCombs' reason for his declining was that he desired to practice law.

Mr. McCombs has been active in furthering the governor's reorganization plan of the Democratic party within the state. He has been regarded as the personal representative of President Wilson.



You probably think all oatmeal is alike. That's not your fault.

H-O has the real oat flavor. No other oatmeal can possibly have such an appetizing flavor. Because H-O is cooked for you by our exclusive steam-cooking process.

Remember—H-O is the only oatmeal that is ready to serve in 20 minutes. All other oatmeals should be cooked at least two full hours, and then they're not H-O.

NINETEEN LIVE ORGANIZATIONS IN LINE.

Since the last writing four more organizations have indorsed the 1915 midsummer festival and pageant: the Commercial Travelers, the National Guard, the New Duluth Commercial club and the Gary Improvement club.

This makes nineteen organizations that have indorsed this project unanimously, and the nineteen include practically all of the active civic societies of the community except two or three which will act when their regular meeting time comes.

All these organizations are welcomed—the Commercial Travelers because they have the real boosting spirit and are "Duluth's Best Boosters;" the National Guard because its co-operation in the pageantry will be vitally needed; and the clubs up the river because they represent a part of the community and all parts of the community should be enlisted.

With such backing as this, representing as the growing list does every angle and department of the community life, the project for a great midsummer festival that shall make Duluth famous as the center and outfitting point for the greatest summer pleasuring ground on earth CANNOT FAIL.

Now comes the charge that Dave Rose isn't a Milwaukeean. This will be an awful shock to a lot of people who long ago got used to thinking Dave was Milwaukee itself.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

We don't know much about St. Patrick. Authorities disagree even as to his birthplace. Some say he was born in France, some in England, some in Scotland; and the weight of the evidence, unsatisfactory though it all is, seems to be that he was Scottish born, like that element in the northeast of Ireland which is making so much trouble for home rule.

At any rate, he was born and lived—a shining life. It is said of him that he found Ireland wholly heathen and left it wholly Christian. Of this part of his life and career there is no manner of doubt. He may or may not have driven the snakes out of Ireland, but certainly he drove out of it the imps of heathendom and left it a Christian land and a Christian people.

And so he is the patron saint of Ireland, and this day is the day the Irish celebrate wherever they may be. His name and career are very dear to the warm heart of Ireland, and so is this day.

And so, out of willing courtesy to these neighbors from the old sod, and in token of our affection for these warm-hearted, generous and lovable people for whose sorrows, as a people, the world's heart has often bled, we wear a sprig of green today and wish them health and happiness and freedom today and tomorrow and the morrow's morrow.

The United States bureau of mines estimates the mineral waste in the United States at a million dollars a day. Can't some of this be made into cash or something?

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS AND ITS ENEMIES.

The Associated Press is singularly favored by its enemies.

They have given it the opportunity to meet squarely and dispose of finally the two charges that have skulked at its heels ever since there was an Associated Press—that it pollutes the news at its source in the "interests of the interests," and that it is a monopoly.

We have already referred to the first charge, which was made by The Masses, a Socialist publication, and which will be met in a criminal libel prosecution begun against the editors of The Masses. This charge is ludicrous to anybody who knows that the Associated Press is not controlled by any little coterie of designing men inside or outside the newspaper business, but by the eight hundred newspapers that compose its membership. In this membership are newspapers representing all shades of political belief, except perhaps the extreme shade that stands for Socialism. Any attempt to color the news in favor of any political party, or in behalf of any selfish concept of political or economic theory, would be the signal for the biggest kind of a row—and no Socialist paper would have to start it, either.

And now the New York Sun, which is not a member of the Associated Press, has brought suit under the Sherman law, charging that the organization is a monopoly in restraint of trade in news.

If the Associated Press is a monopoly, then every co-operative concern in the United States, of whatever character, is also a monopoly; for that is precisely what the Associated Press is—a co-operative news-gathering organization of all the newspapers making up its membership.

The Sun suit will settle this issue finally and for all.

But here's a thing to think upon: If Associated Press news is tainted, it could be for only one purpose—to serve the special interests.

And if the news handled by the Associated Press were tainted in the interests of special privilege, would the New York Sun, of all newspapers in the world, be attacking it?

A NEW SMOKE ORDINANCE.

Duluth has a new smoke ordinance, the commissioners yesterday afternoon having voted its final passage unanimously.

That's good. Duluth needs it. A great deal of money is being wasted in various ways through lack of proper smoke regulation. Much of it is pouring out of chimneys in unutilized heat units, much of it is going to pay for needlessly soiled clothing and buildings. The element of health is not to be overlooked, either.

The policy of the commission on this issue, as we understand it, is wise. Those in charge of buildings are also showing wisdom in meeting the commission half way. The ordinance carries punishments for violation, but the aim of the city is to make it the basis of an educational campaign, and to use the club of these penalties only for people who refuse to be decent.

Duluth needs relief from the smoke nuisance, and we shall hope that the new ordinance and the new policy will bring it.

The Consular Reports say that horse-drawn cabs are disappearing in Stockholm, their place being taken by motor vehicles "which provide the public with a CHEAP and splendid method of transportation." Must be there's no word for "taxicab" in Swedish.

THERE IS PLENTY OF HOPE FOR MINNESOTA.

A pall of political pessimism seems to be sweeping over the state. And there's cause for it—though, as we shall show, no reason why it should be.

The state, body and breeches, is in control of the Eberhart machine, through its control of the Republican party—the party which, though all but annihilated in the nation, still is the dominant party in this state.

Two years ago the figurehead of this machine was nominated with two-thirds of the party vote against him, because the opposition was split among many candidates.

This year that melancholy bit of history seems about to repeat itself.

The machine's strength will be centered on one man—Eberhart—and a jangling, wrangling field of opponents is struggling to divide the opposition to him.

There is but one chance for the redemption of the Republican party. That lies in the elimination conference which meets Thursday; and that, at this date, seems all but certain to prove a failure. Its only chance is to kick out of the field all the elbowing scramblers now filling it, and center the opposition on one strong, capable candidate not now in the field. And that seems impossible because, no matter what the conference does, the candidates now in the field will remain in the field. The conference, judging from the reports from county conferences held Saturday, will not be strong enough to put any of them out. None of them meets the state's need; and if the conference picks still another man, that seems to mean only that the opposition to Eberhart and his machine will be still further divided.

Reason enough for political pessimism here, isn't there?

Yes, there is—for those who care only for party and little for the dignity and self-respect of the state, which are more important than any party.

The state's hope—its only hope—lies in the Democratic party; and that hope exists only if the Democrats, at their state conference March 31, rise to the splendid and almost unprecedented opportunity that lies before them to solve all the state's problems and rescue it from the shame that has come upon it by putting their strength behind some stalwart, commanding figure to whom the people, regardless of party, can turn for relief and rescue.

There are such men—plenty of them. Doubtless there are such men, and plenty of them, among the Republicans, too; but they are not likely to hazard their reputations by jeopardizing them in the frantic and unseemly scramble now in progress for the Republican nomination.

There is no such scramble in the Democratic ranks. Indeed, there is but one man seeking the Democratic nomination, and he will not get it.

Outside the swarming field of self-seekers stand men who, if they are impressed into the fight, can rally to their standards the public spirit and patriotism of a boss-ridden state with its waste and extravagance that always go with boss domination.

We have already named Senator Ole O. Sageng of Ottertail county—as square and upright and capable and attractive a man as lives and breathes in this state. The Democrats could win, and could rescue the state from its coil of shame and inefficiency, with him.

And there are others. There is Congressman Winfield Scott Hammond, long the only Democratic congressman from Minnesota—an appealing orator, an upstanding, convincing individuality, a staunch and attractive figure in public life, who would make a candidate fit to follow, to admire, to fight with and to win with.

There is Judge C. M. Stanton of Bemidji—an upright judge, a man of character and force, a builder of Northern Minnesota who has friends all through Southern Minnesota, where he used to live.

There is John Lind, long the "first citizen of Minnesota," now a commanding figure in the national field.

Let Minnesota turn from the disgusting spectacle in the Republican field—a melee of scrambling, fighting, scratching, bellowing place-hunters—and seek its leader elsewhere.

Let the Democrats shake off their lethargy and rise to their opportunity. They have the men, they have the chance. The state looks to them!

Bertha M. Clay Was a Man

From the Kansas City Star.

Lovers of the writing of Bertha M. Clay of sentimental novel fame, beloved of young romanticists wherever the English language is read, received a sad, sad jolt a few days ago, for the death of Thomas W. Hanshew in the Annesley suburb of London brought out the fact, astonishing to many, that Bertha and Mr. Hanshow were one and the same person.

Impossible! But true. It was Mr. Hanshew who penned "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" and hundreds of tales of a like nature in which virtue was always triumphant and poverty was united to nobility. This, perhaps, will be a most disappointing revelation to millions of readers all over the world. And it may be doubted by those who have pored over the works of the immortal Bertha. How could it have been possible that a mere man so beautifully understood and expressed the yearnings of the feminine heart?

Yet the fact remains that he did. Bertha M. Clay was only a pen name after all; and it was the pen name of a man. This literary goddess had feet of clay, as well as a name.

Mr. Hanshew was 56 years old. For the last twenty-five years he had been living in England. He was born in Brooklyn, N. Y. When he was 16 years old he went on the stage and was for a number of years a member of the company at Worth's theater, on the present site of Daly's theater, in New York. Later he played leading roles with Clara Morris and Adelaide Neilson. In the late '70s he gave up the stage and turned to writing for a living, always a precarious undertaking. But he seemed to sense the public's taste from the start, and he soon became identified with a publishing firm which he helped to build up through the popularity of novels written under the name of Bertha M. Clay and under many other nom de plumes.

Twenty-five years ago he went to England. And there he started an enormous fiction factory, which he kept going night and day. Novels of love and adventure, short stories, plays and, in recent years, motion picture scenarios he ground out with amazing rapidity. Altogether he was the author of more than 200 "dime novels." He had a dozen readers where more famous authors had one.

Hanshew accumulated several fortunes through his writings, but these were lost in unfortunate investments. At the time of his death he was under contract with a large publishing house in London to write four novels a year and two short stories each month. But the strain of this was too much. He died of overwork.

Like Harlan P. Halsey, "Old Sleuth," another Brooklyn man, who made a reputation by writing the same kind of novels, Mr. Hanshew was a man of character and was highly regarded by those who knew him.

Perhaps the day of dime novels and Bertha M. Clays is over. The motion pictures have encroached on their field as well as on that of the old-time melodrama, but there probably are thousands of men and women who remember vividly the exciting, thrilling, yet tender novels of Bertha M. Clay or Thomas Hanshew.

The Hen of Today

Collier's: No longer is the hen a straggler on society's fringe; her intensive culture is full of interest—or shall we say profits? If she cannot do better than seventy eggs a year (which is perhaps about what the farmer's hen has averaged—without a college education), it is into the pot "for hers." Evolution has labored in the making of a feathered lady like C 521, the Oregon experiment station's triumph, with her world record of 303 eggs in 365 days. In this process all our modern words come into play: heredity, environment, survival of the fittest, eugenics. But it is a case of factor development as well as race development, for the hen of today is above all a delicately organized machine, speeded up under scientific management. No more is the cry for show points and purity of strain. The champion of them all is a mongrel—seven-eighths Leghorn and one-eighth Plymouth Rock. It is the egg that counts, and egg-laying contests at the experiment station have proved that fine feathers don't make the finest bird, nor yet does the proper set of a rose comb or the correct tail carriage fix productivity. Poultry houses are no longer heated. We have the outdoor school for the supergirl at Bryn Mawr and like treatment for the Oregon superhen. In these costly days the fabled hen which lays an egg a day is second cousin to the goose that laid the egg of gold.

The Rosary of My Tears.

Some reckon their age by years,
Some measure their life by art;
But some tell their days by the flow of their tears,
And their lives by the moans of their heart.

The dials of earth may show
The length, not the depth of years—
Few or many they come, few or many they go—
But time is best measured by tears.

Ah! not by the silver gray
That creeps through the sunny hair,
And not by the scenes that we pass
on our way,
And not by the furrows the fingers
of care

On forehead and face have made—
Not so do we count our years;
Not by the sun of the earth, but the shade
Of our souls and the fall of our tears.

For the young are ofttimes old,
Though their brows be bright and
fair;
While their blood beats warm, their hearts are cold—
O'er them the spring—but winter is there.

And the old are ofttimes young
When their hair is thin and white;
And they sing in age, as in youth they sung,
And they laugh, for their cross was light.

But, bead by bead, I tell
The Rosary of my years;
From a cross to a cross they lead; 'tis well,
And they're blest with a blessing of tears.

Better a day of strife
Than a century of sleep;
Give me instead of a long stream of life
The tempests and tears of the deep.

A thousand joys may foam
On the billows of all the years;
But never the foam brings the lone back home—
He reaches the haven through tears.

Conduct is contagious.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Vice President Marshall has a streak of boyish mischievousness running through him and it is no respecter of persons or places.

Take, for instance, the remark he made to Champ Clark. On the day that Senator Bacon's funeral was held in the senate chamber, the vice president and the speaker of the house occupied seats side by side on the rostrum. The learned members of the supreme court of the United States marched in slowly, single file, and then came the president's cabinet, led by the secretary of state.

Knowing, as everybody knows, that Speaker Clark likes Mr. Bryan just as well as he does a rattlesnake—inasmuch as he might have been president, except for Bryan's doings at Baltimore—the vice president could not resist the temptation to lean over and whisper to Champ:

"There comes your old friend Bryan. Shall we stand up?"

"I'll be goldarned if I do," muttered Champ.

John Skelton Williams, the new comptroller of the currency, is by all odds the most dignified man connected with the present administration. Even when seated at his desk, engrossed in his work, and the room entirely stripped of callers, he is dignified. Nobody has ever seen him lean over his desk on his elbows. Usually he sits upright, straight as the conventional arrow. If he leans at all it is from his waist. He never relaxes the upper portion of his spine, no matter what engages his attention. Winter or summer he keeps his coat on. And that is not all. He not only keeps his coat on, but he keeps it buttoned up—each and every day in the year.

Tom Heflin, the handsome Alabama statesman, was approached a day or two ago by a colored man whom he had got appointed to a government job.

"Mistah Tom," said the negro, "will you lemme have three or fo' dollahs 'til tomorrow mawnin'. I'se goin' to a pahty."

"Can't spare it just now," said Tom. "The first day of the month approaches apace and I need the money."

"But I'll give it back to you in the mawnin'."

"How'll you be able to repay it so soon?"

"Oh, I'll give you back the same money you gives me. I jes' wan' it to kind o' rattle around in mah pocket."

Wrisley Brown, one of the keen-minded young attorneys in the department of justice, went to a small town in the Middle West a while ago to get some inside facts about the condition of a certain bank there. As he had been in the same locality a short time before, he feared his name might excite suspicion, and so when he registered at the little hotel he used an assumed name that occurred to him.

All day long he busied himself about the town and went to his hotel at night tired and footsore.

"Let's see, what's your room number?" asked the proprietor, when Wrisley went to the desk for his key.

"I forget," said Wrisley.

"What's your name, then? I'll look it up."

For the life of him Wrisley couldn't remember what name he had used when he registered that morning, and the register had been put away.

"I forget—er, that is—" began the usually self-possessed Wrisley.

"What! You don't know your own name?" shrieked the hotel proprietor. And he looked scared half to death. Nor would any amount of explanation go down.

"I'd be afraid to have such a fellow in the house," said he.

And as there was no other hotel in town Wrisley Brown was obliged to tramp the streets all night like an outcast.

Shortly after James M. Cox, now governor of Ohio, settled in Dayton, he heard that a certain lawyer there had been circulating a scandalous report about him. He verified the facts, satisfying himself of the guilt of the attorney, and then asked the man to come to his office. When the lawyer entered the office Cox locked the door and put the key in his pocket. Then he inquired quietly:

"Mr. Blank what would you do if you knew a man had invented and was circulating a scandalous story about you?"

The lawyer said he supposed he would overtake the man and try to lick him.

"That's what seemed to me the logical thing to do," commented Cox, still quietly.

"And," he added, "that is what I got you in here for."

Without further formality he began to "beat up" the lawyer the best he could, and when members of the office force broke open the door to see what was up and witness the entertainment, both men showed signs of the conflict. Most of the furniture in the room was broken.

The lawyer had to go to the hospital for a week, but it did not cost him anything. Cox insisted on paying the bill.

The Stirrup Cup.

My short and happy day is done,
The long and dreary night comes on,
And at my door the pale horse stands
To carry me to unknown lands.

His whinny shrill, his pawing hoof,
Sound dreadful as a gathering storm:
And I must leave this sheltering roof
And joys of life so soft and warm.

Tender and warm the joys of life—
Good friends, the faithful and true;
My rosy children and my wife,
So sweet to kiss, so fair to view—

So sweet to kiss, so fair to view;
The night comes down, the lights burn
blue;
And at my door the pale horse stands
To bear me forth to unknown lands.

Irishmen Not Hard Drinkers.

Chicago Inter Ocean: "In some mysterious way," says Seumas MacManus, the Irish writer, "Ireland has got the name of being a hard-drinking nation. This reputation is most undeserved. The Irishman may appear to drink more because when a Scotchman drinks it sinks to his heels and steadies him. When an Englishman takes a drink it goes to his stomach and he sits down in an easy chair, pleased with himself and all the world, and dreams of carrying the blessings of civilization—the Bible and the Bottle—to the heathen in remote corners of the world. But when an Irishman takes a sip of whisky he thinks himself selfish if he doesn't instantly go out and take the whole street into his confidence."

Truth and Justice.

Emerson: Truth is the summit of being; justice is the application of it to affairs.

Wanted—A Real Man for State Executive

Views of the state press on a much needed change.

Answer: Neither.

Eliminate 'Em All.

Brown's Valley Tribune: "If I am indorsed for governor by the conference, I'll abide by the action of the conference; but if I aint, I won't," seems to be the attitude of some of the anti-machine gubernatorial possibilities.

Makes Them Hysterical.

Albert Lea Tribune: The St. Paul Dispatch says that the forthcoming March 19 conference is getting to be "screamingly funny." Sure it is "screamingly funny," so "screamingly funny" that it is getting upon the nerves of the machine leaders.

But It Doesn't Want to.

Long Prairie Leader: The Minneapolis Tribune is having a very hard time over the proposed conference to be held March 19. We suggest that if the Tribune will get its mind off candidates for a moment and try to think of a body of patriotic men getting together who all believe alike as to state issues involved in the coming campaign, who are desirous of agreeing upon a candidate who will best represent their views, and who if they find the right man agreeing then to present his name to the people at the primaries for their indorsement, we feel certain its editorial struggles will bring forth better results.

Doesn't All Depend on Republicans.

Aurora News: The sincerity of the various candidates for the nomination for governor against Eberhart will be tested by the conference which will be held at Minneapolis March 19. Those who are opposed to Eberhart and the interests he is said to represent desire to unite upon the best man in the field and to stand back of him in the primaries. This would mean the speedy removal of Eberhart as a factor in Minnesota politics, but it is feared that the candidates will not abide by the choice of the conference, yet each one admits that to be successful he must have the united support of the opposition.

Drop Partisanship and Look for a Man.

Morris Sun: A large majority of the people of this state are heartily tired of the interest-dominated administration given us by the Eberhart-Smith machine, and will welcome any means whereby an able, unselfish statesman may be placed at the head of the Republican party as its candidate for governor. Even should the proposed convention be successful in selecting such a candidate, it will need a genuine awakening on the part of the voting public to place him in the governor's chair. No matter how well the work of the convention may be done, and even if the suspicion that it may have been called in the interest of some certain candidate for governor can be avoided, it nevertheless remains that it will be no easy task to defeat Eberhart, for after the elimination takes place, the field will present a very inviting appearance to more than one would-be governor, and no matter how little claim he may have on the place, he is sure to poll a few votes. The Eberhart crowd is going to see to it that there will be at least a few of these floating candidates.

A Lesson from Minnesota

Detroit Free Press: A pamphlet from the United States bureau of education furnishes material for some consideration as to our state institutions of higher education, giving as it does comparative figures for all universities partially or wholly supported by the various states.

It appears from these statistics that in Michigan the state college system, including the university at Ann Arbor, the agricultural school at Lansing and the mining school at Houghton, enjoys a total working income of $2,303,546. If we take Minnesota for comparison we find that its single institution, which combines the various activities separated in Michigan, has an income from all sources of $2,238,678.

The items that make up these respective totals vary, however, in the two cases. The amount received from the state is in Michigan $1,329,300 and in Minnesota $1,700,911, our own commonwealth being nearly $400,000 below its rival in its appropriations for collegiate education.

One result of this may possibly be revealed by further examination of the figures in the pamphlet. The amount credited to students' fees is $425,462 in Michigan, while it is only $196,161 in Minnesota, or quite a bit less than half what is collected from the students by our own state. Yet there is very little difference in the attendance at the two institutions, not enough difference certainly to represent this wide discrepancy in the total paid by the students.

The question raised by the pamphlet and its contents is whether Minnesota is not making it considerably easier than Michigan for the ambitious young men and women who desire to take advantage of public educational facilities. For the $400,000 or so extra that the western state spends in excess of what we appropriate her youth appear to be able to secure life training at a much reduced cost to themselves. And as long as we are committed to the policy of providing higher education at public expense, it would seem logical that the provision should do as much good as possible and put the facilities provided within the reach of as many of the people as it can be brought.

If the state can, by spending $400,000 more of public money, save $200,000 or so to the often needy students at its colleges the next legislature might profitly inquire whether it has not a worthy example in Minnesota's course with the state university.

An Able Resolver.

Philadelphia Evening Times: Too many men seem to make resolutions only to break them afterward. They are like Smythe.

When Smythe came home very late on Jan. 2, a cigar in his mouth and an odor of alcohol about him, his wife said bitterly:

"Only yesterday you swore off late hours, whisky and tobacco, and now look at you. You've broken all three of your resolutions!"

"Well, dearie, what of it?" said Smythe, in a hurt voice. "I can make others, c-can't I?"

Intimates.

Judge: Maude—Is Gertie Smithers a friend of yours?

Bertha—Yes. What has she been saying about me?

Results.

Judge: He—Unselfish, self-sacrificing women—those are the ones that make the best wives!

She—No doubt! and they also make the worst husbands.

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

Yesterday morning three sticks of dynamite exploded in the house of Edward Wagner at 813 Eighth avenue east, killing his 13-year-old boy, Otto, badly injuring Mrs. Wagner, scratching several others more or less and badly wrecking the building. Wagner is a German laborer and has a job at well digging at present. It has been necessary to blast rock by the use of dynamite, and yesterday Wagner, while he was eating his breakfast, placed some frozen dynamite by the cook stove and directed his 13-year-old son to watch it. One of the small children was in the attic and escaped injury.

Another candidate for the collectorship at the port of Duluth has come forward in the person of Beriah Magoffin. He is a close friend of Secretary J. G. Carlisle.

The newly organized Christian Endeavor union of West Duluth has elected the following officers: President, Miss E. M. Bundy; vice-president, J. C. Edmonson; secretary, Miss Edith Stewart; treasurer, Mrs. Emma Johnson.

A boom has been started for O. D. Kinney for the Republican nomination for congress to succeed Maj. M. R. Baldwin.

Ignatius Donnelly spoke for two hours last evening to an audience that completely filled the Temple on "The A. P. A. and the School Question." He expressed the opinion that the British government is at the bottom of the A. P. A. organization; that England wants the American people to fight over religion to blind them as to other things. Mr. Donnelly was introduced by John A. Keyes, who called Donnelly the first citizen of Minnesota, a man who has become distinguished in every department in which he has labored.

The World's Most Famous Dancing School.

Havelock Ellis in the Atlantic: There can scarcely be a doubt that Egypt has been for many thousands of years, as indeed it still remains, a great dancing center, the most influential dancing school the world has ever seen, radiating its influence to south and east and north. We may, perhaps, even agree with the historian of the dance, who terms it "the mother country of all civilized dancing." We are not entirely dependent on the ancient wall pictures of Egypt for our knowledge of Egyptian skill in the art. Sacred mysteries, it is known, were danced in the temples, and queens and princesses took part in the orchestras that accompanied them. It is significant that the musical instruments still peculiarly associated with the dance were originated or developed in Egypt; the guitar is an Egyptian instrument, and its name was a heiroglyphic already used when the Pyramids were being built; the cymbal, the tambourine, triangles and castanets, in one form or another, were all familiar to the ancient Egyptians, and with the Egyptian art of dancing they must have spread all around the shores of the Mediterranean, the great focus of our civilization, at a very early date. Even beyond the Mediterranean, at Cadiz, dancing that was essentially Egyptian in character was established, and Cadiz became the dancing school of Spain. The Nile and Cadiz were thus the two great centers of ancient dancing, and Martial mentions them both together, for each supplied its dancers to Rome.

THE SMOKE NUISANCE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The smoke nuisance is a problem that worries many concerns and some recommend this and that to prevent smoke. Thousands of dollars have been spent in smoke preventing apparatus without result. Some engineers recommend mechanical stokers to prevent smoke; but even these will not prevent it, although they are a money saver in big plants in saving labor, such as a fireman or two. It is the heat of the furnace which makes the combustion of gases and from 2,000 to 3,000 deg. is the most heat that can be got in a furnace, and as the poorer grade of coal contains a big percentage of carbon and hydrogen, which requires from 5,000 to 6,000 deg. to burn, so to have a perfect combustion it must be at the highest temperature and at this rate a load must be carried on the boiler to keep steam down.

The biggest trouble in having smoke is lack of draft. A perfect draft is the only remedy, because under perfect draft the carbon burned to carbon-dioxide or CO2 gives 14,600 B. T. U. of heat per pound, but if poor draft it will not combust and the carbon burned will be CO and only about 4,400 B. T. U. per pound, so it will be seen, through insufficient draft, over 10,000 B. T. U. of heat per pound is lost, which goes up in smoke and causes smoke.

If you cannot get enough natural draft use a force draft and burn anthracite culm (dust) and Yoehigheny coal 2 to 1, as anthracite is smokeless and contains from 92 to 100 per cent of fixed carbon, or bituminous coal used with coking system of firing is best where not a heavy load of steam is carried or needed and is smokeless.

Here are some don'ts to engineers:

Don't get under obligation to any company you buy from by taking free gifts, etc., but be honest with the party you work for.

Don't accept dock-burned coal, slate rock (splint) and slack or dirt. When your company pays for screening it is robbery.

Don't blame the fireman for the smoke. The blame is on you; get your system and draft in shape and if he does not know how, teach him to fire. Fight for honesty to the last ditch.

Yours truly,

CARL SEVERSON,
Engineer and Fireman.

REV. A. J. DAHLSTROM NOT THE "WHITE SLAVER."

To the Editor of The Herald:

The daily papers have had lengthy reports concerning a Mr. Dahlstrom, who, it is claimed, has been a Baptist minister and who has been convicted at Seattle, Wash., under the Mann act for white slavery. These reports are of much interest to many in Duluth, because of this Mr. Dahlstrom having been here and preached his demoralizing doctrines of free love, and we sincerely hope that this person who has come under the guise of a minister of religion shall by the laws of our land be placed where he shall no more poison the atmosphere with his vile and pernicious doctrines. We blush to think this brute is of Swedish nationality and that he has put such a dark blot upon our fair nationality. We have no apology whatever to offer for such a crime as he has been found guilty of.

The good name of one Rev. A. J. Dahlstrom, who is at present pastor of the Swedish Baptist church of St. Cloud, Minn., and who formerly was pastor of a Baptist church in St. Paul, has been confused with the name of the above mentioned Dahlstrom. Permit me to say that I am personally acquainted with this pastor at St. Cloud, and his character is above reproach and he has for over twenty years been pastor in the Baptist denomination, but this Dahlstrom who has been convicted of white slavery by the courts has never been a Baptist minister, and the 30,000 Swedish Baptists of America will bear me out in this my statement. I feel that in justice to this my personal friend and fellow worker in the ministry, Rev. A. J. Dahlstrom of St. Cloud, and in justice to the denomination that has been drawn into this unfortunate mix-up and in justice to the good people of Duluth who have read these press reports, this little explanation is demanded of me, being fully acquainted with the case in question. Respectfully yours,

SWANEY NELSON,
Pastor, Swedish Baptist Temple.

MINERAL RIGHTS ON STATE LAND

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly inform me upon the following matter: After making a purchase of timber land in Northern Minnesota from the state I find mineral deposits thereon of such a quality and in sufficient quantities to interest a mining company. In the event of my selling outright to the latter, what amount is claimed by the state, or if the ore is leased on a royalty basis, what part goes to the state?

I have heard various conflicting statements on this matter; please give me the exact facts. Yours truly,

GEORGE SWINDLEHURST.

Marcy, Minn., March 16.

When the state sells its timber lands it reserves all mineral rights to itself This has been the law for years. Only the surface rights and timber are conveyed, the state in all cases reserving all rights and claims to any mineral deposits which may be discovered on the land. Mineral rights cannot be sold from timber lands purchased from the state except by the state itself.—The Editor.

A SHAMROCK FROM IRELAND.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Dear emblem of my native land, green Erin far away;
Sweet memories arise before my mind on this St. Patrick's Day.
Now I think upon the time, the days that are no more
When I roamed 'midst the shamrocks in Erin's lovely shore.

Dear little shamrock, soon may you breathe the air of liberty;
Too long you are trampled on, but soon you will be free;
Home rule will be our battle cry and we never will give o'er
Till the flag of freedom in triumph waves upon Erin's lovely shore.

Oh, Erin's sons and daughters, may your Ireland soon be free,
The great Redmond, our president, our ships upon the sea,
An army like George Washington had, Barry and brave Lee,
Like them, too, we are fighting for Erin's liberty.

And when the flag of freedom float at the foot of Emmet's grave
We'll not forget the starry flag of this land of the brave;
For it sheltered Ireland's army in her darkest days of woe,
And always was our allied friend in subduing Erin's foe.

COMMON LAW MARRIAGES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

What constitutes a common law marriage? Is it legal in Minnesota, and must same be registered, and if so, where? Have lived with my wife three years without a license or ceremony, have always acknowledged her as my wife and vice versa—are we committing a crime? We cannot get a license now in Duluth without being found out by neighbors and friends. What do you suggest? Please answer through Open Court. Very truly yours,

C. L. M.

Duluth, Minn., March 16.

Marriage is a civil contract which unites two parties as man and wife. When a man and a woman contract between themselves to live together as man and wife and hold themselves out to the world as such, in the absence of further ceremony it is a legal marriage under the common law, and recognized as such in Minnesota. To register a common law marriage, all that it is necessary to do is to take out a license and pass through a marriage ceremony. Although a common law marriage is legal under the laws of this state, it is not as secure from attacks in the courts in matters involving property as would be a duly licensed and registered marriage. The editor would suggest that C. L. M. take out a wedding license and be properly married by a minister or a judge for the sake of any children he may have now or in the future. If the fear of publicity restrains him, the editor will assure him that The Herald will not publish an account of the wedding. Go frankly to the editors of each paper here, explain the situation, then go to the clerk, get a license and be married. Newspapers are not in the business of discouraging people from doing right.—The Editor.

A NEW DRED SCOTT

By SAVOYARD

Washington, March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The other day the supreme court of the United States undertook to construe the pure food law and handed down an opinion which warrants a manufacturer of flour to put a little poison in his merchandise to give it a more captivating appearance when viewed by the consumer, who is bound to purchase it unless he would be like the fellow Dr. Arbuthnot tells us of, who sowed his grain on a rock. It is rather gross for quotation and hence I refrain. If the miscreant who would deliberately undermine your health by selling you impure foodstuff is allowed to adulterate his commodity with a small quantity of deadly drug, do you know that he will find a way—and immunity—to employ a great quantity of the poison if it be cheaper than the bulk of his product?

You can't pick up a newspaper without finding that somebody has died of "heart failure." More than 90 per cent of those deaths are due to impure foods, impure drinks, impure medicines. It is a historic fact that some thirty years ago a mill in this country sold large invoices of "pure wheat flour" that was one-fourth ground limestone. Now, that is not so bad, for, while not at all nutritious, lime is not a deadly poison. When the pure food law was enacted there was baneful poison in nearly every can of peas, tomatoes, and beans you bought at the corner grocery. The tomato catsup was villainous, and the maple syrup atrocious.

Well, these things under the pure food enactment were beginning to get so a mortal man could eat 'em without regard to the doctor, the druggist and the undertaker; but here comes the United States supreme court with a decision that, for all practical purpose, nullifies the pure food law and we have it laid down that the right of the citizen in this land is so boundless that the law may not deter when he goes out to poison his neighbor. That is what the decision is, and all it is.

Thomas Jefferson, touching matters of human importance, had as clear a vision as any man who ever lived, and perhaps he was the greatest Democrat with a little "d" who has lived since the Prophet Moses and who was mortal man—Mr. Jefferson was jealous of the bench and he declared that if our republic failed it would be found that the judiciary supplied the sappers and miners to conduct the siege of the citadel. Had Jefferson followed the counsel of his kinsman, Randolph of Roanoke, things would be different, and his other kinsman, John Marshall, would not have been the constructive statesman he was.

Those fathers of ours sought to form a government of the people, but they put so many checks and balances that the thing is nearly become a failure. Congress does not know what the laws it enacts are till it hears from the supreme court. There are folks who will tell you that when John Marshall asserted the right of the bench to judge and pass upon the acts of legislatures it was usurpation; but the country accepted his preachment and has lived it except in the Dred Scott decision touching which there was a referendum to the sword that decided the thing at Gettysburg some years later.

The only great government you can put your finger on that is a government of the people is Great Britain. There the legislature is supreme and the people made the legislature. Frequently it is provided in an act of the British parliament that "in construing this statute the courts shall hold," and then the legislature goes on to tell the court how it must decide a question arising out of the construction of the act. That is government by the people.

Theodore Roosevelt made a political platform out in Chicago in 1912 and more than four millions of his fellow citizens, legal voters, indorsed it at the polls. His platform was a practical abolition of the Constitution of the United States, especially the judiciary. It is the British Constitution except that it goes that principle of government a few better. The demand for the referendum of court decisions is radical Socialism. Perhaps that will come and this decision touching the pure food law handed down by Mr. Justice Day, nullifying that universally popular law, will add immense strength to the Roosevelt propaganda of popular scrutiny of court adjudications.

Mr. La Follette says he is going to try to amend the thing and he ought to set about it at once; but who knows that La Follette is lawyer enough to draft a statute that the supreme court cannot drive a coach-and-four through? When Roosevelt promulgated his radical platform, in vital respects substituting the British system for the American system, throwing a few socialistic furbelows in, folks thought him crazy. But he got millions of votes and had this pure food decision been handed down in October, 1912, instead of in February, 1914, his vote would have been enormously augmented.

It is the duty of congress to set about the enactment of a pure food, drink and drug law that will stand the racket and run the gantlet of the United States supreme bench; but congress never yet met a live issue unless the people first laid the lash on the shoulders and put the spear to the flanks of congress and kept it to the task.

Congress has now got, and always has had, hookworm—congress, in normal state, is a clay-eater.

TERRE HAUTE MAYOR MUST FACE CHARGES

Picking of Jury for Trial Will Begin on Friday.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 17.—Motions to quash two of three counts in the indictment charging Mayor D. M. Roberts with conspiring to disrupt elections were overruled by Charles M. Fortune in the circuit court here yesterday. The second count in the indictment was stricken out.

Mayor Roberts now must face charges of conspiring to hire persons to apply unlawfully for registration and to make false statements to the registration board, and of conspiring to hire persons to vote more than once in each and all of the precincts at the last city election. The second count was stricken out of the indictment on the ground that it duplicates the other two charges.

Immediately after announcing his decision, Judge Fortune ordered the sheriff to summon a special venire of fifty men to appear in court Friday, when the work of selecting the jury will be started.

When court convened yesterday every person who entered was stopped by the sheriff and his deputies and searched for weapons. Even the prosecuting officers, Judge Fortune and the counsel for the defense were forced to submit to be searched.

ROOSEVELT WILL FINANCE SCIENCE

Offers to Pay Half Toward South American Exploration.

New York, March 17.—Theodore Roosevelt, upon his return to this country, will finance in part an expedition to enter South America to complete the exploration work that he is carrying on there now, according to correspondence received from him and made public by the American Museum of Natural History. In letters addressed to Prof. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the museum, and Frank M. Chapman, curator of ornithology, the colonel offered to give the institution $2,000 and to assist in raising $4,000 more for the purpose named. It was said at the museum that the offer had been accepted.

Discovered a River.

Col. Roosevelt wrote that the region entered by his party is productive of wonderful scientific results. He told of one river having been discovered and of many mammals and birds obtained. A giant tapir, white lipped peccaries and several bush deer are some of the game which the colonel said his rifle brought down.

Writing of the health of the members of his expedition, the colonel stated that his son, Kermit, Anthony Fiala and several others had suffered slight attacks of fever, but otherwise all were well.

COURTS ADJOURN WHILE ATTORNEYS HEAR TAFT

In order to give a number of local attorneys an opportunity to hear the address of Former President William H. He will return the latter part of the week.

HANNA AND ROE IN LEAD IN DES MOINES.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 17.—Maj. James R. Hanna and Councilman Zell Roe were nominated from a field of seven candidates for mayor yesterday. The final election will be held next Monday. Mayor Hanna swept the city, receiving 8,852 votes to Roe's 4,511.

The fight for places on the councilmanic ticket was featured by the defeat of two candidates for re-election, Councilmen W. A. Needham and F. T. Van Liew. Two eleventh-hour candidates, W. F. Mitchell and R. M. Galbreath, led the ticket.

The others nominated were: Councilman J. I. Myerly, Fred German, John L. Hamery, Former Councilman J. M. Leonard, Harry B. Frase and James J. Conroy. Conroy displaced Councilman Van Liew by more than 1,000 votes.

MINING COMPANY DISPUTES CLAIM.

April 4 has been set by Judge Martin Hughes as a date for a hearing on a disputed claim under the workingmen's compensation act between the Bangor Mining company, employer, and Mike Varisak, employe. Varisak, on Dec. 12, 1913, was caught in a cavein and sustained serious injuries, which he claims two physicians have told him cannot be cured. The mining company disputes the seriousness of his injuries. The hearing will be conducted by Judge Hughes at Hibbing. Varisak has a wife and six children in Austria-Hungary.

WOULD STOP WASTEFUL METHODS OF CARRYING OUT DRAINAGE PROJECTS

State Ditches, County Ditches and Judicial Ditches Not Planned Comprehensively—Reform Proposed By Efficiency Commission.

St. Paul, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—An owner of land in Aitkin county, say, comes to the office of the state drainage engineer. What's the ditch assessment on my land? he asks. If it is a state ditch the figures are in the office.

But if it is a county ditch, or a judicial ditch, the state engineer cannot answer the question, may not even know there is such a ditch. If it is a county ditch, the owner can get the information from the county auditor. If it is a judicial ditch, the owner must find out in which county the proceedings were held, and then he can get the information from the clerk of court in that county.

The state does not know what county ditches have been constructed nor how most of them have been made. The state department has no data on the ditches that are dug, except state ditches, and sometimes cannot get hold of any data.

Not Done Comprehensively.

Suppose a county digs a ditch through sections 15 and 22 with an outlet through sections 28 and 32. Suppose a ditch is proposed afterwards in the west half of that town covering half a dozen sections with an outlet through 29 and 32. You can imagine a case—and E. V. Willard and George A. Ralph could point our cases—where it would have saved a mile of ditching if the first plan had been carried out with reference to the whole drainage area. Jobs are done piecemeal that should have been done comprehensively. Jobs are done for one or two sections that should have been planned for half a township or for half a county.

For that wasteful way of doing business only one fault is to be found. That is in the way the department is organized. No engineer, Ralph or Willard or anyone else, is going to let that happen willingly. It hurts any engineer just as it offends your wife to see one of her friends in a 1911 frock.

Has All Needed Information.

That is not the worst of it. The state has a practically complete survey of its water sheds, drainage areas and water courses. It has all the information needed to make a plan for any drainage work that might be carried on by any county or group of property owners. But that plan has never been drawn.

Suppose Mr. Hill spent $20,000 getting architects to figure up the $4,000,000 building he is just starting in St. Paul. Suppose when he got the plans he locked them up in a closet. Suppose he then hired competent workmen to put in the foundations, and another set to get out material for a roof, and another crew to order floor beams that they guessed would be strong enough. It might be well to build the pyramids that way, though it must have been wasteful. But if there is to be any relation between the strength of foundations, the dimensions of beams and the duties to be laid on them, the builders must go to work in a very different way.

So Minnesota's drainage projects, which will run into millions of dollars without any question. The very first thing to do is to organize the department. If it is put in with other public works, as the efficiency commission proposes, it cannot get into the absurd and lossificacious place where the legislature has left it.

TWO COMPANIES FILE LIEN ACTIONS.

In district court yesterday afternoon, the Burns Lumber company instituted a mechanics lien action against J. J. Farm and Chris Johnson, in which the court is asked to order the sale of a building at Proctor to satisfy a claim of $156.40 held by the lumber company against the owner of the premises. The claim is for lumber and millwork furnished for the improvement of the property.

The E. S. Farrell company in a lien action filed yesterday afternoon against the Hillsdale college, the Goldberg Clothing company, Charles P. Meyers, and others, ask that the premises at 14 East Superior street be sold to satisfy a claim for $611.84 for supplies and labor furnished in the repair and improvement of the property. The work was done, it is claimed, at the request of R. T. Bennett of the Bennett Cafeteria company, which is now in the hands of a receiver.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

WILL BRING COOPER BACK

Requisition Issued on Oregon Executive for Alleged Jury Briber.

First Hearing in Grand Forks' Alleged Jury Bribery Next Friday.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prosecuting authorities in the cases growing out of the alleged bribery of the McLain Cooper jury here have to show their hand during the preliminary examinations of the several defendants.

Next Friday E. N. Bruyers of Larimore will be arraigned. Bruyers has not obtained bail yet, and, like J. C. Stevens, the other juryman under arrest, he is held at the county jail under close guard, with little possibility of being able to give an interview.

Stevens yesterday appeared in justice court and was bound over to the district court under a $2,500 bond for agreeing to receive a bribe. He has not been able to obtain bonds. The charge against Stevens of having accepted $30 from J. A. Sullivan was dismissed.

To Bring Cooper Back.

Governor Hanna late yesterday granted the request of the local county authorities for requisition on the governor of Oregon for McLain Cooper, under arrest at Hood River, Or., for jury bribing.

The young man's attorneys attempted to obtain an additional hearing before the governor, asking that a more definite showing be made than that provided through the complaint and warrant. Governor Hanna, however, held that the county officials had made sufficient showing.

Cooper will continue the fight against extradition before the governor of Oregon. Deputy Sheriff W. J. Doty of this county left Bismarck last night for Hood River to secure the prisoner, who is now under bonds.

Cooper to Resist Extradition.

Before Governor West of Oregon, Cooper's fight will be based particularly on the question of his right to protection against the service of papers in a civil action in this state. Suit for $50,000 damages is pending in this state, service being held because Cooper has been absent from the state. The action grows out of the killing of J. F. Ross, of which Cooper was acquitted, and the widow is the plaintiff.

Andy Sullivan, the bailiff who has given the state its evidence, appeared in justice court yesterday afternoon and his hearing on the charge of offering to give a bribe was continued to March 30. Sullivan was released under $5,000 bail, signed by himself.

ARE VOTING IN NORTH DAKOTA

Election of Village and Township Officers Is Being Held.

Fargo, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Township and village elections are in progress over North Dakota today. Under the new law the elections will from now on be biennial instead of annual.

Three supervisors, a clerk and treasurer are elected in each township. The road overseers are appointive from now on and one man has charge of the entire township. The law made other minor changes that will tend to simplify the government of the townships.

PROMINENT INDIAN CALLED TO REWARD

Henry Hanks, Civil War Veteran and Leech Lake Tribe Leader, Dead.

Walker, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry Hanks, one of the foremost Indians of the Leech Lake reservation, died Sunday after a week's illness, at the age of 69 years. Mr. Hanks served his country in the Civil war as an Indian scout and sharpshooter and was awarded several medals of honor for his bravery. He had also represented his tribe at Washington on two occasions, by heading delegations which appeared before the president, asking for fairer treatment at the hands of the Indian department which has been withholding tribal funds. He was the best known Indian on the reservation.

ALLEGE SHORTAGES.

Two Dunn County, N. D., Officials' Books Show Discrepancies.

Manning, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Allegations of a shortage in the accounts of both County Treasurer Larson and County Auditor Evans are made in the report of the findings of the experts engaged to examine the county records. The shortage in the office of the treasurer is claimed to be $739.07; said to be due to confused bookkeeping methods, rather than to any other cause and the amount has been put up by the treasurer. Larson resigned but a few days later withdrew his resignation.

In the case of the county auditor the amount is placed at $468.75, all of which is confined to the transfers in the auditor's office for which that official collected 25 cents each. Prior to March of 1911 there is doubt as to whether the fees were not personal requisites of the official. Since that time, it is claimed they should have been turned over. The amount since March, 1911, is $195.25, which the auditor has tendered.

WHITTIER ON JOB.

Parole Agent Who Was Wounded Is Attending to Duties.

Stillwater, Minn., March 17.—Frank A. Whittier, parole agent of the state prison is at his office again in the old prison.

Mr. Whittier is rapidly recovering from the wounds inflicted two weeks ago at the corner of Fifth and Jackson streets, St. Paul, by the parole violator, Mike Radovac. There are two holes in his hat, produced by the first shot at him by the escaped convict.

LOSING GREELEY RELIC.

Upper Michigan Home of Great Editor Going Into Decay.

Eagle River, Mich., March 17.—Through neglect, Copper county people are losing a place of great historic interest—the old Horace Greeley home at Manitou. In a little old log house in Keweenaw county, Horace Greeley, who was in those days a figure of national importance, is said to have edited the New York Tribune away back in a winter of the early fifties. The roof of the structure has fallen in and the walls are rapidly crumbling. Within a short time, unless something is done to restore the building, there will be nothing left to restore. It has been suggested that this is a matter of investigation for the Keweenaw Historical society.

ACCUSED OF SALE OF MORTGAGED HORSES.

Mott, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Norman Gregerson of Bentley was arrested on complaint of the officials of Morton county. He is charged with selling mortgaged property. He purchased a traction engine from the International Harvester company, and among other security was some horses. It is claimed he sold the horses which were later seized by the representatives of the machinery concern and the purchaser is now after Gregerson.

15,000 BUSHELS OF POTATOES SHIPPED

Thirty Carloads Sent From Barnesville, Minn., to Southern Points.

Barnesville, Minn., March 17.—Thirty carloads of potatoes, or 15,000 bushels, were shipped from this city last week to markets in Illinois, Iowa and Missouri. This is the largest shipment recorded in a week from this point. Most of the shipments have been accompanied by men, who have been sent by the shippers that no loss may occur should the weather suddenly turn cold.

LAUNDERERS MEET.

Several Matters Discussed at North Dakota Gathering.

Fargo, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota Laundrymen's association will conclude their annual meeting late this afternoon. The session has been largely attended and of considerable interest. The speakers this forenoon were I. F. Moultrop on "The Parcel Post, Advantages," and Prof. Ladd of the Agricultural College on "Applied Chemistry." This afternoon's speaker was W. A. Collins of Grand Forks, following which the business session was held. The selection of the next place of meeting, the election of officers and other matters will be disposed of before adjournment.

LAWYERS IN COMBINE.

State Practitioners Claim Twin City Wholesalers Act Unfairly.

St. Paul, Minn., March 17.—Fifteen lawyers from various cities of the state completed the organization yesterday of the Northwestern Lawyers' association here. The purpose is to protect its members against what they claim to be the unfair treatment meted out to them by the wholesale houses in the Twin Cities.

"The wholesalers allow us to spend our time looking up credits for them without making any payment therefor, and then when they have a case in one of our cities, they send lawyers from here to handle them," said Miles Porter of Mankato, prime mover in the plan.

William A. Martin of Crookston was chosen president; E. M. Webster of Glenwood, vice president; Miles Porter, treasurer, and Joseph Moonan of Waseca, secretary. The executive committee follows: Herbert M. Bierce, Winona; S. S. Smith, Worthington, and J. J. Quigley, St. Cloud.

Membership will include lawyers from the Twin Cities as well as those from the smaller cities in the state. North and South Dakota lawyers also will be included. The executive committee will meet April 7.

FATHER MAY SUE SLAYER OF SON

Convicted Williston Autoist May Face Civil Action.

Williston, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Baldwin, recently found guilty of manslaughter in the second degree for killing a boy with an auto and fined $500, will make an appeal to the supreme court from such verdict.

It is reported that Baldwin will be made the defendant in a civil suit by A. O. Amundson, father of Edon Amundson, the 12-year-old boy whom Baldwin is accused of killing through criminal carelessness.

NORTH DAKOTA BOY DROWNS AT SHIELDS.

Shields, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—While playing with two smaller children on a small pond, the 8-year-old son of Edward Green was drowned. One of the smaller children remained at the pond, while another ran to the house and informed the relatives. The body was floating on top of the water when helpers arrived but efforts at resuscitation failed.

HALF OF WALKER ATTENDED CHURCH.

Walker, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walker's go-to-church Sunday brought an attendance at the several churches of the village equal to one-half the population of the place. Walker has not the reputation of being a go-to-church town and the attendance at Sunday's services was an agreeable surprise to all interested in church work. The special church day had been advertised a week ahead with posters and newspaper advertising, which resulted in 500 out of the village's 1,000 population attending church.

LIBERAL WATER OFFER.

Williston, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The most liberal terms yet offered users of water under the Williston and Buford-Trenton irrigation projects are set forth in the statement of the project engineer.

Water will be delivered at $1 per acre foot, payable 50 cents before the water is delivered, and 50 cents Dec. 1, this year.

On the Buford-Trenton project, at least 1,000 acres must be signed up prior to April 1 to provide for the irrigation, but no such provision is made with reference to the Williston project.

Held on Perjury Charge.

Stanley, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with committing perjury in swearing he was an American citizen at the recent election held here, Valento Jasmanka, an Austrian, is under arrest.

The prosecution of Jasmanka, it is understood, grew out of an investigation that followed chance remarks by the accused man. Jasmanka was bound over to the district court.

Sawyer County Institute.

Couderay, Wis., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Sawyer county teachers' institute will be held in the high school building at Hayward, March 20 and 21, and will be conducted by V. E. McCaskill, president of the Superior normal school; C. J. Brewer, superintendent of schools of Chippewa Falls, and Mrs. Effie M. Harrington, superintendent of schools of this county.

Gladstone Boy Killed.

Escanaba, Mich., March 17.—Maurice Sandstrom, 7 years old, son of John Sandstrom of Gladstone, Mich., was killed instantly Sunday afternoon when a log from a pile near which he was playing rolled off and crushed his body.

Seek Former Newspaperman.

Manning, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with embezzlement Lester H. Parker, formerly connected with the newspapers here, is wanted by the officials. He was a member of a dramatic club that put on shows in different towns in the county and it is claimed he left with the proceeds.

LAND BRINGS $160 PER ACRE.

Litchfield, Minn., March 17.—The highest price paid for Meeker county land was reached here last week when Nels Olson sold forty acres with no improvements for $6,400, or $160 an acre.

Made Deputy Revenue Collector.

St. Paul, Minn., March 17.—John Delehanty, Doyle, Minn., has been appointed general deputy collector of internal revenue, to act under R. W. Blair, internal revenue agent. Mr. Delehanty supplies the vacancy left by the resignation of Edgar Friday, Winona.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Negaunee—Willio Laitinen, who has spent the greater part of the winter working as a woodsman at John Snell's camps at Maple Ridge, stole a checkbook from a business man at that place Friday, it is alleged, and forged a check for $75 in Mr. Snell's name, which he cashed at Cominess Bros.' store at Maple Ridge.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live.

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefitted by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—MRS. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

CONTEMPT FOR THRIFT IN CITIES.

Chicago, March 17.—The prodigal spirit has imbued American cities with a contempt for thrift, according to a statement of the American society for thrift in which the society announced its failure to induce municipalities to compete for honors as the thriftiest city in the United States.

"There seems to be a vagueness or indifference or contempt for thrift prevalent among municipal officers," the reports read.

"The prodigal spirit prevails."

Of the cities which competed, Davenport, Iowa, reported the highest average per capita bank deposit—$601.01—and Oil City, Pa., led in the per capita stock and bond investment with an average per capita of $645.65.

SUFFRAGE CAMPAIGN IS ON IN NEBRASKA.

Omaha, Neb., March 17.—The equal suffrage campaign in Nebraska was formally opened when Mrs. M. D. Munson of Kansas City addressed the employes of the Armour Packing company in South Omaha yesterday. The initiative petition calling for the submission of the suffrage question to the voters was filed with the secretary of state last Saturday. It is declared the campaign is to be waged vigorously from this time.

MOVEMENT IS HEAVIER

Increased Traffic in All Lines Reported By Freight Agents.

Better Demand Reported From the Michigan Copper Country.

Increased movement of all classes of products, apart from coal, is reported by Duluth railroad freight agents.

Shipments of forest products have been heavy, and they are expected to continue so till the end of the month. Lumbermen have been bending all their energies for some time back to get their winter cuts of logs and ties out to the railroad landings, and aided by good ice roads, they have succeeded in moving a large tonnage. It is said though that owing to last week's mild weather, the break up of the camps will come about earlier than had been expected and that considerable stuff will have to be left in the woods.

"We are finding our traffic fully up to the mark," said an official of the Omaha road today. "Our February statement of gross earnings showed a substantial increase, and this month promises to be more satisfactory still. Westbound shipments are good, as was also the Eastbound movement up till ten days ago. The early breaking up of the ice in the lakes has led to the holding back of stuff that would have otherwise gone forward from here all-rail. It cut off inquiry for cars covering some prospective grain shipments, and the rail flour movement has been checked for the season.

"The most gratifying feature I know of at present is an improvement in traffic in the Michigan Copper country. Merchants in those towns seem to feel satisfied that the strike has at last petered out, and they are bringing in goods to a greater extent now than at any time since last summer."

Movement From East.

S. J. Bigelow, commercial agent of the New York Central lines, also expressed himself optimistically regarding the general railroad and business situation. Duluth business men are bringing forward shipments of goods via his company's daily Merchants dispatch from New York much more freely than a year ago, he said. That is attributable to the later Easter season.

According to Mr. Bigelow's advices from the East practically all the railroads are now able to report an increased movement in general lines. The last weekly bulletin of the Michigan Central railroad on the situation received by him yesterday reported an increasingly heavy demand for practically all classes of equipment. Going through the list, there was said to be a remarkable call for box cars for moving merchandise, paper, hay loading, etc., and a shortage in refrigerator cars was noted in the potato loading districts. The demand for automobile cars is so heavy, according to the report, that it is taking officials all their time to round up a sufficient number to take care of outbound business from the Eastern automobile factories.

"Traffic is keeping about normal with us," said John I. Thomas, general agent of the Northern Pacific railroad. "If the weather keeps as it is, farming operations will start up earlier than usual in the West, and that will help a whole lot. Judging by reports a greatly increased area is likely to be seeded."

Though there has not as yet been anything official given out, Mr. Thomas is under the impression that the Northern Pacific will proceed with the laying out of its Carlton distributing yard this summer. That will be determined later by the crop outlook. Contracts for the proposed roundhouse and other buildings there were awarded last season, but the work was afterwards put over on account of the unsettled financial situation and other conditions. It is admitted by local officials of the company that the volume of traffic offering here has expanded to such an extent that its present terminals are inadequate to handle it economically.

COAL STRIKE ZONE COMMANDER QUITS

Disagreements Over Handling of Vancouver Situation the Cause.

Vancouver, B. C., March 17.—John A. Hall, who has been commanding officer of the military in the coal strike zone of Vancouver island since the riots of last spring, has resigned because of differences with officials of the government at Victoria and Ottawa. His resignation was accepted by Col. Sam Hughes, minister of militia.

When Col. Hall took the field last August, he made a display of military authority that the civil officials considered excessive. He kept an armored train ready with steam up to move day or night, and shifted his 1,200 soldiers under cover of darkness. He had men in charge of telegraphs and telephones, and to all intents and purposes Nanaimo and the surrounding district, were kept under martial law for many days.

Defied Legal Department.

Provincial Attorney General W. J. Bowser tried to call the militiamen home on Jan. 1, but Col. Hall insisted on staying in the field with 250 men. They still are in Nanaimo and Ladysmith, though the attorney general has refused since the first of the year to recognize their existence. A force of ninety provincial policemen is now in charge.

Announcement was made that all remaining prosecutions against strike rioters of last August are to be dropped. The attorney general has agreed to use his influence with the minister of justice at Ottawa to procure parole for many of the men already sentenced.

MINIMUM WAGE LAW IS SOUGHT.

Sacramento, Cal., March 17.—That no adult working person shall receive less than $2.50 a day for his work is the essence of an initiative measure circulated in Southern California for a place on the November ballot. A copy of the proposed law has been received at the secretary of state's office.

The law would make it a criminal offense for any employer to pay any person over 18 years of age less than $2.50 a day, while for children under 18 years $1.50 a day is made the minimum.

It is provided that the employer may pay part of the wages in board and lodgin, but that not more than 70 cents a day shall be deducted on this account.

Violation of the law is defined as a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500, or imprisonment between one and six months, or both.

BUSY WITH ROUTINE WORK

Council Disposes of Many Matters of Minor Importance.

Smoke Ordinance Passed; Two Saloon Licenses Are Opposed.

Routine business occupied the attention of the city council at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon.

A delegation of Duluth Heights property owners appeared to learn whether or not they can secure extensions of time if advance assessments are levied for the construction of the sanitary sewer in their suburb. They were assured that they could if the assessment exceeds $25 for each 3,500 square feet of property benefited.

While the delegation was present the council asked for an expression of opinion on the rifle range at Warner avenue and Tenth street. John Hogan, former alderman, acted as spokesman and stated that he was familiar with the location and could see no objection to it. He asserted that he was quite certain that no lives or property were endangered by its use. H. A. Wing said that the council should take cognizance of the fact that it will not be a great while before that district would be building up and should recognize that the militia should begin to look for another place to do its target shooting.

No action was taken upon the petition asking that the council institute proceedings to condemn an alley from Seventeenth avenue east to the center of block 37, Endion division. Several property owners appeared to protest against it, declaring that it would be an injury to their lots and that it is not necessary. The matter was laid over until next Monday.

Gap Is Closed.

A resolution was passed ordering the improvement of the block between First and Vernon streets at Thirtieth avenue west. This was not included in the petitions for the paving of these streets, and would leave a gap in the continuous thoroughfare contemplated between the downtown section and the western suburbs. The estimated cost is $3,000. The council approved the award of a contract to Olson & Johnson for the paving of the half block of Twenty-ninth avenue west between First alley and First street.

Smoke Ordinance.

The new smoke ordinance introduced by Mayor Prince was given its third reading and passed. The measure provides that dense smoke shall not be allowed to be omitted from any stack for more than six minutes in any hour. The penalty is a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment for not to exceed eighty-five days. C. J. West sent in a communication objecting to the ordinance on the ground that it might be harmful to the city's business interests, but no other protest was received.

George Angel asked for permission to utilize the areaway next to the 5 and 10-cent store for a fruit stand. He asserted that he would improve its appearance, lessen the danger of accidents and oboy all orders and regulations of the city. The application was referred to the works division for investigation.

Will Fight For Licenses.

A. Matel, 419 West Michigan street, and M. R. Timlin, 306 Central avenue, apparently intend to make a fight for a renewal of their saloon licenses. Commissioner Hicken announced some months ago that he would recommend that these licenses be not renewed. Both applications were presented to the council. It was stated that Matel and Timlin have hired attorneys to handle the applications for them. The safety commissioner yesterday reiterated his declaration that he will adhere to his original intention, which is part of his program for reducing the number of saloons in the city.

A resolution was passed vacating portions of Eighth, Ninth and Tenth streets and the alleys between blocks 140 and 141 and 173 and 174, Rice's Point, for one of the elevator companies east of Garfield avenue. It was a remedial resolution to rectify an early error in platting.

Fifth avenue west between Sixth and Seventh streets was turned over to the division of public affairs. It is too steep for traffic and will be beautified by the park department.

A sanitary sewer was ordered built by day labor or by contract, as the works division may elect, in First street from a point 175 feet east of Fourteenth avenue west to Fifteenth avenue west.

The owners of Motor Line addition were authorized to improve the streets in their plat by private contract. In return for engineering service rendered by the city they will also pay the cost of the street intersections.

Anna Haynes filed notice of a personal injury claim for $1,000. She alleges that she was hurt Feb. 28 by falling off a slippery sidewalk on East First street between First and Second avenues.

The written demand of George R. King for $2,498.76, the amount of his final estimate for the paving of Twenty-seventh avenue west, not including the 5 per cent usually withheld, was referred to the city attorney.

The appeal of the Zenith Telephone company from the assessment levied for the paving opposite its property on Twenty-third avenue west was referred to the legal department. The telephone company claims exemption on the ground that it pays a gross earnings tax of 3 per cent to the state.

Ordinances appropriating $2,000 for the purchase of oats for the fire department and $175 for the printing of the annual report of the water and light department were passed. An ordinance appropriating $950 for the printing of the city's annual report was introduced.

SIR JOHN MURRAY KILLED BY MOTOR.

Edinburg, Scotland, March 17.—Sir John Murray, noted naturalist and oceanographer, was killed yesterday near his home, Challenger Lodge, Wardie, Edinburg, in a motor car accident, which occurred while his daughter, Rhoda, was driving.

Sir John was returning from a visit to Glasgow, accompanied by his daughter and chauffeur. Miss Murray, who was at the wheel, took a road which was used as a short cut to the lodge. The car swerved, climbed a steep bank, and turned over. The occupants were thrown out and Sir John was instantly killed.

The chauffeur was but slightly injured, but Miss Murray was conveyed unconscious to a hospital. An examination, however, showed that her injuries were less serious than at first supposed.

Sir John Murray was born in 1841 at Coburg, Ont., Canada. He served as a naturalist on the historic voyage of the Challenger during her scientific cruise lasting from 1872 to 1876. He lectured in the United States at Boston and Chicago in 1911.

HARMONY REJECTED BY TENNESSEEANS.

Nashville, Tenn., March 17.—Declining to listen to the suggestion of President Wilson for harmony in the Democratic party in Tennessee, and indorsing the administration of Governor Ben. W. Hooper, the independent Democrat state executive committee adjourned after calling two state conventions, both to meet April 22.

The first is to nominate a candidate for judge of the supreme court; the second to "take such action as they deem advisable in regard to nominating candidates for governor and railroad commissioner." It was stated that the idea in holding two conventions was to have the nomination for supreme judge made apart from a turbulent political convention.

In touching on the harmony suggestion of President Wilson, many of the speakers characterized the action of the president as "ill-advised" and declared that he did not know the conditions existing in Tennessee.

Resolutions adopted said that while indorsing President Wilson's administration, it was regretted that he listened to certain reports of the national government regarding purely local and state affairs.

Drink Schlitz in Brown Bottles

Read what two eminent scientists have to say about light and its effect on beer in light glass bottles.

"In recent years the observation has been made that the rays of sunlight effect a chemical change in beer. For this reason the use of beer bottles blown from colorless glass is diminishing, bottles blown from colored glass being chosen; the amber colored bottles, which, when held towards the light, show the color of light beer, are particularly to be recommended."

"It appears that chemical changes are produced in the beer, which attains an exceedingly unpleasant taste and a disagreeable odor."

How to Make the Best Cough Remedy at Home

A Family Supply at Small Cost, and Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and ½ pint of warm water and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, bronchial asthma, whooping cough and spasmodic croup.

This method of making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is now used in more homes than any other cough syrup. This explains why it is often imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

TAMPA HAS A CARNIVAL

Duluthian Tells of Big Celebration in the Florida City.

Believes Duluth Might Copy Some Features for Its Festival.

George H. Lounsberry returned yesterday from a month's vacation in the South, during which he visited the Gasparilla carnival held at Tampa, Fla.

He says that the carnival was a huge success, attracting thousands of visitors to the city and proving a splendid advertising proposition. A number of spectacular features were introduced, some of which, he thinks, is revamped to suit local conditions, would fit in appropriately on the card of Duluth's proposed summer festival.

The affair was handled by William Chase Temple, retired millionaire, founder of the world's series of championship baseball games, former head of the Temple Steel works and former manager of the Florida Citrus exchange.

During the ten days' carnival period Tampa entertained 160,000 guests from all parts of the United States, Canada and from foreign lands. The attendance on the closing day was estimated at 60,000 outside visitors.

The total cost of the celebration was estimated at $75,000. The bulk of this was defrayed by private enterprise, leaving the cost to the Gasparilla Carnival association, including the Krewe's frolic, coronation and other features, at $20,000.

The celebration was considered to have been one of the best ever held in the South, and Tampa was advertised in all quarters of the globe through newspapers, moving pictures and by word of mouth of the delighted visitors.

As affording some idea of the scale on which it was carried through, it is mentioned by Mr. Lounsberry that the street parade on the closing night was between four and six miles in length.

HAS BILL TO GUARD THE STOCKHOLDERS.

Washington, March 17.—As a sequel to the recent investigation of railroad financial affairs, Senator Kenyon, Republican, has introduced a bill for the relief of "wronged and defrauded shareholders in corporations engaged in interstate commerce."

It was to empower minority stockholders to sue majority stockholders for recovery for losses in cases where fraud is shown in management, and would empower the attorney general and interstate commerce commission to investigate and reinvestigate from time to time the financial affairs of quasi-public corporations, with a view to determining whether the rights of minority stockholders were being protected.

FOUR WOMEN ON JURY TO TRY YOUNG DUKE.

Seattle, Wash., March 17.—The jury on which are four women, was completed and taking of testimony begun yesterday in the trial of Lawrence Duke, the millionaire tobacco manufacturer, charged with manslaughter for causing the death of Henry N. Farr when Duke's automobile ran into Farr's machine the night of Oct. 13, 1913.

The state is attempting to prove that Duke was intoxicated, while the defense asserts the accident was caused by the breaking of the steering gear.

George A. Orth, who was a member of Farr's party, testified that Duke was driving recklessly when he struck Farr. Orth asserted that Duke was intoxicated.

SALVATOR BEATS JOE BROWN BY WIDE MARGIN

Illinois Man Hog Fat and Sustains a Bad Beating.

Star of Evening Is Bantamweight Joe Ertle of St. Paul.

A rather small crowd saw two bully good fights one good draw and one one-sided affair at the arena on Eighth street and Ogden avenue, Superior, last night. As a matter of fact a bantam named Joe Ertle of St. Paul was the star of all the milling and the fight fans who saw him mix with Van Cushway are handing it to the boy from Minnesota's capital city as a comer at his weight and predictions were freely made last night that with a little more experience he will give Kid Williams some chase for the title.

The main bout, which was between Johnny Salvator of St. Paul and Joe Brown of Illinois at 142 pounds was purely and simply a slugging match. Salvator was trained to a fine point but lacked the punch necessary to send Joe to the land of dreams. With his ability to hit almost when and where he pleased he should have sent Brown over the siesta route early in the match, but his punches lacked steam. Brown on the other hand, had a good wallop but he was hog fat. The man really had no right to go into a ring in the condition in which he was. Fat hung over the edges of his trunks and his wind was conspicuous by its absence. He scored in only one round, the first, and managed to hold the third and eighth even. The rest were Salvator's, most of them by a wide margin.

Those at the ringside generally believed that had Salvator devoted his attention from the start to Brown's midsection the latter could not have stood the gaff for the ten rounds of the fight. As it was, Salvator did not begin a bombardment of Brown's stomach to any noticeable extent until the seventh round and that was the beginning of the end. Brown saved himself time after time by hugging and in the tenth round took the count of nine. For the rest of that round he could scarcely put up a glove, and simply waited for the bell or a knockout. As has been said, if Salvator's punches possessed the steam Brown would not have lasted the round out.

The milling started by a four-round go between Young Clements and Kid Schuster, which was lively and resulted in a draw.

Jack Eddy's Star.

Then on came the bantam bout between Joe Ertle of St. Paul and Van Cushway of Superior. This was to have been a four-three-minute-round go but was changed at the last minute to six two-minute rounds. No doubt this save Cushway from a knockout as he was at the mercy of the St. Paul lad from the beginning to the end and could not have lasted four three-minute rounds. Joe went at the job in a thorough workmanlike manner and what he did not do to Cushway wasn't much. The Superior boy was outclassed from beginning to end and scarcely laid a glove on the St. Paul youngster, who, by the way is from the Reddy paddock. Eddie Reddy, you know, manages a boxer by the name of Mike Gibbons, whom, they do say, is going to knock the block off anybody at his weight in the world if they dare go up against him; and now Jack Eddy has this boy Ertle, whom he believes will do the same thing to anybody in his class within a year.

The benefit of Joe's training in the same camp as Mike and Tommy Gibbons is very apparent. He has all the earmarks of a master at the game. His boxing was superb and although—so Jack Reddy says, and he ought to know—last night was Joe's initial appearance in the ring aside from boxing informally about training headquarters, he possessed perfect self-confidence, never permitted the result to be in doubt for a moment and showed himself to be a first-class ring general. He fought like a veteran. He is only 17 years of age, is of sturdy build, is like a flash for speed and seems to be a born fighter. He had Cushway bleeding in the second round and pretty nearly gave him his quietus twice. Cushway was saved several times by the bell.

The bout between Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul and Charles Jensen of Merrill, Wis., was a crime. Jensen should never be permitted in the same room to say nothing of the same ring with O'Dowd. He never had a chance; in fact O'Dowd, who cannot be said to be clever, made Jensen appear as though he did know the first rudiments of the game. There was just one thing about Jensen that was admirable and that was his courage. He would not take the advice of Spike Kelly, who was in his corner, to take the count of nine when knocked down so as to benefit by the rest, but would immediately get up and hunt around for more wallops—and got them. In the third round his seconds threw a towel in the ring to save Jensen from a knockout for he was staggering blindly all over the ring and was on his knees most of the time.

At the close of the main bout between Salvator and Brown, somebody said that Spike Kelly could put either one away and offered to back the assertion with real money. Salvator, still excited from his battle, wanted to fight Kelly right away but Kelly laughingly said they would talk it over later. The crowd got real fussed for a few minutes for it looked like an impromptu mix.

GOULD'S PLAY A REVELATION TO COVEY.

Philadelphia, March 17.—Against Jay Gould, American amateur champion, who yesterday won all four sets in the first section of his match with George F. Covey, the English professional title holder, for the world's open championship at court tennis, in the opinion of experts, Covey was so far outclassed that he had no chance to win. Could outgeneraled and outplayed him. Covey, before the play began, was very confident of the outcome and is said to have bet heavily on himself.

The play of Gould was a revelation to the English champion and the latter was played completely off his feet. So surprisingly good was the American's play that Covey at times showed a temper which did not improve his chances of winning. It was not until the third set that he showed signs of form. In this set he was defeated 6-4 but the American played hard in order to win. In the next set, too, Covey showed flashes of brilliancy, but Gould would not be denied and amid the cheers and handclapping of the spectators, he bounded out of the court, winner of the day's play.

Gould won a majority of the games that went to deuce, and he also won nearly every "chase" that was called. The English player lost many points by driving the ball into the net on apparently easy returns, while the American made few such errors, only twice losing points that way.

A representative crowd saw the match, prominent among those present being the duke of Manchester. George J. Gould, father of the American champion, also was there with a number of friends from New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore and cities where court tennis is played were represented.

HOT DEBATE ON ANTI-FIGHT BILL

Murray Measure in New York Legislature Starts Verbal Fireworks.

Albany, N. Y., March 17.—The Murray bill, which seeks to abolish the state athletic commission and stop all professional boxing exhibitions in this state, is likely to provide some lively scenes in the legislature. Assemblyman Martin G. McCue of New York city, in opening for the opposition, declared that professional boxing was the finest of manly sports.

"Many of you know," exclaimed McCue, "that for years before becoming a member of this body, I was a prizefighter. The sport as regulated by law is manly, not brutal or degrading. I wish everything in political life was done as openly and as thoroughly as things are done under the present law in the squared circle."

Andrew F. Murray, a New York city Progressive, replied with an attack on boxing.

"The so-called boxing exhibitions which have been given under the present law," he said, "are in reality brutalizing prizefights and especially degrading to youth. The very first fight under this law was held in New York under the supervision of a member of this legislature. The house was sold out twice, ticket holders were swindled, and the performance was disreputable. These exhibitions are controlled by crooked politicians. They are unspeakably degrading."

TAFT TURNS DOWN OFFER

Refuses Fortune for Stock of Chicago National League Team.

Price He Demanded Is Not Given Out By Chicago Capitalists.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 17.—Charles P. Taft majority stockholder of the Chicago National league baseball club, yesterday refused an offer of $750,000 in cash for the club, made by John T. Connery and Frank D. Mayer, representing a syndicate of Chicago capitalists who desired to purchase. The price that Mr. Taft has asked for the club was not announced.

"After a conference with Governor Tener in Harrisburg, Pa., on Sunday, we made a proposition to Mr. Taft to pay him $750,000 in cash for all of the stock of the Chicago National league baseball club, which offer he declined, stating he would not accept any other price than that named in his original proposition to Mr. Connery.

"He states further that if he does not sell to us, he will keep the club and run it himself.

"We are not at liberty to name the price at which Mr. Taft holds the club.

"Mr. Taft states that he expects to be in Chicago in the next few days, at which time we may or may not continue our negotiations.

"As far as we are concerned we believe that the offer made by us is a very liberal one in view of the existing conditions which will entail an additional outlay of approximately $500,000 for a new grand stand and field in Chicago, which we have promised Cub fans in the event that we were able to purchase the club, and to which they are certainly entitled."

ONLY FOUR ARE REAL CONTENDERS

Evanston Meet Next Saturday Being Figured Out By Experts.

Chicago, March 17.—Four of the teams entered in the conference indoor meet at Evanston next Saturday are considered to have a chance to win the chief honors. They are the squads representing Chicago, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Illinois. The teams from the other five of the "Big Nine" will be happy if they get a fair number of points, according to experts who are figuring on paper the chances of the entrants. About 200 athletes have entered. Northwestern's victory over Chicago last week has made the Purple a big factor in the event, but in the previous meet, Chicago won from the Evanston team. Illnois and Wisconsin seem to be favorites.

Tormey of Wisconsin, is the only veteran among the dash men, but the newer talent, which includes Barancik and Knight of Chicago; Murray of Illinois, and Spink of Minnesota, was expected to give the Badger sprinter a sharp fight for first place. Bettinger of Ohio State, Thomas of Chicago, and Legler of Wisconsin, are expected by some experts to be the point-winners in the hurdles.

Perhaps the class of the teams will meet in the quarter and half-mile events. Osborne of Northwestern is favorite for these runs, but hot competition is likely from Campbell of Chicago, Schley of Wisconsin, Sanders and Henderson of Illinois and Parsons of Iowa.

If Kraft of Northwestern runs true to form, he is likely to be winner in one of the long runs—the mile or two-mile—but his work this year has not been consistent. His team mate, Traxler, is another good distance man, but the field is strong with rivals in White and Harvey of Wisconsin, Campbell and Goodwin of Chicago, Mason and Belknap of Illinois, and Spray of Purdue.

Followers of the indoor game believe a new record probably will be made in the high jump. The event will find in competition Wahl of Wisconsin, James of Northwestern, Gorgas and Cox of Chicago, and Clear of Illinois. Each of them has done better than six feet in competition in practice, it is said. Thomas of Chicago, is expected to be a likely contender in the pole vault.

Geissman of Ohio State is reckoned among the best of the shot putters, Van Gent of Wisconsin, Norgren and Des Jardien of Chicago, and Schneeberger of Northwestern, are others.

PLAYS FINE BILLIARDS IN EFFORT TO WIN.

New York, March 17.—Although beaten yesterday in the twelfth game of the national amateur billiard tournament by the former champion, Morris D. Brown of Brooklyn, Dr. Walter E. Uffenheimer of Philadelphia, made a fine up-hill fight and in his twenty-sixth inning, gave a beautiful exhibition of high class billiards with a run of 102.

A two-cushion attempt with the object balls widely separated, near the top of the table, proved to be the Philadelphian's undoing in his effort to exceed 105, the high run of the tourney, made last week by Brown.

The winner, who represents the Hamilton club, Brooklyn, was in consistent form and reached double figures in 13 of the 37 innings through which the game ran. The scores:

Brown 400; average 10 30-37; high runs 62, 44, 43. Uffenheimer 350; average 9 17-37; high runs 102, 37, 31.

In last night's game Joseph Mayer of Philadelphia, winner of the title last year, defeated the international champion, J. Ferdinand Poggenburg of this city, by the decisive score of 400 to 254. Mayer played carefully all the way while Poggenburg was erratic at times.

OUIMET PLAYING IN BETTER FORM THAN EVER.

Boston, Mass., March 17.—Francis Ouimet, the national open golf champion took advantage yesterday of the disappearance of the snow from the grounds of the Woodland Golf club to begin practice for his tour of the English links.

Many of his drives carried nearly 300 yards and were straight for the pin. Those who watched him said that he is driving farther and straighter than when he defeated Vardon and Ray, the English professionals in the open championship last fall. Ouimet will sail for England March 31.

DETROIT MAN LEADS.

Breaks All High Marks in All Events at Bowling Congress.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 17.—William Miller of Detroit, Mich., shattered all high marks in the American bowling congress tournament yesterday, taking first place in the singles with a score of 675. Bowling with H. Ralstron of Detroit he also took the lead in the two-man event with a score of 1,238 and now leads "all events" with a total of 1,897 for nine games.

Miller bowled 248 in his first game, 204 in the second and 223 in the last game, striking out from the fifth frame.

Taking the lead in the doubles he and H. Ralstron put up the totals of 433, 406 and 399, Miller scoring a total of 657 with 243 as high score. This, with his good bowling with the Ryan Plumbers of Detroit in the five-man event Sunday night, gives him an average of 211 for nine games and the lead in "all events."

KING GIVES BOXING HIS ROYAL SANCTION.

London, March 17. — King George attained the distinction last night of being the first reigning British monarch to witness a public exhibition of the "noble art of self-defense." As the guest of the Second Life Guards, of which he is colonel, he was entertained at a boxing and fencing tournament at the Regent's park barracks.

Bombardier Wells, the former British heavyweight champion, and Pat O'Keefe of Ireland, gave a fast exhibition of sparring and several clever amateurs also took part in bouts.

In sporting circles, a boom in boxing is expected as a result of the king's patronage.

Baseball Scores.

Beaufort, N. C., March 17.—Burying the Philadelphia Nationals under an avalanche of base hits, coupled with sensational fielding the Baltimore Internationals won their first exhibition game here yesterday 7 to 2. Score:	R.	H.	E.
Baltimore	7	11	0
Philadelphia	2	7	1

Batteries—Caporal, Morrisette, Jarman and Egan, Lidgate; Marshall, Jacobs and Killifer, Burns.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 17.—Coming up from behind, the Philadelphia Americans knocked out three runs in the eighth inning yesterday, defeating the Chicago Nationals 6 to 4.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	6	9	1
Chicago	4	7	3

Batteries—Wyckoff, Pennock and Lapp; Lavender, Zabel and Bresnahan, Hargrove.

Americus, Ga., March 17.—The Cleveland American association team defeated the Boston Nationals here yesterday 8 to 6.

COURSES ARE STAKED OUT

Duluth Crews Will Also Row Over Henley Distance This Year.

Meeting of All Oarsmen Will Be Held at Y. M. C. A.

The regular standards have been placed and the distances laid out for one mile. The quarter and half-mile posts have also been placed and these will remain throughout the summer.

An innovation for this year is the laying of a new course, which equals the Henley course on the Thames. It is one mile and 550 yards in length and will be used to a great extent this year. Coach Ten Eyck said yesterday afternoon that the boys will be given constant training on this course and an effort made to see what the crews can do when at their best in going this new distance.

As every person interested in the local crew is anxious that it take part in the regatta on the Thames for the rowing honors of the world, it will be interesting to watch the work done on the local Henley course. Rowing on the new course, the coach said, would not start until some time after the boys have had their training on the regular distance course.

Coach Ten Eyck yesterday again called attention to the meeting to be held tomorrow afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. training room for the crew. At this time those men, who were formerly on the crew and who have so far failed to come out for the practise, will be given their last chance of joining. Should they fail to show up, the coach threatens to drop them altogether from further participation in the crew this year.

INDUSTRIAL HIGH EVENTS MAY 15.

An interclass track meet will be the card for the Industrial high school athletics on May 15, and Capt. R. B. Forsberg of the school team is whipping his men into shape. He hopes to make a few records. The boys and their captain have been meeting every morning at 5:30 since last October and it is declared that each one is in prime condition.

An effort is being made to arrange a meet with the Central high school boys for the latter part of May, and should this be brought about, the Industrial boys are touted as being due to surprise the Central athletes. Capt. Forsberg declares that his men possess athletic genius and that he knows they can defeat the Central boys.

His track team consists of Forsberg, Cashin, Randall, La Faye, Clark, Erickson, Rosboro, Matt, Newson and Donald.

NORTHERNS ARE VICTORS

Defeat Big Duluth Team in Hotly Contested Game.

With an improvised line-up, only four of their regulars in the game, the Big Duluth hockey team put up a hard battle last night at the curling rink, but went down to defeat before the fast Northern Hardware men by a score of 1 to 0.

During the first half the Big Duluths held their opponents, but in the second half the Hardwares managed to score a goal. Poor ice prevented fast skating, and this may have helped the Big Duluths to keep down the score. Hedberg at goal for the Clothiers kept down the score by stopping many shots. The line-up of the teams follows:

As a result of last night's game the Northerns lead the league.

ZBYSZKO DEFEATS HJALMAR LUNDIN.

Louisville, Ky., March 17.—Stanislaus Zbyszko defeated Hjalmar Lundin here last night in straight falls—37 and 31 minutes.

BOARD OF TRADE WILL PLAY "WORLD."

As a result of the board of trade's teams' challenge to the "world" for curling honors, five contests will be played off tonight. The games were to have been played last night, but were postponed. Because of the cold weather last night and crisper weather today, it is expected that the ice will be in much better condition tonight than it was last night:

Will Manage Fort Wayne.

Fort Wayne, Ind., March 17.—Harry Martin, local catcher during the last two seasons, will manage the Fort Wayne club of the Central league this year. Martin has played in the Central league for four years and was a member of the Pittsburg National league club for a short time in 1911.

NORTHERNS IN THE LEAD

One Victory Taken From Lakes By Protest of Kelleys.

Standing of the Teams.

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Northerns	9	1	.900
Lakes	8	1	.889
Big Duluths	6	4	.600
Kelleys	2	6	.600
Universals	2	8	.200
Bagleys	1	8	.111

The amateur hockey championship of the city league will be played off tomorrow night by the Lake Hardware and the Northern Hardware teams.

The Northerns now lead, having won one more game than their rivals.

The protested game between the Kelleys and the Lakes was decided last night, the protested game being thrown out. The loss of this game by the Lakes and the victory of the Northerns over the Big Duluth team put the Northerns in the lead.

WILLIAMS IS NAMED.

Chicago, March 17.—The Athletic club of Columbus, Ohio, the Independent Turnverein of Indianapolis and the Danish-American Athletic club of Chicago were elected members of the Central Association of Amateur Athletic unions at a meeting of the board of managers last night.

Action was deferred on the application for membership of the Boys' club of Manitowoc, Wis., and two Chicago clubs.

Dr. H. L. Williams, coach of the University of Minnesota, was accepted as a representative of the Minnesota Athletic club on the board of managers.

Federal League Schedule.

Chicago, March 17.—Lloyd Rickert, secretary of the Federal league, left yesterday for St. Louis, where he will begin the work of drafting the league's playing schedule. It was said efforts would be made to avoid conflicts with the better drawing teams in cities which have been in the National and American league clubs, and if possible, avoid them entirely in the others.

GRANTS REHEARING ON BLUE SKY LAW.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, March 17.—Judge Smith McPherson in the United States district court has granted a rehearing on the so-called "blue sky" law of Iowa, April 15, at Keokuk. Circuit Judge Walter I. Smith and District Judge John C. Pollock will sit with him in the case. Judge McPherson, in a decision recently held the law valid, but decisions since made are claimed to affect the case.

Our Leading Athletes

Join with other famous Americans in Praising Tuxedo Tobacco

OUR world-famous athletes—the men who triumphed for America at the Olympic Games in Stockholm—are among the thousands who declare that Tuxedo is not only extremely enjoyable, but beneficial.

Famous Americans in every walk of life—doctors, lawyers, actors, singers, public speakers, statesmen, business leaders—smoke and endorse

MARTIN SHERIDAN

"Tuxedo is a strong card withme. I advise all athletes to stick to Tuxedo. It is the one tobacco that will help them, keep them in trim, prevent them from going 'stale'. Tuxedo leads—bar none."

Martin J. Sheridan

GASTON STROBINO

'Tuxedo is the tobacco for the athlete. It never hurts my wind, and always steadies my nerves. Tuxedo for me."

Gaston Strobino

MATT McGRATH

"No athlete need fear to smoke as much as he wants, if he uses Tuxedo. It's a general help to any man. A pipeful of Tuxedo puts new life into me."

Matt McGrath

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Tuxedo grew rapidly in public favor without advertising; its natural growth reached the stupendous total of fifty or sixty million packages a year. Not until the past few months has it been possible to keep up with the demand for Tuxedo. Now increased facilities make it possible for every man to smoke this best of tobaccos.

Tuxedo is fine, ripened Burley tobacco of the highest grade—aged until thoroughly mild and mellow. Then treated by the famous "Tuxedo Process," that removes the last trace of "bite" and develops all the delicious Burley fragrance and flavor. Pure, mild, delightful Tuxedo is absolutely non-biting—try it.

ELY MEETING BEING HELD

Eighth Biennial Session of Slovenian-Croatian Union Opens.

Changes in By-Law of Fraternal Organization Are to Be Made.

Ely, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—This morning at 9 o'clock the eighth biennial meeting of the Slavonian-Croatian union with headquarters at Calumet, Mich., began in this city in the Catholic Church hall, and will last the rest of the week. About sixty delegates from lodges scattered throughout Michigan and Minnesota are present.

Last evening a reception was held under the auspices of the local organization.

Father Buh Says Mass.

The meeting this morning began with solemn high mass read by Father Buh, after which the convention organized itself for the business of the day. Arrangements are being made for changes in the by-laws of the union to conform the rates of the fraternal congress and some other minor changes. The officers presiding during this session are: President, Joseph Chopp; vice president, Matt Kobe; secretary, Matt Ozanich; treasurer, Mike Sumich; all of Calumet. The election of officers for the next two years will occupy the last day of the week's session.

NURSERY STOCK CASE SUBMITTED

Trial of Case Against Former Great Scott Treasurer Is On.

Hibbing, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The taking of evidence in the case of Coe-Converse & Edwards company against W. G. Close was concluded late yesterday afternoon, and the case went to the jury today. In this action the Nursery company sues for $217 which they claim due from the defendant for stock ordered. The defense alleges that an oral representation was made whereby Mr. Close retained the right to cancel the order at any time prior to shipment and that he did write the company to that effect. This agreement was denied by the salesman.

Suing Former Treasurer.

The case of the Town of Great Scott against Joseph H. Grant, former treasurer, in which the township claims that there is still due it $2,200 from Mr. Grant's administration started this morning. D. T. Collins appears for the township, and Victor L. Power for the defendant. The case promises to be an extended one, due to the mass of expert testimony that will probably be introduced covering the examination of the books.

MIKE ELICH FINED $50 IN HIBBING

Strikes Adversary With Beer Glass, Cutting Him.

Hibbing, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mike Elich, charged with assault in the third degree on Nic Radich was fined $50 and costs in municipal court this morning.

In a saloon row on Fine street yesterday afternoon Elich struck Radich with a beer glass severing the temporal artery. The fine will be paid.

CHISHOLM CHURCH TO GIVE PROGRAMS

Two Entertainments to Be Given in Theater This Week.

Chisholm, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Methodist Episcopal church will give two evenings programs Thursday and Friday at the Doric theater. The proceeds are for the church work debt. Local talent will be used almost entirely. The high school orchestra will supply the music.

Thursday's program follows: Selection, high school orchestra; vocal solo, Winnifred Hayes; moving pictures; folk dance drilled by Miss Jessie Chase and Miss Eva Parks; violin solo, Edward Hagen; illustrated songs, Ed Casey; reading, Mrs. J. A. Rippert; vocal solo, O. J. Backman; moving pictures; vocal duet, Winnifred Andrews and W. P. Smith; violin and piano duet, Wilbur and Winnifred Hayes.

Friday's program: Piano solo, Winnifred Andrews; vocal solo, George Blasing; motion pictures; folk dances drilled by Miss Jessie Chase and Miss Eva Parks; reading, Miss Alecia Madden; illustrated songs, W. D. Smith; violin solo, Wilbur Hayes; reading, Mrs. H. H. Angst; motion pictures; vocal solo, Mrs. Will Anderson; selection, male quartet.

Mother's Friend in Every Home

Comfort and Safety Assured Before the Arrival of the Stork.

In thousands of American homes there is a bottle of Mother's Friend that has aided many a woman through the trying ordeal, saved her from suffering and pain, kept her in health in advance of baby's coming, and had a wonderful influence in developing a lovely disposition in the child.

There is no other remedy so truly a help to nature. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding and soothes the inflammation of breast glands.

Mother's Friend is an external remedy, and not only banishes all distress in advance, but assures a speedy recovery for the mother. Thus she becomes a healthy woman with all her strength preserved to thoroughly enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend can be had at any drug store at $1.00 a bottle. Write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 228 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their free book. Write to-day. It is most instructive.

HIBBING AGAINST VIRGINIA'S PLANS

Will Oppose Locating of County Hospital in That City.

Hibbing, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Virginia's plans to persuade the county commissioners to locate a joint city and county hospital at Virginia will not be allowed to go through without objection, according to local officials, who assert that a committee will be appointed by either the council or Commercial club to point out to the county body the desirability of locating the institution at Wolf, where it would be convenient for all of the range towns.

"The effort of Virginia to grab the plan that was first suggested by A. P. Silliman of this city, in an effort to put forth a proposition that could be supported by all of the range towns does not meet with favor here," said a business man, in discussing the action of the Virginia council in appointing a committee to see the county commissioners.

It is expected that some action may be taken by the council this evening, or Secretary Lewis of the Commercial club instructed to communicate with the Virginia people as well as the county commissioners, in an endeavor to benefit the entire range rather than favor one community.

STUDENTS AIM HIGH.

Hibbing High School to Present "As You Like It."

Hibbing, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—An excellent cast has been secured for the presentation of "As You Like It" tomorrow evening at the high school auditorium under the direction of Miss Loomis and the participants are from the English classes. The cast:

Duke Senior, living in banishment, Earl Cook; Duke Frederick, usurper of his brother's dominion, Clarence La Victor; Oliver, son of Sir Rowland du Bois, Sigmund Gardiski; Orlando, his younger brother, Evered Williams; Amiens and Jacques, attendant lords, Joseph Daly and John Sheehy; Le Beau, a courtier, Joseph Daly; Charles, wrestler to Frederick, Ralph Kleffman; Adam, servant to Oliver, John McEachin; Touchstone, a clown, Bennett Congdon; Corin and Silvius, shepherds, Frank Johnson and Gabe Shurman; William, a country fellow in love with Andrey, Burt Henry; Hymen, the sweet spirit of Harmony, Grace Warren; Rosalind, daughter to the banished duke, Virginia Smith; Celia, daughter to Frederick, Elizabeth Galob; Phebe, a shepherdess, Emma Hunter; Audrey, a country wench, Maud McArthur; pages, attending on Frederick, Edith Ekstrom and Fannie Sandberg; lords attending Duke Senior, Paul Hitchcock and Ralph Kleffman; lords attending Duke Frederick, Gordon Fayle.

P. A. COFFEY IS COMMISSION HEAD.

Virginia, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new police and fire commission met yesterday afternoon for the purpose of organization. Commissioner P. A. Coffey, who was a member of the old commission, was elected president, and Otto A. Poirier, vice president. The finance committee will consist of J. E. Hanson, Mr. Poirier and Mr. Coffey. Commissioners Poirier and Mason were appointed a committee on applications, they to act with either the chief of police department or the chief of the fire department. The regular meeting of the commission for the transaction of business will be held on the first Monday in April.

IS GIVEN $259 FOR CANINE BITE.

Hibbing, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Damages to the amount of $259 were awarded to Charles Chalberg of Keewatin yesterday afternoon by the district court jury which considered the action in which he requested more than $5,000 from Charles Hunt and May Hunt for harboring a vicious dog. Chalberg claimed that he was bitten by the canine and had to take the Pasteur treatment as a result. The damages awarded cover what was shown to have been his actual expenses plus $5, evidently intended as damages for mental agony suffered.

SPECIAL SERVICES IN HIBBING CHURCH.

Hibbing, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock special services will be held at the Swedish Lutheran church. Rev. J. D. Neisinlus of Two Harbors will talk on "Baptism." Rev. H. Thorean of Virginia will be the vocalist. Thursday evening at 8 o'clock Rev. C. O. Swan of Duluth will occupy the pulpit at the church. There will be special music by the choir of the Chisholm Swedish church, and several vocal solos will be rendered by Rev. H. Thorean. The ladies' aid society, which was to have met in the afternoon, will hold its meeting in the evening and will serve refreshments.

ITASCA LAND SALE.

Buyers From Other States Attend Big Land Buying Event.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the state land sale, conducted here Monday, 5,400 acres were sold at an average price of $8.20 per acre. About 200 people were present. Some from all over the country, a large number being from Iowa and Illinois, while many Southern Minnesota people were present. Bidding was brisk on some lands; one forty in section 26, 56-25 bringing $39.75 per acre. Theodore Nelson, chief clerk of the lands sales department of the state auditor's office conducted the sale. He says that more interest is being displayed in state lands this year than at any previous time.

ELY ATTORNEY MAY FILE FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

Ely, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ely will have a candidate in the field for the legislature at the next primary election, if the plans of Attorney James A. Osborne mature. The sentiment here is that the Vermilion range should have a representative, and Mr. Osborne has been a resident here and closely in touch with the life of the Vermilion and Mesaba ranges for the past twelve years.

Aurora Has Candidate.

Aurora, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Aurora will have a candidate for the state legislature in Charles T. Murphy, a local attorney. Mr. Murphy has a large acquaintance in this district.

EIGHT HOURS FOR AURORA EMPLOYES.

Aurora, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The eight-hour shift has been put into effect at the village light and water plant and Joe Tromblee has been given the odd trick. Heretofore the men have worked eleven and thirteen hours. The change has met with the approval of the Aurora people.

EVELETH MAN DIES.

Eveleth, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Bell, aged 52, died in a hospital here from pneumonia. He was employed in the lumber camps of the Erickson-Long Lumber company when taken with the disease. He has no relatives here. Sylvia, the 4-year-old daughter of John Takala, of Iron Junction, died from pneumonia. The funeral will be held Thursday and interment will be made at Forbes.

FIVE-HANDED FIGHT.

No Lack of Range Candidates for County Board Job.

Virginia, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fight for the county commissionership for the district comprising Virginia, Eveleth, Gilbert and the villages to the east, is warming up considerably; four candidates are already in the field, Andrew Hawkinson and Martin Nelson of Virginia; John Gloda of Eveleth, and Peter Cosgrove of Gilbert. Charles Penttila, an Eveleth merchant, will file today, making a five-handed fight.

AURORA-VIRGINIA GAME ABSORBING.

Aurora, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia high school basket ball team will meet the Aurora team on the Hoarding gymnasium floor tonight for the final game on the Aurora schedule. Aurora has beaten every team played except Virginia, and if they win tonight they will have won the range championship of the range, Hibbing having forfeited the game scheduled to be played here last week. There is much interest being taken in the game and the indications are that the gymnasium will be crowded to its full capacity.

ALL BOOST FOR TROLLEY EXTENSION.

Hibbing, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.) — Commercial club work in general and the proposed extension of the Mesaba Electric railway in particular will be the subjects to be discussed by Secretary J. L. Lewis of the local Commercial club in his address to the Grand Rapids Boosters this evening. Mr. Lewis left this morning for the Itasca county metropolis.

An effort will be made at the meeting to organize for the purpose of securing facts and figures similar to those that have been collected between this village and Nashwauk.

VIRGINIA BRIEFS.

Virginia, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The regular meeting of the Virginia Study club was held in the assembly room of the public library yesterday afternoon. Mrs. C. V. Malmgren read a paper on "Tolstoi and His Message of Realism," and Miss Mabel Newhard on "The Idealism of Rostand," with readings from "Chantiecler." "Foreign Actors" was the subject for discussion at the meeting.

The Virginia Technical high school basketball team has two games scheduled for the present week at Chisholm on Friday night at the technical gymnasium, and on Saturday they will go to Aurora to meet the fast high school quint of that village.

Succeeds Miss West.

Miss Ina Nelson of Paynesville, Minn., has been engaged by the board of education to succeed Miss Marion O. West as teacher of the sixth grade at the Roosevelt school. Miss West's resignation will become effective at the end of the present school month.

The Hamline Glee club will appear here at the Roosevelt auditorium on April 16 under the auspices of the junior class of the technical high school.

FAIR

And still no change in weather and a very slight one in sight. Fair weather is still promised, but the weather man says that it will be slightly colder tonight — but not enough to frighten anybody. And warmer weather will prevail tomorrow. The little extra chill experienced last night and this morning was chiefly in the wind for the thermometer did not go down so very far. Some snow fell, starting in with rain, changing to sleet and finally becoming straight snow.

A year ago today there was a snowfall and cold weather. The sun rose this morning at 6:17 and will set this evening at 6:16, giving eleven hours and fifty-nine minutes of sunshine, four minutes more than yesterday. The twelve-hour mark will be passed tomorrow but we will still be three hours and fifty-three minutes from the longest sunshine day in the year.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Somewhat colder weather prevails in the Northwest, the lake region and most of the Central Valley states, with freezing temperature in Canada and North Central states. Light rain or snow fell during Monday or last night over Manitoba, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Upper Michigan, Illinois, Northeastern Iowa, Northwestern Missouri, Eastern Nebraska, Eastern Kansas and northeastern Wyoming. Very high temperature prevailed at San Francisco this morning."

General Forecasts.

PROPERTY OWNERS GIVEN EXTENSION

Two Harbors Council Allows More Time to Pay Assessment.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Property owners from South avenue appeared before the city council last night and petitioned for a longer period to meet the sewer assessment. The council allowed them a stay of three months, provided 6 per cent interest is paid. To consider the case of Oscar Wickland, a saloon keeper who failed to present his application for liquor license at the proper time, an adjourned meeting will be held on Thursday.

An application for license to sell liquor was presented by B. A. O'Lauson. The council fixed April 6 as a date for the hearing.

A communication was read from James A. Lawson of Duluth putting in a bid for the city engineering for the coming year. Mr. Lawson handled all the grading specifications last year and is still working on some drafts for Pine street. The council referred this letter to the street and alley committee for consideration.

GRAND RAPIDS COURT.

Judge Wright Opens Regular March Term Session.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge B. F. Wright opened the March term of district court here today. A grand jury was chosen, charged and placed at work on pending cases. Petit jurors are also in attendance. There are fifty-nine civil cases on the calendar. It is not expected that the session of the grand jury will last more than a couple of days.

Harry Olson is in jail, charged with forgery. Pasquale Papasudreo is held for assault. The case of Former Game Warden Wood will come before the indicting body on a charge of housebreaking, while the most important matter to come before the grand jury will be the case of the six Montenegrens charged with being responsible for the death of Policeman Kokko at Nashwauk.

ROB GILBERT SALOON.

Gilbert, Minn., March 17.—Burglars entered Samuel Rubenstein's saloon early yesterday through a small window in the rear and took $100 in cash and a number of checks.

All the papers were left on the floor near the safe. The outer door of the safe was not locked. As the cash register was left open, no damage was done to it.

FAYAL MINE HAS OWN AIR COMPRESSOR.

Eveleth, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A big new air compressor recently installed at the Fayal mine in this city is now being used to supply the shafts at the property. The Fayal shafts were formerly supplied by the compressor at the Spruce mine.

JUDGE HUGHES TO SPEAK AT COLERAINE.

Hibbing, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Martin Hughes leaves this afternoon for Coleraine, where he will address a meeting at the auditorium this evening. A laughable one-act farce will also be presented by the members of St. Patrick's choir of that village.

Tower Man Appointed.

Tower, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. H. Lofgren, president of the Commercial club, has been wanted by President Neill of the state federation of Commercial clubs to become a member of the committee on Minnesota's representation and exhibits at the San Francisco exposition.

Banquet for Trezona.

Ely, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—About sixty men connected with the Oliver Iron Mining company here and at Soudan gave a banquet to Capt. Charles Trezona at the Kalava hall Saturday night. A program was given, including remarks made by Capt. Trezona upon his recent trip to England and France. On the recent trip Supt. Trezona was accompanied by his son, Richard, and nephew from Eveleth.

Chisholm Man Better.

Chisholm, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Rice, who has been very sick at his home, is somewhat improved. Mr. Rice is an old resident of Chisholm having kept a boarding house at the Hartley location for several years before coming into town and entering into business.

Cook Concern Prospers.

Virginia, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of directors of the Gopher Heading works, whose plant is located at Cook, was held here yesterday afternoon. The business of the concern is steadily increasing and it was decided to install two new saws at the factory. Other improvements are contemplated which will enable the company to better keep up with the demand for its product.

Eveleth Librarian.

Eveleth, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The library board has engaged Miss Margaret Hickman of Red Wing, an experienced librarian, to have charge of the new city library. The building is completed and as soon as it can be furnished it will be thrown open for the use of the public.

Tower Churches Indorse.

Tower, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Sunday Rev. Joseph Mapson, pastor of the St. James' Presbyterian church, read a copy of the resolution forwarded by the Commercial club committee to the mayor and city council. The pastor made some remarks and then suggested some action by the congregation relative to the resolution. A unanimous rising vote was given indorsing the action of the committee. Suitable recognition of the resolution was made in the Swedish Mission church the same evening.

Hibbing Entertainment.

TO FIX MINIMUM WAGE BY JUNE 1

State Commission to Be Here Friday to Meet Employers.

A meeting with the Minnesota minimum wage commission will be held at the Commercial club on Friday evening of this week at 8 o'clock and thirty manufacturing establishments of the city have been notified to have representatives present. The manufacturers of Duluth are expected to appoint four representatives for the advisory board of the commission, which will be asked to recommend a minimum wage for women and minors in the manufacturing establishments of Duluth.

This advisory board is to be formed of four employers, four employes and four representatives of the public. The recommendation of the minimum wage is to be made by June 1.

RESISTANCE TO DISEASE

Why is it that one person can work all day standing in cold water, slush and snow with no harmful effect, while another with less exposure contracts colds, pneumonia, rheumatism, sciatica or something equally distressing and dangerous?

Because in the first case the body was in such perfect balance that there was "resistance" to disease. In the second there was lack of tone that invited ill health.

Keep your system toned up with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and foods that once distressed you will be harmless, exposure will bring no fears of rheumatism and neuralgia and even germ diseases need hardly to be dreaded.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills assist digestion, correct the lassitude, the palpitation of the heart, shaky nerves and the pallor of face and lips that are the results of thin, impure blood.

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. Get a box from the nearest drug store and begin this treatment now.

Send to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."

ARRESTED FOR POINTING GUN

Logging Contractor Is Accused of Second Degree Assault.

Claude V. Smith, a logging contractor, who was secretly indicted by the March grand jury on a charge of assault in the second degree, was arraigned this morning in district court before Judge Dancer. Smith entered a plea of not guilty.

Smith is accused in a true bill found against him of having pointed a revolver at one Culver Thurber of Moose Jaw, Can., on March 4 last, at Fairbanks. Smith was released on his own recognizance in order that he might secure $1,000 bail required by the court. A. E. McManus appeared in court as his attorney.

PRESIDENCY IS STILL A PROBLEM

Taft Uncertain as to Who Will Head the Cubs.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 17.—With a view toward reorganizing the directorate of the Chicago National league club, Charles P. Taft, majority stockholder of the club, will leave for Chicago today. A new president of the club will also be chosen while Mr. Taft is in Chicago, but he stated today that at present, he did not know who would be named to succeed Charles W. Murphy as head of the club.

Owing to the considerable difference in money that exists between what Mr. Taft wants for the club and what the Connery-Mayer interests offered and the announcement yesterday that if he did not sell to these interests he would retain his stock, it is believed here that Mr. Taft has about given up any hope that a purchaser will be found who will buy at his figure.

LAST SKATING OF THE SEASON

Two Final Hockey Games Will Also Be Played.

What will probably be the last skating of the season will be provided for curling club members at the rink this evening.

The Northern hockey team was to have played the curling club seven this evening, but this game has been called off, and in place of it the Kelleys will meet the Lake Hardware team in the protested game thrown out last evening by the committee. This game will begin at 7 o'clock, and following it there will be skating for club members.

Tomorrow evening the Lakes and the Northerns will meet in what will be the deciding game of the season, providing the Lakes win their contest tonight with the Kelleys.

These two games are expected to bring the hockey season to a close in Duluth.

QUINT DENIED ENTRY.

Cathedral High Team Not to Play in State Tournament.

Duluth will not be represented in the basket ball tournament which will be held for the public high schools of the state at Carleton college, Northfield, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The Cathedral high school team of Duluth made application by wire yesterday for entry, but a return message was received denying them entry on the grounds that the Cathedral school is not a public high school. The Cathedral quint defeated Central high, and so that institution is not eligible.

Capt. Barratt of the Cathedral team said today that he thought his team should have been entered.

CURTIS WILL GO TO WINNIPEG TEAM.

Through a trade just announced Fred Curtis, manager of the Superior baseball team last year, will go to Winnipeg this season, and Frank Moore, a crack catcher, will come to Superior. The trade brought also a sum of $300 to Superior. Moore is a good back-stop, and played with the All-National semi-pro team.

Jack Landry has been officially named as manager for the coming season. Landry is now in Minneapolis conferring with President Burmeister of the Northern league.

Plans for the spring training season are now in the air, both La Crosse and Madison being considered as quarters.

Following is the complete list that have already signed contracts to play with Superior: H. C. Baker, catcher, Princeton, Ind.; Charles B. Smith, Chicago, outfielder; William Barber, Rice Lake, outfielder; George Mesang, Rice Lake, first baseman; William O. Fretz, Oconto, Wis., pitcher; George Chicken, Minneapolis, pitcher; Dutch Persch, outfielder, Superior; Bill Dunn, second baseman, Syracuse, N. Y.; Fred Glass, pitcher, Waterloo, Iowa; Roy Cullis, shortstop, Superior; Sailor Burke, catcher, Chicago; Fred Mann, pitcher, Minneapolis; G. M. Armstrong, pitcher, Greenwood, Wis.; Edward Martin, third baseman; Pat Cummings, pitcher; John Pschaden, first baseman, St. Paul; Gus Champaign, first baseman, Chicago; Cy Dahlgren, pitcher, Superior.

TO START TRAINING AT DAVENPORT, IOWA.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 17.—Orders to members of the Grand Forks baseball club to report at Davenport, Iowa, April 7 for the training season, have been issued by playing Manager Eddie Wheeler. Wheeler will reach Grand Forks March 29 for a conference with Director A. J. Kavanaugh of the local organization.

"Dutch" Altman, who has been holding out for some time, has finally signed, while Culver, with the Manistee, Mich., team last season, has accepted a Grand Forks contract.

WELSH AND RIVERS READY FOR THEIR GO.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 17.—Freddie Welsh, the British lightweight, and Joe Rivers of Los Angeles, were prepared today for their 20-round battle at Vernon arena at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Both men weighed in at 134 pounds and Rivers denied reports of poor training with the declaration that he was in excellent condition. The betting was even.

BODY IDENTIFIED BY TWENTY-YEAR-OLD BILL

Mrs. Catherine Kerstel of No. 1918 South Seventh street went to No. 1011 Cantrell street on Feb. 16 to rent a room. While making arrangements for removal, the woman became violently ill and died a short time later in Saint Agnes hospital. Deputy Coroner Seraphin searched through the woman's possession to find some article whereby she could be identified. The persons at Cantrell street address did not know who she was.

Finally Seraphin unearthed an undertaker's bill for burial of the woman's husband twenty years ago. He went to the undertaker, who searched through his records several days before he finally found the name of the dead man and the name of a daughter, Mrs. Florence Shaw.

The deputy went to the place from which the man's body was buried two decades ago. From there he traced the daughter until he found her at No. 5728 Knox street.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Shaw had gone to the South Seventh street address to visit her mother and learned that she had been missing a week. Then the daughter instituted a search and was about to give up when Seraphin took the burial bill to her. She then told him her mother's name, and the body was saved from the potter's field.

AMERICAN GOLF CHAMPION LEAVES FOR ENGLISH CONTESTS

JEROME TRAVERS AND FAMILY.

Jerome Travers has sailed for Liverpool, where he will begin to train for the three big golf meets—the British amateur and open championships, and the French amateur tournament. He was accompanied by Fred Herreshoff. Other golfers who will follow are Francis Ouimet, John Anderson, Heinie Schmidt and possibly "Chick" Evans. Travers was in England in 1911 but was not playing seriously and made a very poor showing. At the pier to see Travers off were his father and mother, his two children and Miss Neidlinger, a member of his family.

UNKNOWN RICH MEN REVEALED

Returns Under Income Tax Law Have Brought Them Forth.

Chicago, March 17.—Who has ever heard of Chicago's army of the Unknown Rich? Possibly no one, for until statistics were available such as have been flooding the office of the collector of internal revenue in connection with the new income tax law there was available no information which went to the seat of individual fortunes in the way this law does. But now for the first time is beginning to be known the extent and strength of the ranks of the Unknown Rich. Persons whose names have never found their way into the society columns and who are strange in the city's acknowledged financial circles are filing schedules of incomes of $10,000, $15,000, $20,000, even $50,000. The filers of these schedules, some of them, give strange foreign names, and, as their places of residence, streets that the fashionable and known rich of the city probbaly never heard of. It is not a matter of ten or twenty schedules by such persons which have been filed. Literally there are hundreds of them.

"If only the names and incomes of these unknown rich could be made public and the story of the acquirement of their fortunes published a new light on who's who in the city from a financial point of view would be shed," said Collector Samuel L. Fitch.

"Little romance probably would be found in their lives, but as examples of shrewd investors and hard workers they might be held up as shining lights in any company.

"It was no uncommon sight in the collector's office to see a man of 50 years or so, wearing shabby coat and trousers and soft working shirt, whose hands were heavy and gnarled and who had a three-day growth of beard, step up to the counter and file a schedule showing an income of $4,000 or $5,000. More than one elderly woman in plain clothes and with a shawl over her head went to the clerks and filed her schedule along with the schedules of the city's men of acknowledged financial position.

Some of the instances, too, were amusing. A policeman wearing a badge inscribed "393 Retired Chicago Officer" handed a clerk a schedule showing an income of $40,000 a year. The clerk put his hand to his forehead and gave one long glance of admiration at the man.

"Great heavens, how did you do it?" the clerk demanded. "Is there room for another?"

"393 opened his mouth and hawhawed so that he could be heard throughout the fourth floor of the Federal building.

"And so you thought it was mine," 393 asked when he had regained his self-composure. "An' don't I wish it was. But it ain't. I work in a bank. The schedule's the president's—not mine."

Hurt in Explosion.

Sherwood, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gas generated from an acetylene lighting system in the C. H. Budke residence in this city resulted in the explosion of the plant, and the serious injury of Walter Hurdlebrink, and the slight injury of George, his brother.

The men, while cleaning the plant, used a lantern, and the fumes ignited.

BRIGANDS DEFEAT CHINESE TROOPS

Fifteen Hundred Natives Are Killed and 400 Tortured at Lao Ho Kow.

Pekin, March 17.—The government troops at Kiang Tze-Kwan, in the province of Ho Nan, were defeated today by a force of brigands under the famous "White Wolf."

These same brigands recently looted and burned Lao Ho Kow in the province of Hu Peh, killing Dr. T. Froyland, a Norwegian missionary, and wounding Rev. O. M. Sama, another Norwegian. Fifteen hundred of the Chinese inhabitants of Lao Ho Kow were killed and four hundred others were tortured in an effort to force them to disclose hidden treasures.

DOG NO LONGER IS ALLOWED ONE BITE

Wisconsin Supreme Court Overrules Demurrer in Marinette Case.

Madison, Wis., March 17.—"The law no longer allows a dog his first bite, as was said to be the case before the passage of the law abolishing proof of scienter."

This statement is made in the opinion of the supreme court today in the case of George Legault of Marinette vs. John Malacker. The case was brought by Legault to recover damages resulting from the death of his son, who was bitten by Malacker's dog. Malacker demurred and was sustained in the lower court, but the supreme court today reverses the order, with directions to overrule the demurrer.

"Where a complaint alleges that a dog attacked and wounded a person who at the time was where he might lawfully be and in the exercise of ordinary care," says Chief Justice Winslow in the opinion; "it is unnecessary to go further and allege that the dog was vicious and mischievous. Such a dog is necessarily vicious, and a separate allegation is unnecessary."

SWEDEN ANXIOUS OVER KING GUSTAV

His Majesty's Health Now Forces Him to Shorten Country Trip.

Stockholm, Sweden, March 17.—The condition of health of King Gustav is causing anxiety in court circles here. His majesty has found it necessary to curtail his stay in the country, where he went from Stockholm a few days ago. He returned hurriedly to the capital today.

W. H. TAFT SAYS HE MAY VISIT DULUTH

Local Office Men Hear Ex-President in Mill City Address.

Former President William H. Taft spoke last evening before the Minneapolis Association of Office Men at Minneapolis, where the association gave a dinner in his honor. Five members of the Duluth Association of Office Men attended the affair, the entire Duluth association having been invited to be present. Those who did attend were President C. R. Pattinson, Bethel Robinson, Freeman Randall, R. G. Roberts and Edgar Sweetman. The latter is the Duluth association cartoonist, who did some sketching for the Minneapolis News. All five of them sat at the speakers' table. Mr. Pattinson was introduced to the former president and Mr. Taft said:

"Oh, yes! The Zenith City of the Unsalted Seas! That's a city I would like to see."

Mr. Pattinson, in the name of Duluth, invited Mr. Taft to visit Duluth, and he said that he will be glad to do so at the earliest opportunity. At the banquet, after Mayor Wallace G. Nye had introduced Mr. Taft, the former president declared that the East looks for the flood of prosperity in the shape of crops sweeping from the West eastward, the assistance which the East must have. He spoke of the peaceful relations of capital and labor and the government, and, Mr. Pattinson says, his remarks were looked upon as decidedly complimentary to the present administration. The former president praised the office man for his efficiency, and gave office men the credit due to business men for being the men between, as it were.

Mr. Taft will speak to the St. Paul Association of Office Men tomorrow noon in the palm room of the St. Paul hotel on "Good Government."

Mayor Nye of Minneapolis accepted an invitation extended by Mr. Pattinson to speak before the Duluth association some time in April.

SCRAMBLE TO GET NEW YORK WORKERS

Farmers Meet Train of Men From City at Fonda.

Fonda, N. Y., March 17.—Seventy unemployed, sixty-five men and five women, arrived here today from New York city in charge of S. W. Larmon, deputy state commissioner of agriculture. They are the first of several consignments of unemployed who have accepted Governor Glynn's offer to procure work for them.

The party arrived on a special train and farmers began picking out workers. There was a lively scramble to obtain the services of the more robust, while a few of the men did not seem to attract the employers. The women all received offers of work.

TWO NEW FIRMS FILE ARTICLES

One Will Deal in Mineral Lands; The Other in Investments.

Two new concerns filed articles of incorporation today with Charles Culligan, register of deeds.

One, the Eureka Ore company, is organized to engage in the business of mining and in dealing in mineral lands. The capital stock of the company is $60,000 and the incorporators are Arthur Howell and M. E. Riley of Duluth and C. L. Judd of Saginaw, Minn.

The other, the Investors Agency company, is capitalized at $25,000. The incorporators are Joseph Leteur, Elmer H. Corda and Asa S. Briggs, all of St. Paul. The principal place of business for the company, however, will be in Duluth.

ASKS DISTRIBUTION.

Widow Would Divide Fund on 7-Year-Old Claim.

Agnew Lewandowski, widow of Joseph Lewandowski, and mother of seven children, today petitioned the district court for an order of final distribution of funds received on a wrongful death claim seven years old. The court set April 25 as a date for a hearing on the matter.

Lewandowski was killed Dec. 7, 1906, while in the employ of the Northwestern Fuel company. A cause of action against his employers brought by the widow as administratrix of his estate was settled out of court for $1,250 on March 29, 1909. The attorney handling the case retained a fee of $300.

St. Thomas, N. D., March 17.—Six buildings in the business district of this village were destroyed by fire today, causing a loss of $100,000. The Farmers' State bank and a general store were among the buildings burned.

The fire started, supposedly, from an overheated stove in the Garnett store. Individual losses follow:

Garnett Bros., $50,000 on stock and $10,000 on building.

Farmers' State bank, $10,000 on building and fixtures.

Campbell, Miller & Co., grocers, $10,000 on stock and $2,000 on building.

Wick harness shop, $12,000 on stock and $15,000 on building.

G. H. Larson, jewelry, $15,000 on stock and $3,000 on building.

Home Improvement Telephone company, $2,500 on exchange.

"I'LL BURY SOME OF YOU YET"—TILLMAN.

Washington, March 17.—Senator Tillman had read to the senate today a magazine article he had written on the restoration of his health.

"I see some of the senators laughed while the clerk was reading," said the South Carolina senator. "I'll bury you fellows yet."

MULE RUNS AWAY; DRIVER IS KILLED.

Norway, Mich., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Employed as a teamster in the underground workings of the Penn Iron company's East Vulcan mine, Joseph Fontania was fatally injured in a peculiar manner. A mule he had hitched to a train of tram cars became frightened and started to run. Fontania, who was 27 and single, was caught between a car and the rock-ribbed side of the tunnel and was crushed.

JAMES IS AMBITIOUS.

Hancock Mayor-Senator Would Like to Go to Congress.

Marquette, Mich., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. Frank James, ex-mayor of Hancock, present state senator for the Copper country, a member of multitudinous fraternal orders and a party man of progressive leanings and a strong admiration for T. Roosevelt, is about the Twelfth congressional district looking over the ground in a tentative way. For Senator James is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the house of representatives. In Marquette and in other cities he has met with a cordial reception and, while he is not asking them, he has been given many pledges of hearty support.

EVERY HOME SHOULD HAVE AN OFFICE

The Housewife Will Find That a Little System Will Be a Great Help in Her Business.

Reinette Lovewell in the Delineator: If it is only a small table with a drawer, somewhere apart from the other household interests, the business manager of the home will find that this much of an "office" gives a new zest and facility to the clerical work of household affairs. Just about every housewife nowadays keeps her definite expense account, and in order to attend to this quickly and well, it is almost necessary to have the convenience of a well equipped desk at hand.

Wherever it is located, some sort of a desk, sacred to household business, is essential. First and foremost in its equipment is the expense book, wherein all disbursements are entered. Then a calendar—if possible one arranged so that the month ahead and the month past are shown. In all business transactions the date plays a vital part. There is also needed a file for receipts, unpaid bills, statements of various sorts, etc. This can be alphabetically arranged, like a correspondence file, but a satisfactory substitute can be made from a shoe box or drawer in which can be placed a number of heavy envelopes, shaped like an old-fashioned extension pocketbook. These come with a tape which ties around them. It is often convenient to cut away the tape and use a rubber band.

Have Everything Get-at-able.

Pins and clips keep things of one sort together. Small envelopes, which can be labeled are handy and are much better than any pigeonhole. Little pads from which leaves are quickly torn are a constant help many times a day. Keep also in stock, scissors, a knife, plenty of leadpencils, blotters, paste, pen and ink, both red and black, rubber bands and some extra memo books.

A wire or wicker basket such as is used in office desks by business men, and which can be purchased for 25 cents, is convenient when drawer space is limited. A letter file with alphabetical compartments affords a place for correspondence. This costs about 30 cents. Ruled cards are also inexpensive. These have an index also and are useful for records of "stock on hand," pasted advertisements and addresses of articles which have interest, etc.

The "office" also provides a logical place for the filing of the various coupons that come with certain merchandise, and help to eliminate the "bother" which their preservation seems often to imply. If these are put in bundles of fives and bound about by rubber bands you can tell at a glance how many have accumulated, and save the time of counting.

It Simplifies Housekeeping.

When cash payments are made for groceries, the simplest way of keeping tally is to insist that the storekeepers give a memorandum of all purchases, and keep these statements for reference in checking up accounts. Even small fruit dealers and delicatessen shops will do this when requested. Especially is this plan good when purchases are made by children, as it teaches them accuracy and business sense.

Try to have on paper something to show for every purchase, as it helps in entries and in tracing errors. Even a small charge from the cobbler can be written down in this way. Date all these stray slips.

If bills are rendered weekly or monthly it is easier to keep the record, and it is a good habit to pay bills on certain set days. It also simplifies matters very much if the funds to run the house are received and credited on a certain set date.

Making a real business of housekeeping develops a definite purpose in prosaic tasks, quite unlike a half-hearted struggle to make both ends meet. It tends to make the partnership between the man who earns and the woman who spends more profitable and pleasant, and a very little time, daily, will take care of the work. But accounts, like unwashed dishes, accumulate until they look formidable and they demand regular attention.

BLACK VELVET BRACELETS.

Kansas City Star: It has now become fashionable in Paris to wear a broad bracelet of black velvet on the left arm. It fits the wrist snugly and is held in place by a large monogram or small diamonds bedded in platinum.

Everywhere one sees this one ornament worn on the arm with an evening costume. It is far more conspicuous than a jeweled bracelet and serves to cover the ugliest part of a woman's arm, which is the bone at the wrist.

By the way, black ornaments are becoming more fashionable each day. The huge black velvet chrysanthemum for evening gowns, the black oilcloth rose for afternoon gowns, the black velvet bracelet at dinners and theater, and now, Callot is using large pieces of black onyx jewelry set with seed pearls or brilliants to fasten the front of a tulle bodice.

One can buy these ornaments in Paris and attach them to the gown as one would a rose. The effect is immensely good when the gown is of white tulle or white satin, with a drapery of silver lace. Too much black must not be used.

URGE PRIMARY FOR HOOSIERS

Wilson and Bryan Both Write to Kern on Subject.

Indorse Principle as One That Is for People's Interests.

Washington, March 17.—Letters from President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, indorsing the movement for a state wide primary law in Indiana, were made public today by Senator Kern. The subject will come up at the Indiana Democratic convention, of which Senator Kern is to be permanent chairman. Both letters referred to a recently published interview with the senator on that subject.

President Wilson wrote:

"I have noticed with unusual interest your interview the other day about the absence of a law for state wide primaries in Indiana. I was very much surprised to learn that so great and wideawake a state was so far behind the procession in a matter of such capital importance, and I want to express my deep interest in your efforts to bring about the necessary legislation. It would hearten Democrats everywhere to see this done by Indiana.

Praise for Kern.

"It is remarkable that you should have time and energy to devote to matters of state policy, deeply important as they are, in the midst of your work as chairman of the senate caucus. I am sure all Democrats are indebted to you for the intelligence and confidence you have put into that great task."

Secretary Bryan wrote: "Before you start for the state convention I desire to thank you for giving out the interview which you delivered the other day. I feel a personal interest in what your convention does, because I have spoken in Indiana more than in any other state outside of Nebraska, and one cannot be as well acquainted as I am with your Indiana Democrats without feeling an attachment for them and taking a pride in what they do.

Primary Established.

"I earnestly hope that your state convention will declare for a statewide primary election law. The primary has become a settled practice in almost all the states and is destined to be the settled practice of all the states.

"And the same may be said in regard to the initiative and referendum —the two reforms generally going together because the same principle underlies both. I do not see how any objection can be raised to the initiative and referendum; if the people have not only the right to govern themselves, but the capacity to do so, they should be in position to coerce their representatives into obedience to their will.

"The president's indorsement of the initiative and referendum ought to help you in the fight for these reforms, for he has had time to demonstrate his devotion to the best and highest interests of the party, and the approval which he has won ought to strengthen these reforms."

SOUTH DAKOTA BULL MOOSERS TO MEET

Every Other State in Union Is Organized, Say Leaders.

Huron, S. D., March 17.—Progressives from all parts of South Dakota gathered here today at the convention recently called by O. K. Davis, secretary of the national committee of the Progressive party. The convention was called to organize the party in South Dakota. Plans for placing a full state ticket in the field were to be discussed at today's session. Mr. Davis and David Hinshaw, also a member of the national committee, have been in Huron since Sunday completing arrangements for the meeting. Both were on the program to address the convention.

Organization of the Progressive party has been effected in every other state in the Union, they claim.

A strong sentiment against fusion with any political party or a compromise of party principles was expressed at the opening session of the conference. O. K. Davis, chairman of the National committee, in introducing Gifford Pinchot, the principal speaker of the meeting, announced that the purpose of today's conference was merely to select a provisional state committee, preliminary to the calling of a state conference at which a permanent committee would be appointed and a state ticket selected. Sentiment also favored Col. Roosevelt for the national standard bearer of the party.

TWO MICHIGAN POSTOFFICES FILLED

Byrne Named for Marquette and Lown for Saginaw.

Washington, March 17.—President Wilson today nominated F. S. Byrne as postmaster at Marquette, Mich., and O. E. Lown at Saginaw.

FIND BODY OF UNKNOWN MAN

The body of a man was found floating in the Marshall-Wells slip in the rear of the building on Lake avenue south shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon.

From all appearances the body had been in the water all winter and is in a decomposed condition. The identity of the man is unknown.

Coroner McComb was notified immediately after the finding of the body and he ordered it removed to the Crawford undertaking rooms.

20,000 IRISHMEN MARCH IN NEW YORK.

New York, March 17.—Thousands of loyal Irishmen today polished up their silk hats, stuck shamrocks in their button holes and marched up Fifth avenue in honor of their patron saint. A bright spring sun chased away the clouds which had threatened, and dried up the last vestiges of the recent big snowstorm.

The superb weather filled the sidewalks with spectators. The paraders, 20,000 strong, formed on Forty-second and the nearby streets. At One Hundredth and Twenty-sixth street they dispersed in an amusement park near the Harlem river.

MAY BE THE QUEEN OF BAVARIANS

PRINCESS MARIA DEL PILAR.

It is reported that Princess Maria del Pilar, a relative of the king of Spain, will marry Prince Ruprecht of Bavaria and eventually will be queen of Bavaria. Ruprecht is the crown prince of Bavaria. He was married originally to his cousin, Marie Gabriele, by whom he had three sons. She died in October, 1912.

OBITUARY

Dr. Charles Albert Gobat, who in 1902 divided the Nobel peace prize with E. Decommun, another Swiss, died of apoplexy at Berne, Switzerland, March 16, while presiding over a peace conference. Dr. Gobat was president of the International Peace bureau and administrator of the inter-Parliamentary union. He attended the inter-parliamentary conference at St. Louis in October, 1904. Born in 1843, Dr. Gobat studied law and afterward turned to politics, becoming a member of the Swiss national council. He belonged to many scientific societies, but devoted himself to the cause of international peace. In October, 1904, he sent a formal request to the United States to intervene in the Russo-Japanese war. In 1912 he brought about a sharp controversy by his criticism at the international peace congress of Germany's attitude in Morocco. For some time Mr. Gobat was director of the department of public instruction of Switzerland.

Dr. Edward S. Holden, famous as an astronomer, scientist and educator, and librarian of the United States military academy since 1902, died at West Point, N. Y., March 16 at the age of 68. He was graduated from West Point in 1870 as a lieutenant of engineers. From 1885 to 1888 he was president of the University of California, and for ten years after that director of the Lick observatory. Dr. Holden was author of a score of books, most of them on astronomical subjects. His writings brought him recognition from many European scientific bodies. Denmark made him a knight of the Order of the Danebrog, and Germany made him a knight commander of the Ernestine Order of Saxony. He was an honorary member of the Royal astronomical society of London, of the Astronomical Society of France, and of the Italian Spectroscopic society, and a member of the National Academy of Science.

He was born in St. Louis and received a degree of bachelor of science from Washington university before he entered the military academy. Before going to California he was director of the Washburn observatory in Wisconsin from 1881 to 1885. In 1871 he married Mary Chauvenet of St. Louis.

Rose L. Baernstein, a prominent Minneapolis pianist and member of several musical organizations, died at St. Barnabas hospital, Minneapolis, following an illness of one week. She was 25 years of age and typhoid fever was the cause of death. Miss Baernstein appeared in numerous public recitals as accompanist to her sister, Miss Marion Baernstein, violinist. Miss Marion, another sister, and Miss Bernice, survive.

George H. Strevel, one of the best known railway builders in Canada, died in Winnipeg, Man., March 17, aged 79 years. Mr. Strevel's wealth was estimated at more than $1,000,000.

Rear Admiral James W. Thomson, U. S. N., retired, died at his home in Moorestown, N. J., March 17. He was 78 years old. He entered the navy as an engineer and had the distinction of being the youngest chief engineer in the navy during the Civil war.

UTAH GIRL TAKES AUDIENCE BY STORM

MARGARET ROMAINE.

Margaret Romaine is a Utah girl, who has made a sudden success on Broadway in a light opera called "The Midnight Girl."

She is a sister of Hazel Dawn and comes from Salt Lake City. She studied music in Paris for four years and then went on the stage in opera comique, singing in "Louise" and "Manon" and other operas of high class. Then she decided to go into lighter opera and her first engagement was with "The Midnight Girl" in which George Macfarlane is being starred by the Shuberts. She took the audience by storm on her first night and has repeated her success every night since. Miss Romaine's real name is Tout. She says Romaine does not suit her entirely and she may change it.

WOULD SEIZE U. S. ARSENAL

Kelley's "Army" Plans Included Armed Revolt of 500,000 Men.

California National Guard Officer Reports to Washington.

Sacramento, Cal., March 17.—In a remarkable report communicated to the war department in Washington, Adjt. Gen. Forbes of the National Guard of California has given official cognizance to an alleged plan of "General" Kelley's unemployed army to seize the Federal arsenal at Rock Island, Ill., in order to equip an army of 500,000 men with arms and ammunition for revolution against the government.

Gen. Forbes' report is based on one made to him by Lieut. Franklin Grimes of a Sacramento company of the state guard, who joined Kelley's army as a hobo some days ago, while acting as a spy on behalf of his chief.

Story Told by "Spy."

Lieutenant Grimes, with a wealth of detail, related how he had gained the confidence of the leaders of the unemployed, who divulged to him their plan for capturing the United States government.

There was to be a gathering of many armies at Chicago, according to Grimes, the men reaching that city as best they might. The leaders, according to the militia spy, believed they could assemble 500,000 men at Chicago. Then, moving in force, they would attack and capture the Rock Island arsenal.

Railroads out of Chicago would be commandeered, said the lieutenant, and the unemployed force, well armed, would be rushed toward Washington, where it would at once have the Federal government at its mercy. There then would spread a nation-wide rebellion of workingmen against employers of labor, which would depose all civil and military authorities and install the army's leaders as supreme.

Got Orders From the East.

Grimes declared his informants asserted the movement was being conducted from the East, and that Kelley's force was but one small unit in the whole. Among many other remarkable statements was one that the leaders were relying on the support of a large Canadian contingent.

GILFILLAN WILL BE SPEAKER HERE

Will Attend Banquet of Credit Men on Wednesday Night.

S. L. Gilfillan of Minneapolis, president of the National Association of Retail Credit Men, will be one of the chief speakers tomorrow evening at a banquet to be given by the Duluth Retail Credit club at the Woodland cafe, St. Louis hotel. Several prominent Duluthians also will be on the program. Both the credit men and their wives are invited.

"An Evening in the Credit Game" is the general theme of the speakers, and the whole discussion will be devoted to retail credit. Bentley P. Neff, manager of the Glass Block store and secretary of the F. A. Patrick company; G. W. C. Ross, attorney for the Duluth credit men, and Daniel J. Mahoney, assistant cashier of the American Exchange National bank will be speakers. All employers, credit granters and their assistants are urged to be present.

A. C. Pearson is president of the Duluth association and George Fairley is secretary.

ARE MARRIED ON ST. PATRICK'S DAY

A St. Patrick's day marriage ceremony was performed by Judge Gilpin in probate court this morning because Armond Simoulin, 35, French, and Katarina Walchshause, 30, German, picked an Irish holiday for their wedding day.

They arrived in the city this morning from one of the range towns and hurried to the courthouse at once for the license. After the permit had been issued they were directed to the probate court where the knot was tied. Both are residents of St. Louis county.

WALL FALLS ON MEN IN ST. LOUIS

Six Escape But Others Are Buried Under the Ruins.

St. Louis, Mo., March 17.—The seven-story west wall of the Missouri Athletic club building, which was destroyed by fire a week ago, was blown over this afternoon and fell on the roof of a four-story building occupied by the St. Louis Seed company. It is reported that twelve men were working in the latter.

Three to five men were buried under the falling wall and six escaped.

YOUNG MOTHER HAS BIG CHILD.

Assinins, Mich., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. George Hugo of this (Baraga) county community is believed to be the youngest mother in Upper Michigan. There has been born a daughter weighing thirteen pounds. Mrs. Hugo is 15 years of age. She was married at 14.

McKENNA TO STUDY ROCK ISLAND LINES.

New York, March 17.—In connection with the impending readjustment of the Rock Island railroad system, announcement was made today that the Rock Island bondholders' protective committee has engaged E. W. McKenna, vice president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, to make an examination of the Rock Island lines.

MINNESOTA POSTMASTERS.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 17.—The president sent to the senate today the following Minnesota postmasters: Martin J. Casey, Jordan; Harry D. Smith, Plainview; Clemens A. Lauterbach, Redwood Falls; Stephen M. Quigley, Wabash; Christian Hunsinger, Wadena.

SUGGESTS PROFIT-SHARING PLAN WHICH HE THINKS BETTER THAN FORD'S

Jacob Wertheim Fears Latter May Prove Unsuccessful and Outlines Another Way of Benefiting Employes.

New York Times: In the wide discussion that has followed the announcement of Henry Ford's plan of sharing his profits with his employes by distributing $10,000,000 or more of the estimated profits of his business for the year in advance, as it were, much adverse criticism of the automobile manufacturer's method of making this distribution has occurred. While there is almost general praise for Mr. Ford's principle of profit-sharing, the manner of its application, in the minds of many employers of labor who have thought long on the subject, is apt to prove mischievous.

Jacob Wertheim, who for many years was a large employer of labor, and who had a great deal to do with labor questions, is one of those who praise Mr. Ford's motive, but who find fault with his method. Mr. Wertheim has been working for some years on a scheme of profit-sharing, and he believes he has evolved a plan which has all the good points of the Ford scheme with none of the attendant features that have provoked so much adverse criticism.

Would Divide Profits.

In brief, Mr. Wertheim would not only pay good wages to employes, including not only those who do manual labor but the salaried men of every grade from president down to office boy, but he would insist in the next place upon a fair return upon the capital employed, which he estimates, in an industrial business, to be about 7 per cent. The remainder of the profits above this he would divide into two parts—not necessarily half and half—proportionate to the value of the labor in this business as compared with the capital invested. In some lines, he believes, labor counts more in making profits than in others.

But one part of this remaining dividend he would divide among the workmen and all the salaried officials and other persons employed by the company, in proportion to the yearly wage or salary of each.

This scheme, Mr. Wertheim believes, is not only practical and practicable, but it provides a solution of the difficulties that of late years have been coming up between employer and employe. In his opinion it is the answer to Socialism.

Mr. Wertheim, in the last forty years, has gradually made his way from very modest beginnings to a position of eminence in the industrial world and the world of finance. Thirty-six years ago he started business with a tiny tobacco and cigar shop at the corner of Third avenue and Fifty-fourth street. After four years he took in a partner and went into business on a larger scale. A few years later the firm changed from Wertheim & Schiffer to erbs, Wertheim & Schiffer by amalgamation with the big firm of erbs Sliess. After some years more, Mr. Wertheim formed the corporation The United Cigar Manufacturers, buying out Stratton & Storm and amalgamating with Hirschborn, Mack & Co. Later he formed the present United Cigar Manufacturers company, a public corporation, with a capital stock issue of $20,000,000. He retired from business on April 1 of last year.

Reason for Retiring.

One of Mr. Wertheim's main reasons for retiring was that he had come to the conclusion that he wanted to put into practice a theory he had as to a proper distribution of profits between employer and employes. There were certain reasons why this could not be done in the company of which he was at the head.

In the course of an interview Mr. Wertheim said some of his friends had been telling him that he was a Socialist, but that since the Ford plan had been announced he had come to regard himself as an extremely conservative person.

"But at the bottom Mr. Ford is right," said Mr. Wertheim. "However, his method of application is unfortunate, and will tend to work more evil than the good that was intended.

"Of late there has come what seems to be an awakening of the people to the fact that there is something not quite right in the division of capital and labor. Varied and numerous, but unsuccessful, attempts have been made to remedy this difficulty.

"Henry Ford, by the announcement of his profit-sharing scheme, has astonished the world, and, in my opinion, he has recognized the existing evil and at the same time recognized that its only possible solution can be achieved on the basic principle of a division of net earnings between capital and labor.

"But, while Mr. Ford's action has been magnificent and will undoubtedly go far toward arousing people to a sense of what is right in the matter, I feel that the method of application he has instituted is most unfortunate. While I have nothing but praise for the underlying principles that have actuated him, I fear that the way he is applying them may be more harm than good.

Would Be Impossible.

"It is evident at a glance that a general duplication of the Ford method will be impossible. Many employers who would like to emulate the example of the Detroit manufacturer stand aghast at its extravagant and impossible features.

"The annual profit that Mr. Ford makes out of each of his employes is so vastly in excess of the profit of an ordinary business that he stands alone in his ability to pay remunerations such as he proposes.

"Hence, the Ford plan may prove a curse instead of a blessing, as intended, for many working people will immediately assume that what Ford can do every employer can do, and a spirit of unrest and dissatisfaction and possible labor troubles may follow.

"The Ford employes themselves receiving this larger income, in which they will not make any distinction between mere wage and profit, will probably acquire habits of living more expensively. Suppose they are discharged, or sever their connection with the Ford concern in some other manner. Nowhere else will they be able to earn so much money as in that company. They have acquired what are for persons in their circumstances false standards of living, such as no economic principle and nothing in the line of experience can justify. In many cases, they will have put nothing by. What is to become of such men? Is it not likely that they will suffer, and that society will suffer from them and their discontent, rather than that neither will benefit from what was showered upon those men, with undoubtedly the best intentions?

"I have had a great deal to do with labor matters, having had the employment of large numbers of men, and have had to act in matters involving unions and strikes, so that I am not speaking as a mere theorist. Some might question my motive and ask why I didn't carry out my plan when I was at the head of a corporation. They might ask why Mr. Ford has not done before what he is going to do. For one reason, there are thoughts that never seem to come to one until one begins to grow old, and has time to give real, reflective study to the problems he has had to deal with. I may say that in the corporation of which I was the head, I found my plan was impracticable.

"But two years ago I talked over my plan seriously with Marcus M. Marks, the present president of the Borough of Manhattan, who had retired from the successful conduct of a large clothing business, and offered to supply all the capital necessary if he would go back into a similar business and endeavor to carry my plan into practical effect. He replied that he felt he could not take up business again, his time being entirely occupied.

"One of my main reasons for retiring from business was to put my plan into practical execution. I expect to make a practical test of it in one or two lines, if I can find some man engaged in a certain industry who, with increased capital, may be willing to help work out my theory.

"I have been for many years an earnest believer in the principle underlying Mr. Ford's action, but my applications differ materially from his.

"I believe that after the actual capital invested in a given business has received its interest, and after the labor employed in that business has also received its remuneration in the shape of its weekly wages—and in 'labor' I include everybody connected with the business, from the president down to the office boy—the net results obtained by the combined efforts of both capital and labor should, on some just basis, be apportioned between both agencies that have actually helped in the production of these results.

"As an illustration of the possible practical application of my plan, let us assume that an industrial enterprise earns, say, $1,000,000 per year, employing a capital of $4,000,000 and doing a business of $10,000,000, out of which it expends for labor of all kinds $3,000,000. We find that after paying 7 per cent on the $4,000,000 invested, amounting to $280,000, there remains a net profit of $720,000.

The Labor Dividend.

"Assuming it were decided that one-half of this net profit should go to the labor that helped to create it and the other one-half to the capital that had also made it possible to earn this net profit, it would be found that $360,000 would be the labor dividend —in other words, 12 per cent on the $3,000,000 expended for labor during the past twelve months.

"Thus the workman, having earned, say, $1,000 in wages during that past year, receives $120 as his share of the profits which he helped produce; the president or employer, having earned, say, $10,000 in salary, received $1,200 as his share of the profits, and the office boy, having earned $250 in salary, receives a dividend of $30.

"You will notice that the interest on capital invested at 7 per cent as applicable to general industrial business. This rate of interest would be decreased where the plan was applied to a financial business, in which the risk of capital invested would be smaller than the average industrial lines.

"I believe that this method of application is a normal one, while I believe the Ford plan is abnormal. For that reason I believe the application of my plan, as I have outlined it, is more likely to be followed by other industrial concerns, because the best workmen and the highest efficiency will naturally gravitate to institutions adopting such a plan. Of necessity the resultant output will be better, and the buying public, partly from a sentiment of helping their brother laborers, but primarily because they know they will get better value for their money, will automatically compel other manufacturers and industrial concerns to adopt similar methods.

"I can readily understand that considerable difference of opinion will arise as to what should be the proper division of net results obtained in a business so conducted. On this point I believe that the share of capital and labor should be in the ratio of their relative importance in the particular industry in which they are employed. To a certain extent this could be gauged by the ratio which the money paid for labor of all kinds bears to the annual volume of business done.

Profits Not As Large.

"I might mention a fact which is well known in the manufacturing world, that for a business yielding enormous returns like Mr. Ford's, there are thousands where the owners are satisfied when the profits are 10 per cent on the volume of business done or even less. It will be found that if a manufacturer makes a profit of from $100 to $200 per year out of an employe, he considers it an excellent showing. On Mr. Ford's own statement he makes something like $1,500 a year out of each person that works for him. There are many manufacturers in the East who are lucky if they get a bare $50 profit out of each of their employes during a year.

"Henry Ford's action is a blessing in so far as it sets the world thinking, but, as I have said, I believe his plan is impracticable and mischievous. Mine, I hold, is feasible and just.

"Let employers of labor make no mistake. It is written on the wall that business in the future, to be successful, must come to a profit-sharing basis, and it is a subject they should seriously consider. I am no alarmist, but the world has progressed, and is going forward still more.

"The discontent that exists among laboring men must be faced squarely —not merely in an effort at self-preservation, but in a spirit of justice and acknowledgment of right. Labor must get the share to which it is entitled.

"I do not believe in Socialism, for Socialism would stamp out individuality and initiative and enterprise, and take from life that which makes it worth while. But the time has come for us to face certain facts.

"It is only fair to assume that a workman, knowing that he will receive a dividend on his contribution in labor to the annual profits resulting in the industry in which he is employed, will cease to be an automaton, and will bend his effort toward a higher degree of efficiency, which means a greater annual earning power for the concern and a correspondingly greater labor dividend.

"Give labor its share of profits in some such fashion as I have outlined, and there will be no more labor troubles, and everybody will be enabled to live in peace and prosperity and in friendliness with his neighbor."

ALLEGED TOKIO GRAFTER SUICIDE.

Tokio, Japan, March 17. — Yoshida, said to have been the intermediary between officials of the German electrical firm of Siemens & Schuckert company and Japanese naval officials, committed suicide today in prison.

Yoshida recently was arrested in connection with the alleged receipt of illicit commissions by naval officers for influencing the allotment of admiralty contracts in favor of the German firm.

SWORD WON'T CUT WATER.

Chicago Journal: A factory in Grenoble, France, utilizes the water of a reservoir situated in the mountains at a height of 200 yards. The water reaches the factory through a vertical tube of the same length, with a diameter of considerably less than an inch, the jet being used to move the turbine.

Experiments have showed that the strongest men cannot cut the jet with the best tempered sword, and in some instances the blade has been broken into fragments without deflecting a drop of the water, and with as much violence as a pane of glass may be shattered by a blow from an iron bar, says Harper's Weekly. It has been calculated that a jet of water a small fraction of an inch in thickness, moving with sufficient velocity, could not be cut by a rifle bullet.

TITLED FOLK BAR TANGO

Social Leaders in London Look Upon the Craze With Abhorrence.

"What did you do, America?
They're after you, America;
You got excited and you started something.
Nations jumping all round."

And, to quote the chorus of the popular song, "England's dropped her dignity; so have France and Germany." But England, at least that part of it which comes under the head of "society leaders," has risen to condemn the tango. In taking this step John Bull follows closely in the wake of France from which country a revolt against the popular dance was reported only a few days ago.

There doesn't seem to be much doubt about it: tango is king. And the fact that the Argentine origin of the dance was disreputable has made it the subject of more discussion, pro and con, than any "craze" which has ever taken hold of the seekers after new forms of recreation and amusement.

Broadly speaking, when tango is mentioned, it must be understood as including all the "new dances"—Castle walk and variations, "hesitation" waltz and variations, and the tango proper. Of the three subdivisions one is as different from the other, both in time and form, as they all are different from the old square dances. But for the sake of brevity and convenience they are all branded "tango," and though the tango proper, in its much exp rgated form, probably is the least objectionable of any of the new steps, (in its slow measure and deliberate execution it has been compared frequently to the minuet), it must suffer with the others. Its name condemns it.

The One Big Objection.

When all objections are sifted down, the result amounts to this: America—the United States, is held primarily to blame on account of being the birthplace and home of ragtime—the syncopated tune, without which the most suggestive of the new steps would be impossible. The fact that the "ragg" melodies have lost favor with the up-to-the-minute dancers, inasmuch as they are available only for the Castle walk, doesn't lessen their guilt. Ragtime inspired the various "trots" and "hugs" of recent memory, and that is enough to condemn it.

The English "demonstration" against the tango takes the form of adverse criticism in the newspapers from a long list of notables—Lord So-and-So, Lady Such-and-One, Bishop This and Archbishop That. Many of them frankly admit that they have never seen the tango danced: they do not wish to. Anyway, they say, it will never become popular in English drawing rooms principally because the steps are too complicated. Their chief contention is that, no matter how modified or refined the dances may be, they can so easily be made suggestive, you know. The "tango-hooble craze" is the way the lords and ladies refer to the dance hysteria. Lord Lonsdale, for instance, who is conspicuous in sporting circles, speaks of the "tango year of 1913," and compares that besotted year to the period preceding the decay and fall of Rome.

Calls it a Sign of Decadence.

"The present craze," writes Lord Lonsdale," reminds me rather of the introduction of dances as a sign of decadence in the Roman and French empires. I do not think it conducive to the interest of the ballroom. The fact of some ladies having taken their instructors with them to various parties has caused a very considerable amount of comment and raised the opposition to the dance and a detrimental opinion of those who have done it. My own opinion is that it is merely a momentary craze which certainly the public will ban if danced in public ballrooms as I have seen it danced recently."

Under the title of "The Dance of Moral Death," one English publication quotes the opinions of several arbiters of fashion and propriety. A title so sensational naturally suggests startling outbursts, so that the first opinion quoted, that of the Duchess of Norfolk, sounds rather tame.

"Such dances are not desirable," says her grace, "for the tango in itself and the comments it leads to are surely foreign to our English nature and ideals."

Others, however, are not so temperate in their attacks. Says Lady De Ramsey:

"I strongly disapprove of the tango and would never let it be danced in my house."

"I consider it," writes Lady Layland-Barratt, "an immoral and suggestive dance altogether impossible for any girl of refinement and modesty."

The clergy, in their attacks on the dance, will make no concessions whatever. Father Bernard Vaughan does not think it much to the credit of leaders of society that they disapprove. "I think," he says, "it would be highly discreditable to them if they did not." He calls the tango and its ramifications "animal dances" which have no object other than "to gratify animal passions which, when let loose, become beyond one's control." It is not so much what happens at a tango tea, he says, as what happens after the tea.

A Bishop is Severe.

Bishop Welldon condemns the tango on the general grounds that the dances of savages cannot be "transplanted" without giving offense. Dancing, he says, was originally associated with religious observances, but was then performed either by men or by women.

"Since men and women began to dance together it has become more sensuous and therefore more dangerous." As for the tango itself, Bishop Welldon has never seen it.

"I think tango will soon join the shades with pingpong," says Baron de Forest.

Opposed to the foregoing opinions are those of a few persons whose names doubtless may be found in Burke's or Who's Who. These agree that the dance is a perfectly harmless form of amusement and find nothing to complain of it if it is done properly and gracefully. Our old friend, "To the pure all things are pure," frequently appears. To this list of champions may be added the names of several members of the theatrical profession whose only objection to the tango is, strangely enough, that it has not been confined to the stage.

"To me the tango is a bore," says Marie Tempest; "I took lessons, but I cannot find anyone who dances it my way."

The Gentlewoman publishes an attack on the dance by a writer who declares that "English folks were not designed by Nature to emulate the emotional movements of a half naked 'fuzzy-wuzzy' in his kraal before setting out on some orgy of bloodshed. Movements that are negroid in their interpretation," this writer continues, "or hint of what only a hot blooded 'Southern' or New York Bowery 'tough' should have intimate knowledge, do not agree with that refined and repressing atmosphere which is peculiar to English gentlewomen."

"The tango typhoon," declares the London Chronicle, "under the spell of the Pied Piper of the Argentine, has swept Europe."

TIT FOR TAT.

Los Angeles Times: "A case of tit for tat," said Representative Cordell Hull, apropos of an income-tax dispute. "It reminds me of the postoffice employe.

"A man bought of this employe two 2-cent stamps, then turned to go, but the employe, laying a persuasive hand on his arm, cooed:

"'A few stamped envelopes this morning, sir? We have all shapes and sizes.'

"'No, thank you, none this morning,' said the other coldly, and he gave a start of surprise.

"'If then, sir, you'll step round to the left, I'll show you our choice collection of lock boxes. They come very cheap by the year, and—'

"'No. No, thank you.'

"'Maybe you'd like a money order this morning. Foreign or domestic, we have a very elegant assortment.'

"'No certainly not.'

"'Post cards, sir? We just got in a fresh lot. Very latest fall styles, sir.'

"'Aw, no! What's eatin' you?' And, with this resort to the vernacular, the patron jerked his arm loose and angrily retired.

"The postmaster, who happened along just then, took the employe to task.

"'Who was that man? And what did you insult him for?' the manager demanded.

"'I didn't insult him,' said the employe. 'You see, he's a barber, and every time he shaves me he tries to stick me for a singe, shampoo, massage, hair cut, tonic, and dear knows what. I thought I'd turn the tables on him and see how he liked it.'"

THE PROFESSIONAL FORGER.

London Chronicle: Forging is generally quite an amateur affair in England, but in India, where the professional forger flourishes, it is the business of a lifetime. A father, for instance, who thinks he detects in his son an aptitude for the occupation, apprentices him to one of its masters. He learns, among other things, engraving, photography, paper-making, chemistry, so as to deal with colored inks, and, above all, fine penmanship and delicate miniaturelike painting. After several years hard work he is pronounced proficient, and sets up a business for himself, generally commencing by counterfeiting government stamps.

WOMAN DEFIES STATE POWER

"Mother" Jones Says She Will Go Back to Trinidad, Colo.

Makes Declaration After Seeing the Governor at Denver.

Denver, Colo., March 17.—The plans of "Mother" Mary Jones, the 82-year-old strike leader, as to her future strike activities were the center upon which was focused today the interest of all parties to the Colorado labor controversy. Mrs. Jones had not yet announced when she would make her contemplated return to the strike district, where, according to the statement of Adjt. Gen. John Chase, re-arrest awaits her. Officers of the United Mine Workers of America said no definite arrangements had been made regarding the future movements of the aged strike leader, but they reiterated that she would certainly return to Trinidad soon.

Governor E. M. Ammons today refused to make any definite statement as to the future policy of the state toward the former militiary prisoner, whose unexpected release yesterday brought to a sensational termination her efforts to secure freedom by writ of habeas corpus.

Court Action Delayed.

"Mother" Jones remained at her hotel here during the early hours of the day. Decision as to whether her imprisonment in Trinidad constitutes a violation of constitutional rights, was further deferred by the action late Sunday night of the military authorities releasing the prisoner, and automatically suspending habeas corpus proceedings which were to have been filed in the state supreme court yesterday.

Circumstances surrounding the departure of "Mother" Jones from Trinidad and her appearance in Denver were given in widely differing versions from strike leaders and state officials. While the aged strike leader declares she was put on a train by militia guards at Trinidad Sunday night without her consent, Adjt. Gen. John Chase, commanding the military zone, asserts she was brought to Denver and released upon her expressed wish to interview Governor Ammons.

Going Back to Trinidad.

Further developments of the situation did not appear likely until the end of the week, when "Mother" Jones asserts she will return to Trinidad in defiance of Gen. Chase's alleged threat that if she returns to Trinidad during the labor trouble there she will be immediately arrested.

"I am going back to Trinidad before the end of this week," she declared. "I fully expect to be arrested and put back in prison as soon as I reach the strike zone, but no governor or president can make me abandon my constitutional rights as a citizen of the United States to go where I please. So long as I live, I shall refuse to submit to military despotism."

The light blue eyes of the little, white-haired old woman flashed through the heavy lenses of her gold-bowed spectacles as she delivered her defiance to the civil and military authorities of the state of Colorado. The old-fashioned black bonnet, perched awry on her white hair, bobbed in energetic emphasis.

Will Restore Tent Colony.

"Yes, I shall go back to Trinidad. If they should not arrest me at once, I will go to the strikers' tent colonies and take up my work where I had to drop it two months ago when the militia locked me up. I shall go ahead caring for the wives and children of the strikers and encouraging the men in their resistance to tyranny and robbery by the coal operators who own Southern Colorado."

In the course of the interview with the governor, the labor leaders served notice that the men would make an effort to restore the lower Forbes tent colony, where the tents recently were demolished by the military.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"Officer 666."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville and diving contest.
EMPRESS—"The Funny Moon."

Amusement Notes.

"Officer 666" will be seen for the last time at the Lyceum this evening. This funny farce has been one of the most successful of modern comedies, and many Duluthians have enjoyed it during its present stay at the Lyceum.

Tomorrow the Rumford-Butt recital will be given at the Lyceum, and Friday and Saturday Rose Stahl in "Maggie Pepper" will be presented.

If she had not made so great a success as an actress, it is probable that Miss Stahl would have gone back to newspaper work from which she went on the stage. Her father is a well-known newspaper man of Trenton, N. J., and before she finally settled on her own career, she used to help about the office and write "stuff." And if she had not been so good an actress she would have made a good newspaper woman, for she writes well and fluently. She learned much of acting from her newspaper work, and she has written of it as follows:

"The analogies between acting and newspaper work frequently occur to me. My father was a journalist for many years. He often told me that the secret of writing is the knowledge of what to leave out—that elimination is the secret of success. I attribute my first popular hit in 'The Chorus Lady' to an appreciation of this point of view. Before that piece was produced I had undergone invaluable experience in stock work, playing in many cities.

"Audiences who have been familiar with my acting of recent years would probably be amazed at the variety of the roles I assumed during my apprenticeship—everything in fact from Shakespeare to Sardou. I am sure that not many persons associate me with the Cleopatra of the French dramatist, yet that is one of the important characters which fell to my lot during my stock work. Thus I learned the technique of my art, and when I conceived the idea of impersonating the 'chorus lady,' Patricia O'Brien suggested to me by reading a magazine sketch, and I called into play my recipe for elimination. New York, Chicago and even London, hailed me as a new factor in the histrionic horizon; but I was only putting into execution, artistic ideals implanted into me in the stock days, and excluding all matter that did not seem to bear directly upon the verity and realism of the new genre role which I was creating.

"'The Chorus Lady' was first used as a vaudeville sketch, and then expanded into a full-grown, four-act play, and London affected the deepest interest in the racy idiom of its leading personage. I don't presume to imagine that British audiences understood all my slang phrases. They enjoyed them even when they failed to comprehend their exact meaning, as they do all American products, which seem to them outre and strange. If there is anything an English audience dislikes, it is for an American actor to visit London in the guise merely of Colonial English men or women. It has been decided abroad that Americans must talk through their noses and use odd, picturesque idioms, and those who don't do this are despised as mere imitation English folk. Hence, the reason for the unequivocal success of 'Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch,' with its strongly marked character types, and likewise, 'The Chorus Lady,' just as distinctive in its own field."

The first of the two diving contests for Duluthians, arranged by Manager Billings of the Duluth Orpheum as a special attraction in connection with the engagement of Odiva, the Samoan swimmer, will be held this evening.

This evening's contest will be for men and boys, and on Friday night a contest for young women will be held.

Odiva will conduct the contests, but will not compete in them. She will illustrate her dives, and the young men will attempt to duplicate them. The one who best succeeds will be awarded the silver cup which has been offered by Manager Billings. The contest will be in addition to the regular performance.

The entries for the contest tonight are as follows:

Harold Thomas, 4130 McCulloch street; Lester Erickson, 1011 West Fourth street; John MacInnis, 206 East First street; Charles Wright, 121 First avenue west; Robert Chamberlain, 205 South Sixteenth avenue east; Dave Lieberman, 404½ East Fifth street; Frank Williams, 475 Mesaba avenue, and Tom Mathar, 124 East Fourth street.

Mr. Billings has received several entries for the young women's contest Friday evening, but has not yet announced the names.

"The Funny Moon," an entertaining comedy with music is pleasing the audiences at the Empress.

James P. Lee achieves a double distinction in being the author, as well as star, of the clever musical playlet. He and his daughter, Miss Madeline Lee, who shares honors with him, are thoroughly capable and their support is adequate.

As Sam Redlands, "the right man" in the play, Lee displays uncommon ability as a comedian, his fun bubbling across the footlights in wholesome fashion. Miss Madeline Lee's personality is unique and her songs were a delight. "Isle d'Amour" and "Mammy Jinny's Jubilee" were especially worthy of mention, the supporting choruses being adequate. Miss Lee's duet with Le Roy Kinslow was well received.

The playlet will be presented for two more nights ending Wednesday evening.

Railroads

D. S. S. & A. EXPECTS RAPID EXPANSION

Making Good Showing in Freight Traffic—Expects Settlers.

The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad is making a good showing in its volume of freight traffic, and now that the miners' strike in the Copper country is practically over, marked expansion is expected. Officials of the road hope to bring in hundreds of settlers during the spring and summer months to take up lands along the line in Northern Wisconsin and Northern Michigan.

With the completion of the improvements on the South Shore that had been under way for two years, the heavier locomotives bought last fall will be placed in use and a faster passenger train service will be practicable during the coming season between Duluth and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. That, it is felt, will result in attracting a larger percentage of the travel between here and Eastern points.

The road's net revenue for January was reported at $58,069 and for the seven months net earnings of $441,361 were shown as compared with $423,605 during the corresponding period last year. The heavy outlays for betterments had, in the interval, been made a charge against current earnings.

DUNN CENTER, N. D., IS TO BE MOVED

Northern Pacific Selects New Townsite and Citizens Will Move.

Dunn Center, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new location for the town of Dunn Center has been selected by the Northern Pacific, a mile and a half west of the present site. Differences between the company and the owners of the land led to the purchase by the Northern Pacific of another location. The new town is to be platted at once and some of the business places are already on skids for transportation to the new location. As soon as the town is established at the permanent site the fight for the county seat of Dunn county will then begin in earnest.

SPECIAL OFFICE IN ARMY FOR GOETHALS.

Washington, March 17.—A bill to give Col. George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal, the rank of major-general, was introduced by Representative Hay, the chairman of the inter-oceanic canal committee. It provides for an additional number in the grade of major general "for the officer who has most distinguished himself in the construction of the Panama canal, such an appointment to be in recognition of the services rendered by the officer to the world."

New Theater Opens.

The People's theater at Broadway and Tower avenues will open its doors to the public for the first time this evening. Construction on the building began last fall and the final touches in preparation for the opening were made yesterday. The new theater will show motion pictures.

Saloon Keepers Fined.

Three saloon keepers yesterday paid fines totaling $53 for keeping their saloons open on Sunday. They are: Sam Lee of 423 Tower avenue and J. J. Colt of 1118 North Third street, who were arrested Sunday, and Henry Hautala of 1807 North Third street, who was arrested yesterday. They all pleaded guilty when arraigned in police court.

DISPUTED THE RIGHT-OF-WAY

Driver of Dog Team Says Driver of Horses Assaulted Him.

Even though John Lasinsky, 16 years old, was driving a dog team and John Tetzloff, 66 years old, was holding reins over a span of big horses, he felt that he had as much right to the public street as the other.

Last Saturday the dog team and the horse team came face to face on Mesaba avenue. The youth didn't feel like going all the way over and the gray-haired veteran didn't feel like pulling out for the dog-drawn outfit. One word led to another and ended in a near battle.

The next chapter was written yesterday afternoon when the boy caused the old man's arrest on a charge of having assaulted him by striking him with a whip. Tetzloff pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for next Tuesday morning.

WILL DEMONSTRATE ROMAN MEAL

Possibilities of New Cereal Will Be Shown at Bread Factory.

Instead of Friday as announced this morning a demonstration of Roman Meal will be given this evening at the Zinsmaster-Smith plant, Twenty-eighth avenue west and Superior street. It will be in the nature of a reception and inspection of the immense new bread plant, but following this, the company will demonstrate the possibilities of Roman Meal in bread making.

In fact, the Zinsmaster-Smith company has found that it makes the most delicious bread, but it did not remain for that company to discover it, for many families have been using the Duluth-made meal for such purpose for some time. Some people, however, have hesitated to try it, as in the case of all new things. It is for this purpose that the demonstration is being held. The Roman Meal company will also have on hand samples of things that Roman Meal may be used to make. Bread is only one of many, but in this form the meal is delicious, and nutritious.

LACKS BUT ONE SIGNATURE

Extension of Water System to Western Suburb Is Assured.

But one signature is lacking upon the guarantee required by the water and light department for the extension of the water system from New Duluth to Gary townsite.

Manager Reed said this morning that he expects this will be added within a short time and that work upon the extension will be begun early this spring.

The estimated cost of the extension is $22,000. This does not include a reservoir at Gary, but this will probably be added later when the consumption increases sufficiently to warrant it. Before starting the work the department requires a guarantee of 8 per cent upon the estimated cost of the extension. In this case the residents of Gary must insure a revenue to the department of $1,760.

The residents of the steel plant suburb have also been asking for a sewer system, but it is doubtful if this will be secured this year. The revolving fund is not in shape to stand the expense. Probably the only way in which the sewer could be secured would be by the advance payment of the estimated cost of the work. If this were done the works division would proceed with the job.

MARKET HAS SLIGHT DROP

Wheat Declines Fractionally in Sympathy With Lower Cables.

Flaxseed Closes Strong on Good Buying After Early Weakness.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 17.—The market held steady and dull up to the close. May wheat closed ¼c off and July ⅛c off. May durum closed ⅛c off and July ⅛c off.

Oats closed unchanged at 36½c. Rye closed unchanged at 54@56c for the best grades. There was no market in barley.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 35½@35⅝c bid and July at 37¾c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 90⅝c bid and calls at 90⅞@ 91c bid.

Wheat held fairly steady around the opening today on buying by millers. Liverpool cables were fractionally up, but the market there was inactive with a decline expected, falling a stronger situation in America. The situation turned weaker here after the first hour on the receipt of more encouraging news regarding the high condition of the winter wheat crop. While there were reports of high winds in a few sections of Kansas, rains were reported in parts, going to still further improve the outlook through them. There was said to be only limited Eastern inquiry, and export offers were entirely out of line.

Bradstreet's world's visible supply report was of a bearish nature, showing an increase of 454,000 bu of wheat in the week; an increase of 824,000 bu of corn and a decrease of 2,558,000 bu of oats.

Wheat inspections at Duluth were 81 cars as compared with 116 cars last year, but there was on the track for the day only 45 cars of all grains. Stocks here increased 26,000 bu in the two days, bringing them up to 13,-499,000 bu.

At Minneapolis receipts were 229 cars against 167 last year. A good cash demand from millers was reported down there with premiums extending from 1¼ to 2½c over May. Winnipeg receipts were more liberal for the time being, amounting to 375 cars against 15 last year.

May wheat opened unchanged at 92¼@92⅝, and it weakened fractionally up to the final hour. The July option opened unchanged at 93⅛@93¼c and it also went off a shade.

There were only a few trades put through in durum, it followed the course of spring wheat. The May option opened unchanged at 91½c and it declined ¼c.

Flaxseed Closes Strong.

Flaxseed turned weak from the opening on the appearance of selling induced by lower foreign cables. Buenos Aires closed ¾c off; Antwerp unchanged, and London 2¼c off. Winnipeg also sold down substantially, but the market there was firmer in the near option. Declines of ⅝@⅞c were finally shown in the market here. There was a rally at the close.

Fair support was noted from crushers and operators on the low spots, with the trade generally confident of a further advance in view of the strong statistical position of the world's markets on the light supplies. Receipts were light at all the American primary markets.

May flax opened ¼c up at $1.61 and the close came ¾c off at $1.60½. The July ontion opened unchanged at $1.62¾, and it closed ¾c off at $1.62. The September option was quoted for the first time, opening at $1.62 bid and selling up to $1.62¾.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.39¾ bid and July at $1.42¾ bid.

John Inglis wired Baker from Harper, Kan.: "The same general good condition of wheat continues through the southern counties of Kansas as previously reported. Acreage has been largely increased. All stock is in excellent condition, and I find good pasturage on the wheat fields. The acreage in oats is large.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Steady American cables caused some support at the opening and values were unchanged to ⅛d higher and following the opening there was an additional advance of ⅛d with the undertone steady. Improved millers demand for spot and nearby offers and few Manitoba offers for spring shipment, caused the advance. Good wheat is firmly held everywhere. These served to offset the expectations of a liberal increase in the visible here and general favorable crop advices from Europe and free arrivals. At 1:30 p. m. the market was steady, ⅛d to ¼d higher.

Corn opened unchanged and remained so during the morning. The undertone however was firm. Easier closing at Buenos Aires and favorable weather in Argentine, offset by steady demand.

European visible, 83,352,000 bu. wheat, against 81,912,000 bu last week; an increase of 1,440,000 bu.

The Northwestern flour milling industry's output of 326,880 bbl of flour during the first week of March compares with 349,110 bbl in 1913. Mills are running 64 per cent of capacity in Minneapolis and 61 per cent outside, according to returns received by the Northwestern Miller. Foreign sales are generally nil. Feedstuffs have advanced another 50c a ton, with demand still in excess of supply. Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth to March 7 were 130,654,000, against 168,-306,000 a year ago and 98,931,000 two years ago.

The Canadian government elevator at Port Arthur handled during its first partial year of operation 3,345,674 bu of wheat; 866,739 bu of oats; 283,246 bu of barley, and 2,590,187 bu of flax, a total of 7,083,856 bu. The expenses of its operation, direct and indirect, up till the end of February were $33,256, so that a profit of $51,594 was shown.

The cash market at Winnipeg has been very strong of late. This is said to be due to the fact that Manitoba and Saskatchewan mill elevators are far from full, and that millers now realize there was a miscalculation of the amount of wheat in farmers' hands. They have thus far found it impossible to secure their usual stocks for summer grinding.

GOOD ACTIVITY IN COPPER ISSUES

Granby Feature, Closing Higher—Calumet & Corbin Strong.

Mining stocks in Boston turned strong today with good general buying reported. Granby was again the feature, selling up to $90, and closing at $89.50, an advance of $1.50 in the day. Amalgamated copper was also heavily traded in, and it closed with an advance of $1.12 at $74.87. Butte & Superior closed 75c up at $36.50; Calumet & Arizona 38c up at $67.50; North Butte 75c up at $28.50; Shattuck unchanged at $28; Greene-Cananea a shade off at $36.50, and Alaska Gold 38c up at $21.87.

In the Duluth curb list, Calumet & Corbin opened with sales at 30c with considerable stock changing hands, and it closed strong at Boston at 30c bid and 32c asked.

The Shattuck Copper company's February output was 1,134,480 pounds of copper, 24,594 ounces of silver and 213.92 ounces of gold.

The large Eastern selling agencies advanced their price of copper to 14⅝c today. Between 25,000,000 and 30,000,-000 pounds were reported to have been sold at 14¼c during the last coupfe of days.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Prospects of Southern Rains Turn Wheat Prices Downward.

Chicago, March 17.—Wheat took a downward bend today. The suggestion of relief from dry weather danger southwest proved to be sufficient to turn speculative sentiment. A liberal increase of the European visible supply acted also against the bulls. Opening prices were a shade to ⅛@¼c lower and there was an additional subsequent decline.

Some reaction followed as a result of dispatches from Southern Kansas telling of continued high winds and of dust storms. The close was firm at ¼@⅜c net decline to a shade advance.

Favorable crop reports from Argentina tended to make corn easy. Pit demand enlarged, however, when prices went under last night's level. The market opened a shade lower to ⅛c up and then sagged all around.

Later the market hardened in consequence of reports that Western supplies were being rapidly depleted. The close was firm, ⅛@¼c to ⅜c above last night.

Oats showed weakness owing to the setback in other grain and because of large stocks in sight, especially Canadian. Shorts were about the only buyers.

Lower prices for hogs put a handicap on provisions. The downward changes in quotations, though, went not a radical sort.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

General Strong Tone Is Maintained Throughout the Session.

Steel Bought in Large Blocks and Close Is Steady.

New York, March 17.—The cumulative effect of persistent buying on recent recessions was apparent in the stock market today. Failure to unsettle the list by concerted pressure on New Haven and Kansas & Texas issues revealed the strong technical position of the market and gave an opportunity for a squeeze of the shorts. After a listless beginning the market gradually gathered strength, becoming more active on the upturn.

Buying was promoted by reports of pending favorable developments in the Mexican situation, which, while they apparently had no authentic origin, influenced trading widely. Reports of business expansion in various lines stimulated the inquiry for the industrials, and there was a good absorption of many shares with high investment ratings.

Bonds were irregular.

The market opened quiet and steady, with no changes of importance among the leading stocks. There were further wide fluctuations in issues which recently have been weak. Kansas & Texas preferred dropped 1½@4¼, the lowest since 1904. New Haven receded one. Extension of Rumeley's note issue caused the preferred stock to rise nearly 2 points.

Sentiment veered to the long side of the market when it became apparent that the liquidation in Kansas & Texas preferred was having no general effect. Prices mounted swiftly on repurchases by the short interest and New Haven, Canadian Pacific, Amalgamated, Can, Central Leather and Fertilizer stocks sold 1 to 1½ above yesterday's closing.

Reassuring statements as to the payment of the next dividend on Kansas & Texas preferred stopped the fall in the stock and it rallied 2 points. The speculation elsewhere dwindled to nominal proportions, but a generally strong tone was maintained.

Stocks which had lagged behind in the early rise moved up rapidly in the late afternoon. Steel was bought in large blocks.

The market closed steady. Heaviness of a few specialties, particularly Rubber and Westinghouse, affected the general list slightly in the final dealings.

Unfurl Erin's Flag for Her Day Dawn is Nigh

This at least is the sincere wish and prayer of the exiled children of her land, as well as the millions of her race throughout the world.

For if for every tear that from the Exiles' eyes
Has fallen for Ireland dear, a shamrock would arise,
They would widen a garland green across the ocean blue,
All the way between their loving hearts and you.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

BUSINESS MEN OF DULUTH!

PURCHASE A FOOT ESTATE ON THE ST. JOHN RIVER IN FLORIDA.

FOR SALE.

9,500 acres of choice fruit and truck lands, located on the St. John river, in Lake county, Fla. About 140 miles south of Jacksonville. Cheap river and railroad freight rates, good roads, artesian wells; an old and well-tried section. Many orange groves and truck gardens flourish in our midst, proving to the new settler what has been done by others can be done by him. Land 40 to 65 feet above sea level, affording good natural drainage. Sold in 10-acre tracts at $30 per acre and upward. No interest; no taxes. On terms of $1 per acre down and $1 per acre per month. Call or write for literature. Duluth-Florida Land company, room 5, Phoenix block, Duluth, Minn. Agents wanted.

BUY A FARM AND LIVE HAPPY.

40 acres five miles from West Duluth; 15 acres cleared and all fenced; sandy loam soil; good 5-room frame house and large barn. Price right. Can be bought on easy terms.

40 acres near Grand lake, on good automobile road; 10 acres of good meadow land; 15 acres cleared; good house and barn; fine spring. This can be bought for $15 per acre on easy terms; a big bargain.

We have several other 40 and 80-acre tracts near Duluth, from $12.50 per acre and up.

ZENITH REAL ESTATE & LOAN COMPANY,
Corner of Ramsey Street and Grand Avenue, West Duluth.

WILL SELL UNDIVIDED INTEREST in a 40-acre apple orchard located in Bitter Root valley, Montana. This orchard is full 6 years old and will bear its first commercial crop this year. The owner won't dispose of the entire 40 acres, but will sell undivided interests to about one-half of it as follows:

1-acre tracts at $400 per acre.
5-acre tracts at $375 per acre.
10-acre tracts at $350 per acre.
20-acre tracts at $300 per acre.

Owner also guarantees that this year's upkeep will not cost you more than $20 per acre, which should easily be returned from crop.

This is a snap. Ask anyone owning orchards in Bitter Root valley—plenty of them in Duluth. Write B 169, Herald.

TROOPS KEEP ORDER IN PARIS STREETS; CAILLAUX DENOUNCED

Popular Feeling Over Murder of Editor Is Intense.

Minister Is Accused of Persuading Wife to Crime.

Mme. Caillaux Is Regarded as Dupe of Husband.

Paris, March 18.—The appearance of armed detachments of Republican guards posted at strategic points of Paris today added to the tense excitement aroused among the various political factions by the assassination of Gaston Calmette, editor of Figaro. At every point where there was likelihood of trouble, the police were supported by soldiers.

The offices of the Figaro, chamber of deputies, the residence of M. Caillaux and the St. Lazare prison, where Mme. Caillaux has occupied a cell since she killed the editor to clear her husband's name—all were magnets which attracted the populace today. At each of these points strong bodies of police and soldiers were on duty, prepared to act sharply in quelling disturbances.

Refuse to Stay Scattered.

In the southern part of Paris, in the Latin quarter and in the working class districts, where it is only necessary for a turbulent individual to shriek "Death to Caillaux!" or "Assassin!" for him to be joined by dozens of others, the police kept zealous watch. Several times they cleared away noisy groups who, however, reassembled as soon as the police had passed.

Mme. Caillaux seems today to have become a popular heroine amid all the turmoil. Among the crowds of excited, gesticulating people her name is heard constantly. She is talked of as the victim of her love for M. Caillaux, and as his instrument in committing the crime which has robbed the press of a prominent writer and the French cabinet of its leading spirit.

Crowds Blame Caillaux.

The crowds have adopted as their own the assertion of Deputy Delahaye, in the chamber last night, that "cabinet ministers nowadays send their wives to kill those obstructing their path."

The excitement among the populace is worked upon by the many sensational newspapers among the 139 daily publications of Paris. These exaggerate, invent and hint at things, and the paper venders yell the insinuations among the crowd, exciting the people still further.

Mme. Caillaux in Cell.

Mme. Caillaux meanwhile sleeps on a narrow iron bedstead in the prison of Saint Lazare. Her hitherto remarkably calm attitude was today said to be breaking down under the torture of being always under watchful observation. She is never for a moment left alone.

Relays of nuns, two at a time, sit in the small cell with her, whether she is sleeping or waking. Besides these constant companions, prison warders frequently look into the cell through the finely meshed wire partition in order to see that no breach of the prison regulations is committed.

The wardens in the prison talk among themselves of the firmness with which this woman, accustomed to luxury, endures the restraint.

KAISER'S DAUGHTER BECOMES A MOTHER

VICTORIA LOUISE, Duchess of Brunswick.

Berlin, March 18.—A son was born this morning to the duke and duchess of Brunswick.

The duchess of Brunswick was formerly Princess Victoria Louise of Hohenzollern, only daughter of the German emperor. The marriage of the princess to Prince Ernest Augustus of Cumberland took place on May 24, 1913. The prince assumed the throne of the duchy of Brunswick last November.

Emperor William today ordered a general school holiday in Berlin in celebration of the birth of his sixth grandson at Brunswick this morning. The young duchess, who is the only daughter of the emperor, was reported to be doing well.

The emperor has cancelled all his other engagements and will proceed to Brunswick tomorrow in order to see his latest grandson before departing for his annual trip to Corfu on March 22. Berlin and Potsdam were decorated with flags today in honor of the occasion.

Also Prince of Britain.

Brunswick, Germany, March 18.—A battery of artillery fired a royal salute in honor of the birth of a son to the duke and duchess of Brunswick today, while the counselor of the British embassy in Berlin was drawing up the birth certificate of the newly born prince, who also is a prince of Great Britain and Ireland.

$1,000,000 BABY AND GRANDMOTHER GONE

Disappearance Halts Court Inquiry Into Right of Custody.

Chicago, March 18.—A second judicial inquiry into the right of Mrs. Harriet L. Janney to keep possession of her 3-year-old granddaughter, Virginia Ford, the "million dollar baby," was halted today when neither Mrs. Janney nor the child could be found by deputy sheriffs.

Mrs. Janney was discharged yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus, after she told Judge Walker that she was acting for the child's mother and was taking the little girl to Los Angeles, Cal., where the mother is ill.

William H. Ford of Philadelphia, the father, at whose instance the grandmother and the child were detained in Chicago, declared in court that he should have the custody of his child.

Sought Habeas Corpus.

When the Philadelphia warrant charging kidnaping was held insufficient by Judge Walker, Ford petitioned a writ of habeas corpus from Judge Foell, charging that his daughter had been deserted by its mother two years ago and was being forcibly detained by Mrs. Janney.

It was expected that the grandmother and child would appear in court today, but when deputy sheriffs sought to serve the writ Mrs. Janney was not found. Her attorney went before the court and declared he had no knowledge of her whereabouts. In the belief that Mrs. Janney had resumed her journey to the coast, the writ was turned over to private detectives.

The writ also runs against two men who are described as guards for Mrs. Janney and the child, and who are believed to have been employed by her to prevent Ford from seeking to take the little girl from her grandmother forcibly.

DEMAND BIG PAY FOR WORKING ON FARMS

Men Sent From New York City Refuse Prevailing Wages.

Fonda, N. Y., March 18.—Fifty of the seventy unemployed New Yorkers who came here yesterday as the first installment in Governor Glynn's campaign to place the city's workless people on up-state farms, were lodged today in the village engine house. Only twenty of the seventy arrivals accepted offers of employment with farmers, although the wages offered were those generally paid to farm hands here.

The fifty are dependent on the townspeople for shelter and food. The neighborhood farmers do not appear enthusiastic over their new help, as the men are absolutely ignorant of farm work.

The men demand $45 a month and maintenance, while the farmers offer only $20 for men with no experience and $25 for those who have worked on farms before.

A tailor, who never had seen a cow or a live fowl, was willing to become a farmer for $50 a month, $25 of this in advance. He failed to convince any prospective employers. Several others were willing to work but could not get up before 9 a. m.

Deputy State Commissioner of Agriculture C. W. Larmon, who was in charge of the men, would not say what would be done with those who did not obtain work. Fonda residents are fearful lest they will be left here. The men are getting restless.

UNEMPLOYED CALL LEADERS GRAFTERS

Claim Funds Raised for Food Are Being Held Back.

New York, March 18.—There was dissension in the ranks of the unemployed today. Charges were made by several of the workless crusaders that there were grafters among their number who had held back some of the funds raised to buy food and shelter. Three of the leaders are said to have fled, claiming they feared they would be killed if they remained.

The unemployed women are being organized by the Industrial Workers of the World and will hold outdoor meetings tonight.

SEEK BODIES AT ST. LOUIS

Three Recovered From Second Disaster at Athletic Club Site.

One Woman and Six Men May Yet Be Buried There.

St. Louis, Mo., March 18.—Two hundred men toiled all night digging away the ruins of the St. Louis Seed company's building in a search for more dead under the debris left of the four-story building which yesterday afternoon was crushed to the ground by the collapse of part of the Missouri Athletic club ruins.

At daybreak no sign of the body of a woman, thought to have been buried in the ruins, was discovered, and rescuers doubted her existence, in spite of the declaration by one of the men extricated from the ruins that he had spoken to her for hours before he was rescued.

By morning the men had cleared away ruins to the ground floor. A mass of wreckage still filled the basement. It is possible that the woman and six workmen who were in the basement before the collapse and who have not yet been accounted for are buried under this.

Three Bodies Found.

Last night the bodies of three men who had been killed in the collapse and twelve others, three of them women, seriously injured, were removed from the ruins. The woman thought to have been caught in the collapse entered the seed store a few minutes before the accident.

This was the second calamity within ten days to visit the scene of the Missouri Athletic club. The club's home recently was destroyed by fire with a loss of thirty lives. To prevent a third calamity, the remaining walls are to be torn down. Tackle and cables were adjusted this morning.

One victim, when taken from the ruins, had a live canary bird in his hand. At the hospital, little hope for the man's recovery was held out.

NASH AND POWERS LEAD ST. PAUL VOTE

Are Nominated for Mayor in Commission Form Primary.

St. Paul, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis Nash, member of the board of county commissioners, and Winn Powers, a publisher, were nominated for mayor in St. Paul's first non-partisan primary election, after one of the most heated campaigns in the history of the city. Returns today show that Powers polled about 1,000 more votes than Nash, who led the third candidate, Leavitt Corning, by nearly 4,000 votes.

There were seven candidates for mayor and seventy-six for councilman, twelve of which were nominated under the commission plan.

Yesterday's total vote exceeded all previous records in a primary election here by more than 10,000.

WILLIAMS COLLEGE ABOLISHES "RUSH."

Williamstown, Mass., March 18.—Because of rough tactics used in the skirmish, the Williams College faculty today abolished the annual cane rush between freshmen and sophs.

FEDERAL INQUIRY BY WISCONSIN MAN

Dr. Leiserson Will Head Industrial Relations Investigation.

Washington, March 18.—The appointment of Dr. W. M. Leiserson, state superintendent of employment offices in Wisconsin, to conduct the Federal industrial relations commission's investigation into irregularity of employment and to assist in formulating recommendations for remedial legislation, was announced by the commission today.

Dr. Leiserson has studied employment in Germany, Belgium, Switzerland and England and was recently consulted by Mayor Mitchel of New York city and Governor Glynn of New York, relative to the best means of dealing with the problem. As a result, Dr. Leiserson's plan for public employment offices has been adopted by Governor Glynn, and is embodied in bills now before the New York legislature. They provide that organized employers and organized labor shall be represented in the management of each employment office.

SAYS PACKERS HOLD CONTROL

Government Bulletin Tells of Imported Argentine Beef.

American Interests, It Says, Are Sending It to Themselves.

Washington, March 18.—How Argentina's beef industry which sends millions of pounds of meat into the United States monthly under the new tariff law is dominated by Chicago slaughtering and packing companies, which "do by far the major portion of the entire business," is described in a farmers' bulletin" issued today by the department of agriculture.

That Argentine beef has caused a reduction in the prices of meat in the United States has been generally supposed, but the department's bulletin remarks that "it is not assumed that the American-controlled companies in Argentina are using Argentine beef 'to beat down the prices of Chicago beef.'"

Chicago Houses in Control.

At the present time, the bulletin says, there are nine establishments for slaughtering, chilling or freezing and exporting beef located in or near Buenos Aires, and five of these companies are owned or operated by Chicago houses.

In the summarized conclusion of the bulletin, it is shown that imported Argentine dressed beef adds to the national supply of the United States, at the recent rate, a little over 1 per cent. "While some of this meat" the bulletin adds, "has come from British frigoriticos at Buenos Aires, a great deal of it has been consigned by the Buenos Aires frigoriticos of the Chicago slaughtering and packing companies to themselves in New York, for sale by themselves in New York, or wherever they please to send it by rail."

Extent of Imports.

According to the bulletin 9,000,000 pounds of Argentine beef are being imported into the United States monthly. It is shown that in October the United States received 2,069,794 pounds in November 3,988,898; in December, 9,440,488 pounds, and in January 8,935,797 pounds.

ASKS STATE AID FOR SIEGEL DEPOSITORS

Coudert Addresses Letter to Glynn, Offering Suggestion.

New York, March 18.—A plea to Governor Glynn to have the state, through the attorney general, conduct all legal proceedings on behalf of the depositors of the Siegel private bank, without expense to them, is contained in a letter to the governor written by Frederic R. Coudert, for the depositors, and made public by him today.

"Unless some protection is afforded to the depositors," the attorney wrote, "the small amount which may ultimately be distributed among them will be greatly decreased by expenses such as lawyers' and accountants' charges. It seems an elementary duty on the part of the state, in some measure to compensate for the negligence of the state in the past in not taking adequate steps to protect this large class of depositors, who, by reason of their unfamiliarity with business, are liable to be drawn into speculative and utterly unsafe investments of their small savings."

MILLER IS VERY HUFFY

May Try to Delay Confirmation of McEwen as Postmaster.

Calls Cook's Removal Purely Political and "Damnable Outrage."

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although Representative Miller will not say what he is going to do about the nomination of W. E. McEwen as postmaster at Duluth, the probability is that he will ask the aid of Senators Nelson and Clapp to prevent his immediate confirmation.

Representative Miller today characterized the removal of Postmaster Cook as "the most damnable outrage that has ever been perpetrated on a public official."

Exonerated by Inspectors.

Mr. Miller declared that the inspectors who investigated the Duluth office some time ago in connection with embezzlement by employes exonerated Mr. Cook completely. He said also that a month ago it appeared that Mr. Cook would not be disturbed but would be permitted to serve out his term, which expires in June.

"Postmaster General Burleson evidently changed his mind," said Mr. Miller, "and determined to show what he could do. The removal of Mr. Cook was purely political and without warrant from any point of view."

If Mr. Miller does pursue the matter in the senate he will be able, with the assistance of Senators Nelson and Clapp, to prevent McEwen's confirmation at least until June when Postmaster Cook will have served out his four years term.

BUCKET SHOPS SAID TO BE BUSY AGAIN

Stock Exchange Is Stirred Over Authenticated Reports.

New York, March 18.—Authenticated reports that so-called bucketshops had resumed operations in northern New York and some of the New England states caused considerable agitation today in stock exchange circles, particularly in view of the fact that a new contract is soon to be signed between the exchange and the Western Union Telegraph company for distribution of stock quotations.

The Western Union has had the sole right of the sale of these quotations to outsiders for many years, paying the exchange $100,000 annually for the concession. To what extent the telegraph company has profited by this privilege is not ascertainable, inasmuch as it has never disclosed the number of its patrons.

The exhange purposes, in its new contract, to bind the Western Union not to sell its quotations to any individual, firm or corporation until the exchange has approved the application. The telegraph company has expressed its willingness to comply with this stipulation, which, in the judgment of the exchange officials, would effectually stop all stock quotation operations of an illicit character and speedily drive existing offenders out of business.

The old quotation contract between the stock exchange and the Western Union expired over five years ago, since which time it has been conducted on a day-to-day basis.

VILLA IS REPORTED DEFEATED BY HUERTA FORCE NEAR TORREON

Federals Say He Is in Perilous Position With His Army.

Battle Not Reported to Mexico City or Washington.

Mexican Paper Attacks Policy of the United States.

El Paso, Tex., March 18.—The thousands of persons in this section whose fortunes are locked up in the military and political developments in Mexico, today awaited authentic information of the reported battle north of Torreon. In the last twenty-four hours, exactly fifteen words of a press dispatch seeped through the censor and over the single telegraph line connecting Juarez with the present war zone. It was so restricted as to be scarcely more than an index of what it is assumed the censor removed.

Meanwhile Federal agents here asserted that Villa, moving confidently in the direction of Torreon, suddenly came upon the enemy a hundred miles north of where he had expected them, was defeated at Escalon, on the main line of the railway, and at Rosario.

If the claims of the Federals are correct, Gen. Villa had to do battle for his life, and still is in a precarious position, with an enemy in front and another threatening by a flank movement to occupy his rear.

Carranza Nearer Juarez.

Juarez, March 18.—Gen. Carranza has crossed the mountains from Sonora and now is in Chihuahua state, said a message received today directly from the rebel commander in chief. It was estimated that he would arrive at Juarez by the first of next week.

Carranza's overland ride from Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, Ariz., across the Chihuahua border, was said to have been made without special incident. The insurgent leader was reported in good health and enjoying his hard ride through the rugged mountain passes.

Gen. Murray Can Act.

Washington, March 18.—Secretary Garrison today forwarded to Maj. Gen. Arthur Murray, commanding the Western department, Governor Johnson's request for additional troops to protect the Southern California border from Mexicans. The secretary will leave action entirely to Gen. Murray's discretion.

No reference to the pending battle

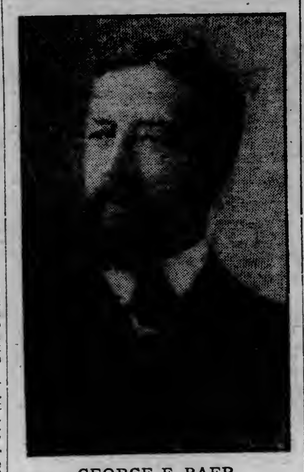
RESIGNS FROM LEHIGH VALLEY DIRECTORATE



GEORGE F. BAER.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 18.—George F. Baer, president of the Reading companies, today resigned as a director of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, saying he felt that additional demands on his time were such as to preclude his longer service. The Lehigh Valley today resumed the payment of dividends on a quarterly basis instead of semi-annually. Morris L. Clothier of this city was elected a director to fill Mr. Baer's place.

$38,400 TO THE THAW CASE LAWYERS

Expense Bill for New York State Approved By Carmody.

Albany, N. Y., March 18.—The expense bill approved by Attorney General Carmody in connection with the state's efforts to get Harry K. Thaw back to Matteawan, includes the following fees to lawyers:

William T. Jerome, $25,000; Bernard Jacobs, Lancaster, N. H., $5,000; Jacobs, Hall, Couture & Fitch, Montreal, $5,000; Hector Verret, Coaticook, $1,500; Case Casgrain, Montreal, $1,000; Jacob Nicol, Sherbrooke, $900.

The fees of Mr. Jerome and Mr. Jacobs cover "not only past services rendered, but also any future services in reference to this case."

FINED FOR CALLING WOMAN SUFFRAGETTE

German Doctor's Wife Is Convicted of Slandering Teacher.

Cologne, March 18.—For calling a woman school principal a "suffragette," the wife of a physician in a suburban village was today convicted and fined on a charge of slander.

The offense was committed in the course of a quarrel over the punishment by the school principal of the physician's daughter. The complainant, in supporting the charge before the court, argued:

"The suffragettes have shown themselves to be scarcely normal. Educated people are enraged against them owing to their outrages, and nobody would entrust children to me if I were a suffragette."

The defendant refused to apologize and declared that the teacher had "acted like a suffragette." She was thereupon ordered to pay a fine.

WILSON REFUSES TO O. K. LAND PAYMENT

Declares Railroad Was Awarded $200,000 Over Fair Price.

Washington, March 18.—On the ground that the Baltimore & Ohio railroad would receive $200,000 more than it deserved for its property in the vicinity of the union station here, President Wilson today refused to approve awards made by a condemnation jury for the acquisition of land between the capitol and the union station to be used for a plaza.

McCombs at the White House.

Washington, March 18.—Chairman McCombs of the Democratic national committee, took luncheon today with President Wilson.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

LIFER WALKS OUT OF JOLIET PRISON

Police Think Friends Will Give Him Clothes and Weapons.

Joliet, Ill., March 18.—Matthew Startha, a life convict, walked out of the state penitentiary here today and, the police believed, concealed himself in the foreign quarter of this city. The man was born in that district and the police believe that he would have no difficulty in finding friends who would equip him with civilian's garments and weapons. A desperate fight is expected before he is captured.

Startha is 26 years old. He was convicted of murder and highway robbery, committed in 1908. Though he had a bad reputation in the prison as an unruly convict, he was made a trusty because he lost a finger in the machine shop. He was a messenger for the deputy warden, and no attention was paid to him when he walked out of the west gate into the railroad yards.

STEAMER GOING TO PIECES UPON ROCKS

No Hope Remains of Saving the City of Sydney.

Halifax, N. S., March 18.—The bow of the steamer City of Sydney, which was abandoned yesterday after running on the Sambro rocks, twenty-eight miles east of Halifax, still was clinging to the jagged edge of the rocks today. The constant pounding had shattered the bottom of the steamer, and in the after part the water was almost up to the decks. There was no hope of saving the vessel.

Capt. McDonald said the City of Sydney was enveloped in fog during the whole of her run up the coast from New York. He was trying to pick up the lightship Halifax southeast of Sambro Island when the steamer struck the rocks. She was several miles out of her course. All on board her were taken off yesterday.

UNFURL OLD GLORY BY VESUVIUS CRATER

Big Party of Tourists Finds Naples Hotels Filled.

Naples, Italy, March 18.—A party of 800 American tourists arrived here today on board the Rotterdam from New York and found some difficulty in obtaining accommodations, as there were 2,000 American visitors already in the city besides other foreigners. Among them are representatives of thirty-three states of the union.

Held for Larceny.

Released from the work farm but a few days ago, after serving time for a similar offense, Oscar Palo, 38 years old, was arrested last night in the waiting room of the union station on the complaint of Mike Williams, who claims that the former attempted to steal his suitcase.

Williams notified Patrolman Andree and he arrested Palo, who was just about to leave the station with the suitcase.

Palo pleaded not guilty when arraigned in police court this morning, and his trial was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon. Williams values the suitcase at $10.

Twelve Men Will Pass Only on Adultery Charges in Gran Case.

Mrs. Gran Also Accuses Her Husband of Inhuman Treatment.

A jury is being drawn in district court before Judge Cant today to try the charges of adultery which have been made an issue in the divorce action brought by Victor H. Gran, a local attorney, against his wife, Olga Gran.

Gran is suing his wife for an absolute divorce on the grounds of adultery, naming John R. Heino, his former business associate, as co-respondent. He alleges that on Jan. 31 last his wife committed adultery with Heino in the latter's office in the Sellwood building. Both are now under indictment for the affair.

Mrs. Gran, in answering, sets up a cross bill in which she also alleges adultery, claiming that her husband during the month of July or August, 1908, visited a house of ill-repute at Bovey, Minn., and committed adultery with a woman whose name she is unable to state, and that at various times he also committed adultery at other places, including the Imperial hotel, Duluth, and the Leslie hotel and "White Castle," in Superior. Mrs. Gran also asks for the decree on the additional ground of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Under the ruling of Judge Cant this morning only evidence touching upon the charges and counter claims of adultery will be allowed to go to the jury. The jury will be expected to determine the question of whether one or both are guilty of the charge of adultery preferred in the divorce papers.

If it develops that both have been guilty of adultery, neither is entitled to a divorce on the ground under the law.

CHILD BORN TWO WEEKS AFTER FATHER IS SHOT

Mrs. Christ Grinden of 1023 Eleventh avenue east, whose husband died at St. Mary's hospital two weeks ago from a self-inflicted bullet wound caused by accidentally shooting himself Feb. 22 while in the north woods with a party of friends, gave birth to a daughter last Friday.

Grinden was out hunting on Feb. 22 near Milepost 47 on the Alger-Smith line, when he accidentally shot himself while crossing a field. The bullet entered his right shoulder and severed his spine. He was carried to the logging road and brought to Moose Lake, where he was placed on board a Duluth & Iron Range train and rushed to Duluth.

Grinden lived for a week with a severed spine.

WILL OPEN A CITY STORE

City Clerk Charles S. Palmer is making arrangements to establish the city's first store room in connection with the establishment of a municipal purchasing system in the front room of the Michigan street floor of the city hall.

This will be of a temporary nature and will be used for handling janitor supplies for all of the various departments of the city. A big quantity of these is used every year and investigation has shown that a considerable saving can be made if they are bought in quantities and distributed to the different branches through a central purchasing department.

The stationery and office supplies will be handled in the city clerk's office, as is now being done. It is the clerk's opinion that this is all that should be attempted this year but he believes that the system can be extended next year.

City Clerk Palmer is now engaged in drawing up the various forms and outlining a card index system which will be necessary parts of an efficient purchasing system. When these have been prepared he will prepare a tentative ordinance and the whole will be submitted to the city commission for consideration.

The city clerk gained much information during the time he was in Milwaukee investigating the purchasing system which is followed in that city, particularly as to the organization details. He is continuing his correspondence with other cities which have purchasing systems in operation.

RAILROAD AND BOAT AGREEMENTS SCORED

C., M. & St. P. and G. N. Traffic Deals Criticized By I. C. C.

Washington, March 18.—Condemnation of traffic arrangements between the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway and certain private boat lines on Puget Sound, and between the Great Northern railroad and other independent boat lines on Puget Sound, was contained in a decision today by the interstate commerce commission affecting the transportation of shingles from Washington state points to Eastern destinations.

THREE KILLED IN FERRY COLLISION.

New York, March 18.—Three persons were killed and six injured, two of them seriously, late yesterday when the Lackawanna ferry boat Ithaca was crashed into by a railroad boat being towed down the Hudson river by a Central Railroad of New Jersey tug. All the killed and injured were passengers on the Ithaca. The dead are:

H. J. MEYERS, Montclair, N. J.

GEORGE F. SMITH, Glen Ridge, N. J.

RALPH WILLIAMS, aged 58, Orange, N. J.

There was a panic on board the Ithaca immediately after the collision, but the crew quieted the passengers.

Shrieking of whistles of many river craft brought boats from all directions, and the damaged Ithaca was escorted by a large fleet to her Hoboken, N. J., pier. The hole stove in her side amidships was mostly above the water line, and she was not in danger of sinking.

The collision occurred when the view of the pilot of the Ithaca was obscured by the passage of another ferry boat.

WAS STAGE LOVER OF FORMER WIFE

MLLE. BERIZA.

Stage divorces make strange encounters sometimes. When Lucien Muratore, the French tenor, was billed to appear in "Monna Vanna" with Mary Garden the other day, Miss Garden was taken sick and the management had to send for Margherita Beriza, a beautiful French soprano. It happened that Mlle. Beriza used to be the wife of Lucien Muratore but is now divorced from him. He is married to Lina Cavalleri, with whom he made a concert tour in this country last year. So wife No. 2 sat in a box and saw her husband singing impassioned love songs to ex-wife No. 1. All of which happened in quiet Boston.

CAILLAUX'S FRIENDS RALLY AROUND HIM

Declare Sympathy for and Confidence in Former Minister.

Paris, March 18.—Political friends of Joseph Caillaux, the finance minister who resigned from office yesterday as a sequel to the assassination of Gaston Calmette by Mme. Caillaux, are coming strongly to his support. The Radical-Socialist and Radical-Republican groups in the chamber of deputies, comprising about 130 members, held a meeting today at which they adopted unanimously the following resolution:

"We protest against the odious campaign of calumny against M. Caillaux, the defender of France's fiscal reforms, and we express to him our deep sympathy and affectionate confidence."

H. H. BROWN FLEET OFFICERS ARE NAMED.

G. B. Houseman has announced appointments of masters and engineers of the H. H. Brown fleet for the following season. They are:

Steamer Castalia, Capt. W. L. Girardin and Chief Engineer Edward Dempsey; steamer H. H. Brown, Capt. D. Girardin, Jr., and Chief Engineer John Dashaw; steamer S. R. Kirby, Capt. Oliver Pitts and Chief Engineer Sylvester Smith; barge George E. Hartnell, Capt. W. J. Fizer.

SIOUX CITY MAY COPY COUNTY COURTHOUSE.

A new courthouse which will be erected during the coming year at Sioux City, Iowa, may be patterned after the new $1,500,000 courthouse in this city.

A party of Woodbury county, Iowa, officials spent the morning in Duluth looking over the St. Louis county building, and left this afternoon very favorably impressed with what they learned about courthouse construction.

The party included Commissioners Henry Metz, J. A. Anderson and E. C. Copeland, all of Sioux City, and an architect, also from Sioux City.

The Woodbury county officials inspected the courthouse buildings at St. Paul and Minneapolis, and before returning to Sioux City, will go to Winnipeg to view public buildings which have been erected there.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Bandenah Richards, for fifty years a resident of Red Wing, Minn., died at her home after a long illness. Mrs. Richards was nearly 90 years old and had been in feeble health for several years past. She was born in Holland, Aug. 18, 1824, and had resided in Red Wing since the early 60's. Mrs. Richards, with her husband, conducted a hotel on Main street in Red Wing before the Civil war. She is survived by three daughters.

Mary E. Miller, lawyer and active suffragist, died in Chicago, March 17. Miss Miller recently received a fee of $35,000 in a case before the supreme court, said to be the largest ever paid to a woman lawyer. Miss Miller was 48 years old. Death was caused by pneumonia.

William L. Yule, aged 51, prominent as a manufacturer in Kenosha, Wis., and widely known as a golfer throughout the Middle West, died at his winter home at Los Angeles. Mr. Yule had been an invalid for the past two years. He was vice president of the Bain Wagon company and one of the largest stockholders of the Badger Brass Manufacturing company. For the last seven years he had been president of the Wisconsin Golf association. The remains will be taken to Kenosha for burial on next Sunday. He is survived by a widow and one son, Gordon Yule, a senior in Yale.

Col. R. D. Butler, 70 years old, formerly general agent in Milwaukee of the Grand Trunk railway and for some time past connected with the staff of the Wisconsin railway rate commission, died at Milwaukee, Wis., March 18. He had been in feeble health for several months. Col. Butler was a member of the military staff of Former Governor Pingree of Michigan.

Mrs. Abbie Jane Sweet, widow of ex-Mayor B. F. Sweet of Fond du Lac, Wis., a well-known pioneer and manufacturer, died at Fond du Lac March 18, the result of a stroke of paralysis sustained three months ago. Among her surviving children is Waldo Sweet of Fond du Lac, widely known in Duluth and Northern Wisconsin through business associations.

WANT TO KNOW ABOUT THE VERMILION ROAD.

The committee representing the property owners along Vermilion road from Fifth street to Forest Hill cemetery, met with Commissioner Murchison this morning to discuss the improvement. They wished to know about the underground work and other details.

This information is now being gathered and estimates are being prepared by the city engineer, and another meeting was arranged for Saturday morning, March 28, when it is expected that all data will be on hand. The members of the committee are William C. Sargent, Henry W. Cheadle and W. A. Pryor.

Aged Fargoan Hurt.

Fargo, N. D., March 18.—Dashed to the ground by the sudden motion of a street car as he was attempting to alight in front of his home Monday night Judge A. B. Guptil, 86 years old, sustained a fractured shoulder. Judge Guptil is one of the oldest members of the bar in North Dakota and was the first justice of the peace in the state.

REWARD IS NOT YET PAID

But Finder of Jewels Expects $500 Before Night.

The $500 reward offered for the finding of diamonds, valued at $3,500 which were found last Saturday by Mrs. H. A. Whittaker, 902 East Third street, has not yet been paid by Mrs. George Brosseau of 721 East Third street, owner of the jewels.

Following the loss of her diamonds more than three weeks ago, Mrs. Brosseau, who is a tango demonstrator, assisting Prof. Dahl in the Aeolian hall, advertised in the local newspapers for their recovery. She offered a reward of $500 for their return. Mrs. Whittaker, who found the gems Saturday afternoon and returned them in the evening, said this morning she has not yet received the reward.

Asked by The Herald this morning if she intended to pay the reward, Mrs. Brosseau said over the telephone that she has placed the matter in the hands of her attorney, A. L. Agatin, and that he would make a settlement today. Mrs. Whittaker also said this morning that she expected to receive her money today, but so far had received no word from either Mrs. Brosseau or her attorney. Mr. Agatin said that he had not fully decided what action he would take.

The diamonds were wrapped in a handkerchief when lost by Mrs. Brosseau while on her way home from the dancing hall. The handkerchief and jewels were found at Sixth avenue east and Superior street. Hundreds of people had walked past or over the diamonds and yet they lay there untouched during that time.

IONIC ENTERTAINS.

Following Dinner and Program Third Degree Is Given.

More than 200 members attended the first reunion banquet of the year given by Ionic Lodge No. 186, A. F. and A. M., at the Masonic temple last evening.

Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock, followed by an informal program of short addresses and music. Among the speakers were Stephen H. Jones, Alexander G. McKnight, Carl E. Lonegren, R. M. Funk and John W. Hoffman. Musical selections were rendered by Miss Loretta O'Gorman, soloist, and the Scottish Rite quartet under the direction of Prof. A. F. M. Custance. Edward Armstrong, worshipful master, acted as toastmaster. Following the banquet the third degree was conferred on a class of five candidates.

Superior

Embezzlement Charge.

Valentine Snaizack, treasurer of the St. Peter's and Paul's society, was arrested this morning charged with the embezzlement of $128 of the society's funds. Snaizack pleaded not guilty and hearing was set for next Wednesday. He was released on $300 bail.

Heavy Vote Indicated.

The largest vote ever cast in Superior at a primary election is expected next Tuesday, according to the registration enrolled yesterday. The registration is said to have been the heaviest ever taken in the city, according to unofficial reports from the various precincts throughout the city. According to the reports there were between 3,000 and 4,000 registered. It is expected that fully 5,000 will vote next Tuesday at the primaries.

Accused of Robbery.

Ignatz Poloski and John Smith were arrested yesterday on a charge of having robbed Steve Povlich of $55. The men demanded an examination when arraigned in municipal court yesterday afternoon. They were allowed their freedom after their friends had put up $200 bail for their appearance in court tomorrow.

Elected Lieutenant.

Members of Company I, Third Wisconsin National Guard, last night elected First Sergeant Martin Ackerson to be first lieutenant to succeed Lieut. Snyder Clemens, who recently resigned. Sergt. Ralph P. Ebert was appointed to fill the vacancy left by Ackerson's promotion. Lieut. Ackerson has been connected with the local company since Nov. 18, 1904. He is considered one of the company's crack sharpshooters.

SIX CENTS IS ALL THE CASH ASSETS.

Chicago, March 18.—Six cents, a safe containing a few bonds of uncertain value, and some office furniture, are all the assets of the American Banking association which have been discovered, according to counsel for receiver, testifying before a referee in the bankruptcy proceedings against John W. Worthington, president of the association.

Worthington refused to answer questions relative to the whereabouts of possible assets, defying the order of Federal Judge Carpenter. An effort will be made by attorneys for the receiver to have Worthington cited for contempt of court.

Charges of using the mails to defraud are pending in the Federal court against Worthington.

SIMPLE WAY TO END DANDRUFF

Stop Falling Hair and Itching Scalp.

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need) apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single dose and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you value your hair, you should get rid of dandruff at once, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it.

WOMEN'S VOTE WILL BE BIG

Unexpected Numbers Register for Election in Illinois.

Mothers Carry Babies With Them to the Booths.

Springfield, Ill., March 18.—Marshaled by the anti-saloon forces, women in unexpected numbers registered yesterday in down-state cities for the local option elections in April. The turnout in most municipalities exceeded optimistic estimates, and politicians said the unusual interest of women will mean a substantial addition to prohibition territory in Illinois.

In this city fully 10,000 women registered, and leaders in the campaign for a "dry" city are jubilant.

In Rock Island the women outnumbered the men at the polls, and at Moline 2,500 women added their names to the registration lists.

In East St. Louis 2,700 women registered, a large number of them being negroes. At Peoria many women were prevented from registering by the methods of the judges of election, but they will be given another opportunity later in the month.

With Babies in Arms.

Mothers with babies in arms, women young and old, flocked to the polling places here. Besides local option, they will also vote for members of the school board and supervisors. So great was the rush of women the election officials were swamped in several precincts, and the women were forced to wait in line for a long time.

It was estimated by members of the election commission that an average of over 200 women had registered in each of the forty-one precincts. Over 12,000 men are registered and the total vote in Springfield at the liquor election will exceed 22,000.

Under Half Those Predicted.

East St. Louis, Ill., March 18.—About 2,795 women, less than half the number suffrage leaders predicted, registered for the municipal election to be held in East St. Louis, Ill., on April 7 next.

These figures were given out by George H. Ekert, clerk of the board of election commissioners, who approximated the total registration at 21,000. About 4,000 of these names, he said, probably would be stricken from the books because of various irregularities.

Big Turnout in Chicago.

Chicago, March 18.—Sixty thousand, one hundred and nineteen women registered here yesterday in preparation for their first chance to use their newly granted suffrage at the aldermanic election, April 7. Their registration brought the total woman's voting strength up to 216,643 as compared with a total male registration of 474,981. The total registration now is 693,624.

More women than men registered yesterday. That was because a greater proportion of the men were on the registration books from former elections. Party workers were divided about equally between men and women.

In the First ward, where Miss Marion Drake, Progressive candidate, is running against Bathouse John Coughlin, a house-to-house canvas was made by representatives of both candidates. Coughlin declared he expected to get the votes of more women than his opponent. A large force of women was at work in the ward in his interest.

Overnight official dispatches were summarized in this statement:

"The release of Andrew Hamilton, arrested with Byrd and Goldschmidt, has been reported. The other two men will, it is thought, be transferred to Mexico City, in accordance with orders to Federal Mexican officers to send all foreigners arrested on charges of furnishing aid to the rebels to the capital.

"Trains run via Saltillo to Ciudad Porfirio Diaz and to Torreon. Monterey is reported quiet.

"Further destruction of railroad property by the revolutionists at Monclova is reported. Federals are in possession of the city. In the fighting there it is reported that three Americans were fighting with the Carranzistas and that two were killed."

Arrangement With British.

After a conference between Secretary Bryan and Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, it was stated that hereafter when the British government has occasion to make representations to the Mexican Constitutionalist authorities in Chihuahua, it will do so through its vice consul at the capital of that state, or, where the incident occurs at Juarez, through the British consul stationed at El Paso.

It was explained that this does not involve any change in policy; that representations were made through the American government when Gen. Carranza was at Nogales because there was no British consular officer in that part of Mexico at the time. Now, however, when the Constitutionalist chief appears in the city of Chihuahua, the British vice consul resident there will not hesitate to establish communication with him.

This is not regarded as constituting in any degree political recognition of the Constitutionalist government. It was pointed out that all of the American consuls in Mexico occupy a similar status toward the Huerta government.

Calls Uncle Sam Land Grabber.

Mexico City, March 18.—A bitter assault on the policy of the United States was made today in an editorial article in El Diario. The writer declares that "behind the American policy is determination to wrest from Mexico Lower California, Sonora and parts of Nuevo Leon and Coahuila."

A column of 1,500 Federal troops commanded by Gen. Javier de Moure left today for the north to join in the campaign against the rebels at Matamoras, opposite Brownsville, Tex. The column took with it a large equipment, including ten armored automobiles.

The Federal war office has not received confirmation of the reported fighting at Escalon, Chihuahua.

Going to See Lind.

The departure from the Federal capital for Vera Cruz today of Jose Lopez Portillo y Rojas, minister of foreign affairs, gave rise to rumors here that he intended to confer with John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson.

The foreign minister was accompanied by his family, but it was stated that his stay at Vera Cruz would be short.

Two Bandits Executed.

Nogales, Sonora, Mex., March 18.—Predo Chavez and Rafael Roscon, two of the bridge-burning banditi, captured yesterday at Ojo de Agua, were executed here today. Roscon faced the firing squad calmly, but his companion broke down and died miserably.

Before the men were led before the firing squad, they confessed, implicating a number of Mexicans on both sides of the line. As a result of their statements a number of arrests and further executions are expected.

Cromwell's Death Denied.

Douglas, Ariz., March 18.—Reports that F. T. Cromwell, a mining man from Portland, missing since Dec. 5, has been shot by order of Constitutionalist officials, are emphatically denied by Col. P. Elias Calles, commander of the rebel garrisons in Sonora. He said he had never heard of Cromwell until asked by American Consul Hostetter at Hermosillo to look for him.

Foreign Store Raided.

Juarez, Mex., March 18.—Property of the Madera company, Ltd., at Pearson, Chihuahua, was raided yesterday and a large quantity of merchandise from the company stores seized by bandits under Manuel Gutierrez. This news was received today by Consul Thomas Edwards at Juarez.

The raid closely followed the murder of Oscar Allen, an American who had been employed as watchman at the store of the American company. Consul Edwards' advices said that the guard of Villa's insurgent soldiers previously placed at the American lumbering town had been removed just prior to the raid. This was held accountable for the American's death and the losses of the company property.

The bandit Gutierrez formerly acted as second in command under Maximo Castillo, who now is held prisoner at Fort Bliss, Tex., and who is generally held accountable for the Cumbre tunnel disaster in which fifty persons, including fifteen Americans, lost their lives.

Explains Carden's Visit.

London, March 18.—The visit to England of Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister to Mexico, was not in any way due to representations on the part of any foreign powers. The foreign secretary repeated the story of Sir Lionel's appointment as head of the British legation at Mexico City and the conditions attached to his occupancy of that post. Sir Edward then added:

"After thirty-six years of valuable service, I desired to recommend him for one of the highest posts in South America, but as there was a crisis in Mexico, I asked him last July to go there. Sir Lionel reluctantly consented, but he stated that for private reasons he could not stay in Mexico more than a year.

"The crisis in Mexico," Sir Edward continued, "having apparently become chronic, and various complications having arisen, I requested Sir Lionel Carden to come home to discuss the situation. He will return shortly to his post."

BURGLARS GET HABIT

Grocery Store of George Clifford Again Entered By Thieves.

For the third time in a little more than three months the grocery store of George Clifford at 219 East Superior street was last evening entered by burglars. The police have failed to apprehend the burglars or recover any of the stolen property.

Last night the burglars gained entrance to the building by smashing in a wooden panel in the rear door and then pushing back the bolt from the inside. The men stole a 100-pound sack of sugar and eight pounds of butter that were stored away in the small room at the rear of the store.

The Clifford store was first burglarized in December and then again in January. Last November the telephone trick was played on the proprietor and by the ruse of being wanted at a telephone next door, a man succeeded in rifling the cash register of $75. The young man in charge of the store went out to answer the telephone and in the meantime the stranger helped himself to the money.

Regarding the three burglaries in as many months, the police say that the store is not properly protected and is almost a temptation to burglars. The rear doors can easily be pushed open, they say, and entrance in the store is made easy.

Sold Without License.

Carlton, Minn., March 18.—Andrew Humer, a lumberjack, was arrested at Moose Lake on the charge of selling liquor to woodsmen at Autombia, a small station on the Soo, without a license for 60 cents a pint, and brought here to the county jail. It is said he brought eight gallons of liquor from Duluth and began selling it at Autombia when a fight started among those who drank the stuff.

Hood's Pills
Cure Constipation Biliousness Liver Ills

A HAPPY CHILD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it cannot cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomachache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

TIME TO WORK ON HOTBEDS

Duluthians Should at Once Start Vegetables Under Glass, Says Hostetter.

Manure Should Be Spread Now—Outdoor Planting April 1.

Duluthians should get busy and begin preparing their hotbeds for early vegetables and relishes and but two weeks remain before outdoor gardening should begin in earnest.

A. B. Hostetter, agricultural expert for St. Louis county, said today that it was time to pick up the spade and rake to prepare ground for early sowing. Hotbeds, he said, should be made at once for growing lettuce, radishes and other relishes, and tomato and cabbage seed may also be planted so that the plants may become of good size by the time they are to be transplanted.

The making of a hotbed, says Mr. Hostetter, requires considerable work and care to gain the best results. The soil should be thoroughly worked and pulverized and a good bed of manure placed beneath to warm and fertilize the soil. The glass cover will concentrate the rays of the sun and protect the soil and growing seed from the cold spring winds.

Outdoor gardening should begin about the first of April said Mr. Hostetter and work should begin at once in preparing the soil. A good coat of fertilizer put on the ground now will greatly enrich the soil by the time it is necessary to break up the ground. The manure can then be removed. As soon as the ground is thawed out and the weather begins to get mild, peas lettuce, radishes and many other of the hardier relishes and vegetables can be sown out-of-doors.

There is a great deal of interest in gardening in Duluth this spring and the backyards and other available garden spots will soon be the scene of activity. Some are already clearing off the surface and spreading manure over the soil.

The educational department of the Y. M. C. A. and Mr. Hostetter will conduct a one-week course in gardening here in May. The course will include a study of home gardening, laying out of gardens and seeds that should be planted in this part of the state. Mr. Hostetter says that this course will offer an excellent opportunity for teachers, agricultural students and city folk in general to get practical suggestions in the work.

RAGTIME CONTEST AT THE EMPRESS

Duluth Players of Syncopated Music Will Compete Friday Night.

A ragtime players' contest will be held at the Empress theater Friday night at both shows. Several local musicians, well known for ragtime talent, are already listed to appear. Prizes amounting to $25 will be given the winners. The audience in each case will act as judge.

This is a new idea suggested by Manager Abrahamson, and will no doubt prove popular. Roy Flaaten, who is securing the players for the contest, has arranged a ragtime overture, and ragtime will be the feature of the evening's music.

Among the players already listed are: Miss Marie Nelson, said to be one of the best ragtime players in the city; Miss Martha Sanders, ragtime pianist; Guy Hallsch, who has been heard many times; Fred Dundeen, said to be without a peer in the city as a ragtime player for his age, and Miss Bertha Durk.

KILLS HERSELF IN ILLICIT LOVER'S ROOM.

San Francisco, Cal., March 18.—Mrs. Lina Lindrot, wife of Ole Lindrot, a wealthy resident of Los Angeles, committed suicide with poison in an apartment house here in the presence of Kirt Larsen, a Los Angeles business man for whom she had deserted her husband two years ago. Larsen and Mrs. Lindrot had quarreled over the possession of certain letters belonging to the former. Mrs. Lindrot was formerly Miss Lina Mason of Memphis, Tenn.

WANT GOVERNMENT TO OWN UTILITIES.

Des Moines, Ia., March 18.—Government ownership of public utilities, including the mining industry, was unanimously indorsed by United Mine Workers of America, District 13, in their convention here. The resolution was introduced by Socialist delegates who were not successful in obtaining their indorsement of the Socialist party as the workingman's party. The resolution was debated at length.

Des Moines will be the next meeting place of the district convention.

ALLEGED SWINDLER OF BANK CAUGHT.

Springfield, Mo., March 18.—After a chase of three months, during which he led his pursuers into Saskatchewan, Can., T. M. Cantrell, 56 years old, was arrested here yesterday on a charge of embezzling $25,000 from a bank at Claremore, Okla., in an alleged mortgage swindle. Cantrell was arrested as he was entering the home of his daughter, where he went to meet his wife.

WEALTHY CHICAGO MERCHANT DIVORCED.

Chicago, March 18.—Mrs. Maud Morris Schwab, daughter of the late Nelson Morris, packer, was granted a divorce yesterday from Henry C. Schwab, a wealthy merchant here. Their 11-year-old son was given to his mother for eleven months of each year until he is 14 years old, when he is to choose with which parent he prefers to live.

By wish of Mrs. Schwab, no provision for alimony was made in the decree. Mrs. Schwab charged cruelty.

NEW ITALIAN CABINET.

Former Minister Salandra Distributes the Portfolios.

Rome, March 18.—A new cabinet has been formed by Signor Salandra, former minister of the treasury, to succeed the cabinet headed by Premier Giolotti, which resigned March 8. Signor Salandra has notified King Victor Emmanuel that he has succeeded in organizing a ministry which, however, is susceptible to slight changes. It follows:

Premier and minister of interior, Signor Salandra; minister of foreign affairs, Marquis A. Di San Giuliano; minister of colonies, Signor Martini; minister of the treasury, Signor Rubini; minister of finance, Signor Ciuffolli; minister of justice, Signor Daneo; minister of public instruction, Signor Fusinato; minister of marine, Admiral Enrico Millo; minister of posts and telegraphs, Signor Riccio; minister of public works, Luigi Rava; minister of war, Gen. Grandi; minister of agriculture, Signor Vari.

WOULD AID CHILDREN BY TEACHING ADULTS

Proposal Is Made at Child Labor Conference in New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., March 18.—What should be done with children at home, was the subject of discussion at the concluding sessions today of the tenth annual child labor conference here. Speakers emphasized the necessity of educational work among parents to teach them the kind of work best suited to their children.

Speaking of Southern conditions, Wiley H. Swift of Greensboro, N. C., said that "Southerners are not indifferent to the rights of childhood, but we have allowed ourselves to be deluded because our manufacturers have said things were all right and we have respect for the opinions of men of influence and wealth."

BOY IS SCARED TO DEATH BY GEESE

Honking of Flock Sends 10-Year-Old Into Convulsions.

Racine, Wis., March 18.—While playing about the yard of his home near North Point today, Frank Chumik, 10 years old, became badly frightened at the honking of a flock of geese which suddenly appeared around the corner of the house. He died shortly afterward as a result of convulsions. The attending physician declared death was due to heart trouble superinduced by excessive fright.

MINOT JAIL-BREAKERS NOT YET CAPTURED.

Minot, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three jail breakers who escaped from the Ward county jail, P. W. Brady, convicted wife deserter; Dan Neal, under seven-year penitentiary sentence, and Albert Snider, alleged horse thief, have not been captured.

The men had been gone from jail only about twenty minutes when officials discovered the delivery, but in that time they disappeared completely. It is believed that the men were supplied with money immediately after leaving the jail.

MINOT IS PICKED.

For Summer Session of North Dakota Federated Commercial Clubs.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakoto Federation of Commercial clubs adjourned its annual meeting here last evening after selecting Minot as the place for the summer session, and electing the following officers: President, H. F. Emery, Fargo; vice presidents, F. W. King, Pembina; W. H. Horton, Devils Lake; J. P. Hardy, Fargo; secretary and treasurer, C. W. Graves, Grand Forks; executive committee, E. C. Olsgard, McVille and J. Earl Barrington.

The federation favors a general scheme of state publicity.

SCARLET FEVER ALARMS RUGBY.

Rugby, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alarmed at the appearance of scarlet fever, schools, churches, lodge meetings, and all kinds of public gatherings, have been ordered discontinued by the board of health.

Pool halls, too, are ordered closed, while the order also went so far as to require children to abandon their usual play gatherings. None of the fever cases have proved fatal.

MANY FISH FRY WILL BE PLACED.

Rock Lake, N. D., March 18.—Two and a half million fish will be placed in the lakes and streams of the state during the coming season, according to Commissioner R. W. Main, of this place. Of this number, 200,000 will be steel head trout; 200,000 will be rainbow trout, and 2,000,000 will be wall-eyed pike, which have thrived particularly well in state waters.

The state fish hatchery is co-operating with the government in handling the stocking question, which will be more extensive this year than ever before.

STEARNS COUNTY PIONEER PASSES.

St. Cloud, Minn., March 18.—Joseph Marthaler, aged 91 years, a resident of Meire Grove, Stearns county, since 1856, died at his home a few miles from that village early March 16.

Mr. Marthaler was born in Hymmerscheim, Bavaria, in 1823, and in 1848 arrived in New Orleans, where he was married. He is survived by his wife, who is 85 years of age, and ten children, out of a family of eleven. They are: Mrs. Nick Wieber, St. Cloud; Mrs. Peter Schmitz, St. Martin; Mrs. Jake Williams, Albany; Mrs. J. Bromenscentel, Sauk Center; Alex, Henry and Anton, West Union; Frank and Simon of Meire Grove.

Gass Wants Rehearing.

Larimore, N. D., March 18.—M. Gass, de-facto mayor of Larimore, whom the supreme court declared was tied with Martin Nelson for the honors, will not submit to that decision without making another effort to retain his hold on the office, and today his attorneys perfected a motion for a rehearing.

FARGO LIKES NEW U. S. MARSHAL DOYLE.

Fargo, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargoans will welcome the return of S. J. Doyle to Fargo as the United States marshal. He was a former resident of this city before going to Carrington and was very popular. Always an enthusiastic Democrat the only public position he has held was a member of the 1911 legislature, in which he quickly became the minority floor leader.

TWO ARRESTED FOR WOMAN'S MURDER.

Charlestown, W. Va., March 18.—Willard Gunneo and Miss Ocie Mullens, his sister-in-law, were arrested yesterday on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Nora Gunneo, who was found in the kitchen of her home at Kanawha City early Monday, dead. When Mrs. Gunneo's body was found the face and mouth were burned with acid. An examination disclosed that none of the acid had been swallowed, and that the woman's death was due to strangulation.

DOCTOR'S JAPANESE WIFE IS DEPORTED.

Tacoma, Wash., March 18.—Failing in an appeal to Washington, Mrs. Sado McDaniels, Japanese wife of an American surgeon in the Orient, was deported on the Japanese steamship Canada Maru.

When Mrs. McDaniels arrived a month ago she was denied admission because she had no passport. She engaged an attorney and appealed the case to Washington.

She was married seven years ago to Dr. J. E. McDaniels, then assistant in a hospital at Manila and now surgeon on a government ship.

$500,000 TO PAY MEXICANS' BILLS.

Washington, March 18.—Five hundred thousand dollars to pay for the maintenance of the Mexican soldiers and refugees interned in the United States has been added by the senate committee to the urgent deficiency appropriation bill. The committee increased the total of the measure to $10,843,321, an increase of more than $1,000,000 over the total as it passed the house.

WEARS NOSE MADE OF PART OF RIB.

Baltimore, Md., March 18.—With a new nose, made from one of his ribs, strapped to his face, which was denuded of features in a sawmill accident three years ago, Ross Allen, a young Canadian, is recovering from a remarkable operation at a hospital here.

It was the most important of a series of skin grafts which have given back to him new lips and now a new nose, covered with skin taken from the man's forehead. This last operation was completed a week ago and is considered a success by the surgeons.

BARNESVILLE VOTES FOR $55,000 SCHOOL.

Barnesville, Minn., March 18.—By a vote of 267 in favor and 55 against, Barnesville voted for the issuance of bonds aggregating $55,000 for the purpose of buying a site and erecting a high school building. Barnesville women voted and carried the day.

German Aviator Killed.

Metz, March 18.—Lieut. Bongard, a German military aviator, died here today from a fractured skull, caused by an aeroplane accident last night.

Quits Fargo Secretaryship.

Fargo, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. L. Van Horn, who was secretary of the interstate fair last year and had acted in that capacity for the state fair organization until the present time, has resigned to take up other work. An Iowa man will probably be selected for the position.

ELABORATE MARKET PLAN

Commercial Club Committee Would Have Armory Devoted to Market Use.

Mayor Prince Pledges Efforts to Bring This About—Other Details.

It is probable that the entire lower floor of the Armory will be used as a public market during the coming summer and that ultimately the entire building will be utilized for this purpose. The agricultural committee of the Commercial club discussed this matter at its meeting on Monday and yesterday C. P. Craig, chairman of that committee, called upon Mayor Prince, head of the division of public affairs, and asked him to try to bring the matter about. Mayor Prince promised to do everything in his power to bring it about and is starting out with enthusiasm.

The suggestion embodies not only the location of a permanent market but the utilizing of the now vacant former courthouse site at Sixth avenue east between Second and Third streets as a place for stabling the horses of farmers who bring their produce to the public market. It may be also that the Sixth avenue site will be used for market purposes in summer, the Armory lower floor being used in the winter months, or that the former may be used for the sale of hay and feed.

The state is about to build a new Armory in the East end and when that will have been finished the old building—which it has been proposed to sell—may be retained by the city and used for market purposes, if the suggestion of the agricultural committee is accepted. In such case the lower floor of the present Armory could be used for heavier stuff, while the lighter could be displayed on the upper floor. Permanent booths would be installed and complete facilities for market purposes furnished in such case. The Armory would be made a city center for every producer of garden or dairy produce in this part of the country.

The plan involves, also, the appointment of a permanent agent to have control at the Armory, and to him could be assigned by producers their goods for disposal, so that farmers would not have to come to the city and remain here to sell their goods unless they wanted to.

In addition to a central market, the West end and West Duluth markets will be maintained by the city as usual, but improvements will be made to insure the comfort of the farmers.

PRINTING TRADES MEN CLAIM VICTORY

Quote Letter Bearing on Boycott Against Publishing House.

New York, March 18.—What is regarded by their counsel as a substantial exoneration of the Allied Printing Trades councils of several Eastern cities on the charge made against them by Doubleday, Page & Co., publishers, is contained in a letter from the department of justice to the United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall, made public here.

The complaint of the publishing firm was that the organizations in question had atempted a boycott injurious to them by ordering their members employed by photo-engravers in Philadelphia, Boston and elsewhere, to refuse to work on engraving which the firm had ordered from manufacturers in those cities. The case was made the subject of an extended inquiry by a Federal grand jury here, violation of the Sherman act being the specific charge made.

The letter received by Mr. Marshall is signed G. Carroll Todd, assistant to the United States atorney general. Mr. Todd found that it "would not seem to be a violation of the Federal anti-trust act" for the members of the council concertedly to refuse to do work on a book or magazine being printed or illustrated in shops employing non-union workmen.

Suicide Near Bessemer.

Bessemer, Mich., March 18.—Dominic Gigenti, Italian, was found dead in a field one mile west of here. An empty revolver by his side indicated suicide.

Electro Medicine, Nature's Method,

The Coming Treatment for Disease

Electro-Vito-Tox-Absorb is a peculiar Glacial Mineral which has an almost irresistible action in drawing and absorbing from the system the Poisons and impurities which are the cause of disease. This Treatment has been successfully used on hundreds of cases, where Medical Treatment alone had utterly failed. This Treatment Combined with Mild and Antiseptic Remedies spells death to all chronic diseases—Internal Inflammation and Congestions, Appendicitis, Inflammation of the bowels, ovaries and other organs have been promptly cured.

Fibroid Tumors, Swollen Glands, Goiters, and other Fibroid Growths have been absorbed, Kidney and Liver Disease.

There is no better scientific natural treatment to absorb from these organs the germs and impurities which cause the suffering. Pain often ends with few applications. In Asthma this treatment has done most wonderful work and absolutely cured chronic Bronchitis of five years' standing, the patient coughing continuously.

For Prostatitis the results are very gratifying. By gentle and persistent drawing the system is soon relieved of all Poison and perfect Health is the result.

If you are ailing with a chronic disease and you can not regain your Health from other Treatments, investigate Our Great Method of Cure. It will be easy to convince you of our ability to cure.

MANY SCOTS WILL BECOME CLANSMEN

Clan Stewart to Hold Big Initiation—Entertainments Planned.

Another large class of candidates will be initiated into Clan Stewart tonight, and a record attendance is expected. Other important matters will be discussed. One thing will be a review of the membership campaign, which started some little time ago and which is resulting in the corraling of every Scotsman discovered in Duluth.

Arrangements may also be made for a "range night." Scotsmen on the ranges have been planning to start a clan of their own in some city up there which would be convenient to the majority of them, but it is understood that they have about decided to abandon that idea and to get the Scotsmen living in range towns and cities to become members of Clan Stewart. In that event a special night for the initiation of such applicants will be arranged for.

Further arrangements will also be made for the "guid Scots night" entertainment to be given a week from tonight to clansmen and their families and friends. A Scots program will be given, following which will be a dance.

TWO DIE IN FIRE IN TORONTO HOTEL.

Toronto, Ont., March 18.—Two lives were lost in a fire last night which partly destroyed the Woodbine hotel on King street, west, in this city, and one person injured in the fire probably will die. The dead:

MAX COHEN, of the Union Film company, New York.

FRED LEVINSON, New York.

Both were guests of the hotel.

The injured guest is Edmund F. Giles of Montreal, a commercial traveler. He jumped from an upper window.

The fire started in rooms above the kitchen and spread rapidly. There were eighty guests in the house, and there was a wild rush to escape. It was learned that Cohen and Levinson had left the building but that for some unexplained reason they had returned.

EAT NEW BREAD, CABBAGE, SAUSAGE, AND DIGEST IT; "PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN"

No Indigestion, No Sour, Gassy Stomach or Dyspepsia—Try It.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered, you get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear. Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. Diapepsin is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Put an end to stomach trouble by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

LOSES HIS EQUANIMITY AND RUINS A DRESS SUIT

Manager of Diving Contest Takes Involuntary Bath to Huge Delight of Theater Audience.

Capt. C. F. Adams was "mad" last evening.

To ruin a dress suit by being suddenly immersed in a tank of water is enough to make an ordinary man lose his temper, but when on top of that about 1,200 people scream with laughter at the sight, it is rather more than mortal man can bear with equanimity, and Capt. Adams, blessed as he is with this quality, never came nearer to losing it than he did last evening.

Capt. Adams is the manager for Odiva, the swimmer who is appearing at the Orpheum this week, and last evening he conducted the swimming and diving contest for Duluth young men, following the regular act of his protege. The contest was all but completed, and the last contestant was doing his stunts, when Capt. Adams stepped too close to the edge of the tank in giving his directions. Either his foot slipped or a board gave way, and in he went, dress suit, high collar and all. He emerged dripping while the audience rocked in mirth.

Capt. Adams indignantly denied, after the performance, that his dip was part of the act. "It was the only dress suit I had" he said, "and I don't know whether I will be able to wear it again or not. If you think that was part of the performance wait and see whether I fall in Friday night, when we hold the contest for young women."

The contest itself probably created more amusement than anything yet seen in the Orpheum. Seven young men were entered, and showed remarkable skill in attempting to duplicate the feats of Odiva. The cup was awarded to H. M. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Thomas, but he was closely pressed by Frank Williams of 475 Mesaba avenue. The victory of Mr. Thomas was due to the fact that he succeeded in "marching" across the tank and back, while floating on his back and propelling himself feet first with the use of his feet only. Capt. Adams announced that only three men in the United States had succeeded in doing this stunt, during the many hundred contests he had conducted.

He also warmly praised the entrants and said he rather regretted the uniform cleverness of the young men, as he always hoped to find two or three awkward youths to add to the merriment. Only one man took a "smacker" in the dives, and while none of the men could do all of Odiva's stunts, all of them could do some of them. The other entrants besides those mentioned above, were: Charles Wright, 121 First avenue west; William Diamond, 24 West First street; Jules D'Arcy, Y. M. C. A.; David Lieberman, 404½ East Fifth street; William Bosanko, 2807 Railroad street.

EARLY CALL FOR MONEY

Demand for Capital Indicative of Lively Spring Business.

Good Season From Opening of Navigation Is Banker's Prediction.

An improvement in the call for money emanating from various commercial and industrial quarters during the last few days, is reported by Duluth bankers.

The early inquiry for capital this spring is taken to indicate that business operations are likely to be conducted upon a more extended scale than a year ago in practically every quarter.

The supply of funds is said to be ample to cover all current and probable future spring requirements, and while there has been no advance in discount rates, they are said to be firming up. Following the course of the market last year, it is thought that interest figures will work higher within the next couple of months both locally and at the leading financial centers.

With the heavy deliveries being made of logs and other forest products, and the woodsmen already coming out from the camps in numbers, considerable money is now going into circulation in that trade. The outfitting of the steamers in the harbor for the opening of navigation has also become a factor, the outgo to cover wages and the accounts of the local boiler and machine shops being already heavy.

Good Season Due.

"I look for a good season right on from the opening of navigation," said a bank official this morning. "The business situation in Duluth never gave better promise than it does today. Every branch of trade or manufacturing enterprise is in good shape, and those interested in them are as a rule able to take advantage of the expected expansion when it comes along. From all I can learn mining operations will be conducted on an extended scale throughout the coming season by the United States Steel corporation and the various independents interested in iron properties on the ranges. That of course means added business for Duluth wholesale interests to say nothing of the distribution to be expected in the various other channels.

"I notice that deposits in our savings bank department are holding up well. That is to be taken as one of the healthiest signs especially coming at this season when business is usually about at the low point."

Money is advised to be in good demand at Chicago and rates are tending slightly firmer. Discounts of commercial paper have been extremely heavy there during the past week.

Business men at New York are said to be taking advantage of the present low discount rates, and many of the leading interests have arranged for sufficient capital to cover their requirements for some time ahead.

With trade generally becoming more active, it is expected that discounts will work steadily higher there. The Boston money market is advised to be firmer and bankers there incline to the belief that rates will be advanced with the next few days.

PRIMROSE PATH ENDS AT POOR FARM

Grand Rapids Woodsman Wastes Money; Walks to Duluth.

Declaring that he had walked all the way from Grand Rapids, Mich., to Duluth, John Palmer, 57, came to the office of Charles Shogran, clerk of the poor commission, yesterday afternoon and asked for permission to enter the county hospital at the poor farm.

Except for the fact that he was covered with vermin, Palmer appeared to be hale and hearty. He told Clerk Shogran that one time he had saved $1,000, but had spent it in riotous living. He gave his occupation as that of a woodsman.

NAVY YARD MEN TO BUY FERRY LINE.

Vallejo, Cal., March 18.—After the courts and legislature of California and the navy department in Washington had been puzzled for several years over a dispute between the Vallejo Ferry company and the Association of Mare Island employes of the navy yard have worked it out for themselves by reaching an agreement to buy the steamers, franchise and other assets of the ferry company for $40,000. It is announced that a five-day option has been obtained.

The association has a membership covering more than half the employes at the navy yard, and it is purposed to enlarge the membership roll to take in everybody and then operate the ferry on a co-operative basis.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL BEFORE HOUSE.

Washington, March 18.—Consideration of the $3,000,000 rivers and harbors appropriation bill has begun in the house. The measure was made the vehicle of speeches on a variety of subjects, including Mexico and the proposed repeal of exemption of coastwise shipping from Panama canal tolls. It probably will occupy most of the week.

SAYS BOY STOLE WIFE'S AFFECTION.

San Bernardino, Cal., March 18.—William Crain of Redlands, aged 17, is defendant in a $10,000 alienation of affections suit filed by L. J. Miller, who alleges that Crain tried to induce Mrs. Miller to run away with him.

Crain recently received $10,000 willed to him by Henry Vogt, a wealthy recluse.

WORKMAN CAN REJECT NEW LAW.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 18.—The state supreme court has decided that while the Arizona workmen's compensation act binds toilers to its provisions, a workman may seek relief in cases of injuries through any means provided by the common law. He may avail himself of the compensation law or institute suit under the common law. But when he adopts either mode, he cannot thereafter avail himself of benefits of others.

WOULD LIMIT TRADE TO AMERICAN BOATS.

Washington, March 18.—A new bill to confine traffic between United States ports and ports in the Panama canal zone to American vessels was introduced by Representative Fordney, Republican, of Michigan.

Banks' Accounts Short.

Goldsboro, N. C., March 18.—Shortages amounting to $75,000 have been found in the accounts of the Goldsboro Savings & Trust company and the National Bank of Goldsboro, according to an official statement by the stockholders. The two institutions are run in conjunction.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant. Agent, Wirth's drug store, 13 West Superior street.

NO CONCESSIONS TO MINERS ARE MADE

Bituminous Operators Again Refuse to Consider Wage Advance.

Chicago, March 18.—No concession was offered the bituminous coal miners of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois by the operators' wage scale committee in session with the men's committee here today. The operators heard the miners reiterate their demands made at Philadelphia in the joint wage scale meeting which adjourned two weeks ago, but stood firm on their refusal to grant any advance at present.

The miners' committee thereupon went into session to consider the situation.

WILL MAKE "MOTHER" JONES' MOVES PUBLIC

Attorney Will Announce When She Will Go to Trinidad.

Denver, Colo., March 18.—Horace N. Hawkins, attorney for "Mother" Jones, said today that it had been decided to make public announcement of the time of her departure to Trinidad, where, according to the statement of Adjt.-Gen. John Chase, arrest awaits the 82-year-old strike leader.

"The time of 'Mother' Jones' departure has not been fixed," Mr. Hawkins added, "but we have decided to take everybody into our confidence before she starts. I expect to accompany her and I think John R. Lawson, Colorado member of the United Miners' executive board, will do the same."

Asked as to the probable attitude of the state administration toward the public return of the aged leader into the strike zone, Mr. Hawkins said he had received no intimation on the subject.

"We are not attempting to anticipate the action of the militia," he said. "If Mother Jones is ready, we are ready to take the case at once to the Colorado supreme court."

APPEAL OPERATES AS STAY FOR SCHMIDT

NEW BOOST FOR FESTIVAL

Duluth Ad Club Gives Its Unanimous Support to Project.

Twenty of Duluth's Biggest Organizations Are Now Co-operating.

One more important Duluth organization put its stamp of approval on the proposed midsummer festival for 1915 last night. Twenty of the largest and most influential of Duluth associations have now taken unanimous action and have appointed committees to work with the general committee in formulating plans and starting the ball rolling.

The Duluth Ad club at its meeting last night passed a motion unanimously supporting the festival after the matter had been carefully considered and discussed. Three of its most prominent members were named on the committee. These were Felix Seligman, advertising manager for the Columbia Clothing company; Alfred Hanchett, advertising manager for the F. A. Patrick company, and Alfred H. Moe of J. J. Moe & Sons.

As publicity is one of the things most essential in promoting such an enterprise as the midsummer festival on a scale similar to the New Orleans Mardi Gras and the Portland Rose festival, the action of the Duluth Ad club is a big boost for the proposed enterprise. The club can perform an invaluable service in helping to plan a publicity campaign that would be worthy of Duluth and such a festival.

Several other organizations are expected to take similar action in the near future as meetings are scheduled for this week. All the large organizations of the city have been asked to consider the matter and an expression from the remaining number has been delayed only until a meeting can be called and a report made.

BOWLES TESTIFIES BEFORE SENATORS

Denies Contract With De Knight Was What Latter Claimed.

Washington, March 18.—Former Rear Admiral F. T. Bowles, president of the Fore River Shipbuilding company, testified to the senate lobby committee today that he engaged C. W. De Knight, a lawyer, in connection with a movement to defeat that section of the Panama act which would exclude railroad-owned ships from the canal, and not to work for the inclusion of a toll exemption as De Knight recently testified.

Bowles put his correspondence with De Knight on the subject in evidence. Bowles testified he employed De Knight to furnish information and avoid delay.

Bowles testified he also had paid De Knight $500 to work for an appropriation in a rivers and harbors bill for a $140,000 Federal improvement of Fore river.

INDIANS' CLAIM TO CHICAGO LAND FAILS

Judge Carpenter Rules Against Aborigines—Appeal Planned.

Chicago, March 18.—Holding that the title of Indians to the submerged lands of Lake Michigan had never been recognized, and further that what rights they had were relinquished when the aborigines voluntarily left the land, Federal Judge Carpenter today ruled adversely to Indian claims on filled-in land along the lake front in Chicago.

In one suit three Indian tribes, the Ottawas, Chippewas and Pottawatomies, sought to recover made land along the lake front now occupied by railroad companies and the South Park board. In the other suit the Indians sought to restrain the South Park board from proceeding with improvements along the lake front, where much land is being reclaimed.

Counsel for the Indians said that an appeal would be taken.

PATROLMAN WILL CLAIM REWARD

Will Collect $25 for Arresting Man Who Violated Parole.

By arresting Joseph Haskins, 28 years old, parole violator from the state prison at Stillwater, this morning, Patrolman Montgomery can claim the reward of $25 offered by Warden Henry Wolfer for the capture of every man violating his parole from prison and who is wanted by the authorities.

Haskins is being held at police headquarters, awaiting a deputy from Stillwater to take him back there to serve the remainder of his sentence on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. Patrolman Montgomery will apply for his reward.

The prisoner was arrested in Carver county four years ago this month on a charge of grand larceny and on April 5 was sentenced to Stillwater. On Dec. 12 of that year he was placed on parole for one year, but is declared to have violated that parole on Aug. 19, 1911. Since then the authorities have been seeking his apprehension and he has been at liberty all this time.

NOT WISELY, BUT TOO WELL

Did Twenty Duluth Citizens Celebrate St. Patrick's Day.

St. Patrick's day proved too much for many Duluthians yesterday and as a consequence twenty of them landed in jail before midnight on charges of drunkenness. The grist this morning was one of the largest in several weeks.

And just because the prisoners declared they were celebrating their patron saint, Judge Cutting was very lenient in passing out his sentences and in most cases permitted the men to go without paying fines.

In the cases of James McCoy and William McLaughlin, both of whom were arrested on a charge of drunkenness for the third time in the last few weeks, the judge refused to be lenient and gave them each a straight sentence of sixty days on the work farm.

WESTINGHOUSE WILL GIVES $35,000,000

Document Is Dated Jan. 13 of the Present Year.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 18.—The will of George Westinghouse, who died in New York last week, was filed here for probate today. No estimate of the value of the estate is made, but it is said to be about $35,000,000. Letters testamentary were issued to Walter D. Uptegraft of this city, who was the only one of the three executors present when the will was filed. The other executors are Henry H. Westinghouse of Kidders, Seneca county, N. Y., a brother, and Charles A. Terry of New York.

The testament is a brief document, and under its terms Margaret E. W. Westinghouse, the widow, is given two-thirds of all the capital stock of the Westinghouse Air Spring company, of which he was owner, and one-third of such stock to his son. Certain personal office and household employes are given a year's salary, and a bequest of $50,000 is made to Alexander Garden Uptegraft.

The residue of the estate is divided, 40 per cent to the widow, 40 per cent to the son and 20 per cent to the brother of the testator. The will is dated Jan. 13, 1914.

MUNICIPAL COURT CALENDAR CALLED.

Judge Windom called the regular jury calendar in municipal court this morning. The first case to be heard is that of the state against John Osbacken, a settler in the northern part of St. Louis county, who was arrested on Feb. 24 on a charge of setting a gun in the woods. He was taken in custody by August Tabor, deputy game warden of Lake county.

Osbacken pleaded not guilty when arraigned following his arrest and he asked for a jury trial, which was set for this morning.

The other cases scheduled for this calendar are: Thiessen vs. Victor company; Skellett vs. Frederickson; Blancke vs. L. C. Good; Silberstein vs. Stilt; Bloom vs. Olson; Farzza vs. Kelley Island Lime company; McDougall vs. Gravatt, and Widdes vs. Widdes.

TELLS NEEDS FOR SUCCESSFUL FARMING.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 18.—"Americans will never again be a rural people," Liberty H. Bailey, former dean of the Cornell college of agriculture, told the Farmers' association here today.

"There is today less than 3 per cent of our population on the farms. As the years go on we shall need, not more farmers in proportion to the population, but better farmers.

"The things needed to make farming successful and more attractive are a scientific marketing system; facilities for credit; less city airs in the country towns; an overhauling of rural government, and extension of education."

Is Marquette Police Chief.

Marquette, Mich., March 18.—The city commission has made E. E. McIntosh chief of police, to succeed John Manning, at a salary of $1,200 per year. Dr. R. C. Main was made health officer at a salary of $2,000 per year.

AUTO MEN IN SECOND TRIAL

Fraud Action Against A. M. Russell and A. Paine Before Jury.

Suit Is Result of Appeal From Verdict for Plaintiff.

For the second time within the past two years, an action brought by J. S. Walsh against A. M. Russell and Asa Paine to recover damages for the alleged fraud of the defendants in inducing Walsh to purchase Paine's interest in the Russell Motor company and afterwards advance money to the company, is on trial before a district court jury.

The case was tried more than a year ago by Judge Dibell and a verdict of $6,871.93 returned against both defendants. Each defendant moved the court for judgment notwithstanding the verdict or for a new trial. The motions for judgment were denied, but a new trial was granted. Walsh appealed to the supreme court but the order of the lower court was affirmed and the case remanded to the district court for a second trial.

Paine Advances Money.

At the first trial, the evidence in the case developed the fact that A. M. Russell, one of the defendants, was the manager and principal owner of the stock of the Russell Motor Car company, a corporation engaged in the sale and repair of automobiles in this city. In the fall of 1910, Asa Paine, who was at that time a stockholder and president of the Northland Motor company of Minneapolis made an examination of the affairs of the Russell company and agreed to advance money to it, on the company's giving satisfactory security.

The Russell company was to handle the cars of the Northland company of Minneapolis. Twenty-five shares of the Russell company were issued to Paine, who testified that this was given him for the Northland company in consideration of the latter company turning over to the Russell company the agency for the Stoddard-Dayton cars, the Northland company agreeing to supply the cars for two years without charges for commissions. Paine then advanced $2,000 to the Russell company, which gave Paine its note for $5,000 and to secure it a chattel mortgage covering its garage equipment, valued at $4,032.

The understanding was that at any time that the Russell company should repay money advanced by Paine or from the Northland company from time to time in the future and pay all debts due Paine or his company, the note would be returned and the mortgage satisfied. It was also understood, it was alleged that the Russell company might within two years buy back the $2,500 shares of stock for $2,500, provided all of the indebtedness to the Northland company had been paid.

Walsh Buys Out Paine.

In April, 1911, Walsh, plaintiff, was induced by Paine to buy his interest in the Russell company. Paine sold to Russell his twenty-five shares of stock and his claim for the $2,000 he had advanced the company, Walsh paying $3,250 for it. The $5,000 note and the chattel mortgage were cancelled and a new note and new mortgage covering the same property were executed to the plaintiff. As a part of the transaction, a writing was executed which recited that Walsh would return the note and satisfy the mortgage whenever the Russell company should pay the money advanced by Walsh from time to time in the future, and all just debts due him. In short all the papers evidencing the relations between Paine and Russell were cancelled and exactly similar papers executed to evidence the relations between Walsh and Russell.

After the sale of the stock by Paine to Walsh, Paine took no further interest in the affairs of the company. Russell managed the company, Walsh apparently taking little part. From time to time however, he advanced money to Russell for the business. In June, 1911, Paine met Walsh in this city and complained because the Russell company had not paid the Northland company of Minneapolis for automobiles purchased.

Was "Flim-Flammed."

At that time, Walsh figured that he had been "flim-flammed," as he expressed it, and placed on record the chattel mortgage. At the same time, a chattel mortgage held by Paine, was also recorded. The recording of the two mortgages apparently produced a crisis in the affairs of the Russell company, for on Aug. 21, 1911, it was adjudged bankrupt in the Federal court.

The claim of Walsh is that he was induced to take Paine's interest in the Russell company by fraudulent representations relating to the solvency of the company and to the extent of its business, assets and liabilities made by both Paine and Russell.

The second trial is being conducted before Judge Ensign and a jury.

WARRINGTON OUT OF LIGHTHOUSE SERVICE

Head of Construction Is Removed "to Improve" the Work.

Washington, March 18.—As one result of the investigation into the lighthouse service by Secretary Redfield and a committee of other officials of the department of commerce, George Warrington, superintendent of naval construction of the service, has been dismissed and Edward C. Gillette, assistant engineer in the service, has been appointed by President Wilson to succeed him. Mr. Gillette was formerly inspector of the lighthouse district with headquarters at Boston.

No specific charge was preferred against Mr. Warrington, his dismissal being due, it was said, to the desire to improve the service.

The thinnest American made twelve size watch.

We want you to see this watch

The edict has gone forth that thin-model watches are the thing nowadays. But be careful in buying a thin model watch. For it is difficult to make a watch of this character that will keep perfect time after it has been carried a few months. We can recommend

South Bend Chesterfield a gentleman's watch

For before we elected to offer it to our patrons we gave it the most exhaustive tests, we studied its construction, examined the materials from which it is made, and we can conscientiously say that we believe it to be the most satisfactory thin-model watch made in America.

You can buy a Chesterfield watch at $15 to $100 or in between, and we will guarantee both case and movement for twenty-five years. If you are contemplating the purchase of a fine watch we urge you to inspect the South Bend Chesterfield.

Save money by taking advantage of our March Discount Sale.

ST. PATRICK IS HONORED

Lecture By Father Murray and Irish Comedy, "Myles A'Roon," at the Cathedral Auditorium.

The lecture by Father Murray of St. Paul and the play, "Myles A'Roon," given at the Cathedral auditorium last evening, were enjoyed by a big audience.

Father Murray reviewed the history of Ireland from pagan times to the present, dwelling especially upon the evangelization of her people, their education and the influence they exerted upon European countries, England and Scotland. He told of the institutions of learning established by Irish monks in the territory that is now France, Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Italy, for Ireland was the storehouse for both sacred and profane learning when wars tore the nations to the East. The geographical situation of the island, isolated as it is, protected her and fostered the arts and sciences that her people were to carry later to the continent when the time was ripe to plant the seeds of culture among nations that hitherto had thought only of warfare.

Evidences of the high state of culture that existed in Ireland in the early centuries have come down to the present in her round towers, music and poetry.

Father Murray spoke of the sons and daughters of Erin who are scattered all over the world and of the love and honor they owe St. Patrick, the patron of the Emerald Isle.

The lecture was followed by "Myles A'Roon," a four-act play given by the Cathedral Dramatic club. The play presented many amusing situations and showed a thoroughly Irish spirit. The audience were in full sympathy with big-hearted Myles A'Roon and his sweetheart, the quick-witted Maggie Farrell. The child's part was taken by little Miss Virginia Smith, who won the audience through her dainty appearance and easy stage manners. The following took part in the play: Misses Ethel Grenier, Mary Quinn,

VIRGINIA SMITH,
Whose Work Was a Feature of Last Evening's Entertainment.

CLERICAL HUMOR.

Chicago Tribune: When the Rev. Dr. Snow rose to address his evening congregation his voice was slightly husky.

"My friends," he said, "I have already preached one sermon and made two long speeches to societies in different parts of the city, and before I have finished this evening you will think I am a wheel—the longer the spoke, the bigger the tire."

Only a few appeared to see the point, however, and the good doctor scorned to furnish a diagram.

INTERESTING PEOPLE WHO ARE DOING INTERESTING WORK HERE

No other woman in Duluth is more concerned with the welfare of the working girl and the interests of the wage earning woman than Miss Victoria Ericson.

Officially, Miss Ericson is known as a state factory inspector employed by the bureau of women and children, Minnesota department of labor.

Unofficially, she might well be regarded as the guardian of the rights and interests of the working girls of Duluth, whose duty it is to see that all wage earning women are not being imposed upon by her employers.

Miss Ericson's daily routine takes her every place where women and children are employed—to the department stores, to the restaurants and hotels and to the factories for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not women and children are employed under proper conditions.

Under the laws of the state, a child under 16 years old cannot be lawfully employed more than eight hours in any one day or forty-eight hours in any one week.

In the department stores and restaurants, it is also unlawful to employ any woman for more than fifty-eight hours in any one week or more than ten hours a day. In a telephone or telegraph office, or in a factory, the maximum is nine hours a day and fifty-four a week.

Miss Ericson's duty primarily is to see that the labor laws governing women and children are enforced and to offer suggestions to employers from time to time as to how working conditions might be improved.

During certain hours of the morning, she may be found at her office, 307 courthouse. And here, the working girl or wage earning woman with a grievance will always find her ready and willing to help her.

MISS VICTORIA ERICSON.

"THE CHILD AND THE NATION"

Members of Collegiate Alumnae Hear Address on Problem of Child Labor.

That a child's growth and happiness should be considered more than the amount of work accomplished, is the opinion of Dr. Raymond Phelan, extension course lecturer of the University of Minnesota, who spoke on "The Child and the Nation" before the Association of Collegiate Alumnae at the home of Mrs. S. J. Colter yesterday. Mrs. W. H. Hoyt presided. He advocated mothers' pensions and legislation to better laboring conditions for the child.

Dr. Phelan discussed the historical bearings of the problem of child labor, and set forth the disadvantages of child labor from the viewpoints of stunted development, relation to the use of injurious stimulants, lack of preparation for adult work, and the morally bad consequences of children at work when they should be at study and play.

"The problem is one of opinion, financial necessity, and education," the lecturer said. Concrete illustrations and statistics were shown to prove the financial necessity in some cases of child labor.

"The scholarship is a necessary corollary to the child labor law, and for the sake of very young children, we should have a system of aid to mothers," he said. "Scholarship and mothers' pensions, properly administered, are wise public investments in future good citizenship. On its educational side the child labor problem calls for either more money for education or fewer children. Our education does not provide accurately for each individual boy and girl."

Dr. Phelan emphasized the need in promoting vocational education of remembering that they must be trained to live and to govern as well as to work. He praised the Federal children's bureau and pointed to the merits of pending Federal legislation to regulate child labor.

MANY ATTEND Y. W. C. A. BANQUET

Half of Young Girls Are Without Home Influence Says Miss Crittendon—Y. W. C. A. Strives to Fill Gap—Rev. Thorp Talks on "Simple Life."

About 150 guests attended the annual Y. W. C. A. banquet given last evening at the Y. W. C. A. building. The tables were tastily decorated with Irish flags and candles. The centerpiece on the speakers' table was a green basket filled with Bermuda lilies, hyacinths and carnations. During the dinner a three-piece orchestra played.

Judge William A. Cant, the toastmaster, introduced Miss Frances Crittendon, who is the national city secretary for the north central states. Miss Crittendon's subject was "Girls and Other Girls." She spoke of the work that is being done for young girls who are without home influence and of their needs in the ways of recreation, shelter, food, protection, religious convictions, and a spirit of thrift that leads them to save a portion of their earnings.

Miss Crittendon said girls constitute about one-sixth of the population of the United States and of this great number almost half are without home influence. The Y. W. C. A. strives to supply home influences as far as possible and establishes headquarters wherever there is an opportunity. Miss Crittendon spoke of the building the people of San Francisco will give into charge of the Y. W. C. A. at the Panama exposition in order that unattended girls who visit the exposition may be well cared for.

Rev. C. N. Thorp took the place of Julius Barnes, who was unable to be present on account of illness. Mr. Thorp's talk on "The Simple Life" was in the main a review of Dr. Richard Cabot's book, "What Men Live By." Dr. Cabot thinks that life is made up of the four elementals of work, play, love and worship. Mr. Thorp dwelt upon each of these phases in an interesting way.

The hostesses for the banquet were: Mrs. W. A. McGonagle, Mrs. T. W. Hoopes, Mrs. Olin W. Rowe, Mrs. S. E. Atkins, Mrs. Soderquist, Mrs. W. C. Sherwood, Mrs. F. C. Bowman, Mrs. R. T. Hugo, Mrs. F. W. De Vey, Mrs. David Davis, Mrs. T. L. Chapman, Mrs. J. H. McLean, Miss Helen Congdon, Miss Moody and Miss Needham.

Dr. John W. Hoffman pronounced the blessing.

The menu consisted of oyster cocktail, roast turkey with dressing, cranberries, mashed potatoes, rutabagas, rolls, olives, pickles, fruit salad, St. Johnsbury crackers, pistachio ice cream, cake, coffee and salted nuts.

GREAT SUFFRAGE DEMONSTRATION

Supporters of Woman Suffrage Expected to Hold Meetings in Every City and Town on May 2.

Washington, March 18.—The congressional committee of the National Suffrage association has received information of the plans made at Chicago for the grand suffrage demonstration on May 2, the date when it is expected that in every city and town from the Atlantic to the Pacific the supporters of women suffrage will meet at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and give expression to their views.

In Chicago the suffragists will use their political organization for marching and assembling. The ward leaders will be at the head of each organization, and each precinct will have its captain. These organizations will meet at specified points within easy marching distance of Grant park, where the mass meeting is to be held. They will all march toward the central point at one time, making Chicago a huge city of suffragists. Under competent officers the different organizations will march to stations assigned them in the park.

The Chicago suffragists will be in uniform, at least they will all wear as a headdress yellow turbans, white shirt waists and dark skirts. It is expected that the uniforms will prove very effective in the parades as well as at the mass meeting.

Another interesting feature of the demonstration will be the use of a huge clock on the tower of one of the Chicago sky-scrapers, the hand of which will indicate day by day, as reports from ward leaders are received, the total number of suffragists to be in the parade. A very large blackboard is to be erected on the lake front upon which the number from each ward will be given. A prize is to be awarded to the organization having the largest number of marchers.

The congressional committee hopes to secure a holiday in all the states on May 2 by proclamation of the governors, in order that the great mass of working women may participate in the demonstration.

The ceremonies are to be brief, the singing of a hymn, a short address and a patriotic song, with special suffrage stanzas.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Housework Is An Honorable Occupation.

To claim that everyone who wants to work can do so would be a reckless extravagance of speech in these days of industrial depression. Nevertheless it is a known fact that many a chance to work goes begging, even in these days when the supply of workers is greater than the demand.

From California came the report a short time ago of the refusal of many women to accept the work provided for them. Positions as housekeepers were offered them, which they disdained, almost to a woman, voicing the sentiment that they would rather starve or something to that effect. I can't but feel that they deserve to, if this is the attitude that needy women are to assume toward an honorable means of self-support.

Many of the disadvantages of housework as a pursuit or occupation have been removed and overcome, though it must be admitted that some conditions remain that could be bettered. There is need of a real awakening to the possibilities that despised housework offers in the way of a creditable and congenial living. They are not to be overlooked in these days of overcrowded trades and professions and the keen competition therein.

Good wages are paid the housekeeper who is only fairly competent. The woman who will develop her talents for home-making to the limit of her powers can secure many an enviable position.

Doubtless homes exist where those employed to keep the domestic machinery running smoothly are treated without consideration and forced to work unremittingly from cock crow till dark. But these are in the minority, and it may be said that only the inferior worker and disagreeable woman has to tolerate any such condition of affairs.

Everyone who works for hire, no matter what the wage received, even though it runs into thousands, has to submit to the will and the wishes of the employer. Most of us are in the employ of someone else. It isn't pleasant to have a mistress or a hard taskmaster. If we are competent in our own work, we do not have to endure either one any longer than it takes us to find them out and secure more congenial superiors.

MINNESOTA NEEDS A NEW CONSTITUTION.

The efficiency and economy commission devised, among other things, a splendid plan for the unification of the state's educational system.

It was needed, and it was wise.

There are the common schools and high schools to teach our children, the normal schools to provide the teachers the public schools need, and the University to complete the education of those who can go that far—all essential parts of the system, but now divided into three separate and unrelated organizations.

All should be, of course, co-ordinated parts of one great unified system.

And the commission worked it out that way.

But then an obscure section in the Constitution, recognizing the territorial statute organizing the university, with a supreme court decision holding that this meant that the board of regents is a constitutional body beyond change by statute, were discovered.

So the plan may have to be changed so as to leave the board of regents and the university to flock by themselves instead of coming, as they should, into a unified and harmonious educational system. The attorney general is looking up the point now.

This is only another of a hundred things that point to a great need in Minnesota—that of a new state Constitution, brought up to date and cut to fit the governmental styles of 1914 instead of those of ante-bellum times.

This is a complicated process, and at the best will take years even if a beginning is made at the next session of the legislature.

The first essential is that two-thirds of the members of each house shall vote to submit the question to the people at the next general election. The proposition has been up at every session of the legislature for fifteen years, but always interests opposed to change have been strong to prevent a two-thirds vote in one branch or the other. They ought not to be that strong next time.

If the legislature at the 1915 session votes to submit this question, the people will vote at the election in November, 1916, on whether or not they wish the Constitution revised.

If a majority of those voting at that election—not a majority of those voting on the proposition, but a majority of those participating in the election—favor a constitutional convention, the legislature of 1917 may enact a law calling such a convention. Its members, who are to be as numerous as the members of the legislature, are to be elected in the same manner as members of the legislature, which means at the general election in 1918. The convention then would gather about January, 1919. The proposed Constitution would then have to be voted upon by the people, either at a special election or at the general election of 1920.

If the legislature of 1915 fails to act, these dates must all be pushed along two years, bringing the last one to 1922, which is eight years away. Even if the 1915 legislature acts, the new Constitution can hardly be in effect short of six years.

Isn't it about time a start was made on this long and complicated process?

Now if Hiram Gill were mayor of New York there would be a tendency to suspect some grudge lay back of his naming his rival for office to be head of the police department.

FACTS THAT SUPPORT FICTION.

A familiar property of fiction is the complete blotting out of memory by accidental injury to the brain.

A man is hurt, and recovers fully from his injury except that some obscure lesion of the brain destroys every record of his past life, and his after life begins from the day he recovers consciousness. Sometimes recovery later is made complete and memory is restored; sometimes memory never goes back of the injury.

An interesting instance of this in real life is provided by the case of Prof. Mark W. Harrington, who was director of the United States weather bureau from 1891 to 1895.

In June, 1906, a man was found on a park bench in Newark, New Jersey, after a sharp thunder shower. He had had an injury on the head. He knew nothing of himself, and carried no papers that would identify him. He was taken to a sanitarium, where he was entered as "John Doe," and he remained there several years under that name.

What had happened to him nobody could find out. He might have been struck by lightning, or he might have been beaten and robbed. The absence of papers and valuables gave support to the latter theory.

In the meantime, Professor Harrington had disappeared, and no trace could be found of him. Years passed before Dr. M. R. Harrington, his son, professor of ethnology and anthropology at the University of Pennsylvania, heard of "John Doe" and sent word to his mother, who identified him as her long lost husband.

"Since then," says the Springfield Republican, which tells the story, "Prof. Harrington has learned to recognize his relatives and friends, and gradually, through his notes and writings, has reacquainted himself with his past life. His memory of events after reaching the sanitarium is accurate. He now lives in New York, and goes to Bellevue hospital at times for treatment. His family report him competent to conduct his business affairs, and in many ways he has become normal.

"A strange feature of the case is Prof. Harrington's newly-discovered love of music. Although in his former life he knew nothing of it, he is now, at the age of sixty-six, devoting all his energies to the study of the piano, harmony and allied subjects."

It is interesting indeed to find in real life an actual example of this uncanny phenomenon which is so much more common in fiction than in life.

And it must be admitted that "Mother" Jones wouldn't be any slouch of a suffragette.

THE NEED OF A CITY AND COUNTY HOSPITAL.

It was discovered long ago that it was a great mistake to treat drunkenness simply by successive jail sentences. Hence the county and city work farm.

That takes care of men. What of women derelicts?

There are such in every city—in Duluth and in most of the range communities: victims of drink or drugs who are going from bad to worse. They are always a problem. They are sent to jail, but that doesn't help. They are driven from pillar to post till they die. Nothing helpful is done for them. Nothing helpful can be done for them, because there is no institution for their care.

Not long ago a Duluthian was in a Kansas City municipal court when a young woman was up for theft. Social work is on a high plane in Kansas City, and so it fell about that the judge, instead of committing the unfortunate woman forthwith to jail, suspended sentence upon her until she had been sent to the city hospital for treatment for a drug habit, which was the root of her misfortunes. In ten days the woman was sent to her mother, a changed creature who declared that they need never worry about her again.

That's better than jail, isn't it? It's better than kicking her about from bad to worse and finally into a shameful grave.

That can't be done in Duluth because there is no such place to send such a case. It could be done in Duluth if there were a city and county hospital.

These unfortunates are human beings deserving some sort of care only the more because they are unfortunate. Their condition is disagreeable to contemplate, and perhaps the overnice have no pity for them. Bad habits are self-acquired, they say; those who acquire them should suffer. But who, knowing the environments and deprivations that produced these miserables, is fitted to judge them?

Their need is great. Duluth and St. Louis county today make no provision for them. The creation of a county and city hospital would make provision for them and for a hundred other causes of human misery not provided for.

Even at this time o' year it's mighty hard to get up a prolonged conversation between the man who raises poultry and the confirmed gardener.

ON GETTING INTO JAIL.

Two years and a quarter ago a New Jersey automobilist, joy-riding, ran down and killed a boy of fourteen.

The murderer and his companion sought safety in flight, resisted arrest when caught and had to be overpowered by force. The speed-maniac, once under arrest, was indicted for manslaughter, and was convicted and sentenced to spend five to ten years in the penitentiary.

All this happened more than two years ago, but it was not until the other day that the murderer at last entered the penitentiary to serve his sentence.

You see the offender belonged to an eminent and wealthy family. There was plenty of money to hire the best attorneys and to stimulate them by fat fees to make all possible use of technicalities. There were motions and demurrers and writs and appeals—the whole category of legal impediments to justice was exhausted.

So it took the murderer two years and a quarter to get to jail.

But he got there finally, which helps a good deal.

How much simpler all this would have been had the speed-maniac first got poor, then got drunk, and then committed an assault and battery.

Being poor, he would have to take such a lawyer as he could get—probably one picked for him by the court out of the group of fledgling or superannuated lawyers waiting for such work. There would have been no money for technicalities and appeals. His sentence would have long since been served, and he would have had plenty of chances to get into trouble again many times while the rich young man's case was weaving its way through the circumlocutory processes the law develops when there is money for technicalities and appeals.

If you want to get to jail quickly, don't make the mistake of being rich or of having rich friends.

Now comes the statement that cocoanut husks are being allowed to go to waste. Another cause of the high cost of living. Save your husks.

The Trouble With the Magazines

Minneapolis Bellman: Demoralization and degeneration have marked the course of most of the American monthly publications during the past few years, ever since the polluting hand of Hearst invaded the magazine field. Crude illustrations, the work of decadent or half-trained artists, have taken the place of drawings that were a delight to the eye and a gratification to the artistic sense; the scholarly and cultivated editorial touch has been superseded by the italicized sentimentality, the capitalized boastfulness and the double-headed egotism of the literary bounder and charlatan. Literature has gone and the discussion of the more revolting "questions of the hour" has evicted it. Even verse has been compelled to drag miserably at the chains attached to the car of pseudo-reform, and fiction which does not deal more or less with some repellent social problem is no longer in demand.

It has come to be that scarcely one of these monthly magazines may be safely admitted to a place on the family library table without first undergoing a rigid censorship lest it contain something unfit for indiscriminate readers. Since knowledge of evil has been proclaimed the sole protector of youth and innocence, the bars against verbal and pictorial filth have been swept away, the magazines once clean and wholesome can no longer be wholly depended upon to keep the implied faith of decency and reticence with their readers.

Harper's Monthly is now practically alone in the position which it took in the beginning and has consistently maintained ever since. Evidently its publishers are determined, in these days of easy and prompt compliance with a sentiment esteemed to be deep and widespread because it is vociferous, not to be misled by clamor into the belief that all Americans have gone mad. They are obviously minded to uphold and advance the publication's traditional standards, thereby widening the distinction between it and its backsliding contemporaries.

In the long run this will prove not only the best but the wisest policy from every standpoint, business as well as ethical. To every true advance and improvement Harper's has responded promptly and generously, but it has made no mistake in committing itself to the sensational in either text or illustration. Today it stands absolutely alone in its field; distinguished and discriminating, and reflecting, as it always has done, the fixed stars of the literary firmament, as well as the abiding spirit of the American people, not the transient echo of the yet unamalgamated alien.

Cause for Congratulations.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Here is one that was told by Senator Charles F. Johnson of Maine, when the conversation turned to the difficult names that immigration is toting into this country.

Recently a polish couple went before a justice of the peace to be married. Looking over the marriage license the justice read the names Zacharewitz Perriwinski and Leoknoko Zeullowitz. For a moment the justice was stunned, but quickly recovering he placed the bridal couple in position and told them to clasp hands.

"Zacharewitz," he impressively began, looking at the license to keep track of the name, "do you take this woman to be your lawfully wedded wife?"

"Sure, Mike," responded Zach in pipe foundry English.

"Leoknoko," continued the justice, taking another look at the license and turning to the bride, "do you take this man to be your lawfully wedded husband?"

"Yes, sir," answered the bride, with a blushful smile.

"Then I pronounce you man and wife," said the justice, "and I heartily congratulate you on having reduced those two names to one."

Imaginary Whys of Celibacy.

New York Evening Sun: Curious how when a man remains a bachelor people will speculate concerning his celibate state:

"Well, he has had an unfortunate affair some time or other. No man as attractive as he has gone this long without a tender memory to accompany him."

Of a woman:

"Funny she never married. Now you'd think she'd be attractive to the men, wouldn't you?"

Saving the Patient.

Kansas City Journal: "Is the doctor taking the proper interest in your case?"

"I think he's doing his best. I told him there was nobody to pay unless I got well."

Two Kinds of Education

Editorial in Chicago News.

Education in the past had for its subject matter symbols—reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar, rhetoric, logic and the like. The new education has for its subject matter realities—nature and history. The old education taught topics or subjects; the new education teaches boys and girls. According to the old education, knowledge precedes action; according to the new education, action precedes knowledge. In the old education things were done to the pupils; in the new education the pupils do things.

The old school teacher was a "star and dwelt apart"—that is, his aloofness and superiority were indispensable. He taught from above. The new school teacher is down among the students, a democrat of democrats. The old school teacher communicated knowledge from without; the new school teacher develops interest from within. The old education was atomistic; the new, organic. The old education was a donation to the pupils, the new is an achievement by them. The old education proceeded on the assumption that man is primarily intellect; the new, that he is primarily will. The old education preceded life and fitted for it; the new education is a part of life itself.

It is a great change. According to the old theory, there was perfection to start with, perfection at the top. All that was needed was to pipe it down through aqueducts so well constructed that nothing that was in could get out, nothing that was without could get in; and thus—thus only—would the vain and empty world and life be filled with value and verity and virtue—donation on the one side, reception on the other.

But the time came when men asked, if there was perfection to start with, why start? Why paint the lily? And if there was perfection to start with, how does there come to be imperfection? How can imperfection come from perfection? Ugly questions, these! Soon the world was turned upside down.

The new theory holds that matters began very humbly and struggled and fought their way slowly upward. Ascent from below, not descent from above. No values or verities or virtues donated, all achieved. Education an evolution, not a communication.

Some business men favor the old education. Their world is one of mechanism and authority. They think that they do not need men with initiative, spontaneity, freedom. That is their prerogative, as it was of the king of old. They need the mechanical, the automatic, the impersonal in man. This fits into their world. This is what the old education stands for. The new education unfolds and matures personalities. Personalities make good masters but poor servants.

Business men as a class are perhaps our best men. But the very conditions of business economy and certainty are the impersonal, the unfree, the mechanical. So business has warped the judgment of some good men and led them astray on the most fundamental problem in the history of the race.

The Only Monroe Doctrine

From President Monroe's message to congress, Dec. 2, 1823. In the discussions to which this interest has given rise, and in the arrangements by which they may terminate, the occasion has been deemed proper for asserting, as a principle in which rights and interests of the United States are involved, that the American continents, by the free and independent condition which they have assumed and maintain, are henceforth not to be considered as subjects for future colonization by any European power. * * *

We owe it, therefore, to candor and to the amicable relations existing between the United States and those powers to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety.

With the existing colonies or dependencies of any European power we have not interfered and shall not interfere. But with the governments who have declared their independence and maintained it, and whose independence we have, on great consideration and on just principles, acknowledged, we could not view any interposition for the purpose of oppressing them or controlling in any other manner their destiny by any European power in any other light than as the manifestation of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States.

My Mother.

A shadow dark against the summer sky;
A murmuring of angels up above;
The sound of wings, as little birds that fly
Away from earth. In spite of all the love
You bore us, still you could no longer stay.
The years fly swiftly on, and now we see
The coming of a once so happy day.
It seems as if your presence ought to be Here on the earth—to hear the earth's good will—
Your birthday! Ah, I see you in your place!
Your gentle, loving voice, I hear it still;
And smiles kiss teardrops as I dream your face.
Ah! though your soul has gone to rest above,
The world still knows the sunshine of your love.

—Margaret E. Sangster in Christian Herald.

Some Egotistical.

Philadelphia Telegraph: They were speaking of egotism at a recent social session when Dr. Cary T. Grayson of the United States navy was reminded of an incident that recently happened in a certain New England court.

The lawyer for the defendant in a civil suit had a somewhat difficult witness, and after questioning him for some time without reaching the desired result, he asked him if he was acquainted with the men on the jury.

"Yes, sir," was the prompt rejoinder of the witness, "more than half of them."

"Are you willing to swear," impressively returned the lawyer, "that you know more than half of them?"

"Why, yes," responded the witness. "If it comes to that I am willing to swear more than all of them put together."

Dead Yet Alive.

New York Globe: Dan Daly once essayed the legitimate. It was in his early days. All he had to do was to come to the center of the stage at a critical moment and shout:

"The king is dead; long live the king!"

When the time came Mr. Daly promptly assumed the correct dramatic pose, but for a moment was so agitated that words failed him. Then he bellowed at the top of his voice:

"Long live the king; he's dead!"

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although he went to work when he was only 11 years old, Col. George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal, has never yet had to consult the "Help Wanted" column.

Lately Goethals has been the most sought-after man in the country by those who have big jobs to fill. Whether it's the governorship of Panama, the management of a big city, the New York police commissionership, building the Alaskan railway—no matter what the big job is, the first name that pops into one's head is that of George W. Goethals. The chances are that if the man were suddenly thrown out of employment today he would soon find some task to perform by which he could earn a living. It is altogether unlikely that he would be found hanging around billiard parlors with his feet dangling from one of the high chairs along the side of the wall, after the manner of a great many men temporarily out of employment.

Goethals would have a job, and, moreover, he would not have to ask for it. Some good job would seek out Goethals. It would find Goethals even if his abode were in some vast wilderness or over a livery stable.

Now, it is not surprising that after a man has built a Panama canal and been heralded as one of the greatest men living, he should have little difficulty in obtaining work. The strange thing, however, is that Goethals has gone through his entire life predestined, it appears, to escape the annoyance of having to sit about somebody's outer office, hat in hand, waiting to apply for a job.

To make his life run like that of a story-book hero, one should be able to supply right here a harrowing tale of the difficulties Goethals encountered trying to obtain his first job—how he stood about in the snow in thin-soled viel kid shoes willing to do that which lay nearest him or farthest from him—willing to do anything at all so long as it was honest toil and netted a modest stipend on Saturday evening. And how he received one rude rebuff after another.

But, adhering strictly to the verities, one must emphasize the fact that George Washington Goethals has ever played in luck in the matter of jobs. When he was 11 years of age, unheralded and unsung, without any Panama canal to his credit, he found himself in need of work. Almost immediately a job walked right up and jumped into his lap.

It had leaked out that Goethals desired a job, and an acquaintance of the family sent for him to make him an offer. The position was that of errand boy for a brokerage concern and yielded $3.50 per week.

Goethals held that first "position" for a year or two, until it got too small for him, and then he began to think about looking for something else.

But inasmuch as he was destined never to ask for a job his next place sought him.

The head of a produce market had seen Goethals bustling about the brokerage office and sized him up as a likely young chap. He asked Goethals how he would like to become a bookkeeper.

A day or two after that Goethals was a bookkeeper—at $7 a week. He sat on a high stool and wore sleeveholders.

Imagine a young man destined to accomplish the biggest engineering feat of modern times getting his start on a high stool bending over the books of a produce market!

Goethals kept on being a bookkeeper and had his salary raised from time to time until he was drawing the princely remuneration of $15 a week.

Meanwhile he had set his heart on becoming a doctor. The idea of going about from house to house with a kit of medicines in his hand, looking at people's tongues, taking one's pulse occasionally, snapping shut the lid of his watch—all such things that he had seen doctors do, appealed to him as constituting a profession worth while.

But Goethals' health was not rugged in those days and it was believed that studying medicine would be unwise—for a medical student is obliged to study far into the night, while others sleep, in order to keep pace with the constantly increasing list of newly-invented diseases, and this was true even when Goethals was a boy. So Goethals agreed to postpone becoming a doctor.

Then he was offered an appointment to West Point. He went, but with a view to building up his health while there and studying medicine sooner or later. By the time he had finished his course at West Point, however, he had decided to stay in the army.

"After getting into the army the idea of going to work for a living had lost all appeal," laughs Goethals, who as a matter of fact works like a demon about fourteen hours a day.

Since he has been in the army every job he has had to accomplish has, of course, been assigned to him.

Thus we see that throughout his life, from early boyhood to the present day, Goethals has been spared having to say:

"Please, mister, will you give me a job?"

So, now with big jobs beckoning to him on all sides, naturally he takes the situation just as a matter of course.

Heroes in the "Underworld."

Collier's Weekly: The "underworld!" That world has been bandied about much of late. It is used to hint at poverty, crime, vice, the petrifaction of ambition, the utter extinction of nobility of character, and sodden degradation without a redeeming trait. Some even use it with a covert sneer. But listen to what happened when a ramshackle old lodging house in New York's underworld caught fire:

A crowd of Pork Row human flotsam and jetsam and boys of the neighborhood beat their backs and bunched themselves together to break the force of the jumps made by seven women from the third floor of the burning building. The jump was more than thirty feet, but the women were saved.

Only one needed a surgeon's attention, but some of the men walked away with bruised backs, with heads cut by flying heels and arms strained by the impact. Most of those who made up this human life net said gruffly they had no names when information was sought. Others were willing to say Johnny di Martino, Patsy James, Bogo, Johnny Pasola, Kid Limbino, Chinkie, the Wop, and such like. The addresses were: "Oh, around here."

Which means "Nowhere at all." How many self-satisfied householders who take their comfortable homes as a matter of course, who smugly regard themselves as pillars of the community, could have done better?

The Way to Mt. Olivet.

Mt. Olivet, Ky., Advance: A drummer asked a grouchy Maysville man, who was perhaps too drunk to see our superb auto truck, the way to get to Mt. Olivet.

"Take the T. M. & W.," replied the citizen of the Mason metropolis.

"What's that?" queried the eager knight of the grip.

"Two mules and a wagon," was the laconic answer.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Another Suggestion for the Governor.

Isanti News: Governor Eberhart explains his frequent absence from the state with the plea that he is advertising Minnesota. The governor should accompany the exhibit car sent through neighboring states by the Minnesota immigration department. In the towns where Frank M. Eddy gives the moving picture shows, Governor Eberhart could assist with his song, "'Tis Only You." In addition to advertising the state, the governor would then have an opportunity to see some of the vegetables grown in those localities.

Here's Follow-up for You.

Princeton Union: No mercenary consideration influences the newspaper support that Henry Rines is receiving.—Bob Dunn's Princeton Union.

The same can be said of Jake Preus. Jake is making a good fight for state auditor on his "own hook," and the Union must not suppose or suspicion anything else. —Heron Lake News.

The Union has positive information that several men were approached and urged to enter the field against Mr. Rines, and that one man in particular was guaranteed all expenses if he would file for state auditor. Has not the Union reason to "suppose or suspicion" that some parties are intensely interested in defeating Mr. Rines and will use money freely to bring about that result?

A Game That Will Go Farther.

Austin Transcript: The state of Minnesota has been carrying its own fire and tornado insurance on state property and on Jan. 1 had over $9,000,000 risks. On this annual premiums were paid to the old line companies of $125,000. We note that the losses during the past five months have amounted to $174.25 with office expenses of about $1,200, leaving a substantial saving thus far. It is good business policy.

The Father of Economy.

Aurora News: After being turned down by the state legislature, Governor Eberhart has found a way to send a few of the faithful on a pleasure jaunt to Norway in spite of that body. Through his immigration board he has been able to raise the money for the purpose. And this is the father of economy in this great state.

A Solid Fact.

St. Peter Herald: How long will it take for newspaper publishers to learn the folly of offering premiums as an inducement to subscribers? Every newspaper ought to stand on its own merit, and the offer of a premium is an admission it is lacking in value.

Good May Come Out of Nazareth.

Breckenridge Telegram: The secretary of the efficiency commission intimates that some people refuse to see any possibility of good coming from the commission because it was appointed by the governor. So far as we are concerned, we know that Ed Smith's governor will do some good things while in office. It's necessary in Mr. Smith's plan of fooling the most of the people most of the time.

Keeping the Lights Lit.

The Popular Magazine: Among the unsung heroes of this country are the members of the lighthouse service—which is entirely distinct from the life-saving service. The entire lighthouse corps, designed to warn ships of danger points, covers 100,000 miles of coast line, and reaches from Alaska to Panama—the maintenance of it costing approximately $6,000,000 a year. It has about 13,000 "aids to navigation," including lighthouses, lightships, bell buoys, tenders, submarine signals and fog signals.

A lightship must keep always in one particular place. Anchored to the bottom of the sea, she has her steam always up, but she never sails unless relieved by another ship so that she may put into port for repairs. And such a boat is used because a warning must be given at a place where it is impossible to build a lighthouse, and where even the clamor of a gigantic bell buoy is not sufficient to warn the navigator. No matter how fiercely the storm beats or how desperate may be the boat's plight, she must stay at her moorings. The only movement she is allowed to make under the regulations is to sink when at last she can withstand the gale no longer.

Throughout the service, both in the lighthouse and on the vessels, there is one object, one dominating creed: To keep the light burning and the whistle blowing. This is the supreme work of the men's existence. And it would bring them deserved recognition if the government ever published a list of those who have lost their lives in the line of such perilous duty.

For about $6,000,000 a year these men and their craft save from disaster the billions of dollars' worth of shipping and commerce that come to American shores.

Sudden Light.

I have been here before,
But when or how I cannot tell;
I know the grass beyond the door,
The sweet keen smell.
The sighing sound, the lights around the shore.

You have been mine before—
How long ago I may not know;
But just when at that swallow's soar
Your neck turned so.
Some veil did fall—I knew it all of yore.

Has this been thus before?
And shall not thus time's eddying flight
Still with our lives our love restore
In death's despite,
And day and night yield one delight once more?

—Dante Gabriel Rossetti.

The Poetic Grind.

Philadelphia Telegraph: The conversation turned to poets and the poetic grind the other night when Congressman Joseph Howell was reminded of an instance that happened in an editorial sanctum.

One afternoon a rather emaciated citizen entered the sanctum with a sheaf of paper in his hand and timidly approached the editor's desk.

"Pardon me, sir," he said, breaking in on the editorial busyness, "do you ever buy any poetry?"

"Sometimes," answered the editor, holding out his hand. "Depends on how bad it is. Let's see what you have."

Taking the manuscript the editor glanced over it a moment and then turned to the poet.

"Look here, young man," he said, a little impatiently, "why in the world don't you typewrite your stuff?"

"Typewrite it!" exclaimed the poet, with considerable feeeling. "Say, man, if I were expert enough to manipulate a typewriter do you think for one minute that I would waste time writing poetry?"

The Whitney Opera company, headed by Miss Marie Tempest, will appear at the Lyceum theater on March 26 and 27, presenting "The Fencing Master."

Elmer Bishop is visiting his father, D. L. Bishop, at Fond du Lac, after an absence of three years.

Edward Glass has returned to Duluth from a visit to the Midwinter fair at San Francisco.

Walter J. Johnson will be married next week at the home of his sister, Mrs. W. B. Welles, to Miss Effie Watkins of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Miss Isabel Deming will resign her position in the public schools after Easter and return to her home in Michigan City, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bulock have left for the West. Mr. Bulock goes to Los Angeles, Cal., while his wife's destination is Baker City, Or.

S. K. Sturgeon and family of West Duluth left yesterday for their old home in Ohio.

C. W. Turner of the A. Booth company last evening closed the purchase of the steamer Barker from the Smith-Fee company and will run her on the South Shore route.

Mark W. Baker, who has been a leading tenor in Rev. Thomas K. Beecher's church in Elmira, N. Y., will locate in Duluth on July 1, having been engaged to take charge of the music in the First M. E. church.

The rush to Rainy Lake continues increasing each day, and there is no sign of abatement. Yesterday the Iron Range train carried forty people bound for the new country, and on the same day there were, at one time, nine men, every one from a different state, in W. C. Sherwood's office looking after the purchase of lots.

L. E. Chipman, who has had typhoid fever for the past three weeks, is much improved.

A green flag with a seven-stringed golden harp without a crown, otherwise known as the flag of Ireland, was raised at sunrise yesterday on a line between the staffs on which the state and municipal flags fly on the city hall building at New York. The parade of the forty-seven divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, under the direction of Grand Marshal Patrick Costello, was the largest seen in years. The day was observed in Duluth with a concert at the Temple, with addresses by Judge W. L. Kelly of St. Paul and Thomas E. Lyons of West Superior.

Polite Paderewski.

Baltimore Sun: On one occasion, just before one of his recitals, Paderewski was stopped in the entrance hall by an excited lady.

"Oh, M. Paderewski," she exclaimed, "I am so glad to see you! I want so much to hear you play, but they tell me there isn't a seat left. Now, do try to find me a seat somewhere. I'm sure they'll let me in if you ask them to. Please!"

Paderewski bowed very gravely. "Madam," he said, "I shall be delighted to help you. There is one seat in the hall at my disposal and you can take it if you care to."

"Oh, that's too sweet of you!" the lady gushed. "I'll take it with pleasure. Where is it?"

"At the piano!" replied Paderewski.

Neighborly.

Everybody's Magazine: A South Dakota state senator recently gave a new illustration of that fine saying of an ancient philosopher, "Man was born for mutual assistance."

A customer entered the small town barber shop.

"How soon can you cut my hair?" he asked of the proprietor, who was seated in an easy chair, perusing the pages of a dime novel.

"Bill," said the barber, addressing his errand-boy, "run over and tell the editor that I'd like my scissors, if he's got done editin' the paper. Gentleman waitin' for a hair-cut.

LINES TO "A GENIUS."

To the Editor of The Herald:
The following lines are cheerfully dedicated to "A Genius":

Oh! B. N. D. (If this you see
When next your eyes do scan
The column called the "Open Court"),
Believe me, you've some plan.

Oh! B. N. D., 'twixt you and me
(I wish to make it strong),
'Tis wondrous such a simple thing
Could be o'erlooked so long.

Awake! Arise! to Warren go,
Your plan to him explain.
He will absorb it ere its flow
Has ceased to cause him pain.

No doubt upon it he will act
With "neatness and dispatch."
While you will have, in very fact,
The city in your "catch."

Lakeside and Woodland, Hunter's Park
And possibly (?) East end
Will rise to praise you (light or dark),
And greet you as their friend.

Then should you enter politics
(The plot begins to thicken),
With such a vote behind you
You'd likely beat out H——n.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

To the Editor of The Herald:
Please answer the following questions in your Open Court column.

How many electoral votes has the United States, and how many has Minnesota?

How many congressmen are there in the state of Minnesota?

C. J. HANSON.

Buhl, Minn., March 16.

There are 531 electoral votes. Minnesota has twelve electoral votes. Minnesota has ten representatives and two senators in congress.—The Editor.

NORTH SHORE BOULEVARD.

To the Editor of The Herald:
About one year ago the Duluth papers published an article about a gift to the city of Duluth for the construction of a boulevard between Duluth and Two Harbors. Was the article to help land speculators, or is it so?

An answer through the columns of your paper will be appreciated. Yours truly,
A. AUSTIN.

Knife River, Minn., March 16.

The article was not published "to help land speculators," and it was true. Preliminary work is now being done on the project.—The Editor.

PURE WATER.

To the Editor of The Herald:
James A. Tawney reported in your issue last week that the lakes are being polluted. If Lake Superior water is not safe to drink, why not get the good drinking water from the head waters of the Brule river? There it boils right from the ground, the purest all the time.

Thanking you for your space in the Open Court, yours,

WILD FOWL FLY NORTH

Is Omen of Early Spring Work on Farm, Says Dakota Man.

Farmers Get Ready for Seeding; Fields in Fine Condition.

Wild geese have already begun their flight northward indicating an early spring, said H. W. Gordon of Fargo, N. D., who was at the Spalding hotel today. Farmers are heeding the call given by these winged prophets and are getting their farm machinery ready for use and are cleaning up their seed grain.

"On my way to Duluth," said Mr. Gordon, "I noticed several large flocks of water fowl flying northward. This is a little early for geese and ducks to leave their winter quarters, and it indicates an early spring.

"I notice the fields in Minnesota and the Dakotas are in fine condition. The open weather during the early part of the winter gave the farmers a lot of time to husk their corn, haul their fodder and clear up the ground. Most of the fields were plowed in the fall and early winter, too, which will put the land in excellent condition for a good crop.

"Corn and fodder crops are going to have a greatly increased acreage this year although they have been on the increase for several years. The outlook all over the Northwest, from all I have seen and heard, is the best in years for bountiful crops."

WILL TALK AT Y. M. C. A. ON SALESMANSHIP

HARRY A. EARNSHAW.

This evening Harry A. Earnshaw will give a special lecture at the Y. M. C. A. before the class in salesmanship.

The educational department managers at the Y. M. C. A. feel particularly pleased over obtaining Mr. Earnshaw's services for this evening. He is probably one of the best known of the younger element among business men in Duluth and is chiefly known for his editorship of Ginger, the publication which he is making famous all over the Northwest. That is only a sideline, for he is manager of one of the departments of the Stone-Ordean-Wells company, the annual business of which runs into big figures.

It is expected that this evening not only will there be a full attendance of the class but that outsiders will also attend to hear the lecture.

MRS. GOELET GETS DIVORCE

Cruelty That Impaired Her Health Is the Ground.

Former Noted Beauty Gets Settlement From Her Husband.

Newport, R. I., March 18.—Mrs. Elsie Whalen Goelet, prominent in society circles of New York and this city, is granted a divorce from Robert Goelet on the ground of extreme cruelty. By mutual agreement, the terms of which were not made public, both are to have custody of their older son, Ogden, aged 6. The mother is to keep Peter, aged 2 years, their only other child, until he is 6 years old, when she is to share the custody of the child with the father.

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Goelet was in court, and the suit was uncontested. All the testimony was by depositions, which were read in tones so low as to be barely audible.

Justice Brown, in announcing his decision, said:

"The testimony shows the continuous use of insulting, vulgar and abusive language by Goelet toward his wife, accompanied by numerous petty acts to annoy and embarrass her, and accomplishing this result, the effect has been, according to the testimony, the serious impairment of her health. The conditions fully warrant granting this divorce."

Noted for Her Beauty.

Elsie Whalen, the second daughter of Henry Whalen of a well-known Philadelphia family, became socially notable in the Newport season of 1905, when, as a debutante, she attracted much attention by her beauty. Goelet is an only son of Mrs. Ogden Goelet.

ELSIE WHALEN GOELET.

They were married at Wayne, Pa., on June 14, 1906. Miss Alice Roosevelt was one of the bridesmaids and Mrs. Craig Biddle, a sister of the bride, matron of honor.

Mrs. Goelet has spent nearly every summer at Newport, and it was there that the two sons were born. Rumors of an estrangement were current during the latter part of the season of 1913, and on Jan. 31 of this year she filed a suit for divorce.

Robert Goelet was born in 1870. His father, Ogden Goelet, was considered one of the richest men in New York and was an ardent yachtsman. Robert Goelet was graduated from Harvard in 1900 and has been active in Newport society. His sister, Miss May Goelet, married the duke of Roxburgh.

NO DANGER OF BIG FLOODS THIS YEAR.

Washington, March 18.—General absence of rain and the unusually high temperatures prevailing during the last week have eliminated danger of high waters and floods from melting snow, according to the weather bureau.

A special bulletin says the snow covering all over the country has disappeared except in the more level districts, and ice has broken up and gone out of the principal rivers, with a few exceptions, without causing any marked rises in the streams.

The outlook for fair weather is good. The report says that after today the temperature will be favorable to a gradual thawing of the remaining snow and ice.

ARRESTED DURING FUNERAL PRAYER.

Montreal, March 18.—The funeral of a little girl was interrupted by a fight incident to the arrest, in the Church of St. Vincent de Paul, of a man charged with murder.

As Joseph Beauchamp knelt during prayer, a constable touched him on the shoulder and told him he was under arrest on a charge of being one of three bandits who recently killed Constable Bourdon at St. Laurence. Beauchamp tried to draw a pistol, but the constable was too quick for him and soon overpowered him and took him to jail.

"SUFFRAGE IS UP TO STATES"

Senator Borah Declares Constitution Will Not Be Amended.

Defends Principle, But Tells Women Tactics Are Wrong.

Washington, March 18.—After a vigorous defense of woman suffrage in the senate, Senator Borah of Idaho shocked suffrage advocates on the floor and in the galleries yesterday by declaring that it was impractical and impossible to obtain the vote for women by a constitutional amendment.

He predicted that after fifteen years of vain endeavor, the women would renew their abandoned request for the ballot before the people of the states, because in seeking an amendment to the Federal Constitution they had loaded themselves down with the negro question, the Japanese question and a dozen other states' rights problems.

"You will never carry the required thirty-six states for a constitutional woman suffrage amendment" said the senator, "until you repeal the Fifteenth amendment."

"Fifteenth Amendment Dead."

Asserting that the Fifteenth amendment, giving the negro the right to vote, was a blunder in the first place, and now was a dead letter, not being enforced in a single state of the Union, Senator Borah asked whether the advocates of the woman suffrage amendment now pending, for a moment supposed the states of the South would add 2,000,000 to the list of those whom they must disfranchise.

"Violation of law is a bad thing," he added. "It is demoralizing to the negro race to place in the Constitution the form of rights that we do not mean to see they shall enjoy."

The Fifteenth amendment, he declared, was a blunder, engendered in a spirit of retaliation, with the result that after the first blush of dissatisfaction, the North had connived at the South's violations of it. The amendment infringed on states' rights and might furnish a precedent for an amendment declaring that the right to hold real estate or attend school should not be denied because of race or color.

"I have no desire" explained the senator, "to bestow the franchise on the 10,000 Japanese on the Pacific slope, or yield up to the Federal government the control of the school question of the Pacific coast."

Clashed With Vardaman.

Answering a question by Senator Thomas, Senator Borah said he was in favor of repealing the Fifteenth amendment if woman suffrage could be obtained in no other way. The Idaho senator and Senator Vardaman of Mississippi engaged in an exchange over the progress of the negro race.

Senators Lane, Thomas and Poindexter spoke in favor of the amendment during the day.

$28,000 A YEAR TO JOLLY CUSTOMERS.

Chicago, March 18.—Entertainment of customers and prospective buyers cost the art firm of Moulton & Ricketts about $28,000 a year, according to the testimony of Charles Abbott Ricketts, bookkeeper of the firm and brother of Robb R. Ricketts, a member of the firm. Ricketts testified before the referee in bankruptcy that it was impossible to tell much about the affairs of the company from the records of the books he kept.

Ricketts said he guessed the company did $1,000,000 worth of business last year, but said the profits were very small.

"I would say at a guess the liabilities of the company were about $850,000," he said. "My brother paid enormous amounts of interest on the money he borrowed. He sacrificed valuable property. I tried to talk to him about it, but he was too busy raising money. A year ago the assets of the firm were $250,000 less than the liabilities. That's roughly guessing."

In addition to the entertainment account, Ricketts said between $60,000 and $70,000 a year was given in bonuses, rewards and discounts. The loss from selling pictures at less than cost price made necessary because of frequent loans, was $300,000.

The witness said a normal profit on the amount of business done would have been $100,000.

PEOPLE DENOUNCE LEGUIA IN PERU.

Lima, Peru, March 18.—Twenty people were seriously wounded in the streets of Lima during a demonstration in front of the residence of Robert H. Leguia, first vice president of the republic, who returned here on March 16 to succeed the exiled President Billinghurst.

The people shouted denunciations of Leguia and several shots were fired. The mounted police thereupon charged and dispersed the crowd, wounding a considerable number.

Double guards of police were set on duty throughout the city and Vice President Leguia's residence was placed under strong protection. There were no further disturbances.

SAYS I. W. W. WANTS NO REVOLUTION.

Chicago, March 18.—Vincent St. John, general secretary of the Industrial Workers of the World, scouted the possibility of any army of unemployed conducting a revolution against the government. The Industrial Workers of the World would take no part in any such proceeding as that related by Adjt.-Gen. Forbes of the California National Guard, he said:

"What would the other fellows be doing while this army of half a million was painfully assembling in Chicago?" asked St. John. "The Industrial Workers of the World are seeking control of the industries, but we are not seeking control of the government."

Killed Wrong Man.

San Bernardino, Cal., March 18.—George Mattern, assistant cashier of a Los Angeles bank, was shot and killed Monday night at Amboy, a mining settlement in the desert, 155 miles from here. William Heath, formerly a mine owner, has been arrested.

According to friends of Heath he was being sought by another miner who had threatened to kill him on sight. Mattern, who was visiting friends at Amboy, was mistaken by Heath for his foe.

DECIDE TO USE CONCRETE

Property Owners Choose Material for Paving Vernon Street.

Work on Improvement Will Begin at Earliest Possible Time.

Concrete was decided on as being the most durable material and the least expensive to the property owners, at the meeting of the property owners of Vernon street held last night at the Bryant school to decide on what material should be used in paving of that thoroughfare this summer.

A committee of three owners was appointed to confer with Commissioner Murchison this afternoon in order to ascertain how early the city could start making the improvement. The members of the committee are: L. A. Skafte, 7 Vernon street; John Olson, 16 Vernon street, and A. P. Carroll, 216 Vernon street.

Nearly 75 per cent of the property owners were present at the meeting. Following a discussion which lasted nearly an hour the owners of property unanimously decided that the concrete would be the best material that they could use on the street. They were divided as to whether they wanted the street twenty-five feet wide or thirty-three feet wide, slightly more than majority being in favor of the narrower street.

All were in favor of concrete curbing and the boulevarding of a strip between the curbing and the sidewalk. It was unanimously decided that the improvement should start at the earliest possible moment. The street will have to be graded and two small fills, one between Winnipeg and Third streets and the other just west of Third streets and the other just west of Third street, will have to be made.

The street will be paved from the intersection of Grand Forks avenue, which occurs about half way between First and Second streets at a point just west of Thirtieth avenue, to Pacific avenue, four blocks west of Third street. The property owners intimated that the wish of the majority would be to pay one-fourth of the assessment this year and have the privilege of paying the remainder in three years according to provisions made by the present city charter.

Miss Katherine King, principal of the Bryant school, acted as secretary for the meeting last night.

WOULD HAVE CITY PLANT TREES

Petitions Request Park Board to Improve Two Streets.

Petitions requesting the park board to plant trees in a uniform manner on Twenty-third avenue west, between First and Tenth streets, will be filed this week with the city commission. The petition has been signed by practically every resident property owner and a number of out-of-town owners.

"We are not specifying any particular kind of trees as far as my knowledge of the petition goes," said Dr. J. W. Ekblad this morning. "That should be left to the discretion of the park board. Whatever the cost of the improvement, according to the petition, it would be assessed against the property.

"The scheme of letting the city do the work is far better than allowing each owner of a lot select his particular tree and plant it according to his notion. That would result in no uniform design."

A similar petition is being signed by residents of Piedmont avenue, between Twenty-third and Tenth street to Fourteenth street, where it intersects with the Rogers boulevard.

SHOW BAKING PROCESS.

Zinsmaster-Smith Bread Company Entertains 600 Housewives.

The management of the Zinsmaster-Smith Bread company, Twenty-ninth avenue west and Superior street, entertained last night at a practical demonstration of bread-making for more than 600 housewives from the eastern end of the city. Every step of the process used in making bread was demonstrated to the visitors.

During the demonstration an orchestra played several selections. Samples of the product were distributed to the guests and light refreshments were served.

The demonstration last night was the last of a series of six similar affairs for the housewives of the city. Women from every part of the city have, on these various occasions, been taken through the plant and explained every process by Harry Zinsmaster and R. F. Smith, managers of the bakery.

500 CHILDREN ENTER GARDEN CONTEST.

Reports of the garden committee, "White way" committee and streets improvement committee will feature the meeting of the West End Commercial club at the Simonson hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street, tomorrow evening. Each of the committees has been active during the last two weeks and the reports are expected to be interesting.

It is said that so far, approximately 500 children attending the Bryant, Monroe, Adams, English and Lincoln schools have already given in their names as contenders for the prizes offered by the club, and that as soon as the frost is out of the ground at least that number of children will be busily engaged in turning over the "sod" and preparing the ground for gardens.

The committee in charge of getting the new system of lighting for Superior street between Eighteenth and Twenty-second avenues is said to have been successful in securing the remainder of the signatures required to install the "white way." Action will be taken by the club to have this work begin immediately.

CLUB WILL OFFER TWO PLAYLETS

The Delta Gamma Dramatic club will entertain at its annual dramatic production this evening at the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The two plays to be given by the club, "A Lark at Nonotuck Hall," and "Samantha Allen, and Her Neighbors," have been rehearsed during the last winter under the direction of Mrs. Milton Fish and last night the final

Mrs. Fish will take the leading part in the latter play taking the character of Samantha Allen. In the former play Miss Clara Goodhand will have the leading part. The other members of the club taking important parts in the play are: Mrs. Mae Baillie, Mrs. George Jewell, Mrs. Irma Hutchinson, Mrs. E. Ward Anderson, Miss Ruth Glover, Miss Minnie Milne, Miss Maud Leonard and Mrs. Auxier. The women will be assisted by George Jewell and Fred G. Hanson, who will take parts in the latter play.

CITY OFFERS TO REPLACE PAVING

Commission Urges Property Owners to Pay Assessment.

By a resolution adopted at a meeting of the city commission yesterday afternoon, the city will pay for the repairing or replacing of the pavement on Twenty-seventh avenue west if the property owners will pay the present assessment levied against the property. Mayor Prince, Commissioners Murchison and Voss were present at the meeting, Commissioners Hicken and Merritt both being out of the city. It was further stipulated in the resolution that additional improvements will not cost the property owners anything beyond that determined by the assessment.

The meeting was attended by a large delegation of property owners who had gone to the meeting for the purpose of ascertaining the attitude of the commission on the subject. The commission refused to accept the work as completed from George R. King, the contractor, on the ground that it was not up to specifications, although Mr. King offered a guarantee bond, which was refused.

A meeting of the Twenty-seventh avenue property owners will probably be held before the end of this week to determine as to whether they should still refuse to pay the assessment, despite the resolution adopted, or accept the offer made by the commission. The advice of their attorney will be secured before they decide.

FOR MISS CULKIN.

Women's Social Center Club Gives Surprise Party.

The Junior Women's club of the Bryant social center last night entertained at a banquet in compliment to Miss Marguerite Culkin, city social center director. The affair was in the nature of a surprise party for Miss Culkin. A short program was given by the young women of the club.

The rooms were tastily decorated in green, yellow and white. Daffodils were also used in the decorations. There were thirty-five guests at the luncheon.

Give French Play.

The French Naturalization club will meet Friday evening at the French hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. A French comedy play in three acts, which will be put on by the members will feature the entertainment for the evening. Z. Deslaurles is in charge of the arrangements for the play.

PUTTING NEW GIRDER IN BRIDGE OVER BAY.

A girder 36 feet long and weighing 18 tons is being placed in the draw of the St. Louis bay bridge this week. The girder is being inserted to take the place of one which was taken out Monday on account of damage caused to it on June 2, last year, when the steamer Minnetonka ran her nose into it and slightly bent it.

Only an hour and a half was required to take the big diagonal girder from its position. The new welding process was used in cutting the girder loose. It is expected to have the new girder in place before the end of this week.

Will Hold Rehearsal.

Members of the Allen Bible class of the Grace Methodist church, who are taking part in the play "At the Union Depot" will meet in the clubrooms of the church Friday evening for rehearsal of the play. It had been intended to produce the play next Friday evening but this has been postponed until April 17.

FEW BULL MOOSERS ATTEND CONFERENCE

South Dakotans Hear Pinchot Speak But Do Not Select Ticket.

Huron, S. D., March 18.—Before leaving today, Progressive leaders announced that no definite plan for the future of the party in South Dakota had been decided upon at yesterday's conference here, because of the small attendance. They intimated, however, that a temporary state committee would be appointed soon, and that this committee would issue the call for the convention at which a permanent committee would be selected and a full state ticket placed in the field.

Pinchot Boosts Teddy.

"Theodore Roosevelt is the first leader in the cause of the people today," declared Gifford Pinchot in his address. "There will be no compromise with the Republican party in the coming or any other elections," he said.

"Either you stood with us before, because you believed in Roosevelt and the principles for which he fought, or you got in under the shadow of his name, merely because you thought it would help the Republican ticket," continued the speaker. "If the last was true, you do not belong to us, and we will not lift a finger to detain you."

VILLAGE MARSHAL GIVEN TOUGH DEAL

Wishek, N. D., Officer Is Robbed of Star, Beaten and Locked in Jail.

Wishek, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Village Marshal Link was beaten and, adding insult to injury, his assailants took away his star and keys, then carried him to the city jail, placed him inside and locked him up. An invectigation is being made.

Feared "Knockout Drops."

He claims that he was attacked by five men, who had invited him to have a drink, which he thinks contained "knockout" drops. After some hours the men released Link from the jail and returned his keys. He said he had called at a certain place in town, found the men there and they asked him to drink with them. His recollection of the affair seems to be hazy. He was brutally battered up.

WILL COMMEMORATE GEN. SULLY'S FIGHT

Fortieth Anniversary of Great Indian Battle to Be Celebrated.

Manning, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fifteenth anniversary of the battle of Gen. Sully's troops with the Indians on what is now the Diamond C ranch in Dunn county, will be properly celebrated July 28 next. The battlefield is near Oakdale, and the residents of that part of the county are greatly interested in the celebration. They are being assisted by Curator Fish of the State Historical society and a tentative program will soon be announced. The battle was fought between Sully's troops and the Indians on the Killdeer mountains, July 28, 1864. Two soldiers were killed, George Northrup of Company C, and H. D. Austin of Company D, Brackett's battalion of cavalry. Northrup was also the correspondent for the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

FARM LIFE POPULAR.

Many City People Taking to It, Says Illinois College Professor.

Fargo, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is an increasing interest of city people in rural life, residents of cities are becoming actual farmers, students of agricultural colleges are taking agricultural college courses on their way to farms. A new kind of farmers is being developed and the soil will be cultivated, the farm managed and the crops gathered differently than in the past, according to Dean Davenport of the College of Agriculture of the University of Illinois, who was the chief speaker at the graduation exercises of the short term students in the power machinery, animal husbandry and home making courses, at the North Dakota Agriculturay college.

Following the graduation a one-act comedy, "Cherry Tree Farm," was presented.

CAMPS BREAKING UP.

Extensive Sawyer County, Wis., Logging Operations About Over.

Couderay, Wis., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The next few days will see the closing of nearly all the logging camps in the southern part of Sawyer county, and soon most of the 5,000 men employed in the woods will have departed for other fields. The shutting down comes ten days earlier than last year.

The logging season has been fairly successful, although the late start, due to the extreme mild weather during the early part of the winter, delayed work seriously, but the last six weeks were ideal for logging and the work was rushed, some of the loggers working night and day. Very few logs are left in the woods.

The cut will be close to 80,000,000 feet in this county, nearly up to the usual amount logged, 60 per cent of the timber being hemlock, balance hardwood and pine.

The Dells Lumber company, the Kaiser Lumber company and the Edward Hines Lumber company expect to continue summer logging.

STATE TREASURER TO SUPPORT HANNA.

Bismarck, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Treasurer Gunder Olson will support Governor L. B. Hanna for re-election, making his position clear in an open letter to the governor, which is directly in response to recent newspaper reports that Mr. Olson would support U. L. Burdick for the honors.

Mr. Olson, while engaged in business dealings with Burdick, gives his support to Governor Hanna, declaring his wish to see certain movements launched by the governor.

PUBLISHERS' TRIAL DATE NOT CERTAIN.

Bismarck, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Federal authorities are still undecided on the question of when the third trial of Sam Clark and G. H. Crockard, the local publishers, will take place.

The death of Judge Willard of Minneapolis, who presided in both previous trials, necessitates the calling of a new judge.

TRACT OF SCHOOL LAND BRINGS $248 AN ACRE

What is believed to be a record price for St. Louis county acreage was established today at the state land sale when George D. Swift, of this city, purchased a 40-acre tract adjoining the city of Eveleth for $248 an acre. The parcel is described as the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 36, 58-18.

Mr. Swift also purchased the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of the same section for $201 an acre the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter, same, for $157; the northeast quarter, same, for $154, and the southeast of the northwest quarter, same, for $110.

Approximately $80,000 worth of state land was disposed of at the sale which was brought to a close shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. Seventy-seven descriptions, mostly forties, were sold at an average price of $25 an acre, the prices ranging from $5 to $248.

The county treasurer received in cash $16,069, which includes 15 per cent of the principal and back interest for a year and two months in some cases.

Sixty bidders were present at the sale and the bidding was spirited from the start. Very few descriptions were disposed of at the appraised value, $5 an acre.

The parcel for which Mr. Swift paid $248 an acre was sold for $9,920. The back interest charge was $404.72. Mr. Swift paid in $1,892.74, making the unpaid balance $8,432. All purchasers of state land have forty years in which to pay the balance, at 4 per cent.

Theodore Nelson, manager of the state land department, conducted the sale.

TALK OF PLAN OF WATERWAY

New York-Duluth-New Orleans Project Discussed at Mill City.

Eberhart Will Call Conference If Barnes Reports Favorably.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another step in the movement for a deep waterway from New York by way of the Great Lakes and Duluth to New Orleans, and the systematic improvement and conservation in connection therewith of the waterways and water powers of Minnesota, was taken at a conference of the Commercial club this afternoon.

Governor Eberhart introduced M. G. Barnes, engineer of the New York state barge canal project and consulting engineer for the United States government on waterways, whom he has employed to look over the situation and prepare a preliminary report.

If this report should be favorable, the governor will call a meeting of governors of the state along the Mississippi river and its tributaries, and of the Northwestern states and others who might be interested, to discuss the plan.

The project contemplates the deepening and the widening of the Erie canal in New York, which that state is about to undertake; the construction of a canal connecting the Mississippi river and Lake Superior, and the improvements of the river and its tributary streams in order to get the fullest benefit of a continuous ship route from New York to San Francisco.

Those who attended the conference today at which the governor outlined his ideas, were representatives of the St. Paul Association of Commerce, Minneapolis Civic & Commerce association, Duluth Commercial club, and prominent shippers and traffic men.

Mr. Barnes also attended, and said he believes the project is feasible.

"The entire country," said the governor, "has felt the quickening influence of the building of the Panama canal. The possibilities for development and conservation are so great that we would be remiss in our duty should we not take occasion to consider the situation and discuss its possibilities."

For Minnesota Waterways.

The governor also advocated the improvement of Minnesota waterways. It is said it is possible to make the upper Mississippi river navigable, also the Minnesota and the St. Croix rivers.

He pointed out the benefits St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and the whole state would derive from cheaper freight rates through the proposed water route, and suggested that in addition to improvements for navigation purposes, the question of land drainage and protection from floods should be considered. He said that at least 500,000-horse power in Minnesota lie idle.

IT'S A CITY OF SUSPICION

Consequently, Chivalry Is Dead on the Streets of New York.

Vance Thompson in the New York Sun:

"Eat."

Written in canary-colored lights this word flares out at you as you walk the evening streets of new York. There is something about it so blunt and rude and violent that it would sicken the epigastric nerves of a coal heaver.

What is noteworthy is the curious fact that the New Yorker thinks it is all right. It does not annoy him in the slightest degree. Unhesitatingly he obeys the insolent command; he goes into a restaurant—which looks like a beautifully appointed bathroom, with all the latest plumbing—and eats.

In Awe of Brass Buttons.

When he comes out he sees another huge sign: "Smoke!" gleaming over ten feet of housefront. He may not want to smoke, but he goes in and buys a cigar (if it isn't a box of cigarettes) and comes out smoking. He gets on the platform of a street car and the conductor tells him to "chuck" that cigar; and he chucks it; he is told to let 'em off, and he let's 'em off.

The New Yorker never remonstrates. In the streets, in the subways, in the theaters, wherever he happens to be, he does what he is told with a docility that is comparable to the dulcitude of a dove.

This upsets all one's preconceived ideas.

The New Yorker never protests. When he is hectored he obeys. Without question, without protest. Gilt buttons and a loud voice are all that are necessary.

The Habit of Obedience.

The other evening a friend led me into one of the best restaurants on Broadway, where he had reserved a table. My friend is a large man, vast and deep and wide. One would think he could have his own way anywhere. A little pallid boy in buttons whispered: "Give me your hat!" and he almost dropped it in his haste to do as he was told. He had the New York habit.

I have said that one is amazed at the violent impoliteness of a New York crowd. That strikes one first. But when the social observer has studied the city more carefully he reaches the conclusion that the greater part of the ill-mannered roughness of the New Yorker is due to his timidity—his curious fear of buttons. New Yorkers are violent exactly as a flock of sheep, dog harried, is violent.

There is no law in New York against ill manners—one may push and jostle and swear and be as impolite as he pleases—but there is an unwritten law against chivalry.

Unwritten Law Against Courtesy.

A few days ago, and it was raining, a woman got out of a street car at Thirty-fourth street and Broadway. She had no umbrella—only a feather in her hat and a veil. A casual man—he was a visitor from out of town—offered to share his umbrella with her. Shrieking, the woman called for the police. The casually polite man was arrested and fined $5, or was it $10? That too could have happened only in New York.

Now it is entirely certain that no New Yorker would have offered to share his umbrella with a strange woman caught in a rainstorm. He might have felt the first chivalrous impulses, but he would have fled from it as though it had been a band of Cossacks. He does not often give his seat to a woman in a street car. He does not make way for a woman to enter a door. He does not apologize when he steps on a woman's garments, crushing under his boots all the fair proprieties of life.

The Terror of "White Slavery."

And the women of New York—it is a grim, unpleasant fact—are on the side of the Cossacks. And the New Yorker's fear is almost justified. Ordinarily politeness to women in New York lays one to open to the absurd but deadly suspicion of being a "white slaver." (Seemingly they are supposed to have the monopoly of good manners.) If one were polite enough to thank a shopgirl for waiting on him she would either laugh haughtily in his face or call for the floorwalker to protect her menaced innocence.

This is scrupulously exact.

When you come to New York—from whatsoever crossroads of the globe you may have come—you expect to find the frank, fair, open politeness which governs the relationship of the sexes in American life. You know the American girl—frank, unafraid, high heeled, reasonable, who has never seen any cause to shudder away from the male half of humanity. She has walked the white road of coeducation with the and friendly freedom. She expects courtesy from men. She has never had anything else.

Brotherly Love is Dead.

It is all different in New York. The relationship between women and men is sullied and sinister. The plays exhibit in public the black and hideous side of life—exposing scenes which concern only the sociologist, the specialist in medicine or the criminologist. The newspapers are found to print dark histories of "poison needles," of "slavers" and shackles. And the heart of the New York woman is curdled with hysterical fear.

Man has ceased to be a casual friendly brother; in every man she sees the Adversary. In the streets, in the subway, in the darkened theater she is never wholly free from this hysterical fear.

And the New Yorker knows it.

SCIENTISTS HUNT GAME OF 500,000 YEARS AGO

Quarry of California "Sportsmen" Is Skeleton of Glacial Mammoths Long Buried in the Earth.

New York Sun: "Science always has recognized sport, good, clean sport, as a necessary adjunct to the higher education," said a naturalist who knows how to cast a fly, "but I fancy few sportsmen appreciate the new scientific sport with big game which is now going on in California. To illustrate, I have enjoyed an elephant hunt and a whale hunt when the game was half a million or more years old, belonging, in fact, to the time just previous to the Glacial Period, and it was just as exciting, in a way, as a hunt today in Africa, and much safer.

"I see you think I am joking, but I am not. The fact is that Southern California has proved one of the most extraordinary fields known for the study of the Pleistocene Period of the world's history.

"At one time I received notice that a gang of laborers at work on a railroad had cut into a lot of bones. When I reached the spot, not ten miles from the Pacific, in the heart of the hills, I found that they had stumbled on to an elephantine tragedy that dated back to the Pleistocene time. The bones had belonged to a specimen of the great imperial mammoth, elephas imperator.

The location of the bones told the entire story of the animal's undoing. The skeleton and huge tusks were found in the center of a sandbank on the side of a little arroyo or dry river and some twenty feet above it. How so gigantic an animal could be trapped here was something of a puzzle, but I soon discovered that the mammoth was in an old quicksand and the explanation was easy.

"Ages ago the arroyo bed was twenty or thirty feet higher and larger. The mammoth had walked into the water to drink and bathe, and it is an easy matter to see the scene. It was hot, and the colossus stood tossing water over himself, not realizing that he was sinking rapidly. When he did attempt to lift one of his legs, he found himself hard and fast, just as a horse was caught on which I was fording a river not far away from that very spot. In point of fact, in the old days, on this river, when Don Yorba of Santa Ana saw his friends off for Los Angeles, he invariably sent some caballeros ahead to drive twenty or thirty horses up and down, in and out and across the river, thus to pack down the quicksand so that their horses could go over in safety.

"The great mammoth did not appreciate the danger, and stood, perhaps, drowsily in the cool water until he sank above the knees; then, alarmed at the mysterious grip, he began to struggle, as you have seen a horse back and strain to lift one leg, which only caused the hind limbs to sink deeper and deeper. Trumpeting and whistling with fear and rage, he endeavored to turn and fell, when death in a short time put an end to his struggles.

"The mammoth was trapped, held and drowned. The sand piled up against his body, covered it up deeper and deeper, and the quicksand became his grave. Years, centuries passed and the arroyo cut down deeper and deeper until by the twentieth century it had left the old quicksand twenty or thirty feet up on the bank to be found by the laborers.

"It is by these finds that mental pictures of the land at this time can be made, and we are confronted with many fascinating problems and questions, not the least of which is, what caused the wiping out of camels, sloths, mammoths, bisons, tigers and many interesting animals of that time.

"This elephant was one of three or more species which roamed the United States. This was the giant of them all, a southern mammoth, rightly termed the imperial elephant of the Pleistocene. If you were to compare it to, say Jumbo, the largest of the African elephants of today, some idea of its size can be had. The height of this quicksand mammoth was about thirteen feet, six inches; two feet, six inches higher than Jumbo. Its tusks were magnificent weapons.

"The mammoths of this geological period were marvels. One was the elephas primigenius, with a thick coating of hair or wool. It stood nine feet, six inches at the shoulder. It ranged the country from Alaska to the latitude of California. Then came the imperator, thirteen feet, six inches at the shoulder. It ranged the forests of California and all the country from Nebraska to the City of Mexico. Its bones have been found on one of the channel islands, showing at that time animals walked out to them. Then there was the Columbian elephant, elephas columbi, which ranged the country from Mexico City north to San Francisco or its latitude.

"It is easy to distinguish them, as the teeth are colossal, and even if the tusks drop in pieces the molars are nearly always preserved. Thus you can recognize the molars of the imperator at once, as the teeth are much larger than those of the others and the enamel plates number generally seventeen and are wide apart, set in cement. The teeth of the Columbian elephant have twenty-one or twenty-two ridges, set much closer, while those of the mammoth have from seventeen to twenty-eight plates closely packed.

"We have been accustomed to consider the mammoth as the wonder of the land animals, but this imperial elephant of California, with its splendid curving tusks sixteen feet long, was its superior, and you can imagine the excitement of finding one and standing where it fell half a million years or so before.

"What did you do when you saw it?" asked the writer.

"I began to hunt for arrow heads on some evidence of man," was the reply, "a point quite as important and interesting as the mammoth hunt. Man lived at the time and long before, I believe, and I hope to prove it in California."

HOGS AND HOGS.

London Tribune: One summer a well known solicitor went with his family to a small seaside resort on the east coast, and boarded with a farmer who was in the habit of taking boarders. The next year he wrote to the farmer, and in his letter said: "There are several small matters that I desire changed should I decide to pass my holidays at your house. We don't like the maid Mary; moreover, we do not think a sty so near the house is sanitary."

The farmer replied: "Mary is went, and we 'aven't 'ad no 'ogs since you went away last August."

Famous for Her Hair

Actress Tells How She Grew It.

Madame Rose, the well-known actress who played on one of the leading vaudeville circuits the past winter and who is especially noted for her long, beautiful hair, in a recent interview in Chicago, made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can promote the growth of their hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe which they can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Apply to the scalp two or three times a week with the finger tips. This is not only the finest hair grower I have ever known, but it prevents the hair from falling out, removes dandruff and scalp humors, darkens streaked, faded gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. The ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost."

FOUR VICTIMS OF BREWERY EXPLOSION

One Cleveland Man Is Dead and Another Is Dying.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 18.—James D. Bowman, 55 years old, chief engineer, was killed; George Kilburn, 40, a fireman, was fatally injured, and Harry Kay, 55, an oiler, and Alfred Colson, assistant engineer, were seriously hurt in an explosion in the Cleveland Brewing company's plant here at noon today.

A compressor head was torn from an engine in the ammonia room. The building was partly wrecked.

NO CONFIRMATION OF TORREON REPORT

Death of Gen. Benavides Is Denied at Juarez.

Juarez, Mex., March 18. — Emphatic denial was made today that Gen. Benavides had been killed in fighting above Torreon. The insurgent leader's father, a resident here, showed a telegram of recent date from his son.

Confirmation of the reported insurgent reverse was not forthcoming this afternoon from any source.

The American government's representative, George C. Carothers, left at noon today on a special train bound for the front. Carothers, who is American consular agent at Torreon, was designated by the department of state to look after the interests of Americans and other foreigners during and after the battle.

HOMELIKE CHURCH.

Ladies' Home Journal: He had been around from church to church trying to find a congenial congregation, and finally he stopped in a little church just as the congregation read with the minister:

"We have left undone those things which we ought to have done, and we have done those things which we ought not to have done."

The man dropped into a pew with a sigh of relief.

"Thank goodness," he said, "I've found my crowd at last."

TO MAKE YOUR HAIR MORE BEAUTIFUL

To give your hair that gloss and luster and wavy silky-softness, use Harmony Hair Beautifier. It takes away the dull dead look of the hair, and makes it bright—turns the stringiness into fluffiness—overcomes the oily odors and leaves a sweet, true-rose fragrance—makes the hair easier to put up neatly and easier to keep in place. It is just exactly what it is named—a hair beautifier, and whether your hair is ugly now or beautiful, it will improve its appearance. You'll be delighted with the results. Simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change the color of hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure, liquid shampoo is most convenient to use, because it gives an instantaneous rich, foaming lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet-smelling cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

WALK AND ROB THE DOCTOR

But Confine Your Exercise to Two-Mile Jaunts, Says Doctor.

Kansas City Star: Did you ever notice from a street car window the kind of men and women you see walking—some from choice and others through necessity? A few shabby, sullen looking men who plainly show by their gait that they are out of work. The man of affairs who, much as he grudges the time required, walks to town. Occasionally you see a healthful looking girl with elastic step walking as if to make a record. You are sure she is not walking because of her physician's orders. She loves the exercise and enjoys the fresh morning air. But of course these pedestrians are very few.

Some put walking on the shelf with many other of the "lost arts." No one ever walks now except the members of the Switzerland club, Boy Scouts and the Women's Hiking band. And they overdo it.

A Once-a-Week Hike Helps.

Dr. R. E. Castelaw, superintendent of the general hospital, believes the body should never be tried after exercise. He says never walk to the point of exhaustion. And never walk more than two miles at one time. The man who goes for a 20-mile walk for fun is not only looked upon as a mild sort of lunatic, but really is one.

Surely the busiest business man has time to walk two miles each day. It would only take thirty minutes and he might never have to have a family physician. Even a walk once a week helps lots. Try it next Sunday.

"Put on an old sweater and walk briskly, but not hurriedly," Doctor Castelaw says. "Stand erect and breath through the nose. Air taken into the body through the mouth goes direct to the lungs while cold. Air taken in through the nose passes through all the nasal organs and is warmed by the time it reaches the lungs. Make the breaths long and deep.

"Oxygen is a deadly poison to some things—chief among which is the tuberculosis and meningitis germs. Breathe deeply and kill them. Walking exercises every muscle in the body, except possibly the muscles of the face. And if a man looks around at the beauties of nature while he is walking he will exercise those. Walk and you'll never have a cold, lung trouble or tuberculosis.

"The people who walk the most live the longest."

LAKES LOSE FINAL GAME

Kelleys Spring Surprise of Season in an Overtime Contest.

Victory Gives Northern Team a Clear Title to Championship.

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Northerns	9	1	.900
Lakes	8	2	.800
Big Duluths	6	4	.600
Kelleys	4	6	.333
Universals	2	8	.200
Bagleys	1	9	.111

St. Patrick's day proved the undoing of the Lake Hardware company's hockey team last evening, when the Kelley Hardware septet upset all the dope and sprang the surprise of the season by defeating their rivals in a hotly contested 10-minute overtime game at the curling rink by the score of 2 to 0. Not a single score was made by either team during the two periods of play, the Kelleys succeeding, however, in making a wonderful spurt when the overtime was ordered, the only two scores of the game coming within a period of three minutes. The defeat of the Lakes gives the pennant to the Northern team.

The game last evening was played as a sequel of the protested game which the Kelleys lost to the Lakes earlier in the season. The former appealed to the committee on protests, consisting of Charles McLennan, Ray Fenton and Joe Linder, and the game of last evening was ordered.

Wearing jerseys of the Irish national color and feeling as jubilant in their glory as does John Redmond over his expected home rule the Kelleys made a pretty picture when they entered the arena last evening. They were the first on the ice and were greeted by a large crowd of followers. The Lakes followed a few minutes later and were also met with a big hand.

Kelleys Start Strong.

Although the Kelleys rushed the play at the outset of the game, they were unable to break through the excellent defense of the Lakes and the game seesawed back and forth during the entire first half, the play ending with a zero mark to the credit of each team.

Early in the second half the Lakes showed a remarkable spurt and started to break through the forward line in an easy manner. It looked as if the battle was over and that the Irishers would have to lose the protested game after all. But the defense was to be met with and they proved worthy of their position. Capt. Olson, Anderson and Berg stopped many a play by working together and after a few minutes succeeded in stopping the advances of their rival hardware players.

So successful were the three men in their defense, that the Lakes were unable to make a score during the fierce onslaught that continued throughout the half. Many a shot did Sponberg, the goal tender, stop, just when it looked as if the Lakes had the game all to themselves and it was only a matter of time when they would pile up the score. Sponberg played a plucky game and with Capt. Olson, ranks as the star of the contest.

Overtime Needed.

With the score a tie at the end of the regular play, a ten-minute overtime was decided upon and the two teams then went in for real battle. On the second face-off in this period Landgren took the puck down to behind the enemy's goal and there passed it to Hefferman, who easily shot the goal. The next and final score of the game was made but a second or two later, when Anderson took the puck on the face-off and carrying it almost down to the goal, passed it to Miller, who whipped it in behind Mahan. The Lakes made an effort to tie the score during the next few minutes of play and the large audience saw the fastest finish to a hockey game that it has seen in some time. The score ended 2 to 0, with the Kelleys in their Irish sweaters on the long end.

Capt. Olson deserves much credit for the victory for the splendid manner in which he led his team. However, no single player should receive the glory, as every member of the team played effectively and worked with his teammates in every rush and defense. It was this combination play that really won the game for the Kelleys and lack of it that lost it to the Lakes. "Benny" Brown was the star of the losing septet.

The teams lined up as follows:

Kelleys—		—Lakes.
Miller	c	Harris
Olson, Landgren	rw	Taylor
Hefferman	lw	Brown
Wagner, Olson	r	Woods
Anderson	cp	Bartlett
Berg	p	Wharton
Sponberg	g	Mahan

Summary: Referee—Clark. Judge of play—Kahler. Timekeepers—Dinham and Oberg. Goal judges—Johnson and Lyman.

This evening the Northerns and Lakes will play an exhibition game.

GARDNER MAY BE CUE CHAMPION

New Yorker Leads in Amateur Contest for Title.

New York, March 18.—By winning yesterday's game from Eugene L. Milburn of Memphis, Tenn., Howard W. Gardner of this city stands well in the lead for this year's amateur billiard championship title, an honor which he has held on three previous occasions. His victory was the fourth successive winning bracket for Gardner in the tournament which began last week at the amateur billiard club, and he is the only one of the seven contestants who has not experienced defeat.

Gardner, always a careful and safe player, was right on his game yesterday and his run of 124 in the tenth inning was a masterpiece of cuework. The century mark had been reached only twice during the competition and Gardner now stands an excellent chance of winning the special prize for the high run of the tournament. This cluster was made up of good all around billiards as was also his unfinished fifty-one with which he completed the necessary 400 points for game in the twenty-ninth inning.

Malburn's efforts netted him only 162 points, his best run being thirty-two in the tenth inning.

Morris D. Brown defeated Charles Heddon of Dowagiac, Mich., 400 to 334 in the evening contest.

TAFT MAY MANAGE CUBS HIMSELF

Cincinnati Capitalist Thinks It Would Be Fun to Boss Athletes.

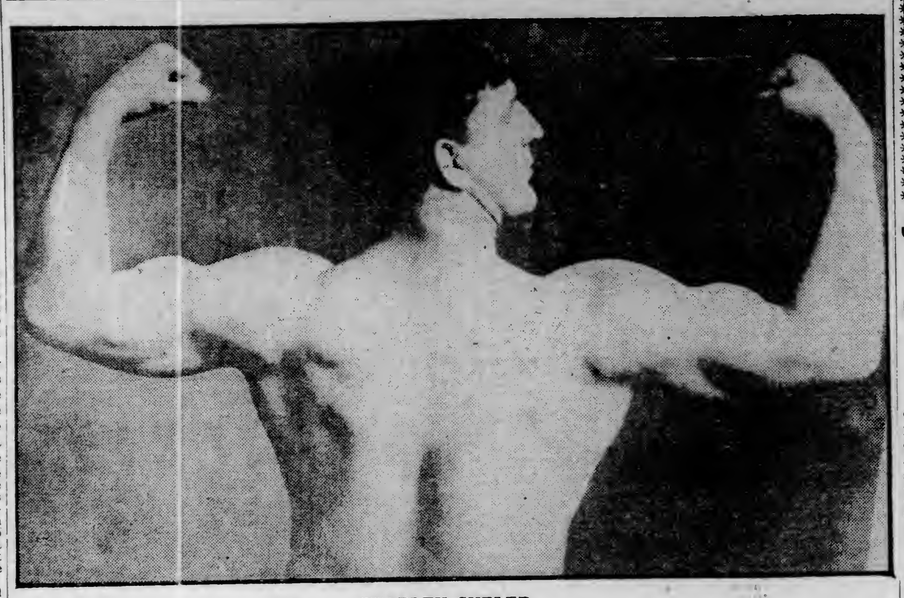
Chicago, March 18.—Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, who recently acquired the controlling interest in the Chicago National league baseball club, announced today that he may succeed Charles W. Murphy as president of the Cubs. He also emphatically declared he had not attempted to dispose of his stock to Chicago syndicates.

"I think the Cubs a good paying proposition and I can see no reason for selling," Mr. Taft was reported as saying. "I have never offered the stock for sale. All talk of such transactions have come from the other side of the fence.

"I sincerely think that I will run the Cubs myself. There must be a lot of pleasure in bossing athletes."

Upon his arrival here last night, Mr. Taft announced he had come to Chicago to reconstruct the club. He spent today looking over the club's ball park and in arranging for improvements to the park and stands which must be made before the opening of the baseball season.

CHARLEY CUTLER REVISITS DULUTH EXPECTS TO GET GOTCH'S TITLE



CHARLEY CUTLER.

Charles Cutler, Chicago's gigantic wrestler and contender for the world's heavyweight title, and his manager, Ed Kane, blew into Duluth this morning from North Dakota, where they have been giving exhibitions, and are spending the day here visiting old friends and getting acquainted.

Mr. Kane's last visit to Duluth was as manager of Willie Hoppe, the billiard wizard, and who was here about four years ago giving exhibitions. Since then Mr. Kane has invaded the managerial end of the wrestling game, and believes that he has picked the best of them all in Cutler.

Cutler, ever a dangerous man, is at the zenith of his career this year. For several years he has been something of a trial horse, so to speak, but that day seems to be past. A few years ago his knee was badly injured in a bout with Henry Ordemann of Minneapolis, and until this year he has been unable to properly train. Not so now, however. His bouts this winter have shown him to be in the best form that he has ever enjoyed.

A short time ago Fristensky, a giant Bohemian, came over here and in some elimination matches in the East made some of the stars look foolish, they were so easy for him. He was touted as a wonder and when he was matched with Cutler everybody expected a dandy old struggle with ultimate victory for the Bo. But Charles ruled otherwise. He made such short work of Fristensky that the sporting public gasped about it for weeks. The European terror was like a child in Cutler's hands. There was nothing to it. Cutler threw him about as fast as he could get up. All of his matches this year show him to "have everything," as the saying is in the mat game, and his form is superb.

Expects Title.

"I expect Frank Gotch will confer the heavyweight title on me before long," said Cutler today. "He told me that if I kept up the gait I have been going at all winter he will, and Frank doesn't break his word. The last time I saw him, Gotch told me that although he was prepared to come back if Fristensky threw me, to defend his title, as he always figures on doing when a foreigner is concerned, he does not believe it necessary now since I am showing the form I have been in. He assured me that if I kept on putting them down the way I have been all season, the title will be mine and that he will quit figuring on coming back."

Confidence, of course, is one of the chief factors in the makeup of a successful wrestler. Cutler has it in plenty. In reply to a remark about the ease with which he handled the Bohemian, he said:

"Yes, it was pretty soft for me, and I will throw Zbyszko just about as easily when we meet."

That's going some, for this man Zbyszko is no puny infant and knows one or two points about the wrestling game, too.

But Cutler's appearance corroborates his statement about his condition. He is in the very pink and his performances thus far this season have been most gratifying to his admirers, of whom there is a host.

JOE RIVERS NO MATCH FOR WELSH

England's Lightweight Champion Defeats Clever Mexican in Decisive Manner—May Meet Ritchie on July 4.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 18.—Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of England, won an easy victory in a twenty-round boxing contest from Joe Rivers of Los Angeles at the Vernon arena yesterday, outpointing him every round. This puts Welsh in line for a fight with Willie Ritchie, the champion, possibly on July 4.

Welsh kept Rivers in the glare of the sun and worried him with his quick punch and lively footwork. In the fifth round, the referee cautioned Rivers about using his elbow on Welsh's body in a clinch.

Welsh forced the fighting all the way and kept Rivers guessing, but the Britisher's blows had little effect on the Mexican lad.

In the thirteenth round, Rivers forced Welsh through the ropes, but failed to land any damaging blows.

New York, March 18.—Johnny Dundee of New York defeated Special Delivery Hirsch of Chicago in a ten-round bout here last night.

GRAIN TRADERS GET COLD FEET

Took in Too Much Territory in Challenging "The World."

The proposed curling contests which were to have been played off at the curling rink last night as a result of the challenge of the Board of Trade rinks to the "world," fell through because of the challenging rinks getting "cold feet."

Six rinks answered the challenge and were at the curling club waiting for the Board of Trade skips to appear. The ice was hard and smooth being in the finest condition seen in weeks, but none of the bold challengers appeared. After waiting for some time the six rinks at the curling club indulged in practice play and went home.

YALE MEN ON PROBATION.

Bottle Night Disturbances Result in Discipline Action.

New Haven, Conn., March 18.—As a result of the "bottle night" disturbances among the Yale freshmen at the dormitories Sunday night, 200 members of the class have been placed on probation for an indefinite time. This means that the athletic teams of the class will be considerably handicapped, because students on probation are not allowed to participate in games.

Two freshmen were arrested for throwing bottles at pedestrians and were fined $25 and costs each in the city court.

WILL TAKE PART IN BIG GOLF EVENTS IN ENGLAND AND FRANCE

FRED HERRESHOFF AND WIFE.

Fred Herreshoff has sailed for England to take part in the big golf events in Great Britain and France. He accompanied Jerome Travers, who has been four times the national amateur golf champion. Herreshoff has been twice the runner-up to Travers.

WINS FOR SECOND CONSECUTIVE YEAR.

Washington, March 18. — The Iowa City high school is declared winner in the state high school rifle contest for the second consecutive year., Portland, Me., won second honors with a score of 978 against Iowa's 979.

Stoneham, Mass., high was the victor in class B competition, completing the series with one loss. In class C the Placer County high of Auburn, Cal., was awarded first honors.

JAY GOULD NEEDS ONLY THREE SETS

British Tennis Champion Covey Believed to Be All in.

Philadelphia, March 18.—When the court tennis match for the open championship of the world was resumed today at the Philadelphia Racquet club, Jay Gould, the American, and British amateur champion, had to win but three more sets from George F. Covey, the world's professional champion, to capture the title. The articles of the match provide that the player winning the first seven sets takes the championship. Gould won the first four sets on Monday in such hollow fashion that few followers of the ancient game believed that Covey can overcome Gould's lead. The American champion was at the top of his game Monday.

While the match is attracting attention on both sides of the Atlantic, less than 200 persons are able to watch the players, seats being provided for only 162 spectators.

FINAL EVENTS NEXT.

Judges' Blunder Puts Extra Man on List in Roller Contest.

Detroit, Mich., March 18.—Because the judges at the world's roller skating championship race last night made a mistake and stopped the semi-final heat at the end of the thirteenth lap instead of letting the contestants finish the mile—fourteen laps—Michael Kunda of Milwaukee was given a place in the grand final for amateurs, to be decided tonight. Kunda was close behind Eddie Krahn of Detroit when the heat was interrupted and the management, considering the Milwaukee lad had a good chance to win had the heat gone the limit, awarded him a place in the final.

Others who have qualified to try for the championship since the amateurs began racing a week ago include: Steve Shipley, Baltimore; Leon Kimm, present title holder, Chicago; Howarth Beaumont, Chicago, and Elmer Eckman, Chicago.

Baseball Scores.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 18.—The Philadelphia Americans hit harder in a batting bee yesterday and defeated the Chicago Nationals. Chicago scored nine runs in the first three innings, but the Athletics registered in every inning but two and overcame the lead. Innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	15	16	4
Chicago	11	11	3

Batteries—Brown, Durning, Shawkey and Schang; Smith, Koestner and Archer, Hargrove.

Memphis, Tenn., raMch 18.—Memphis of the Southern league, defeated St. Paul of the American association, 6 to 3 here yesterday in the third of a series of exhibition games. Of the series, Memphis won two.

Santa Maria, Cal., March 18.—The Chicago American No. 1 baseball team defeated the Portland Coast league nine here yesterday, 5 to 1. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	5	8	1
Portland	1	7	3

Batteries—Lathrop and Schalk; Hansen, Peet and Hayward.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 18.—The Boston American team yesterday defeated a team from the University of Arkansas here 10 to 0. The American leaguers piled up twenty hits.

Charlottesville, Va., March 18.—The Washington Americans yesterday defeated the University of Virginia nine here 4 to 3.

CLEVELAND LEADS IN HOCKEY CONTEST

One More Victory Over Soo Will Give Ohioans Championship.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 18.—The Cleveland Athletic club team defeated the American Soo team of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 3 to 1 here last night in the third of a four-game series to decide the American Amateur Hockey association championship and ownership of the $2,000 James McNaughton trophy.

The first and second games were played at Sault Ste. Marie, Cleveland winning the first, 4 to 3, and tying the second, 2 to 2.

BALLOONS START FROM ST. LOUIS ON JULY 4.

New York, March 18.—The national balloon race for this year will be sailed from St. Louis on July 4. The Areoclub of America awarded the contest last night to the Aeroclub of St. Louis.

Harvard Stroke Barred.

Cambridge, Mass., March 18.—W. Bruce Pernie of Springfield, Mass., stroke of the varsity crew who rowed during part of last season, has been lost to this year's crew by failure to pass examinations.

LOUISVILLE BREAKS IN.

Makes Change in Standings of American Bowling Congress.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 18.—Louisville, Toledo and Wheeling bowlers, rolling in the American Bowling congress tournament here yesterday, caused a big change in the two-man and individual standings. Nelson Owen and Phil Sutton of Louisville, Ky., winners of the two-man event in the tournament of 1912, took second place in the doubles here with a total score of 1,230, eight pins behind the leaders.

Owen came back in the singles with a total of 650, taking second place in this event also. Following are the leaders:

Two man events: Miller-Ralstrom, Detroit, 1,238; Owen-Sutton, Louisville, 1,230; Schmidt-Williams, Chicago, 1,229.

Individual event: Miller, Detroit, 675; Owen, Louisville, 669; Kranz, Louisville, 648.

FOUR GOPHER GRIDIRON STARS LEAVE SCHOOL.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 18.— Four members of the University of Minnesota football squad have left college within a month. The announcement that "Bee" Lawler, football, baseball and basket ball star, left on Monday, was made last night.

The other three whose going, it is said, will seriously cripple the team next season are: Joe Mattern, halfback; Lorin Solon, end; and L. Barron, guard.

Protecting the Oslerized.

New York, March 18.—A rule barring any man over 40 years of age from engaging in a public boxing match in this state was issued yesterday by the New York state boxing commission. The rule supplements the previous rule that contestants must not be less than 18 years old.

PAYS $2,500 FOR TAKING REBATES.

Chicago, March 18.—The Columbia Amusement company pleaded guilty in Federal court to the charge of accepting rebates and was fined $2,500. Rudolph K. Hynicka of Cincinnati was discharged.

Hynicka and the amusement company were indicted two years ago, with officials of the New York Central lines. The roads were charged with giving rebates in the shape of paying exorbitant rates for advertising in the company's theater program. Fines totaling $30,000 were imposed a year ago against railroads in the New York Central system. The cases against the officials were dismissed.

Bliss Heads Press Society.

Chicago, March 18.—H. H. Bliss of Janesville, Wis., was chosen president of the Inland Daily Press association at its annual meeting here. W. V. Tifford of Clinton, Iowa, was named secretary and treasurer.

When You Can't Smoke

that's the time to chew PEERLESS. When you can smoke — that's the time to choose PEERLESS.

This pure Southern Kentucky tobacco is the great favorite with men of vigor. It is full-bodied and satisfying. It gets its pleasant richness from the natural aging we give it for three to five years. And that is what keeps its quality up, always the same, no matter what the year's crop may be.

PEERLESS

Long Cut Tobacco

has given prime pleasure to manly men for over half a century. A PEERLESS man never switches to another brand; he knows he's just losing time and pleasure on a needless experiment. Many brands come and go into the discard—but old PEERLESS is still in the lead.

There's a snappy taste to PEERLESS that policemen and other big fellows like. It's got that man-size quality about it; not one of those insipid, next-to-nothing tobaccos —but the big king-brand for the he-men on the force.

A week's trial will make you a permanent user of PEERLESS — go to it today.

ON THE IRON RANGES

KILLED IN THE MOHAWK

Victor Vescoe Loses Life in Pickands-Mather's Aurora Mine.

Tending Skip and Is Struck on Head By Piece of Ore.

Aurora, Minn., March 18.—Failure to make proper use of safety devices installed by the mining company cost Victor Vescoe his life at the Mohawk mine here yesterday. The company has a device installed to protect men at the bottom of the shaft from falling iron ore or dirt. Vescoe was tending skip and failed to make use of this device when a piece of hard iron ore fell from the skip and struck him on the head, killing him.

Protects Its Employes.

The Mohawk mine is operated by the Pickands-Mather company which has been foremost in looking after the safety of the men. All the modern methods for sofe-guarding the men are in use at the company's mines on this and other ranges and the company has a safety inspector located at Gilbert in the person of George Martinson, who looks after this work.

PLANS PLACING ITS WIRES UNDERGROUND

Mesaba Telephone Company to Make Improvements in Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mesaba Telephone company submitted blueprints to the city council last night, showing the location of the underground conduit system to be installed by them, and asked for the use of certain streets and alleys for the proposed underground construction. Underground cables will be placed in Cleveland avenue from Spruce to Hemlock street, and on Spruce street from Cleveland avenue to the site of the new building which the company will erect this summer. Ninety-five poles located in various sections of the city will be removed and so far as possible the lines will traverse alleys. Where it is necessary to tear up pavements the company will replace them at its own expense. Work on the improvement will be commenced at once, and it is expected to have them completed in September.

City Clerk Bickford was instructed to confer with County Auditor Halden regarding certain property which had been omitted from the tax rolls for 1906 and subsequent years, and which will be spread on the 1914 roll for collection.

Resigns One Job.

J. E. Hanson tendered his resignation as a member of the board of appraisers which has the matter of condemning certain lands for a sanitary sewer in charge. Mr. Hanson was recently appointed a member of the new police and fire commission, and under the charter there was some question as to his right to serve on two commissions, hence the resignation. Albert Trotter was appointed to succeed Mr. Hanson on the board of appraisers.

Mayor Murphy appointed Aldermen Heritage, Mattson and Lundstrom as a committee on the proposed city hospital. The committee will take immediate steps to get together with the county commissioners in regard to the project.

S. S. Williams of Duluth was appointed to audit the books of the city and the various departments from April 1, 1893, to April 1, 1914.

REV. FATHER BUH IS 81 YEARS OLD

Venerable Ely Priest Celebrates Birthday in Fine Health.

Ely, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Father Joseph F. Buh celebrated his 81st birthday yesterday by singing solemn high mass at the opening of the Slovenic Croatian union convention here yesterday which will continue the balance of the week. Father Buh is still in fine health and each Sunday he reads mass three times, besides the heavy requirements of a large parish. He says when he gets old he will have an assistant, also that when he gets time he will write an account of the early days of Northern Minnesota.

Baptized First Biwabik Child.

Father Buh had the distinction of baptizing the first white child born in Biwabik, and also came to Ely for the same purpose within two or three days after the Duluth & Iron Range railroad was laid to this city.

Father Buh came among the early settlers to Northern Minnesota fifty years ago this spring from Austria, and has since been actively engaged in his church work among the early settlers and the Indians. At the advanced age of 81 years, unassisted, he cares for a parish of 300 families.

Virginia Attorney, Pleading for Client, Makes Charges.

Virginia, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney S. S. Dahl in pleading before the city council last night not to deprive his client, Jacob Stubler, a saloon keeper, of renewal of his liquor license because his two sons, John and Theodore, had been convicted of furnishing liquor to Ralph Denagee, a minor, made the charge that other places in this city were violating the law in maintaining slot machines and keeping their places open after hours.

Mayor Murphy stated that if such a condition existed it would be up to the police and fire commission to see to it that the police department enforce the laws and that where any violations are discovered the offenders be brought before the council and their licenses be revoked.

Stubler Loses License.

The renewal of Stubler's license was denied by the council. The matter had been in the hands of the license committee for a week and they recommended that the license be denied. Attorney Dahl pleaded with the council to be lenient even though a precedent had been established in former cases. He stated that Mr. Stubler had been in the saloon business in Duluth for twenty-seven years prior to coming to Virginia a year ago and that he had never been guilty of a violation of the laws and that with such a record and in view of the fact that Judge Hughes had shown judicial clemency by paroling the two sons the council should in fairness allow the license.

Stubler Makes Plea.

Mr. Stubler also spoke to the council in his own behalf and declared that should he be refused the privilege of conducting his place of business it would mean his ruin as every dollar he possessed was invested here. Questioned by Alderman Mollan as to what the council could do in the matter, City Attorney Morgan stated that under a recent supreme court decision the council could not grant the license, it being held that a saloon keeper is liable for the acts of his bartenders. Upon a vote being taken the council voted unanimously to reject the application.

EXPERT'S REPORT NOT MADE PUBLIC

Eveleth Council to Consider Findings in Committee of Whole.

Eveleth, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The report of the auditor who examined the city's books for 1912 and 1913 was not made public at the council meeting last night, being referred to a committee of the council as a whole.

Although the city attorney ruled that Mrs. Mary Pluciano has no legal claim against the city for injuries received from a fall on a sidewalk because the claim had not been filed within thirty days as provided by ordinance the council felt that she was entitled to some damages and offered a settlement for $50. She had made a claim for $200.

A petition asking for the post system of lighting on Monroe street between Grant and Adams avenues was referred to the light commissioner.

Five saloon licenses were granted.

Bar Barber Shops From Saloons.

The city attorney was instructed to draw up an ordinance which will prohibit the placing of barber chairs in saloons. Local barbers had complained that they were subject to unfair competition. Members of the council also thought that the combining of the two businesses would interfere with the enforcement of the laws.

The Home Electric & Heating company in response to a request from the council for a figure on the plant asked that an impartial third party be appointed to place a valuation on the plant to be used in dealing for a salt to the city.

VIRGINIA FIVE WINS.

Aurora Quint Loses First Game of Season on Home Floor.

Aurora, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Aurora high school basket ball team lost a fast game to the Virginia high school here last night, 23 to 14. This was the last game on a trying schedule and the boys showed the results of the hard pace they have been making. The Virginia team was fast and showed considerable team work. This is the only game this season that Aurora has lost on her own floor.

GIVEN FAREWELL.

Gwinn Friends Speed Man Who Is Going to Mesaba Range.

Gwinn, Mich., March 18.—Hub Robare, who, with Mr. and Mrs. Henning Blomquist, will leave in a few weeks for the Mesaba range, was given a farewell surprise in Quayle's hall. About thirty-five were present. Dancing was enjoyed and a lunch was served. Chester Kuder, on behalf of Mr. Robare's friends, presented him with a gold watch fob. Mrs. Peter Robare and daughter, who have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Blomquist for the past two weeks, will accompany them to Minnesota.

TWO HARBORS YOUNG MAN PASSES AWAY.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Roy Arthur Bjurman of this city died at 7:30 this morning. Last week the young man was taken ill and soon his case showed signs of scarlet fever and on Monday he was removed to the posthouse. He had lived in Two Harbors for three years and was employed during the summer months as a fireman on the Iron Range railroad. He was 22 years old and resided on Sixth avenue with his sister, Mrs. Carl A. Martland.

St. Patrick's Day Social.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Epworth League of the Methodist church entertained the Christian Endeavor society to a St. Patrick's days social last night in the church parlors. The rooms were tastily decorated with green streamers and the entertainment provided was all in accord with March 17. It has been customery for the two societies to have a get-together social every year in order to promote the friendless and good feeling which exists between them. The committee in charge of the social last night were: Miss Meta McKee, Miss Colwell and Howard McIlroy.

SALOON CONGESTION IS GUARDED AGAINST

Hibbing Prevents Too Many "Booze Parlors" on One Street.

Hibbing, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—To prevent saloons from becoming congested in any one block, the village council yesterday afternoon passed an ordinance preventing a liquor license from being transferred from one street to another, from one avenue to a street, from a street to an avenue or from one avenue to another.

The applications that have been coming in to the council show a tendency on the part of some of the saloon keepers on Pine street to move onto Third avenue and it is to prevent any migration of this kind that the ordinance is intended. Saloons may be moved from one building to another on the same street or avenue, but cannot leave their general location.

Railroad Would Move Tracks.

The request of the Great Northern railroad for permission to move its tracks a short distance west of their present location so as to prevent an extra crossing over the new yard they propose to build between here and Mitchell was read and referred to the village engineer for a full report at the next meeting. Changes in the highway will also have to be made, it is claimed, and there is a possibility that an overhead crossing may be ordered.

SAYS INTERVENTION IS ONLY SALVATION

Former Chisholmite, Now of New Mexico, Talks of Mexican Row.

Chisholm, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—John C. Culbert has returned after an absence of more than seven years. Mr. Culbert left here just prior to the big fire and was amazed at the progress Chisholm has made.

After leaving here Mr. Culbert and family went to Central America, South America, South Africa, the Philippines, Alaska and Mexico.

Mr. Culbert and family are located at Wilcox, Ariz., seventy miles from Bisbee, where Cleon T. Knapp and family, formerly of Chisholm, reside.

Mr. Culbert talks interestingly of the conditions in Northern Mexico as observed by people living near the border.

In coming through El Paso on his way North he spoke with one of the Mexican ex-officials at Fort Bliss he saw the big wire corral where the 5,000 refugees are enclosed.

He believes the only solution of the Mexican trouble is intervention by the United States.

HIBBING CURLING.

Rushing Closing Contests While the Ice Continues Good.

Hibbing, Minn., March 18.—In a supreme effort to finish some of the cup contests started during the season, the games committee of the Curling club plan to use three sheets of ice each night in double-headers, the first game to start at 7:30 and the second at 9 o'clock in the evening. Only eight heads will be played in each game. The ice, it is said, is in fine shape, following the brief cold spell.

The schedule, beginning tonight, is as follows:

Wednesday, 7:30 P. M.

Webb vs. Bullen, Ice No. 1.
Butchart vs. Lewis, Ice No. 2.
West vs. Wellner, Ice No. 3.

9 p. m.—
Webb vs. Bullen, Ice No. 1.
Game to be arranged, Ice. No. 2.
West vs. Butchart, Ice No. 3.

Thursday, 7:30 P. M.

Murray vs. Rooney, Ice No. 1.
Flannagan vs. Martin, Ice No. 2.

9 p. m.—
Murray vs. Adams, Ice. No. 1.
Flannagan vs. Blacklock, Ice No. 2.

TWO MORE IN RACE.

P. R. Cosgrove and Charles Pentilla File for Commissioner.

The race for the office of county commissioner in the Sixth district promises to be a lively one, judging from the fact that five candidates are already in the field. The incumbent is Neil McInnis of Eveleth, chairman of the county board, who will not be a candidate for re-election.

The latest candidates to enter the race are P. R. Cosgrove, president of the Gilbert village council, and Charles Pentilla, Eveleth grocer, both of whom filed yesterday with the county auditor for the June primaries. Others who have filed are Andrew Hawkinson and Martin Nelson of Virginia and John Glode of Eveleth.

JURY CASES THURSDAY.

Trial of Actions at Grand Rapids to Begin Then.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The petit jurors called for the term of district court being held here by Judge Wright will report for duty tomorrow when the trial of the case of Henry F. Logee vs. Keewatin, a claim for work, and Adolphus E. Briggs vs. Charles Anderson will be called. The grand jury is at work on pending charges with Frank E. King of Grand Rapids as foreman.

Stops Tobacco Habit in One Day

Sanitarium Publishes Free Book Showing How Tobacco Habit Can Be Banished in From One to Five Days at Home.

The Elders Sanitarium, located at 1059 Main street, St. Joseph, Mo., has published a free book showing the deadly effect of the tobacco habit, and how it can be banished in from one to five days at home.

Men who have used tobacco for more than fifty years have tried this method and say it is entirely successful, and in addition to banishing the desire for tobacco has improved their health wonderfully. This method banishes the desire for tobacco, no matter whether it is smoking, chewing, cigarettes or snuff dipping.

As this book is being distributed free, anyone wanting a copy should send their name and address at once.

SNOW

The temperature last night was the lowest it has been in some time. The mercury got down to 5 deg. above zero. Warmer weather is promised for tonight, but clouds and probably snow threaten this section of the banana belt tomorrow anyway, and maybe tonight. Ah, well! We can't have summer always.

It was cloudy and soft a year ago today. The sun rose this morning at 6:15 and will set this evening at 6:17, giving twelve hours and two minutes of sunshine, three minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Colder weather prevails throughout the Northwest, lake region, Central and Eastern states, freezing temperatures extending southward to and including Northern Tennessee and Southern Missouri. During the last twenty-four hours light rain or snow fell over the lake region, Ohio valley, Middle and North Atlantic states and the Northwest."

General Forecasts.

DULUTHIAN BUYS VIRGINIA PLANT.

Virginia, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sale of the plant and equipment of the Minnesota Screen company to James Sullivan of Duluth was confirmed yesterday. The sale was made at public auction on Saturday and the purchase price is $7,000. Mr. Sullivan's plans are not known, but it is reported that he will open a small manufacturing establishment.

GRAND RAPIDS FIREMEN NAMED.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 18.—Officers of the Grand Rapids fire department for the following year have been appointed by the village council as follows: Chief, Lester Lofberg; first assistant chief, Miller Williams; second assistant, William Whailing; secretary, W. H. Powers; treasurer, E. A. Kremer; fire warden, Emil Litchke.

To Speak at Ely.

Ely, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. A. Walker, field secretary of the Minnesota Christian Endeavor union, will visit Ely Friday evening of this week and speak at a Christian Endeavor rally in the Presbyterian church here.

Eveleth Entertainment.

Eveleth, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following home talent entertainment will be given Friday evening, March 27, at the auditorium by the Epworth League:

Piano solo, Miss Eldridge; orchestra selection; vocal duet, Miss Brown and Miss Jackson; baritone solo, Mr. Pemberton; orchestra selection; reading, Miss Jackson; selection, girls' quartet; selection, girls' high school chorus; trio, violin, cello, piano; selection, male quartet; soprano solo, Miss Vogel.

Dismiss Virginia Charge.

Virginia, Minn., March 18.—Vaino Olson, charged with stealing $280 from C. Holstrom, a lumberjack, last November, was released yesterday by Judge Carey. The motion for dismissal was made by Assistant County Attorney L. Boyle. Insufficient evidence was offered by the complaining witness.

Find Old Man Hurt.

Chisholm, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Giving the name of Silver Brooks and appearing to be 70 years of age, a man was picked up by the police suffering from various wounds and is being cared for at police headquarters. He had been wounded about the head and body but could not tell how, as he was too drunk when found lying in an alley. Brooks has lived around here several years, but little is known about him.

WILL ENLARGE CHURCH.

Duluth Architect Preparing Plans for Hibbing Edifice Addition.

Hibbing, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Austin Terryberry, a Duluth architect, is drawing plans for an addition to the Presbyterian church and bids will probably be called for within a few weeks, as it is expected that work will be started by the end of April.

The plans include a new basement in which two class rooms, two kitchens, a furnace room and a primary room will be located. The new choir room will be located upstairs.

A new lighting system will be installed throughout the church and the interior will be entirely redecorated. The improvements have been desired by the congregation for some time and the financial arrangements have now been completed.

URGES IRISHMEN TO SUPPORT PRESIDENT

Senator Boyle Advises Upholding Executive in Mexican Trouble.

Hibbing, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Speaking at the Power theater last night at the St. Patrick entertainment, given under the auspices of the Hibernians and ladies' auxiliary before a packed house, Senator James P. Boyle declared that the Irish were not a fighting race unless oppressed. He urged all Irishmen to uphold the hands of President Wilson in the present delicate situation in Mexico declaring that only hotheads were crying for intervention. The play, "An Irish Eden," was cleverly rendered.

MANY BIDS RECEIVED.

Hibbing Light Board Has Plenty of White Way Tenders.

Hibbing, Minn., Marchh 18.—Representatives of many concerns furnishing material for white ways were heard by the water and light commission last night and the various tenders were taken under advisement after long consideration. The village wants 460 standards and other material and may reach a decision today. The white way improvement contemplated is the most extensive in this section.

The figures presented at the water and light commission as to the extent of the white way work planned showed there would be 460 standards, fourteen miles of conduits and twenty-five miles of wire and that the total cost of the proposed improvement would be about $80,000.

IS SOLUTION OF MYSTERY

Dead Man Found in Slip Proves to Be W. Yarvenen.

Disappeared From Two Harbors Jan. 3—Foul Play Suspected.

Leaving Two Harbors on Jan. 3 for Duluth, where he had hoped to obtain work, and never heard from again by his friends since that date, the mysterious disappearance of Wilho Yarvenen, 27 years old, was explained yesterday afternoon when his body was found floating in the slip back of the Marshall-Wells Hardware company's warehouse on Lake avenue south.

The body of Yarvenen, who was known as William Lake, which is the English name for the former, was found in an opening in the ice and was first discovered by a teamster, who was loading some supplies at the rear of the building.

Coroner McComb was immediately notified, and after the body was taken out of the water, he ordered it removed to the Crawford undertaking rooms. It was here that the man was identified by means of several letters and a railroad pass issued to him by the Duluth & Iron Rande railroad on Jan. 3 last. The pass was good from that date until Jan. 14, and it is believed was used by Yarvenen in coming to Duluth.

Yarvenen came to this country from Finland about a year ago and immediately went to Two Harbors, where he obtained employment in one of the shops of the Iron Range road. He left the employ of the railroad on Jan. 1 and told his friends that he was going to Duluth to obtain work here, and would send for his personal effects later. He was never heard from again.

Whether Yarvenen met with foul play or whether he committed suicide, it is impossible to say. No reason can be given for the taking of his own life and his friends at Two Harbors, according to a dispatch received from there this morning, are inclined to believe that he met with foul play. There are no marks on the body to indicate the latter, however.

Yarvenen has no relatives in this country and from what is known about his family, he has a sister living in Finland.

The body will be held at the Crawford undertaking rooms for several days, before the funeral arrangements are made.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The report received here from Duluth that the body of William Lake was found floating in the bay at that place is causing considerable comment among his friends. Most of them seem to be of the opinion that Lake must have met with foul play of some kind since he was a young man of good habits, and as far as is known had no reason whatever for committing suicide. Lake left here on Jan. 3 for a short visit with friends in Duluth and since that time no word has been received from him. No effort was made to locate him, however, because of the fact that it was supposed he had secured work in Duluth.

He came to Two Harbors about a year ago from Saima Jarvi, Kirkolnen, Turuu Laani, Finland, where he has a sister living. During his residence here he has been in the employ of the Iron Range Railroad company in the shops. The man was identified by railroad passes and other papers which were in his pocket when he was picked up.

No particular anxiety was felt when Lake did not return as he had planned because it was believed that probably he had secured employment in Duluth, and that he would send for his personal effects later on.

VILLAGE RESTS CASE.

Defense Having Inning in Action Against Joseph Grant.

Hibbing, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The plaintiff rested at noon today in district court in the case of the Township of Great Scott vs. Joseph Grant, its former treasurer to recover $2,200 and this afternoon the defense began offering evidence. A mistake or error in bookkeeping is alleged for the discrepancy in the accounts during Mr. Grant's administration.

Mayor Victor Power is attorney for Grant while D. T. Collins of Hibbing appears for Great Scott township.

LOOKS LIKE MONTAGUE.

That Is Virginia Report on New City Attorney.

Virginia, Minn., March. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Various reports are current as to who will be city attorney under Mayor-elect Boylan, and the wise ones are making all sorts of guesses. It is said that Judge R. J. Montague has the poll for the job, but the friends of City Attorney Morgan, Luke F. Burns and S. G. Dahl, who are also candidates, have not given up yet.

The members of the new council will caucus next Tuesday evening, when the new council will be organized and a vote taken on all the appointive positions.

City Clerk Bickford and Street Commissioner Christopherson are certain of reappointment, according to the aldermen-elect. A fight is expected to develop on the city engineership.

Much interest is being taken in the personnel of the new council committees. The appointments are to be made at the initial meeting of the council on April 7.

Thin Blood Causes Backache

Every muscle in the body needs a supply of rich, red blood in proportion to the work it does.

The muscles of the back are under heavy strain and have but little rest. When the blood is thin they lack nourishment and rebel. The result is a sensation of pain in those muscles.

The best medical authorities agree that backache seldom or never means kidney trouble. Real organic kidney disease may have progressed to a critical point without developing a pain in the back. Doctors detect its presence by the excretions of the kidneys themselves.

Pains in the back should always lead the sufferer to look to the condition of the blood. It will be found in most cases that the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood will stop the grumbling of the ill-nourished muscles of the back. How much better it is to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the blood than to give way to unreasonable alarm about your kidneys. If you suspect your kidneys, any doctor can make tests in ten minutes that will set your fears at rest or tell you the worst.

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A free book, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

KELLEY'S "ARMY" HAS ALL DISINTEGRATED

Last Seventy-Five of 1,800 Pack Up and Leave Camp.

Sacramento, Cal., March 18.—The unemployed "army" that has been camped out in Yolo county for the last ten days after being ousted from Sacramento finally disappeared today when the remaining seventy-five men packed up and departed. All that is left of the army of 1,800 that left San Francisco are fifteen leaders in the county jail and a few stragglers.

M. & I. CONDUCTOR IS WRECK VICTIM

Conductor Vaars of Brainerd Loses Life Near Funkley.

Funkley, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—At 2 o'clock this morning logging train extra No. 1419 on the Minnesota & International road was wrecked one mile south of Funkley, derailing several cars.

Conductor Vaars was killed. Vaars was single and resided at Brainerd.

Approves Deportations.

Capetown, Union of South Africa, March 18.—The senate yesterday passed the bill to indemnify the government for its acts last January under martial law by a vote of 25 to 9. The indemnity bill passed its third reading in the house of assembly March 9, 70 to 12. This bill is an outgrowth of the deportation of ten labor leaders.

Three Killed on Handcar.

Sparta, Ill., March 18.—Three men were killed and two hurt when an engine struck a handcar near here last evening. One man jumped from the handcar and escaped uninjured.

HOW TO DESTROY THE DANDRUFF GERM

BY A SPECIALIST.

That the dandruff germ is responsible for nearly all the diseases to which the scalp is heir, as well as for baldness and premature gray hair, is a well-known fact, but when we realize that it is also indirectly responsible for many of the worst cases of catarrh and consumption, we appreciate the importance of any agent that will destroy its power. We are, therefore, particularly pleased to give herewith the prescription which an eminent scientist states he has found, after repeated tests, to completely destroy the dandruff germ in from one to three applications. It will also almost immediately stop falling hair and it has in numerous cases produced a new hair growth after years of baldness. This prescription can be made up at home, or any druggist will put it up for you: 6 ounces Bay Rum, 2 ounces Lavonna de Composee, one-half drachm Menthol Crystals, Mix thoroughly, and after standing half an hour it is ready for use. Apply night and morning, rubbing into the scalp with the finger-tips. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. While this preparation is not a dye it is unequaled for restoring gray hair to its original color. —Advertisement

CONTRACT IS HELD VOID

Court Upholds Injunction Restraining Land Sales By Nicholayson.

One Director of Ironton Company Absent When Contract Was Made.

A contract entered into between Waldemar Nicholayson, Duluth real estate agent, and the Ironton Park Land company, whereby Nicholayson was employed as agent for the company in connection with the sale of a tract of platted property on the Cuyuna iron range, has been held void in district court because John J. Hill, a director, had not been notified to attend the meeting of the directorate at which the purported contract was made.

In district court yesterday afternoon, Judge Dancer filed his decision in the suit which was brought by the land company to establish the rights of the company and Nicholayson, who refused to relinquish his agency. The court made permanent the temporary injunction restraining Nicholayson from acting as agent for the company in the sale of its property under the terms of the contract. The case was tried before Judge Dancer several weeks ago.

Six Members Present.

Evidence adduced at the trial developed the fact that at a meeting of six members of the board of directors of the land company on June 6, 1913, Nicholayson was employed to sell a plat of 300 lots at Ironton park, section 14, 46-29, Crow Wing county. The company was to receive $137.50 net for each lot and Nicholayson was entitled to retain all over this amount he might secure. The contract, authorized by the directors, was executed by the proper officers of the company.

Shortly after the contract had been entered into, Nicholayson was notified that owing to the fact that John J. Hill, one of the directors, had not been notified to attend and was absent from the meeting at which the agreement was entered into, the contract was void. He was asked to surrender his agency, but refused, declaring that he had gone to considerable expense in advertising the property.

Restraining Action Brought.

Suit was brought to restrain Nicholayson from acting as agent and to cancel the agency. Judge Dancer holds that Hill should have been present at the meeting and that his absence, because he was not notified, is sufficient to render void the contract. The court also holds that the contract entered into between Nicholayson and the company embraced certain conditions which had not been authorized at the meeting of the board of directors.

REDMOND PREDICTS HOME RULE SOON

Says Nothing Short of Political Earthquake Can Prevent It.

London, March 18.—John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalist party, presided over the Irish National banquet here last night, and in responding to the toast, "Ireland, a Nation," said:

"In a few short weeks, in the absence of a political earthquake, the home rule bill will be a law of the land, probably in precisely the form in which it now stands."

The efforts of the government to conciliate Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, and his friends, Mr. Redmond declared, had met with insult. He referred to the failure to agree on the temporary exclusion of any part of Ireland, and declared that it was a great sacrifice to make as the price of peace, but in making that sacrifice to avoid a conflict, they had made absolutely no sacrifice of principle. If the proposal had been for the permanent exclusion of one inch of Irish territory, they would unhesitatingly reject it, as the principles of the bill must be maintained.

Must Force With Force.

"Speaking for myself and colleagues, and I believe the Irish nation," Mr. Redmond continued, "these principles are our last word. Beyond that we cannot and will not go. If force is interposed, that force will be met with force. The party of the democracy of this country will be all the stronger because Nationalist Ireland has shown that it will be willing to make a great sacrifice for peace."

Mr. Redmond said that there was a difference between the British cabinet and the Irish party as regarded the principle and policy of procedure.

During the day, Mr. Redmond received a large number of cablegrams from prominent Americans congratulating him on the prospect of the speedy realization of self-government for Ireland.

FEWER KILLED AND INJURED BY TRAINS

More Killed and Injured in "Other Than Train Accidents."

Washington, March 18.—A material decrease in the number of train accidents and in the number of people killed and injured in such accidents, is shown by an interstate commerce commission bulletin for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1913.

During the quarter 211 were killed and 4,011 injured in train accidents, a decrease as compared with the corresponding quarter of 1912 of 77 killed and 587 injured.

An increase of 123 killed and of 1,901 injured was shown in "other than train accidents," including accidents to employes while at work, to passengers getting on or off cars, to trespassers and others, the total being 2,830 killed and 19,737 injured.

Through industrial accidents not involved in train operation, but occurring to railway employes other than trainmen on railway premises, 132 persons were killed and 32,878 injured, an increase of 18 killed and 3,994 injured.

The total number of collisions and derailments on steam railways for the quarter was 3,933 (1,634 collisions and 2,279 derailments), of which 173 collisions and 223 derailments affected passenger trains. The financial damage amounted to $3,239,159.

It was pointed out that 10.3 per cent of the derailments were caused by broken rails and 25.1 per cent to defective equipment.

WOMAN MAYOR HAS HUSBAND ARRESTED

He Is Caught in Net for Sellers of Liquor to Boys.

Portland, Or., March 18.—Mrs. John Larsen, who is mayor of Troutdale, Or., caused the arrest of her own husband yesterday on a charge of selling liquor to minors.

Recently the woman mayor asked the district attorney of Washington county to investigate alleged law violations by Troutdale saloon keepers. When she found that evidence had been discovered against her husband, himself a liquor dealer, she promptly swore out a warrant. Several boys who were arrested testified in the juvenile court that Larsen and other saloon men had sold them liquor.

"I did not think I'd catch Mr. Larsen," said the mayor, "but if he's guilty he'll have to take his medicine like the rest."

CELEBRATES DAY BY STEALING ENGINE.

McAlester, Okla., March 18.—After a wild ride on a locomotive taken from the Missouri, Kansas & Texas roundhouse here yesterday, Joseph Tate, a discharged fireman, was overpowered barely in time to prevent a collision with a southbound limited passenger train. He was locked up, charged with stealing the engine. His only explanation was that he was celebrating St. Patrick's day.

Tate took the locomotive out about daylight, ran down a siding and into a line of boxcars, causing some damage. He then backed the engine through switches and ran out on the main line. Just as he gave a yell and opened the throttle to start northward full speed the yardmaster and a helper climbed over the tender and stopped him. The locomotive was backed on a siding barely a minute before the limited passed.

MARKET IS EXPANDING

More Demand for Copper From Railroads in the West.

Mountain Divisions of Several Lines Will Be Electrified.

Copper producing companies are looking forward to a sharp revival in the demand for the metal in the near future and a corresponding stiffening in its quotation.

Contracting by the railroads for copper in connection with projects looking to the operation of lines by electricity in various parts of the country, is expected to attain large proportions during the year. It is estimated that the Great Northern and the St. Paul railroads will expend several millions of dollars in the electrification of their systems through the mountains. In Montana some large projects are being carried through by the Great Falls Power company, and the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific railroad will in future be operated entirely by electricity in the haulage of ores from the mines to the railroads and smelters. The first electric locomotives were introduced on that road last May, and during the seven months they ran approximately 201,000 miles and handled 2,365,000 tons of ore. The Canadian Pacific railroad is preparing to operate its system in the mountains by electricity with the completions of its five-mile double track tunnel through a section of the Kicking Horse pass. Officials of the company are now in the East making a study of the various types of locomotives.

The extended use of copper as an alloy in the manufacture of steel rails, is also foreshadowed. Tests made by the St. Paul road last year demonstrated that copper adds materially to the life of the rail and reduces the danger of breakage through intense cold.

With these additional outlets for copper coming on top of a broadening foreign demand, supplies of the metal, will, it is estimated, soon fall short of requirements on the present basis of production.

Increased outputs by the mines in the Lake Superior, Montana and Arizona copper mining districts will therefore, it is thought, be soon warranted. With decreases in supplies again beginning to show according to the producers' monthly statements, a gradual advance in metals quotation to around a 16-cent basis is predicted by experts.

ACQUITTAL CONDEMNED

German Press Disapproves Verdict in Recent Murder Case.

Made Text for Advocating Abolition of Jury System.

Berlin, March 18.—Germany is not yet ready to see the "unwritten law" become a feature of trials of husbands or wives for killing faithless partners. Press comment on the acquittal of Count Mielczynski, who slew his wife and her nephew in the countess' bedroom, is sympathetic toward the count, but the acquittal is generally considered a miscarriage of justice. The Kreuzzeitung even makes it a text for advocating abolition of the jury system. It says also:

"We can understand how the jurors felt themselves impelled to acquit if possible. From a purely humanitarian standpoint one can be glad that they did reach an acquittal. Count Mielczynski's holiest rights were transgressed against and his deed testifies to a feeling of honor and an earnest appreciation of the married relation which we could only wish prevailed everywhere among our people. But the basic principle of our justice, that the individual shall obtain his rights and revenge through the state, may not for this reason be abandoned."

The Tageszeitung also understands the feeling that prompted acquittal, but declares that it "would be a grave thing if this feeling prevailed or should come to prevail throughout our folk. * * * Such acquittals are almost the rule in the Latin countries, especially in France, and it is a good indication of the sound moral sense of the Germans that the Latin example has very generally found our disapprovals."

A conviction of Mielczynski, with a finding of extreme mitigating circumstances, would have permitted a sentence as low as six months in prison.

An Eccentric Baroness.

The recent death of Baroness Frederick Truchsess of Wetzhausen, an eccentric Bavarian aristocrat, recalls the assistance she rendered Spain during the war with the United States. She was of Spanish stock, and gave practical expression to her sympathy by a cash contribution of $65,000 to the Spanish war chest. After the defeat of Spain she retired entirely from public notice, disappointed and embittered.

She is best remembered in Germany as an admirer of the unfortunate "Mad King," Ludwig II. of Barvaria, and for the effort which she made to prevent him from being disposed as insane in 1886. She was living at Hohenschwangau, near the king's palace, when she learned that it had been decided to place him under restraint. During the night she went to the palace to warn the king. When refused admission, she raised such a tumult that she was finally allowed to see the king as the only means of quieting her. He prevailed upon her to leave the castle. She kept a warm place in her heart for the unfortunate monarch, and until her death laid a wreath upon his tomb at every anniversary of his suicide.

Thinking of Bavarian Beer.

Bavarian statesmen are alarmed over the falling off in revenue from the beer tax. They have made repeated demands in parliament for a heavy tax on beer substitutes to encourage the consumption of the real beverage. Government Councillor Speck, the financial expert of the dominant Center party, has proposed a "law against the evils of thinning beer." The receipts from the tax on malt, he points out, have been steadily falling off of late years, owing to the decreasing consumption, but according to Herr Specker and other experts, this stands in no proportion to the temporary falling off in the consumption of beer, but is due rather to the use of less malt per cask in the originally rich and creamy Bavarian brews. His law, it is pointed out, would save the reputation of Munich's famed product, check the growing deficit in the Bavarian budget and help out the Bavarian farmers, who complain of the exceedingly poor market for their barley.

"Parsifal" Under Church Ban.

Higher Roman Catholic clergy of Bohemia and Moravia have placed Wagner's opera, "Parsifal" under a ban. While bishops from those two countries were holding their recent eucharistic congress at Prague, Austria, the National theater proposed a gala performance of "Parsifal" in honor of the visiting prelates. The latter voted not to accept the invitation on the ground that certain scenes in the opera were immoral and offensive to Roman Catholics.

DISCUSSES REFORMS IN COURT PROCEDURE

Former President Before Ramsey County Bar Association at Mock Trial.

St. Paul, Minn., March 18.—Discussion of proposed reforms in court procedure held the attention of those present at the annual dinner of the Ramsey County Bar association last night at which Former President William H. Taft was principal speaker.

C. W. Farnham, president of the association, and several other members also delivered addresses which preceded that of the former chief executive.

The after-dinner program resolved itself into a mock trial, in which the former president was defendant. As a professor at Yale, he was charged with discrimination against women, in that they are excluded from that institution. Applause greeted the judge's verdict of "not guilty" which was rendered at midnight.

The "trial" was preceded with a discussion of judicial procedure.

Addresses University Students.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 18.—Casual reference to "ill-disguised vituperation," in Theodore Roosevelt's criticism of the present judicial system, a direct statement of the necessity of keeping the judiciary independent, and a detailed exposition of the usefulness of the United States supreme court marked William H. Taft's lecture before the law school of the University of Minnesota, late yesterday.

"The law generally lags behind the moral rules, but not so much now as in the past," Mr. Taft said. "The truth is that modern law is very much nearer moral standards than it ever was before."

Mr. Taft advocated the Federal plan for government in an address before the Minneapolis Civic and Commercial association earlier in the afternoon.

Life Crews Begin Drill.

Chicago, March 18.—Daily drill began yesterday at the United States life-saving stations in Chicago and Evanston. The crews at the mouth of the Chicago river and South Chicago had their boats out, as did the Evanston crew. The Jackson park, Chicago, station will not be open until April 1.

Special Advice for Men

Strength Restored By New Method

Strength Is Always Admired.

The little book described below (which I gladly send free, sealed by mail, to any young or elderly man anywhere), contains in its 86 beautifully illustrated pages everything a man need know with regard to certain strictly personal subjects, and as a guide through his entire life, from the delicate period of youth, when wholesome advice is most needed, on through early manhood to a ripe, vigorous, healthy old age. Over a million of these books have been thus distributed by me all over the world. Therefore, please use coupon below and get YOUR free copy by return mail. SANDEN CO., DISTRIBUTERS.

Do you know, my friend, that there is a wonderful new way to apply a certain, great natural FORCE to your body, and by which you may, without effort, trouble or inconvenience, treat your own self in the privacy of your home for debility and lost vitality, without using a single drug or medicine? This great FORCE, as a restorer of vitality and as a means to overcome those weaknesses which result from indiscretions and unnatural practices, is today being used all over the civilized world, and I give it as my honest opinion, based upon a vast observation and study, that any man anywhere, who leads a decent, manly life and who applies this marvelous FORCE in a scientific and rational way, can, without employing a single drug, be restored again to a state of perfect, rugged health and vigor, without a remaining ache, pain or weakness.

As we all know, these various debilitating weaknesses handicap a man in every condition of life, while, on the other hand, a perfect specimen of vigorous, robust, lusty manhood is ever admired by both women and men alike, while, of course, it is certainly only such a man who can attain the really great successes of life. Therefore, I say to you, no matter what your size, whether you are small or large, no matter what your occupation, no matter whether you are a college graduate or working on the farm or in the factory, no matter whether you are young or elderly, it is all a question of your vigor and your vitality, and if I can give you a good, abundant supply of this same great power or VITAL FORCE, then it is easy to believe that I can completely restore your vigorous health; can overcome the evil effects of past indiscretions so you will be exactly the same in your influence over people, exactly the same in your manly bearing as other manly, strong-nerved, warm-blooded fellows of your acquaintance.

With an idea of attaining all this for you, I recommend you to investigate a simple little VITALIZING APPLIANCE of my invention, which I am now sending out in great numbers for use by men everywhere who need new, manly strength. This little VITALIZER is very light, weighing only several ounces, and can be worn without any one suspecting that you are wearing it. You buckle it on your body upon going to bed and take it off mornings. Thus, while you sleep, it sends its wonderful power, which I call VITALITY or VITAL FORCE, into your blood, nerves and organs. Users say it takes pain and weakness out of the back from one application, and further say 60 to 90 days' time is sufficient to restore a state of health, strength and vigor. I am not offering this VITALIZER here for sale, but want you to first send for my book that you may learn all about the whole wonderful subject, and why I get such quantities of testimonials from users everywhere telling of results after drugs completely and utterly fail.

NOTE—With special attachments my VITALIZER is used by women as well as men for rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, nervousness and general ill health. Please write for book today, or, if near by, I should like you to call. Hours—9 to 6. Sundays excepted.

Use Coupon; Get Free Book

Remember, the little illustrated book, which I send free, sealed by mail, as per coupon below, not only fully describes my VITALIZER, telling of a special offer by which you may get one on special terms for use in your own case, but contains a great fund of private advice for men, some good wholesome cautions, and a lot of general information that might be of value to you to the end of your days. Therefore, please write or call.

B. S. SANDEN CO., 1261 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

ALASKA THAW FARMING.

Technical World Magazine: Imagine a great bowl of ice, 300 miles long and fifty miles wide. Sprinkle it with a layer of dirt. Light it with a sun that beats down with tropic intensity twenty-two of the twenty-four hours of the day. Give it the climate of arid Arizona, with its ten inches of rainfall every year.

Now you have a fair picture of the Tanana valley, located almost in the geographical center of Alaska, whose farms surpass in productivity and wealth of yield, the best Dakotas or the cream of the Canadian Northwest prairies, to which thousands of our middle-west farmers annually migrate.

Barred from the softening influence of the warm Japan current by a range of high and precipitous mountains which include such giants as Mt. St. Ellas and Mt. McKinley (altitude 20,500 feet), the loftiest on the American continent, this valley is only made endurable for plant life by the fact that the whole region, except the surface is frozen.

The moisture arising from the Japan current in the form of clouds settles against these mountains and is precipitated as snow, forming the tremendous glaciers in the southern portion of Alaska. The air is then freed of its moisture and comes dry into the Tanana valley. The valley has no more moisture, no more rainfall than Arizona. The Tanana valley would be an arid desert were it not for the fact that it is frozen from surface to bedrock and every drop of water and every snowflake which falls in that country is conserved. It sinks into the ground and is frozen there. It is maintained in cold storage.

When the warm spring sun touches the ground and the plowman turns up the clods, it begins thawing. Then the Fairbanks farmers plant their gardens and as the moisture is needed it comes from below. The thawing continues all summer. The Tanana people have a subirrigation system which nature operates for them that beats any irrigation or reclamation system in any of the Western states and which does not now and never will cost a cent to maintain.

The clearing of farm lands about Fairbanks is going on rapidly. Last year the area under cultivation was nearly double all that which had been cleared and cultivated in previous years. The yield of those crops is a matter of amazement and surprise to the producers themselves, because there, as elsewhere, it had been supposed that the lands were worthless for farming purposes.

The United States experimental farm is located at Fairbanks. There are about ninety acres under cultivation. The report of the 1912 crop shows Red Fife wheat yielding fifty-five bushels to the acre from the soil under natural condition there. Romanoff, spring wheat, planted in 1912, and harvested about the first of September, shows a production of sixty bushels to the acre. Wild goose wheat grew sixty bushels to the acre.

These wonderful results can be directly traced to the fact that during the whole of the growing season there is no darkness. It is all daylight. From May to the beginning of September one can read a newspaper out of doors at midnight.

The quality is another source of surprise to the uninitiated. Vegetables, such as cabbage, turnips, tomatoes, radishes, celery and lettuce are vastly superior to those grown in the states.

WEST AFRICAN BURIAL CUSTOMS.

In the minds of most bush peoples no hard-and-fast line seems to exist between the living and the dead, writes T. Amaury Talbot in Wide World. Ghosts are thought to exercise great influence over those who still dwell on earth. At all ceremonies of importance the names of the principal ancestors are invoked, and at feasts part of the food is always laid aside for them, in some such words as the following:

"Listen, my family! Here is the offering (goat, sheep, or cow) which we have killed for him who has died. Here is your portion. It is time for us to eat."

A libation is also poured out in order that the dead may drink with the living.

By a beautiful fancy, any stranger who dies in a town is buried on the road by which he entered it, so that his spirit may easily find the way back to his home, or at least watch the road thither and listen for the coming of friends.

Among many tribes those objects most used by the dead man while in life are broken and laid around his grave, so that their spirit, set free by the breaking of their earthly forms, may be borne into the world of ghosts.

MINIMUM WAGE LAW IS HELD VALID

Oregon Supreme Court Also Approves Ten-Hour Statute.

Salem, Ore., March 18.—In two opinions the state supreme court upholds the Oregon minimum wage law and the ten-hour law, both passed by the last legislature. The ground on which both were declared valid was that it was within the police power of the state to enact laws for the protection of the health, morals and welfare of its citizens.

The minimum wage law is for the regulation of wages of women and minors by an industrial welfare commission. The ten-hour law fixes the maximum limit for employment except that of watchmen or emergency work.

Navigation in the lake opens about the end of March and the men will work hard in the meantime, getting their apparatus tuned up for the season's work after being iced in all winter.

GETS DIVORCE AND $600 A MONTH.

San Jose, Cal., March 18.—Mrs. Emma Kearney, wife of Philip Kearney, a New York stock broker, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce, the custody of her two children and $600 a month alimony yesterday. Witnesses testified to alleged cruelty, desertion and failure to provide on the part of the husband, who did not contest the suit.

Mysteries of Rheumatism Practically Solved

Action in the Tissues of a Remarkable Antidote

S. S. S. is a Regular Wizard in Driving Out Rheumatism.

Rheumatism is often the effect of some other blood affliction that has left its impress in the joints, muscles and mucous coverings of the body. It works into the tissue cells, those tiny, little bodies in which nutrition goes on. And it is here that a most remarkable medicine known as S. S. S. does its most active and most effective work.

Its action is marvelous. Bed-ridden rheumatics get on their feet as if by magic. That cold, clammy sensation that made you hug a red hot stove is gone in a twinkling. That excruciating pain that made a feather lay as heavy as a ton of coal on the skin is gone. You get up and dance with glee.

Your rheumatism is gone—absolutely! It is an actual logical fact, that Swift's Sure Specific flushes your blood, gives your entire blood circulation a fine thorough bath. It just naturally and in a twinkling irrigates every atom in your body. It rushes into every cell, caused every bone, muscle, ligament, tendon, mucous surface and every nerve to thrill with freedom, with health, with new-found springiness.

And best of all, S. S. S. though a powerful searching, overwhelming enemy to pain and the causes of rheumatism is as pure as the dew on a peach blossom, as powerful as the heroic works of nature, as searching as the peremptory demand of the most exact science.

Ask for and insist upon getting S. S. S. the world's cure for rheumatism.

For private, personal advice on stubborn chronic rheumatism write at once to the Swift Specific Co., 203 Swift Building, Atlanta, Ga. Their medical department is famous on all blood diseases, and is equipped to make personal blood tests, approved by the highest medical authorities. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today. GOULD WINS OVER COVEY

American Takes the Open Championship of World at Court Tennis.

Philadelphia, March 18.—Jay Gould, American and British amateur court tennis champion, won the open championship of the world here today from George F. Covey of England, the professional title-holder.

The American champion, in one of the finest exhibitions of the game ever seen here, carried off the title, seven sets to one.

The scores of the match were: 6-0; 6-1; 6-4; 6-3; 6-2; 6-3; 5-6; 6-1.

FERNS AND KELLY MEET ON APRIL 7

Fight Fans Will See Wildcat and Spike Mix at Superior.

Fight fans at the Head of the Lakes will have an opportunity to see the famous Wildcat Ferns of Kansas City in action on April 7. This morning by wire he agreed to meet Spike Kelly in the Superior arena at that time, and will sign the articles as soon as received.

Wildcat Ferns is one of the most noted fighters in the ring today and it takes a pretty tough boy to tame his feline tendencies. Spike Kelly is a tough fighter and has a kick in either fist which slows up the best of them; but it is conceded that he will have the time of his life when he faces Ferns in the squared circle.

Other fights will be slated for the same night, but the Ferns-Kelly bout will be the top-liner. April 7 is election night in Superior and in addition to seeing some of the pugs pound each other around the ring the audience will be entertained by hearing results of the municipal recall battle.

La Crosse Beats Superior.

Menominie, Wis., March 18.—The Superior normal school basketball team was defeated here last night by the La Crosse normal quintet in the fastest game ever seen here. The score was 18 to 17. This means a loss to Superior of the championship of the northern conference division.

Challenge the World.

The board of trade curlers, five rinks of them, will meet five other rinks at the curling club this evening in an effort to make good their boast that they can beat any other five rinks in the world. The challenge, made some time ago was taken up and the games were to have been played last night but were postponed until tonight.

Series or No Series?

The city hockey league will hold a meeting this evening at 8 o'clock to decide whether or not the proposed series of three games between the two leading teams shall be played. That was the understanding at the beginning of the season. The Northerns head the list and the Lakes are second.

HYOMEI RELIEVES IN FIVE MINUTES

You Breathe It.

If your head is all stuffed up from a cold or catarrh, you suffer with dull headaches and seem lacking in vitality, or are constantly sniffling and coughing, you need a remedy that will give the quickest, most effective and lasting relief possible — something that will go right to the spot, clear the head and throat and end your misery.

Surely use Hyomei—all druggists sell it. It is just such a remedy, and is entirely harmless and pleasant to use — you breathe it — no stomach dosing.

The antiseptic oils of Hyomei mix with the air you breathe—its health-giving medication immediately reaches the sore and inflamed mucous membrane—you feel better in five minutes. It is practically impossible to use Hyomei and not only be relieved but permanently benefited. Boyce drug store will refund your money if you are not satisfied. Ask for complete outfit—$1.00 size.

TWO SALOONS BURGLARIZED

Thieves Get About Fifty Dollars and Some Liquor.

Two saloons were entered by burglars some time last night, the thieves making a total haul of about $50 and about $10 worth of liquor. The report of the burglaries was received by The Herald this morning and substantiated by the police department shortly before noon.

The saloons robbed are the Oasis, at 15 Fourth avenue west and the John Peterson saloon at 11 East Superior street. Entrance in each case was gained by breaking through a rear window.

W. E. O'Donnell, proprietor of the Oasis saloon, said this noon that the men tapped his two cash registers for $40 and also took about $10 worth of liquor with them. They failed, however, to take a sack containing about $200, which had been placed in a small drawer underneath the bar just after the closing hour last night. The burglary was discovered this morning.

The Peterson saloon was also entered through a rear window that had been smashed. The men only found $10 in the cash register and this is all that Mr. Peterson reported missing this morning. It is believed that the men had planned to take some liquor, but were frightened away.

The police are investigating both burglaries.

FIRST BOYS' COURT OPENS IN CHICAGO

Thomas F. Scully Installed as Judge of New Tribunal.

Chicago, March 18.—Chicago's boys' court, said to be the first court of its kind in the world, opened here today as a branch of the municipal court. The court will deal with cases of boys between 17 and 21 years of age. Its object is to keep the boys from contact with mature criminals, and to give their cases special, sympathetic consideration.

The first judge of the boys' court is Thomas F. Scully. Installing him today, Chief Justice Olson of the municipal court said:

"Twenty-six hundred boys will be tried in this court every year. Their futures, to a great extent, will depend on Judge Scully."

The opening of the court was made the occasion of a celebration by church, social and philanthropic workers. The bar and judge's desk were hidden under banks of flowers.

Columbia, S. D., March 18.—The main business section of this town was wiped out early today with a loss of over $65,000.

SCENTS DEAL WITH BRITAIN

Senator Jones, Republican, Rails at Canal Tolls Repeal.

Says Washington Is Buying Protection for Monroe Doctrine.

Washington, March 18.—The broad charge that President Wilson determined to ask congress to repeal the Panama tolls exemption as a consequence of his recent conference with Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, and that the president's action was the culmination of negotiations with Great Britain for the preservation of the Monroe doctrine, threatened by the Mexican situation, was made in the senate today by Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington. He was speaking on his pending resolution calling on the president for full information on the tolls controversy.

Senator Jones intimated that a repeal of the tolls exemption was the price of non-interference in Mexico by other foreign powers. He further declared that "it is reported as one of the conditions that Great Britain will seek reparation on its losses through Confederate bonds issued during the Civil war, by a plan sanctioned by this government under which, if successfully applied, the burden of reparation will fall upon the Southern states."

"Humiliating, Cowardly, Craven."

"What is the foreign policy that requires such humiliating, cowardly, craven action on our part?" the senator demanded. "What are the delicate matters that demand this humiliation, this price? Have we become so inert, so weak, so supine, so servile that the Monroe doctrine must be sustained and invigorated by the very powers against which it was invoked? And are we so weak or so entangled in the meshes of our own diplomacy that the demands of England, based upon the selfish interests of the Canadian Pacific Railroad company, must be granted, right or wrong? Have any nations beside England objected to the legislation it is proposed to repeal? These are question that must be answered to the satisfaction of the American people."

Senator Jones quoted from President Wilson's pre-election speeches in an attempt to show that the chief executive then favored the exemption.

"Economic Blunder."

Senator Jones argued that a repeal would be a "great economic blunder," that it would "benefit the Canadian Pacific railroad, Canadian interests and the transcontinental railroad lines, and no others, and injure more or less every other interest in this country." He contended that the exemption contravened no treaty obligations, either in letter or in spirit, and, therefore, no question of national honor was involved.

"The president's message," said Senator Jones, "is not only remarkable for its lack of facts, dearth of reason and for the sublime assurance of the schoolmaster that the boys will do what he wants, but it is more remarkable in its conclusion. He says:

"'I ask this of you in support of the foreign policy of the administration.'

"What are the 'other matters of even greater delicacy and nearer consequence?' That this legislation is a part of an understanding expressed or tacitly implied, relating to Mexico, is shown by the words of the message and by the circumstances surrounding its delivery.

Traced It to Benton's Death.

"It had been repeatedly announced that no message would be sent to congress on the tolls question. A British subject was murdered in Mexico by rebel authorities, whom Great Britain does not recognize. Our position prevents Great Britain from entering Mexico. The British minister has a long conference with the president, and immediately the newspapers say, 'President Wilson announced tonight, immediately following the conference with Sir Lionel Carden, that he will go before congress Thursday (this conference was Wednesday evening) and deliver a message urging the repeal of the Panama canal tolls exemption section.'

"A hint is declared to have been taken from the historical fact that the Monroe doctrine was originally inspired by England. The president is said to realize that the Mexican tangle has brought about almost a parallel situation with that which existed when President Monroe announced his policy.

Resolution Goes Over.

"As a result, an agreement is said to have been reached with Great Britain under which the two countries will stand together against European attempts to test out the Monroe doctrine in Mexico."

Senator Jones asked immediate consideration and passage of his resolution, but in a parliamentary wrangle between Senator Hoke Smith, Democrat, and Senator Bristow, Republican, action was deferred until tomorrow.

Would Emulate Duluth.

George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the Commercial club, this morning received a letter from Charles F. O'Neall, mayor of San Diego, Cal., asking him for particulars concerning the preferential ballot. San Diego, the mayor says, is about to get up a new charter and as its citizens are considering the preferential ballot, and knowing that Duluth uses it, wishes some information.

Judge Morris Home Thursday.

Federal Judge Page Morris will return tomorrow from the Twin Cities, where he has been holding court the last week. He will be here several days before returning again to Minneapolis to preside in the court of Judge Willard, who died last week.

Security Safe Cabinets.

They are fireproof. M. I. Stewart Co.

Loses Time Check.

Angus McDonald reported to the police last evening that he lost a time check for $186.70 yesterday. The check was signed by William O'Neil, superintendent of the Pine Tree Lumber company's camp at Little Falls, where McDonald worked last winter.

Lodger List Grows.

The cold weather of last evening boosted up the lodging list at police headquarters and for the first time in the last three weeks more than twelve men applied for lodging. There were twenty-six men cared for by the police during the night. It is expected that the cold weather will continue to drive the men off the street.

Drunk, Violating Parole.

Oscar Olson, 52 years old, was arrested yesterday for violating his parole. He was taken into custody on complaint of Frank Hicks, probation officer, who told the court this morning that Olson was drunk yesterday and that he was recently placed on parole following his conviction on a charge of drunkenness. He pleaded guilty this morning and on his promise to mend his ways, the court suspended sentence and continued the parole.

Philathea Society.

The regular meeting of the Philathea Society of the First Norwegian Lutheran church will be held in the church assembly room this evening.

Refused to Pay Board.

Edward Baker, 48 years old, a car repairer at Proctor, was arrested this morning on a charge of defrauding an innkeeper. He is accused of having refused to pay a room and board bill amounting to $15. Baker will be arraigned in police court this afternoon.

GREAT AMERICANS, IDEALS OF ORIENT

Dr. Lawrence Holds Up Washington and Lincoln to Students.

The fact that George Washington is held up as the personification of patriotism in China and that Abraham Lincoln occupies the same position in Japan was brought out this morning by Dr. W. W. Lawrence, pastor of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church, when he spoke at the chapel service at the Central high school on "The Ideal and the Patriot."

"The ideal is the moving force of the patriot and holds him to his purpose," said Dr. Lawrence. "The patriot and the ideal are inextricably associated."

The speaker said that the boy or man with patriotic instincts was one fond of history and great historical characters. His aim was to attain great things as great men had attained them—for the benefit and uplift of his country. This often made the ideal of the patriot hard to attain, as ideals were usually far too high to be attained fully. But the ideal has power to hold one in line and keep him striving upward toward his mark.

"Liberty, which is the aim of the patriot," said Dr. Lawrence, "is often a dangerous thing. Liberty must be considered from two points of view—that of self and the relation of self to others."

The following unique definition of liberty was given by the speaker: "Liberty," he said, "is the length to which the arm can reach without reaching someone's nose." In other words liberty must be so modified that freedom is attained to the best advantage of all with the elimination of the danger element.

DEFEND STRIKERS.

Attorneys Claim They Acted Only on Personal Rights.

Philippi, W. Va., March 18.—Attorneys for Miss Fannie Sellins and fourteen others, accused in the United States district court here of violating Judge A. G. Dayton's injunction in connection with the miners' strike at Colliers, argued today against Judge Dayton's position, taken late yesterday, that their bill of particulars was insufficient and did not justify the acts of the defendants.

Attorneys J. C. Curl and J. C. Palmer declared their clients had acted entirely within their rights in exercising free speech and personal liberty during the strike.

SOUNDED JUST LIKE A SNEEZE.

San Francisco Chronicle: Corp. Miecfyslaw Smialkowski, quartermaster corps, Fort Greble, R. I., war department orders have it, has just been discharged from the army by purchase, which reminds us that Corp. Mieczyslaw Smialkowski formerly served in the quartermaster corps at the Presidio of San Francisco under Maj. K. J. Hampton.

One day Maj. Hampton had a bad cold and sneezed frequently, and that day Corp. Mieczyslaw went into Maj. Hampton's office about ten times and asked the officer if he hadn't called him when he hadn't.

A man with a bad cold isn't apt to be in the best humors, and the eleventh time the corporal appeared without being called the major was mad clear through.

"Doggone it, corporal," he snapped, "I've got a holy terror of a cold, and if you persist in coming in here every time I sneeze because you think I'm trying to pronounce your fool name, I'll have you up before a summary court, if it's the last act I do before I sneeze myself to death."

Wherever Power Is Needed

Central Station Service is Best

Whether for hoisting huge girders to skyscraper tops or to operate a light machine in the smallest factory, Central Station Service always gives the most efficient power at the least expense. Private power plants are fast becoming obsolete. The alleged economy of private plant operation has long been proved a fallacy. Far-sighted power users in every line recognize the superior advantage of Central Station Service and are abandoning their private plants.

Let Us Help You to Remove All Your Power Difficulties

Without any obligation on your part, one of our corps of engineers will gladly confer with you regarding any enterprise of yours that requires power service. Let us furnish you with data and estimates of cost. Our figures should at least be interesting and may prove decidedly helpful. Just 'phone or write today for an appointment.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

HID IT UNDER WINDOW SILL

Hiding Place of Alleged Jury Graft Money Made Public.

St. Paul Man Makes Sensational Affidavit in Grand Forks Case.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. N. Bruyere of Larimore, accused of agreeing to accept a bribe while a juryman in the McLain Cooper murder trial, was released from the county jail under a $5,000 bail, while J. C. Stevens, also accused, remains in custody.

The affidavit filed with Governor Hanna in seeking a requisition on the governor of Oregon for young Cooper, who is held at Hood River, Or., details an alleged conversation between Cooper and Bailiff J. A. Sullivan, who has given the state its evidence in the prosecution.

Overheard Conversation.

The conversation, according to the affidavit of R. W. Bradfield of St. Paul, took place in a hotel in Portland, Or., on Jan. 24 last. Bradfield says he was concealed behind a door of Sullivan's room in the hotel when the conversation occurred. In it, McLain Cooper is alleged to have admitted that he secreted money in the district court-room, under a window sill, where the bailiff might get it to purchase liquor for the jurymen.

Also, according to the affidavit, Cooper admits that he knew bribery was resorted to in effecting his acquittal.

This is the first point at which the prosecution has unmasked its batteries.

States Attorney Burtness returned today from Bismarck, where he appeared in the requisition proceedings.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION.

North Dakota Supreme Court Rules on Important Land Matter.

Bismarck, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The supreme court holds, in the case of Ole Tremsdahl vs. Theodore Nass et al., that homestead exemption is not created by a homesteader when his wife never resides in this country, but remains abroad.

Other decisions are:

Emil Oustad, respondent, vs. Carl Hahn and Fred Hahn, appellants, appealed from Bottineau county. Order modified.

Asa J. Styles and Theodore Koffell vs. George H. Dickey et al., Pierce county. Modified and verdict reduced.

Farmers Bank of McHenry county vs. Jacob Reidlinger, respondent, appealed from Sheridan county. Reversed.

T. R. Hockspring, appellant, vs. Ross B. Young and W. P. Young, Renville county. Decision affirmed in part and reversed in part.

Chris Savold, appellant, vs. Abram Baldwin, Benson county. Reversed and remanded for new trial.

TO DEDICATE NEW SCHOOL AT CROSBY

Fine Exercises to Be Held in Cuyuna Village Next Friday.

Crosby, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arrangements for the dedication of Crosby's new $75,000 Franklin grade school building on Friday, March 20 have been completed. An interesting program has been arranged and after the exercises there will be a reception for the state officials. Invitations have been extended to the state school officials and the superintendents and boards of the surrounding towns. Refreshments will be served. In order that the visitors of the school may have an opportunity to inspect the new school and at the same time see some of the work done by the pupils, it has been arranged to have an exhibit of school work in the various subjects in the afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock and after 7 o'clock in the evening.

The 7:30 p. m. program follows:

Song, "Suwanee River," grades five and six; Nolan Bickford, president board of education presents building to the county and state; Mrs. Irma C. Hartley, county superintendent of schools accepts building for Crow Wing county; C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of public instruction accepts on behalf of Minnesota; song, high school; S. A. Challman, commissioner of public school buildings; address, "The Modern School Building;" B. R. MacLean, state graded school inspector; address, "Your School;" song, "Lo; Again 'Tis Evening;" Girls' Glee club; Conrad Raps, superintendent of schools; address, "What Shall We Dedicate;" Dr. J. W. Powell, University of Minnesota; address, "Bread and Lilies;" song, "America," high school.

MADE HIM EAT OATS.

North Dakotan Wants $2,000 Damages for Forced Horse Stunt.

McClusky, N: D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. Schaffer charges that H. Ostrum, after beating and choking him, compelled him to eat oats out of his hands, and as a result he wants $2,000 damages, the case being in progress in district court here.

Schaffer also charges that Ostrum tortured him in other manner besides staging the oat-eating act.

In the case against William Jurcejewsky, register of deeds of the county, charged with statutory offenses, the defendant obtained a change of venue to Foster county on the plea of prejudice. His affidavit named nine jurymen on the panel as being opposed to him politically.

FERGUS FALLS BOY MAKES RICH STRIKE

Land Office Decision Gives Him Title to Washington Coal Mine.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 18.—News was received from Seattle yesterday that the United States land office had decided a long disputed coal claim case in favor of five claimants, one of whom is Joseph Frankoviz, a Fergus Falls boy, who will become a millionaire as a result of the decision.

Mr. Frankoviz went west five years ago and filed on a rich coal claim near Glacier, Wash. Its full value was not at that time appreciated. The tract consists of 160 acres underlaid with a fine grade of hard coal. As the time for completing title arrived, he arranged with a wealthy western man to furnish him with the money, about $3,000. The man waited until the last minute and then notified him he had decided not to go into it.

Father Furnishes Money.

Fortunately, Mr. Frankoviz had written to his father, who is in business here, and the latter arrived on the scene in time to supply the money. Then the man who was to have furnished it filed upon the land as a timber claim, contending it was timber land, not mining land, and that Mr. Frankoviz' filing was illegal.

This led to a contest, which has been in progress ever since, and the land office now confirms Mr. Frankoviz' claim to the property.

Five other claims were similarly disputed, the decision favoring the contestees.

CARLETON ORATOR WINS.

Elmer Peterson Carries Off Minnesota Intercollegiate Oratorical Honors

St. Peter, Minn., March 18.—Elmer Peterson, Carleton college, Monday night won first place in the annual contest of the Minnesota Intercollegiate Oratorical association and will represent the state at the interstate contest at Richmond, Ind., May 15.

Peterson's subject was "A New Conception of Freedom." A. G. Backstrom, Gustavus Adolphus college, with "Vital Conservation" as his subject, won second place, and third was taken by John B. Morris, St. Olaf college, whose subject was "A Living Wage." The other contestants were E. N. Vorhees of Hamline university, and J. S. Nyquist of Macalester.

At the meeting of the association A. J. Meldahe of St. Olaf was elected president. The application of Red Wing seminary for membership was rejected. A rule was adopted barring contestants who are more than 27 years old.

TO HEAD "DRY" TICKET.

W. G. Calderwood of Minneapolis to Be Gubernatorial Candidate.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 18.—W. G. Calderwood of Minneapolis will be the Prohibition candidate for governor of Minnesota this year. He is chairman of the Prohibition state committee and has had active charge of the party organization for several years. In announcing his candidacy he declared that an aggressive fight will be made for state-wide prohibition this year.

The Prohibitionists will have a state convention April 30, probably in Minneapolis, when they will indorse candidates for state office, and Mr. Calderwood expects to receive the indorsement for governor. The candidates indorsed will then file under the primary law to get their nomination legally.

FOR BETTER ROADS.

Cuyuna Good Roads Association Is Organized at Crosby.

Crosby, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Monday afternoon, in Odd Fellows hall, the good roads plan was laid before representatives from Crosby, Cuyuna, Ironton, Riverton, Manganese, Deerwood, and the Mission Lake Farmers' club and the Cuyuna Good Roads association formed.

Plans for the building of new roads, improvements and the building of bridges was discussed. A ferry line was also proposed to ply across the Mississippi river, in the vicinity of Bear Lake, which is about six miles west of Crosby. There were 100 present at the meeting and there was much enthusiasm over the good roads movement among the representatives. The town of Crosby will benefit very much through this movement and it is expected that work will begin as soon as weather conditions will permit.

BULL MOOSE SPEECHES.

Judge Fitzgerald of New York to Tour North Dakota.

Fargo, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three meetings in this state are to be addressed by Judge [illegible]gerald of New York in the interests of the Bull Moosers. He will speak at Minot tomorrow night, Bismarck Friday night and in Fargo Saturday night. He will be accompanied on the tour of the state by H. R. Turner, chairman of the Bull Moose organization committee for North Dakota.

KIDNAPING SLEUTH IS GIVEN ONE YEAR

Detective Who Took Miner From Wisconsin to Michigan Sentenced.

Case is Unique.

Kidnaping charges have been made in labor troubles in recent years, notably in the McNamara cases, but it is believed this is the initial conviction in a labor dispute of this kind.

When O'Grady was fighting extradition before Governor Ferris at Lansing, Mich., Feb. 19, he claimed at the hearing that his arrest was a frameup by the Western Federation of Miners.

CLOTHES NEVER CAME.

So Farmers Around Detroit, Minn., Have Salesman Arrested.

Detroit, Minn., March 18.—J. M. Phillips, aged about 50, who last fall took orders from farmers in this locality for clothing, taking notes in payment, was arrested at St. Cloud and brought here on the charge of swindling. He was held in $1,500 bail to the next term of court. It is alleged he realized several hundred dollars by selling the notes and failed to deliver the wearing apparel.

SUIT FOR TAXES.

Chippewa County, Mich., Treasurer Brings Novel Actions.

Pickford, Mich., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Upper Michigan Land company, Western Securities company and Michigan Timber company of Chicago, are the defendants in a novel case instituted in the Chippewa county district court. The corporations are the owners of several thousand acres in Bruce township. None, it is alleged, has paid taxes for the year 1913. It is a force settlement that the pending proceedings have been instituted. Filing a bill in court, W. J. Peterman, treasurer of Bruce township, has applied for an injunction to restrain the companies or any person from removing timber from the lands until the taxes are paid. Not for twenty-two years and only twice in the history of the state, it is asserted, has such procedure been taken.

Townships other than Bruce and, it is said, with similar claims, are stated to be awaiting the outcome of the litigation. It is said that in times past various corporations that have purchased Upper Michigan lands have proceeded to remove the timber, and when the taxes have become delinquent the areas have reverted to the state. Treasurer Peterman's move is regarded as a precautionary measure.

MONTANA OPERATOR GAGGED AND ROBBED.

Forsythe, Mont., March 18.—The Milwaukee railroad operator at Sumatra, fifty miles northwest of here, was held up early Tuesday and robbed of $350. The robbery was committed by two men who wore handkerchiefs over their faces.

The operator's feet and arms were tied and a gag placed in his mouth. He was found three hours later by the station agent.

Two men were arrested here as suspects.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate [illegible] kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

GAME WARDEN FINDS SNARE FOR DEER.

Calumet, Mich., March 18.—Deputy Game Warden John T. McDonald on his return from a trip through the Traverse Bay district, exhibited a deer snare, one of six he confiscated on a deer runway near Gay. The home made device was rather ingenious, indicating a systematic violation of the law. Mr. McDonald is working diligently in an effort to apprehend the guilty party or parties.

The snare consisted of a piece of stout wire, perhaps ten feet long, arranged in the form of a noose hung just about the height of a deer's head. Near the top of the loop there was ingeniously woven into the main wire, three strands of steel wire, each loop projecting out an inch or more. These individual loops had been pounded down to a sharp edge with a hammer and then tempered, the result being virtually a saw, about a foot long, each tooth of which had the keenness of a knife.

SHOT AND SENTENCED.

Tango Teacher Given Ten Years on Milwaukee Burglary Charge.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 18.—Herman Zastrow, Whitefish Bay, and Fox Point burglar and former tango teacher in Chicago, who was shot by a watchman several weeks ago, while attempting to enter the W. O. Goodrich home, was sentenced yesterday to ten years in the penitentiary at Waupun. He made a plea for leniency, declaring that he has been persecuted and forced into his present condition by being convicted on a charge of burglary at the Gallun residence, of which he was innocent. District Attorney Yockey declared he had received a fair trial and that, while on parole from Green Bay, he robbed the Gallun residence.

Zastrow was credited with having secured thousands of dollars worth of jewelry from various East Side Milwaukee fashionable homes. A Miss Harvey of Chicago aided the authorities in locating many gems.

NONAGENARIAN TO PROVE UP ON LAND.

International Falls, Minn., March 18.—Thomas McKinstry, the aged pioneer of this section, will prove up on his homestead—lot 1, section 24, 70-26—on the fifteenth of April. Mr. McKinstry is past the four-score-years-and-ten mark.

That Wadena School Row.

Wadena, Minn., March 18.—After one of the biggest votes ever polled in Wadena, 732 votes being cast, the independent school district advocates lost by a vote of 493 to 30. Factional feeling ran high, and votes registered against the independent school district did not represent the sentiment of the public regarding independent school district matters, but was a protest against the reinstatement of Prof. E. L. Carroll, who was compelled to resign his position Feb. 28.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—Josh Brady, district organizer for the American Federation of Labor and general organizer for the Bartenders' international league Sunday organized a local bartenders' union. A charter has been asked for and next Sunday officers will be elected.

Elkhorn—John Walther pleaded guilty in the Walworth county circuit court to the charge of murder and was sentenced by Judge Belden to life imprisonment. Walther lived near Whitewater and shot and killed his wife last September.

Waukesha—Gottlieb Hanke, aged 64, was killed when a house which he was tearing down fell on him. He was badly crushed. He is survived by nine children.

Sheboygan—Oscar Keller, 34 years old, of Oostburg, was struck and instantly killed early this morning by a Milwaukee-Northern owl car. His head was cut off.

Milwaukee—Mrs. Lucy Brown, aged 47, wife of Dr. Frank E. Brown, died March 16 in her home. Mrs. Brown had been an invalid for seven years. She was born in Menasha, Wis. Her first husband, Everett G. Haylett, died in 1891.

Green Bay—Frank Murray, farm worker, was arrested on a charge of dynamiting Finnegan's cheese factory, in course of construction at Wrightstown, Brown county. Arraigned in municipal court, he pleaded not guilty. Preliminary hearing will be held March 25. He was released on bond.

Racine—Six-year-old Harold Hader, son of a policeman, saved his 3-year-old brother from a watery grave at the risk of his own life by jumping into the river at Kinzie avenue bridge, when the youngster had toppled over the embankment while playing, and dragging the unconscious lad to safety.

Madison—The Progress Tanning company, with a capital stock of $200,000, filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state on Monday. The incorporators, Albert H. Weinbrenner, Joseph Mueller and Chester S. Rohn, plan to buy raw hides and manufacture them into leather.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

East Grand Forks—Fire, which originated from an overheated hot-air furnace, Sunday night destroyed the house on the Arthur Keithley farm, located two miles east of town. The building and all its contests were entirely destroyed, entailing a loss of approximately $5,000.

Blackduck—The township of Nore in whichh the little village of Houpt, with one saloon, is situated went dry. There were 18 against license and 4 in favor of license.

Brainerd—Last Sunday was anti-saloon field day in Brainerd. Representative W. I. Norton spoke Sunday morning at the First Congregational church. In the evening were held two union meetings.

International Falls—William Mielke of the firm of Mielke Bros., located at Ray, was discharged from the Northern Minnesota hospital March 16, where he was confined six weeks by a broken leg. Mr. Mielke's injury was the result of a log rolling on the limb.

Moorhead—Mr. Shipley, government inspector, has left for Livingston, Mont. He will relieve D. C. Trott, who will come to Moorhead to superintend the new building.

Blue Earth—Pete Troff of Kalamazoo, Mich., was arrested here under the name of Frank W. Williams, alias Ralph True, by Deputy Sheriff George McElroy of Kalamazoo. Troff is wanted on a charge of perjury and receiving money under false pretenses on stocks and bonds.

International Falls—R. C. Fraser has returned from Duluth where last Saturday Mrs. Fraser underwent an operation. Her condition at the time of Mr. Fraser's leaving was very satisfactory.

Roseau—Fire of unknown origin, destroyed the Laurlel drug store and two empty adjoining buildings, located about two blocks from the Great Northern depot, March 16. The origin of the fire is not known. The total loss is estimated at about $5,000, about half covered with insurance.

Detroit—The biggest crowd that ever attended a public entertainment here gathered at the opera house to witness the annual school entertainment. Two hundred were unable to obtain even standing room.

Faribault—The Faribault Fair and Agricultural association has fixed the next fair dates for Sept. 16, 17 and 18.

Minneapolis—Edgar Leroy Colburn, 37 years old, died here March 17. Mr. Colburn was a member of the firm of Colburn & Head, insurance agents, and had lived in Minneapolis for six years. He is survived by a wife and two small children. The funeral will take place Thursday at 2:30 p. m. from the home and the interment will be in Lakewood cemetery.

Barnesville—Rev. A. A. Erickson, pastor of the Congregational church of this city, has resigned to accept a call extended from the West.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—Plans are being prepared for extensive changes and improvements on the Michigan hotel, which will make it one of the finest hostelries in Northern Michigan.

Lake Linden—The Portage township board held a special meeting to make arrangements for the election April 6. It was decided to hold the caucus the night of Friday, March 27. Registration will be on Saturday, March 28.

Hancock—H. Johnson of the Hancock high school announces that the local school will not be represented in the sub-district oratorical to be held at the Kerredge theater April 3.

Lake Linden—With the exception of Contractor O. Dion, who is operating for the C. & H. Mining company at Bootjack, all Torch Lake jobbers have concluded their work in the woods.

Hancock—Jihn Vidosh was slightly injured March 16 by a fall of rock at No. 8 shaft, Hecla. The falling rock struck Vidosh in the ankle, causing painful injury. He was taken to the C. & H. hospital.

Marquette—A family reunion was held at the home of Mrs. James Mitchell, Spruce street. W. F Mitchell of Milwaukee and Arthur Mitchell of Duluth, sons of Mrs. Mitchell, were here.

Negaunee—Louis Quilire of Iron Mountain, charged with a violation of the liquor law, was bound over here to the May term. Mr. Quilire is the owner of a wholesale liquor store at Iron Mountain, and is charged with selling wine in this county without a license. Mr. Quilire was released on $500 bonds.

Ishpeming—Mike Majalla, formerly of this city, who is wanted here, is in the hands of the police at Missoula, Mont., after having evaded the law for more than two years. He will be brought back.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Dickinson, N. D.—Four-trap tournaments will be held on the Missouri slope during the early part of July.

Grand Forks, N. D.—May 17 will be celebrated by the Norwegians of North Dakota at Grand Forks, two days being set apart for the Centennial festival. Dr. Theodore Warloe of Chicago will be the principal speaker.

Ellendale, N. D.—The successor of Dr. G. W. Nash as president of the Northern normal and Industrial school will probably be Willis E. Johnson, former vice president of the local institution, and now president of Ellendale normal and Industrial school, Ellendale, N. D.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The city waterworks and electric light plant will be open to public reception Thursday evening, March 19, according to announcement made today by Mayor M. F. Murphy.

Devils Lake, N. D.—E. G. Myers, a local drayman, was arrested on a charge of assault, the complaint being filed by his wife. It is rumored that the trouble started over a dispute over the expenditure of some money in having the child's picture enlarged.

Fargo, N. D.—The handsome new Fargo branch of Swift & Co., on the corner of N. P. avenue and Eighth street, was formally thrown open to the public for business Monday.

Minot, N. D.—Ward county publishers met here and formed an association with these officers: W. B. McLaughlin, Kenmare Journal, president; Dave Larin, Ryder Journal, first vice president; George Tout, Kenmare News, second vice president; F. A. Parrett, Donnybrook Courier, secretary and treasurer. The executive committee will consist of W. E. Krick, Berthold Tribune; George Tout, Kenmare News; D. R. Greene, Sawyer Telegraph; M. J. Pavlik, Carpio Free Press, and C. A. Johnson, Minot Reporter.

Beach, N. D.—Next Monday afternoon a mass meeting will be held here for the purpose of organizing a cooperative mill. The committee named some time ago decided that a mill of 100-barrel capacity would be about right and figures have been secured along those lines.

Fargo, N. D.—For the purpose of increasing interest in educational work and raising the standard in Fargo an educational council has been formed with Supt. Hoover of the city schools as president.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Only four North Dakota high schools now remain in the competition for state debating honors, Hatton, Park River, Bismarck and Rolla. Rolla gained its place in the semi-finals by a default from Westhope; Hatton defeated Grafton; Park River won from Langdon, and Bismarck from Tower City.

Minot, N. D.—Boys and girls of Ward county will have an opportunity to participate in four contests, conducted during the coming summer under the direction of the Ward Better Farming association. These are the poultry, acre yield corn contest, hog contest and wheat.

QUIET TRADE IN MARKET

Wheat Closes Slightly Higher With Strength in Coarse Grains.

Flaxseed Sells Off Fractionally on Light Business; Cables Are Up.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 18.—The market held firm up to the close. May wheat closed ½c up and July ¼c up. May durum closed unchanged and July ⅛c up.

Oats closed ½c up at 37c. Rye closed unchanged at from 54 to 56c for the best grades. There was no market in barley.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 36⅛c bid, and July at 38c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 90¾c bid and calls at 91⅛c bid.

Higher Liverpool cables and strength in corn were factors in promoting firmness in the wheat market today. Liverpool was up on firmer Manitoba offers and expected light shipments from Argentina for the rest of the season.

Bearish influences in the day came in the poor consumptive demand and the lack of export bids. News from the winter wheat territory was bearish, reports of experts telling of the generally high conditions of the plant. Snow was advised to be falling throughout a good portion of Nebraskan and Kansas.

In face of the outlook for a bumper winter wheat harvest Duluth operators are generally bullish on the market, pointing out that supplies are practically all in the show windows, and that with six months yet to intervene before the marketing of the new spring wheat crop begins, stocks will be reduced to such a low ebb that millers may have to do some scrambling to fill their contracts.

Good cash demand for wheat was reported on all the American markets today, and at Minneapolis millers again advanced the premium over May, as high as 4c premium being advised as having been paid for No. 1 hard. Receipts down there today were 129 cars against 234 last year.

Duluth inspections were 31 cars against 38 a year ago, and there were 55 cars of all grains on the tracks. Marketings from farmers in Western Minnesota and North Dakota are now extremely light, and failing a further sharp advance in the market, no improvement is looked for. Wheat stores in the elevators here have increased just 66,000 bu in the last few days, and now aggregate 13,530,000 bu.

May wheat opened unchanged at 92c and gained ⅛c up to the closing hour. The July option opened ⅛c up at 93⅛c and gained ⅛c more. May durum opened unchanged at 91c and improved a fraction on light trading. The July option also sold up ⅛c at 923/8c.

Flaxseed Slightly Off.

Flaxseed was slightly weaker today on light demand and the materializing of some realizing around the noon hour. Trading was comparatively light and mostly in small lots, with operators generally showing a disposition to sit back and await further market developments.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.60¼ and held at that figure during the first two hours' trading. Some stuff was then offered and the quotations weakened fractionally, the close coming ⅜c at $1.59⅞. The July option also opened unchanged at $1.62, and it closed ¼c down at $1.61⅜. The September seed closed nominally at $1.62½.

Cables were strong. Buenos Aires closing up ¾c; London ½c up and Antwerp unchanged.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.39⅜ bid and July at $1.42½ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

On account of the light supplies held by them, some of Chicago's elevator interests are reported to be endeavoring to buy wheat cargoes at Duluth for shipment down there at the opening of navigation. So far, however, no business has materialized as prices have been out of line.

• • •

Vessel space for wheat shipments from Duluth to Buffalo is now offering at 1⅜c a bu to book within ten days of the opening of navigation. This is on the same basis as last year. In view of the quiet demand for wheat in the East at present, little inquiry for space is being met with by vesselmen There was still afloat at Buffalo on March 16, 7,598,700 bu of all grains, loaded in 29 boats.

Broomhall's International Wheat Review says: "There has been a dull sagging market during the week without a notable feature. Speculation is being held in abeyance and although the consumptive demand is small as compared with last autumn, still it is large as compared with previous years. I reckon that the United States will furnish for the balance of the crop year 3,200,000 bu weekly and Canada perhaps a similar quantity."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The market displayed steadiness at the opening with prices ½d to ¼d higher with shorts covering and speculative support induced by the firmer Manitoba and winter wheat offers and more inquiry for Australian steamers. Following the opening the market was dull but held at the advance. Russian offers were disappointing and there is a noticeable improvement in the demand for good wheat both here and on the continent. At 1:30 p. m. the undertone was steady ¼d to ⅜d higher with support in the distant month.

"Corn opened ⅛d higher and later March gained an additional ⅛d with the undertone steady. The strength in Buenos Aires, firmness in spot, and unfavorable Argentine weather, helped the advance. There is an increasing scarcity of spot at continental centers."

Price Current says: "Winter wheat condition is continuing to be reported in excellent condition, and the loss on account of damage is most likely to fall considerably below the average. The lack of rain in the Southwest and West, is a disquieting feature. There is plenty of time for the rainfall to make the crops, but until it comes uncertainty will prevail. Oats seeding has begun and the acreage will undoubtedly fall under that of last year, according to reports of our correspondents. Hogs slaughtering in the West for the week ending March 14 were 410,000 compared with 464,000 the preceding week and 462,000 last year."

The Minneapolis cash market was firm with a very good milling demand. No. 1 hard sold at 4c over May in the morning. No. 1 blue tem, 1½@2¼c over and velvet chaff at from 1@1½c over May. A few scattered flour sales were reported. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold at from 91⅞@93⅜c and No. 2 northern at from 89¾@91⅞c.

• • •

P. W. Snow of Chicago has the following from Trego county, Kan.: "Wheat growth has begun and the condition is good. Moisture from rainfall last fall and in early winter was much above the average and the subsoil throughout the county is thoroughly saturated. Enough moisture is stored up to guarantee a good crop if we just get average weather hereafter."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Firm on Unexpectedly Light Cables.

Chicago, March 18.—Higher cables than expected tended today to make the wheat market firm. Liverpool reports showed that Russian offerings had proved a disappointment, and were not filling the gap in supplies from other sources. Opening prices were a shade to ¼c higher but not all of the gain was held.

Talk of a possible suspension of the Spanish import duty helped to sustain the market. So also did a sharp drop in Northwestern receipts. The close was easy, though, at a shade off to ⅛@¼c up, compared with last night.

Danger of a wet harvest in Argentine strengthened corn. Besides, Kansas City sent word of the most active cash demand so far this season. The market opened ⅛c to ¼@⅜c up and scored a material further advance.

On the bulge there was free profit-taking, but the offerings were quickly absorbed. The close was steady, ⅞c to 1@1¼c net higher.

Oats climbed with corn. Cash houses were active buyers.

Considerable strength developed in provisions notwithstanding lower prices at the yards. The firmness was largely due to the decided falling off in hog slaughtering west compared with last week and a year ago.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Option Prices Stay in Narrow Range With Quiet Trade.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 18.—While the demand for cash wheat was fairly active today the options were extremely quiet and prices moved in a narrow range. Reports from the winter wheat districts continue assuring and experts say they see no reason for anything short of a good crop.

Wheat—May opened 91c; high, 91¼c; low, 90⅞c; closed 91c bid. July opened 92c; high, 92⅝c; low, 92¾c; closed 92½c asked. Cash: No. 1 hard, 94¾@95c; No. 1 northern, 92½@93¾c; to arrive, 93¾c; choice to arrive, 93¾c; No. 2 northern, 90½@91¾c; to arrive, 91@92c; No. 3 wheat, 88@88½9.

STRONGER MARKET IN COPPER METAL

Trading in Mining Stocks Turns Active With Moderate Price Advances.

Trading in mining stocks was more active than in some time today and on the close moderate advances were general through the list. A bullish influence came in a better demand for copper metal and an advance of ⅛c in its quotation.

Granby again absorbed a large proportion of the day's business and it closed 25c up at $89.75 after setting a new high mark of $90.12 on this movement.

Butte & Superior closed 25c up at $36.75; Butte & Ballaklava a fraction off at $2.87; Alaska Gold 38c up at $22.50; North Butte unchanged at $28.50; Shattuck 25c up at $28; Franklin unchanged at $6.50; and Amalgamated Copper 25c up at $75.25.

Calumet & Corbin was the feature in the Duluth curb list selling at 50@31c and closing strong at 39c bid. Keating was also in demand with sales coming in at $1.25@1.38. Brokers reported it to be impossible to fill orders in the stock at around its present price basis.

At St. Louis, lead closed dull at $3.90, and spelter quiet at $5.15.

• • •

Advice from New York received by Gay & Sturgis today said: "Following the heavy purchases of electrolytic copper during the past few days, practically all of the leading producing and selling interests have advanced their asking prices ⅛c to 14½c.

"Reports this morning are that a large business is under way and that the general copper situation shows much improvement."

Directors of the Old Colony Copper company have called an assessment of $1 per share, payable April 6, on stock of record April 4.

Gay & Sturgis received the following market comment from New York this morning: "While the short interest is probably much reduced and the market therefore in a weaker position, still it is so narrow that the bear traders find it difficult to dislodge long stock in any volume. Much will depend upon immediate news from Washington.

"A pool is evidently operating in Central Leather common, and it looks very much like the pool who formerly had handling of Beet Sugar. I cannot check up in the leather trade that any such prices are warranted for the common stock of this company, but the stock is pretty closely held, and it is an easy matter to mark it up or down.

"It would not surprise me to see a little reaction today. I would not buy stocks on rallies from this level."

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Bulls' Inability to Attract Following Results in Active Selling.

Steel Trade Reports Confusing and U. S. Steel Finally Weakens.

New York, March 18.—Although the market's position appeared to be fairly strong, no initiative was displayed on the long side and the inability of the bulls to attract a following resulted in active selling by room traders. Colorado & Southern common lost 1½ and the first preferred 3½ points.

Coppers benefited for a time by higher prices for the metal, but reports from the steel trade were confusing. United States Steel ultimately weakened and the whole list gave way with it. The early advances were canceled before noon.

A few stocks were bid up rapidly at the opening of the market today. Canadian Pacific, Kansas & Texas preferred and People's Gas rose two points. Aside from these changes the movement was narrow. Trading was fairly active with a firm undertone.

Improvement in the copper metal market was reflected in a good rise in all of the copper shares, especially Amalgamated. Decision to suspend dividend of Colorado Southern first and second preferred took off the edge of the general rise.

Announcement of the retirement of George F. Baer from the directorate of the Lehigh Valley was followed by active selling of the stock which fell from 147½ to 145⅞. Exhaustion of the general selling pressure led to a better tone in the early afternoon, but the buying was extremely small.

Trading interest converged on the speculative bonds. Rock Island collaterals fell 1⅞ to 38¼, the lowest figure yet reached. Wabash refunding 4's gained nearly as much.

The market closed easy. There was a perceptible increase in selling pressure toward the end on rumors of a new government suit against Lehigh Valley and acute weakness of Rock Island bonds.

We made a wire canvas of all the brokerage centers today in regards to Calumet-Corbin and there is practically no stock listed for sale at any point.

This proves very conclusively that the recent investment buying was of the very best character and the stock has been taken right out of the market.

Today's sales were made 30 and 31 and the market closed firm at 30 bid.

We have tried our best to keep holders of this issue from sacrificing their stock and we say candidly now that plans that are being matured mean very much higher figures. These cannot be made public at this writing, but every move is in the interest of the company and will have a direct substantial influence on the price of shares.

Buy Calumet-Corbin and buy it now and buy it just as cheap as you can, but you will make no mistake in getting all you

CHURCHES MAY CONSOLIDATE

Asbury and Merritt Congregations Will Vote on Plan.

Merritt Building Would Be Moved to Central Site.

The consolidation of the Asbury Methodist and the Merritt Memorial Methodist congregations may be brought about as the result of a conference between committees representing both congregations held last night at the Merritt church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street. The question will be put up to a vote of the membership of both congregations at quarterly conferences held next week.

The personnel of the committees was as follows: Merritt church—Alva L. Merritt, Harry Merritt and O. M. Holmes; Asbury church—E. J. Zauft, J. S. Rollins and D. S. Crosby. The meeting was also attended by Rev. M. F. Burns, superintendent of the Duluth district for the Methodist Episcopal church; Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the Asbury church and Rev. W. Grant Fritz, pastor of the Merritt church, who acted in the nature of advisors to the general committees.

The joint committee adopted resolutions advocating the consolidation of the two churches to take place as soon as official sanction was given by the membership of both congregations at the next quarterly conferences, to be held by the Asbury church on Wednesday evening, next week, and at the Merritt church on Saturday evening next week.

Move Merritt Church.

The scheme as advanced is to move the Merritt church to a central location, somewhere between Central and Fifty-eighth avenues above Cody street. The cost of defraying the expense of moving the edifice will, it is expected, be largely defrayed by proceeds from the sale of the two properties now owned by the congregations.

In case official sanction is given by both congregations, immediate steps will be taken to have a location purchased and to move the church so that a permanent home for the united bodies may be had before the meeting of the general conference this fall, at which time one pastor will be appointed to fill the place.

The action to bring about the consolidation of the two churches has been talked of by members of both congregations for several years. Both have been working industriously for years in order to pay expenses.

The consolidation of the churches will remove two of the suburb's famous landmarks. The Merritt Memorial church has the distinction of being located on the spot where the first house of worship was erected in the city of Duluth. In 1854 the Oneota Presbyterian church was founded on this spot. At that time the building was a small affair and in addition to being used as a house of worship was also used as a schoolhouse. In the early eighties a new handsome edifice was erected on this spot by the Methodists.

The Asbury Methodist church was organized in 1891 under the direction of the late Dr. Robert Forbes and flourished for a number of years. Many of the influential members of both congregations have now moved out of the district and transferred their cards to larger churches of the city leaving a few members to support the smaller edifices.

STREET GRADING IS RESUMED

Crew of Men Are at Work in the "Model City."

Work on street grading and improving of thoroughfares in the "Model City" at the steel plant location was resumed yesterday after having been abandoned during the winter months. A crew of nearly 100 men was put to work.

It is planned to complete a large amount of the street work during the early part of this year. The principal work now being done consists of laying sewers, water and gas pipes and the grading of the streets. A large part of this work was begun last summer and is now well under way.

Before July 1 it is expected to have at least two paved thoroughfares in the new model city. The principal street will be the first to be given this improvement.

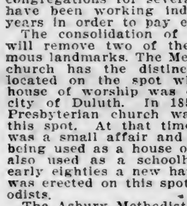
The building of homes has progressed rapidly during the winter. All of these homes are being constructed of concrete blocks and being equipped with all modern conveniences. These homes will be exclusively for the use of employes of the steel plant.

Birthday Party.

Miss Helene Lindberg, 3908 Halifax street, entertained last evening for a number of her friends in honor of her birthday. Games and music featured the entertainment. Prizes were won by Misses Ethel Lundquist, Ella Lindgren, Myrtle Borgstrom, Dorothy Bartling, Hazel Nelson and Clara Pederson. The other guests were: Misses Dorothy Hanson, Vera Dawson, Ruth Anderson, Marflaret McCarthy, Nina Gibson, Florence Hagen, Helga Johnson and Myrtle Lindberg.

WONDERFUL TREATMENT FOR CORNS, CALLOUSES AND ALL SORE FEET

Millions of people who endure daily torture from sore feet will welcome the information that there is now a simple treatment that positively and quickly cures foot ailments of all kinds. You can say goodbye to corns and callouses; bunions; swollen, aching, bad smelling and sweaty feet. This treatment works right through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Use it once and your feet feel delightful; use it for a week and your foot troubles will be a thing of the past. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." Amazing results follow. Calocide was formerly confined to doctors' use but now any druggist will supply it. If he does not have it in stock he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is said to be enough to put the worst feet in fine condition. Medical Formula Laboratories of Chicago.



ROBBERY CASE WILL GO TO JURY

The defense at the trial of Dan Korugo, 25, and Mike Oblin, 22, charged with highway robbery, rested its case in Judge Dancer's division of the district court this morning and late this afternoon the case is expected to go to the jury. County Attorney, attorney for the defense, will ing address to the jury shortly before noon. This afternoon, E. J. Kerney, attorney for the defense, will argue his side of the case and the court will charge the jury.

Korugo and Oblin with three other men, George Yurcovich, Peter Kaich and Isaac Neguin, who were convicted last week on a charge of robbery, were arrested for holding up William Downes and Rudolph Baich on the night of Feb. 20 on Commonwealth avenue, New Duluth. Downes declared that Yorcovich, Kaich and Neguin set upon him and took $5, all the money he had, and Baich's story was that Oblin and Korugo selected him for a victim and robbed him of $9.50. Two indictments were returned against all five. Yurcovich, Kaich and Neguin were brought to trial on one count and Kaich and Oblin on the other.

AMATEURS SCORE HIT.

Two St. Patrick's Day Plays Given By St. James' Church.

The young people of the St. James Catholic church scored another decided hit as stage artists at the St. Patrick's day entertainments given yesterday afternoon and evening at the Great Eastern hall, 210 North Central avenue. The two productions were attended by 860 people, 360 of whom attended the matinee performance.

In addition to the play, "Down East," which was presented in a style that would reflect credit on professional actors, an address on the significance of St. Patrick's day was given by Hon. Joseph Murphy of St. Paul. Miss Mabel Flaaten and Miss Margaret Linehan also appeared in the program in musical numbers. The cast in "Down East" was as follows:

John Nutter, a shoemaker....Roy Sears
Wm. Nutter, his son....Clifford Bujold
Ned Hartshorn, his apprentice.....
.....Leo Deutsch
Henry Douglas, a spendthrift.....
.....Alex Bethune

All Members of Loyal ORDER OF MOOSE wishing to visit Superior Lodge tonight will meet at Cody Hotel corner to take 7:30 car, which will make connections with chartered car at Garfield avenue and Superior street. By order of COMMITTEE.

WITH THE CURLERS.

What May Be Last Game of Season Is Scheduled.

The last game of the season may be played tonight at the Western Curling club. The game tonight will be in the finals of the West Duluth Commercial club event between Wade and Zauft. The word "may" is used because if it still remains cold after tonight Wade will be called on to play in order to defend the club championship buttons which he has now held for the last two weeks.

Four West Duluth rinks have arranged to go to Superior tonight to play against a like number of rinks in the village across the bay. The rinks which will go will be skipped by H. C. Brown, Melvin Olson, Thomas Quinn and Kenneth McDonald. They will meet at the Sody hotel corner at 7 o'clock tonight.

Last night Charles Ilts had an easy victory over the Wade rink in the final contest of the Merricken cup. The winners started out in the lead and maintained it throughout the game, closing with a score of 11 to 7.

Hostess to Young Women.

Mrs. N. L. Wenner, 3920 West Fourth street, enteretained last evening for a number of young women at her home. Games and music were enjoyed. Luncheon was served the following: Misses B. Trudeau, C. Matson, H. Olson, M. Peterson, K. Guilbault, E. Johnson, A. Carlson, C. Sunderland, S. Peterson, M. Heideman, M. Costigan, Hulda Olson, I. Timney and M. Sullivan.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The West Duluth Women's Christian Temperance union will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Little, 624 North Fifty-sixth avenue west. Miss Jessie Mauck will be leader and discuss the subject, "One Just Out of Prison."

Will Entertain Club.

Mrs. N. L. Wenner, 3920 West Fourth street will entertain Saturday evening at cards for the 500 club at her home. The members of the club are: Messrs. and Mesdames: E. L. Munroe, C. Madsen, J. Mueller, C. Kauppi, R. Saunters and R. Murnian.

Little Girl Dies.

Helen E. McNulty, the 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McNulty, 5611 Main street, died yesterday afternoon. The funeral arrangements will be made following the arrival of out-of-town relatives.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mrs. L. H. Hanson of 5723 Tacony street celebrated her twenty-sixth wedding anniversary yesterday at a St. Patrick's party. Green and white were used for decorations, ferns in the dining room and roses in the living room. The favors were shamrocks. Prizes were won by Mrs. Charles P. Howard of Superior and Mrs. Marie Alveson. There were twenty-six guests.

West Duluth Briefs.

Miss Sigrid Anderson of West Duluth, who has been in a Chicago hospital finishing her training as a nurse during the winter will remain in Chicago until after the graduating exercises in May and then expects to return to Duluth.

The Young People's society of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church entertained last evening at a musical and literary program.

Dr. M. T. Burns, superintendent of the Duluth district for the Methodist Episcopal church, will preach Sunday morning at the Asbury Methodist church, Sixtieth avenue west and Releigh street.

Miss Fern Brooks, 432 North Fifty-ninth avenue west, will entertain Friday evening for the first of a series of teas to be given by the Dr. Bacon Missionary society of the West Duluth Baptist church.

Pocahontas council, No. 319, Royal League, entertained last evening at its second of a series of four dancing parties at the Dormedy hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street. The affair was attended by about seventy couples.

A chimney fire did about $25 damage to the roof of a building at 326 South Fifty-ninth avenue west yesterday.

Watch repairing. Hurst, West Duluth.

ARE ASKING TO BE INSPECTED

Building Owners More Than Willing to Obey Smoke Ordinance.

Numerous requests are being received by Smoke Inspector J. W. Schneider from owners and agents of buildings to check their stacks to determine whether or not they are coming within the ordinance, which provides that dense smoke shall not be emitted for more than six minutes in any hour.

Mayor Prince and the smoke inspector state that a most encouraging desire to reduce the smoke nuisance to a minimum is being manifested throughout the city. They find a general willingness to co-operate with the municipal authorities.

"As we get further along we learn that building owners and managers and the railroad officials have been making an extensive investigation of the smoke problem," said the mayor. "They inform us that it is to their interest to fire scientifically, as the heat units now being wasted represent a big financial loss which they would be glad to eliminate. The benefits to be derived are mutual, and we feel certain that as we proceed there will be a steady improvement of smoke conditions in the city. The public wants to be relieved of the physical aspects of the nuisance and the men who pay the coal bills are equally anxious to secure the economic benefits to be derived by proper firing."

The smoke inspector will make regular observations of locomotives as well as of buildings. The results will be forwarded to those who are in charge of the stacks, and where it is desired the inspector will personally visit the firemen or engineers. The campaign against the smoke nuisance will be conducted along educational lines and the ordinance will be used only as a last resort.

IMPROVING THE WATER FRONT

Harbormaster Working to Have Old Eyesores Removed.

Harbormaster Inman will this year continue the campaign which he started last season to improve the appearance of the water front of the local harbor.

Although navigation is not yet open he has already commenced planning for further betterments and the elimination of some of the eyesores which still remain. Among these is an abandoned dock owned by the Great Northern near the foot of Sixth avenue west. The property is opposite the dock at which many passenger boats land during the season and its unsightly appearance does not make a favorable first impression upon visitors.

The harbormaster has taken up the matter with the Great Northern officials. This morning he informed Mayor Prince that he had received an answer from them stating that the improvement of the dock would receive early attention.

Last year several abandoned hulks were removed through the efforts of the harbormaster. One was dismantled and arrangements were made to cover others. The promiscuous dumpings of garbage in various slips was also discontinued.

FIND SITES FOR CITY OIL TANKS.

James G. Lawson, superintendent of maintenance of the works division, has secured sites for locating the two 10,000-gallon tanks which will be used this season for the storage of road oil which will be used for laying dust on the city's streets. One will be placed on city property adjacent to the Iron Range right-of-way near the foot of Fourteenth avenue east and the other on the right-of-way near Thirty-first avenue west. They will be about 9 feet above the ground so that the tanks of the wagons which will be used for distribution can be filled by gravity, eliminating the expense and inconvenience of pumping. Oil will be used on the streets of eight districts this season, as compared with four last year. It is estimated that about 140,000 gallons will be used.

CITY AND LOT OWNER MAKE A BARGAIN.

Mayor Prince stated this morning that the park department has made arrangements to tear down the old stone wall near Eighth avenue east and Superior street and to use the material in making improvements, which have been planned for Lake Shore park this summer. The department will also level the lot and utilize the dirt for filling purposes. The western end of the park lies on the opposite side of the street, so that a very short haul will be necessary. The property owner and the city both benefit by the deal, as the lot will be improved and the city will be able to use the material to great advantage.

Rob Butte Roadhouse.

Butte, Mont., March 18.—Two masked bandits Monday night held up the Smith roadhouse near Butte and compelled two bartenders and three Chinamen to hold up their hands while one of the outlaws blew open the cash register with a pistol shot. The robbers secured $600.

Bishop Bristol Better.

Chicago, March 18.—Bishop Frank M. Bristol of the Methodist Episcopal church of Omaha, Neb., who has been seriously ill of acute indigestion at a Chicago hotel, was reported improved today. Unless unexpected complications develop it is expected he will be able to return home within a week.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 1477 Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

PLAYING CATCH WITH RAILROADS

Insane Woman With Queer Hallucination Taken From Dangerous Position.

Standing on the topmost ledge of the Point of Rocks at Eleventh avenue west and Superior street, Esther Marsh, 51 years old, went through several motions yesterday afternoon that would convey the impression she was catching something from heaven.

Some of the residents in the vicinity of the Point of Rocks immediately notified police headquarters, and Patrolman Glendenning and Jailor Louis Johnson were sent to the scene with the police ambulance. They found the woman on the same ledge still in the act of catching something. And when Jailor Johnson inquired as to the reason for her act, the woman replied that she was catching railroads from the clouds.

"They are falling down pretty fast, and I guess it is up to me to catch them. I am getting $500 for this afternoon's work alone," she answered, by way of explanation.

This did not sound very plausible to Jailor Johnson, and he took the woman to police headquarters, where she was booked up as an insane suspect. A little later she was removed to St. Luke's hospital, where she was given medical treatment. Her case has been referred to the probate court.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Five Hundred Dollars and interest at six per cent from September 12th, 1912, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by James A. Kirkwood, Jr., Mortgagor, to William M. Prindle, Leo Shapiro and George G. Newton, Mortgagees, bearing date the 12th day of September, 1912, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Registrar of Titles in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 19th day of September, 1912, at two o'clock P. M., as document No. 10126 and entered in Register of Titles No. 51, on page 142, and which mortgage covers lands originally registered on June 7, 1902, the certificate of title therefor being recorded in the office of the Registrar of Titles in Book 1, Register of Titles, page 4, according to the provisions of Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws of 1905 and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

And whereas, The said William M. Prindle, Leo Shapiro and George G. Newton, Mortgagees and Holders of said Mortgage, have duly elected and do hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said Mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said Mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of Thirteen Hundred ($1,300.00) Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum from the 12th day of September, 1912, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Lot One (1), Block C, London Addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County and State, on the Fourth day of April, 1914, at ten o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Thirteen Hundred Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Seventy-five Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 16th, A. D. 1914.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

WHY DON'T YOU LEARN MORE ABOUT SUNNYSIDE GARDENS

and the great opportunities offered there for the profitable growing of small fruit, such as strawberries, raspberries, currants, etc.; also poultry raising and truck farming?

DO YOU KNOW

that strawberry growers in this district have made as high as $1,000 per acre? There is a reason for this. Why not inquire? And that these 10-acre suburban farms can be bought on monthly payments of $10 to $12.50 per month.

WOULDN'T IT SEEM TO YOU

that the land at Sunnyside, which is located only four miles from the city limits of Superior, where the combined population of Duluth and Superior amount to nearly 150,000 and growing rapidly, would have a great speculative value?

Sunnyside has two macadamized auto roads leading into Superior and Duluth, as well as three railroads and a dozen trains a day; also daily mail and telephone service. The land is level, free from rocks, easily cleared and a fine soil for intensive cultivation. It offers you every advantage possible even to the extent of living there and working in the city if you want to.

ASK US

for our descriptive matter telling what others are doing, and we will send it to you free of charge, together with maps, prices and other interesting information. Over 100 have already bought 10-acre farms here.

WILL SELL UNDIVIDED INTEREST in a 40-acre apple orchard located in Bitter Root valley, Montana. This orchard is full 6 years old and will bear its first commercial crop this year. The owner won't dispose of the entire 40 acres, but will sell undivided interests to about one-half of it as follows:

1-acre tracts at $400 per acre.
5-acre tracts at $375 per acre.
10-acre tracts at $350 per acre.
20-acre tracts at $300 per acre.

Owner also guarantees that this year's upkeep will not cost you more than $20 per acre, which should easily be returned from crop.

This is a snap. Ask anyone owning orchards in Bitter Root valley—plenty of them in Duluth. Write B 169, Herald.

INDIANA DEMOCRATS GIVE HIGH PRAISE TO NATIONAL LEADERS

Adopt Platform Heartily Indorsing the Wilson Administration.

Favor State-Wide Primary Law After Clash in Committee.

Shiveley Is Renominated for Senator Without Opposition.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 19.—High tribute was paid to the national administration, President Wilson, Vice President Marshall and Secretary Bryan in the platform of the Democratic party adopted at the state convention here today. "Such a fulfillment of party pledges in the first year has been without a parallel in the history of the country," the document says.

"The Democracy of Indiana," reads the platform, in delegate convention assembled, remembering the great responsibility cast upon the Democratic party of the nation by the overwhelming voice of the people at the last national election, points with supreme pride and satisfaction to the record of its achievements within the first year of its accession to power, as without a parallel in history for prompt and complete fulfillment of the party's pledges to the people.

Pledges Redeemed.

"We heartily commend the untiring zeal and ceaseless labors of President Wilson, Vice President Marshall and the Democratic members of congress, in both the senate and the public, for the prompt and faithful manner in which they redeemed the "solemn pledges made by the party to the people in the Baltimore platform of 1912."

The platform contains planks putting the party on record as favoring a state-wide primary law, an arbitration not similar to the Erdman law and a

"Working Agreement" Is Accomplished By West Virginia Parties.

Parkersburg, W. V., March 19.—A joint committee appointed late yesterday by the state organizations of Republicans and Progressives reported a resolution calling upon parties to recommend to the voters that they cooperate and carry out the principles of the Huntington and Charleston conventions of 1912. It is believed that harmony has been established between the two factions in West Virginia, as both parties consented.

A resolution was adopted by the Republican committee calling a delegate state convention at Charleston March 30 to act on matters presented from the national committee. The basis of representation to the convention will be one delegate for each 150 of the combined votes of Republicans and Progressives at the last election.

Working Agreement.

A further resolution was adopted providing for a state-wide primary for the nomination of congressmen-at-large, district congressmen and county officers. A date for the primary has not been announced.

A thorough working agreement has been established between the two parties. The Progressives, however, are to retain their separate identity. In the general primaries Republicans and Progressives will both run on the ticket, the high man later being supported by both parties.

It was long after midnight when the conference adjourned.

GUESTS BURNED OUT OF MILWAUKEE HOTEL

No Lives Are Lost, But Property Damage Is $200,000.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 19.—Guests of the Windsor hotel numbering nearly two score were compelled to flee for their lives early today when a fire which broke out in the plant of the Western Newspaper union, located in the south portion of the building on the east side of Milwaukee street between Michigan and Wisconsin streets, gutted the four-story structure and caused damages to other adjoining properties.

Charles Sandberg, lessee of the hotel, announced this morning that every guest of the hotel got out safely. The property loss is estimated at $200,000, partly covered by insurance.

The job department of the Evening Wisconsin, one of Milwaukee's oldest newspapers, was considerably damaged by smoke and water, and the basement containing the newspaper presses was flooded with several feet of water.

Borrowed Newspaper Plant.

The Evening Wisconsin's electrical department which is used to operate the presses and typesetting machines was put out of commission, but the paper will issue as usual, having accepted an offer of the use of a plant of one of the morning dailies.

A fire wall separating the upper floors of the Evening Wisconsin building from the hotel structure probably saved the newspaper plant from total destruction.

The Western Newspaper Union's loss is estimated at $40,000 and that of the Milwaukee Printer and Roller company, $20,000.

The loss on hotel building is placed at $40,000.

Other losses in the way of smoke and water sustained by the Standard Blank Book Manufacturing company, the Milwaukee Novelty Dye Works, and the warehouse of the T. A. Chapman Dry Goods company, together with the hotel contents, bring the aggregate up to the total.

NO NEW PROBE OF NEW HAVEN

Commerce Commissioners Are Inclined to Think It Needless.

Settlement Between Government and Railroad Seems Near.

Washington, March 19.—The interstate commerce commission is taking preliminary steps to determine whether further investigation of New Haven railroad financial affairs is necessary to develop information called for in a resolution by Senator Norris, which was passed on Feb. 7.

The resolution seeks to determine what became of New Haven money invested in various enterprises; whether any persons authorizing those investments are liable to punishment; whether any money so invested can be recovered for stockholders; and what laws may be necessary to prevent future transactions of a like character.

The senate, however, especially provided that the commission need not duplicate the work of its original investigation. Some commissioners are of the opinion that the information asked had already been developed as far as the commission may do so, and that further inquiry is unnecessary.

It has not been determined whether hearings will be held or whether witnesses will be summoned.

May Settle Action.

Negotiations between the department of justice and the New Haven railroad will be resumed tomorrow. It was believed today that they would be final and that a settlement would be reached within a few days.

T. W. Gregory, Jesse C. Adkins and F. M. Swacker of the department of justice returned today from New England, where they have been gathering first hand information about men suggested as trustees for the Connecticut & Rhode Island trolley lines, which the New Haven is to give up. They declined to comment on their trip, but it was understood that the department and the New Haven were about to agree on the personnel of those boards. That has been a vital point in the efforts to reach a settlement, and if it is cleared up, little difficulty in arranging other details is expected.

MISSOURI HAS NEW TASTE OF WINTER

Mercury Goes Down and Snow Covers Big Area.

Kansas City, Mo., March 19.—Heavy overcoats that were consigned to mothproof quarters when signs of spring became pronounced here early in the week, were hastily resurrected today. A temperature several degrees below freezing caused Kansas City to shiver, while a snow and ice covered landscape completed the suggestion of a lingering winter.

Snow fell over Western Missouri and most of Kansas during last night and today, adding to the three inches that came in many sections yesterday. Temperatures glided downward and today most thermometers in this territory registered more than 60 deg. under the high point of Sunday, when 82 was recorded here.

While some fear has been held as to the effect of the cold on fruit buds, many fruit growers said the present temperatures, if not long continued, would do little injury. Clearing skies and warmer temperatures are predicted for tomorrow.

MISSING SCHOONER FOUND BY CUTTER

Norfolk, Va., March 19.—The schooner Elisha Atkins of Bath, Me., with a crew of nine, lost and in distress for three days off the Virginia coast, was found early today by the revenue cutter Onondaga three miles southwest of the wreck of the Old Dominion liner Monroe. A tug started for Baltimore with the schooner.

GUARD ULSTER ARMS DEPOTS

England Apparently Fears Raids By Volunteer Forces.

Commons See Effort to Get Vote of Censure of Asquith.

Belfast, March 19.—The government is taking the precaution of increasing the military guard, both day and night, at a number of the arms and ammunition depots in Ulster, including Carrickfergus castle and the Enniskillen castle barracks. Apparently the government is apprehensive of raids by the Ulster volunteers.

Moves Vote for Censure.

London, March 19.—A vote of censure on the British government was moved today in the house of commons by Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition. It was based on Premier Asquith's refusal on Monday to give details of the scheme of local option by which the nine counties of Ulster would be permitted to vote separately on the question of the new Irish government.

The leader of the opposition offered to give a guarantee that if the government would take a referendum of the United Kingdom on the home rule bill and local option proposal, the Unionists, both in the house of lords and in the house of commons, would place nothing in the way of carrying out the will of the people.

Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, backed up Mr. Law's offer by saying that if the premier was prepared to give him a definite offer of a referendum, he would accept that decision.

Premier Asquith rejected the proposal after a heated colloquy.

Carson Not to Be Arrested.

It was officially declared that there is no truth in a statement made today by the Globe that warrants have been signed for the arrest of Sir Edward Carson and other Unionist leaders.

Sir Edward Carson, who formerly was Conservative solicitor general, always has been one of the most fiery opponents of home rule for Ireland. On several occasions he has stated that the people of Ulster would refuse to recognize a parliament in Dublin. In September last year, in the course of a speech to the "Ulster volunteers," he said:

"We have the pledges of some of the greatest generals in the British army that they will come over and help us keep the old flag flying when the time arrives."

First to Sign Covenant.

In September, 1912, he was the first to put his signature to the covenant entered into by the Ulster men, which binds them to "use all the means that may be found necessary to defeat the present conspiracy to set up home rule in Ireland."

Sir Edward has been the central figure in the house of commons and in the country in the campaign against home rule. He declared in December last year at Nottingham that the Ulster "Volunteers" numbered 90,000 men and were well trained and armed.

PAYS TAX ON HIS LOVE AND AFFECTION

Wisconsin Man Sends Official $1 and Asks for "Receit."

Green Bay, Wis., March 19.—"Love and affection tax" is something new in Brown county, but it appears to be a tax which Joe Laviolette of Appleton considers should be paid. The county treasurer today received a letter containing a mone yorder for $1, which the sender says is for "my love and affection tax." He requests the treasurer to send him a "receit" for the tax.

LIVING MAN IN ST. LOUIS RUIN

Victim of Wall Collapse Is Rescued After Thirty-seven Hours.

His Death Later Brings the List of Fatalities to Seven.

St. Louis, Mo., March 19.—Thirty-seven and a half hours after he had been buried beneath tons of debris, Thomas Burke was taken from the ruins of the St. Louis Seed company building alive this morning. The seed building was demolished when a portion of a seven-story wall of the burned Missouri Athletic club building toppled over on it Tuesday afternoon. Thirty lives were lost in the fire that destroyed the Athletic club structure.

During the early morning hours three bodies were taken from the Seed company ruins, bringing the total of recovered dead to six.

Burke died at the city hospital seven hours after being taken from the ruins, making the number of dead seven.

Workmen Heard Cries.

Workmen digging in the ruins to extricate a dead body were startled by cries for a drink from under the wreckage in the basement. Officials set the entire force of eighty men to work in an effort to locate the call. After half an hour of frantic digging the men tore away a section of flooring and a heavy beam which pinioned Burke and a dead body.

When Burke was taken from the debris he pleaded for a drink and then started to tell of his experiences, but ambulance physicians who were on the scene forbade him to speak because of his weakened condition. He was taken to the hospital suffering from a badly bruised foot.

The finding this morning of three dead bodies and the rescue of Burke from the basement of the building gave rise to the belief that three other workmen and a women who are unaccounted for since the collapse, still are buried in the ruins. Two of the dead bodies are unidentified.

Raze Ruins With Dynamite.

Building Commissioner McKelvey probably will use dynamite today in an effort to raze the ruins of the Missouri Athletic club. Five unsuccessful attempts were made yesterday to tear down the standing walls by means of steel cables and trolley cars. Only two small sections were torn down in this manner, the cables breaking in the other attempts.

The club building stood in the center of St. Louis' biggest retail district and the successive disasters have demoralized working forces in offices and department stores. Owners of buildings in the same square with the club were notified to dismiss their forces for the day for fear the falling walls may cause further loss of life.

SAY MRS. WILSON WILL BE OUT SOON

White House Officials Deny Operation Was Serious.

Washington, March 19.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is convalescing from the effects of a fall over a rug on the White House floor. Officials at the executive offices said her injury was an external one of no seriousness, and that she would be out again attending to social engagements in a day or two.

White House officials said today that Mrs. Wilson had undergone a slight operation to correct the effects of the bruise which she received from her fall, but they said it was entirely a local one. They denied that social engagements cancelled by members of the family yesterday were on that account.

JONES GIVEN STRAIGHT TIP

President Warns Senator He "Skated on Thin Ice."

Flatly Denies Charges Made in Panama Tolls Speech.

Washington, March 19.—President Wilson told Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington today that he was "skating on thin ice" in his speech yesterday, which broadly intimated that the president had not decided to read a message to congress on the Panama tolls question until after Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, visited the White House.

The senator came to discuss with the president certain regulations of a pending fisheries bill affecting the salmon industries of the West, but Mr. Wilson turned the conversation to the senator's speech of yesterday.

The president told callers afterwards that he could not get a suggestion on the Mexican question out of Sir Lionel "with a corkscrew," and that the conference was purely for information on the general situation in Mexico. The president had written his tolls message and decided to deliver it before he saw Sir Lionel. Officials said neither the tolls question nor any suggestions for future policy in the Mexican situation came up in the talk with Sir Lionel.

Senator Jones today returned to the capitol and gave the senate the president's unqualified denial.

"The president assures me," said Mr. Jones, "that there was no basis of fact in the articles I referred to, to warrant the conclusions with regard to this government and its relations with Great Britain in the matter."

POPE IS "SALUTED" BY THUNDER STORM

Pontiff Has Fatiguing Day on His Anniversary.

Rome, March 19.—"This is a salute for my name day," exclaimed Pope Pius when he was awakened early today by a terrific storm accompanied by vivid flashes of lightning and loud peals of thunder.

His holiness shortly afterward celebrated mass in the presence of several specially invited guests, including his sisters and niece. After the mass his two sisters, who reside in Rome and his niece, Signorina Parolin, daughter of another sister, were received by the pope in his private apartments where they stayed to breakfast.

The audiences then began and a fatiguing day's work for the pontiff ensued, although every function was cut to as brief a point as possible. He had already received the congratulations of the sacred college yesterday, but a few of the cardinals returned to renew them today.

Traditional Gifts.

He greeted also the members of his household and received a delegation from the Club of St. Peter, which presented him with a basket of fruit and flowers, the traditional gifts on this occasion.

All the corps of guards celebrated the occasion in some way—either by illuminating their quarters or giving a display of fireworks. During the changing of the guard the bands played and the colors of the various companies were unfurled.

Hundreds of telegrams and addresses of congratulation were received at the vatican from all parts of the world, many of them coming from the United States. The pope himself dictated the replies in several cases personally. His holiness appeared to be in excellent spirits.

NO REST FOR THE WEARY.

MORE U. S. TROOPS SENT TO RIO GRANDE; NO BIG BATTLE YET

Torreon and Mazatlan May Be Attacked at Same Time.

Huerta Minister Is Said to Be on Visit to Lind.

Dictator's Power Seems Lessened By Financial Conditions.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 19.—Two battalions of the Ninth infantry regiment, U. S. A., Col. Crane commanding, comprising 690 men and 25 officers, will leave Fort Thomas, Ky., late today for Laredo, Texas, on the Mexican border.

Regiment From Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., March 19.—The Seventeenth United States infantry left Fort McPherson today in three special trains for Eagle Pass, Tex., to join the border patrol. Eight hundred men were in the command.

Battalion from Little Rock.

Little Rock, Ark., March 19.—Four companies of the Ninth United States infantry left here today for Laredo, Tex. The battalion is commanded by Capt. J. V. Heidt.

No Important Fighting Yet.

Juarez, Mex., March 19.—The ban on news from the interior below this point remained firm early today. Indirect information, however, indicated there had been no fighting of consequence during the last few days.

Gen. Villa in his official advices did not make known his plans or what was occurring to the north of Torreon. Officials here seemed to be as ignorant as the public.

A simultaneous attack on Torreon and Mazatlan was predicted today in advices received here. It was said that while Gen. Villa's rebel army was moving against Torreon, forces under Gen. Alvara Obregon would assault Mazatlan. Obregon was reported to be mov-

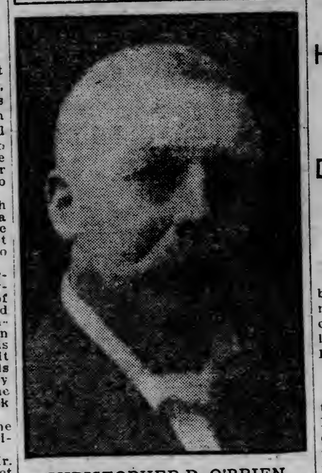
ANOTHER BRITISH AVIATOR IS KILLED

Salisbury, Eng., March 19.—Another officer of the Royal Flying corps of the British army was killed here today. Lieut. H. F. Treeby of the Duke of Wellington's West Riding regiment, was flying in a biplane over the army aviation grounds when the machine sideslipped and fell to earth from a height of 250 feet.

MAY BE NAMED AS JUDGE OF U. S. DISTRICT COURT



CHRISTOPHER D. O'BRIEN,

St. Paul, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.) — Christopher D. O'Brien, former mayor of St. Paul and one of the oldest and best-known lawyers in the Northwest, probably will be named to succeed the late Judge C. A. Willard on the bench of the United States district court. It is said he has the solid backing of the Democracy in St. Paul and that his name has been formally presented at Washington by National Committeeman Fred B. Lynch.

WILL HONOR BRYAN WITH BRYAN ABSENT

Birthday Dinner Is Prepared at Lincoln, Neb.

Lincoln, Neb., March 19.—Members of the Democratic party of national and state prominence are to meet here tonight in a banquet in honor of the fifty-fourth birthday of Secretary of State Bryan. For the first time in several years the secretary will not be in attendance, but a message of greeting was received from him today which will be read tonight.

United States Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, Governor John Morehead of Nebraska, and Joseph W. Folk, chief counsel for the interstate commerce commission, are to be the principal speakers, with local Democrats who will be called upon by Toastmaster C. F. Shavely, president of the Lincoln Bryan club.

Treaties Not Ready.

Washington, March 19.—Secretary Bryan celebrated his fifty-fourth birthday anniversary today, receiving congratulations of colleagues and friends. He had expected to celebrate the event by signing peace treaties with Brazil, Argentine and Chile, but the conventions were not prepared in time.

JACOBSON HEAD OF ANTI-EBERHART MEN

Is Made Chairman of State Conference at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Delegates from nearly every county in Minnesota are here today, attending a conference of forces opposed to the present state administration. The purpose of the meeting was to decide upon a candidate for governor who would unite all factions. Six candidates are now in the field for the gubernatorial nomination, and today's gathering hoped to formulate an elimination process that would clarify the situation.

Jacob F. Jacobson, once a Republican candidate for governor, was chosen chairman of the conference. It was expected to be late afternoon before any definite action would be taken.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

Senator Jones pressed for action on his resolution calling on the president for information on the Panama canal tolls controversy.

Lands committee favorably acted on a resolution for government acquisition of Monticello.

Lobby committee agreed to meet tomorrow and agree on taking further testimony on the alleged Panama tolls lobby.

Senator Smith of South Carolina gave notice he would ask passage of his cotton bill tomorrow.

HOUSE.

Met at noon.

Debate was resumed on the rivers and harbors appropriation bill.

Mines committee arranged plans for further testimony on the Colorado and Michigan strike troubles.

Capt. W. H. Westcott of San Francisco testified before the marine committee in favor of the Hardy bill.

Currency committee arranged to confer with President Wilson on rewards for Col. Goethals and other Panama canal workers.

Mines committee arranged to take the testimony of John Mitchell on the Calumet strike.

THE FAMOUS TRIP OF THE OREGON

THEN.

Sixteen years ago today the battleship Oregon began the most remarkable long-distance race against time in all naval history. On this date in 1898 it left San Francisco to join the warships in Atlantic waters. There was an effort to surround the Oregon's movements with secrecy, but everybody guessed her mission and bets were made on the success of the trip. Tension relaxed for a time after the Oregon appeared at Callao, Peru, her first stop, but it became the more acute as she steamed southward toward the Straits of Magellan, where a Spanish torpedo boat lurked and tempestuous seas made the passing of the straits hazardous. After thirty-three days out of San Francisco the Oregon dashed into the Atlantic, and up the coast, evading the Spanish warships reported lying in wait for her. On the evening of May 24 she steamed into Jupiter bay, having covered the 14,000 miles in sixty-seven days. The record trip made her commander, now Rear Admiral Charles E. Clark (retired), a national hero.

NOW.

Today the Oregon's trip may be safely recorded as the only one and the last of its kind. No other warship is likely to be called upon to make the circuit of South America. Before another year can come to pass, the gateway of the oceans will have been opened at Panama. Then a modern battleship, steaming at the same rate as the Oregon, might make Jupiter bay, Fla., from San Francisco in less than twenty days. She would not suffer for want of coal, as did the Oregon. She would need to refill her bunkers but once, and this while passing through the canal. During the eight to twelve hours' passage of the isthmus the engineers could repair or overhaul her machinery, and barnacles, the bane of high speed, would be cleaned. Thus refreshed, the battleship could dash across the Gulf of Mexico and into battle line well stocked with both fuel and ammunition.

"It takes a man like Charles Klein to forget his marvelous store of knowledge and his library, and to see straight into the human heart for the real things of human life," says Miss Rose Stahl, the star of "Maggie Pepper," who will be seen at the Lyceum, Friday and Saturday.

"Do you know that's real genius—just that forgetting and becoming one with the great mass of people? That's why we all love 'Maggie Pepper.' It is because she is genuine. There is only wholesome sentiment about her. She's in a man's world fighting a woman's battle in the very best way she knows how—not with the foolish weapon of her sex, but with her brains. She is right on the level. It's business, business, business with her. Doesn't she appeal to you as a sort of lesson to the cuddled-up, over-dressed woman at home?

"As for slang. Why, that is as much the product of the American people as the Stars and Stripes. When Maggie says to Hargen—'So you've put it all up to me, have you?'—she has spoken the entire tragedy of her life. It's pretty sure to be all up to the woman anyway, and Maggie—she just bears it like a man, yes, even better than a man, I think. Never a tear. She's just right up against it, just like hundreds of other women who are trying to earn their living, and the fact is that she is so brave about it—just trying to hide that heart of hers, as if it didn't exist at all—that's what makes the people out over the footlights get busy with their tear duets.

"A woman said to me the other day: Miss Stahl, I didn't know that life downtown was cold and hard like that. Nobody in that store seemed to care about Maggie Pepper, and so I just had to cry. My heart just ached and ached for her.' Now that was a great compliment, and if the play only taught that one lesson to the other women, it would have served its purpose. But I believe it has served a purpose that reaches to the very heart of things in the woman's problem today. What, indeed, would be the fluffs and frills of the idle rich were it not for the Maggie Peppers? The fine embroideries, after all, don't count for much, only when against that vast background of workers—the girls in department stores, in the offices, in the working world everywhere. They are, after all, the pillars of society."

When Lillian Shaw pushes her baby carriage on the stage of the Orpheum, and waddles out for her impersonation of a worn-out German matron, the hilarious crowd which greets her with a roar of appreciative laughter is far from suspecting the care and study which has gone into the composition of her impersonation.

Miss Shaw's appearance at the Orpheum this week in song portrayals of German, Italian and Yiddish types has been one of the features of the bill. She can sketch a character in a moment by her mere gait and appearance, and her slightest nod elicits merriment. When a singer exhibits such command of an audience, it is a very safe bet that hard work has gone to the making of such proficiency.

This is especially true of Miss Shaw, who told yesterday of her search for types for her impersonation.

"Where do I find my types?" she said. "Everywhere. It is a matter of constant study with me. I go much among the lower classes of our foreign population for the purpose of observing them. That is why the audience seems so pleased with them. They recognize that they are real, for they are all based on actual observation."

Friday evening the diving contest for young women will be held.

Newspaper Advertisement Points Way to Health

I can truthfully say that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is a very good medicine, not alone for kidney trouble, but also for weak and sore back, as well as for rheumatism.

About a year ago I became ill and unable to work, my trouble being a lame back. I read of your Swamp-Root in the newspaper and in an Almanac. Believing it would do me good, I went to my druggist, Mr. Skinner, and purchased a bottle. Finding relief in one fifty-cent bottle, I purchased several more and in a short time was able to continue with my work and am to-day feeling well and strong. I always recommend Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to my friends as I believe it is as good a medicine as can be found.

DETROIT HOTEL CLERK HELD UP

Robber Escapes in Automobile With $350 in Cash.

Detroit, Mich., March 19.—An armed robber held up W. H. Burns, night clerk in the office of the Hotel Metropole, nearly opposite the city hall, early today, and compelled him to hand over $350 in cash. The robber then leaped into a waiting limousine, pressed a revolver against the head of the driver and ordered him to speed toward the suburbs. He left the car about three miles from the downtown district and escaped.

The bandit, who was dressed in a fur-lined overcoat and soft hat, said to the driver as he left the automobile:

"I just missed a $5,000 job in Chicago, but this will help to make up for it."

Like Chicago Robbery.

In many respects, the police say, the robbery was similar to the one in the Briggs house in Chicago yesterday.

The driver of the automobile, Robert Smith, said he had picked up the passenger at the Hotel Cadillac, a large downtown hotel, where the man had registed as James B. Fortan of Buffalo. After leaving the Cadillac the driver was told to stop at the Hotel Pontchartrain, a prominent hotel adjoining the Hotel Metropole. After stopping there, however, he was told to drive on to the Metropole, and the robbery took place.

HOW TO PREVENT ACID STOMACHS AND FOOD FERMENTATION

By a Stomach Specialist.

As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, that which causes all the pain and difficulty, is acid in the stomach, usually due to, or aggravated by, food fermentation. Acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach and food fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach abnormally, causing that full bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past endurance by these foreign elements—acid and wind. In all such cases—and they comprise over 90 per cent of all stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation by taking in a little warm or cold water immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonfuls of bisurated magnesia, which is doubtless the best and only really effective antacid and food corrective known. The acid will be neutralized and the fermentation stopped almost instantly, and your stomach will at once proceed to digest the food in a healthy, normal manner. Be sure to ask your chemist for the bisurated magnesia, as I have found other forms utterly lacking in its peculiarly valuable properties.—F. J. G.—Advertisement.

OKLAHOMA STATE REFORMATORY AFIRE

No Convicts Escape Though Blaze Is Laid to Inmates.

The fire was believed to have been kindled by prisoners.

ANOTHER FRENCH MINISTER RESIGNS

Ernest Monis, Minister of Marine, Follows Caillaux's Example.

Paris, March 19.—Mme. Caillaux's assassination of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, brought about another change in the French cabinet today, when Ernest Monis, minister of marine, added his resignation to that of Joseph Caillaux, minister of finance. A meeting of the cabinet council accepted the resignation. For the present, Albert F. Lebrun, minister of colonies, will act also as minister of marine.

Mme. Caillaux still is the object of deep popular sympathy. Crowds took advantage today of the mid-Lenten holiday to gather at the gates of Saint Lazare prison, the women's penitentiary, where she is in custody. The people manifested great curiosity in the visitors to the jail, who included the lawyers engaged for her defense.

Guard Caillaux's House.

In the central districts of Paris, as well as in the more turbulent quarters on the south side of the Seine, the police had taken every precaution to prevent political demonstrations. The residence of M. Caillaux was strongly guarded, as were also the offices of the Figaro, the senate and the chamber of deputies.

The resignation of M. Monis was caused by statements made in the chamber of deputies that while he was premier he had exerted powerful influences on the public prosecutor, Victor Fabre, to postpone the trial of Henri Rochette, who was alleged to have swindled the public out of sums aggregating $20,000,000 by fraudulent stock promotions. Rochette disappeared while on bail.

JOHN LIND NOW HAS WHALING INTEREST

Minneapolis Capitalists Buy Out Capt. Sverdrup's Organization.

Seattle, Wash., March 19.—Announcement was made here last night of the sale to the Pacific Sea Products company, composed of John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico, and several other Minneapolis capitalists, of the Alaska Whaling company, organized two years ago by Capt. Otto Sverdrup, the Norwegian explorer. The consideration was not made public, but the property which changed hands is valued at $1,000,000. The deal was closed by K. B. Birkeland of Minneapolis, president and general manager of the Pacific Sea Products company, and a heavy stockholder in the enterprise. W. S. Dwinnell, a wealthy timber owner of Minneapolis, is also heavily interested in the company.

MUNICIPAL COLLECTION

Only Proper Solution of the Garbage Problem, Says Commissioner.

Bids on Private Collection Contract Will Be Opened May 25.

That free municipal collection of garbage is the logical solution of the garbage problem is the belief of Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, and Ruben Johnson, secretary of the health department.

They returned from Minneapolis and St. Paul this morning, where they went last Monday night to investigate the methods followed in the Twin Cities in the handling of garbage. They said that their inquiries convinced them more firmly than before that the only satisfactory method is free city collection, backed by an effective ordinance.

The visit was prompted by the fact that a private company recently submitted a proposition to handle all the garbage of the city. The commissioners were in doubt as to the feasibility of the plan, but decided to secure prices. The bids have been advertised to be opened May 25 at the city hall at 11 o'clock.

Commissioner Hicken said that in its present financial condition Duluth cannot hope to establish the municipal garbage collection for at least several years. He explained that the council's action in this matter will probably be governed largely by the figures which are obtained next Wednesday morning.

The safety commissioner stated that the investigation at the Twin Cities showed conclusively that combustible garbage should be wrapped in paper and handled separately from the non-combustible refuse and ashes. He asserted that this facilitates its handling and saves money in incinerator repairs. He said that this is now being done in Duluth, but that the separation was only recently secured by informing the collectors that if this were not done they would be refused licenses. Under an ordinance the city can license the collectors and the commissioner said that when they were told that these permits would be refused to all who did not comply with the regulations they promptly began to observe the regulations laid down by the health department.

While in Minneapilis, Commissioner Hicken examined the triple combination chemical, hose and gasoline pumpers used by the fire department, and the demonstration satisfied him that they are among the most efficient pieces of fire-fighting apparatus yet put on the market. Two of these machines have been purchased by the Duluth department and will be delivered early next month. One will be placed at West Duluth and the other at the fire hall at Fourteenth avenue east and First street.

TEACH CO-EDS HOW TO SWIM IN SKIRTS

Illinois Girls Are Being Prepared for Boating Accidents.

Champaign, Ill., March 19.—Co-eds at the University of Illinois are being taught to swim in their clothing so as to be able to overcome the handicap of dresses and jackets in cases of emergency, it was announced today.

Fifty girls yesterday competed in the first of these swimming contests.

KILLS TWO MEN AND NINETEEN MULES

Ottumwa, Iowa, March 19.—An explosion which occurred in Mine No. 12 at Buxton, near here, late Wednesday caused the death of two men and nineteen mules. The accident happened at the shot-firing period and was followed by a cave-in of part of the mine. The men killed were John Williams, a stableman, and John Taylor, a pumpman.

WILSON APPROVES KROONLAND MEDALS

Washington, March 19.—President Wilson today approved the resolution of congress conveying thanks to the captain and crew of the American steamer Kroonland for the rescue of eighty-nine lives from the burning steamer Volturno. The officers and men will also get medals.

EXEMPT UNIONS, IS LABOR MEN'S PLEA.

Washington, March 19.—Proposals for exemption of labor unions for anti-trust legislation were discussed today at conferences between President Gompers and Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor and Speaker Clark. No conclusions were announced. Some members are preparing to press for a specific provision when the bills come up in the house. Representative Keating may ask for a caucus.

Secretary Bryan probably will be asked to support the proposition.

THE CAMERON-JOHNSON-HORGAN FURNITURE CO., incorporated under the laws of Minnesota and capitalized for $50,000, are at this time amending their articles of incorporation and increasing the capitalization to $150,000 for the purpose of completing negotiations now pending for much larger Salesrooms where this progressive firm can more successfully operate their Furniture Distributing business in Duluth.

Mr. Cameron, the originator of this method of selling furniture, is President and General Manager of their Duluth Salesrooms, and in speaking of the past year, states no other firm ever made the record they have in the furniture world in the short space of ten months. Their business has completely outgrown both their present salesrooms, 2110-2112 West Superior street, and wareroom at 2201 West First street. They have furnished hundreds of HOMES in all parts of Duluth, Superior, the Range towns, Wisconsin, Michigan, the Dakotas, Montana, Western Canada and clear across the continent to the Pacific coast, and this without an inch of advertising except what appears in the Duluth papers.

To enable this firm to carry out their greater salesroom idea they are offering at this time 400 shares of common and preferred stock in their business, $100 per share par value. Mr. Cameron further states that the firm made a handsome percentage on their investment the past year and expects to do even better the coming year with greater prosperity just ahead of us than has been known for many years.

Anyone desiring a profitable safe investment in a good clean-cut business will do well to either call at their salesroom or interview Mr. A. G. McKnight, 614 Providence Bldg., our attorney, for further information. Mr. Cameron would also like to make it known that almost one-half of the desired amount of subscriptions for stock in this company has been subscribed for and the list will close in a few days. Date of payment of subscription becomes due any time. Subscribers may designate between April 1st and July 1st, 1914.

Here is an opportunity for many enterprising citizens of Duluth to assist in establishing right in the heart of our city a Furniture Factory Distributing Salesroom, where everybody can come and select the best furniture made and save much of regular retailers' profits.

SETTLER IS GIVEN LIMIT

Judge Deals Severely With Man Who "Set" a Gun.

Reads Prisoner Lecture on His Disregard of Human Life.

With the sentencing of John Osbacken, 64 years old, a settler in the northern part of St. Louis county, to serve the maximum term of eighty-five days on the work farm, without the alternative of a fine, for having set a gun in the woods, Judge Windom this morning served notice on all hunters and settlers that he will deal severely with anybody violating this law in the future.

Osbacken was tried by a municipal court jury yesterday and found guilty late in the afternoon. Sentence was then continued until this morning.

In imposing the maximum sentence, Judge Windom said: "You stand convicted by a jury of placing a set gun in the woods. It is frightful to contemplate a man like you roaming around the woods with long-ranged powerful guns, which are just as liable to kill human beings as animals.

"A set gun is a terrible thing. Contemplate a man of family, with little children depending upon him or perhaps a sick wife, walking through the woods. Without warning his foot trips a thread across his path and his body is pierced through and through with a big savage rifle ball, and there he dies, in the woods. The fiend, who set the gun, comes to his human trap and finds the body of his best friend, perhaps. Human nature prompts him to bury the dead and remove all evidence.

"Nobody ever knows what became of the poor victim. What about his wife and what about his little children?

"The evidence is clear that you did this act. The evidence further shows that your neighbors have begged you to stop setting guns. They know that as long as you are in the woods they are likely to go out and never come back to their families. The jury very properly found you guilty and the limit I can give you, though extremely small and entirely inadequate, I will hereby impose. I therefore sentence you to serve a term of eighty-five days at the joint city and county work farm."

Osbacken was arrested on Feb. 24 by August Tabor, deputy game warden of Lake county, who had gone to the settler's shack to make the arrest. Osbacken was arraigned the same day on a charge of setting a gun. He pleaded not guilty and asking for a jury trial, it was then set for yesterday.

SENT BACK TO FARM.

Oscar Palo Is Sentenced Again for Suit Case Theft.

Oscar Palo, 38 years old, who was arrested Tuesday night on a charge of stealing a suitcase in the Union station, was found guilty in police court yesterday afternoon and was sentenced to pay a fine of $75 and costs or serve sixty days on the work farm. Palo is unable to pay his fine and was this morning taken to the farm.

Palo was only released from the work farm but a few days ago, after serving a month for a similar offense. He was caught leaving the Union station Tuesday evening by Patrolman Andree and arrested a few minutes later on a charge of petit larceny. The complaint against him was made by Michael Williams, owner of the suitcase.

WANTED IN CLOQUET.

WAS A TARGET FOR CROCKERY

Mrs. Charles Gitchell Petitions for Divorce as Result.

Dodging crockery on Christmas day is not only out of the keeping with the true yuletide spirit, but it also fails to measure up to Emma Gitchell's idea of a happy married life.

And because Charles W. Gitchell, the man she married, chose to observe the Savior's mirthday by making her a target for the chinaware in the house, as she claims, Mrs. Gitchell is seeking a divorce.

In an action filed today in district court, Mrs. Gitchell alleges that her husband is an habitual drunkard and that he insists upon "spending his earnings on intoxicating drink and other follies," the result being that she has been obliged to shift for herself so far as making a living is concerned.

She declares that during drunken frenzies, her husband is a dangerous man and believes that if she is compelled to live with him that he might murder her some day.

The Gitchells were married at Mitchell, S. D., on Nov. 17, 1902, but for the past three years have been living at Hibbing. Since Oct. 15 last they have been living apart. She is 29 and he is 45. There are no children.

Pearl May Traviss, 22, started divorce proceedings in district court today against Leon Traviss, 32, to whom she was married at Rhinelander, Wis., Sept. 7, 1909. She asks for the separation on the grounds of cruelty and desertion. Among other things she alleges that he has on various occasions charged her with infidelity.

WANTS DAMAGES FROM SURGEON

Alleging that the broken bones of his leg were not properly set and that as a result, one of his lower limbs was permanently shortened and deformed, John Kindley, woodsman, is prosecuting a cause of action in district court today against the surgeon who attended him. He is suing Dr. Alexander Barkley of Cloquet for damages in the sum of $5,000.

Kindley on Jan. 12, 1913, had the bones in one of his legs broken while at work unloading piling from a car at Poupore's siding. Immediately after the accident, he was taken to Cloquet and placed in charge of Dr. Barkley for treatment. Kindley now claims that the surgeon did not form a good and proper union of the broken bones and was unskillful in his treatment.

HEARS CASE AGAINST THE OATMEAL TRUST

Woman Is Special Examiner in Hearing at Chicago.

Chicago, March 19.—Hearings in the government's anti-trust suit against the Quaker Oats company and the Great Western Cereal company began here today. Evidence was taken before Miss Kate S. Holmes, special examiner.

"The government charges," said James H. Wilkerson, United States district attorney, "that the defendants are in conspiracy to monopolize the oatmeal business of the country. The government seeks the dissolution of the company, and asks that it be enjoined from interstate commerce until the dissolution is completed.

"Prior to 1891," said Mr. Wilkerson, "there were eleven principal oatmeal plants in the country, situated in Ohio, Illinois and Iowa. They were members of a pool known as the Consolidated Oatmeal company. After the passage of the trust act they were merged into the American Cereal company, which, in 1902, was taken over by the Quaker Oats company.

"The independents organized into the Great Western Cereal company in 1901. A price-fixing agreement was made between the two companies. The government charges that, in 1911, Joy Morton wrecked the Great Western company and sold all its plants that were making money to the Quaker Oats company."

Joy Morton, H. P. Crowell, Robert Stuart, James H. Douglass, John Stuart, A. Stanford White and John Welling are individual defendants in the suit.

Labor Candidates Win.

Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, March 19.—The elections for members of the Transvaal provincial council were fought out on the question of the recent deportation of labor leaders and resulted in sweeping victories for the labor candidates, who secured a majority in the council.

TRIO HELD AS "VAGS."

A. Kohli Is Accused of Living on Wife's Earnings.

Three men were arrested last evening on charges of vagrancy.

Anthony Fink, 21 years old, pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned in police court this morning and he was fined $75 or sixty days on the work farm. Patrick McCabe, 74 years old, also pleaded guilty, but on his promise to leave the city the court suspended sentence.

The third man, Anthony Kolhi, 29 years old, who was arrested by Patrolman Englert at his home, 16½ West Second street, pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon. It is charged that Kolhi has refused to work for the last year and that he remains at home, living on the proceeds of his wife's washing.

SCHOONER IS SUNK BY GERMAN LINER.

Bremen, Germany, March 19.—An unidentified three-masted schooner was sunk and her crew drowned through a collision last night in the North sea with the North German liner Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse.

The steamer remained in the vicinity for two hours but could not discover any trace of the schooner's crew. She then resumed her voyage to America.

The Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse left Bremen yesterday on her first trip since her reconstruction as a third-class and steerage passenger vessel. The captain sent the news of the collision in a wireless message to the company here.

LEAVES MONEY TO CHURCH AND POOR

South Dakota Man's Will Filed in St. Louis County Court.

Ole A. Swarstad, whose death occurred Feb. 20 at Aberdeen, S. D., bequeathed a large share of his estate to eight missions of the United Norwegian Lutheran church of America, and also provided in his will for a trust fund for the benefit of the poor at Prastegjeld, Norway, at Christmas time.

In probate court yesterday Swarstad's will was filed by David Williams, vice president of the First National bank of this city, who was named as one of the executors of the estate. Swarstad left property in St. Louis and Cook counties valued at $10,700.

The missions to which bequests were made were: Madagascar, Hedninge, Indre, Jode and Kinna missions of Minneapolis; Beloit Barnehjem, Beloit, Iowa; Hommes Alderdomshjem, Wittenberg, Wis., and Barnehjemmet, Chicago. He also directs that a trust fund of 4,000 crowns, designated as the "Ole A. Swarstad fund," be deposited in the Hole Sparebank, Ringerike, Norway, for the benefit of poor people at Prastegjeld, Norway, at Christmas time. The balance of the estate is divided equally among brothers, sisters and other relatives.

WESTERN UNION BOYS ON STRIKE IN DETROIT

Detroit, Mich., March 19.—Thirty-one striking messenger boys employed by the Western Union Telegraph company were served with notices to appear before United States Judge Arthur J. Tuttle today and show cause why they should not be restrained from interfering with interstate business. The boys demand an increase in pay for messages delivered outside of the mile circle. They have been on strike for more than a week, and the police frequently have been called upon to defend strike-breakers from their attacks.

The strike has made it necessary for the company to resort to the telephone for the transmission of messages.

"Maybe they'll be calling out the troops next," said one of the boys with a smile when the court's order was served on him.

DON'T YOU FEEL RIGHT?

Blame the Kidneys Then.

Kidney disease is becoming more prevalent in one form or another on account of our careless mode of living, and it behooves everyone to be on guard. If sharp pains shoot through the small of the back, you perceive a tenderness on either side of the spine, are nervous, restless, and suffer general debility with headache, dizziness and shortness of breath, heart action is irregular, the skin hard and dry, and complexion is sallow—any of these symptoms may indicate that the kidneys are inflamed. That powerful irritant uric acid has not passed off because the kidneys are not in a perfectly healthy condition. Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy not only removes the early symptoms of kidney poisoning, but it is an invaluable remedy in the advanced stages of kidney disease. It has a soothing, tonic invigorating effect, benefits the diseased organs, builds up the body and restores all functions to a normal, healthy condition. For over 37 years the reliability and worth of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy has never been questioned—it's a carefully prepared medicinal healing agent you cannot afford to be without. At all druggists in 50c and $1.00 sizes. Every bottle guaranteed. Sample free if you write Warner's Safe Remedies Co., Dept. 375, Rochester, N. Y.

COAL PRICES ARE AIMED AT IN LEHIGH VALLEY ACTION

Government Files Suit Under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

Unlawful Evasion of Supreme Court Decision Is Alleged.

New York, March 19.—The Lehigh Valley Railroad company was sued here yesterday by Attorney General McReynolds under the Sherman anti-trust law, as being the dominant factor in a combination alleged to control the output of anthracite from Pennsylvania fields it touches. More than a dozen other corporations and individuals were named as co-defendants and parties to a conspiracy to monopolize that trade.

Although suit was brought to break up an alleged monopoly, the attorney general charges that the Lehigh road, through the formation of a coal sales company two years ago, has escaped the supreme court decision under the commodities clause of the interstate rate act, which forbids the railroad to transport coal belonging to a corporation whose stock it owns and whose affairs have been commingled with its own.

Cites State Constitution.

The further charge was made that the Lehigh has violated the provision of the Pennsylvania Constitution prohibiting common carriers from engaging in mining or other business other than transportation. The usual injunction and decree of dissolution were asked.

Among the defendants named were: Lehigh Valley Coal company, Lehigh Valley Coal Sales company, Coxe & Bros.' company, Inc., Edward T. Stotesbury, Daniel G. Reid, Charles Steele, George F. Baker and George F. Baer.

By virtue of its monopoly, the complaint delares, the Lehigh has "prevented the building of any new railroad into the anthracite region served by it, and has kept the independent producers under the disadvantage of having to ship over a railroad also engaged in the coal business."

"Dominates Market."

Furthermore, the bill declared, through its alleged monopoly of the sale of coal produced along its line, the road "completely dominates the market at all points thereon not reached by any other railroad, and has the power to fix, has fixed, and does fix, without the check of competition, the prices at which anthracite is sold at such points."

The bill points out that the Lehigh annually transports about 11,000,000 gross tons of anthracite. Of that total, the government maintains, more than 82 per cent (in 1893) was shipped for the account of the Lehigh Coal company or affiliated companies.

The relations between the railroad and the Lehigh Coal company are set forth at length in the complaint, which declares that the latter has never been a "bonafide corporation," but a "mere adjunct, department or instrumentality of the Lehigh railroad."

Evaded Court's Ruling.

After referring to the supreme court decision in 1911 against the Lehigh road prohibiting transportation of coal belonging to a company it controlled, the bill recites the means the attorney general declares were employed to evade that decision.

On advice of counsel, it was pointed out, the Lehigh Valley railroad directors recommended to the Lehigh Valley Coal company the organization of a coal sales company, and the making of a contract by the coal company with the sales company. At the same meeting $6,060,800 was ordered distributed as a dividend out of the surplus of the Lehigh Valley railroad.

A few minutes later, on the same day, the bill declares, the directors of the coal company met and resolved to authorize the incorporation of the Lehigh Coal Sales company, granting Lehigh stockholders the right of subscribing to the new stock to 10 per cent of their holdings. It was provided that each railroad stockholder, through power of attorney granted to fiscal agents, might turn the special dividend referred to toward paying for Sales company stock.

Incorporated in New Jersey.

In January, 1913, the Sales company was incorporated in New Jersey with a capital stock of $10,000,000, of which the complaint says $6,606,800 was issued immediately, being equal to 10 per cent of the capital stock of the Lehigh railroad."

The 10 per cent dividend declared in advance by Lehigh railroad was paid and "over 3,000 of its stockholders, being a majority in interest, availed themselves of the right of subscribing to the stock of Lehigh Coal Sales company."

"Thereupon," the bill continues, "the two corporations, with all their business and assets, came into and have since remained under the immediate control of substantially the same group of persons. At present over 80 per cent of the shares of Lehigh Coal Sales company are owned by the majority stockholders of Lehigh railroad."

Contract Unreasonable.

The contract between the Lehigh Coal company and the Sales company, the complaint sets forth, gave the Sales company unreasonably low rates for mined coal; fixed prices for coal to be mined under the then existing scales of prices paid other producers and made other concessions, which led it to be classed by the government as not "a bona fide transaction between separate corporations."

The sales profits, the bill avers, have been enormous, and it shows that the company has paid regular dividends quarterly of 2½ per cent, and that in November, 1913, after twenty-one months of business, it paid an extra cash dividend of 25 per cent and declared at the same time what amounted to a 25 per cent stock dividend. On Dec. 31, last, it had a surplus of $1,134,847.53.

The contract between these two companies, the bill argues, is a barrier against any reduction in the Lehigh's freight rates to New York, and an inducement to even higher rates, because the Lehigh Coal company, under it, receives from the sales company a percentage of the price for coal at New York harbor, a price largely determined by the freight rate.

Boles Answers Charges.

In a statement issued last night Edgar H. Boles, general solicitor of the Lehigh Valley railroad company, denied that the sales company, by whose existence and activity the acts alleged by the government are said to have been made possible, is in any way "affiliated with or controlled by the railroad," though it is conceded as possible that the railroad and the sales company may have stockholders in common.

Dealing with the railroad's ownership of the Lehigh Valley Coal company and subsidiaries, Mr. Boles says this matter has been investigated by the government for "more than a generation, and that if there had been violations of law, the government should have identified them by this time and made them clear to the courts."

demand for a rigid enforcement of the liquor laws. The present financial embarrassment of the state is charged to the previous "extended rule of Republican extravagance and maladministration."

Nomination of candidates for every state office except that of governor, and a candidate for United States senator, was the work before the convention. There were 1,836 delegates.

Senator Shiveley was not opposed for the nomination for United States senator, but the contests for the other places on the ticket were very spirited.

After an all-night session of the resolutions committee, a platform for consideration of the convention was adopted, including a plank proposed by United States Senator B. F. Shiveley, placing the party on record as favoring a state-wide primary law. The vote on the plank was 7 to 6.

Resent Congressmen's Action.

After the platform had been completed, members of the committee expressed resentment over the actions of Senators Shiveley and Kern and congressmen who appeared before the committee and urged the adoption of the primary plank.

Mayor Joseph E. Bell of Indianapolis, chairman of the committee, declared only one out of thirteen members of the committee favored the primary feature, and that it had been adopted only after the senators and congressmen had made a plea that if such a plank were not included, it would be a reflection on President Wilson's policies. For that reason, Mayor Bell said, seven members of the committee voted for the primary plank. He said that the members of the committee, instead of being constructive workers for the party, had become its pallbearers, for, he declared, without the convention system the party's organization would go to pieces.

Think Letters Requested.

Speaking for the committee, Mayor Bell also asserted that members of the committee had expressed their opinion that President Wilson and Secretary Bryan had not written voluntarily the letters to Senator Kern indorsing the state-wide primary, but had been asked to do so.

The primary plank as adopted by the committee declares for a state-wide primary law for the nomination of all officers, but saving the state convention for "council, organization and declaration of party principles."

Address by Ralston.

"The Democratic party can well afford to submit its record for the year," said Governor Samuel Ralston in his address to the convention. Governor Ralston reviewed political events of the last twelve years in the country at large and in his own state, and asserted that the party in power had redeemed its pledges and had the country solidly behind it in its program for the future.

"The record made by President Wilson in the past year surpasses the achievements of any of his predecessors in so short a time," said the governor. "It is not surprising that by the foreign press he is recognized as an international schoolmaster, by precept and example instructing the world in commercial fairness and in the science of government that embraces all mankind.

"A grateful people also should not fail to pay tribute to those who have stood by the president. Much of the popularity of the present national administration is due to the stand it has taken for the things that have been advocated for years under the leadership of that masterful man, William Jennings Bryan."

The Mexican Policy.

After reviewing the administration's work on the tariff and currency laws, and stating that the president is now in a position to push his anti-trust legislation, Governor Ralston declared his emphatic support of the president's Mexican policy.

"President Wilson has handled with great wisdom and dignity the critical Mexican situation," he said. "He loves peace and ho loves humanity. Only at a last and most desperate resource would he consent to the clashing of arms between this country and Mexico."

Turning to state affairs, Governor Ralston said that Indiana had a public utilities act that was on trial.

"A public service law runs counter to many of my old-fashioned Democratic notions," he said. "It is in sharp conflict with the Democratic doctrine of local self-government. But the people wanted to try out a public service law. It is upon the statute books, and it remains to be seen how satisfactory it is going to prove. It is believed that the commission is going to give the people value received for the large sums it will cost."

Shiveley Praises Wilson.

Senator B. F. Shiveley, after being renominated by the Democratic state convention here today, thanked the delegates for the honor, and then entered upon a discussion of the work of the national administration, paying high tribute to President Wilson. The senator declared that the Democratic rule had brought about a real revision of the tariff downward, had divorced the country's currency system and speculators, had solved the trust question, and that President Wilson had met perplexing international problems with a firmness and tact that has been unexcelled in the history of the country.

Senator Shiveley said in part:

"The tariff has been revised, and revised downward. In that work no honest fear, no mistaken apprehension was lightly ignored. On the other hand, that powerful confederacy of special privileges which has fattened on the perversion of custom house taxation did not dictate a paragraph, a line, or syllable of that revision. It was a revision conceived, wrought out and enacted into a law in the interest of the whole country."

"Currency Problem Solved."

Discussing the currency question, he said:

"For a long series of years, conflict of interests in the banking and currency system had baffled all efforts at solution. That problem has been solved. The control of the circulating medium of the country has been divorced from speculators on the dizzy heights of frenzied finance, and our circulation made available to develop the resources and enterprises of all parts of the country. The solution is a triumph of American statesmanship that has excited the admiration and compelled the praise of the best expert opinion throughout the world."

In speaking of the international questions confronting the administration, the senator said:

"In no time of peace in the history of the country has so large a number of perplexing problems confronted a president as those coming to President Wilson at his inauguration. These he has met with a discernment, a firmness, delicacy and tact unexcelled in the history of the country.

"His obligation is to the peace and the security of all our citizens. The American people will approve a president who will no more countenance a headless stampede into extreme measures than he would shrink from such measures should the circumstances justify them."

MORE U. S. TROOPS SENT TO RIO GRANDE

ing 12,000 troops against the Pacific coast port.

This was said to be part of a general plan for an aggressive movement against all Federal forces in Northern Mexico. Gen. Obregon, as commander of the northwestern military zone, would have charge of operations along the west coast, while Gen. Villa, as Constitutionalist commander in Chihuahua, would assault Torreon.

Would Threaten Capital.

The fall of Mazatlan, it was considered, would mean virtual control of the west coast district, while Torreon is the railroad center of Central Mexico, the capital of which would threaten the capital of the country. After the capture of these two points both armies would move against Guadalajara, which is the strategic key to the interior.

According to the plans, Guaymas will be ignored in hopes that the California gulf port will fall with the capture of Mazatlan. If the projected campaign on the west coast, the gunboat Tampico, recently surrendered to the insurgents, will be employed to counteract the two Federal gunboats remaining on the coast. Mazatlan is considered easier to take by reason of its location than Guaymas, which has been attacked repeatedly without result.

It was said that the simultaneous movements against Torreon and Mazatlan had received the sanction of Gen. Carranza, now marching overland into Chihuahua, but who, it was said, had been in frequent touch by wire with insurgent military commanders.

Nothing From Lind.

Washington, March 19.—While no official word came to the White House today of the reported purpose of Gen. Huerta to reopen parleys with the United States by sending his minister of foreign affairs, Jose Portillo y Rojas, to Vera Cruz to confer with John Lind, administration officials indicated a willingness to listen to any new proposals for a peaceful settlement. They seemed to attach most importance at this time to the outcome of the impending battle at Torreon, which is expected to mark a critical turn in the strength and prestige of the contending factions.

When the exchange of notes between Senor Gamboa and Charge O'Shaughnessy and John Lind was concluded last autumn, the attitude of the Washington government was firmly established as opposed not only to the recognition of Huerta, but any successor of his choosing.

Conditions of Peace.

The Washington government has been mindful that a peaceful settlement in Mexico depended not alone on the choosing of a man to whom diplomatic recognition might be extended, but that it equally was dependent on the attitude of the Constitutionalists, who have announced their unwillingness to compromise with the Huerta group.

Should the Constitutionalists be defeated at Torreon, it is within the range of possibilities that the whole situation may be changed and a compromise candidate agreed upon.

Speculation in official circles was not based on any definite information, and news of the visit of Rojas to Mr. Lind was eagerly awaited.

Huerta Weakening.

Mexico City, March 19.—Forced by the increasing seriousness of the situation in Mexico, from a financial rather than a military viewpoint, however, President Huerta at last appears to be ready to resume negotiations with John Lind, President Wilson's personal representtive which were broken off last August, if reports current in the capital are true.

The minister of foreign affairs, Jose Lopez Portillo y Rojas, has been directed to reopen the unofficial diplomatic exchanges with Mr. Lind, according to the report here, and went to Vera Cruz yesterday. Every effort has been made to keep the meeting a secret, and should it for any reason fail to take place, the government would be in a position to fall back upon the explanation already given, that the minister is taking the trip to celebrate Saints day. Color is given to this by the fact that he was accompanied by his wife and other members of his family.

Called in Rich Men.

President Huerta yesterday summoned to the national palace sixty of the wealthiest Mexicans residing in the capital, and intimated that indirect financial support would be highly agreeable, in view of the vigorous campaign which he proposes against the rebels. He reminded them that a decree issued several months ago, calling upon owners of haciendas to equip and maintain ten men for purposes of defense, has never been complied with, and he urged them now to do this.

Such compliance would mean, according to the official figures, the maintenance of about 500,000 men, as it is estimated that there are 52,000 haciendas and smaller ranches within the federal jurisdiction.

President Huerta also requested these men to furnish him with horses in sufficient numbers for 120 cannon expected to arrive soon from Japan and Europe. He asked their moral support, suggesting that they form a sort of military society, not for actual fighting, but that insignia be worn by the members to identify them as being loyal to the government.

Canadians' Franchise Ended.

The department of communications announced tonight that the franchise of the Mexican Tramways company which operates the suburban service, has expired. This company is a Canadian organization.

Governor West Predicts War.

Salem, Or., March 19.—"I am confident that war with Mexico is coming, and I am going to advise the national guard of this state to be prepared for I am sure it can count on being called out before long," said Governor West yesterday.

Governor West returned Tuesday night from the Mexican border, which he visited after spending several days in Washington, D. C. While on the border, where he made a personal inquiry into conditions, Governor West crossed over into Juarez, Mex.

"The day is not far distant when the United States will be compelled to declare war," asserted Governor West. "I cannot conceive of anything happening in the near future which will restore Mexico to a settled condition. With this condition prevailing, and the United States upholding the Monroe doctrine, it is only a matter of time when pressure brought to bear by other nations and by American citizens will become so great that the United States will be forced to take a hand."

Governor West said he heartily approved the attitude of President Wilson, but thought the president eventually would be forced to send soldiers across the border.

Rebel Money Cheap.

Douglas, Ariz., March 19.—The price of Constitutionalist currency yesterday fell to 15 cents gold per peso.

The Sonora Mercantile company, one of the largest concerns in the northern part of Sonora, failed to open its doors. The reason given was that the company could not afford to pay gold for its stock and then sell for rebel money which is constantly fluctuating in value.

Dealers in Constitutionalist currency expressed confidence that the price would advance to 20 cents gold.

BLOOD-STAINED LOCK OF LINCOLN'S HAIR

Other Historic Records Also Willed to Museum By Gen. Wilson.

New York, March 19—A blood-stained lock of Abraham Lincoln's hair, and a number of relics and mementos intimately related to the history of the United States, are offered the Metropolitan Museum of Art in the will of the late Gen. James Grant Wilson, filed here for probate.

Among the bequests is a ring which contains hair of Washington, Wellington, Napoleon, Grant and Lincoln; Washington's sleeve links; a gold ring brought from Holland in 1647, and three silver medals. In a footnote to the will, Gen. Wilson explains that he made no public bequests of money "because for half a century I bestowed 10 per cent of my moderate income to charity."

WILL TRY TO CURE INSANE BY MUSIC

Patients in Illinois Asylum Will Do the Playing Themselves.

Kankakee, Ill., March 19.—Music as a cure for insanity is to be given a more extended test in the Eastern Illinois state hospital for the insane here than has ever before been attempted in the institutions of the state. The plan is an advance on previous music cures, in which the patients were merely listeners. It is intended that the patients themselves shall be the musicians.

As a beginning, Dr. P. M. Kelly, superintendent of the hospital, completed arrangements today for installing a concert piano in the men's ward. The instrument has been given by Chicago philanthropists interested in the attempt to aid the insane to recover themselves through music.

Some Will Teach.

Patients who know how to play will be urged to make use of the piano. Instruction and coaching in music will be given, and patients who are capable of it will be encouraged to undertake the teaching of less advanced students. If the musical plans meet with success they will not stop with the piano, but the hospital musical organization may grow into a complete orchestra as performers can be found or developed among the patients.

The benefits of such effort will not stop with the actual performers, it is pointed out, but will extend to all in the institution, who will extend their knowledge of musical works and have their musical tastes gratified and at the same time feel a sense of participation in the productions.

The music cure will be started under the direction of Dr. J. T. Rooks, who has immediate charge of the men's ward.

COSTS $1,000 FOR EVERY GRADUATE

Champaign, Ill., March 19.—Members of the senior class at the University of Illinois were informed by instructors today that it will have cost the state of Illinois approximately $1,000 to educate each member of the class that will graduate in June. The class membership is 600. The students were told that the tuition paid by them represents only about one-tenth of the expense incurred by the state.

Visitors at White House.

Washington, March 19.—Before President Wilson took up his routine engagements today he shook hands with President Judson of the University of Chicago, who was introduced by Justice Hughes of the supreme court. Federal Judge Aldrich of New Hampshire came with Senator Hollis to pay his respects. Sir Johnson Forbes-Robertson and his wife also were in the group of visitors that met the president.

Fire in Washington.

Washington, March 19.—Two women were painfully injured and a score of others made their escape from a building near the patent office which was burned today with a loss approximately of $50,000.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young—is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio. All druggists.

WHEN FEELING TIRED

Hood's Sarsaparilla Builds Up the Whole System---Makes Pure Blood.

That tired feeling that comes to you in the spring, year after year, is a sign that your blood lacks vitality, just as pimples, boils and other eruptions are signs that it is impure; and it is also a sign that your system is in a low or run-down condition inviting disease. It is a warning, which it is wise to heed.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This old standard tried and true blood medicine relieves that tired feeling. It cleanses the blood, gives new life, new courage, strength and cheerfulness. It makes the rich red blood that will make you feel, look, eat and sleep better.

Be sure to get Hood's, because it is the best. There is no other combination of roots, barks and herbs like it—no real substitute for it—no "just-as-good" medicine.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

HIGHEST HONOR GIVEN PAST EXALTED RULER OF DULUTH ELKS

In recognition of the services which he has rendered Duluth lodge No. 133, John A. Doran was last night elected a life member of the Antlered tribe.

For many years Mr. Doran has had charge of the theatrical productions which have been staged by the Duluth Elks and has to a considerable extent been responsible for the success with which they have met. He has also been chairman of the "Big Brother" committee, which has done much to make Christmas a real Christmas for a large number of families. In this connection he has co-operated with the "Good Fellow" movement started in Duluth by The Herald several years ago. Mr. Doran is a past exalted ruler of the local herd and his election last night as a life member is one of the highest honors which could be conferred upon him.

Frank Chandler, one of the leading members of the Duluth lodge, returned several days ago from a trip through the South, and reported that he had visited Frank L. Young, who was exalted ruler of No. 133 last year. He said that Mr. Young, formerly an architect of this city, has gone into the publishing business and is putting out the Sarlano News at Sarlano, Fla.

Another large class was initiated at the meeting last night and at the conclusion of the business meeting the members adjourned for an enjoyable social session.

The officers elected at a recent meeting will be installed at the meeting to be held Wednesday night, April 1. Exalted Ruler Ed J. Filiatrault stated that an unusually interesting program is being arranged for the occasion. He said that all the past exalted rulers who are in the city will attend and that Past Exalted Ruler William S. McCormick will act as the installing officer. He refused to divulge the other features of the program which are being planned, asserting that the only way they can be learned will be by attending the meeting the night of the installation.

JOHN A. DORAN.

RESINOL WILL HEAL YOUR SKIN

Stops Itching Instantly, and Clears Away Unsightly Eruptions.

No matter how long you have been tortured and disfigured by itching, burning, raw or scaly skin humors, just put a little of that soothing, antiseptic Resinol Ointment on the sores and the suffering stops right there! Healing begins that very minute, and your skin gets well so quickly you feel ashamed of the money you threw away on useless, tedious treatments.

Resinol is also an excellent household remedy for pimples, dandruff, sores, burns, bruises, boils, and for a score of other uses where a soothing, healing application is needed. It contains nothing of a harsh or injurious nature and can be used with confidence on the tenderest or most irritated surface. Practically every druggist sells Resinol Ointment (50c and $1.00), and Resinol Soap (25c). For trial free, write to Dept. 5-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Ask for Resinol by name and thus avoid "substitutes."

INCREASES SHOWN IN STEEL EARNINGS

United States Corporation Makes Report on 1913 Business.

New York, March 19.—Aggregate gross business of the United States Steel corporation for 1913 was $796,894,299, an increase of $51,388,784 over the preceding year, according to the detailed report of the corporation.

Net income for 1913 showed an increase in surplus net income of $26,976,936, while the balance of surplus for the year increased $11,976,936.

Ordinary maintenance and repairs and extraordinary replacements for 1913 amounted to $59,942,970, an increase of $11,194,534, or 23 per cent over 1912.

The average number of employes in the service of the company was 228,906, against 221,025 in 1912, and the average salary or wage per employe per day, including all branches of the corporation, was $2.92, an increase of 17 cents over the average of 1912. Total salaries and wages aggregated $207,206,176, in comparison with $189,351,602 for the preceding year, an increase of 9.43 per cent.

TANGO EXTENSION OF TIME FOR CAFES

New York, March 19.—The tango will be nightly given an additional hour's lease of life if Mayor Mitchel follows the recommendations of the commission he appointed to investigate the closing hour problem.

The committee, with but one exception, recommended that 2 o'clock instead of 1 o'clock be made the closing hour for cafes and hotels providing cabaret shows for their patrons.

The granting of all-night licenses to reputable places where food is served and entertainment is not furnished, is also urged in the report. An additional recommendation is made for the appointment of a committee to frame an excise law which can be enforced.

Herman Ridder is chairman of the mayor's committee that submitted the report.

MISSING YOUTH IS FOUND IN PRISON

Leavenworth, Kan., March 19.—Joseph Cook, said to be the son of a wealthy St. Louis man, who had been missing for five years and whom relatives believed to be dead, was found in the state prison here yesterday by his aunt, Miss Amelia Oliver of Kansas City, Kan., and her sister. Although she had given him up for dead, Miss Oliver recently received a letter telling her she might find him in the prison.

"That's him," the two women shouted as Warden Botkin led Cook from a cell.

Cook was convicted in Brown county of manslaughter, and sentenced to from five to twenty years in prison. Cook said he preferred to complete his term rather than have his relatives learn he was in prison. He is a model prisoner, Warden Botkin said. He will recommend an early parole.

REORGANIZING SUFFRAGE CLUB

West End Society Will Work for "Votes for Women."

Women interested in the state of Minnesota granting the right of suffrage to women intend reorganizing the West End Suffrage club within a short time. The object is to have the subject brought before the legislature and secure a suffrage bill, calling for a vote on a constitutional amendment.

Several organizations in this end of the city are said to be more or less interested in the subject. Women leaders of a number of the lodges are said to be back of the reorganization movement. These women, as soon as arrangements for a date can be agreed upon, will meet and perfect the organization.

Mrs. L. Q. Greeley, who was president of the organization formed in this end of the city two years ago, said this morning that such a movement might be under way but that she has not recently been active owing to the fact that the West end organization has been merged with the Duluth Suffrage club.

Among the women back of the movement are officers of Scandinavian women's societies and lodges. The proposed meeting will be held early in April, it is announced.

As soon as the organization is perfected co-operation with the Duluth Suffrage club will be secured and it is proposed to carry the campaign into every home in the western end of the city. Smaller community clubs will be organized, which, in turn, will be affiliated with the larger organizations.

GIVE PLAYS WELL.

Delta Gamma Dramatic Club Presents Two Productions.

The Delta Gamma Dramatic club scored another decided hit last night in its production of two plays before a packed house at Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The plays were carried through with a precision that would do credit to many professionals.

Both plays were well received by the audience, Mrs. Milton Fish as Samantha Allen in "Samantha Allen and Her Neighbors" was a decided hit, Miss Clara Goodhand as Mary Marvin, the mischief maker in "A Lark at Nonotuck Hall" impersonated her character in an excellent manner.

Others who had parts in the plays were Miss Ruth Glover, Mrs. George Jewell, Mrs. Mae Baillie, Mrs. Irma Hutchinson, Mrs. E. Ward Anderson, Miss Minnie Milne, Mrs. Auxier, Miss Maud Leonard and George Jewell and Fred G. Hanson.

TWO WEEKS' REVIVAL.

Grace M. E. Church Will Hold Meetings Before Easter.

Special evangelistic meetings, which will begin on March 29 and continue until Easter, have been planned at the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. These meetings are held annually by the congregation just before Easter and have resulted in bringing a large number of new members into the church. Last year 74 members were brought in and the year before 49. The classes joined the church on the Easter morning following.

Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the church, will preach during the series of meetings. Special music is being arranged for the revivals by the choir under the direction of Mrs. David Adams.

During the last month the congregation has been holding a series of cottage prayer meetings in preparation for these evangelistic meetings. These meetings have been held at the homes of various members of the congregation.

Rev. Mr. Silloway will leave Saturday for a week's vacation during which he will rest for the following two weeks' work. On Sunday the pulpit will be occupied by laymen of the church, and songs written by Fanny Crosby will be used during the services in celebration of the famous song writer's 94th birthday.

HEAR OBJECTIONS TO ASSESSMENT

Twenty-seventh Avenue Property Owners Will Meet.

Property owners on Twenty-seventh avenue west will meet this evening at the voting booth on Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street and decide whether or not to proceed with a suit to prevent the city from collecting an assessment for the paving of the thoroughfare. A report from its committee which recently had an interview with members of the city commission will be given.

The committee has also gathered information as to what rights the property owners have regarding the paying of the assessment for work that is alleged to be unsatisfactory. The resolution adopted by the city commission in which the city assumes liability in case of needed repairs or replacing of any part of the paving on Twenty-seventh avenue will also be read and discussed.

Mallett Funeral.

The funeral for W. F. Mallett, 51 years old, 2121 West Second street, a pioneer resident of Duluth and one of the oldest engineers in the service of the Northern Pacific, who died Sunday, was held yesterday afternoon from the family residence. The services were conducted under the auspices of the Masonic lodge. Burial was made in Onecta cemetery.

Commercial Club Meeting.

The West End Commercial club will hold its regular meeting this evening at the Simonson hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. Reports of committees will be the principal business before the members.

West End Briefs.

Rev. John J. Daniels, pastor of the Swedish Mission church, returned last evening from Seattle, Wash., where he was called as a witness in a case of the government against Albert Dahlstrom, who was arrested under the Mann "white slave" act.

L. A. Simonson, 2102 West Superior street, left this morning for a short business trip to Two Harbors.

J. E. Lancor of Staples has left for his home after spending a few days visiting relatives in this end of the city.

The French Naturalization club will hold its regular meeting tomorrow night at the French hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. A French playlet will feature the entertainment for the members.

A social entertainment has been planned by a committee of the North Star lodge, I. O. G. T., for its members at Sloan's hall tomorrow evening.

The Rosary society of St. Clement's church entertained this afternoon at another of its series of Lenten teas in the parlors of the church, Twenty-first avenue and Third street.

BUSCH ESTATE LISTED.

Figures Up to $17,000,000, But Amounts to Much More.

St. Louis, Mo., March 19.—The inventory of the estate of the late Adolphus Busch, just filed, lists personal property aggregating $17,000,000. The real estate is not listed.

The personal property consisted mostly of stocks and bonds of various corporations. These are listed at par value, which in many cases is below the market value, and therefore the $17,000,000 is but an approximation to the actual value of the personal holdings of Mr. Busch.

The inventory shows that he owned 269½ shares of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing association, which had a total of 480 shares. The brewing association is capitalized, par value, at $240,000, but the market value of its stock reaches into the millions, and at the time of the death of Mr. Busch was generally estimated at $25,000,000.

The cash is listed at more than $700,000.

One hundred and fifty pieces of real estate are given in the inventory, but their value is not estimated.

The probate court allowed a claim for principle and interest of a $150,000 subscription made by Mr. Busch before his death for the medical school of Washington university.

Elk in Denver Stock Yards.

Denver, Colo., March 19.—Forty-seven elk, sent by the Federal forestry service from the Jackson Hole country, Wyoming, reached Denver yesterday and were quartered in the stock yards. When the snow is out of the mountains they will be sent to Aspen and to Estes park.

KRAFCHENKO'S TRIAL BEGUN AT MORDEN

One Hundred Witnesses Will Be Examined Before Court.

Morden, Man., March 19.—Unusual interest is manifested throughout the province in the trial of John Krafchenko, the bandit, which began yesterday. He is charged with the robbery of the Bank of Montreal at Plum Coulee, Man., and with the murder of its manager, H. M. Arnold. One hundred witnesses will be examined, sixty of them appearing for the crown.

After the murder and robbery, which were committed Dec. 3 last, Krafchenko escaped in an automobile, but was captured Dec. 10 in a Winnipeg lodging house, where he was posing as a college professor.

On the eve of his commitment for trial Krafchenko escaped from the third floor of the Winnipeg police station. One of his guards later pleaded guilty to complicity in the escape and was sentenced to seven years in prison. Krafchenko was captured a week later. The trial will continue several days.

DULUTH MAN GIVES SITE FOR CHURCH

C. F. Colman has given a site for a Catholic church at Woodland avenue and Austin street, near the end of the Woodland car line. About twenty families residing at Woodland and Greysolon farms have long felt the need of a church in their vicinity. They will hold a meeting Sunday afternoon to discuss ways and means of raising money for the erection of the edifice.

REORGANIZE THE WABASH BY AUGUST

St. Louis, Mo., March 19.—The receivership of the Wabash railroad is expected to end by August and a reorganization of the company is expected by that time, according to a statement made by an attorney for the road to the Missouri public utilities committee here. The attorney said that in financing the reorganization provision would be made for the elimination of the grade crossings in St. Louis.

BAD LOANS WRECK TWO PRIVATE BANKS

Toledo, Ohio, March 19.—By order of Emory Lattaner, state superintendent of banks, the Ohio Savings bank at Liberty Center, Ohio, and the Farmers & Merchants bank at Custer, Ohio, have been turned over to the state banking department for liquidation. Both banks are privately owned concerns. The former was capitalized at $7,500 and the latter at $5,000.

Depositors, with deposits in both banks aggregating approximately $250,000, may not be paid in full, Mr. Lattaner said. Bad loans placed the banks in their present condition, according to state examiners' reports.

Army Fugitives Caught.

Leavenworth, Kan., March 19.—Bert Adams, and Lloyd Bilsberger, who escaped from the United States military prison here Sunday by sliding down a rope made of carpets, were apprehended in South Omaha, Neb., yesterday, according to a telegram received here.

JOBBERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

Orders in All Branches of Trade Are Showing Good Increases.

Heavy Expansion Expected This Spring With Opening of Navigation.

Optimism is still the keynote in Duluth wholesale trade circles. Spring business is said to be rounding up nicely in all lines, and it is estimated that jobbers here are now landing a larger percentage of the trade than in any previous year. That is attributed to the good accommodation being afforded shippers by the railroads operating from this point, placing the houses here in advantageous position to work their territories.

Satisfactory conditions are advised in lumbering operations in this district, and with the resumption of mining work on the ranges a few weeks hence, a sharp increase in the volume of business is expected as a natural sequence.

Large Movement in Groceries.

Business in general groceries is reported to be running in large volume with substantial increases the rule with wholesalers operating from the Head of the Lakes.

"Shipments with us are much above our expectations, and from reports coming in from salesmen, the outlook for trade is bright all over the West," said C. A. Parker of the Rust-Parker-Martin company today. A similar story was told by the Towhy-Eimon Mercantile company of Superior.

Sugars have declined ten points this week and the market in them is still weak, with the trade confining purchases to cover immediate requirements. While coffees are slightly stronger after an extended decline, the situation in them is not regarded as inviting speculation at their present price basis. Dried fruits are firm all through the list. In canned vegetables, tomatoes are firming up as the result of a liberal consumption demand. Jobbers are said to be now cleaning up nicely on heavy stocks that have been carried over for some time. Rice, oats and other cereals are steady.

Dry Goods Trade Active.

Future orders in dry goods are reported to be coming to hand freely by F. A. Patrick & Co. That is especially the case in woolen lines and knitted wear, business in them being in the heaviest volume in the history of the house. Mail orders are showing marked gains attributed largely to the enhanced parcel post service through the increase in the weight limit to fifty pounds.

Hardware Prices Firm.

The bulk of trade in hardware staples and specialties is reported by the two Duluth wholesale establishments—the Marshall-Wells Hardware company and the Kelley-How-Thomson company—to be showing substantial expansion. Heavy orders are being taken in shelf hardware, wire goods, rope, tools and paints. The market in rope is off ½ cent this week, but quotations in iron and steel products, including wire and nails, are being more firmly held than in some time back.

Shoe Business Picks Up.

The Northern Shoe company advised that future business and orders for immediate delivery are bulking up heavier than a year ago, that being especially noticeable in the company's fine lines of footwear. Encouraging reports are coming to hand from over North Dakota and Montana, retailers in those states being generally optimistic regarding the early crop outlook and the prospects for expansion in mining operations. The company's factory is working to capacity in all departments.

Harness Factory Busy.

"Our trade in harness and leather findings is good all around," said E. A. Schulze of the Schulze Bros. company. "In spite of the mild weather orders in winter goods were ahead of last year's record and mail business is bulking up into heavy volume. Our men are working their grounds more closely this season and are getting good general results."

The company is advised to be at present employing more operatives in its harness and collar factory for the season than at any period since it started business.

Heavy Furniture Shipments.

The De Witt-Seltz company commented upon the continued improvement in furniture orders being taken over Northern Michigan. Mixed car orders were being received yesterday for shipment to Western Minnesota points. The company's mattress factory is showing a greatly increased output as a result of the installing of additional machinery lately.

Among the outside buyers at the company's warehouse today were: O. A. Tulla, Angora, Minn.; Ernest Flemming, Bena, Minn.; E. E. Pixley, Bear River, Minn., and N. Stube, Two Harbors.

Building Paper in Demand.

The demand for building and roofing papers is advise by the Peyton Paper company to be the outstanding feature in its trade at present. Orders in them and in stationery lines are said to show a gain of 35 per cent over last year. Quotations in papers are being firmly held and further advances in some directions by the mills are foreshadowed.

Accept no substitute. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c to the MUSTEROLE Company, Cleveland, Ohio, and we will mail you a jar, postage prepaid.

MISS C. BLEADINGHIZER, Nurse, Washington, Pa., says: "Have used Musterole on patients and consider it fine." (71)

SAYS THAT TRAIL TO MURDERER IS PLAIN

Detective Is Confident in Mary Phagan's Case.

Atlanta, Ga., March 19.—Written demand on the jail authorities here that they prevent anyone's visiting James Conley, the negro serving a year's sentence for complicity in the murder of 14-year-old Mary Phagan, unless they have the attorney's permission, has been made by William M. South, Conley's attorney. Conley was convicted of aiding Leo M. Frank in disposing of the girl's body. Frank is under sentence of death for slaying the girl.

Investigation now being made by a detective of national reputation, at the instance of Frank's friends, was marked yesterday by this statement:

"Every criminal leaves some sort of trail. I am close on the trail of the man who killed Mary Phagan and I am convinced that it will not be long ere I can name him. The trail is very plain."

WILL HANDLE BOOKS.

Books are now handled by parcel post, according to an announcement received at the local postoffice yesterday from the postal officials at Washington. The new ruling admits books at the rate of 1 cent for each two ounces up to eight ounces, with the parcel post rate on the zone basis for all packages over the latter amount. The same ruling draws a distinction between books and pamphlets, the latter still being subject to the fourth class rate up to four pounds, with a parcel post rate above that amount.

COMPROMISE ON $300 REWARD

Finder of Lost Jewels Is Paid for Their Return.

Mrs. H. A. Whittaker of 902 East Third street, who last Saturday found diamonds valued at $3,500 belonging to Mrs. George Brosseau, 721 East Third street, received a reward of $300.

The payment of the reward was made yesterday afternoon by A. L. Agatin, attorney for Mrs. Brosseau. Mrs. Whittaker declares herself satisfied with the final disposition.

Mrs. Brosseau, who is a tango demonstrator with Prof. Dahl in the Aeolian hall, lost her diamonds nearly three weeks ago, while on her way home from the dancing school. The diamonds were wrapped in a handkerchief when lost and after lying on the sidewalk at Sixth avenue east and Superior street for two weeks, were last Saturday picked up by Mrs. Whittaker. Mrs. Brosseau had in the meantime advertised in the newspapers for the missing jewels and had offered a reward of $500 for their return.

SUPERIOR, NEB., BANKER KILLED.

Superior, Neb., March 19.—Nate Doudna, cashier and vice president of the state bank of Guide Rock, was killed yesterday by his car overturning while he was en route home from Red Cloud. The accident happened about a mile west of Guide Rock on level ground. Mr. Doudna was alone, and the theory is that he suffered a fainting spell and lost control of his machine.

Hoarseness

Have you got hoarseness that continues? Or do you get hoarse once in a while, whenever you get the slightest cold?

Hoarseness means a catarrhal condition of the vocal cords. The vocal cords are way down in the larynx and when affected by hoarseness should cause serious concern.

Peruna has been found to be an excellent remedy for such cases. We have received testimonials from responsible people who have been relieved of hoarseness by Peruna. Should you want to read a lot of excellent testimonials on all subjects write for the

ARE PLANNING FOR MAY DAY

Socialists of Duluth Will Celebrate With Parade and Dance.

International May day will be celebrated by the local Socialists again this year on a bigger scale than ever before.

The first of May is celebrated in every country in Europe and its popularity among Socialists and working men is growing, as is shown by the increased enthusiasm each year.

A meeting was held at 310½ West First street last evening, and a committee was selected to take charge of the May day celebration in Duluth this year. John Alvin Johnson was chosen chairman and Elmer Oss, secretary. The committee will attempt to secure the services of a speaker of national reputation for the address on May 1. Several men are being considered.

There will be a two days' celebration. The parade and speaking will be held on Friday evening, and a dance is being planned for the Saturday evening following. A hall has not yet been secured, but the committee will attempt to secure the Armory or the Auditorium.

The committee in charge of the celebration is composed of A. E. Scofield, E. N. Edes, Halvor W. Halvorsen, Mrs. Martin Hendrickson, Otto Arlund, Felix Siren, Henry Puranen, Miss Lydia White, John Wickstrom, Dan Ecklund, P. G. Phillips, W. E. Towne, C. P. Carlson and Richard Jones.

An international dance will be held by the party some time during the early part of April for the purpose of raising funds to carry on the coming campaign.

Tonight Prof. John D. Olson will deliver a lecture on "The Paris Commune," at the regular meeting of the study class. The meeting will be held at 310½ West First street and is open to the public.

CLAIM OTHER CARS FAILED LIKE DUKE'S

Witnesses at Trial Tell of Mishaps With That Make.

Seattle, Wash., March 19.—Laurence Duke, nephew of James B. Duke, the tobacco manufacturer, took the stand in his own defense in the superior court, where he is on trial on a charge of manslaughter for killing Henry N. Farr in an automobile accident last October. Duke denied that he was intoxicated the night of the incident, and said that he took only one drink that day.

The defense introduced several witnesses who testified that other automobiles of the same make as Duke's had been in accidents because of defective steering arrangements.

The defense contends that Duke was unable to control the car, which ran into Farr while the latter was in the middle of the highway repairing his own automobile, which had broken down.

VICTORY FOR THE MARCONI COMPANY

Officials Claim Court Gave It Control of All Wireless.

New York, March 19.—The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America has won a victory in the Federal court which, according to its officers, gives the company almost complete control of the field of wireless telegraphy. The company won an infringement suit against the National Electric Signalling company of Pittsburg, involving basic patents granted to Sir Oliver Lodge, the British scientist, and Guglielmo Marconi, the Italian inventor.

The decision, written by United States District Judge Veeder, says:

"The Lodge patent and the Marconi patent constitute the essential features of apparatus which has made possible communication over a distance of 6,000 miles, and is admittedly an essential feature of the wireless art as at present known and practiced."

"All the other companies use the basic principle involved in these two patents," said Edward J. Nally, general manager of the Marconi interests in America. "There are no other devices which make commercial wireless telegraphy a practical thing and a financial success."

SAYS WILSON BALKED.

Anna Howard Shaw Criticizes His Attitude on Suffrage.

New Haven, Conn., March 19.—President Wilson is "balking" on the woman suffrage question, and by so doing is merely putting off the millennium in Democracy, declared Dr. Anna Shaw, president of the National Woman Suffrage association, speaking last night to Yale students and Connecticut suffrage leaders.

"Men generally cannot give reasons for their opposition to suffrage" said Dr. Shaw. "They hunt for excuses. When you come face to face with the members of our congress today, with President Wilson and the other big men in the government, they seek excuses, balk and lay it to the Constitution, their party platform or to the fact that men are men and women are women—the best argument the anti-suffragists have."

CHANGE LA VAQUE ROAD.

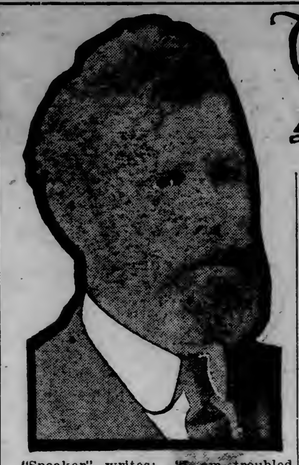
Several Miles Will Be Added By the Board's Action.

At an adjourned session of the county board yesterday afternoon, a hearing was conducted on an application for the changing of the route of the La Vaque road in township 50-15 presented by Otto Witte and others, after which the board decided to make the changes. This will add several miles to the road and substantially increase its cost.

The commissioners also opened bids and awarded the contract for printing $5,000 personal property listing blanks for the use of the tax assessors of the county to George H. Lounsberry & Co., whose bid was $110. Twelve foremen for roads in the Fourth commissioner district were made.

JUDSON GOES ON TOUR OF CHINA

Chicago, March 19.—Dr. Harry Pratt Judson, president of the University of Chicago, started yesterday on a seven months' trip around the world in the interest of the Rockefeller foundation for teaching medicine in China. Most of the time will be spent in traveling in the interior of China. Dr. Judson left for Washington, D. C., and will go to New York Friday.



The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers should apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Building, College-Ellwood streets, Dayton, Ohio, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Miss Anna" writes: "I suffer with very severe headaches which also affects my eyes. My throat and nostrils are affected by catarrh and my breath is very bad. Could you prescribe a cure?"

Answer: I have helped hundreds who suffer as you do by prescribing the following and have received many letters from grateful people which indicates that it is speedily curative: Purchase a 2 oz. original package of vilane powder; to a pint of warm water add one-half teaspoonful and snuff the water from the palm of the hand through the nostrils two or three times a day or until they are thoroughly cleansed; then apply well up into the nostrils twice daily the following catarrh balm: To one level teaspoonful of vilane powder add one ounce of lard or vaseline. If used according to the above prescription your catarrh should soon vanish. This should be used occasionally to prevent its return.

"Mildred K." says: "Please advise what I can use for a good hair tonic. My hair and scalp are in a very bad condition and nothing seems to help."

Answer: The best hair tonic on the market is sold in 4 oz. jars and is called plain yellow minyol. Any up-to-date druggist will have it. This is superior to anything known for the treatment of the diseases of the hair and scalp. Two or three applications have been known to overcome it, while it makes the hair soft, fluffy and makes it keep its natural color.

"Jane" writes: "My nerves are in a dreadful condition, my appetite is very poor and I am extremely thin. My face is so thin that it makes me very unhappy. I should like you to tell me a true remedy."

Answer: If you wish to become stouter, improve your appetite and your nervous system. I heartily recommend the use of three-grain hyponuclane tablets, which you will find in any well-stocked drug store, in sealed cartons with full directions for taking. Hypo-nuclane tablets improve the nutrition, add red corpuscles to the blood, strengthen the nervous system and improve the general health. Many people report that they have gained from 10 to 30 pounds in two months.

"Anxious" writes: "Please tell me how to treat diseases or disorders of the urinary system. My symptoms are great thirst, but scanty elimination. My skin is dry and I have chills, loss of appetite, headache and fever in my eyes. Also pains in back and limbs like rheumatism."

Answer: I am quite confident that if you will take balmwort tablets regularly for several weeks that your trouble will vanish. These tablets are a fine tonic for the kidneys and bladder. They stimulate and restore a natural condition better than anything I know of. Obtain in sealed tubes with full directions.

"Harry" writes: "Both my wife and myself suffer with rheumatism. We would appreciate a reply telling us what to take."

Answer: Mix the following at home or have the druggist mix for you: 2 drams of iodide of potassium; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half oz.; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; and syrup of sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs. Take a teaspoonful at meal time and bed time. Always shake well before using.—Advertisement.

SENATE PASSES DEFICIENCY BILL

Adds $500,000 for Caring for Refugees From Mexico.

Washington, March 19.—After a vigorous defense by Senator Lodge, Republican, of the government's expenditures in caring for Mexican soldiers and other refugees interned in Texas and California, the senate passed the urgent deficiency bill, carrying a total of over $10,000,000, half a million of which was added by the senate appropriations committee for the maintenance of the refuge camps.

An amendment was adopted to provide that the war department shall expend this money only in caring for soldiers and military refugees. This, however, will not affect the status of the 1,500 women and children interned with the soldiers, as they are regarded as a part of the Mexican army.

The appropriation was opposed by Senator Bristow of Kansas, who insisted that since no government was recognized in Mexico by the United States, no foundation could be laid for a claim for repayment. Senator Lodge declared that the reception of the refugee soldiers not only was in accordance with international usage, but was obligatory because of the treaty signed at The Hague by many nations, including the United States and Mexico. The matter of repayment, he said, must be left until peace was reestablished.

BRAND SCHOOLS "INEFFICIENT"

New Orleans, La., March 19.—Public schools were attacked as inefficient and school laws as inadequate by speakers at the closing session of the tenth annual National Child Labor conference here. Improvements in school methods were proposed as one of the solutions of the child labor problem.

Dr. E. N. Klopper of New York, secretary of the Northern Child Labor committee, said children were leaving school as soon as the law allowed, and for that reason schools were being assailed as too academic.

Prof. Frank M. Leavitt of the University of Chicago, president of the National Vocational Guidance association, suggested that the schools should supervise the employment of children up to 18 years of age.

KIDNAPS HIS SON TO HAVE HIM BAPTIZED

San Francisco, March 19.—David G. Powers, the government's star witness in the prosecution of the Western Fuel company, kidnaped his 18-months-old son yesterday long enough to have him baptized. Powers took the youngster from his mother's residence and returned him after he had been christened Patrick David Stuart Powers. The mother wanted him baptized Norman. The Powers have been separated eighteen months.

WORTHINGTON IS QUARANTINED

Chicago, March 19.—John W. Worthington, president of the defunct American Banking association, against whom various charges of irregularity in banking methods have been made, has been quarantined in a hotel here. He is seriously ill, according to the city health department. The affairs of the banking association are now in bankruptcy. Worthington was to have been placed on trial yesterday, charged with operating a confidence game.

OLEO MAKERS ARE GUILTY OF FRAUDS

Officers of Company Are Convicted—Clerk Is Set Free.

Chicago, March 19.—John F. Jelke, president of the John F. Jelke company, and eight officials and former employes of the company were found guilty in the Federal court last night of conspiracy to defraud the government by avoiding the tax in selling oleomargarine. H. P. McFarland, a clerk, was found not guilty.

Officials of the company found guilty were William M. Steele, general manager; Francis M. Lowry, secretary, and Hugh D. Cameron, Milwaukee representative. The others were salesmen and former salesmen. Two other defendants were discharged just before the end of the trial, no complicity having been shown.

The indictments charged that the defendants evaded the government tax by selling white oleomargarine, and giving the retailers coloring matter and instructing them how to use it.

Counsel for the convicted men at once entered motions for a new trial and Judge Geiger set the hearing on the motions for April 18. He announced that the bonds under which the men now are at liberty would be sufficient until the hearing.

BOY IS STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Failing to hear the horn as he was crossing the street at Lake avenue late yesterday afternoon, John Zobraski, 14 years old, a newsboy living with his parents at 608 East Tenth street, was struck by the Orpheum Cleaners' automobile and sustained a fractured ankle as a result of the accident.

The machine was driven by Samuel Jaffy of Superior, who declares that he blew his horn when he saw the boy, but the latter failed to get out of the way. The statement of Jaffy is substantiated by Patrolman Cavanaugh, who saw the accident, and a pedestrian, Sigurd Helgeland, 533 West First street.

The injured boy was first taken to police headquarters and later removed to St. Mary's hospital, where he is today reported to be in an improved condition.

PREDICTS 100,000,000 BUSHELS OF WHEAT

Kansas City, Mo., March 19.—"Kansas expects to harvest more than 100,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, and the crop may run to 150,000,000 bushels," said Henry Lassen, a miller of Wichita, Kan., at the opening here of the annual meeting of the Southwestern Millers' league.

Millers from six states are attending the meeting. One of the topics to be discussed is a proposed protest against the 5 per cent increase in freight rates east of the Mississippi river. The millers say if this increase goes through there will be a similar rise west of the Mississippi next.

IRRIGATED LAND SETTLERS FAVORED

Washington, March 19.—An administration bill extending to twenty years the time for repayment by water users on government irrigation projects, passed the senate yesterday without material amendment. A similar bill is pending in the house.

May Export Pulpwood.

Toronto, Ont., March 19.—An important bill was introduced in the Ontario legislature last night by the minister of land to permit the export of pulpwood from the provincial crown lands for one year. Owing to the storms of last year, a large quantity of pulpwood is in danger of destruction by worms and other causes. It was felt by the sponsors of the bill that the outlet for its disposal should be enlarged.

MINNESOTA STOMACH VICTIMS FIND RELIEF WITH FIRST DOSE

Wonderful Remedy Saves Many From Desperate Illnesses and Dangerous Operations.

End stomach troubles quickly with Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. The first dose proves what it will do. Hundreds of people in Minnesota have used it with unusual benefit.

Here are the words of a few of the many in this state who have taken it:

JOHN TOWEY, 2030 Dayton avenue, St. Paul, Minn., ordering a second treatment, wrote: "I have been feeling fine since I took your medicine. It certainly cleared my skin. I have recommended your medicine to a number of stomach sufferers."

MRS. PETER WILLIAMS, 2749 Eighteenth street, S., Minneapolis, wrote: "I have taken Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and feel like a new woman. I am entirely out of pain. Four of our best doctors could do nothing for me and agreed I must have an operation."

Such experiences are general among the users of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. It clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and poisonous matter. It brings swift relief to sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels. Many declare that it has saved them from dangerous operations; many are sure that it has saved their lives.

Because of its remarkable merit Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy has many imitators, so be cautious. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Probably this remedy is known among your neighbors; ask them. Go to Wirth's drug store, and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing—or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects.

GIRLS! BEAUTIFUL, CHARMING HAIR, NO DANDRU FF--25 CENT DANDERINE

Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair and stops it falling Out.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

Woman's Realm

At the "Spanish Afternoon" given by the literary department of the Twentieth Century club yesterday at the Masonic temple, Mrs. N. F. Hugo, the president, made a few remarks upon the work that had been done by the club and expressed the hope that the standard would be kept up in the future.

Mrs. E. Frank Barker gave a talk on "The Spanish Drama of Today." She told of the many types of Spaniards, each province having its own dances, folk songs, costumes and dialect that influence the literature of that particular section. Mrs. Barker gave a brief sketch of the dramas and novels of recent Spanish writers. There are very few English translations of Spanish plays, Mrs. Barker said.

Miss Loretta O'Gorman played selections from "Carmen" on the organ, followed by a piano number and a Spanish dance by Miss O'Gorman and Miss Nora Harrison. Miss Gladys Reynolds sang "The Danza" and "Carmencita." Miss Homer Collins read, "A Leave Taking" an example of Andalusian poetry, that was to have been given by Miss Lelia Sparks. Mrs. Collins also gave two vocal numbers. Miss Cordelia Collins gave a Spanish dance in costume. Mrs. Louis Dworshak was the accompanist of the afternoon.

At the close of the program the members of the club gave a rising vote of thanks to Mrs. J. C. H. Engel, the chairman of the department of literature.

Surprise Party.

Miss Anna Echer was pleasantly surprised by a number of her friends Tuesday evening. The rooms were decorated with green. The following program was given:

English ballad ..... I. Crawford
..... Dave Perry
Reading—"The Brave Six Hundred"
Quartet—D. Eckstram, A. Peterson, H. Cox and H. Mullin.
Piano solos by Miss M. Maxwell and Miss S. Conley.

Miss Olga Nelson and W. Lewis won honors by dancing the tango. The guests were:

Misses—
L. Haubner, O. Nelson, S. Conley, F. Mason, E. Erickson, M. Maxwell, S. Schruchle, E. Nelson, V. Kay, L. Drama, P. Milortan, D. Blais, M. Forsman.

Messrs—
C. McKenna, A. Hickman, W. Lewis, H. Mullin, D. Perry, D. Edstrom, A. Peterson, H. Cox, A. Milortan, I. Crawford, F. Hawkins, H. Gelineau, W. Echer, P. Echer.

D. A. R. Meeting.

The Daughters of Liberty chapter, D. A. R., met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Hanscom of 2302 East Fifth street. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Page Morris and Mrs. William Harrison. Mrs. S. R. Holden gave a report on the D. A. R. council meeting that was held in St. Paul last month. Miss Agnes Wells gave an outline for an ideal course of high school hygiene that would cover four years. She also described the one semester, elective course now given in the high school.

"The Last Day of School."

The members of the Unitarian church are planning to give "The Last Day of School" March 27. There will be a spelling bee and a group of old-fashioned songs.

Pupils Entertained.

The Literature and Word Study class of the Tanis School of English entertained at a parlor recital at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Crane of East Fourth street, Wednesday evening. The class was assisted with musical numbers by Miss Edna Dryer, a reading by Miss Hannah Nelson, and an address by T. Nelson. Other guests were Miss Ina Forselius, Miss Christine Wold, Miss Lydia Rennberg, Miss Ildrid Olsen, and Miss Dagmar Gasso.

The program was as follows: Music, graphophone; remarks, John Tanis; recitation, "Clear the Way," George Muros; vocal solo, Miss Dryer; recitation, "True Courage," Ernest Johnson; recitation, "The Present Age," Victor Swanson; vocal solo, Miss Dryer; recitation, "Work," William Nelson; recitation, "My Wife Is a Woman of Mind," Otto Schallow; vocal solo, Miss Dryer; reading, Miss Nelson; remarks, "Immigration," Albert Loding; vocal solo, Miss Dryer; address, "Elements of Success," Mr. Nelson.

After the program, refreshments were served by Mrs. Crane and the remainder of the evening made pleasant with interesting games.

Mrs. C. D. McPhail of 1817 West Second street entertained the Missionary Society of the Central Baptist church yesterday afternoon. Mrs. W. A. Berridge read a paper on Baptist missions in India and the work done in the schools for women and girls. Mrs. F. Mentzer discussed current events in foreign and home mission fields and Mrs. J. B. Dye, Mrs. Patton, Miss Ely and Mrs. F. M. Mitchell spoke on the same subject. Mrs. Milton E. Fish spoke of the Judson family, who were Baptist pioneers in foreign missionary work, describing particularly the life and death of Mrs. Judson.

Pure Food Exponent.

Notable among the visitors to Duluth this week will be Dr. Harvey A. Wiley, who will lecture on the "Sanitary Handlings of Food" Saturday evening. Dr. Wiley was in the service of the government almost thirty years. During the last few years he has been one of the most conspicuous men in public life. He has been of great service by exposing manufacturers of adulterated drugs and foods and has been so closely associated with all efforts to have only wholesome and clean products on the market that his name has almost become a synonym for "pure food."

SMALL AUDIENCE AT BUTT-RUMFORD RECITAL

English Singers Pleased the Few Music Lovers Who Attended Lyceum Concert.

What the small audience at the Lyceum theater last evening lacked in numbers, it made up in appreciation of Clara Butt and Kennerly Rumford, two of England's leading vocalists, who are touring America this year.

The program was light but varied and proved very popular.

Mr. Rumford was most appreciated last evening when he sang semi-humorous numbers and his rendition of "When Childer Play," by Dr. Walford Davies was pleasing. So insistent was the audience that he had to repeat the selection. His wife's singing of "The Fairy Pipers," by Fred E. Wetherley was delightful and it also had to be sung a second time before the audience was satisfied.

The surprise of the evening was provided by William Murdoch, the pianist, who is little more than a youth. His numbers, "La Cathedral Engloutie," the two Arabesques in E and G major by Debussy and "Ballade 'A flat'" by Chopin, were delightful.

His modesty alone caused him to refrain from a second encore number following his rendition of the two Chopin numbers, "Berceuse" and "Ballade 'A flat.'"

Mr. Rumford was best in his "Figaro" number, which will be remembered by music lovers as the favorite selection in the Rossini opera, "Barbiere di Sevigila." He has a very wide range and a powerful voice. This may also be said of his wife, whose lower notes have almost the quality of a baritone. "Abide With Me," by Rev. E. F. Lyte and the old Bretagne air, "L'Angelus," arranged by Ducoudray, were the best numbers rendered by Mme. Butt.

Mr. Rumford and Mme. Butt closed the program with the duet number, "Night Hymn At Sea" by Goring Thomas. As an encore they sang Yvette Gilbert's old favorite, "Madame, Will You Walk?" which was delightful and a fitting close to an entertaining evening.

WHAT SHALL SOCIETY DO FOR THE GIRL WHO ERRS?

She Should Be Educated in Youth to Know the Consequences of Sinning.

Edith Livingston Smith in Harper's Weekly: With the usual unwillingness of conventionality to face the issue, society has always sent girls to a maternity home. We are sorry for the girl's mother. We are somewhat but less, sorry for the girl. We condemn Nature. We are indignant with the man who is responsible, and when the child is born, we shall be inclined to pity it and see that it is given half a helping hand, because it has only half a chance.

To maintain this attitude, we have to walk the difficult tightrope of charity, and we are likely to topple over on one side or the other. Either we err on the side of sentimentality, or we throw stones. We forget the one great fact that as part of society we are responsible for this girl's condition.

Reasons Against Such "Homes."

I do not believe in maternity homes. Like many consciously good things in the world, they have to be recognized, and like many virtues we use them.

Sentimentally they approach perfection. Practically I would criticize them on three points:

"1. The atmosphere of such 'homes' is abnormal, and the effect of any departure from the normal is demoralizing.

"2. A prospective mother needs hospital care at the time of her confinement, or the advice of expert obstetricians, and it is difficult to combine medical efficiency with professional charity.

"3. Economically these homes do not yield the best results for the money expended—they are inefficient."

The teaching in these "homes" is concentrated religion of a sort, the teachers having acquired a wholesale institutional pity which deals with "cases" rather than individuals. There is talk of "fallen women," "erring girls," and "first and second offenses." The Pharisee is quoted in spirit and in truth, rather than the real Christian teaching of which the world disapproves: "Has no man condemned thee? Neither do I condemn thee. Go and sin no more."

Mother Is Sometimes to Blame.

I try, if possible, to keep a girl in her own home until she can go to a lying-in hospital for her confinement. Her own mother is at least indirectly responsible for her condition, for it is generally the result of reckless indulgence, the danger of which she never knew, the culmination of the strange, fierce hunger and craving of her sexual nature which she was never taught to acknowledge or control.

The girl's mother is afraid of the world and of the neighbors. I try to tell her we must be brave enough to look over the cold shoulder of the world and to defy the neighbors. Our reproach has been in leaving truth untaught. We should never be ashamed of the sins. Stevenson said it was only the sins of omission that mattered greatly. Surely they are the ones that concern us today. At any rate, the world cannot throw stones—straight.

If such a girl cannot stay at home, she should be placed in the home of some good woman, herself a mother, who can awaken in her the qualities and instincts of maternal responsibility inborn in every normal girl.

Whose Fault Is This?

Do not think for one moment that I believe woman should be dependent upon man at the cost of her dignity, her intelligence, and her individuality, but before she assumes the role of a wage-earner she should be a woman, not a child. A girl's protection must come from without, a boy's from within. Every boy who reaches the age of adolescence knows his nature. A girl stays innocent until she is awakened. It is the kiss, the touch, the senses stirred, that makes her, in the glory of her womanhood or in her shame, acknowledge her sex.

Our cities are full of mere children who have felt the glow of freedom and the necessity of toil. Our factories and shops are run by them. It is but natural that they should obey the call of the times; but they leave their toys and their spelling books to go into wage-earning competition, where life crowds and entices, enchants, dominates, and sometimes kills. Whose fault is this?

Danger in Natural Selection.

The very frailty of such a girl, her dependence upon her intuitions and emotions, the triumph of feeling over intellect, place her in greater danger than her brothers, even with their responsibility to society the same. But; add to this the fact that in yielding to sexual temptation she has the burden of child-bearing—how much more necessary that she should have some knowledge of what she is to meet in the world, of what she must combat, lest her emotions forestall her intelligence as physical development precedes mental appreciation.

Without this education the force of natural selection asserts itself. A young girl is no reader of character. She does not understand herself and she mistakes physical fascination for love. It is pathetic that she should stumble into the net of her own immaturity, but this is too often true, and if she does no worse she probably marries the wrong man. This because she was left alone, a child, untutored, responsible for the fruit of the tree of knowledge which she picks because it is growing in her garden, and she is curious.

An Awakening Is Near.

So we struggle with the great problem of illegitimacy. How strange are our morals, that we call the effect of ignorance immorality, the result of Nature's awakening sin.

Suddenly we are realizing the situation, and a campaign of education is the result. It is absolutely necessary, if we are to face the facts. If we permit conditions without a suggestion as to remedy, they become our grave responsibility because of our acknowledgement of their existence. Whether we like it or not, women are in the industrial world to stay. Whether we face the issue or dodge it, they must know the laws of sex as they are, and, like their brothers, be instructed as to the use and abuse of their instincts. Then we will approach a standard of morals that will bear the light of day not a double standard, as in the past, but a basis for right living evolved from a knowledge of the law of sex, which should be regarded as simply as in any other law which Nature has ordained for man's development.

PRACTICAL TRAINING FOR CITY GIRLS

From the Woman's Home Companion: While the country girl learns piemaking at home and gets credit for it at school the city girl is not neglected. There is a high school for girls in New York city named after Washington Irving. It has courses in everything that a housewife should know, from "blacking the kitchen stove to making a baby's layette." The Washington Irving girls learn scientific care of babies, dressmaking, laundry work, first aid to the injured, cooking, millinery, folk dancing, as well as all the standardized high school and commercial school courses.

The daughters of New York who must help support the family as soon as school days are over are not forgotten. For them there is the Manhattan Trade school, intended for girls who are obliged to go to work immediately after completing the compulsory schooling required by law in New York city. These girls can spend one year only in training; the course is planned for just one year, with advanced courses for those who can remain longer.

There are splendid classes in the manufacture of clothing, millinery, lamp shades, machine embroidery, etc. Added to these are supplementary courses in arithmetic, English, design, industrial problems, physical training and cooking.

Abraham Lincoln said of industrial training: "Free labor argues that as the author of man makes every individual with one head and one pair of hands, it was probably intended that head and hands should co-operate as friends, and that that particular head should direct and control that pair of hands. As each man has one mouth to be fed and one pair of hands to furnish food, it was probably intended that that particular pair of hands should feed that particular guardian, director and protector of the hands and mouth inseparably connected with it; and, that being so, every head should be cultivated and improved by whatever will add to its capacity for performing its charge."

THE VANISHING UMBRELLA.

Philadelphia Press: A manufacturer says that fewer umbrellas are manufactured in this country year after year. He gives many causes to show why this shield against the wrath of Jupiter Pluvius must eventually become extinct.

Raincoats are helping to drive the umbrella to the wall. Waterproof rubber protects the clothing from head to foot and the wind cannot strip us of it. One of the chief functions of an umbrella was to keep the rain off the beaver and silk hats of our fathers, but few indeed are the men who appear on the streets nowadays in business houses under a high hat. The derby and a soft hat are less in need of protection from rain and snow.

The automobile also plays its important part in displacing the umbrella. Thousands of persons who used to carry umbrellas now ride directly from their homes to their places of business when once they walked at least a part of the way. The tops of the automobiles afford all needed shelter from the elements in stormy weather.

Even a fourth cause may be noted for the passing of the umbrella, not to mention its proclivity for vanishing on account of forgetfulness on the part of an owner and extreme thoughtfulness on the part of others who prosper on the practice that borrowing is one way of earning. This fourth reason is the improved street car service as compared with the old-time horse car service. Electric cars are now the rule where the horse car was not known and they move so frequently that people are willing to take a chance of getting wet. Rather than incur the inconvenience of carrying them or having them stolen many persons will take the risk of being caught in a shower, knowing that they can board a street car in an emergency.

Thus the umbrella promises to become as rare as the ichthyosaurus and as dead as the proverbial door-nail.

WISDOM OF THE KIDDIES.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Congressman James R. Slayden told me one at a recent banquet to prove that occasionally you can't lose the kiddies when it comes to choosing the wisest course.

Connected with a religious institution in a certain city, the congressman said, there is a baseball team composed of 12-year-old youngsters. Some time ago the team got a challenge from the club of a similar institution, and, wishing to encourage the boys, the minister gave them $5, telling them to spend it for bats, balls, gloves or anything else that would win the game.

Came the great day, and the minister went down to the ballfield. Glancing around, he saw the same old paraphernalia. Not a single new article was in sight.

"Come here a minute, Willie," said he, calling the captain. "Where are your new bats, balls and gloves?"

"We haven't got any new bats, balls and gloves," said Willie, glancing from the domhie to the opposing team.

"You haven't?" exclaimed the surprised pastor. "Didn't I give you $5 to buy them?"

"Yes, sir," replied Willie, "but you told us to spend it any way we thought best to win the game, so we gave it to the umpire."

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Too Many People Consult Doctors for Imaginary Ills.

"Four-fifths of all the people who consult doctors would be better off if they kept away from them entirely."

This is the radical statement of one of them, Dr. Francis Henry Wade, and we may believe that he makes it in no idle, insincere mood. Certain it is that many of our ills, like many of our troubles, are imaginary, and that we would be better for having someone nip our tendencies to whining, dosing and invalidism, in the bud.

If every physician dared to be frank and truthful and could resist the temptation to add to his livelihood by the visionary ills of many of his patients, the list of these would be lessened considerably. The truth is, I suppose, that he does not dare to, from one standpoint, and cannot afford to, from another. And so the practice grows.

A woman friend of mine, always until a year ago, inclined to coddle infirmities, real and imaginary, past all tolerance. She consulted a doctor. He gave her due attention, bore with her imaginary ills for one or two visits, and then very calmly and sensibly told her that she didn't have a single organic disturbance. He hinted very broadly that she was seeking relief from her own state of mind, and that if she couldn't help herself, there was nothing anyone could do to help her.

He told her that what she called aches and ills were the creation of her own mind, urged her to give more thought to her work and find more to do. Regular exercise in the open air, good food, plenty of water inside and out, all the sleep she required, and fresh air wherever she happened to be, were included in his admonitions. He also urged her to cease thinking about herself.

My friend is, or was, representative of a class that is not confined to one sex or any age after early youth is passed. She happened to be in the first stages of what becomes a chronic and incurable state, absolutely dependent upon a physician's offices and all the sugar-coated or bitter-tasting mixtures he can prescribe. She and all her kind should thank any doctor who will tell them the truth. It is the only thing that will save them from acquiring a state of mind that will eventually lead to a very poor state of health.

AND STILL THEY COME!

The twentieth organization to indorse the proposed 1915 midsummer festival and pageant is the Duluth Ad club, made up of men experienced and skilled in publicity.

As half the battle in making the festival a success will consist in publicity—in advertising the show abroad and bringing an audience here—this introduces into the committee an element that will be vitally needed.

A New York tailor demands fifty dollars a month and "keep" as his pay for farm work. No doubt he applied at a poultry farm and based his wage demand on his familiarity with the goose.

LET'S INVADE MEXICO!

We have been against the invasion of Mexico, as strongly as we knew how to be.

Intervention means invasion, invasion means conquest, conquest means grabbing territory.

Dooley, perhaps unconsciously, put vividly the ludicrous attitude of the president's critics when, after flaying the waiting policy of the administration with masterly sarcasm through half a page, he said, in reply to Hennessy's very pertinent inquiry as to what he'd do about it if it were his say, that he'd say "go into Mexico" if he knew how to get out again.

There's the rub; and there's where the critics of the administration fall down every time—all except a few of the franker ones who candidly admit that they wouldn't want to get out once they get in.

And that's one reason why we have been against the invasion of Mexico.

But now we have an idea, and we are no longer against invading Mexico. We're for it, strong.

Let's make up an army consisting of Senator Fall of New Mexico, who, according to his autobiography in the congressional directory, "is engaged in mining in Mexico;" William Randolph Hearst of San Francisco and New York, who is also "engaged in mining in Mexico;" and Governor Colquitt of Texas, who may or may not be "engaged in mining in Mexico" but who is manifestly looking for trouble.

Let them be joined by all those who feel and talk as they do, and let THEM shoulder muskets and invade Mexico.

And let the rest of us stand around and cheer them on their way with such remarks as "go to it!" and "good riddance."

The state's lawyers will get $38,400 out of this latest escapade of Harry Thaw. Returns from the other side haven't been made public yet, but if it falls below that figure, look out for the millenium.

THE CASE OF LEO M. FRANK.

Unless something happens in the meantime, Leo M. Frank will be hanged April 17 at Atlanta for the murder of a girl named Mary Phagan.

And a growing sense of doubt whether this man was justly convicted is spreading through the country. What is more encouraging, it is spreading in Atlanta, too; for if Atlanta were convinced of the man's guilt public opinion elsewhere could have little influence.

On the morning of Sunday, April 27, 1913, the body of this fourteen-year-old girl was found in the basement of the factory of which Frank was superintendent. She had been outraged and murdered. Frank was arrested. He admitted that he had seen the girl the afternoon before, that he had paid her the wages due her, and that probably he was the last man to see her alive—except the murderer. This fact, and the suspicious testimony of a negro sweeper that he had participated in the crime and had helped dispose of the body, resulted in Frank's conviction.

The judge who heard the case declared that he was in doubt as to Frank's guilt, but on the law he was unable to grant a new trial, and the supreme court sustained him. It is said that ninety per cent of the lawyers of Atlanta believe Frank to have been unjustly convicted. Several Atlanta newspapers are uttering a similar belief. The New York Times sent a staff representative to Atlanta who, after a thorough investigation, declares that Georgia is in danger of taking the life of an innocent man.

Why, on evidence so flimsy and unreliable, was Frank convicted?

By the pressure of almost hysterical public sentiment, is the answer. In the half-year prior to Mary Phagan's death there had been fifteen murders in Atlanta, and in not a single case had the perpetrator been found. The public was alarmed and indignant, and demanded a victim. Mary Phagan was young, and white, and the crime was a terrible one. Frank was a Northerner and a Jew—two reasons for prejudice against him in Atlanta. One or two yellow newspapers hammered the jury with suggestions of vengeance throughout the trial. Mobs shrieked demands for vengeance at the jury. The whole atmosphere was one of bitter hostility—an atmosphere in which clear vision and clear judgment were all but impossible.

Frank's reputation up to the time of his arrest had never been publicly assailed. He was an honor graduate of Cornell, and he was president of the Atlanta branch of the B'nai B'rith, which position he still holds despite his impending doom.

Clearly, there has been a reaction from the state of public mind which demanded a victim—any victim—and got Frank. If guilty, hanging may be too good for him. But with the proof so manifestly insufficient, it will be a terrible thing if he is hanged, and a lasting blot on the good name of Atlanta and of Georgia.

Pressure is being brought to bear for a new trial. Where there is so much doubt, and when it is so plain that aggravated public hysteria rather than evidence produced Frank's conviction at the first trial, surely a new hearing of the case on its merits would be a fair thing to grant,—and the only fair thing to do.

The nomination of Louis Nash in St. Paul will raise the political hopes of every man in the Twin Cities who is given to writing letters to the newspapers.

THE HOUSEWIVES' LEAGUE AND DR. WILEY.

The housewives' league is an organization of thoughtful and public-spirited women who have been devoting themselves for a year to the study of intelligent living conditions, of the intelligent handling of food supplies in transportation, in marketing and in the home, and of the protection of the home against fraud and waste.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley is a man who has given deep thought, hard study and effectively vigorous public activity to these and kindred subjects.

He is the man who made the national pure food inspection system, and who would have made it better still if, under the too great amiability of Mr. Taft, he had not been persecuted out of office because he made is as good as it was and was trying to make it better still.

Dr. Wiley has been brought here by the Housewives' league to lecture at the First Methodist church Saturday evening. He is always worth hearing, and those who take advantage of the privilege offered them by the league will find in it both interest and profit.

Prof. Taft has made the discovery that "labor needs capital and capital needs labor." This is quite an advance from the old theory that capital was in need of nothing but a protective tariff.

THE TARIFF SUPERSTITION.

Those who are gleefully shouting that tariff revision downward has not cut the cost of living are forgetting several things.

They are forgetting that the new law has not been in effect long enough to make sure. They are forgetting to watch the increasing effects of increasingly large importations of foodstuffs. Above all, they are forgetting that even if their contention is true, the trouble may be simply that the tariff was not cut deeply enough, and that then the remedy would be to cut it deeper.

In the meantime, it is more to the point to listen to the judgment of a real tariff expert on the new tariff law. Dr. F. W. Taussig of Harvard is such an expert. His "Tariff History of the United States" is a standard authority. In a new edition following the Payne-Aldrich law he pointed out that the revision was farcical, thus squaring expert judgment with public opinion. A still newer edition has a chapter on the Wilson revision, which Dr. Taussig says is a moderate revision, but necessarily so.

The tariff is still protective, and many rates that were changed were not reduced enough to affect things much. Yet he believes that it was well worth while to make even these moderate revisions.

"It was worth while," he says, "if for no other reason, because it might be fairly expected to put an end to the superstition that all prosperity was dependent on the maintenance of a rigid protective tariff." That was the superstition which the bund in charge of the tariff for two generations succeeded in fastening on the American mind. It is, we believe, a superstition no longer held. Says Dr. Taussig:

> The superstition had indeed been somewhat shattered by the crisis of 1907 and the period of depression that followed. But it had been so dinned in the public ear—there had been such vociferous predictions of general disaster, of collapse of all manufacturing enterprises, of destruction to all standards of American living—that it was well to prove the industrial organism quite able to survive this general pruning. The unbiased observer cannot but wonder that the lugubrious talk should have had such a wide hearing and effect. * * * A more sober consideration of the tariff question might be expected to follow a proof of its comparative unimportance.

Though there has never been anything in American history more stupid than this superstition that prosperity was contingent upon high tariff schedules, and though the American people never did anything more stupid than to swallow it, still it is not surprising that it was so. It was dinned into their ears day after day and year after year. Political and business leaders, the only ones whom the bulk of the people had been taught to respect, solemnly assured them of its truth with unceasing insistence and perseverance.

Indeed, it was not until the public had lost all respect for these leaders that the superstition they had created was smashed. The downfall of the tariff superstition and the utter collapse of the old political and commercial idols were coincident in time and closely related in causation. Both fell because they were false, and because they could not withstand the acid of truth.

Now comes the theory that the tango craze is going to result in the return of broader skirts. But maybe it will go the other way and make bathing suits the proper thing.

Court Stopped a White Slave Reel

New York Tribune: "The Inside of the White Slave Traffic," a moving picture, was adjudged an illegal exhibition recently by a jury in Judge Swann's part of general sessions. The approval expressed some time ago by Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont had no effect.

After thirty-five minutes' deliberation the jury found Samuel H. London, author of the scenario, and Harry C. Bohn, manager of the Park theater, where it was produced, guilty of a misdemeanor. The jury recommended clemency, and at the suggestion of William Hayward, assistant district attorney, Judge Swann paroled the defendants in the custody of Samuel S. Koenig, their counsel:

"You are to be congratulated upon your verdict," said Judge Swann to the jurors. "It seems to me that the world is sex mad, and such plays as this result. A verdict of not guilty would have been taken as a certificate of good character and the reels would have been exhibited broadcast."

In his charge Judge Swann said:

"Mr. London's character is not an issue. It is the character of the reels and nothing else that is in question. His intent does not enter into the case. The test of criminality is whether the exhibition tends to deprave and corrupt those whose minds are open to immoral influences. If the exhibition is calculated to have this effect, the motive of the exhibitor is immaterial. This action is really very much in the nature of a trial of the reels."

The defendants were on trial, not as reformers, but as showmen, Mr. Hayward, assistant district attorney, declared. He told the jurors that they stood in the place of every father in the land, and they should consider well the effect such a play might have upon children.

"The assertion that the play is intended as a warning," said Mr. Hayward, "has neither relevancy nor merit. We may wish to warn our children against wild beasts, but we don't have to turn a skunk loose in the schoolroom to do it. The purpose, and the sole purpose of the objectionable features in this play was to draw a crowd and fill the purses of the producers."

Explained.

Upon my word the skirt she wore
Was slit from hem to waist,
And, gaping, showed, I much deplore,
A shapely limb incased.

In silken hose and filmy white,
The while a rounded knee
Peeped in and out, a shameless sight!
For all the world to see.

I knew that she was young and fair;
Her glance, I felt, was pert.
On sudden thought, I stopped her there
And pointed to the skirt.

In angry tones the thing I scored,
She looked a bit appalled,
Then, "Done it thildin' on a board
Wiv Willie Smif!" she bawled.
—E. L. Sylvester in Judge.

Mistaken Identity.

The Popular Magazine: Henry Phipps, who accumulated a few hundred million dollars making steel in the good, old days, and now collects his $20 a month for attending board meetings of the United States Steel corporation in the same spirit as the $20-a-month farm hand collects his wages, has little use for the Beau Brummel type.

One glance at his appearance would lead one to believe that his clothes were remnants from the Civil war, and he backs up this belief by carrying an old, faded umbrella large enough to shield ten ordinary men.

Having an important matter to take up with Chairman Gary, he dropped into the Steel offices, and was stopped by an office boy who happened to be new on the job.

"Wanta see Mr. Gary!" snapped Phipps.

"Can't see him," answered the boy. "There's been four other old guys here before you this morning looking for hand-outs."

Water Rates $7.50 Per $100.

Norman Duncan in Harper's Magazine: The municipal water rate in the mining center of Kalgoorlie (Australia) is still annually one shilling and six-pence in the pound sterling on the value of the property—which hints at some slight scarcity.

The Problem of Unemployment

Editorial in the Chicago Evening Post.

The national conference on unemployment, recently adjourned in New York after a series of interesting sessions in which the problem of the jobless man was discussed from many angles.

The recognition of unemployment as a social ill, susceptible to treatment, is an important step toward action that may bring improved conditions. The chief difficulty met in its consideration is the great lack of information necessary to arrive at the exact nature and exent of the problem and the best means for its solution.

It is generally conceded by students of industrial questions that unemployment is a constant problem. Prof. Scott Nearing says: "In a normal year one man in every two will be unemployed and the unemployment will average sixty days, or one-fifth of the working time. In a normal year the average wage-earners under $750 has one chance in two of losing one-fifth of his working time." Prof. Henry R. Seager of Columbia university, who presided over the New York conference, in a treatise on unemployment says: "The statement that 'any capable man who really wants work can always find it is still sometimes heard. No doubt it was substantially true. To continue to believe it now, however, is to betray one's ignorance of the industrial conditions that surround us."

The importance of this ever-present problem becomes clear when we consider the ills that flow from it. Idleness breeds suffering, poverty and crime, involving a heavy burden upon society, that, for its own protection, if not for reasons more humane, must care for the dependent.

The individual causes of unemployment are mainly sickness, accident and inefficiency; the industrial causes are business depression, labor troubles, seasonal trades, lack of stock and transportation facilities, and casual trades.

But even the individual causes, so called, are largely social, resulting in many instances from conditions over which the individual has little or no control.

Of course, the remedy lies in the removal of the causes, but that involves a vast amount of fundamental work on which we have barely made a beginning as yet. In the meantime we must do what can be done by way of mitigation, and to this end the conference by resolution urged upon the Federal department of labor the importance of providing means by which more definite information may be made available as to the extent of unemployment, its causes in specific localities and at specific seasons and its significance as a factor in the general social and industrial problem, and, further, the creation of a bureau of distribution, with power to establish employment exchanges, supplemental to the work now being done by state and city bureaus, where such exist, and to direct the distribution of unemployed labor throughout the country.

A plan similar to this obtains in Germany. The system would at least serve to separate the sincere workseeker from the habitual tramp or vagrant, and for the latter, ultimately, we shall resort to industrial or farm colonies to which he may be committed by law.

What Is a Pardon?

Cleveland Plain Dealer: On the ground that he is innocent of the crime for which he was convicted Lock Foster is recommended for pardon by the Ohio state board of pardons, and will be released from the penitentiary by an act of executive clemency.

The question arises as to what is a pardon, and what is clemency. A pardon is supposed to be the state's forgiveness. The recipient of a pardon must necessarily have committed a crime. Clemency is mercy extended to a criminal. How can a man be pardoned for a crime which he never committed; how can clemency be extended to a criminal who is guilty of no criminal act?

Pardons in such cases as that of Lock Foster are not pardons at all. They are simply belated acts of justice.

But is justice really done when the pardon is issued and the pardoned man is set free? This is a question which has often been asked, and always answered in the negative. Yet there has been devised no way to give justice to the man who has been wronged.

Lock Foster served thirteen years in the state penitentiary. It took thirteen years for the state to discover and admit that it had done a wrong in committing him for punishment. But having finally admitted the wrong the state makes no reparation. With thirteen years taken out of his life Lock Foster is turned adrift, and is supposed to be grateful for his liberty.

The theory is that the state can do no wrong. The state hunts out wrong and punishes. It happened that in the legal proceedings of the state of Ohio vs. Lock Foster the state was the party which was at fault. But the theory of the law's infallibility must be maintained, or respect for the law will diminish. Therefore, Lock Foster is set free by a "pardon," by the exercise of "clemency." It would, perhaps, be more fitting for Lock Foster to pardon the state; but that would be contrary to the doctrine that the state can do no wrong.

There seems to be no way out of it. The Lock Fosters, who are, fortunately, few and far between, must suffer without hope of reparation. For no man-made contrivance is quite perfect, quite beyond the possibility of error.

By Waiting Patiently.

Montgomery Journal: "Patience and perseverance will accomplish all things," was a favorite saying of an old miller.

He had made this remark in a train one day on the way to market, when a pompous individual in the corner turned to him crossly and said:

"Nonsense, sir. I can tell you a great many things which neither patience nor perseverance can accomplish."

"Perhaps you can," said the miller, "but I have never yet come across one thing."

"Well, then I'll tell you one. Will patience and perseverance ever enable you to carry water in a sieve?"

"Certainly."

"I would like to know how."

"Simply by waiting patiently for the water to freeze."

Brief Illness Beneficial.

London Chronicle: There are some who confess that they never really read or appreciated their daily paper until they had to stay in bed to read it and suddenly discovered it was rather good reading. And I know men who rent pleasant houses in delightful suburbs, yet scarcely ever see them until a blessed pain occurs and they stay at home for a few days in bed. A few days' "bedding-out" might do many human plants a lot of good.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—No man in congress has such a thunderous, megaphonic, tympanum-tearing voice as Representative Frank B. Willis of Ohio.

The voice of an enraged bull, of an auctioneer, of Gabriel's horn, of a pipe organ, of a ten-inch cannon—all these would combine into a mere whisper when compared with the vocative powers of the trumpet-tongued Willis—who, by the way, is expected to be the next Republican nominee for governor of Ohio.

Now, the question arises, how did the man ever acquire a voice so uncannily loud? Certainly it was never really intended that a human being should have the power, as Willis has, to drown out the noise of a July thunder storm. Where did he get it?

The answer is absurdly simple. The Willis voice is due almost entirely to the peculiar shape of the farm on which he was raised.

It was a narrow farm, but long—so long, in fact, that when the hogs strayed to the far end they were nearly three-quarters of a mile away from the barns.

Willis used to climb up to the top of the corn crib and call in the hogs at feeding time. At first they could not hear him, but that was before he got into practice. The time came when the hogs could hear Willis almost as distinctly as if he were whispering right into their ears.

And he has never ceased to talk as if he were calling home the hogs. They declare, out where Willis comes from, that when he proposed to his wife and was doing his best to speak in a soft, purring tone, it was heard all over two precincts. His ordinary conversational voice is on a par with the blast of muskets, and his words pop out like balls of fire from a Roman candle.

At a banquet here one night, Representative Fess, also of Ohio, followed Willis on the program, and Fess was greatly embarrassed over the ruthless manner in which his colleague had nearly ruined the ear drums of every person present.

Having known Willis from early youth, Fess was familiar with the relation between the Willis voice and the lowly swine on his father's farm. He told that story by way of twitting Willis and also told of the time he got off a train in an Ohio town and heard Willis making a campaign speech at a county fair.

"He was a mile and a half away," said Fess to the banqueters, "but I heard him."

"Yes," cut in Willis, at that juncture, "I always could make the shoats hear."

Then the laugh was on Willis no more.

* * *

On his last visit to Washington, Former President Taft was greeted by Representative James Francis Burke of Pennsylvania, who was chairman of the house committee that escorted Mr. Taft to the White House on the day of his inauguration.

"You're looking bully," said Burke, "but a good deal thinner."

"Yes, I am thinner," replied Taft, with his smile, "you know I always did try to harmonize with my party."

* * *

No one has laughed more heartily than Taft over this conundrum that went the rounds shortly after his defeat:

"What's the difference between Bill Taft and Moses?"

"Give it up."

"The Lord buried Moses where the people couldn't find him; and the people buried Taft where the Lord couldn't find him."

Agriculture is an occupation and not a hobby with David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture. He is willing to run his department in a way that will provide all information possible for those who desire to plant things in the ground and watch them grow. But he doesn't go in for home gardening himself. He got all he wanted of stirring up the mother earth with hoe and spade when he was a boy on his father's farm. From now on he is perfectly reconciled to play golf in his leisure hours and let others raise his radishes for him.

Representative John W. Langley of Kentucky maintains a cement pool of goldfish in his yard back home and by staring into the water from the brink of this pool he has learned a great deal about the manners, habits and customs of fish. Still, as much as he knows about fish, he finds that there is ever opportunity to learn even more. For instance he did not know what would happen when goldfish and black bass were placed side by side in the same pool.

The last time Langley was home he determined to brighten the lives of his neighbors by distributing his goldfish among them. He bade them come to his back yard at an appointed hour on the morrow, each with a pail or goldfish jar, and he would apportion his pets among them to take home and cherish as their own.

"Speaking of fish," put in a neighbor, "I've got three or four black bass over at the house and they're still alive. I'll let you put them in your pool and you can have them for dinner tomorrow."

Langley dumped the bass in with the goldfish. Next morning only black bass were to be found where goldfish had been before. And so the poor neighbors got none.

A Greeting at Dawn.

Before the day may meet with sober care
Or toil may call on fret to do thee ill,
Open thy Book and lift thy heart in prayer
And let God's speech this silent chamber fill.

Then shall the day betroth herself to cheer;
And toil shall call on song to speed thee well;
And when night falls and thou returnest here
Thou shalt bring peace and rest with thee to dwell.

Enthusiasm.

From "The Power of Mental Demand," by Herbert Edward Law, published by Paul Elder & Co.: Enthusiasm is faith in action. "Faith believeth all things." Enthusiasm puts that belief to the test. The enthusiast believes that the thing can be done; he has faith to believe that it ought to be done; he has enthusiasm to do it. To the unthinking, enthusiasm is but the foam on the deeply stirred waters. In truth, it is the striving of the waters themselves. It is the very life of effort.

Elect a Legislature Pledged to Action

State Press on the need of economy in state affairs.

State-Wide Men Wanted.

Ely Miner: Common sense is an asset of the gilt-edged variety, whether it is found in politics or in business matters. Elect a common sense lot of officeseekers and you will not go far wrong. The man with a hobby gets only as far as his hobby allows him to go, be it good or bad. Some people get elected to the legislature to secure a fish hatchery for their town. Others get a normal school. They base their knowledge of the world by the immediate environments of their places of residence. That is as far as they see. A common sense legislator sees the state of Minnesota and through the state, the nation, and feels that what is good for any town is good for the state and what is good for the state is also good for the nation. The sectional legislator is of small benefit. The state-wide man is the fellow to tie to.

Watch the Legislature.

Madison Independent Press: The thing of greatest importance to the people of Minnesota, to our thinking, is the securing of a legislature possessed of a spirit of economy. The continued upward trend of expenses along the line of affairs of state must be stopped and it's the business of the legislature to see that it is stopped. There is no use trying to hold the governor, auditor or other state officials to an accounting for conditions that are made possible through the legislature not cutting appropriations down to the lowest possible point, consistent with the proper conduct of the business of the state. Legislative economy should be the watchword.

The People Pick the Lawmakers.

Nevis News: The economy and efficiency commission appointed by Governor Eberhart has been created for the purpose of pointing out to the next legislature all extravagances, if any there be, and that body will then be given an opportunity to right the extravagant conditions as they exist. It is not so much in the election of the governor as it is in the selection and election of the law-making body of the state. It is up to the people to select men who will do, as nearly as possible, what their constituents require of them. The one great trouble is that the people themselves do not give this matter enough thought, and oftentimes allow little prejudices against a really good man to influence their vote for a man much less worthy of consideration and support.

The extravagance of the state does not rest upon the shoulders of any one man, but if any there be upon the majority of that august law-making body which has the power to make or refuse the appropriation bills.

A Pertinent Question.

Anoka Union: Tax-burdened people of Minnesota, how much longer are you going to elect senators and representatives to the legislature to spend your money like a drunken sailor? Ask yourself this question when you vote this fall.

Nine of Diamonds, "The Curse of Scotland"

Philadelphia Ledger: The reason why the nine of diamonds has been called "The Curse of Scotland" for close to two centuries has caused a considerable amount of discussion. The antiquarians seem not to be able to determine when or why this title was so given and some have tried to trace it as far back as the days of Queen Elizabeth.

One of the stories which is credited by many is that the nine of diamonds and the nine lozenges in the armorial coat of the Earl of Stair, Sir John Dalrymple, bear a striking resemblance and as Dalrymple is accused of having been the prime instrument in causing the massacre of Glencoe, which covered his name with infamy that is the reason the card received the name, "The Curse of Scotland."

Another story is that the Duke of Cumberland, on the field after the battle of Culloden, wrote upon the back of the nine of diamonds a very cruel and inhuman order for the destruction of the persons and property of the place.

And still another is that this card bore a striking resemblance to the cross of Scotland and through the peculiar pronunciation of certain Scots, they called it the "Curse of Scotland." St. Andrew is the patron saint of Scotland. He suffered on a cross not of the usual form, but like the letter X, which has since been called a St. Andrew's cross.

The following explanation is given in the classical dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue, printed in 1785; an ignoble authority, it must be admitted. Diamonds imply royalty, being the ornaments of the imperial crown, and every ninth king of Scotland has been observed for many ages to be a tyrant and a curse to that country.

The nine of diamonds, the curse of Scotland, has been so called because every ninth monarch of that nation was a bad king to his subjects. I have been told by old people that this card was so called long before the rebellion of 1745, and, therefore, it could not arise from the circumstances of the Duke of Cumberland's signing orders, accidentally writing on a card, the night before the battle of Culloden, for Gen. Campbell to give no quarter.

Last, but probably the least authentic, is the story that George Campbell was the cause of the nine of diamonds being called "The Curse of Scotland" because he had stolen nine diamonds out of the royal crown of Scotland during the reign of Mary Stuart, in consequence of which all Scotland was taxed. All these stories are so conflicting that it is difficult to arrive at any satisfactory conclusion.

Scandal.

Thackeray: How is that the evil which men say spreads so widely and lasts so long, whilst our good, kind words don't seem somehow to take root and bear blossom? Is it that in the stony hearts of mankind these pretty flowers can't find a place to grow? Certain it is that scandal is good brisk talk, whereas praise of one's neighbor is by no means lively hearing. An acquaintance grilled, scored, deviled and served with mustard and cayenne pepper excites the appetite; whereas a slice of cold friend with currant jelly is but a sickly, unrelishing meat.

Everybody Prays.

Universalist Leader: Everybody prays some time and somewhere and somehow. Even the one who openly denies the efficacy of prayer, yet in his mind will drop into the attitude of prayer as he seeks for reasons for not doing it! It is such a little prayer which can be confined within the words of even those most "gifted." Real prayers, great prayers, are too big to be uttered; they are so spontaneous that they are prayed before they can be spoken.

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

At the meeting of the Minnesota & Winnipeg Rowing association at Minneapolis, it was decided to hold the next regatta at Winnipeg and George F. Galt of Winnipeg was elected president. L. J. Hopkins and F. H. White of Duluth were elected members of the executive committee.

The stockholders of the Merchants bank at West Duluth have decided to liquidate and go out of business. The bank is not in financial difficulties, but it is felt that the present business depression does not warrant its continuance.

The Lake Superior Iron company, at its annual meeting, elected the following officers: Frank Hibbing, president; W. D. Vernam, vice-president; A. J. Trimble, secretary and treasurer; Frank Hibbing, general manager. The directors are Frank Hibbing, A. J. Trimble, W. D. Vernam, Peter Deyo, J. H. Agen, Marshall H. Alworth and George C. Squiers. A dividend of $35,000 was declared.

Mrs. Jacob Sattler and daughter, Josie, of Milwaukee joined Mr. Sattler here yesterday and will make Duluth their home.

Ed. H. Hall this morning tendered his resignation as secretary of the Mountain Iron company and of all the other mining companies on the Mesabe, known as the Merritt properties and included in the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron Mines, which is the legal title of the Rockefeller Mesaba trust. Napoleon B. Merritt resigned as treasurer of the same companies a few days ago. These resignations are of considerable importance, when viewed in connection with the suit started against C. W. Wetmore by Leonidas and Alfred Merritt and the report that they intend to follow up this action with other proceedings in an effort to regain control of the Mesaba mines and the railroad property. Mr. Hall's resignation was voluntary, as Mr. Rockefeller desired to retain his services owing to his intimate knowledge of the business of the mining companies.

N. H. Witt left yesterday on his annual visit to Cleveland and Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hunt of Mankato are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Washburn.

The Iron River Red Sandstone company has been incorporated by Duluth and Superior men with a capital of $100,000, and will take over the property of the old Iron River Brownstone company. The officers are: President, A. C. Titus; vice-president, August Broman; secretary, A. G. McDonald; treasurer, A. E. McCordic.

An Age of Business Secrecy.

The World's Work: Men who have before known all the facts of an entire business now know only a few facts concerning a small part of the whole. Operating men now know little about costs. Purchases are known only to purchasing agents. Costs, in fact, are now largely made up of overhead and indirect expense, of depreciation and maintenance. Even in the cost department no man knows more than the cost of a portion of the operation. The final assembling of costs is made only by a confidential man who is close to the final executive. Salesmen know nothing of costs or of selling policies. They know only that they can or cannot sell at the prices which are given them. Of trade agreements, "gentlemen's agreements," price policies fixed by after-dinner or luncheon conferences, or even by bankers who control innumerable businesses—of these even sales managers and executive officers know nothing. Because of the railroad, the telegraph and the telephone one man in New York city may control a hundred thousand men who know no more of what is passing in his mind than the field officers of an army in battle know of the plans and purposes of the general in his headquarters.

How to Cook Sauerkraut.

Emporia Gazette: Glick Fockele, of the Leroy Reporter, who eats cabbage in two languages and in divers ways, reminds us that the sauerkraut season is now due. He fails to print a recipe for cooking, but Mrs. Kelly of Toronto contributes this: "Place a pint of sauerkraut in a skillet over a slow fire. Pour on a pint of hot water and open the doors and windows. When it has cooked ten minutes turn the kraut carefully into the slop pail and fumigate the kitchen with formaldehyde."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer (though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

REPLY TO MR. KIMPTON.

To the Editor of The Herald:

For the purpose of helping to educate Harold E. Kimpton, who, according to himself, has recently transplanted himself to International Falls, and who has asked for information, with your permission I will endeavor to accommodate him.

Mr. Kimpton asks this pointed question: "Where did a large percentage of the fighters come from who helped this country overthrow the oppression existing in 1776?" Well, according to history, his native country asked that same question about 134 years ago, and got it. Here it is: Maj.-Gen. Robertson, commissioner for the exchange of prisoners of the British forces, in answer to the question by Edmond Burke, "Of what nationality was Washington's army composed?" testified June 8, 1779, "One-half Irish, about one-fourth natives, and the rest were Scotch, Germans and English."

With regard to "the Americans having all others skinned a mile when it comes to bluffing," I don't know as to that. But I do know it worked well in '65, and again in '84. So it may be that in some respects he is correct.

With regard to my "first and second papers," our government does not require these from any but foreigners.

Mr. Kimpton says "The worst thing Mr. Carnegie ever did was to force a few libraries on to unappreciative communities." No, he is wrong. Right now Mr. Carnegie is engaged, and has been for some time, in trying to corrupt our national congress with his millions of dollars, with which he is pretending to be trying to establish "International Peace Bureaus," and Mr. Kimpton's native country is right now, and has for some time, been playing the role of international blackmailer, while Carnegie is asking us to appropriate $100,000 for the purpose of celebrating one hundred years of peace which England would have broken twice if she were not afraid of a third spanking. Yours very truly, the same name, R. EMMET JONES.

The burlesque poem was written at Montreal October, 1897, by A. M. R. Gordon, a Scotchman by birth, inspired by the speech of William II, emperor of Germany, upon the divine right of kings and his own special mission on earth.

"THE CITY BY THE SEA."

To the Editor of The Herald:

"The City by the Sea" was composed by my mother while here on a visit last fall. You may print it in the Open Court or anywhere else in the paper you wish. Yours respectfully,

D. J. KILPATRICK.

Conway, Mich., March 17.

The City By the Sea.

Away to the north, where a mighty sea
Tosses in wild unrest,
A city lies by its waters free;
The gate of the great Northwest.

And to her flows the wealth untold
From Nature's generous store,
For ages hidden in earth's hold,
Her coal and precious ore.

And many a waving, golden field
The needs of man to meet,
To her their richest products yield
The finest of the wheat.

The monarchs of the forest fall
On distant plains and hills;
They come at her insistent call
To feed her shops and mills.

Intrenched 'twixt granite hills and wave
For situation grand,
With varied charms that nature gave
Within a goodly land.

We view with awe her rocky steep,
We brave the great "Incline,"
We hear "deep calling unto deep,"
Trace the river's shining line.

And borne afar to other lands
On the sea's heaving breast;
Her bounties speed to reaching hands,
And multitudes are blest.

Wonderful city by the sea,
May righteousness and truth
Grow with thy youth, thy glory be,
O, marvelous Duluth.

DANGEROUS CROSSING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Why is it that our safety commissioner, Mr. Hicken, is so interested in the smoke nuisance, when there are lives at stake every day on the crossing between the Sixth avenue viaduct and the Soo freight depot. There are cars shot in there and no engine within a block, and no flagman. If Mr. Hicken wants to do so much for a nuisance, let him look after this, for these cars have killed people, but this smoke he is after never killed anybody. Signed, A TEAMSTER.

Duluth, March 18.

Mr. Hicken has not been responsible for the smoke ordinance, as "A Teamster" thinks. Mayor Prince has had this work in charge. It would perhaps have been a fairer plan for "A Teamster" to communicate directly with Mr. Hicken and call his attention to this danger, then if he refused to remedy conditions, complain publicly of his acts.—The Editor.

MAYBE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly publish in your paper "The Picture on the Barroom Floor"? F. H. T.

Duluth, March 18.

Any subscriber who has this poem is invited to send it in.—The Editor.

"AH, SIR, YOU FORGET!"

To the Editor of The Herald:

While the smoke nuisance is still in the air, I wish to make a few more remarks which will tend to completely clarify that dingy and unpleasant subject.

It is a fact or a series of facts well known to myself and a few other experts, that smoke from coal is caused by the intercommunication, or perhaps I should say the interharmonious coexistent correlation of the molecules and microbes known to inhabit and infest the coal, with the British thermal units, sometimes called Btus, which are placed therein by the Coal trust for its own nefarious and devilish purposes. These animals or rather animalcules, when under the stress and strain of the firing as usually conducted by engineers and other janitors do so unite, cohere, and combine, added thereto by the ptomaines of the circumambient atmosphere, and possibly by the pterodactyls, though I have not given this subject the keen insistent thought which it really deserves, that the dark untidy smoke is given off or emitted in large folio volumes, or it would not be stretching the facts—and what is so pathetic as a fact stretched so far from its usual shape that it resembles a tungsten filament?—to say libraries, which later settle down upon things in general, to the delight of the kind gentlemen who run the laundries. Now, the solution of the much vexed problem is simple, as simple as some of the explanations.

To kill the microbes is easy. Simply feed them formaldehyde or Bordeaux mixture until they desist. The molecules require other treatment, such as soap and water and perhaps unkind words, which will so discourage and mortify them that they will move away with hurt expressions. While any of our hardw[illegible] supply, for a few shillings, sieves which are warranted to sift out the foreign Btus, to be replaced by the coal user by Irish or Scandinavian Thermal Units. Hoping you are the same,

E. ROE,
Expert on things in general.

Duluth, March 17.

Mr. Roe, we think, persistently and inconsistently ignores the possible effect of the ultimate photsynthesis of the carbohydrates and the polygoneaceal. Otherwise we agree with him.—The Editor.

Make This and Try It for Coughs

This Home-Made Remedy has no Equal for Prompt Results.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually conquers an ordinary cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup and bronchitis. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and other natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this plan.

Making cough syrup with Pinex and sugar syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful mixture has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

TAVERNS AND MEN

By SAVOYARD

Washington, March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—In this town, not far from the aristocratic center where that hookworm, luxury, child of enormous wealth, is gnawing at the vitals of the republic, it was proposed to erect a tavern at a cost amounting to $6,000,000, exclusive of the site. J. Pierpont Morgan engaged to finance the thing, but over in Rome, whose forum had "echoed to the tread of either Brutus," a pale-faced man of the name of Death tapped him on the shoulder and summoned Mr. Morgan to a convocation of "certain politic worms," such as had supped with, and upon, old Polonius. It was the imperative invitation of royalty that even Caesar could not decline.

And so Mr. Morgan became a man that was, and his corporation that had engaged to erect the palace on Vermont avenue was thrown into bankruptcy and the thing was sold to a more moderate set of folks who will erect a less costly inn.

When I was a younger and more guileless chap than I am now, I remember reading in the papers of the "Arlington" at Washington, the site of this hotel property. That fakir—a statesman without a dispatch, an orator without a speech, a lawyer without a brief, an explorer without an adventure, a soldier without a battle, a millionaire without a cent, a politician without an issue—John C. Fremont, was quartered at "the Arlington" at a room rental of $1,200 a week, so the papers said, and there was public proclamation of the alleged fact that he was here, Tom Scott's man, to get a subsidy from congress to promote the construction of what was then known as the Southern Pacific railroad.

This magnificent fakir entertained lavishly, but as memory serves me, he failed, as he always did—an inveterate habit he had; but the thing was done subsequently by the agency of a more efficient lobby and Jay Gould reaped a rich harvest.

Speaking of that wonderful man, Scott, recalls that after a long and particularly corrupt sitting of the Pennsylvania legislature, a rather candid member rose from his seat and made this oration: "Mr. Speaker, if Tom Scott has no other jobs for this body to perform, I move you that we now adjourn sine die."

The business of transportation, fetching and carrying from pillar to post, is the problem of civilization—nay, it is both the mother and the child of civilization. I have some ideas about it, not yet exploited, and that the magazines refuse to print. If the thing is practical it would settle the whole problem, build our country turnpikes, carry our mails free of charge and result in public ownership of the roads without debt for posterity to bear, and without direct government ownership; but that is impertinent discursion.

Speaking of taverns. When I was a child the Louisville hotel beat them all, so far as the table was concerned. It is true that Marryatt and Dickens "stopped at" the Galt house, but when Phil Judge and his partner, Keene, ran the Louisville hotel it was in superlative degree the traveler's rest. Shenstone could have been provoked to finer eulogy had he been its guest.

In those days the Whigs stopped at the "Galt" where Throckmorton was the host, as lordly a man as Cedric the Saxon, or any Norman baron who succeeded the Conqueror in palace, or castle, or manor. Here Henry Clay lived when in Louisville, and it was the grand old landlord of that tavern who in an inspiration exclaimed: "Take him in the presence of the crowned heads of Europe, take him as counselor in the problems of diplomacy with their foremost chancellors, take him in the cabinet of an American president, take him as a senator in the American congress, take him as speaker of our national grand inquest, take him at the bar, whether before judge or jury, take him on the stump before the populace of Kentucky that is the finest citizenship this world has produced, and by G-d, sir, Henry Clay is captain of every crowd he gets in!"

Now, my father was a Jackson man, had met Jackson, and he knew Clay, yet I heard him say that, while he never voted for him, he believed Clay was the greatest man our country had produced. Talk of magnetism in men—Clay had more of it than any other American.

* * *

And it was another follower of Clay who exclaimed at a banquet at Lexington where the royal "Harry of the West" was a guest:

"Eclipse among horses, as Henry Clay among men—first and the rest nowhere!"

It is related that it was the one time Clay was embarrassed. Knowing his old friend's fondness for horses, he was insistent on his speaking, but he never dreamed of the climax, that the Whig echoed over the grand old state even after her greatest son had been gathered to his fathers.

There. I sat down to write you a story about the Louisville hotel of the '50's. Perhaps it will keep.

O Corn-less Joy! "GETS-IT" for Corns

Nothing in the World Can Beat It for Corns and Calluses.

Now try the different way, the new way, the absolutely sure way, the painless way of getting rid of those corns that have pestered the life and soul out of you for such a long time. Drop everything else and use "GETS-IT." A few drops applied in a few seconds does the work. Useless junk, likt flesh-eating salves that make corns swell, cotton rings that make corns stand up like pop-eyes, razors, corn diggers, scissors and files that make corns grow faster, are all done for. "GETS-IT" is on a new principle, makes corns shrivel, vanish! It can't stick to the stocking, or hurt the flesh.

"GETS-IT" is sold by all druggists, 25c a bottle, or sent directly by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

PUBLICITY AN ADJUNCT TO ART

"Mona Lisa" and "September Morn" Are Enhanced in Value.

The value of publicity in boosting prices and sales is shown in a most remarkable manner by two pictures, which have been talked of more during the last year than any score of other pictures either in famous galleries or in the art stores. These pictures are the old masterpiece "Mona Lisa" by Leonarda da Vinci and "September Morn," by Paul Chabas, which took first prize at the Paris salon in 1912. In speaking of this matter a Duluth art dealer said:

"Mona Lisa has certainly had a lot of free advertising, and it has helped the sale of the reproductions wonderfully. The Louvre authorities are seeking opinions of the Paris art dealers as to the value of the original da Vinci painting.

"Durance Ruel, dean of Paris picture dealers, said: 'I would ask half a million dollars if the picture were mine, with the certainty that there would be so many offers that a much higher price would be obtained.'

"M. Schoeller, manager of another big art store, said: 'Mona Lisa is certainly the most famous picture in the world, even if not the greatest. I should class it in value with the masterpieces of Valasquez and Rembrandt. My lowest price would be more than a million dollars.'

"Marcel Bernheim, another expert, said that it was impossible to give an exact estimate, but his lowest price would be half a million dollars.

"'September Morn' was almost unknown until it was censored by the police in Chicago; it then sprang immediately into prominence and was cartooned in the newspapers all over the world and was counted as good material for the comedian on almost every stage. The fact that the picture took first prize in Paris is seldom spoken of and known only to a few, but the fact that the artist has portrayed a nude woman and that the Chicago police censored the picture made the picture popular all over the country with a class of people who have a curiosity for what is risque or what is thought to be risque.

"Art dealers have reaped golden harvest from this publicity, but the artistic value of the picture has been cheapened. Perhaps after the sales due to cheap advertising are over, art dealers will begin to advertise the picture for its artistic merit."

IS IT RIGHT TO HAVE ADENOIDS REMOVED?

Many newspaper inquirers keep writing asking to please publish something about adenoids: Whether it is the right thing to have them removed or not? If they should simply be treated? Will it do any good if the tonsils are very large, but not affected in any way? Is there any treatment by which they can be reduced outside of an operation?

Adenoids and tonsils when enlarged show one of two conditions present. One is a local infection which causes these glands to swell. The other is a low-grade condition of the patient's vitality. If the former, it is usually accompanied by fever, and under these conditions some doctors remove both adenoids and tonsils and others don't, preferring to wait until the local infection has somewhat subsided.

Where, however, there is no local infection, but merely an enlargement due to the patient's low vitality, the tonsils and the adenoids should by all means be thoroughly removed.

The best treatment outside of an operation for tonsils and adenoids is to keep the nose and throat clean. There are several ways. One is by means of a warm boric acid douche. Dissolve a teaspoonful of boric acid procured from your druggist in a quart of warm water; keep this latter clean; procure a glass and nasal douche from your druggist; learn how to use the latter through the nose morning and evening. If a few days' home treatment along these lines doesn't bring prompt relief, any patient suffering from adenoids or enlarged tonsils should by all means procure the counsel and surgical attention of his local medical man.

ABOUT SCANT MENSTRUAL FLOW.

A lady drawing near the boundary line marked by time has written me upon a very personal phase of her health. An extreme delicacy exists.

Inasmuch, however, as this subject should be clearly understood by American wives, I shall quote a few passages from this one inquiry, which is like scores of others received on the same subject. It reads in part: "I am just getting over my sickness. During the entire period my napkin was insufficiently soiled. I know I would feel better had I menstruated more. Will you advise me, please, what I need to take if you would advise anything. I have not menstruated nearly as much as I should have for many, many months."

About your scant illness—you will find the item of thorough rest and sleep has a lot to do with this function of menstruation. Ordinarily, the week preceding your regular period you should make it a practice to not only lengthen your afternoon nap or siesta, but likewise get the habit of "letting go" with your mental apparatus as well. I mean by this to cultivate an easy, genial line of thought rather than to let your mind and its activity get you all keyed up and on constant pins and needles.

The physical rest coupled with this free-and-easy line of thought will put you in good condition for the menstrual period. Of course, this latter as regards its gross quantity will steadily grow scantier as Father Time gets his grip upon the vigor and vitality of your system. But in so far as your vigor still remains things will come around without any distress.

Do not, therefore, let yourself grow uneasy because of a scant flow, and DON'T TAKE ANY MEDICINES to bring on any increase. This attempt never pays. There is always an unfavorable reaction, and the last state is worse than the first. Play safe. More sleep and an unworried, free-and-easy attitude will bring such a menstrual balance as your system is capable of.

A PAIN IN THE REGION OF HER FIFTH VERTEBRA.

"This is the first time I have ever sought medical advice in this manner," a lady has written to me, "but the Doctor's Helps counsel in this paper has so much common sense that I wish to tell you of my trouble which has grown almost hopeless to me. For six years I have had a constant pain in my back. It is about the region of the fifth vertebra, and when I am very tired or nervous it extends to the back of my neck and affects the glands of my throat. My throat becomes dry. I suffer from indigestion very badly at times. Strange to me is it that when I lie down or take a good long walk I feel absolutely well except at times, and when I lie down I am distressed with indigestion. Occasionally my arms and hands grow heavy and develop a dull aching pain. My appetite is good; not abnormal. I have a very healthy, sound, clear complexion and am careful to keep my bowels open every day. I have tried every school of medicine and do not dwell too much on my aches. I live a normal life; am forty-five years old, married and have children. The fact that I am writing this * * * causes a pain in my neck."

It is rather difficult to tell you right off hand exactly the specific thing to do which will at once cure your disorder. Your letter does not go very deeply into details. However, the fact that as you say—"that I am writing this letter for medical advice causes a pain in my neck"—reveals one thing quite clearly and that is that your nerves are keyed up to an ultra sensitive degree and that little tiny mole hills appear to you oftentimes to be of mountainous size.

First of all, therefore, cultivate in your own way the idea that you are not going to be disturbed at every little unustal thing that happens. Just quietly let the manifold affairs of the day slip by and get used to the idea that things will happen anyway no matter whether or no you get nervous about it, and soon your exceedingly tense nervousness will begin to disappear. Your heavy feeling in your hands and arms will lessen also, for as soon as the delicate nerve cells get a chance to relax a bit, things quickly become normal.

Of course, it is utterly out of the question to tell you all that you might do with prompt and permanent benefit. I would have to examine your urine, blood, bowel movements—and the intestines measure about thirty feet—blood pressure, heart, lungs, and likewise a careful examination as to whether or not when your children were born there was any tearing or misplacement of the generative organs. It is quite likely from your letter that your nervousness and your throat annoyances, likewise your periods of indigestion, are all closely associated together, for which there is a definite cause that as yet you have not had definitely discovered and eradicated.

SPRING BOOSTS TRAFFIC.

Movement in Forest Products Reflected in Railroad Report.

Duluth officials of the Great Northern railroad advise a marked picking up in the volume of general traffic during the last ten days, indicating more active condition through the Northwest as a result of preparations for the resumption of the usual spring farming and other operations. The heavy movement of forest products is being reflected in the company's earnings which are now beginning to make close comparisons with the record traffic of last year.

For the month of January, the road's net revenue was reported at $824,286, which while $151,308 below the figures of a year ago, compares with $718,100 in 1912 and $259,175 in 1911.

For the seven months its net earnings were $19,584,648, a falling off of $1,234,402 from last year but substantially ahead of 1912 and 1911 when earnings were reported at $17,687,261 and $14,449,387 respectively.

It is intimated that the Great Northern will probably take advantage of the easier financial situation this year and proceed with work on its proposed extension from New Rockford, N. D., to Moccasin, Mont., besides going ahead with some other improvements that were held up last year.

THROW AWAY YOUR EYEGLASSES!

A FREE PRESCRIPTION.

You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eyestrain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days, everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses. It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona, fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one Optona tablet, and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two or four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you even a little take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

LOOKING FOR HER SON.

An elderly woman came to the navy recruiting station yesterday afternoon and surprised Chief Quartermaster Erickson with the query of "What is the address of my son?" She told the chief that her son had joined the navy and had failed to write home. Quartermaster Erickson then informed the anxious mother that there are more than 50,000 men in the navy and that to obtain the address of her son, she must write to the department at Washington, where each man serving in the navy is listed.

HEAVY ORDERS FROM RAILROADS

Much Improved Situation in Iron and Steel Trade.

A better situation in the iron and steel trade is indicated in the report made yesterday that the United States Steel corporation is now operating its tin, sheet, wire and nail mills, blast furnaces and coke ovens at Farrell, Pa., at full capacity. It was intimated also that the Sharon works of the Carnegie Steel company will resume operations in a few days after several months of idleness.

The railroads are reported to have bought within a week, 5,775 cars, 102 locomotives and about 22,000 tons of steel rails. A notable feature was the increase by the Southern railway of its recent car order from 2,100 to 3,875 cars. Since March 1, railroad car orders have totaled about 8,175, as against less than 9,000 during the whole of February.

Since Jan. 1, it is estimated, the railroads have ordered 25,000 cars, 365 locomotives and about 500,000 tons of rails. This is about the same as the aggregate during the corresponding period last year.

GILL STARTS SAVING MONEY FOR SEATTLE

Seattle, Wash., March 19.—Mayor Gill has vetoed a city council appropriation of $5,000 to pay the salaries of thirty rat-catchers employed to catch rodents in the anti-bubonic plague campaign. The rat-catching force will be reduced to five men, the mayor saying it would be his policy to oblige property owners to keep their premises free of rats. High-salaried officers in the health department will be abolished, he said.

The mayor also announced that cafes giving cabaret shows would have to discontinue the performances.

RUSSIAN OFFICER HELD AS THIEF

Cologne, Germany, March 19.—The arrest of the Russian naval commander, Poliakoff, during the carnival here several weeks ago, which the German press assumed was due to a police blunder, now appears more serious than at first thought.

According to the Cologne Gazette, the testimony of three reputable witnesses before the examining judge, confirmatory of the charge of attempted theft against Commander Poliakoff, was so strong that the judge could not do otherwise than hold him for trial.

Commander Poliakoff protested his innocence, but was unable to controvert the testimony.

ANTI-MACHINE CONFERENCE ON

Important Republican Gathering in Minneapolis---Duluthians Attend.

St. Louis county anti-machine Republicans are being represented today at the anti-machine conference being held in Minneapolis by nine of the delegates named by the county conference at the city hall last Saturday night. They carry with them the proxies of the other delegates elected, who could not conveniently get away.

It has not been learned who of the delegates from the range have gone to Minneapolis, but it is believed that St. Louis county will have a representative delegation. Those from Duluth who have gone include J. E. Samuelson, Frank E. Randall, W. T. Faust, F. P. McNally, C. R. Magney, Neil E. Beaton, A. A. Fider, W. H. Gurnee and Elmer N. Whyte.

The most interesting news that comes today from the conference city is that Senator James T. Elwell, one of the candidates for governor, who, up to this time, has maintained an oppressive silence concerning his attitude toward the conference, announces that he will be represented in the conference and will abide by its decision.

Each of the other announced anti-machine candidates will also be represented, which leaves things in a peculiar position. Mr. Lee, of course, has stuck by his original assertion that he believes in such a conference and that he will abide by it; but S. G. Iverson and James A. Peterson are outside the pale. Mr. Iverson was in at one time, but Mr. Peterson never has been. His attack on Iverson got the latter wrathy and resulted in his recent announcement that he would go it alone and the conference could go hang, or words to that effect, for all he cared.

In view of the fact that they have announced that they will be represented in the conference, it may be that they have made up their minds to behave and stand for the conference's decision. Otherwise their position before the people would hardly be tenable, for failure to be guided by a conference in which they participated would seem at least to leave them open to the charge of being highly unfair.

It is the hope of its backers that through this conference all the anti-machine forces can be united to fight the ring now in control of the Republican party and of the state, so that efficiency may occupy the state house after the term of the present executive closes.

PLANNING ANOTHER VENEZUELA REVOLT?

Gen. Hernandez Arrives for Short Stay in New York.

New York, March 19.—Gen. Jose M. Hernandez (El Mocho) arrived here today from Porto Rico, where he was in consultation, it is understood, with Generals Baptista, Alcantara, Olivares and other Venezuelan revolutionary leaders. It was said that he would soon leave for Port of Spain, whence, it is believed, he intends to invade Venezuela in April. It is said that the details of a revolution to unseat President Gomez were completed at the conference held in San Juan.

Gen. Hernandez declined to discuss his plans for the future. There is a revolutionary movement now in progress in Venezuela.

"CREDIT" IS THEIR THEME

Uses and Abuses of "Charge Accounts" Discussed at Banquet.

Merchants May Be Too Conservative or Too "Easy."

"Credit, Its Uses and Abuses," was the subject under discussion last evening at the first annual banquet of the Duluth Retail Credit club held at the St. Louis hotel.

As this was the first banquet held by the organization, the presence of 124 men and women was considered indicative of great interest on the part of the members. George Fairley, secretary of the organization, had charge of the arrangements.

Following the banquet a program of speeches was given. Among the speakers were S. L. Gilfillan, president of the National Association of Retail Credit Men; Bentley P. Neff, manager of the Glass Block store and secretary for the F. A. Patrick company; Dan Mahoney, assistant cashier of the American Exchange National bank; Secretary Fairley, Rev. Dr. T. W. McLean and G. W. C. Ross, attorney for the Duluth Retail Credit association.

A. C. PEARSON, Toastmaster.

Co-Operation Is Keynote.

Co-operation among the stores of various cities and the cities themselves in the extending of credit for the purpose of protecting retail merchants and at the same time not refusing credit to deserving persons, was the keynote of Mr. Gilfillan's talk. He said in part:

"Business on credit has been firmly established as an institution that will endure. Being the most logical system, it has come to stay, and it is up to us who are most deeply concerned with it to make such provisions as will preclude the possibility of its operating to our detriment.

Has Drawbacks.

"Credit as we know it, has its advantages—that is, to the man who extends it—but it has its drawbacks as well. Chief among these I should place the one that results from the tendency of customers to buy more than they are able to pay for. It is advantageous, inasmuch as it brings buyer and seller in closer relation, and affords a convenience to the former.

"The point that we credit men have to determine—I speak of something still unaccomplished—is how we may offer this convenience, or courtesy, if you please, without appreciable loss.

"The credit man may stumble into one of two pitfalls: He may be too conservative or he may be too free in dealing with those who would buy 'on time.'

"If the rulings of the credit department are too rigid, it is likely to incur the displeasure of customers whose patronage, properly handled, might be valuable; then, on the other hand—well, the result of being too 'easy' is obvious.

"In my own case, for instance, there have been criticisms that I have been too conservative, that I am inclined to delve too far into the business affairs of those who would open accounts with us. However, I have managed to hold our losses to one-tenth of 1 per cent of the total charge accounts."

Would Perfect System.

"If we can get together on this proposition, not only you of Duluth, nor yet alone we of the Twin Cities, but if all over the country we perfect a system that will facilitate our efforts to inquire into the standing of a prospective customer, we are going to come nearer solving that which is today a problem to every merchant or other man who must part with his wares on a promise to pay.

"It is not difficult to 'look up' anyone who has come from some town or one of the smaller cities; it is with those who come to us from other large cities that we experience the difficulty. Your bankers here, for instance, do not know personally every ons with whom they deal; so it is useless for us to inquire of them in many cases.

"What is to be done? That brings me to the point: It is just such organizations as this which you have formed here that will effect the desired results. But there must be many such clubs—there must be one here, and in every other large city in the country.

"With the system you are adopting here it will not be difficult for you to ascertain for your own purposes the responsibility of any person in this city; having done this for yourselves, it will be little trouble for you to satisfy us in Minneapolis or St. Paul when we make inquiries. And vice versa."

Gilfillan said he believed Duluth and the Twin Cities have better organizations for the handling of credit than most any other city.

Mr. Neff spoke largely from his experience as a department store manager. He emphasized the importance of the credit department and urged greater co-operation among the various stores. The education of the credit man or woman, he said, was just as important as the educating of the advertising man or salesman. The local credit club was complimented for its success and accomplishment in Duluth.

Debtors Are Favored.

That the state laws favor the debtor rather than the creditor was the opinion expressed by Attorney Ross who spoke for a half hour on credit from a legal point of view. He said the laws not only favor the debtor as an individual but also the business man and the corporation. As an illustration he referred to the homestead law which allowed a person to hold a certain amount of land and his home. To show how the purpose of this law might be thwarted he spoke of a Mill City man, who owned the site and building of a hotel valued at nearly a million dollars. All came under the homestead law as the owner lived in the hotel, making him exempt from collections. The business man and the corporation also, he said, were exempt through the bankruptcy law.

Merchants are too easy in cashing checks, according to Mr. Mahoney, who spoke from his experiences as cashier of a bank. Many merchants, he said, would cash anything that looked like a check. As a remedy for fraud through worthless checks he urged more care on the part of merchants and also the collection and filing of the signatures of important contractors and other business men who were in the habit of writing a great many checks. This, he said, would prevent losses through forgeries of their names.

Credit Based on Faith.

Rev. Dr. McLean in prefacing his short address said that he did not want to speak as a clergyman but from the same point of view as the business men present. He emphasized the fact that all credit was essential, based on faith of one person in another. Credit, he said, was given because the creditor believes that the bill will be paid, showing that men have faith in one another.

A. C. Pearson acted as toastmaster and also gave a short address of welcome.

Secretary Fairley spoke of the great success of the club in its first social attempt and expressed the belief that much good would result from closer association and the interchange of ideas of credit men and women.

P. H. M'GARRY OUT FOR STATE SENATE

Legislator From Walker Asks Well-Earned Promotion.

Walker, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative P. H. McGarry has announced himself as a candidate for the state senate from this, the Fifty-second district, to succeed Senator Dan Gunn of Grand Rapids, who has declined to try for re-election. The district consists of Itasca and Cass counties only.

Mr. McGarry, who has served two terms in the state house of representatives, has, it is generally believed here, earned the promotion he asks. He was one of the "live wires" of the house and was, without question, as strong an individual booster of the interests of Northern Minnesota as there was in either branch of the legislature. He was untiring in his efforts to get legislation through that would benefit the northern part of the state, and was not only author of some of the most important bills presented in the house, but was actively working for measures introduced by others which were for the good of Northern Minnesota.

Mr. McGarry was joint author of the law to facilitate the sale of foreign bonds held by the state so that the money thus tied up could be invested in local development. Another important measure of which he, together with Representative Dan O'Neill of Thief River Falls—who is also seeking to be elected to the state senate—was author was the proposed constitutional amendment to create a revolving fund for the building of roads and firebreaks on state land.

In short, he took a leading part in the business of legislation and was regarded as a very strong man. It is believed that he will be easily elected to the senate.

BAUDETTE'S MAYOR IS OUT FOR LEGISLATURE

Baudette, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor J. U. Williams has announced his candidacy for the house of representatives for the district embracing Beltrami and Koochiching counties. Mr. Williams has served as mayor of Baudette for seven terms, and his administration of the affairs of the village during the trying times following the destruction of MAYOR J. U. WILLIAMS.

Baudette by fire in 1910 won him hundreds of friends. He is president of the Board of Trade and secretary of the school board, and has been closely identified with every progressive move in connection with both the village and district. Among the planks in his platform are better roads, state loans to the homesteaders, and appropriation for the normal school at Bemidji, a revolving fund for development purposes and several others.

DECISION IS FAR REACHING

Land Office Forbids an Assignment of Tax Certificates.

A decision has been issued by the commissioner of the general land office which will be of great interest to the persons who have taken lands under the Volstad act. The decision provides that there is no provision for assignment of tax certificates and the application is subject to the usual right of appeal.

The Volstad act made the public lands of the state of Minnesota subject to entry, and entered lands on which no final certificates had issued subject to the drainage laws, to the same extent and the same manner which lands of like character held in private ownership might be subject to such laws. The provision of the act required that purchasers of such must be homesteaders, and it was impossible for any person to purchase more than 160 acres of land even though it were purchased from the state.

It appears that persons have been informed by circular letters that a person could buy any amount of the land advertised but could not file on more than 160 acres, but their certificates could be assigned to anyone who had a homestead right. According to instructions given in circular No. 234 of the general land office, the commissioner's decision is construed to mean that there is no provision of law for the assignment of such tax certificates by individuals to individuals.

It is understood that a great number of persons have purchased assignments of tax certificates from other individuals thinking that thereby they could complete purchase or the lands by paying land office fees and commissions and the price of $1.25 per acre and obtain patents without residence on the lands. There are so many cases adversely affected if this decision is sustained that it is probable that it will be hard fought.

Three Mayoralty Candidates.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are three candidates for mayor here: J. A. Dinnie, Arthur Sorlie and J. A. Williams, for the election April 6. Williams is the Socialist candidate and the fight is expected to be between Sorlie and Dinnie, both members of the city council.

Health and Beauty Helps

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Felice: Yes, all face powders give an artificial appearance, but the daintiest complexion will be given an added touch of refined elegance if you use this spurmax lotion, made by dissolving 4 ounces spurmax (which you can get at the druggist's) in ½ pint hot water or witch hazel. This lotion dispels the oily, shiny, "muddy" condition and gives to a rough, unlovely skin a velvety smoothness and exquisite charm. The spurmax lotion dries quickly and cannot be detected when on, and its regular use guards against complexion upsets.

Ara L.: You can remove your wrinkles and regain your youthful complexion by a short course of treatment with an almozoin jelly-cream. This is made by dissolving 1 ounce almozoin (every drug store carries this) in ½ pint water to which is added 2 teaspoonfuls glycercine. Best results follow when you apply this jelly-cream at night. Rub well into the skin and do not remove until morning. This soon banishes pimples, blackheads, blotches and wrinkles and leaves the skin clear, smooth and velvety. Nothing can equal it for reducing pores and restoring the youth tint to the complexion.

Ima: Try a plain crystos tonic for your sore eyes and I am certain you will obtain quick relief. This is made by dissolving an ounce crystos (which I get at the druggist's) in a pint of cold water. Its use will make the eyes bright and expressive and for all minor eye troubles such as weakness, aching muscles or granulated lids, is superior to anything you can buy.

A. B. X.: Yes, the parnotis treatment for weight reduction is entirely harmless and does away with dieting or violent exercise. It is easily prepared—just dissolve 4 ounces parnotis (which you get at your druggist's) in 1½ pints of hot water. When it cools, take a tablespoonful three times daily until your weight is satisfactorily reduced. With this treatment your skin will be left smooth and free from wrinkles and no ill effects are experienced.

E. G.:Nature never intended woman to have fuzz on her cheek. Get from your druggist a small original package of delatone and mix a little of the powder with water. Apply the paste to the obnoxious hairs and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off and the hairs will come with it. After the skin is washed and dried it will be velvety and free from hair or blemish.

O. D.: Your dry, dandruff-laden scalp will yield quickly to a treatment with a plain quinzoin tonic which can be cheaply made at home as follows: To ½ pint alcohol add 1 ounce quinzoin (get at druggist's) then pour in ½ pint cold water. A little of this should be massaged well into the scalp at frequent intervals. This will stimulate the scalp tissues, overcome dryness, banish dandruff and encourage a lovely growth of shimmery, silky hair. This quinzoin tonic will benefit even the healthiest scalp and hair.

Molly: When I feel that all-gone feeling and note a sallowness of chin and neck, or a breaking out of pimples at this time of the year, I get an ounce of kardene from my druggist's, dissolve it in a half pint of alcohol (not whisky) add ½ cup of sugar and hot water to make a full quart. A quart costs very little made in this way. A tablespoonful should be taken before each meal. This old-fashioned kardene tonic expels poisonous accumulations from the blood, builds up waste tissue and restores full health and strength to weak, worn bodies.

Miss B.: I have found no hair cleanser of as great benefit to my hair as canthrox shampoo. Just dissolve a teaspoonful canthrox in a cup of hot water, then pour slowly on the head and rub gently. The lather thus created is very cleansing and invigorating, and rinsing leaves hair and scalp immaculately clean, while the hair dries quickly, with a delightfully soft fluff and rich glossiness. The regular use of canthrox is the very best health insurance for scalp and hair of which I know. —Advertisement.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MARCH 22.

Luke xiii, 18-35: Lessons By the Way.

THE CONNECTION.

It is still late in the year A. D. 29 and Jesus is still over in Perea, east of the Jordan, but He is about starting back to Jerusalem. The first part of our lesson is His teaching in connection with the last lesson, that about the right use of the Sabbath. These two parables of the kingdom are the same He spoke as recorded in Matt. xvii, for He often repeated the same thought in various places and to different people.

THE LESSON.

I.

The Way His Kingdom Grows. 18-21.

"He said therefore, Unto what is the kingdom of God like? and whereunto shall I liken it? It is like unto a grain of mustard seed, which a man took, and cast into his own garden; and it grew, and became a tree; and the birds of the heaven lodged in the branches thereof. And again He said, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdom of God? It is like unto leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal, till it was all leavened."

1. EXTENSIVELY.—In its expansion over the world it is to be like a grain of mustard seed in the disparity between its small beginning and its large final growth. That is the idea in His mind and it answered to an idea, an anxious one, in the minds of His disciples. They often thought of the great kingdom He was to establish and wondered how it could come about when there were not enough followers to make a body guard. They expected a world-wide kingdom and He had taught them to do so. It is to spread and here is the best illustration of it, good in several respects—in the inner power of expansion within the seed; in the great difference between the seed and its fulfillment, though that difference was enfolded in the seed to be unfolded in the tree; in its attractions, for birds came both to rest their weary wings and to refresh themselves with the seeds on the tree. Jesus spoke it with a victorious confidence based on knowledge and purpose—knowledge of the power of the seed to release that sort of a life and His purpose to care for its growth so that it would reach its final size.

2. INTENSIVE.—His kingdom is not only to spread but to subdue in detail. Put it in a soul and in time every power in that soul will be infected by it. Put it into a community in the person of one disciple and that one disciple is to transmit it to each other person. Put it into one community and it must go right out to the next. Let one nation of people be Christian and it will go on out to the next and thence to the uttermost parts of the world. The leaven, or yeast, or sour dough, which the housewife used has the power in it to leaven the whole batch of dough it is put into and its method is to spread from particle to particle. It requires only a small quantity of leaven to start with and it works of itself on its next door neighbor. Christianity has in itself the power of expansion and its method is through contact. That is the eternal method for propagating the kingdom, always will be, from one Christian to the next person. This power comes from outside the person, as the man sowed the mustard seed and the woman put the leaven into the mass. If the kingdom is in the heart it will soon get into the head and hand; if in the church it will go from the church, with each one that has it, to the shop and parlor and store and factory. We are right now where it is trying mightily to conquer business and labor and civics. It will succeed because it has in itself the power to do it, when handled right, just as the nature of the mustard is to grow and of the leaven to spread. That is our hope. Human hearts and lives are capable of being made over, as the meal is by the yeast.

II.

Entrance Into the Kingdom. 22-30.

"And He went on his way through cities and villages, teaching, and journeying on unto Jerusalem. And one said unto Him, Lord, are they few that are saved? And He said unto them, Strive to enter in by the narrow door: for many, I say unto you, shall seek to enter in, and shall not be able. When once the master of the house is risen up, and hath shut to the door, and ye begin to stand without, and to knock at the door, saying, Lord, open to us; and He shall answer and say to you, I know you not whence ye are: then shall ye begin to say, We did eat and drink in thy presence, and thou didst teach in our streets; and he shall say, I tell you I know not whence ye are; depart from me, all ye workers of iniquity. There shall be the weeping and the gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the prophets, in the kingdom of God, and yourselves cast forth without. And they shall come from the east and west, and from the north and south, and shall sit down in the kingdom of God. And behold, there are last who shall be first, and there are first who shall be last."

1. SPECULATION.—It was in the spirit of pure speculation and conceit and censure that a man asked Him this question about the number of the saved as He went on toward Jerusalem, possibly some weeks after the part of the lesson we have just been studying. He kept at His work and attracted much attention. That man had no personal interest in it—he simply wanted to know which of the rabbis was right, those who believed many would be saved and enter heaven or those who thought the number was limited; or he wanted to wound Jesus with the insinuation that out of all this multitude now following Him surely there ought to be more genuine followers.

2. SEVERITY.—He was severe with that man in several ways. First, a rebuke which was as much as to say "It is not your affair, nor is that sort of spirit, right." It's not an academic question, as you have made it. The condition of entering the kingdom is severe and in two ways. The entrance is narrow. It all comes to one point. You must leave out everything you have and go in as a sinner unadorned by your merits of position or disposition. Also you will have to put your whole self into it, striving, agonizing, to enter in. That is painful. The result will be that many will not be in who try and the reason is that they didn't seek to enter at that door, nor concentrate on that point, and didn't use all their powers in so doing. Seeking is one thing, agonizing another. The door is never shut in the face of the one who strives, but the mere seeker might as well be shut out at once as well as later. Let the delusion end and the seeking cease.

3. EXPOSURE.—He makes them expose their motives and false hopes. For all who have sought at the wrong door or in a superficial way with a divided heart, or in a self-deluded way, as well as for the consciously wicked, the doom is severe. It is threefold. First, there is the shut door staring them in the face. Next, there is a definite disownment—"I know you not." That phrase is the same among Orientals, as saying, "I owe you nothing; you have no claim on me." Next there is deprivation, with all the agony of it, which is expressed in three terrible statements. The one "cast forth without." They see people who never had their privileges sitting down to the feast introducing the final, complete reign of their Messiah in company with their own ancestors who had secured such privileges to them, but they see it from the "outer darkness" as we often look in from the street and see a happy family at their evening meal; and they see it with "weeping and gnashing of teeth."

He exposes their false hopes. Many suppose they are saved because they live in a Christian community. They saw Him and heard Him and sometimes sat at the same table with Him. Therefore they were saved. They abused their privileges. Though first in point of opportunities they were the last to avail themselves of them, while some of the Gentiles, who had very little chance, took eager advantage of their scant privileges and moved up to the very front.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

It is said in the Middle Ages wicked kings often gave orders that they should be buried in a monk's frock. Wearing such a dress, they hoped St. Peter would be deceived and would let them into heaven. Lord Macauley tells that a Colonel Turner, about to be hanged on the gallows for his crimes, told the crowd that he received great comfort from one recollection—he had never entered a church without taking off his hat. The Italian brigand, though he hesitates not to rob and murder, wears carefully on his breast a cross and charms, which the priest has blessed.—Teacher.

The leaven is at work. Protestant mission work began in China with Robert Morrison in 1807. He at once began the work of translating the Bible into the Chinese language, which was completed in 1823 and printed from wooden blocks cut by hand and printed in twenty-one volumes. Now it takes millions of bound copies of the Bible and portions of the Bible to supply the demand of China for one year. For many years the attitude of the official of China towards Christianity was that of contempt, and among the foreigners not in mission work in China the missionary was looked upon as a fool for thinking that any impression could be made by the gospel on China. In April, 1913, the National assembly asked that all Christians pray for China and its rulers and that on Sunday, April 27, all officials attend church and join with the congregations in prayer to God.—Cady.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. What marks do you see of the extensive growth of Christ's kingdom?
2. What signs of intensive growth in you?
3. In what ways is Christianity permeating public life?
4. Does Christianity fill the needs of all people or only of some nations?
5. How may you be deceived by your environment?

Not "Raised" with Yeast—

You can "raise" a loaf of white flour bread with yeast—but you can't "raise" healthy, robust American youngsters in that way. The best food for growing boys and girls is

Shredded Wheat

It contains no yeast, no fats, no chemicals of any kind—just pure whole wheat, steam-cooked, shredded and baked. The crisp, brown Biscuits are not only deliciously appetizing, but they encourage thorough chewing, which makes them better than porridges for growing youngsters. Ask your grocer.

Always heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with hot milk or cream will supply all the energy needed for a half day's work. Deliciously nourishing when eaten in combination with baked apples, stewed prunes, sliced bananas or canned or preserved fruits. Try toasted Triscuit, the Shredded Wheat wafer, for luncheon with butter, cheese or marmalade.

Made only by The Shredded Wheat Company, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

INTERESTING PEOPLE WHO ARE DOING INTERESTING WORK HERE

Maintaining Duluth's milk supply and Duluth's dairies as the best in Minnesota is the big contract which devolves upon Milk Inspector Gust Hedman.

For some years Duluth has had the reputation of leading the state in this respect, and that it is justified is freely admitted by the state inspectors who make regular trips to all parts of the state. This is largely due to the consistent educational campaign and the thorough system of inspection of the health department.

Milk Inspector Hedman scores all dairies in the corporate limits several times a year, following the system adopted by the Federal government. This takes cognizance of all features which affect the milk supply, including the condition of the stables as to light, ventilation and sanitation, the location of the milk houses, the cooling facilities and the equipment. Each year he tests many samples of milk, some of which are taken from the wagons and others at the dairies. These are analyzed for butter fat, bacteria and sediment. The bacteria count is made at the state branch laboratory but the other tests are made by the inspector at his office in the city hall. Similar examinations are made of the milk sold in restaurants and hotels.

The inspector has been instrumental in securing many improvements at Duluth dairies and he is frequently consulted by dairymen who desire to furnish the public with the best grade of milk possible. The result has been a steady raising of the standard and has enabled Duluth to retain its lead over the other cities in the state.

ICE FIELDS ARE NOW DISAPPEARING

St. Mary's River Is Still Frozen Solid---Little Ice at Duluth.

Considerable warm weather is needed yet before inter-lake navigation can be opened according to the report just issued by the United States weather bureau. Ice in the St. Mary's river is reported solid and 17 inches in thickness and 24 inches in thickness in Duluth harbor, although it is considerably honeycombed here. Practically no ice is to be found along the south shore of Lake Superior near Duluth. There is less ice now in all the lakes than there was a year ago.

The reports from the regular and display stations of the weather bureau and the meteorological service of Canada indicate that the fields have practically disappeared over the extreme western portion of Superior. Off Keweenaw point the fields are extensive but are broken and drifting with the winds. The fields over the eastern portion are moving with the winds except at Whitewish point where they remain stationary. The ice in St. Mary's river appears firm. In Green bay the ice continues firm; there is some water showing on top of the ice. In Michigan no ice fields were reported over the western portion and except off South Haven no fields were visible as far north as Glen Haven where the fields extend to North Manitou island. North of Beaver island and eastward to the straits the ice field is intact. The warm weather of the latter part of the week has softened the top ice some. In Lake Huron ice fields are reported off Presque Isle and south to Middle Island and over the southern portion the field are extensive although not heavy. The St. Clair river is open to Marysville and the ice is running freely out of Lake St. Clair. The ice in the Detroit river on Thursday extended from Fighting island to Lake Erie and on Friday this ice moved out leaving the river open. The field over western Erie is breaking up and along the south shore of the lake the fields are extensive, although there is more open water than reported last week. The field over the eastern portion has not changed materially. In Ontario the fields have moved off shore and there are not as many reported this week. The ice in the harbors is softening.

In comparison with same period last year there is not as much ice reported in any of the lakes.

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPE NS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD---CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops, Head Colds and Dull Headache Vanish.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake to-night, struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

CASE BOBS UP AGAIN

New Trial Asked in Trenholm Suit Against Lumber Company.

Motion Is Based on Alleged Misconduct By Plaintiff's Attorney.

Because R. R. Briggs, attorney for Ephraim A. Trenholm, Cedar Island lake homesteader, in the trial of an action for damages against the Cloquet Lumber company for an alleged false arrest thirteen years ago, insisted upon asserting in the presence of the court and jury that the lumber company had stolen timber from the land of Granville A. Burns, Trenholm's neighbor, and that Burns had sued and recovered $28,000 damages for the timber so stolen, W. B. Phelps, attorney for the lumber company, is seeking for a new trial of the Trenholm action.

The motion for a new trial, which will be heard by Judge Cant on Saturday, March 28, is based on the grounds of misconduct of counsel for the plaintiff in the action, who was on March 3, last, awarded a verdict for $2,500. In his notice of the motion, Attorney Phelps alleges that Attorney Briggs repeatedly stated in the presence of the court and jury that the lumber company had stolen timber and that Burns had sued and recovered $28,000 for the timber stolen.

Trenholm and five other homesteaders were arrested by J. W. Dempster, a deputy sheriff, during the Cedar Island lake trouble between the homesteaders and the lumber company. The men were charged with attempting to dig up and destroy a dam belonging to the lumber company, but which was built on land claimed by Trenholm. The cases were dismissed in justice court.

Trenholm sued and recovered $2,500. The other men have suits pending. They are Granville A. Burns, Michael Cronin, P. J. Payne and W. S. Douglas.

POISONOUS FIERY RED PIMPLES

For Three Years, Itched and Burned Intensely. Spread Across Forehead. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Ended Trouble.

1107 N. Winchester Ave., Chicago, Ill.—"I was seriously affected with poisonous fiery red pimples in the middle of my cheeks for three or more years, and I could never get rid of them. At times it seemed as if they had vanished, but later would become large with yellow pus in them. They itched and burned intensely so that I was tempted to scratch and irritate them. Later they spread across my forehead and down toward the chin. The pimples caused disfigurement.

"On reading a few of the wonderful cures of Cuticura Soap and Ointment I thought I had better try them. In the evening before retiring and also in the morning when I arose I thoroughly cleansed my face with hot water and Cuticura Soap and after drying I applied the Cuticura Ointment. I only used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and half a box of Cuticura Ointment and within six months my trouble was completely ended." (Signed) Miss Clara E. Strelow, Oct. 3, 1913.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Prevent dry, thin and falling hair, allay itching and irritation, and promote the growth and beauty of the hair, frequent shampoos with Cuticura Soap, assisted by occasional dressings with Cuticura Ointment, afford a most effective and economical treatment. JINGLING BROTHERS HAVE NEW FEATURES

Several new show features never seen in a circus ring before are being prepared by the Jingling Brothers' shows to be put on at the Y. M. C. A. here March 23 and 24.

The girls of the Y. W. C. A. are now rehearsing folk dances, some of the most graceful and charming ever seen here, for the ring. Appropriate costuming will be one of the best features.

Prof. Max Alletzhaeuser has also been secured to put on a novel drill to be presented by the pupils of the Jefferson school.

Some of the best known business men of the city have been secured to act on the various committees. W. H. Hart, Francis Colman, J. B. Crane, Henry Nolte and Dr. Patton will sell peanuts and candy and do considerable barking for their wares among the audience.

M. F. Jamar will have charge of the booths and Guy Warren will see that a proper amount of sawdust has been sprinkled in the rings.

The strong man will challenge any man in the audience to compete with him in raising a 250-pound weight with either one or two hands.

THREE NEW FIRMS FILE ARTICLES

Two Will Do Business on Range and One in Duluth.

Three new firms filed articles of incorporation yesterday afternoon with Charles Calligan, register of deeds.

The Cuyuna-Apex Land & Iron company filed articles showing its capital stock to be $200,000 and its principal place of business at Hibbing. The officers and incorporators are: Rupert Swinnerton, president; Daniel Ankenbrand, vice president; Rhys E. Carter, secretary, and Albert G. Schmidt. The company will engage in a general land and mining business.

The Range Motor company of Biwabik, organized to deal in automobiles and automobile supplies and to conduct a repair business, filed articles showing its capital stock to be $50,000 and its incorporators as Z. C. Hinckley, C. H. Schauster and J. R. Boase. The headquarters of the company will be at Biwabik.

Hugh J. McClearn, M. M. Lowe and G. H. Wiking are incorporators of the Duluth Produce exchange, which filed yesterday with a capital stock of $50,000. The object of the company is to adjust differences which may arise among importers, wholesalers, jobbers and retailers and to furnish credit reports showing financial ratings.

"IN" INSTEAD OF "ON" COSTS $1,200 VERDICT

Error in Affidavit Is Ground for Decision of Court.

San Bernardino, Cal., March 19.—"In" written in an affidavit of service of summons, instead of "on," cost John M. Case a judgment of $1,200 here, relegating to the chestnut barrel the story of the waiter's reply that a needle found in the soup was a typographical error, as it should have been a noodle.

Case sued the city of Colton and George C. Paomessa, a paving contractor. They defaulted, but the city of Colton later decided to contest the suit.

Judgment was upset when it was found the affidavit declared the summons was served "in the city of Colton," instead of "on the city of Colton."

EIGHTH VICTIM OF BLOOD "CURE" DIES

Los Angeles, Cal., March 19.—Harry Lane died at the county hospital yesterday, the eighth man to succumb to the effects of a cure for a specific blood disease. The seven others died ten days ago, almost immediately after the administration of the remedy.

A coroner's inquest over the first seven victims reported that the deaths were the result of toxic poisoning. A subsequent investigation brought out statements that chemical changes which occurred in the remedy after it had been made up for administration had rendered it deadly.

The remedy is a German product extensively used. County hospital authorities reported that the eight deaths were the first fatalities in several hundred cases.

GIVEN MONEY BY ACCUSED

Go-Between in Grand Forks Alleged Jury Bribery Names Accused.

Sullivan in Affidavit Tells Where He Got Money to "Treat" Jury.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prosecuting Attorney O. B. Burtness nas made public the sensational affidavit of J. C. Sullivan, the bailiff who turned state's evidence on which is based the accusations of jury bribing preferred against Attorney Tracy R. Bangs, J. C. Mahon, Harry Cooper and others in the now famous McLain-Cooper alleged jury bribery in which arrests have already been made and which is proving the biggest sensation uncorked in North Dakota in years. Sullivan in the affidavit alleges that between the time the trial was commenced and the verdict was rendered, that he received money from Bangs, Mahon and others, with the understanding that it was to be used for purchasing liquor to influence the jurymen.

To Pay Over Money.

Sullivan also alleges there was an understanding by which he was to pay over to jurymen, in actual cash, any part of such money that he saw fit, to any whom he thought might be influenced.

Sullivan denies that McLain Cooper, during the trial, was kept from conversation with others than his jailor, counsel and his father. Sullivan says he, personally, talked with Cooper on matters relating to the use of money, including alleged gifts from Bangs.

In one of their first conversations, Cooper told Sullivan, the state's witness says, that if he was short of money in carrying out the scheme of influencing the jury, that he would let him have cash, and several times thereafter Cooper is accused of leaving currency under window sills in the corridor of the courthouse.

Sullivan also sets forth the alleged payment of $55 to jurymen, and he says he informed McLain Cooper of such action.

Meets Cooper in Portland.

Sullivan discusses the meeting he had at Portland, Or., recently with Cooper, when the briberies were discussed.

J. C. Stevens, the juryman first arrested, is now free under $2,500 bail. Tomorrow E. N. Bruyere of Larimore will appear in justice court for preliminary examination.

Minnesotan Drops Dead.

Minot, N. D., March 19.—Ferdinand Umbried of Plainview, Minn., dropped dead in his room in a hotel here Tuesday night. Umbried had been discharged from a local hospital after two weeks of illness. Heart failure caused his death, according to Coroner Doe. Umbried was known here as a well-to-do bachelor farmer.

TWO ACCUSED OF HORSE STEALING

Pair Known at Westby, N. D., Detained on Canadian Side of Line.

Westby, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Canadian Mounted police have in custody at Estavan, L. E. Smith and Pascal Patterson, two men well known here, on charges of horse stealing. Each is apparently endeavoring to place the blame on the other. Smith was left in charge of the stock on a farm while the owner went to Europe for the winter and the latter found on his return that Smith was absent and a team missing. One of the horses was located in this county and the other is thought to be in Montana near here. The men are also charged with the theft of a revolver and a load of grain.

Accused Third Time.

Schafer, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the third time Ray W. Foreman is charged with horse stealing. He is out on a total of $4,000 bonds. In connection with the last affair Richard Dickenson was also placed under arrest but was able to prove that he had not been involved in any manner and the case was dismissed. He was brought into the case as a result of statements made by Foreman which could not be substantiated.

MORE INTEREST IN CREAMERIES

Coming of Spring Brings News of Industries Starting Up.

Fargo, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the advent of spring there has been a renewed interest in creameries in North Dakota.

Gustav Kreumpel, for eight years in charge of the creamery at La Moure has removed to New Rockford, where he and his brother have established a creamery of their own. Mr. Kreumpel has won more prizes than any other buttermaker in the state and is widely known because of his expert skill in that department.

The owners of the creamery at St. John will reopen that plant at an early date. There are more cows than formerly and it now seems certain the plant will be operated steadily.

To Reopen Portal Plant.

Dairymen at Portal met with the owners of the plant there and an agreement was reached by which additional stock was subscribed to pay off outstanding indebtedness and to reopen the plant clear of all claims at an early date.

There are 700 cows tributary to Velva but the effort to get the owners to consent to patronize a local creamery failed. Many of them are shipping to outside points and have long term contracts which they are forced to fill.

The organization of a creamery was postponed until a later date.

ADMITS MERIT IN COMMISSION FORM

Former President Indorses Plan With Merit System for Subordinates.

St. Paul, Minn., March 19.—Speaking on "town government" before the St. Paul association of office men late yesterday, Former President W. H. Taft indorsed the commission form of government, but added that it should have a rigid merit system for subordinates. Extended nature of office, he said, was the solution of many of the difficulties of municipal government.

Mr. Taft attended a dinner at the University club here last night.

Anti Trust Decision.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 19.—Court decisions in anti-trust cases, since the enactment of the Sherman law in 1890, have been almost uniform in their accordance with the decision handed down in the famous Addyston Pipe case, the first government suit under that law to be decided, according to W. H. Taft in his lecture before the law school of the University of Minnesota, late yesterday. Mr. Taft then United States circuit judge, associated on the bench with Justice Harlan, wrote the decision.

Mr. Taft reviewed at length the decision in the Northern Securities case, in which the merger of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railways was dissolved, declaring that the action of the courts on that occasion was the entering wedge in preventing a future combine of all the principal railways in the country.

Mr. Taft will extend his course of lectures to five, the last being on Friday when he will, it is said, discuss the trust legislation now pending in congress.

MILWAUKEE DOCK HOUSES BURNED

Milwaukee, Wis., March 19.—Fire in the dock houses of the Petit Salt company last night caused a loss estimated by officers of the company at about $150,000, nearly all to the stock. The fire swept the wooden warehouses rapidly, making a wonderful spectacle.

VERY MUCH ALIVE.

Former La Crosse Publisher, Believed Dead, Returns to City.

La Crosse, Wis., March 19.—L. P. Philippi, former La Crosse publisher, was reported dead at St. Louis last July. A body was identified as his and friends here were notified. Philippi arrived in La Crosse yesterday after two years' absence on the Pacific coast. The first friend he met on the street shied away from him. Others gasped and turned pale.

"What's the matter?" he asked a particularly intimate friend, who showed signs of collapse. Then the story came out. Philippi had been out of touch with La Crosse for months and did not know of the report of his death. Who was buried in his place at St. Louis nobody here knows.

WARREN VOTES "DRY."

No License and New City Charter Carried the Election.

Warren, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The "drys" were victorious in the election held here Tuesday, 180 to 172. Seven blank ballots were cast. This was the largest vote that has ever been polled here. The proposed city charter was carried by a large majority and as a result the license question is settled for two years, as this charter provides for an election only every other year.

Clarence Johnson pleaded guilty yesterday of interfering with the parade lines of the Sunday school children's temperance rally Monday and was fined $20 by Justice Braggans.

ILLINOIS ALUMNI FORM ASSOCIATION

Fargo, N. D., March 19.—Flickertail alumni of the University of Illinois met here and organized an alumni association at the Annex hotel following the luncheon that was tendered Dean Davenport of that institution. The officers elected were:

President, Prof. E. S. Keene, Fargo, 1890; vice president, O. D. Center, Grand Forks, 1905; vice president, Maj. Frank White, Valley City, 1882; secretary-treasurer, R. W. Smith, Fargo, 1907.

The president and secretary of the association form an executive committee.

SOIL SURVEY WORK WILL BE CONTINUED

Fargo, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The soil survey work in this state will be continued this summer by the new geological department of the North Dakota experiment station. Several counties have been mapped in past years. Last season La Moure county was the scene of the department's activities but because of lack of funds the work was not completed. It will be finished this year and field men put in at least one other county. The surveys are especially valuable as after the samples of soils are analyzed the owner knows to what crops his land is best adapted. The surveys are also demanded by many prospective purchasers that they may know exactly what they are doing.

CONSIDER PAVING CLOQUET AVENUE

Committee Conferring With Cloquet Council and Property Owners.

Cloquet, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council met in special session with a number of citizens representing the property owners on Cloquet avenue to discuss the question of paving that avenue. The consensus of opinion seemed to be in favor of the proposition and definite action will be taken at the next regular meeting. In the meantime a committee composed of S. L. Coy, Hugo Schienk, Olaus Johnson, George Riley, and Hans Solem, appointed by Mayor Vibert will interview all the property owners and confer with the council in this matter. The avenue will probably be paved from Third to Fourteenth street this summer.

SOIL DRAGGING IN NORTH DAKOTA

Fargo, N. D., March 19.—There was a sixty-day winter in North Dakota. The latest record of plows in operation anywhere in the state was Jan. 13. The first dragging was reported this week in Sargent, Dickey and Golden Valley counties. No seeding has yet been reported but the farmers in many sections of the state are ready to begin operations. With the wet weather when the ground froze up last winter there seems to be an unusual amount of moisture stored for the 1914 crop.

STILL NEED $2,500 FOR SILVER SERVICE

Bismarck, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor L. B. Hanna has taken charge of the movement to raise the remainder of the $12,000 fund, started several years ago, for the purchase of a silver service for the battleship North Dakota.

A commission appointed by Governor Burke about six years ago, has raised all but $2,500.

BIRDHOUSE CONTEST.

Detroit, Minn., Boy Scouts to Compete at Building Bird Homes.

Detroit, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A novel contest has been started by Scout Master Bird of the Boy Scouts of America in Detroit assisted by several of the leading business houses of the city. It is a Bird House contest and is open to all boys in this locality between the ages of 11 and 18. Each bird house must be made entirely by the boy making the entry and will be judged on the point of work, prizes being awarded for the best made, the most original and most artistic bird house. Each contestant must register before entering. A special prize will be awarded for the first house registered that secures two tenants after the exhibit, (English sparrows not to be included). Mayor Wackman, E. L. Benshoof and Prof. C. R. Reiss are to be judges.

Socialists Nominate.

Bowbells, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Socialists of Burke county have nominated a full ticket of candidates as follows: Auditor, C. H. Lein, Columbus; sheriff, G. A. Bull, Lignite; register, G. O. Grendahl, Lignite; treasurer, Thomas Branten, Lignite; judge, Charles Anderson, Portal; coroner, H. Jensen, Bowbells; representatives, W. D. Owinge, Lignite; G. G. Mowers, Portal, and T. C. Semingstad, Ambrose.

Hancock—Leonard Meola, manager of the Hancock employment bureau, will go to Crystal Falls next week to testify against Joseph Scolari and a man named Gallia, who are under arrest on two charges, attempted robbery and assault with intent to kill. The men will have their examinations next Wednesday.

Lake Linden—Stepping from the main line of the Copper Range railroad, near the Lake Linden station, March 17, to escape an approaching passenger train, John Hendrickson, a section employe, walked directly in front of a freight train on a parallel track and met instant death.

Houghton—Fire destroyed the meat market owned by Alfred Mills at Atlantic early March 17, the frame building burning like tinder. Before the volunteer fire department appeared the structure was a mass of flames. The damage is $8,000.

Laurium—The collection of water taxes in the village of Laurium so far this month has been very slow and there is a considerable amount still outstanding.

Hancock—The revolver of Night Patrolman Thurman was accidentally discharged in the office of the police station the night of March 16, instantly killing Floyd Richardson, aged 32.

Calumet—The body of William Sweeney arrived from Butte, accompanied by Miss Belle Sweeney, a sister, and Thomas Sweeney, the latter going to Butte to take charge of the remains. The body was taken to the home of Thomas Sweeney, where the funeral was held March 18 at 10 o'clock, with services at the Sacred Heart.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

La Crosse—Harold Beisel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Beisel of this city, has received an appointment as second alternate from the entire state of Wisconsin to the United States Naval academy at Annapolis, Md. The appointment came from Senator Robert M. La Follette.

Tomah—A telegram to Dell Burdick brought news of the death of his brother-in-law, W. C. Stotera of Conrad, Mont., who was instantly killed in a coal mine. The message stated no particulars of the accident, only that he was killed while getting coal for himself and some of his neighbors.

Oshkosh—An 80-year-old inmate of the Old Ladies' home here sneaked to the attic for a quiet smoke March 18. Her pipe started a fire which practically destroyed the $8,000 structure.

Madison—Seventy-five farmers from North Dakota arrived in Madison March 18 and spent the day inspecting the state university.

La Crosse—No employe of a hotel or restaurant is permitted to use tobacco while on duty, under regulations governing the conduct of hotels and eating places, just issued by the state board of health.

Madison—Mrs. Elizabeth Paetzel of Plainview, Minn., was awarded compensation of $2,740 as a death benefit by direction of the state industrial commission. Her husband, Henry J. Paetzel, was electrocuted while in the employ of the Wisconsin Railway Light & Power company in Eau Claire.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

East Grand Forks—In accordance with recent action of the city council, City Clerk Gorman has circulated the petitions, asking for a home rule charter for this city. The petitions, which were liberally signed, have been forwarded to District Judges Grindeland and Watts.

St. Cloud—Elmer John Troyer, 53 years of age, died at his home on the Troyer farm, about a mile east of this city, after being ill seventeen years.

Rochester—The old stone quarry that for years was a hive of industry near here was sold March 17 by the city, to Mark Olin for $1,350. At a meeting of the council Monday night bids were opened for the purchase. There were two bidders, Mark Olin offering $1,350, and Fred Altona $1,000.

Madella—The home of James P. Hale was destroyed by fire Sunday night, the family having to flee in their night clothes. Albert, a 13-year-old son, proved himself a hero by going back through the fire and smoke to rescue his 6-year-old brother.

Foley—The Benton county anti-machine Republicans elected the following men from their county to represent the county at the anti-machine meeting in Minneapolis: Rev. J. A. Dowadowski, Gilman; C. E. Bell, Sauk Rapids; George Shetterly, James McCarty, Ebert Johnson, St. Cloud; George Warner, Foley; J. F. Adkins and James A. Harris, St. Cloud.

Devils Lake, N. D.—No case in recent years has attracted such attention from the taxpayers of Ramsey county as has been displayed during the past few days in the mandamus proceedings started by Col. J. H. Bloom against the county officials to force them to advertise for competitive bids for furnishing all supplies costing over $100.

Bismarck, N. D.—The school children of the state will commemorate the birthday of the great temperance reformer, Neal Dow, by writing essays on temperance subjects, as was done last year. Because of the eighth grade finals coming this year on March 20, the essays will be written on Monday, March 23.

Ellendale, N. D.—J. L. Tucker, who owns the light franchise here, announces the material for the new electric plant will soon be shipped, after which the plant will be hurried to completion. The citizens are anxious for the completion of the plant and will be liberal patrons.

Alexander, N. D.—The Citizens State bank has been sold to State Treasurer Olson, Deputy Pen Warden Jacobson and others. Mr. Olson was made president; C. A. Jacobson, vice president, and G. C. Gunderson, until recently chief clerk in the state treasurer's office, cashier.

Bismarck, N. D.—The fourth annual report of the state stallion board shows that the total licenses last year were 2,786 as against 2,917 the year before, the decrease being in the number of grades. After Jan. 1, 1916, no new grades can be registered in this state though those already registered will be permitted as long as they stand the annual inspection.

The Dangerous Business of Being a Baby

The tiny bodies menaced by dirty dairies, by sick cows, by disease; one baby out of six—last year—died. But the danger grows less — Doctors and mothers have learned how to keep our babies.

Mothers now know that their baby's food is of most importance — of the dangers for little babies in cows' milk — that the Government inspectors found only eight clean dairies in every hundred and that in one State alone — under strict laws — there are 200,000 sick cows. Mothers now know that even when cows' milk is pure it is too heavy in curd for little babies.

Nestlé's Food

is nearer to mother's milk than any other food. In NESTLÉ'S the curd of the milk is soft and fleecy as in mother's milk. The best cows' milk is the basis of NESTLÉ'S — the milk from clean, healthy cows, in sanitary inspected dairies. Then to it are added other food elements your baby needs, and that cows' milk does not contain.

How to Get Strong

Doctors agree that the only way to gain strength is through food that is taken into the system. That is why a pure food medicine, such as Father John's Medicine, makes strength by means of its nourishing body-building elements which are easily taken into the system.

Those who are weak and run down have the best chance to regain flesh and strength during the summer months. How best to gain weight is told in the following interviews:

Capt. H. F. Rehberg, 60 Carnation St., Pawtucket, R. I., says: "I gained 18 pounds while I was taking Father John's Medicine."

Mrs. G. A. Goodwin of Blossburg, Pa., says: "My boy gained 30 pounds while he was taking Father John's Medicine. It is a grand body builder."

"I gained 20 pounds taking Father John's Medicine," says M. Crosby, 2161 Eighth Ave., New York City.

Policeman Alexander Kilmer of Johnstown, N. Y., says that while he was taking Father John's Medicine he gained 15 pounds.

"I gained 40 pounds by taking Father John's Medicine, and recommended it as a body builder," says Chas. Florence, 58 Stagg St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Remember that Father John's Medicine builds you up because it contains the exact kind of nourishment that blood and tissue are made of. It is a pure and wholesome food medicine for those who are weak and run down. It does not contain alcohol or dangerous drugs.

Father John's Medicine is for sale in Duluth by William A. Abbett, 205 West Superior street, 101 West Fourth street, 932 East Second street, also Boyce Drug Store, 331 West Superior street; Wirth Drug Store, 13 West Superior street, and practically all other drug stores in the city. If you have any difficulty in getting Father John's Medicine from your druggist, write to Father John's Medicine, Lowell, Mass., enclosing $1 for a large bottle by express, prepaid.

ST. PAUL SEEKING NEW MATERIAL FOR ITS CREWS

Mississippi River Club Promises to Send Big Squad to Kenora.

Winnipeg Veterans Training With the Idea of Going to England.

BY BRUCE.

St. Paul oarsmen are not a bit behind the sweep men of the Zenith City in the matter of getting an early start on the machines. There is a big squad in training at the St. Paul Y. M. C. A., and St. Paul coaches declare that there will be some good material to choose the crews from.

The situation is somewhat critical in the Minnesota Boat club. Not since the regatta at Kenora, three years ago, has St. Paul made any kind of a showing. The officers of the club realize that if the interest is to be sustained there will have to be some new material secured—and this is just what they are diligently attempting to do.

Down in St. Paul there is a decided interest in the Duluth crews. As the national champions, the Ten Eyck proteges command interest among all of the followers of the game in the Apostle city, for they are already predicting we will repeat the win with our senior eight and four.

Large Squad to Be Out.

"We will have a large squad out this year," said Monty Cochran, one of the vets of the St. Paul club, and incidentally one of the greatest oarsmen ever turned out by the down state organization. "We realize that we must find some new material and develop a larger squad, and that is just what we are attempting at the present time.

"The St. Paul club hopes to go to Kenora much stronger than we have been for several years. There are a number of new men working on the machines and scouts are on the lookout for some huskies. We realize thoroughly that we must create new interest in the game, and this is the task that both the officers and members of the club are facing."

With the optimistic statement from the officers of the St. Paul club, comes the news that Con Riley has some of the veterans of the Winnipeg Rowing club in active training for a contemplated invasion of England.

Ever since Con took a four to the English Henley and won the Stewart cup, he has possessed a lurking desire to cross the brine and win an eight event. Therefore the active and enthusiastic preparation that is going on at the Pier.

It is the aim and devout desire of James E. Ten Eyck and the members of his four to meet the remains of the famous Riley four this season at the Kenora regatta. Therefore it is hoped here that Con will not take the eight across the billowy main.

Both the officers and members of the Duluth Boat club are serious in the desire to send a crew to the English Henley. A win at the famous English regatta would paint fame upon four sides of our city, not to mention the advertising it would bring to the boat club.

In order to make the projected Henley trip the more logical, one might say, it would assist the cause greatly to meet and defeat Con Riley and what is left of his world's champion four. Hence the exceeding earnestness to encounter Con in the forthcoming regatta of the Northwestern International Rowing association.

Work and More Work.

In the matter of early and systematic labor the crews of St. Paul or Winnipeg have nothing on the earnest candidates that gather each busy day in the rowing room of the Duluth Y. M. C. A. Jamie has a bunch out and he is working them with that systematic order that has resulted in such commendable results in the past.

Duluth is the leader in the Northwestern, just as the local club must also be accounted the leader in the National association. Up here the oarsmen hold most of the national championships and this very fact should be the incentive for a lot of hard work.

Ten Eyck is eagerly searching for workable material for the bantam and junior crews for the developing of new men here will be the hardest task confronting the coach.

It also might be stated that there is a need of large men, as the majority of the members of the squad that have reported so far are of smaller stature.

RYBERG IS VERY WROTH

Claim Is Made That Lakes Received a Bad Deal.

Arthur L. Ryberg of the Lake Hardware company today declared that the officers of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league had reversed their own ruling when it was decided that the cup emblematic of the league championship should go to the Northern Hardware hockey team without the formality of playing three post season games.

"At the start of the season," said Mr. Ryberg, "it was decided that three games should be played between the first and second teams for the possession of the cup. These rules were opposed by the representatives of the Lake Hardware team, but were formulated nevertheless.

"Now at the end of the season, with the Northern leading and the Lakes second, the league officials meet and squarely face about on their original rules and decide not to play three games, but to award the cup to the Northerns.

"I know that the members of the Lake hockey team are the most sportsmanlike boys in the world. I also believe that I am fair and open-minded, or at least I aim to be; but in the matter of the action of the league I will say that it is nothing less than a rank injustice to the Lake team and is, moreover, something that we will not tolerate.

"If we were beaten fairly and according to the rules that were formulated early in the year when it was believed that the Lakes would be the winners, there would not be any complaint upon our part. We are for the general good of all, and not for our own advancement. But we will not stand for discrimination so obvious that it is plain to any fair-minded man that the Lakes have been ruled against without even an attempt to give the representatives of the team a hearing."

For some reason there was no representative of the Lake team present at the meeting, which was held last night.

Just what action will grow out of the award of the cup to the Northerns is difficult to foretell.

There may be two sides to the argument—there generally is. Mr. Ryberg has presented his side and declares that the team representing the Lake Hardware company has received an unfair deal.

It would be for the best interests of all concerned to have the controversy ironed out and an understanding reached.

Former Premier Hurt.

Nice, France, March 19.—Arthur J. Balfour, the former British premier, while proceeding in his automobile from Cannes to Nice yesterday, was struck by a stone thrown by a boy. A deep gash was cut in his nose and his cheek was badly bruised. Mr. Balfour, however, was able to take part in the international lawn tennis tournament.

NOT HURT MUCH; ONLY GENERALLY SHATTERED.

New York, March 19.—William Klem, the National league umpire who went around the world with the Giants and White Sox, was successfully operated on yesterday for an injury he received by being struck in the chest by a foul ball as he was beginning the world tour.

The injury did not trouble him much until the teams reached Europe, but after his arrival home he underwent an examination which showed that he was suffering from a shattered shoulder blade, fractured breast plate and several fractured ribs.

Baseball Scores.

Macon, Ga., March 19.—The Boston Americans yesterday defeated the Macon South Atlantic league club, 20 to 3. John J. Evers, formerly of the Chicago Nationals, now playing second base for Boston, made both of the errors registered against his team.

Houston, Tex., March 19.—The Houston Texas league club defeated the New York Americans yesterday, 5 to 3. Chance used all his outfielders as pinch hitters in the ninth.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 19.—The Philadelphia Americans and Chicago Nationals played nine innings here yesterday to a tie. The score was 8 to 8. The game was called at the end of the ninth because of darkness.

Greensborough, N. C., March 19.—The Baltimore Internationals won their second victory over the Philadelphia Nationals at Fayetteville, N. C., yesterday by a score of 4 to 3.

Stop Race Gambling.

Geneva, Switzerland, March 19.—Public sentiment against gambling on horse racing, has extended to Switzerland and the police authorities have prohibited the drawing of the various sweepstakes on the chief horse racing events in England. The drawing was advertised for March 21 and $74,000 of English bettors' money had been received here during the past few weeks. The action of the police is a blow to English betting on the continent.

C. H. THOMAS HEADS CUBS

Former Secretary Made President of Chicago National Team.

Murphy Out Entirely—Taft Turns Down Increased Offer.

Chicago, March 19. — Charles H. Thomas, former secretary of the Chicago National baseball club, today took up the duties of club president. Thomas was appointed president of the club yesterday, after Charles P. Taft announced he would retain his controlling interest for at least a year.

Charles W. Murphy, who sold his holdings to Mr. Taft and who thereby relinquished the presidency, announced that he would go on a fishing trip but otherwise would not make known his plans. Charles Schmalsig, who was appointed club secretary, will maintain his headquarters in Cincinnati for a time, it was announced.

Mr. Taft decided to retain his interest in the Cubs after negotiations with several Chicago syndicates failed to result in a sale. He returned to Cincinnati last night after looking over the Cubs' ball park.

Thomas has been in baseball fourteen years and has been closely associated with Charles W. Murphy during that time. He was secretary to Andrew Freedman of the New York Nationals when Murphy was with that club, and came to Chicago at Murphy's request in December, 1905, soon after the latter had assumed the presidency of the local club. He was appointed associate secretary, which position he held until Charles Williams resigned to go with the Chicago Federals, after which Thomas was appointed secretary and treasurer.

Thomas declared he had no plans for the governing of the club, and no ambition besides "bringing some more pennants to show." He said he would retain Henry O'Day as manager.

The meeting and reorganization of the club followed a meeting between Mr. Taft and a representative of the Connery-Spiegel session. The syndicate raised its offer of $750,000 for the controlling interest in the club, but Mr. Taft declined it, as not being enough. Belief that they would have to make extensive improvements in the Cub plant, kept the bidders from making another advance in the price they offered, but Mr. Taft said he believed that for a time, the grandstand at the West Side park, though somewhat old-fashioned, was substantial and said that he was not expecting to make any great changes within the coming season. It is possible a new stand will be built later, it was said. Mr. Taft and Mr. Murphy are said to be principal owners of the land on which the Cubs play. At any rate, Mr. Taft will retain control of the club. "It's a good property," he said.

The change in the organization of the club was the result, it is generally understood, of a demand made by President Johnson of the American league that someone besides Murphy be put at the head of the Chicago club. Johnson contended that some of Murphy's unpopular moves were dangerous to organized baseball with the Federal league threatening destructive war, and demanded of President Tener and the National league a change.

Trouble between Johnson and Murphy dated from the world's series of 1907 between Detroit and the Cubs and was the result of a ticket-scalping scandal in which the officials of the West Side club, of which Thomas was then secretary, were directly accused by Johnson of having made the scalping possible.

Because of this trouble, some of the American league leaders, it was reported last night, might oppose the appointment of Thomas, though whether the proposition will have any influence, is a matter of speculation.

Rochester Bowler Making Fine Score When Finger Is Hurt.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 19.—Bowling in the last squad of individuals in the American Bowling congress tournament yesterday afternoon, Otto Kallush of the Maltop team of Rochester, took fourth place in the standing of leaders with a score of 645, counting 266 in his first game, 211 in the second, and 168 in the third. A split finger sustained at the end of the second game, spoiled his chances to take the lead in singles.

Starting in the fourth frame of the first game and continuing through the third of his second game, Kallush made twelve consecutive strikes. His 266 score in the second game ties the high single record of the tournament.

F. D. Bush of San Francisco took seventh place in the standing of leaders with a score of 637.

C. Brown and J. Raymond of Toledo, were the only team to class among the ten leaders in the two-man event, taking ninth place with a total score of 1,189. Buffalo teams made up the two squads in the five-man event last night. Following are the leaders:

DULUTH COACH HAS LAID DOWN RULES FOR PRESENT YEAR

TEN EYCK.

ONLY TWO OF ROWING VETERANS ARE LOST FROM THE SQUAD.

James E. Ten Eyck called all of the rowing men together last evening and held a heart-to-heart talk. One of the surprising and also gratifying results of the meeting was the announcement that every veteran of last year's squad with the exception of Williams and Thorburn will be out for this year's crew.

"Every man who is coming out will come out this week," said Jim. "If any candidate does not come out regularly after this week it will be taken that he is not to try for the crew. We met last evening to see where we were at. It was a game of show down and it is very gratifying to learn that all but two of the men who won high rowing honors last year will again be out for places in the boats.

"From the start of next week until the end of the season every man will be expected to be on hand every day. It will be work and the most earnest and efficient kind possible. We have a big task ahead of us. If we win at the National the Henley preparations will start. But there is the immediate task of winning at Kenora and Philadelphia."

CATHEDRAL TO MEET CENTRAL

At the Washington school gymnasium this evening the Central high school basket ball team and the Cathedral high school quint will meet for the final game of the season.

In the first contest between the two teams the Catholic boys won. Coach Schilling of the high school claims that his team has improved materially since that contest and that in the meeting of this evening the hilltop boys will turn the tables.

With improvement in the green high school aggregation the second contest should prove close and interesting. Schilling has been forced to mould youngsters into first team players and the task of developing a strong quint has proven a very difficult one.

Following is the lineup of the two teams:

Central—		Cathedral—
Larson	f	Graves
Forgzach, O'Brien	c	Monahan, O'Brien
Brown, Stevens, Lawrence	g	Nicholson, Cole

SMOKY JOE BETTER; TO REPORT WEDNESDAY

Boston, Mass., March 19.—Joe Wood, crack pitcher of the Boston Americans, who was operated on for appendicitis at his home in Pennsylvania recently, will join the Red Sox in spring training at Hot Springs, Ark., next Wednesday, according to a dispatch from there last night. It was said that while he would be able to pitch the opening game of the season, he would not be called upon probably before May 1.

They Should Worry.

Nashville, Tenn., March 19.—The Nashville baseball club has suspended Infielder Artie Hofman and Outfielder Del Young, who have joined the Federal league.

NORTHERNS GET PENNANT

Hockey Title Is Awarded at Regular League Meeting.

A meeting of the Duluth Amateur Hockey association was held at the Northern Hardware company's store last evening. Each of the following teams was represented by two officials: Bagley, Universal, Northern, Big Duluth and Kelleys. No representatives of the Lakes were present.

The directors of the league voted on the question of a post season series between the league leaders and decided to cancel the proposed games on account of the lateness of the season.

A canvass of the games played during the season was presented at the meeting and the Northern team declared the league winner.

The only game lost by the Northern crew was that to the Lakes. Following is the standing of the teams:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Northerns	9	1	.900
Lakes	8	2	.800
Big Duluths	6	4	.600
Kelleys	4	6	.400
Universals	2	8	.200
Bagleys	1	9	.100

Up to Tuesday night Ryberg's crew traveled at top speed. It loked as if the boys from Lakeside had a safe lead but St. Patrick's day was more than they could stand and the boys with the green jerseys took them into camp in an extra time game.

President Harbinson of the league stated that the banquet will be held April 2 at the Commercial club. It is stated that over 100 plates have already been arranged for.

The following committee members have been appointed: G. P. Harbinson, Edward Norsted, Albert Woods, Ward Brown, J. Jacobs and R. Robillard.

GRAIN MEN SHOW GREAT CURLING FORM

The Board of Trade curlers defeated "the world" curlers last evening by the score of 50 to 45. The Board of Trade men made a strong showing and played consistently all the way through.

Dinham played a strong game for the grain men and so did Rube Schiller and Jacobi. Bert Dunlop and MacLeod were strong for the "the world" aggregation. The scores:

Board of Trade.		The World.
S. H. Jones	6	Beerhalter	7
Dinham	14	Catterson	8
Schiller	10	Michaud	9
Jacobi	10	Burt Donlop	11

TIED FOR HONORS.

Two New Yorkers Even in Amateur Billiard Tournament.

New York, March 19.—Edward W. Gardner of New York suffered his first loss in the national amateur billiard championship tournament last night, and as a result is tied with his conqueror, J. Ferdinand Poggenburg of New York, for first place, with four wins and one loss each. Poggenburg made his 400 points in thirty-three innings, while his opponent scored 395. The contest was close until the thirty-first inning, when Gardner, after running sixteen, forgot to get the balls out of balk on the second shot and consequently left a position which enabled Poggenburg to run off seventy-three. The international champion finished the game with runs of ten and eight.

Playing his fifth and last game but one in the national amateur billiard championship tournament Charles Hedon of Dowagiac, Mich., defeated Eugene L. Milburn of Memphis, Tenn., 400 to 180 and incidentally made a run of 135, which is the highest in this year's contest and sets a new mark in play for the national title. Heddon now has a splendid chance to capture the special high run trophy.

During his game the Michigan state champion essayed seventeen masse shots and he made all but two of them. His drives for position were very accurate and at nursing and balk line work, he left little to be desired.

Milburn has been singularly unlucky since the competition began.

Heddon and Dr. W. E. Uffenheimer of Philadelphia are the afternoon contestants today and in the evening the players will be Morris D. Brown of Brooklyn and Joseph Mayer, the present title holder.

MARTIN JOHNSON HAS DRAW WITH SANDERS

Ashland, Wis., March 19.—The wrestling match at the opera house last night was attended by a large crowd. Walter Willoughby, the well known Mellen wrestler, was referee and it is possible that a match may be arranged in the future between him and Elmer Sanders, the participant in the principal match on last night's program. While Sanders has not the reputation of Willoughby, he is a husky young fellow, only 23 years old, while Willoughby is probably at least ten years his senior.

Sanders took the first fall from Johnson of Duluth in thirty-one minutes. They came together for the second fall, but after wrestling for an hour without either gaining a fall, it was decided to call the affair a draw.

In the preliminaries, Lester Prothero defeated Fogarty, while Einar Thompson and Bob Sanders wrestled twenty minutes to a draw.

KIMM CHAMPION OF ROLLER SKATERS

Detroit, Mich., March 19.—Leon Kimm of Chicago won the mile race for the amateur championship of the world at the roller skating tournament here last night. His time was 3:05 1-5, the fastest time for a mile made thus far during the meet. Elmer Eckman of Chicago was second. There were five starters.

Eddie Krahn of Detroit and Steve Shipley of Baltimore trailed the leaders.

Michael Kunda of Milwaukee, who raced second to Krahn Tuesday night in the semi-final which accidentally was cut short, was expected to start, but the judges ruled he was not eligible.

ARMY'S SCHEDULE.

West Point, N. Y., March 19.—The army's football schedule for 1914 was announced yesterday. It contains nine games, all of which will be played at West Point except the one with the navy. No conclusion has yet been reached as to this game. The schedule follows:

Oct. 3, Stevens Institute; Oct. 10, Rutgers college; Oct. 17, Colgate; Oct. 24, Holy Cross; Oct. 31, Villanova; Nov. 7, University of Notre Dame; Nov. 14, University of Maine; Nov. 21, Springfield Training school; Nov. 28, Navy.

ENJOINS FEDERALS FROM ENTICING

Manager Stallings of Boston Nationals Forestalls Federal Moves.

Macon, Ga., March 19.—George Stallings, manager of the Boston National league baseball club last night announced that he had obtained an injunction to prevent agents of the Federal league from having communication with any members of the Boston club.

The injunction was obtained from Judge Matthews of the superior court here under provisions of the Georgia contract labor law.

"If any Federal league representative comes to Macon or any point in the state of Georgia and attempts to get players away from me, I'll put him in jail as sure as he gets off a train," said Stallings.

CLEVELAND WINS HOCKEY TITLE

Defeats American Soo in Rough, Fast Game for Championship.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 19.—The Cleveland Athletic club team won the championship of the American Amateur Hockey association here last night, when it defeated the American Soo team of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 4 to 2, in a rough, fast game. With the victory goes possession of the $2,000 James McNaughton trophy.

The contest was the last of a four-game series, two games being played at Sault Ste. Marie and two in Cleveland. Cleveland already had won two games, 4-3 and 3-1, and tied one, 2-2. However, the series was decided on total points scored, and Cleveland, therefore, won from the American Soo, 13-8.

MISSES HIS CHUM.

Pitcher Seaton Wants to Be With Ad Brennan of Chicago Federals.

Chicago, March 19.—The Chicago Federal league club will make an effort to get the services of Pitcher Seaton, who recently was awarded to the Brooklyn Federals, according to an announcement today by Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago club.

Seaton has expressed a desire to play on the same team with Ad Brennan, the pitcher who was awarded to Manager Tinker's club. Weeghman said he would confer regarding the matter with John S. Ward, president of the Brooklyn club, who is in Chicago on a business trip.

James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league, announced today that the Chicago club will open its home season on April 25 with a game with the Kansas City club.

WOMEN'S TENNIS GAMES.

Close and Interesting Indoor Play for National Championship.

New York, March 19.—Play in the women's national indoor tennis championship tournament narrowed to the finals yesterday at the Seventh regiment armory. In the semi-finals of the singles, Mrs. C. N. Baird of Chicago, former Western champion, beat Mrs. Frederick Schmitz, 9-11, 6-4, 6-3, and Miss Marie Wagner, the playing-through champion title holder, beat Miss Clare Cassel, 6-2, 7-5.

Mrs. S. F. Weaver and Miss Cassel gained the final round of the doubles. In their semi-final the pair beat Mrs. Percy Willbourn and Mrs. R. M. Knapp, 6-3, 6-1.

The surprise of the day was the victory of Mrs. Marshall McLean and Mrs. Schmitz, the New Jersey champion, who defeated the national title holders, Miss Wagner and Mrs. Theodore Hassebeere, in the third round, 6-4, 6-4. The victorious couple gained the semi-final round along with Miss E. C. Bunce and Mrs. Willard Sullivan, the latter of Richmond, Va. The racquet work of Miss Bunce and Mrs. Sullivan was excellent and they beat Mrs. Beard and Miss E. H. Moore, 6-4, 6-4.

ALL-STAR HOCKEY TEAM TO MEET CURLING CLUB

Stars Chosen From Duluth Amateur League Will Compete Against the Strong Joe Linder Aggregation.

At a meeting of the officials of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league, held last evening at the Northern hardware store, an all-star team was selected to meet the Duluth Curling club hockey team in the final game of the season, which will be played this evening at the curling club rink.

As this will be the first and likewise the last opportunity to see the star members of the junior league aligned against the players of the big league team, there is considerable interest in the contest. Some of the followers of the game are willing to make a small wager that there will be some surprises in store for the fans.

Following is the lineup of the two times:

Curling Club—		All-Stars—
Belleck	g	Richards, Northern
Linder	p	Clark, Big Duluth
Bogan	cp	Alder, Big Duluth
Barkell	f	Olson, Kelley
Olson	rw	Rosevoldt, Big Dul.
Mahan	lw	Dumoe, Northern
Kohler	c	Parsons, Northern

The All Stars.

Richards at goal, is a high school boy and is without doubt the best in the league. This is his first year. He is full of pep and fights to the last minute of play. He has learned much from other goal tenders who played against the Duluth Curling club team during the winter.

Clark is a real star, a good rusher and a wicked shot. He has played about four years in the Junior league and will stack up well against the Honorable Joe Linder at point.

Adler is a product of the Adams Athletic club and on defense is the best man in the league. There isn't a harder shot in the league. Adler is fast on the ice and carries the puck well. He can play any position. He weighs 170 pounds.

Olson is playing his first year and everybody concedes the fact that he is the best rover in the league. He will keep Russ Barkell working every minute.

Capt. Parsons at center is a high school player. This is his first year in the Junior Hockey league. He is believed by many to be the best puck carrier in the entire league, is an exceptionally clean player and the fans are confident that Parsons will be heard from in hockey circles for many years to come. Harry is light and depends upon his head more than he does his body.

Rosevoldt at right wing is very fast and shoots like a bullet, is in fine condition and plays consistently all of the time. He weighs about 150 pounds.

Du Moe is another high school boy and is playing his second year at left wing. He is a long hard shot and Belleck is expected to be busy when Du Moe gets within range.

GOLFERS TIED.

Close Playing at Pinehurst in Tin Whistle Club Contest.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 19.—S. D. Wyatt of Fond du Lac, Wis., and Robert Hunter of Connecticut yesterday tied at 255 for the gross score prize in the annual 54-hole golf tournament of the Tin Whistle club here.

The best net score prize was won by J. M. Thompson of Spring Grove, Pa., who recorded 238, his handicap allowance being 24. C. L. Becker of Auburndale, Mass., won the prize for the best gross round of the event, with a card of 70.

Lakes Are Winners.

The Lake Hardware basket ball team defeated the Lakeside team last evening by the score of 17 to 14. The game was close and interesting all the way through.

The lineup:

Lake Hardware—		Lakeside—
Busselman	rf	Kerr
Hollenbeck	lf	Reid
Beck	c	Williams
Richardson	rg	Lawson
Kerns	lg	Whiteside

Field baskets—Busselman, 2; Hollenbeck, 3; Beck, 1; Richardson, 1; Kerr, 2; Reid, 3; Williams, 2. Free throws—Richardson, 3.

CANDLE PIN RECORD, WHATEVER THAT IS

Lynn, Mass., March 19.—What is claimed to be a world's individual three-string candle pin record of 435, was made by Harry Cole of this city last night in a match game between teams of the Inter-City league. The previous record of 418 was made by Archie Carr of Lynn, earlier in the winter.

THEATER SUSTAINS $400 FIRE LOSS

An overheated furnace pipe started a fire at the Cozy theater, 419 East Fourth street, about 5 o'clock last evening that caused a loss of about $400 to the interior of the building and its contents.

The fire was discovered by Miss Agnes M. Carey, who operates the picture show, and she turned in the alarm. There was no one in the theater at the time of the fire, it having occurred an hour before the regular opening time. Assistant Fire Chief Wilson is of the opinion that the wooden partition over the furnace pipe caught fire and started the blaze.

The piano was slightly blistered by the heat, but the damage to the instrument is slight. Two drop curtains were destroyed.

Ten Lost With Swedish Steamer.

Bilbao, Spain, March 19.—The Swedish steamer Torhild, has foundered with a loss of ten lives. The Torhild was built in 1877. She was of 916 tons register.

VIRGINIA TO ENFORCE LAWS

Police Ordered to See That Saloon Closing Laws Are Obeyed.

Minors Are Also Ordered Kept Off Streets After 9 P. M.

Virginia, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Orders were issued to the police this morning to see to it that Virginia's "lid" is nailed on tight. Chief of Police Rice also personally notified owners of saloons that they must close their places of business during the time prescribed by law and that any infractions will be summarily dealt with by the city council. All persons found gambling will be promptly arrested.

Children Must Stay at Home.

All minors under 16 years of age will hereafter be required to be at home between the hours of 9 in the evening and 6 in the morning. If they are found on the streets during the prescribed hours they will be required to give an account of themselves and promptly sent home. The latest order is the outcome of the nearing on the Stubler liquor license by the council on Tuesday evening when Attorney S. U. Dahl charged that many of the saloons were guilty of violations of the law.

CHISHOLM MAN KNOWS ACCUSED

Believes Leo Frank Is Unjustly Accused of Georgia Murder.

Chisholm, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walter H. Brown, local humane officer, is acquainted with Leo M. Frank, convicted in Atlanta, Ga., of murder in connection with the death of a girl in the factory of which he is an officer, and sentenced to die. Mr. Brown says from his acquaintance with the accused and a knowledge of his personal life he can hardly credit the truth of the awful charge hanging over his head and wants to do anything he can to help him in his present predicament.

GREAT SCOTT CASE STILL ON BOARDS

Defense Claims Loss of Village Orders Caused Trouble.

Hibbing, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of the case of the township of Great Scott against Joseph Grant, former treasurer to recover $2,200 claimed to have been unaccounted for, continues to hold the boards in district court here.

The defense today introduced more evidence to support its contention that if any discrepancies existed they were due to errors in keeping the accounts rather than dereliction on the part of Mr. Grant. It is contended that several township orders for material were lost and that without these it is difficult to establish that the books were all right when Mr. Grant retired, although is claimed when he surrendered the office everything was found all right. The case will hardly be concluded today.

Taking Virginia Census.

Virginia, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A census of the city is being taken by the light and water commission on which the new water rates will be based. Every house in the city is being visited, regardless of whether it is using water or not and a census of the inmates taken. The census will show the number of people living in boarding houses, rooming houses, etc., and will be one of the best ever made.

MAYOR POWER WILL SPEAK AT EVELETH

To Deliver Address at the Eagles' Lodge of Sorrow.

Eveleth, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual lodge of sorrow of the Eagles will be held Sunday at the Auditorium. Following is the program:

Overture, orchestra; opening announcement, president; prayer, chaplain; hymn, choir; "Our Duty Today," past president; vocal solo, "Face to Face," Mary Brince; roll call, secretary; selection, choir; oration, Mayor Victor L. Power of Hibbing; selection, orchestra; closing exercises, president; benediction.

NEW YORKER PRAISES HIBBING ENTERPRISE

Lauds Spirit of Energy and General Appearance of Village.

Hibbing, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the precedence the successful bidders will secure on the range is as much responsible for the interest that has been shown in the contract for White Way supplies, bids for which were opened at a recent meeting of the water and light board, as the size of the prospective order, is the statement of Elmer P. Morris, president of the Elmer P. Morris Works of New York, who was personally present to press his claim for the work.

"The firm that secures the Hibbing order has a big lead over competing firms in bidding for similar work in the other towns in this section of the state," said Mr. Morris. "The other towns on the range are watching Hibbing's success along the lines of municipal improvements and will profit by the experience of the council and building commission. It will also be simple to show the work that has been done at Hibbing to prospective customers and I believe that is one of the principal reasons for the interest that has been taken in this order."

Lauds Hibbing.

Mr. Morris intends to ship by express two of the posts on which he bid so that they may be set up and compared with the system already in.

The New York man paid many compliments to the appearance of the local streets and the public spirit and progressive attitude of the men in charge of the affairs of the village.

"I will have something to tell my friends upon my return to the East," said Mr. Morris. "Few of them know what live progressive cities there are in this section of Minnesota."

ELY CANDIDATES ARE GETTING BUSY

Ex-Alderman Harri Is Opposing Mayor Trezona, Who Is Candidate.

Ely, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city election to be held April 7 promises to be more exciting than ordinary. Mayor Charles Trezona has filed for re-election. He is opposed by ex-Alderman John A. Harri, who is making a strong campaign for the office. L. J. White, cashier of the First National bank, is seeking the office of city treasurer, and is opposed by Alderman Arthur Toms, assistant cashier of the First State bank.

Yesterday Anton Kotchevar announced himself as a candidate for the office of assessor and is not opposed at present. The office of municipal judge is sought by John Schaefer for many years a resident here, also by the present judge, Thomas Jury, who has held the office for the past five years, and who has also been a resident here for the past twenty-six years. The office of alderman seems to be unsought after, only two candidates being in the field at the present time, James White and Mike Somero of the First ward.

LOGGERS RUSHED WORK.

Despite Shortness of Season, Range Operators Did Well.

Eveleth, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Loggers in this vicinity had less than two months of hauling weather this season, but by pushing work while the roads lasted, the timber was removed from the woods. James Robb of this city states that the two camps of the Colvin & Robb Lumber company, south of Biwabik, have just been broken up and that the roads were suitable for hauling up to the present time, although it was necessary to shovel snow in spots where the roads were exposed to the sun on hillsides.

The first logs at the Colvin & Robb camps were hauled Jan. 22, which made the hauling season less than two months. Everything was ready when the snow and cold weather came and a good winter's work was done while the season lasted.

NASHWAUK LIGHTS UP.

Range Village's New Lighting System Now in Full Swing.

Nashwauk, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nashwauk people are justly proud of their splendid new lighting system, which was turned on Monday evening by Supt. G. A. Lindsey of the water and light plant. There are six lights to each block, and these lights are 500 K. W. The village has been sorely in need of a lighting system on its streets for years past.

LICENSE NOT RENEWED.

Ely Saloon Man Who Violated Law Runs Up Against Snag.

Ely, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The transfer of the liquor license of George Harder to J. D. Wylie at the last meeting of the city council did not guarantee him the renewal of the license for the coming year as was proven at the council meeting last night. A renewal of the license was asked for but was refused. A license was granted P. J. Holland of Two Harbors to sell liquor in the same building as was previously occupied by the Harder saloon. Harder was convicted in municipal court during the winter of having kept his saloon open after hours. Largely routine business was transacted by the council.

JOHNSON WILL OPERATE MADRID

Has Taken Over the Lease of the Virginia Property.

Virginia, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The lease of the Madrid mine, which was surrendered by A. B. Coates some time ago, has been taken over by H. O. Johnson of Virginia, who has purchased the machinery and mining equipment. He will mine the remaining ore for the Eureka Ore company, which was recently incorporated with a capitalization of $50,000, the lease being turned over to them.

The incorporators of the Eureka Ore company are B. F. Smith, Walter Markham, H. J. Sigel, Harry Osterberg and H. O. Johnson, all of Virginia. The ore body is practically exhausted and it is the purpose of the new operators to mine the remaining ore before the machinery is removed to other properties. Strippings from adjoining properties will be utilized to fill up lots that have been caved by the mining operations and place them in condition for dwelling sites. When this is done it will make that portion of the city one of the most desirable residence sections.

Section 4 to Ship.

Eveleth, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Section 4 mine, located on the shore of Ely lake, two miles from this city will ship ore the coming season. The property will be worked both as an underground and open pit mine. Two small shifts are now working underground and the crew is to be increased to 150 men at once.

The mine will begin shipping ore as soon as the shipping season on the lakes opens. The D. M. N. road will handle the ore. A crew of fifty men are now employed laying track on the property.

Ore is already uncovered in an open pit and when the shipping season opens steam shovels will be put in use.

The superintendent states that everything is in fine shape at the mine and that although this will be its first season as a producer he expects that a large quantity of ore will be shipped.

LEAVE FOR NORTHFIELD.

Champion Hibbing Basket Ball Five Off for Final Contests.

Hibbing, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Confident that they have an excellent chance to win the championship of the state, and that at all events they will make a good showing, the high school basket ball quintet left this morning for Northfield to represent the Eighth congressional district in the state tournament.

The locals defeated Aurora Tuesday night by a large score and left no doubt as to the championship title.

The men who left this morning were Kleffman, Johnson, Williams, Friday and Munter, with Nord as substitute.

The locals play their first game at 8:45 Friday morning, but the drawings have not been completed so that their opponent is not known. The winners in the preliminaries will then be matched, with the final game scheduled for Saturday evening.

Supt. Blair expects to leave in time to see a portion of the tournament, as he will be in Minneapolis on Sunday for the meeting of the state superintendents.

JUDGE HUGHES SPOKE.

Delivered St. Patrick's Day Address at Coleraine Entertainment.

Coleraine, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The choir of St. Patrick's church presented a very entertaining program at the village auditorium Tuesday evening. The program was made up of several musical numbers well rendered, a short farce by local players, and a splendid patriotic address by Judge Martin Hughes of Hibbing. Following was the program:

Song of the Vikings, chorus; song, "Ireland I Love You," Fred Haverkost; songs selected, "The Larks;" "Why We Are Here," Hon. Martin Hughes; song, "Rose, Rose, Rose," Mrs. T. R. Pakenham; song, "Killarney, My Home O'er the Sea," quartet, Fahey, Wolski, Haverkost, McKereghan; farce, "I'm Not Myself at All."

Cast, Phelim O'Rourke, Walter Van Dyke; Capt. Debit, Thomas Edwards; Miss Laura Pootles, Lillian Frantl; Mr. Pootles, Roy Hickox; Mary, Fern McConville.

Ensemble—Song, "My Wild Irish Rose," Mrs. Elmer Laramie and chorus.

VIRGINIA CLASS PLAY.

Cast Is Announced for Annual High School Event.

Virginia, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The cast for "Betty Sharpe," the class play to be presented at the Roosevelt auditorium early in May under the supervision of Miss Lorena MacFarlane of the high school faculty, has been completed. Blanche Moreland is in the title role and the other characters are: Kathryn Carleton, Sima Laury; Bob Houston, Paul McMahon; Prof. Carleton, John Hawkinson; Leo McLeod, Harry Pribnow; Silas Spinks, Clayton Quayle; Mrs. Carleton, Cassie Munroe; Buster Tetherton, Chester Whiting; Wayne, the football coach, Philip Hodge; Thompson, Alfred Burchell; Sarah, Margaret Gowan. Besides the foregoing principal characters, others in the cast will be Mabel Hawkinson, Louis Stein, Harry Williams, Demming Hannaford, Jake Gorham, Margaret Olson, Mark Elliott, Walter Crellin, Joseph Lippman, Arthur Ledecock, Olive Hodge, John Mattala, Mildred Sigel, Manie Pauna, Walter Borg and Anna Lipke. The proceeds from the play will be used in purchasing a class memorial for the high school.

DEATH ENDS CASE AGAINST ISAAC ARO

Hibbing, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The indictment returned by the grand jury that recently met here against Isaac Aro, a saloon keeper of Chisholm, for selling liquor to a minor, will be formally dismissed upon motion of the state's attorney some time during the present term. Aro died yesterday at Silver City, N. M., after a short seige of consumption.

He was a well known saloon keeper in Chisholm, where he had been in business for some time. He is survived by a family.

Once Robust Man.

Chisholm, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Isaac Aro, who went to Silver City, N. M., for tubercular treatment several weeks ago, died there Tuesday evening. Word was sent to the Eagles at Silver City to have the body sent to Chisholm and it is expected to arrive Sunday. Funeral arrangements will be made later under the direction of the Eagles' lodge.

Mr. Aro was 28 years old and single. He was formerly a police officer here and quit the police service to enter into business. The inside work caused his affliction from which he died. During the time when he enjoyed good health he was a typical figure of perfect health, being over six feet tall and weighing over 200 pounds without a pound of superfluous flesh. His friends, on learning that he was a victim of tuberculosis could not believe it possible.

CIVICS CLASS OF CHISHOLM VISITS

Chisholm, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Clark in charge of the civics class at the high school took a number of students through the recorder's office yesterday afternoon and had explained to them the method of conducting the department. The method of taxation, the conduct of council meetings, the filing system, accounting, etc., were all explained. The class was then shown through the city hall and showed keen interest in every branch of the municipal work. In the class were: Miss Ryan, Mr. Talus, Mr. Schweiger, Mr. Hudy, Mr. Cummings and Mr. Gandsy.

Eveleth Surprise Party.

Eveleth, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A surprise party was given for W. Wright. Cards furnished the amusement until a late hour, when refreshments were served.

SHOOTS AT BARTENDER.

Charge on Which Mesaba Man Is Held to Grand Jury.

Mesaba, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge McRae held Ivan Kovich to the grand jury on the charge of taking a shot at Pete Plipovic, bartender in John Skull's saloon here, and unless he furnishes bail will be taken to the county jail in Duluth.

Killie Lucas paid a fine of $5 and costs in Judge McRae's court this morning for having assaulted Charles Burk.

ARE GIVEN DINNER.

Duluth and Superior Lumber Dealers Entertained at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A party of Duluth and Superior retail lumbermen were entertained at a 1 o'clock dinner at the new Fay hotel today by the officials of the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company. The afternoon was spent by the visitors in an inspection of the mills of the company and the mines and other points of interest in the city.

Eveleth Contractors Win.

Mountain Iron, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the last meeting of the old village council Lawrence, McCann & Co., of Eveleth, were awarded the contract for paving six village blocks and Charles K. Shand, a Virginia architect, was engaged to prepare plans for the new village free library. The new council will meet April 12.

Sullivan Had Opposition.

Chisholm, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Press reports of the Balkan township election stated that A. J. Sullivan was elected township clerk without opposition when, as a matter of fact, he was opposed by William Cooper, who received eleven votes to sixty-one for Mr. Sullivan.

WATERLOO FOR HIBBING FIGHTER

Pal Brown Groggy and Staggering From Dan Cupid's Punishment.

Hibbing, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The final round in a battle between Dan Cupid and "Pal" Brown is to be fought within a few days, according to well authenticated rumors that are current here and at Chisholm and that the range fighter will go down for the count of ten is the best opinion of the fight fans who have been occupying ringside seats.

In Dan Cupid's corner it is said that the principal second is a former Hibbing school teacher, whose home is now at Duluth.

"Pal" could not be reached at Chisholm today, having left Tuesday for Duluth with his mother and sister. Friends of Brown who would be supposed to be "on the inside" refused to tip off the time or place of the bout.

MEET ELY FRIDAY.

Two Harbors Basket Ball Quint to End Winter's Play Then.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school basket ball team will wind up the season by meeting the Ely high school team on Friday night in the Y. M. C. A. gym. Considerable rivalry exists between the two schools in basket ball and as Ely has already won one game from the locals in Ely the Two Harbors team will deliver their best article of basket ball in order to wipe out the sting of this defeat. The line-up will be as follows:

Ely—		—Two Harbors
White	f	Holliday, (Capt)
Hegman	f	Johnson
Miller	c	Daniels
Makki	g	McCurdy
Ahaki	g	Richards

To Meet Duluth Team.

The city basket ball team will meet the Duluth Universals, winners of the league championship of Duluth, on Saturday night. The locals have lost but one game on their own floor this year and claim the range championship.

Next week the team expects to make a tour of the central part of Minnesota and will meet Morrow, Grasston, Pine City and Rush City.

The lineup for the game Saturday will be as follows:

Duluth—		—Two Harbors—
Boerner	f	Kernan
Lyford	f	Sullivan
Bishoff	c	Woodward (capt.)
Williamson	g	Johnson
Frederickson	g	Filiatrault

TWO HARBORS BIBLE CLASS PLANS BANQUET

Two Harbors, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The young men's Bible classes will give a banquet on Friday in the parlors of the First Methodist church. Young men's classes were organized last fall in all the churches under the direction of Mr. Mixsell, secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. These classes have all been very successful, and at the present time more than fifty members have been secured.

Some splendid speakers have been secured, among them being Thomas Owens, Rev. A. H. McKee, Bruce Elliot, H. W. Mixsell and Andrew Sundquist. A special musical program has also been arranged.

The banquet committee is as follows: Harry Seitz, chairman; Henry Hammille. W. Lorne Fowler will act as toastmaster.

Men Welcome Mother's Friend

A Duty that Every Man Owes to Those who Perpetuate the Race.

It is just as important that men should know of progressive methods in advance of motherhood. The suffering incident to child-bearing can be easily avoided by having at hand a bottle of Mother's Friend.

This is a penetrating, external application that relieves all tension upon the muscles and enables them to expand without painful strain upon the ligaments. Thus there is avoided nervous spells; the tendency to nausea or morning sickness is counteracted, and a bright, happy disposition is preserved that reflects wonderfully upon the character and temperament of the little one soon to come. You can obtain a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at any drug store at $1.00. It preserves the mother's health, enables her to make a complete recovery, and thus with renewed strength she will eagerly devote herself to the care and attention which mean so much to the welfare of the child. Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 229 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their valuable and instructive book of guidance for expectant mothers.

HIBBING ADDS TO AUTO EQUIPMENT

Hibbing, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing is to add to its automobile equipment by the purchase of an auto sprinkler and street flusher, bids on which will be opened at the meeting next Tuesday evening. The new piece of machinery will be one of the latest kind with all of the appliances for keeping the streets in splendid condition. It is claimed that such a machine as will be purchased by the council will have little trouble in sprinkling all of the streets of the village several times a day.

VICTORS HOST TO THOSE THEY BEAT

Keewatin, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A banquet to the defeated candidates will be given within a few days by the successful ticket, according to plans that are now being made. Though the recent campaign was one of the hottest ever held in this village, the tenseness of the situation has in a measure disappeared and conditions are again normal. All factions are now agreed to work together for a successful completion of the program prepared by the new administration.

Field Secretary to Speak.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. Walker of Minneapolis, field secretary for the Christian Endeavor society of this state, will address the young people in the First Presbyterian church tonight. Mr. Walker has been in Duluth for several days and expects to make a complete tour of the range towns in the interests of the Christian Endeavor work.

DO NOT SCOLD THE CHILDREN

Nervous mothers, worried from morning till night by the care of children and the duties of the household; nervous children wornout by overstudy, unable to sit still or stand still or to keep their minds concentrated on anything very long, both need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood and strengthen the nerves.

Try a short treatment with these strengthening pills and watch the color return to pale cheeks and lips, see how the worn nerves recover their poise, note how much less irritating the children become and how much less scolding they need. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blessing to nervous people everywhere, men as well as women, because they build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. They lighten the cares of life because they give you new strength to meet them.

Nervousness in children should be corrected at once as it is but a short step to St. Vitus' dance. Give them Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up their blood and they will become sturdy, pink-cheeked and rugged.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be kept in the house. Your own druggist can supply you. Write now to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free booklet "Home Treatment of Nervous Disorders."

I Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. P. W. Lanseng, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

UNEMPLOYED DEFY SHERIFF AND WIN

Kelley's "Army" Remnant Buys Acre and Camps on It.

Sacramento, Cal., March 19.—One hundred and seventy-five unemployed men today basked in the sunshine on their acre of ground in North Sacramento, purchased yesterday from a realty company. A score of armed deputies watched developments.

The first of the jury trials of the army leaders was held today, Edward Teesdale being arraigned for vagrancy. "General" Kelley will be tried tomorrow.

Sheriff Ahern was stricken with heart failure at the new camp yesterday, and is seriously ill. Attending physicians say the "unemployed" problem he has faced the last few days is responsible for the attack.

Governor Johnson said he was arranging with Bishop Hanna of the San Francisco Citizens' committee on the unemployed, to send a number of unemployed men to work on the state highway between Shingle Springs and Eldorado, in Eldorado county. The governor said the men would be paid $2.25 a day.

Laughed at the Sheriff.

One hundred and fifty of the jobless remnant of "General" Kelley's army of the unemployed, laughed long and loudly at Sheriff Ahern yesterday.

When the sheriff received word that the scattered Kelleyites were reassembling on a ranch four miles north of this city, he hurriedly collected a force of deputies and raced for the scene. At the ranch he found a band of men engaged in erecting tents and shacks, and the order was given to his posse to drive them out. The deputies responded with a will, but were halted at the boundary of the camp by a man with a legal paper.

The document proved to be a contract for the purchase of one acre of land, for which $70 had been given as a first payment. There was nothing for Sheriff Ahern to do but retire, while the unemployed hooted and jeered.

Leaders of the unemployed boasted that they would provide quarters for 1,000 men on the acre of ground and defy the authorities to prevent the reassembling of the army. The arrival at the camp of provisions by the wagonload from Sacramento, indicated that they had received abundant financial backing to tide them over for some time.

Anti-Kelleyites in Camp.

Davis, Cal., March 19.—Nearly 200 men, comprising a portion of the anti-Kelley faction of the unemployed army driven from the Yolo levee, appeared here unexpectedly late yesterday and pitched their camp on the state farm operated in connection with the University of California. There they defied Sheriff Monroe of Yolo county to oust them, declaring they were on state property, over which Yolo county had no authority.

According to the men, the plan to assemble at the state farm was formed before they consented to break camp on the levee.

Soda Relieves Indigestion or Acid Stomach

Few Stomach sufferers know that Indigestion, Sourness and Gases are not caused by a lack of digestive juices, but result always from acidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, which retards digestion and promotes food fermentation. Everything eaten sours in the stomach like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we get a heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we belch gas and eructate food or have heartburn, waterbrash, bloating and nausea.

A well-known authority states that a 10 grain Sodagen tablet taken anytime, followed by a tumbler of water instantly neutralizes these stomach acids; stops fermentation, absorbs the gases and sweetens the entire digestive tract. He says any pharmacist can supply a package of 10 grain Sodagen tablets as they are constantly prescribed for stomach acidity because of their harmlessness to the digestive organs, being composed of Soda, Calcium Carbonate and Magnesia U. S. P.

CLAIM LOBBY HAS HIT HUGHES BILL

Convict-Made Goods Measure Is Assailed in Congress.

Washington, March 19.—Charges that an unorganized lobby is working to defeat the Hughes bill to regulate shipments of convict labor products will be investigated by the senate lobby committee at a special meeting tomorrow. Chairman Overman late today issued subpoenas for witnesses.

How Michigan's system of prison reform would be retarded by the Hughes bill was detailed to the house commerce committee today by Edward Frensdorf of the board of control of the penitentiary at Jackson. The system includes occupation for convicts at which they may earn money for the support of their families.

It has been represented to the lobby committee that funds were furnished by prison contractors to carry on an organized campaign against the Hughes bill.

The committee has been supplied with information of previous efforts, some of them successful, to prevent convict labor legislation. In one case wardens of several penitentiaries were said to have handled money contributed by prison contractors to defeat a similar bill in 1900. According to statements in the hands of the committee, the wardens met in Washington, engaged counsel and carried on a systematic campaign against the bill, which had passed the house. It did not pass the senate.

CLAIM MAJORITY FOR TOLLS REPEAL

Leaders Say It Will Come Up in House Next Week.

Washington, March 19.—Representatives Sherley and Covington, who, with Representatives Adamson and Palmer will lead the administration fight in the house to repeal the Panama tolls exemption, told President Wilson today that the repeal bill would be taken up probably Monday or Tuesday, with a special rule limiting debate. They declared that a large majority would vote for it.

OPPOSE AGITATION OVER THE NEW HAVEN

Connecticut Men Send Protests to Senate at Washington.

Washington, March 19.—Protests by banks, trust companies and boards of trade in Connecticut against continued agitation of New Haven railroad affairs were presented to the senate today by Mr. Brandegee of Connecticut. The general tenor of the protests was against disassociation of steamship and trolley lines and the New Haven, and against agitation, because of losses to savings banks, trust companies and endowment funds of charitable and educational institutions of the state.

MAYOR AND CHIEF CITED

Must Prove Right to Interfere With Sholund Saloon Operations.

New Attempt to Enable Saloon Keeper to Resume Business.

The end of the Sholund saloon case is not yet.

Judge Cant yesterday afternoon signed an order directed to Mayor Prince, the city commissioners and Chief of Police C. H. Troyer to appear before the district court next Saturday morning to show cause why a temporary injunction should not be issued restraining the local authorities from interfering with Sholund in the operation of his saloon at 101 East Michigan street. The notice was served last evening upon Attorney W. H. Gurnee, police prosecutor and special counsel for the city. Attorney Gurnee represented the city in the habeas corpus proceedings which were recently heard before Judge Cant, in which the court denied the writ seeking to secure the release of Henry Johnson, Sholund's bartender, who had been committed to the county jail.

Several weeks ago Charles Sholund was arrested in his saloon in company with John Nelson, part owner of a Superior street saloon, and two women said to be from Superior. Before Sholund was tried the council revoked his saloon license, although his attorneys begged that the commission postpone action until after his trial in police court. Upon the plea of Sholund's attorneys the state supreme court issued a writ of certiorari, which is an order directing that the records in the case be certified to the supreme court not later than April 7. A stay of proceedings was directed in the writ until that date.

As soon as the writ had been served upon the city officials the saloon was re-opened and is said to have done a thriving business the remainder of that afternoon and that night. The next morning Henry Johnson, Sholund's bartender, was arrested on a charge of selling liquor without a license. He was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs or spend the next thirty days in the county jail. Several days later the court vacated the stay of proceedings and a commitment was issued for Johnson. As soon as this was done the saloon keeper's lawyers endeavored to secure Johnson's release on a writ of habeas corpus, which was denied. In the meantime Johnson has been at liberty on $100 bail.

In denying the writ Judge Cant suggested that the proper procedure to follow would be to cite the city officials to appear to show cause why a temporary injunction should not be issued and this is the course which has been followed.

MITCHELL WILL TALK OF COPPER STRIKE

Will Meet Committee That Was in Michigan at Washington.

Washington, March 19.—John Mitchell will testify before the house committee investigating the Michigan copper strike, early next week.

The committees which investigated both the Michigan and Colorado strike troubles will meet tomorrow, and the question of investigating the connection of John D. Rockefeller with the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, plans for investigating the books of that company, and of the Calumet & Hecla Copper Mining company will be considered.

INDICTED FOR MILL CITY SHOOTING CASE

Detroit Man Is Accused of Attacking Factory Foreman.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dennis F. Gorman of Detroit was today indicted by the Hennepin county grand jury, charged with shooting and wounding Joseph Bayerle, forman of a factory at which a strike is in progress. Gorman, who is a national organizer of the Upholsterers' union, is accused by Bayerle of shooting him as he was about to board a street car on Feb. 14.

200 ATTEND C. E. RALLY.

Duluth Societies Hold Quarterly Meeting at Union Church.

About 200 members of the Christian Endeavor societies of Duluth and vicinity were present at the quarterly rally held last night at the Union church.

The society of the Second Presbyterian church won the banner for obtaining the largest percentage of new members. Before the rally about seventy-five members partook of a banquet in the hall adjoining the auditorium. The banquet was prepared and served by the women of the Union church.

An address on the "Big Four of Christian Endeavor—Work: Confession of Christ, Loyalty to the Church, Fellowship and Service," was given by R. A. Walker of Indianapolis, general field secretary for Indiana Christian Endeavor societies. He has spoken in fifteen meetings of this sort in Minnesota and will remain in the state for several months.

DRINK CAUSES MAN TO FORGET NAME.

Mana Maki was so drunk when he was arrested last night that when his name was called by Jailor Johnson this morning, he had forgotten the name he gave and consequently failed to respond. After all the prisoners were called, Maki was the only one left, so he admitted he was the man. He pleaded guilty and drew a suspended sentence.

MOORHEAD FIGHTER IS KNOCKED OUT

Kid Kossick's First Experience of Kind; Lafe Safro the Victor.

Moorhead, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Kid Kossick, a local fighter, was knocked out last night for the first time in his life. Lafe Safro of Minneapolis turned the trick. They had boxed two draws in former years. Last night they met here under a private arrangement for a side bet.

Things were about even in the first round, but in the second, Safro got Kossick early with a right cross and dropped him three times for the count of nine and then for keeps.

Kossick has fought Freddy Welsh and also has had bouts with several of the Canadian cracks. He hopes to get another chance at Safro and may endeavor to get on before one of the Wisconsin clubs.

MONEY IS DEPOSITED.

Necessary Condition for Aero Race Is Filled.

New York, March 19.—The condition upon which the Aero Club of America is understood to be willing to give its sanction to the proposed "around the world" air race beginning at the Panama-Pacific exposition, namely the deposit in a bank of $150,000 in prize money, has been fulfilled, it was announced here today by Arnold Kruckman, manager of the exposition's bureau of aeronautics.

Mr. Kuckman said he received a telegram today from Charles C. Moore, president of the Pacific Aero club, stating that the money had been deposited with the Anglo and London-Paris National bank of San Francisco.

Retains Her Title.

New York, March 19.—Miss Marie Wagner of New York retained her title as national woman indoor tennis champion today by defeating Mrs. C. N. Heard of Chicago, former Western champion, in the final round of the tournament. The scores were 6-1, 2-6, 6-2.

Seaton Is Mutineer.

Chicago, March 19.—"Mutiny" among the Brooklyn Federals was reported today in a special from the Chicago Federals' camp at Shreveport. The dispatch said Tom Seaton, one of the league's star pitchers, had been ordered to report to the Brooklyn club's camp at Columbia, S. C., but Seaton refused to leave the Chicago camp, and insisted that he would play with Tinker's team instead of Brooklyn.

To Enjoin Killifer.

Chicago, March 19. — The Federal league's injunction suit against Catcher Killifer probably will be filed at Grand Rapids tomorrow, according to E. E. Gates, member of the Indianapolis club and legal adviser of the league, who reached Chicago today.

SNOW IN TENNESSEE AND IN OKLAHOMA

Alabama, Texas and Arkansas Also Feel Late Winter.

Nashville, Tenn., March 19.—Snow began falling early today and reports indicate a light fall over a large portion of Tennessee and in some parts of Alabama. If cold weather continues for a day or two, it is feared the peach crop will be seriously damaged.

Fear for Texas Fruit.

Guthrie, Okla., March 19.—Snow and rain, accompanied by a biting wind from the northwest, was reported today from various sections of Oklahoma, Central and West Texas and Arkansas. The snowfall was one of the latest on record in Central Texas. With predictions of colder weather for tonight, great fear was felt in Texas for fruit trees and gardens, which are well advanced.

GRAFTON, N. D., MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

James Johnson Drinks Carbolic Acid in East Grand Forks Saloon.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—After drinking half a bottle of beer in a local saloon yesterday afternoon James E. Johnson of Grafton, N. D., who was formerly in business in Winnipeg, Man., swallowed four ounces of carbolic acid and died in ten minutes, despite efforts of bystanders to save him. It is said he made a similar attempt upon his life two days previously, but the poison was taken from him. He was a pioneer of Walsh county, N. D.

NORTH DAKOTA SUFFRAGE RALLY

Fargo, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A big suffragette rally will be held in Fargo May 2, and a committee of the leading workers for the movement in this state will meet here Sunday and Monday with Crystal Eastman Benedict of New York to complete arrangements for the May celebration. It is planned to have a speaker of national prominence in attendance and there will be leading women of the state on the program.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put. Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it turns the fats sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepares it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Boyce drug store and other leading druggists in Duluth and vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

NEW RATES SUSPENDED

Interstate Commission Objects to Proposed Twin City-Duluth Tariffs.

Claim Made That Cashman Tariff Can't Apply Here.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 19.—The interstate commerce commission today suspended proposed changes in rates on freight moving between Duluth and Superior and the Twin Cities from March 25 to July 16.

The effect of this order will be that the commission will make a thorough investigation of the reasonableness of the Cashman distance tariffs, which the Minnesota roads proposed should be applied to traffic between the Head of the Lakes and the Twin Cities from next Wednesday. While the movement of freight from Duluth to the Twin Cities apparently is a strictly state movement, the rates on this freight come under the jurisdiction of the commission because practically all of it moves for a short distance in Wisconsin and therefore is interstate commerce.

The commission decided to suspend the proposed new rates after hearing arguments by Representative Miller and Senator Clapp, who claimed that the Cashman distance rates are 40 per cent higher than the present interstate rates.

NEW MILWAUKEE AGENT ARRIVES

C. H. Mitchell Assumes Duties as Successor of C. L. Kennedy.

C. H. Mitchell is the successor to C. L. Kennedy, former commercial agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul in Duluth. Mr. Mitchell reached here yesterday and assumed his new duties today.

Before coming to Duluth Mr. Mitchell was the commercial agent of the Milwaukee at Buffalo. As the Duluth territory yields about ten times more business than the Buffalo territory, the transfer of Mr. Mitchell to his new position is considered in the light of a promotion.

"This town looks pretty good to me," said Mr. Mitchell. "I know that our line is going to do a large amount of business here because of the amount of tonnage we have hauled in the past. You will be surprised when I tell you that the Duluth territory gives the Milwaukee about ten times more business than the Buffalo territory. You know we consider that we have our own line here, though the company does not own the rails. We have our own running rights and consider ourselves in the strict sense of the word a local line.

"Connected directly with Duluth and the contiguous territory we consider this traffic point one of the most important Milwaukee freight distributing centers. I might say that like other railroad officials, the Milwaukee people have abundant faith in the future of Duluth. Our business has been on the increase and with the advantages that Duluth has received in the way of traffic concessions, the business should increase greatly in the future."

Before going to Buffalo Mr. Mitchell was with the Milwaukee road in New York city. He comes to Duluth with a fine record as a railroad man.

RAILROAD NOT BLAMED.

Coroner's Jury Renders Verdict in Mendota, Minn., Wreck.

St. Paul, Minn., March 19.—The coroner's jury which held an inquest into the cause of the wreck at Mendota, Minn., last Saturday night in which one woman was killed and fifty other passengers injured, returned a verdict freeing the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad of all blame in connection with the wreck. The jury decided the wreck was due to a pin in a switch rod "which became loosened by daily vibration of trains running over the switch, or was removed by persons unknown."

R. R. FORWARD & CO'S

Big Furniture Sale to Continue Only a Few Days.

The greatest furniture sale in the history of Duluth is now in progress at R. R. Forward & Co.'s, 202-204 East Superior street. This sale will continue only a few more days. Great interest is being shown at this sale by hundreds who attend daily and the liberal discounts offered on high grade furniture has brought many people from surrounding towns who doubtless will never have an opportunity again of securing such bargains. Young people contemplating furnishing a home will find plenty of bargains on every one of the five floors. * * *

CROSBY MAN HELD UP BUT ESCAPES.

Crosby, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Samuel Wombolt, an automobile dealer, was held up early yesterday morning. Mr. Wombolt after returning from a trip to Deerwood went to the garage to put his machine up for the night and after coming out and locking up was attacked by three unknown men. One of these men flashed a pistol in the face of Wolbolt and commanded him to throw up his hands. It being a very dark spot where the holdup occurred the amateur ruffians got into a fight amongst themselves and Wombolt escaped uninjured. The police were notified and a search for the men followed but as yet no trace of the holdups has been found.

Delicate Children

M'GOVERN WILL SPEAK HERE

Governor Will Talk to Duluth Association of Office Men.

The Duluth Association of Office Men has planned two gatherings for the near future, at one of which their guest of honor will be Governor Francis E. McGovern of Wisconsin. That will be at a luncheon to be given on Tuesday, April 2, at the Commercial club.

The other affair will be at the regular monthly dinner, which will take place next Tuesday evening. On that occasion G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Commercial club, will give an address on "Duluth's Transportation Situation," Senator James P. Boyle of Virginia and a candidate for congress, will speak on "Social Legislation," and Dr. Raymond V. Phelan of the university extension faculty will speak.

BULL MOOSER SPEAKS.

Judge Fitzgerald of New York Tells North Dakotans How to Vote.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge J. J. Fitzgerald of New York city, opening the Bull Moose campaign in North Dakota here last night, maintained that the third party movement was growing in force throughout the nation.

Judge Fitzgerald used the Republican stand on the Canadian reciprocity pact, and the Democratic stand on the tariff, as arguments why North Dakotans should belong to the Progressive party, he maintaining that the Bull Moosers were the only party providing the scheme of legislation covering the tariff that meets with the approval of this state.

SHERIFF EXONERATED.

Governor Eberhart Dismisses Charges Against McLeod County Official.

St. Paul, Minn., March 19.—Sheriff Frank Klaus of McLeod county was exonerated by Governor A. O. Eberhart yesterday of charges of neglect of duty in connection with a Sunday picnic at Lester Prairie on Sept. 14, 1913, at which liquors were sold. A clergyman complained to the governor in advance that liquor was to be sold and Governor Eberhart notified Sheriff Klaus. He went to the picnic, saw no evidence of liquor selling and left. Then it was the liquor was sold. "While it is now apparent that he should have stayed," said the findings of the governor, "there is not sufficient evidence of wrong intent or malfesance to warrant removal.

POWDER PLANT GONE.

Smoke From $20,000 Explosion Excites St. Louis People.

St. Louis, Mo., March 19.—An explosion at the Equitable Powder company's plant at Alton, Ill., last night, shook territory in Illinois within a radius of 100 miles. Henry Miller, night watchman at the plant, is believed to have been killed.

At 9:30 o'clock a dense smoke, carrying a strong odor of burning gunpowder, settled over this city, thirty miles from the scene of the explosion. It had taken the black cloud three hours to travel diagonally across the river. The smoke created much excitement among theater-going crowds down town, as they were unaware of its cause. Recalling the Missouri Athletic club disaster and numerous other big midnight fires which have occurred in St. Louis in the last few weeks, people rushed from one street to another in search of what was thought to be a new fire. The smoke covered the city for about fifteen minutes and then passed southward.

The explosion occurred in the glazing plant of the powder company, and left only a deep hole in the ground on the spot where the building stood. Nine tons of black powder went up in one blast at a cost to the company of more than $20,000, including the loss of the building.

STARCH BATHS FOR FATIGUE.

New York Times: Starch baths are the latest "cure," having been introduced from Paris. A society woman who is recommending her friends to try this latest idea describes the manner in which the baths should be taken. She says:

"All you have to do is to buy a pound of ordinary pure starch from your grocer. Then dissolve the starch in a saucepanful of hot water and pour the solution into a well-filled bath of water at a temperature of 95 to 89 deg, but not exceeding blood heat. Then to take the cure lie down flat in the bath—with all but the face and hair immersed—and remain there for at least twenty minutes. No more hot water must be added, or the beneficial effect will be considerably marred. Paris is raving over the stimulating effects of such baths, which impart to the flesh a feeling as though one had bathed in rich cream. A starch bath is restful and soothing to the nerves and leaves a delightful sense of exhilaration for several hours afterward. If you feel limp or washed-out, the starch bath will make up your condition as the laundress does the crumpled shirt. The bath is best taken before breakfast or before dressing for dinner."

A London doctor said that he quite believed that starch would have a soothing effect upon the skin—just as powder had. He added that there probably would be some danger of catching cold if a full half hour were spent in water of such reduced temperature.

WHY MEN GET BALD.

London Mail: Too much haircutting was suggested as a cause of baldness by Dr. F. H. Barendt, a skin specialist of Liverpool, at a sectional meeting of the British Medical conference at Brighton.

"Why is it there are so many bald men and so few bald women?" he asked. "I believe it is because men will not let their hair grow to a proper length. The average man wears his hair about an inch long, whereas it should be at least thirteen or fourteen inches."

Dr. Barendt afterward explained that he considered nature was affronted by frequent cutting of hair. "If it is not allowed to grow to the len. I have mentioned it becomes dry and loses its strength, much in the same way that the muscles of the body become flabby and weak if they are not exercised."

Dr. David Walsh, a Harley street skin specialist, told the meeting that he considered the abnormal loss of hair on the head, as well as many skin diseases was largely associated with defective circulation of the blood. Loss of hair might often be taken as a sign of heart trouble. In support of this he found that out of thirty-six bald people he had examined twenty-four were suffering from valvular disease of the heart.

Criticising this theory of the association of baldness with heart disease, Dr. Alfred Eddowes mentioned the case of an extremely bald man who was one of the most powerful gymnasts he knew.

Of the 200 doctors at the conference nine were completely and eight partly bald. Of those seventeen twelve were of fair complexion, the rest being dark.

THE ONLY EXCUSE.

Oscar W. Underwood was talking in Birmingham about the high prices of men's clothes, which tariff reform will tend to reduce, according to the Age-Herald.

"I have heard," said Mr. Underwood, "that many a $25 suit contains only $5 or $3 worth of cloth. It is hard to see, if this is so, why such high prices should exist. The dealer, if brought to book, would probably have an answer like Mark Twain's sandwich vendor.

"Mark Twain, after paying a quarter for a wretched sandwich, said:

"'Why on earth have you charged me for this miserable thing ten times its real worth?'

"'Well, the fact is, boss,' the vendor replied, 'I need the money.'"

WILL BE TAME.

Washington Star: "Do you think your wife will be happy when she gets the vote?"

"I'm afraid she won't," replied Mr. Meekton. "Merely going to the polls and casting a ballot will seem pretty tame compared to organizing these great suffrage demonstrations."

Home Face Peeling Becomes Popular

No complexion treatment yet discovered seems to have become so generally and so immediately popular as the mercolized wax process. Evidently the reason is that this method actually gets rid of a bad complexion, which can hardly be said of any other. To temporarily hide or bleach the defective skin with cosmetics, cannot compare with the effect of literally removing the skin itself. Mercolized wax takes off the offending surface skin in flour-like particles, a little at a time, until there's none of it left. The new complexion thus produced exhibits a healthy glow and girlish beauty obtainable in no other way. This wax, which you can get at your druggist's, is applied at night in the same way you use cold cream, and washed off next morning.

Here is one thing that actually does remove wrinkles, remove them quickly, and at trifling cost: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pt. witch hazel. Use as a face bath.—Advertisement.

TELEPHONE WIRE TAPPED

Victor Gran Listened to Conversations Between His Wife and Heino.

Stenographic Reports Taken of What Was Heard on Wire.

A story of how he had intercepted, by means of a telephone tap, the messages of love which passed between his wife and his former business associate, of how after he had tricked his wife into believing that he had left the city he kept his ears for hours to a tap on his own telephone line a block away from his own home, and of how he kept himself informed of the clandestine relations of his wife and her alleged lover—this was the story related this morning in Judge Cant's division of the district court where Victor H. Gran, a local attorney, and his wife, Olga Gran, are both fighting for a divorce.

The divorce action was reached for trial yesterday. In view of the fact that the charge of adultery is involved both in Gran's accusation against his wife and in her cross bill against him, the issues on this point are being tried before a jury. Gran was called to the stand yesterday afternoon, after the drawing of the jury had been completed. His direct examination was concluded this morning by A. E. McManus and shortly before noon, Benjamin M. Goldberg, attorney for Mrs. Gran, launched into a rather extensive cross examination.

This morning, Gran related in considerable detail, how, by means of a telephone tap attached to the same wires which led into his own home, he and other witnesses, including his private stenographer, Frank Pelto, W. J. Signer, John Mattanen, John Sparr and O. J. Larson, a local attorney, had listened and recorded various conversations which had taken place between his wife and John R. Heino, a local attorney and a former business associate, a few days prior to the arrest of the pair in Heino's office, Sellwood building, on Jan. 31 last.

Telephone Taps.

The telephone taps, two in number, were placed in a grocery store, 730 East Third street, a block away from his home, Gran testified. Gran lives at 719 East Second street. He stated that the telephone in the grocery store was on that same party line that his own telephone was on. At the store, he installed two taps so arranged that one might eavesdrop on the wire and hear the click of the receiver when taken down at his own home.

The taps were installed on Jan. 19 last after Gran had suspected that the clandestine relations had been renewed between his wife and Heino for a second time in their married life. He had previously testified that he had once before suspected the pair and there had been trouble, which had been patched up after he had warned Heino to keep out of his affairs.

The first conversation testified to took place on Jan. 20, according to Gran. He described how he had listened for hours at the receiver daily waiting for the messages which passed between his wife and Heino. Mrs. Gran, he claimed, did the calling but always at the suggestion of Heino. He declared that she called on a regular schedule, 9 a. m., 1 p. m. and 6 o'clock in the evening, except such times as he (Gran) was home with her.

The conversation was related in detail.

One Conversation.

On Thursday, Jan. 29, Gran testified, Mrs. Gran called Melrose 2573, Heino's private room at the St. Louis hotel, at 8:22 a. m., and talked with Heino until 8:31 a. m. The conversation, he testified, was taken by a stenographer, and ran along as follows:

He—"Hello!"
She—"Hello!"
"Well, well, how are you today?"
"Well, I am able to get around."
"Are you alone?"
"I am."
"Hasn't the old man come yet?
"He has not."

She then talked about a party which she attended and about who was there, and then tells about doing some sewing.

She—"Listen to that boy hammer the piano."
He—"Is it the boy who is playing?"
"Yes."
"When is the old man coming back?"
"Today."
"Where has the old man really gone?"
"On the range, Grand Rapids, Bovey and home."
"I won a case yesterday."
"Against whom?"
"Railroad company. I forgot to ask you to pray that we win, but we won anyway. Are you well? Is there something you wish? Are you in need of anything? Don't you care for me any more? It seems to me so. Why don't you answer?"
"Yes, yes, I like you. I will call noon time. I must go now."

On Saturday, Jan. 31, a few hours before the arrest of Heino and Mrs. Gran, Gran testified that he and other witnesses heard the following conversation pass between the pair. She called at 12:46 p. m., according to his notes:

He—"Hello. Well, well."
She—"Yes."
"Are you coming to see me?"
"I don't know."
"Well, what is the matter now. Do come."
"Well, I guess I'll come."
"What time?"
"There about half past two, when there is not so many people downtown."
"Will you call me up?"
"Yes, from downtown."
"Will you be able to remain an hour.
"What?"
"Then can you stay longer."

Gran also testified that on the previous day, he had overheard a conversation in which Heino had induced Mrs. Gran to promise that she would visit his office the following day and told her that he would let his stenographer, "Lucy" off for the whole afternoon and that he would have a bottle of wine or champagne.

Yesterday afternoon, Gran testified of the trouble which had occurred between himself and his wife over Heino earlier in their married life. Mrs. Gran, he said, had been sick and a bouquet of roses and a basket of fruit had been sent to her room at the hospital. He suspected Heino, he said and later when both were in his presence warned him to keep away from Mrs. Gran.

"I told him that he should not send any clothing, flowers, candy or any presents whatever, nor liquor, to my house," he testified.

Maid's Story.

Gran testified that a servant girl in his home had during the year 1911 made accusations to Gran of his wife's relations with Heino. "The servant girl," he said, "said she had seen Mrs. Gran and Mr. Heino hugging and kissing."

"Did she say what time of day or night she saw them," said Attorney McManus.

"Quite late at night and every time I went out of town," he testified, "and also they were drinking there (Gran's home); they had mixed drinks in the evening up to midnight, and he stayed there quite late."

"How late?"

"If I remember right as late as 3 o'clock in the morning."

Gran stated that the disclosure on the part of the hired girl had led to an interview with Heino at the latter's office at which Mrs. Gran was also present. Both, he testified, professed their innocence of the charges made by the girl. "After they had made such positive denials of their guilt I believed them, and with the assistance of her brother, we reconciled," he testified.

He then related that the family relations had been satisfactory until up to July, 1913. He testified that during that month Mrs. Gran visited her home, about twenty miles from Marquette, Mich., and that later he learned that Heino made a trip to Marquette. "There were certain reasons," he said, "which gave me suspicion that he went there to see Mrs. Gran." Gran testified that he also went to Marquette and told her at that time that if she loved Heino and wanted him and wanted a divorce to tell him and they would separate in peace. She protested that she had not seen him, he testified.

He claimed that he next suspected his wife in December.

Masked Robber Gets $14,000 From Texas Train Robbery.

Beaumont, Tex., March 19.—After bundling the messenger, "Reb" Martin, into a gunny sack, a masked man robbed the express car attached to northbound Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe passenger train No. 202 of currency estimated to aggregate $14,000 and escaped from the train at the village of Helbig, twelve miles north of Beaumont.

Posses which went to Helbig from this city in automobiles, have found no trace of the bandit, who is believed to be hiding in the dense forest about the village.

G. A. Taft, general superintendent of the Wells-Fargo Express company, estimated the amount stolen at $14,000. The money was part of a shipment by a Houston lumber company to be used in paying employes at camps along the road.

Amended Figures on Proposed Lake Level Received in Duluth.

Maximum Level of Lake Superior Would Be 603.2 Feet.

F. B. Spelman, chairman of the committee on harbors and waterways of the Commercial club this morning received from Col. Patrick, United States engineer at Detroit, amended figures regarding the lake level possibilities, should the Michigan Northern Power company be permitted to dam the Soo river.

"Since getting the amended figures," said Mr. Spelman, "I no longer feel any apprehension as to damage because of unduly high water at this point. Concessions are being made to us and I believe that more will be made when the joint waterways commission meets in Washington on April 7. The first proposal was impossible, but at the Detroit meeting it was proposed by Col. Patrick to hold the lake level maximum at 603.6 feet. In the proposal which I received this morning 603.2 feet is the figure, a difference of slightly less than five inches. That is some concession and I believe that we will get more. The mean level in 1913 was about 602½ feet.

"I feel that we will win in the matter of the level but it seems to me that what Duluth and the other lake cities must look out for is the storing of water in October and November, which the Michigan Northern company is bound to want to do in order to provide itself with a good flowage during the succeeding dry months.

"And it may as well be understood that there is no proposition to put in wing dams, but to put a large dam right across the Soo river. This dam will be provided with fourteen sluice gates, through which the regulation of water will be operated."

POST-SEASON GAMES ARE ON

Northerns and Lakes Will Meet for Hockey Title.

The post season hockey series between the Northerns and the Lakes to decide the winner of the cup offered as the title for the champions of the year will be played after all.

A meeting of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league representatives was held early today, when it was decided that the three deciding games would be played, the first to be contested this evening at the Curling club rink.

As a result of the decision of the league officials there will be no game between the all-star amateur league players and the members of the crack Curling club team. The game was set for tonight, but will be canceled to permit of the start of the championship series.

In the three final games for the championship the winner of the games will be recognized as the winner of the championship of the year, despite the finish of the season. The Northerns led the race at its close, but the agreement as to the post season games was made early in the season, it is claimed by some of the officials of the league.

As the Northerns and Lakes are apparently very evenly matched, it is believed that the games will be very close and interesting.

EARNSHAW GIVES SOME GOOD ADVICE

Talks on Salesmanship to Class at Y. M. C. A. Night School.

Harry A. Earnshaw, manager of the cigar department at Stone-Ordean-Wells and editor of the house publication, "Ginger," addressed the Y. M. C. A. class in salesmanship last evening, taking "Salesmanship" for his subject. He was listened to with a great deal of interest and handled his subject well. In part he spoke as follows:

"The true salesman is the man who sells people what they want but do not want to want. The basis of a sale is confidence. Confidence cannot be established by giving the buyer a cigar, a drink of whisky, or a ticket to the theater. Friendship is a minus factor in modern selling. The most interesting thing about you to the man who is buying is what you have to sell. Know it, believe in it, and learn to talk it intelligently, logically, convincingly and with enthusiasm. The pessimist has no business in the selling game. The optimist is one who believes. If business is bad, shut up about it. You can't make it better by preaching panic and hard times.

"You must have imagination and enthusiasm. Froude was right only in a sense when he said that you can't dream yourself into a character. Achievements start with dreams. John A. Roebling dreamed the Brooklyn bridge before he started to build it. Dream dreams and then go out and work to make your dreams come true. Sales are first made in the heart of the salesman himself.

"Your most precious treasure is time. Don't waste it. Art is long and time is fleeting. We have so much to do and so little time to do it here on this earth. There's only one way to get big and that is to work hard. I'd rather have a green salesman who will work than a $10,000 'star' who is too strong to work. If you know it all, you will spend your spare time on trains and in hotels playing cards and pool and polishing the mahogany. If you don't know it all, you improve each shining moment. Knowledge is power, and sells goods.

"Polonius' advice to Laertes ought to be memorized by every salesman. I sometimes think Polonius must have been on the road in his younger days. Shakespeare himself indicated what he thought the most important thing:

"'This above all: To thine ownself be true,
And it must follow as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.'"

AFTER PEST HOUSE 'JAGS'

Complaints Say Bartenders Gave Whisky to Inmates.

"Jags" are tabooed at the city pesthouse. Complaints have been made to officials of the health department that one or two of the inmates plainly showed the effects of liquor. It is believed that friends left bottles for them in the yard.

The principal complaint was lodged against two bartenders, one of whom has since been discharged. From the report it seems that they imbibed freely. The superintendent is keeping a close watch to prevent any repetition of the occurrences. If he can secure sufficient evidence he will not only cause the arrest of the bartenders on a charge of being drunk, but he will also invoke the law against those who brought the whisky to them.

WHAT IT COSTS TO MAKE A THEATRICAL FAILURE.

In the American Magazine a well known theatrical manager writes an article in which he gives many interesting facts about the theatrical business. He gives the figures in connection with a number of famous, successes and failures and he tells as follows, precisely how much it cost to produce in New York a play that failed:

"By way of recapitulation I am going to print the actual settling account of a New York failure. This play was tried up-state for four performances, brought into New York the succeeding Monday and sent to the storehouse the following Saturday. It was written by an author of reputatian second to none, competently cast, substantially and attractively set and as economically handled as a play can be handled. The money employed was 'show money' and not 'outside money.' It easily could have cost two thousand dollars more than it did if the management had not been both expert and honest.

"It is the account not of an inflated but of a deflated theatrical experiment, and it shows what can be done. There was but one set, which saved considerable money. For less than five thousand dollars they gave every chance to a play they thought had a chance to win. And this was the result:

HE PASSED.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: Robert Thorpe, an old Missouri stage driver, who recently died in Texas, used to tell a story of how Anderson, the Jayhawker, got one of his recruits. The Anderson boys held up Thorpe's stage near Glasgow one day. Among the passengers was a raw-boned young Missourian who looked about as tough as the Jayhawkers themselves.

"Give me yer vala'bles," Anderson demanded of the youth as he went down the line.

"Ain't got none," answered the young squirrel hunter.

"Where ye goin'?"

"To jine Anderson's Jayhawkers."

The rebel leader sized him up a bit.

"Kin ye swim the Missoury river?" he asked him.

"Reckon so," the young man answered.

"Could ye kill a man?"

"Reckon so."

Anderson stepped forward and spat in the youngster's face. The youth bounded at the Jayhawker like a cat, caught him full in the face with a right swing and went down on top of him, kicking and clawing.

The Jayhawkers pulled the young demon off and their leader got up.

"You belong," he said. "Boys, give him a hawse."

LEARNING TO SPEAK CHINESE.

Springfield Republican: At the University of London recently a lecture was given by Doctor Jones on the pronunciation of Chinese, and in the course of his remarks the speaker explained that the difficulties of learning the pronunciation of Chinese, though real enough, have been rather exaggerated by those who have written on that subject. When treated phonetically the language becomes not much more difficult to learn than French or German.

The chief thing to remember is that the study of Chinese is a matter of singing rather than talking. Mr. Jones said. In English the variations in tone as we talk mean variation in expression. In Chinese variations in tone mean totally different words.

A little of the Chinese method is present, even in our own language, and the lecturer pointed out that the simple word "yes" may be so varied in tone as to mean "It is the case," "Of course it is the case," "It is really so," and "It may be so, but I'm not quite sure."

The student who wishes to learn good Chinese must familiarize himself perfectly with at least six tones. There is a seventh, but that may be more or less left out of account. According to the tone in which they are pronounced, there are words in Cantonese which have six separate and distinct meanings. The Chinese word "fan," for instance, may be so pronounced, or, rather, sung, as to mean six different words, and such widely different ones as sleep, powder and courageous.

USES FOR MEAT SKEWERS.

McCall's Magazine: Save the metal skewers the butcher puts in the roast beef. They are useful in a variety of ways in the kitchen. Of course, in preparing a meat roll or in trussing poultry they are immediately valuable. Use a skewer to fasten the unused slices of bread back to the loaf after a meal; they will keep moist, and the breadbox will not be constantly full of dry scraps. An orange or grapefruit which has been cut in halves and left can be kept from drying in the same way. Tie a string to the skewer, and after fastening the other end of the cord to a washcloth, drop it down the slender icebox pipe when cleaning the refrigerator. Probe corners and cracks with a skewer when cleaning house. Use one for getting out nut meats or crab flakes. Oysters wrapped in bacon and strung on skewers are delicious broiled—"pigs in blankets," our grandmothers called them. The Turkish restaurants serve "Shish Kebab," or bits of lamb from the shoulder, broiled on skewers after being seasoned with salt, pepper and onion juice. Any cook will find half a dozen similar ways of using her skewers.

SAYS "SINGLE TAX IS JUSTICE"

Holders of Large Fortunes and Big Landlords Would Be Made to Pay a Larger and Fairer Proportion of General Taxes.

From "The Case for the Single Tax," by F. W. Garrison in the Atlantic Monthly: A generation has now passed since Henry George infused new life into the dry bones of political economy by writings which, if slow to win acceptance in the universities, made an immediate and profound impression upon the popular mind. Whatever may be thought of the single tax doctrine—whether it be regarded as the key to industrial freedom or as the worst of heresies—the multiplication of its adherents, and its progress in actual legislation, have removed it from the realm of questions purely academic and make pertinent a restatement of its aims and accomplishments.

Briefly stated, the single tax is a method of raising money for the necessary expenses of government by taking the rent, or the annual yield of land values, alone, abolishing all other forms of taxation, direct or indirect. It may be described as government without taxation, for, if the Georgian contention is true, the rent of land belongs not to the individual who would be required to surrender it, but to the community as a whole.

Franchises Are Land Values.

Greatly concentrated land values are to be found in railway franchises and exclusive rights of way for telephone, telegraph, pipelines and so forth, in docks, the control of water power sites, oil, gas and mineral deposits. The annual mineral output of the United States amounts to $2,069,289,196, according to the United States Geological Survey for 1908. Frederic C. Howe points out that a royalty of 25 per cent on this natural monopoly alone would yield $517,322,299, or almost as much as the sum collected through the customs and internal revenue. It is estimated that the ownership and control by the railways of the anthracite coal deposits in Pennsylvania makes it possible to take from the consumer from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 a year above a reasonable cost of producing the yearly output. The stupendous income from natural monopoly, now absorbed by private interests, can be easily imagined.

As land values fluctuate in precise agreement with social development, there are losses as well as gains to be taken into consideration. When Edward I massacred the inhabitants of Berwick, "the greatest merchant city of Northern Britan sank from that time into a petty seaport." Every one is familiar with the ups and downs of special localities in our modern cities.

But it remains true that, taking a community as a whole, so long as it is developing and evolving a higher state of civilization, so long will the land continue to yield an increasing rent. We are not here concerned with the landlord as a laborer or capitalist. He may improve his land by building offices or factories upon it, and for their use receive what is commonly called rent, but only that part of the sum which represents desirability of situation is rent in the economic sense.

Are Returns a Reward of Skill?

It may be urged that the returns which the landlord receives in the shape of rent are the rewards of skill and foresight in investment, and that great rewards are only fair where the chances of failure are great. And we are often told that if society takes the increase of value on land, it ought to make good the decrease of value which is a kindred phenomenon. Single Taxers believe that speculation in land is as inexcusable as speculation in air or light would be, and, indeed, it involves them both. Speculation will cease as soon as the landlord is obliged to turn over to the public treasury the full economic rent, a sum which will vary with the varying fortunes of the locality. At the same time he will reap the full reward of his industry and not be mulcted by taxation, as at present. Withholding land from use, in anticipation of increased values, leads to the intolerable trinity of idle land, idle rich and idle poor.

Unearned Increment Is the Public's.

Mill gave the name of "unearned increment" to the increase of value which normally accrues to the land in every growing community, as it is not earned by the landlords into whose pockets society permits it to be diverted. Manhattan Island was bought from the Indians for $28, and the land of New York city is now valued at more than $3,500,000,000. The phenomenal increase in land values is daily reported in the columns of the newspapers. Joseph Fels, an ardent disciple of Henry George, offers a personal, if modest, example. A few years ago he bought eleven and one-half acres of land in West Philadelphia for $37,500. The city moved in that direction and 3,000 houses were built in the vicinity. As a result, and without improving his property, Mr. Fels saw its value leap in successive stages to $125,000. He does not, however, pretend that this growing value is justly his, or due to his skill or foresight.

"The unearned increment," he says, "in justice and right belongs not to me, but to the community. I have done nothing to make that value. My part has been to hold the land out of best use. Yet the profit is mine legally, and I have some consolation from the thought that I intend to expend it in such a way that conditions may be changed, to the end that neither I nor any other man shall have the power to make money out of the work and sweat of others. I shall do my part in this work by devoting money and efforts to disseminating the truth concerning what some of our opponents speak of slightingly as 'the single tax,' which some refer to lovingly as the economic philosophy of Henry George and which I call plain justice." * * *

Rockefeller Gives Our Money.

The well-to-do make a great outcry over double taxation, and rightly, but few concern themselves with the multiple taxation of the poor. For it is upon the poor that the bulk of taxation falls, the rich having ways of shifting a large part of the burden upon those beneath. A tax has been likened to a hot copper which is quickly passed from one hand to another until it reaches the last man in the line, who gets burned. Thomas G. Shearman estimated that "taxes are so arranged as to take from the poorer classes 75 to 80 per cent of their annual earnings while exacting from the rich only 3 to 10 per cent." When Mr. Rockefeller gives $10,000,000 to Chicago university he is the ostensible donor; the real contributors are the unknown thousands who must pay tribute to Mr. Rockefeller on account of his monopolies as gigantic landlord and tariff beneficiary. "As the laws are today," says Lawson Purdy, "no wealthy man, who has legal advice, need pay any direct taxes on personal property." Those who cannot hide or afford expert legal services must pay.

It is not uncommon to hear persons who admit the force of the abstract argument declare that private monopoly in land has been sanctioned so long by custom that to abolish it would lead to unwarranted confiscation. They point to the fact that many innocent persons have invested in land at the high prices which a monopoly system creates, and they demand compensation for the vested interest attacked. The same arguments that served in the agitation over slavery are heard again, and England's compensation of slave owners is held up for our admiration. The fact is that in the case of land monopoly, as in that of slavery, there are conflicting demands to be settled. Nobody suggested that the slaves be compensated for their loss of wages, and no one today suggests that the people whose substance has flowed so long into the landlord's coffers be compensated for their arrears of tribute. But may they not as justly seek compensation as those whom it is proposed to deprive of their monopoly?

SHE GAVE IT AWAY.

Kansas City Journal: A woman wants to get rid of her husband's old clothes in the spring, and he wants to save about five suits in case he goes fishing.

He never goes fishing, but he hates to part with his old clothes.

Mr. and Mrs. Wombat were having the annual battle.

"I think I'll give away this old suit, dear. It's seven years old."

"But I might want to wear that suit to go fishing in."

"Not this suit. This is a dress suit, dear."

GOT HIS NUMBER.

Detroit Free Press: "I'm sorry to tell you, mum, that I'll be leaving you next week. I'm going to get married."

That's so, Emma? Who is the lucky man?"

"He's a policeman, mum. On this beat, too."

"That's fine. I wish you joy. And what is his name?"

"I don't know yet, mum; but his number is 518."

LOCAL DRUGGIST MAKES MANY FRIENDS

W. A. Abbett, druggist, 205 West Superior street, reports they are making many friends through the QUICK benefit which Duluth people receive from the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka. This remedy became famous by curing appendicitis and it is the most thorough bowel cleanser known, acting on BOTH the lower and upper bowel. JUST ONE DOSE of Adler-i-ka relieves constipation and gas on the stomach almost IMMEDIATELY.

WANTS COOK TO END TERM

Miller Will Not Fight McEwen After That Time.

Says He Is Sure Duluth Postmaster Was Cleared of Blame.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 19.—Representative Miller made it plain today that he will not carry his fight against the confirmation of W. E. McEwen as postmaster at Duluth beyond next June. He said his effort now is to have Postmaster Cook remain in charge of the Duluth postoffice until the expiration of his four years' term, as stated in these dispatches yesterday.

Mr. Miller believes that Mr. Cook's removal has been decided upon by the postmaster general for political reasons. He contends that the inspectors who recently investigated the office exonerated Mr. Cook completely, and therefore he should be permitted to serve out his four-year term. If he succeeds in retaining Mr. Cook for the next three months, Mr. Miller will offer no objection to the confirmation of Mr. McEwen.

CHISHOLM MAN STARTS CONTEST

Defeated Candidate for Mayor Says He Did Not Get Fair Deal.

Henry Fugere, defeated candidate for the office of president of the village of Chisholm, yesterday afternoon, through his attorneys, O. J. Larson and Neil J. Beaton, filed in district court an appeal from the election canvass.

The election was held at Chisholm, March 10. The canvass gave Joseph Austin 399 votes and Fugere 371, and Austin was declared elected.

Fugere claims in his contest papers that he received more votes than Austin, and that some of the votes cast for him were not counted, while illegal votes cast for his opponent were admitted, and that the total number of votes cast for him were not canvassed by the village council.

FORM NEW CLUB.

Boys at Central High School Plan Study of Agriculture.

A meeting of a number of the agricultural students yesterday afternoon, called for the purpose of planning special work in live stock judging, resulting in taking preliminary steps toward the organization of a high school agricultural club. Membership will consist of those high school boys who are especially interested in some phase of agriculture. Twenty-four names were taken yesterday, with prospects for a large membership.

A committee on constitution, to report at the first regular meeting next Tuesday afternoon, was appointed as follows: Gilbert Denfeld, Carl Olson and Chauncey Larsen. Election of officers will occur at the meeting for permanent organization.

Proposed lines of work for the club are as follows:

Live stock judging.
Cow testing and record keeping.
Field practicums to supplement class work.
Excursions for inspecting successful farms, etc.
Experiments with established and new crops.
Programs with debates and discussions on agricultural topics.
The establishment of an agricultural reading room.
Lectures by prominent agriculturists.
Entertainments under the auspices of the club.

These boys are interested in agriculture for more than mere credit toward graduation. One of the boys expressed it, "I want to get all I can out of it." They realize that modern agriculture is more than "book farming."

Superior

NEWSPAPER MAN AND MAYOR FIGHT

Konkel Calls Buchanan "a Liar" and Blows Follow.

Mayor J. S. Konkel and Sidney Buchanan, the latter manager of the Superior Telegram, came to blows following a dispute at the Commercial club last night. The trouble started shortly after Mayor Konkel had entered the room where Mr. Buchanan had been discussing articles published by the paper regarding the administration.

The mayor had resented the articles and declared that the articles had been inspired because of a desire to boost the paper's circulation by catering to sensationalism and said Mr. Buchanan was "a cur" if such was the basis of the attack. The conversation grew more bitter and Mayor Konkel is said to have called Buchanan a liar.

"You can't call me a liar," said Buchanan and struck the mayor in the face with his fist. The mayor is said to have reached for a cuspidor to throw at his assailant but was prevented by others who interceded. Buchanan later is said to have apologized but Mayor Konkel is said to have refused the overture.

DULUTH IS NOT A GRETNA GREEN

Douglas county applicants for marriage licenses in St. Louis county are not as numerous as one would be led to believe if credence was given to a story published in a morning paper today. In fact, the 300 couples mentioned as "eloping" across the bay since Jan. 1, 1914, have dwindled to thirteen when the official records of the clerk of courts are scanned.

This number falls short of the same period for 1913. For 1913, between Jan. 1 and March 19, there were fourteen licenses granted to couples from Superior or Douglas county. The amount received by the St. Louis county clerk of courts is said also to have been only $26 instead of the $675 mentioned in the morning paper, each applicant paying $2 for the license, and later the minister performing the ceremony paying the other 25-cent fee mentioned.

HOT LARD CAUSES FIRE IN KITCHEN.

Boiling lard, which was being used for making French fried potatoes, caught fire while Mrs. August Cole, 142 East First street, was preparing supper last night and set fire to the kitchen, doing $10 damage. Mrs. Cole had attempted to put it out by throwing water on it, but this only served to scatter it about the room. The blaze was confined principally to the kitchen. Mrs. Cole sustained some slight burns from the boiling lard.

Voters Set Record.

The checking up of the registration for Tuesday showed that 5,439 voters registered in the city. The heavy registration on the first day indicates, say prominent politicians, that the vote will not only be the heaviest in the history of a primary election but also in any spring election held in the city.

Consider Paving Bids.

Bids are being considered this afternoon by the city commission for the paving of Tower avenue from Sixteenth to Twenty-eighth street. The paving will conform with that laid a year ago on Tower avenue between Third and Sixteenth streets. Tomorrow bids will be received for the paving of Ogden avenue from Third street to Belknap streets.

Indicts Ninety-Seven.

The Federal grand jury, which has been in session for several days, yesterday afternoon brought in secret indictments for ninety-seven persons, and warrants for their arrest have been placed in the hands of the sheriff. The bills are said to be principally against men who have violated the law regarding the sale of liquor to Indians. It is also rumored that two of the indictments were against persons who have violated the Mann white slave act.

DE KNIGHT REFUSES TO PRODUCE PAPERS

Brings Temporary Halt to Canal Bill Lobby Inquiry.

Washington, March 19.—Refusal of Clarence W. De Knight, on advice of counsel, to submit to the senate lobby investigating committee, papers demanded in connection with the inquiry into De Knight's alleged activities as a lobbyist, brought a temporary halt yesterday in the proceedings of the committee.

Former Rear Admiral F. T. Bowles, president of the Fore River Shipbuilding company, was examined with relation to his efforts to prevent exclusion of railroad-owned ships from the use of the Panama canal. Mr. Bowles admitted that he had engaged De Knight to work for him against railroad-owned ship exclusion during the pendency of the Panama canal act before the senate committee, and that he had paid De Knight $1,000. A contingent fee of $4,000 was not paid or demanded, he said, because the exclusion clause finally was incorporated in the act.

Tells of Old Charges.

Questioned by Chairman Overman, Mr. Bowles said that he resigned from the navy to accept private employment with shipbuilding interests, and that while naval constructor at the Brooklyn navy yard he had appraised shipbuilding plants for a private corporation, with the navy department's permission. He said he had seen intimations in the newspapers before he resigned from the navy that he had been in the employ of the so-called steamship trust.

The witness furnished the committee with correspondence relative to his activities. Several letters from De Knight were included in the correspondence, detailing the latter's dealings with Representative Knowland of California, and others with a view to preventing the exclusion of railroad-owned ships from the canal.

After Mr. Bowles had been excused, Henry E. Davis, counsel for De Knight, announced that he had advised his client not to testify nor produce papers concerning matters not now pending before congress, on the ground that the committee had no authority to investigate such matters. As several members were absent, the committee adjourned.

OBITUARY

William Patterson, a prominent Canadian statesman and manufacturer of Brantford, Ont., is dead.

George C. Crowther, former representative in congress from St. Joseph, Mo., died March 18.

William G. Young, managing editor of the Cedar Rapids Gazette and one of the most prominent newspaper men in Iowa, died at his home in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, March 19. He has been ill since last Sunday.

ITALIAN SCIENTIST BURNED TO DEATH

Naples, Italy, March 19.—Prof. Giuseppe Mercalli, director of the observatory on Mount Vesuvius, was found burned to death early today in his bedroom. The professor, who also occupied the chair of seismology at the University of Naples, retired to sleep at his usual hour. The cause of the fire is not known.

CONVICTS ARE TO BUILD REFORMATORY.

Waupun, Wis., March 19.—Twenty-five to sixty prison convicts will be employed in the construction of the new women's reformatory at Fond du Lac, according to arrangements completed by the board of control today. The number will be increased as the work progresses.

Lifer Has "Day Off."

Joliet, Ill., March 19.—Mathew Starliha, a life convict at the state penitentiary, who walked out of the prison gates yesterday morning, kept not more than thirty minutes ahead of a posse of guards all day, and was captured last night by George Clark, a railroad ticket agent, at Braceville, fifteen miles south of here. After a short tussle with Clark Starliha said he would return to the prison.

"I've had a day off anyway," he said. Clark tackled the convict when he approached and asked about trains to Chicago.

HULL HOUSE FOUNDER GETS TRIAL BY JURY

Miss Starr Is Accused of Resisting an Officer.

Chicago, March 19.—The trial of Miss Ellen Gates Starr, one of the founders of Hull House settlement and for many years a prominent philanthropist here, began here today on a charge of resisting a police officer. When Miss Starr was arrested for alleged participation in picketing by members of the Waitresses' union, who have attempted to boycott a downtown restaurant, she demanded a jury trial. The jury was completed today after several sessions of court had been spent in examining veniremen.

DULUTH "GOOD ENOUGH"

M. Zalk Optimistic Upon His Return From the East.

"Duluth is good enough for me; this city is in one of the most prosperous parts of the country," said M. Zalk, of the National Hardware and Supply company this morning.

Mr. Zalk has just returned from an extensive tour of the East and South and declares that the Zenith City looks better to him than any of the municipalities which he visited. He explained that he left here hoping to get into a milder climate for the benefit of his health, but he said that the weather which he encountered, if anything, was worse than here. Mr. Zalk is one of Duluth's optimists and he asserts that the dullness in other parts of the United States only serves to convince him more firmly than ever that Duluth is the best place in the country in which to live.

BRAINERD THIEVES ARE REPORTED BUSY.

Brainerd, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several cases of burglary and petty thieving have been reported of late. Mrs. Eva Brown of Northeast Brainerd lost a gold ring, a gold breast pin and $40 cash when thieves entered her home. A team of ponies was taken from the barn of James Gardner. The store of W. N. Holbrook was robbed of snuff, smoking tobacco and bon bons. The Henry Atkinson barber shop lost several razors. Sneak thieves entered the rooms of the dining room girls of the Ransford hotel and stole small amounts from each girl, ranging from $1 to $15, the total being $29. W. J. F. Miller's gasoline railroad car was taken from the East Brainerd blacksmith shop, the doors being broken into.

INQUIRING ABOUT PREFERENTIAL BALLOT

C. M. Cox, a member of the state senate of Massachusetts, has written Mayor Prince for information as to whether or not the preferential ballot has been a success in Duluth. He requests that the mayor tell him how it has worked out in this city. The preferential ballot was used in city elections for the first time about a year ago, when the campaign for the mayoralty and city commissionerships was being conducted.

THIEVES VISIT DEERWOOD STORE

Deerwood, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thieves entered the grocery and genral store of H. J. Hage and stole food and clothing. No clews of any value were found by Marshal Lamey, who traced a suspect as far as Iron Hub.

SMALLPOX VICTIM WALKS INTO CITY

R. C. Carroll of Western Canada walked into the health department this morning with an advanced case of smallpox. His face and hands plainly indicated the disease and he said that he had been walking about for several days. He was sent out to the city contagious hospital near the poor farm.

District Methodists Meet.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the Grand Forks District Methodist association convention will be held here tomorrow and Saturday. Rev. Edwin Starbuck of the University of Iowa will deliver a series of lectures under the provision of the Hazlett fund, supported by Wesley college.

The Methodist pastors attending will give their attention largely to the question of improving rural church conditions.

Barrows Home Burned.

Barrows, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The home of Emil Lind quickly burned to the ground, barely allowing the family and boarders to escape with their lives. Insurance of $200 on the furniture and $300 on the house was carried.

EGGS THAT CROAK.

London correspondence New York Sun: That young unhatched crocodiles utter an audible croaking cry within the eggs in which they are laid is averred by knowledge, and it adds the cry is so loud and distinct that it can be heard when the eggs are buried under one or two yards of sand.

Dr. W. A. Lamborn has recently tested the fact at Lagos, on the West African coast. He heard a croaking noise from below a dry path and, digging in the path to investigate the cause, he discovered thirteen crocodile's eggs at a depth of about eighteen inches. All the young crocodiles hatched out within half an hour of being dug up.

So far back as 1899 Dr. Voeltzkow noticed that unhatched Madagascar crocodiles uttered a cry from the egg at a depth of two yards and that any shock, as of a heavy tread near the eggs, caused the baby crocodiles to produce this sound "with the mouth closed, as we produce hiccough sounds." In this way they inform the female crocodile, when she visits the nest, that they want her aid, whereupon she scrapes the sand away and they emerge.

A BOY'S MOMENT OF FAME.

St. Nicholas: From the time he was 6, Walter Scott read ravenously; and it was through his wide reading that, when only 15, he became, for a few moments, the center of a group of learned men. It was when the Poet Burns visited Edinburgh, and had shown great interest in a picture of a soldier lying dead in the snow with a dog keeping patient watch beside him. Beneath the picture were some beautiful lines, but neither Burns nor any of those learned men knew their authors, until young Walter Scott, who happened to be present, whispered that they were by Langhorne. Then Burns turned to him with glowing eyes and said: "It is no common course of reading that has taught you this"; adding, to his friends, "This lad will be heard of yet."

How proud the lad felt! How wistfully joyful in the warmth of the great poet's praise; and then how suddenly forgotten when, only a few days later, Robert Burns passed him in the street without a glance! Scott's moment of fame had vanished.

THE BEAUTIFUL MOSQUITO.

St. Nicholas: Most people are familiar with the fact that a powdery or mealy substance comes from the wings of butterflies and moths when they are touched, or when they come against the clothing. On account of this, they are sometimes called millers, though the term is more frequently applied to moths. The naturalist has a long Latin name for them that means scaly wings, and so calls them the Lepidoptera.

Some other kinds of insects besides the Lepidoptera have interesting scales on both wings. This is especially true of the mosquito, which has a very beautiful arrangement of long, flat scales arranged in rows along the veins of the wings. Those of the butterfly are often of especially beautiful colors so arranged as to form exquisite patterns.

BUSINESS-MANAGING A CITY

By Isaac Marcosson in Collier's.

Less than twelve months ago the heart of the nation leaped in sympathy to flood-swept Dayton in her hour of travail; today the eyes of the country are turned on that once stricken area to watch a kindling spectacle of civic rebirth and reconstruction. Out of ruin has come leadership. Such is the resource and the resiliency of the American city.

The new year has brought to the whole American people no more cheering or significant gift perhaps than the example of the new form of strictly business government just instituted in the alert and undaunted city in the valley off the Miami.

Under the most radical of commission charters, providing for a city-manager administration, she leaps to the fore in the march of the municipality toward freedom and efficiency.

Another Distinct Step Forward.

Clearly to understand the peculiar importance which attaches to Dayton's position it is first necessary to refer briefly to the institution of commission government. Most people are familiar with the straight plan, born at Galveston, developed by Des Moines, and now employed by nearly 300 places. Its main features are the election of a non-partisan commission by the short ballot, the initiative, the referendum, and the recall; in short, an agency for real popular rule without the aid of political machinery.

Under this form each commissioner—and there are usually five—becomes head of one of the operating branches of city work.

But Dayton has taken a distinct and progressive step forward in the development of the whole commission idea, and because of this really apochal innovation, combined with the dramatic fight made for it, the procedure becomes invested with value for every kind of city government he happens to live.

Dayton was no better or no worse than the average city with the old-time elective mayor and council system. The hand of the "machine" lay heavy on the public service; city-hall inadequacy and greed knew no party line. The treasury was always empty; government was by deficit.

In ten years the public debt had grown from $26.37 per capita to $46.13. To obtain funds for street lighting during a single year meant the issue of bonds running for thirty. Similarly, bonds to pay for moderate street construction long outlived the highways. And so on down the familiar line of extravagance and mismanagement.

Then began a movement that, in the completeness of its organization, in the big drama that punctured its progress, and in the moral education that it carries for every other city struggling to be free, is almost without precedent. The approach to the Dayton charter was along the path of remarkable preparedness, and it is well worth explaining. It is the business prelude to a business era.

Along in the fall of 1912 the chamber of commerce, appalled by the failure of city government, appointed a committee headed by Leopold Rauh and including John H. Patterson, E. A. Deeds, Frederick H. Rike, and E. C. Harley—five representative business men with widely differing interests and experience—to investigate and recommend some new plan.

A Gospel by Word of Mouth.

They ranged over the whole commission field, noting its advantages; realizing its defects. They knew nothing about politics, but they were schooled in commerce. They saw the city as a sick business panting for a remedy. So they set about finding a cure.

The committee understood from long contact that all there was to the conduct of a corporation was to select the right kind of trained men and then to direct them. They reasoned that what was true of a big business was equally true of a community, whether large or small, and what was good for one was good for the other. If the city was to be run efficiently, then it was necessary to get an expert administrator and watch him from a non-partisan side line.

On a big sheet of paper these men of large business affairs ketched out a commission-manager plan that carried the Sumter scheme far beyond that first real vision of expert municipal conduct. It adapted the process to all the needs of a large municipality. When they showed it to a city expert he said: "It's ideal, but you cannot carry it out."

"Very well," was the reply. "We will fall with this ideal, but before we fail the people of this town will know what progressive government ought to be."

At that time scarcely a dozen persons in Dayton had ever heard of commission-manager rule. So the committee said: "If we are to break the old bondage, then we must first educate the people. Education lies at the root of all permanent progress."

A picturesque crusade, without red-fire trimmings but very earnest and intimate, was launched. The committee worked with small units. Little groups of men were asked in to lunch or conference and shown the chart of progress and then sent on their missionary way. By word of mouth—always the most effective publicity—the gospel of the proposed order was spread. Dayton is a group of smaller communities, each with some sort of civic club. They were enlisted and formed an endless chain of advocacy. Thus was the seed sown.

The New Civic Creed.

The idea of the small unit for education was kept up almost to the end. At all the meetings, then and thereafter, cards, on which the voters pledged themselves to the project, were circulated for signature. Typical sections of this new civic creed were:

"I want the commission to pick out for Dayton the best man that can be found anywhere for manager.

"I want this manager to be subject to recall and able to get one hundred cents' worth of service for every dollar expended."

What the Flood Did.

Then destiny took a hand in the charter campaign. In March the angry waters swept down the Miami valley inundating Dayton. When the muddy waters subsided, and even amid the stark desolation that such devastation leaves in its wake, the people turned resolutely to the twin task that confronted them. For now they would rebuild civically as well as physically. They knew what to demand, too. The brotherhood of the bread line, kindled amid common need and danger, found expression in a combined stand against the larger city peril.

With the mud and debris still clinging to their houses, the Daytonians circulated a petition for an election to determine the charter question. So admirably had the campaign done its work that over 3,000 signatures (more than enough) were secured overnight.

The charter election ordered had to be carried. But this could only be done with organized effort. At this point the spectacle of the reviving Dayton assumes heroic proportions. It was a situation that would have staggered everything but a dauntless optimism. Ninety thousand people had been compelled to leave their homes; the street car service was paralyzed; elevators in tall buildings were not running; the entire telephone system was out of order. The only way to reach men was by personal visit.

In May the people overwhelmingly declared for the city-manager form of government, and named fifteen drafters, headed by Mr. Patterson, all pledged to the manager system. Nothing had been left to whim or chance. The charter, prepared within thirty days because its essentials were understood before the election, thus preventing endless discussion and confusion afterward, as happened in Detroit and Columbus, was ratified by the same vote; so, too, with the choice of the five commissioners, George Shroyer, John R. Flotron, J. M. Switzer, A. I. Mendenhall and John McGee, who now sit in executive judgment on the destinies of Dayton. The solidity of this continued vote shows that public opinion, molded by education, does not readily change.

Choosing a City Manager.

The very personnel of the commission—upstanding men who stood shoulder to shoulder amid flood and famine—typifies the spirit of this new working democracy. Four are self-made merchants and the fifth a printer, who still works at the case.

The way they went about their first and most important task—the selection of a city manager—shows their appreciation of high responsibility. Their initial choice was Col. George W. Goethals, the master builder. They felt that he incarnated the ideal of what a city builder should be. When the news of the invitation to him became known the country suddenly awoke to the seriousness and the significance of this bloodless municipal revolution.

After many such meetings and a month's careful combing of the field, the commission selected Henry M. Waite of Cincinnati to take up the duties which will doubtless set a new mark in the conduct of the American city.

Mr. Waite is a trained engineer who has constructed and operated railroads, developed coal fields, and had big part in the actual operation of a metropolitan community. His most recent activity fits him peculiarly for the Dayton work, for he has been one of Mayor Hunt's chief aids in the physical rehabilitation of Cincinnati under the reform era which ended all too soon. He has built streets and sewers, handled large groups of men, and built up an organization that is a model. He knows building and he knows business. Big of bone, deep of chest, and keen of eye, he looks as if the terrific task of blazing a whole fresh city path would be bread and meat to him.

This stocky, spectacled man who now sits as city manager in the gray and weather-beaten city hall down on Main street in Dayton is in reality the general superintendent of a humming and far-flung corporation of 125,000 stockholders. It is up to him to produce the dividends of service.

How are these dividends to be earned? By the most businesslike system of city government yet devised for an important community in this country. The keynote is centralization of administrative authority. One man—the city manager—is head and front of city operation, and, what is more, he is responsible for it. He can appoint, discharge, and fix the salaries of all his immediate subordinates, including the heads of the five principal departments of law, finance, public safety, and public welfare. He can choose them wherever he pleases. Their one qualification must be training.

Why concentrate so much power in one man, you ask? Simply because business experience proves that centralization of authority in one man and the subsequent decentralization in his chief aids is the best formula for efficiency. The city manager can never usurp his power, because, like the commission, he is subject to recall.

The commission, therefore, sits as a legislative body. It decides what the community job is, and the city manager sees that it is done. For example, if a new street is to be built, the commission, certain that the improvement is needed, calls in the city manager and tells him what is to be done. He in turn summons the chief of the department of public service and gives the necessary instructions. If the work lags, the commission can jerk up the city manager. Thus responsibility is definitely fixed.

This is a big advance on the cumbersome old Federal councilmanic plan with its waste and delay on public work. Dayton has knocked the bottom out of the municipal "pork barrel."

Fool-and-Graft-Proof Methods.

The charter framers went on the theory that corrupt government is due more to the badness of methods than to the badness of men. Hence they devised complete methods of management, so specific that officials cannot go wrong even if they try. In brief, the methods are fool and graft proof. The city's financial record, old stamping ground of manipulation, is as simple as an elementary lesson in arithmetic.

The whole purpose of the financial system is to do two things—spend money scientifically and account for it scientifically. It is the adaptation of private science to public affairs.

You will be able to step into the city hall any time and find out just what the state of municipal finance is. There is a continuous audit of accounts. Dayton is now to have that rarest of municipal documents—an accessible balance sheet which, in the opinion of many experts, is more important to a community than a charter.

The budget is carefully guarded. Public hearings are held on the estimate before it can be enacted into law. The appropriation shall never exceed the estimated income.

Every check that system and ingenuity can devise is put on expenditure. No payroll is complete without a certified time sheet; city purchasing is centralized and made by competitive bids; service and compensation are standardized, thus insuring equal pay for equal work in all branches of city government.

TO RESCUE A LIVE WIRE VICTIM.

From "Boy Scouts of America:" For his own benefit and that of his comrades, the scout should know how to avoid accidents from electricity. The third rail is always dangerous, so do not touch it. Swinging wires of any kind may somewhere in their course be in contact with live wires, so they should not be touched.

A person in contact with a wire or rail carrying an electric current will transfer the current to the rescuer. Therefore he must not touch the unfortunate victim unless his own body is thoroughly insulated. The rescuer must act very promptly, for the danger to the person in contact is much increased the longer the electric current is allowed to pass through his body. If possible, the rescuer should insulate himself by covering his hands with a mackintosh, rubber sheeting, several thicknesses of silk or even dry cloth. In addition he should, if possible, complete his insulation by standing on a dry board, a thick piece of paper or even a dry coat. Rubber gloves and rubber shoes or boots are still safer, but they cannot usually be procured quickly.

If a live wire is under a person and the ground is dry, it will be perfectly safe to stand on the ground and pull him off the wire with the bare hands, care being taken to touch only his clothing, and this must not be wet.

A live wire lying on a patient may be flipped off with safety with a dry board or stick. In removing the live wire from the person, or the person from the wire, do this with one motion, as rocking him to and fro on the wire will increase shock and burn.

A live wire may be safely cut with an ax or hatchet with dry wooden handle. The electric current may be short circuited by dropping a crowbar or poker on the wire. This must be dropped on the side from which the current is coming and not on the farther side, as the latter will not short circuit the current before it has passed through the body of the person in contact. Drop the metal bar; do not place it on the wire or you will then be made a part of the short circuit and receive the current of electricity through your body.

SUCCESS AFTER WRONG START

Corliss, Cornell, Arkwright and Franklin Found Second Jobs Better Than First.

From "What Boys Have Done for the World," by George F. Stratton in St. Nicholas: It would be wonderfully interesting, and perhaps as wonderfully instructive, to know how much genius has been repressed by the necessity of following an uncongenial occupation for which the boy has been unfit. Corliss, the greatest improver of the steam engine since the days of Watt, was devoted to mechanics as a boy, but found himself placed in an office to learn bookkeeping, which he would not, or could not, do. Then he went into a wholesale grocery, but he utterly failed there also. Then, following his own bent, he became the greatest engine builder in the United States. Ezra Cornell, the founder of the university which bears his name, was apprenticed to his father, a potter, though he begged to be put into mechanics. But later he went into the work he loved, and accumulated wealth and honor. Richard Arkwright was "made" a barber, although in his boyhood he showed great mechanical understanding. Fortunately he formed the acquaintance of a clockmaker, got tools and metals, and invented the spinning jenny, one of the most intricate of machines, one which brought him wealth and a title. Benjamin Franklin was obliged to work with his father at tallow-chandlering until the insistent persuasions of an older brother obtained his release from that trade and an engagement with a printer.

Smeaton, one of the greatest of English engineers, was placed in a law office, which he detested. He dogsedly cut loose, put on overalls, and went into mechanical work, achieving the highest success and renown. Against their declinations, Stephen A. Douglas was apprenticed to a cabinet maker; Nathaniel P. Banks to a machinist, and James K. Polk to a merchant. Benjamin Harrison, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, was put to studying medicine, which he left to enter public life. All of them had to fight their way out of uncongenial and unsuitable employments in order to enter fields to which they, as boys, were strongly inclined, and in which they achieved honor for themselves and for their country.

RAIN WAS LIKE REDDISH MUD.

London Chronicle: Gibraltar—A curious phenomenon has been witnessed here.

Lurid coppery masses of cloud suddenly shrouded the sky over the rock and bay, after which a heavy shower of rain, the color of reddish mud, fell, leaving a pinkish stain in many parts of the town.

It is conjectured that a sandstorm in the neighboring African wilds had gathered the particles into the air, and that these meeting with the humid atmosphere round the rock and a drop in temperature, fell in rain.

A yellow rainstorm has since been experienced and the vessels arriving here report having noted the same phenomenon.

The inhabitants of Gibraltar depend upon rain water for drinking purposes and concern is expressed regarding the sediment in the tanks.

GOETHE WANTED NO ANIMALS.

Pall Mall Gazette: Goethe severed his connection with the Weimar theater owing to the appearance of an animal on the stage. For twenty-seven years he ruled there as a despotic director. "The director," he wrote to his chief assistant, "acts according to his own views and not in the least according to the demands of the public. Once for all, understand that the public must be controlled." When at length he forbade any expressions of approval or disapproval on the part of the public only the court and the Jena students continued to attend the theater.

The crash came when Duke Karl August invited an actor who had scored heavily with a performing poodle in "The Dog of Montargis" to play at Weimar. After the first rehearsal he declined to have anything more to do with a theater the boards of which had been desecrated by the presence of an animal.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS.
Council Chamber, Duluth, Minn., March 16, 1914.
Regular meeting.
Roll call.
Present — Commissioners Hicken, Merritt, Murchison, Voss, Mayor Prince—5.
Absent—None.

On motion of Commissioner Hicken the minutes of the meeting of March 9 were approved as published in pamphlet form on a vote by acclamation.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS AND OTHER COMMUNICATIONS.

George Angel, for permission to use areaway adjacent to the Ten-Cent store on Superior street and First avenue west for fruit stand.—Commissioner of Public Works.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS.
Council Chamber,
Duluth, Minn., March 17, 1914.
Regular meeting:
Roll call:
Present — Commissioners Murchison, Voss, Mayor Prince—3.
Absent—Commissioners Hicken, Merritt—2.

By Commissioner Voss:

Resolved, That the city treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to receive from the owner of lots 9, 10 and 11, block 3, Harrison's division and lots 9, 10 and 11, block 8, Idlewild division the amount of the original assessment levied against said lots for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Second street provided the same is paid within ten days from the date of the passage of this resolution.

Resolved further, That upon payment being made in accordance with the terms of this resolution the city treasurer is hereby directed to certify to the county auditor the fact of such payment.

Commissioner Voss moved the adoption of the resolution and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas — Commissioners Murchison, Voss, Mayor Prince—3.
Nays—None.
Passed March 17, 1914.
Approved March 18, 1914.

By Commissioner Murchison:

Whereas, During the season of 1912 a contract was entered into between the city of Duluth and George R. King, being contract No. 1343 for the paving and otherwise improving of Twenty-seventh avenue west from Michigan street to Fifth street, and

Whereas, An assessment according to benefits to defray the cost of said improvement was confirmed on the 24th day of February, 1914,

And whereas, It is claimed that the pavement laid pursuant to said contract was not laid in accordance with the specifications provided for in said contract in that the surface of said pavement was entirely defective.

And whereas, The owners of the property affected by said assessment are desirous of paying said assessment provided that said property owners can be protected in obtaining a pavement as provided for in said contract and specifications, and are willing to waive their rights to appeal provided they can be assured that the said pavement will be made to conform to said contract and specifications;

And whereas, It is desired by this council to collect said assessment for the use of the permanent revolving improvement fund;

Therefore, Be it resolved, that in consideration of the payment of said assessment by said property owners without appeal, the city of Duluth will cause said pavement to be repaired or otherwise replaced in whole or in part, in such a manner that said pavement will be in conformity with the said contract No. 1343 and specifications therein contained without unnecessary delay, and without any additional cost to said owners of property other than that covered by said assessment already confirmed.

Commissioner Murchison moved the adoption of the resolution and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas — Commissioners Murchison, Voss, Mayor Prince—3.
Nays—None.
Passed March 17, 1914.
Approved March 18, 1914.

By Mayor Prince:
AN ORDINANCE DECLARING THE EMISSION OF DENSE SMOKE WITHIN THE CITY OF DULUTH TO BE A PUBLIC NUISANCE, AND PROHIBITING THE SAME.
The City of Duluth does ordain:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person, persons or corporation, in the city of Duluth, owning, operating or in charge or control of any locomotive, steamboat, steamtug, steam roller, steam derrick, steam piledriver, kettle or other similar machine or contrivance, or of any building or premises, to cause or permit the emission of dense smoke within the city from the smoke stack or chimney of any such locomotive, steamboat, steamtug, steam roller, steam derrick, steam piledriver, kettle or other similar machine or contrivance, or from the smokestack or chimney of any building or premises so owned or controlled by or in charge of said person, persons or corporation, except for a period of six (6) minutes in any one (1) hour during which the firebox is being cleaned out or a new fire built therein.

Sec. 2. The emission of dense smoke within the city of Duluth in violation of the provisions of section 1 hereof is hereby declared to be a public nuisance and may be summarily abated;

Provided, however, that in the case of a first offense by any person or corporation against the provisions of this ordinance the smoke inspector shall forthwith give such person or corporation thirty (30) days' notice in writing to abate such nuisance; and provided further, however, that abatement shall not discharge the penalties provided for in section 3 hereof.

Sec. 3. Any person, persons or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of section 1 of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars ($100), or by imprisonment of not more than eighty-five (85) days.

Sec. 4. All ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Sec. 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force thirty days after its passage and publication.

SHARP BULGE AT THE CLOSE

Market Finishes Higher on Strength in the Coarse Grains.

Flaxseed Advances Again With Good Demand From Crushers' Interests.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 19.—The market bulged sharply at the close on strength in coarse grains. May wheat closed ½c up and July ½c up. May durum closed ¼c up and July ¼c up.

Oats closed ½c up at 37½c. Rye closed unchanged at 54@56c for the best grade. There was no market in barley.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 91½c and calls at 92¼c bid.

The wheat market held steady today in face of news of heavy snowfalls over Kansas, Nebraska, Eastern Missouri and Illinois. The cash demand furthermore was light, with a tendency commented on the part of the trade to await further developments in the winter crop situation before increasing committments.

While some Eastern demand was reported locally and business was put through, it was in comparaticely small volume.

New York exporters reported bids to be out of line and no advices came to hand of export trade having been worked at another point.

Liverpool closing cables were fractionally higher on dearer Argentine offers and expected small shipments from there this week.

A heavy business was put through in corn at Chicago, Kansas City and St. Louis and cash demand was insistent with offers very light. Corn options in Chicago were, however, fractionally easier.

Primary wheat receipts on the American markets were just 50,000 bu below those of last year. At Minneapolis receipts came to 230 cars or eight more than a year ago, and their stocks increased 125,000 bu in the five days. Duluth inspections came to 46 against 47 a year ago, and stocks in the local elevators showed an increase of 113,000 bu in four days.

The aggregate of all grains in the houses there is now 22,427,000 bu, an increase of 154,000 bu in four days.

May wheat opened unchanged at 92¼c and it weakened ½c up to the closing hour. The July option followed a similar course, opening unchanged at 93½c. May durum opened unchanged at 91c and held there. Only a few trades were put through.

Flaxseed Advances Again.

Following the lead of higher foreign markets, strength developed in flaxseed today. There was good demand from crushers throughout the session and some shorts went to cover. Trading was in small lots with only limited quantities of seed offered. Quotations closed 1¼c higher.

Buenos Aires closed 1⅞c up; Antwerp 1¼c up and London ¾c up.

May flax opened ⅜c up at $1.60¼ and it advanced 1¼c to a close of $1.61⅛. The July option opened ½c up at $1.62 and it closed 1¼c up in the day at $1.63 bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.40⅜ bid and July at $1.43½ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

"I think the situation in our spring wheat is working stronger all the time in spite of the bright promise in the winter wheat territory," said Stephen H. Jones this morning. "It must be remembered that our surplus stocks are very light and that they will have to last till next September. With the falling off in Argentine and Australian world's supplies are only moderate and it looks as if Europe will be compelled to come to this country more liberally for supplies before long."

* * *

The Minneapolis cash market was firmer with good demand. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 1⅜@2⅜c over May and velvet chaff at 1½@1¾c over May. There were some scattered flour sales. Mill feeds were still booming, bran selling at $25 per ton, which is the top price here in years. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 92⅝c to 93⅜c, and No. 2 northern at from 90⅝c to 91¾c.

* * *

Baker received the following wire from Liberal, Kan.: "Through Pratt, Kiowa, Clarke, Meade and Seward counties the wheat is in fine condition. There is more moisture than usual in the southwestern counties. Terrific dust storms raged today, but damage is unimportant to date. Wheat is too well rooted and matted to blow out."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The wheat market was under covering at opening with outside support being influenced by the fewer and dearer Plate offers and values were unchanged to ⅛d higher. Later the market further advanced. The forecast is for light Argentine shipments this week, and strength in corn together with dearer Argentine offers, helped the advance. The tendency in America to support new crop months is being noticed here. At 1:30 p. m. the market was unchanged to ⅛d higher.

Corn — Opened ⅛d higher with Americs and later March advanced ⅝d with shorts covering on the strength in spot and an urgent demand. July was under pressure of better weather in Argentine. At 1:30 p. m. prices were ⅛d to ¾d higher with March leading.

Broomhall's Argentine agent cabled yesterday that it had rained heavily in the north but had stopped and was then cloudy.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "Little activity is expected in the wheat market until there is a change in the news. Specialists said that the market would have had a good decline had it not been for the strength in corn, but others are looking for a revival in the export demand, as shown by the sale of 40,000 bu from Omaha yesterday and a better inquiry at New York. They believe the bears will be disappointed over the breaking of the dry weather in the Southwest.

"Sentiment on corn was so unanimously bullish last night that a number of conservative traders were inclined to look for a small setback, believing that the technical position in the market was much weakened by yesterday's sharp advance, but the best informed operators said they saw nothing weak in the situation and strongly advised buying in case of a break."

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Demand Not Heavy But Market Has Firm Tone All Day.

Absorption of Specialties Has Good Effect on General List.

New York, March 19.—Steadiness of the early market and the absence of outside selling orders prompted operations for the long account, and prices were advanced.

Reports from the steel trade told of decreasing new orders and the possibility of contraction of operations in some mills. These reports partially were offset by the favorable character of United States Steel's annual statement. The demand for stocks was not heavy, but at noon the general level showed a fractional improvement.

Bonds were irregular.

Lehigh Valley, which led yesterday's decline, reacted at the opening of the market today, gaining nearly a point. Seaboard preferred lost 1. Elsewhere changes were unusually narrow. The leading stocks were fairly active and the undertone was good.

Lethargic conditions prevailed in the early dealings, although the trend was definitely upward. Rather more interest was taken in some of the volatile industrials which were brought into prominence by active speculative operation.

Forced selling of the Rock Island stocks and collateral bonds established them at new low figures. The bonds were sold on fears that the May interest would be defaulted. Burlington joint 4s were bought extensively and rose a point to 98. Prices of important stocks ruled a trifle below the morning high figures.

Chronic weakness of Rock Island issues and a severe fall in express stocks did not impede confident buying of specialties. The Tobacco and Fertilizer stocks were marked up and the leaders betrayed renewed firmness.

The market closed firm. Absorption of specialties had a good effect on the general tone. Coal stocks hardened to their best figures.

CURLERS PLAY SOCIAL GAME

Superiorites Secure Slight Advantage in the Aggregate Score.

Armed with brooms and mackinaws, sixteen followers of the great Scot game of curling left West Duluth last evening at 7 o'clock to play a social game with a similar number at the Superior Curling club. The game was a social one in every way, even to the result, which was a tie as far as the number of games won or lost, but slightly in favor of the Superiorites in the aggregate score.

The Western Curling club was represented by the Brown, Quinn, Olson and McDonald rinks. Probably the most exciting game of the four was that played between Brown and Clough Gates, which resulted in the former winning by the narrow margin of one point, the score being 11 to 10. The winner of the grand aggregate in the recent bonspiel played an uphill game after the fifth head when Brown laid a five head, giving him that amount as a lead.

"Consolation" Quinn found an easy victim in playing against Worthman, whom he defeated by a score of 14 to 7. Olson, playing Summerville, claims that the members of his rink were busy all evening "hunting for the broom" and asserts that is the reason why he lost by a score of 12 to 6; while Kennethe McDonald, who never allows a man to lay a four head on him," let Miller lay one three, followed up by a four head in the two initial heads of the game, which he says resulted in his loss by a score of 14 to 8.

Finals will be played tonight in the Commercial club event between Wade and Zauft. These were to have been played last evening, but were postponed.

NEW STATION EXCITES COMMENT

C. N. Improvement Affords Ample Accommodations for West Duluth.

"What a funny depot! How are we ever going to get down?" Those and dozens of other expressions of a similar nature are daily heard at the new elevated station of the Canadian Northern railroad at Central and Grand avenues when strangers alight from trains at the depot. The elevated station is evidently a novelty to the "newly arrived" from Canada.

The expressions are usually met with "This way to the elevator" in the strentorian tones of Agent Brown and the elevator man, T. J. Campbell, and many times the two are called on to explain that the elevator is "perfectly safe" and that the "cage" will not drop too suddenly, and numerous other questions asked by people who are making their first visit to the larger cities.

The station has been opened only a short time but is proving popular with people who take trains to the northern part of the county or Canada. The depot is handsomely furnished and planned so that it will accommodate passenger business of the road for this end of the city for years to come.

On the ground floor is the main waiting room, ticket office and baggage and parcel room. The second floor is used exclusively by the railroad's engineering department, while the third floor is used exclusively as a large waiting room for passengers. Two elevators have been provided for the building, one for passengers and the other for baggage. Stairways on the outside of the building provide a means of escape in case of any number of passengers being caught in the building during a fire.

TWO ACQUITTED OF ROBBERY CHARGE.

Daniel Koruga, 25, and Mike Oblin, 22, were acquitted of the charge of highway robbery by a district court jury yesterday afternoon in Judge Dancer's division of the district court. The two men, with three others, were arrested and jointly indicted on two counts for holding up William Downes and Rudolph Baich at New Duluth on the evening of Feb. 20. The other men, Isaac Kegulh, Peter Kaich and George Yurcovich, were convicted by a jury last week for complicity in the affair. Koruga and Oblin set up alibis as a defense and a verdict of not guilty was returned by the jury. Koruga and Oblin were defended by E. J. Kenny.

MAN FALLS 15 FEET; ALIGHTS ON HEAD.

Harold E. Hadelsford, 6603 Polk street, an employe on the construction of the R. E. Denfeld high school, fell through the skylight fifteen feet, sustaining a number of severe bruises. He alighted on his head but regained consciousness shortly afterward. He was taken to the Duluth hospital, where it is believed he has no internal injuries.

McNulty Funeral.

The funeral for Helen, the 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McNulty, 5611 Main street, who died Tuesday afternoon, was held this afternoon from the St. James Catholic church. Burial was made in Oneota cemetery.

Mrs. Vetter Dies.

Mrs. Mary Vetter, 75 years old, died at 10:45 o'clock last night following an illness of several weeks at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Ehr, 617 North Fifty-sixth avenue west. Mrs. Vetter has made her home with her daughter since their arrival in the city fourteen years ago.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from the St. James Catholic church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Kinnear place. Interment will be made in Calvary cemetery.

West Duluth Briefs.

The play planned by the Ladies' Aid society of the Merritt Memorial Methodist church to be given on Thursday and Friday evenings of next week has been postponed until an early date in April. Several members of the cast have been reported ill during the last few days.

The West Duluth Book club will entertain at a literary social at the West Duluth library Tuesday afternoon, March 31. Mrs. Mary Nelson will give a dramatic reading.

Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the Asbury Methodist church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, will lecture tomorrow evening on "A Trip Through Yellowstone Park." The lecture will be illustrated with steropticon views and motion pictures.

Charles G. Strand and family of New Duluth will leave in a few days for a three months' tour of Europe.

Oscar E. Thames of Des Moines, Iowa, who has been visiting friends in this end of the city left this morning for his home.

Good ice for skating and good music tonight at the Western Curling ring. Everybody come and enjoy the final skating of the season.

Watch repairing. Hurst, West Duluth.

Iron Mountain Man's Idea Tried on Utah Copper Ores.

Iron Mountain, Mich., March 19.—John T. Jones of this city who patented a furnace for treating metalliferous ores, is reported to have met with success in the recent test he made in Salt Lake City.

Tests were made with low grade copper and Utah iron ores and were witnessed by a number of interested capitalists, all of whom are reported confident that Mr. Jones has at last solved all problems and that his furnace is now a commercial success.

Mr. Jones, accompanied by John M. Longyear of Marquette and other associates, has been spending a week in Chicago. He expects to spend a week in Washington and Eastern business centers, but will come home for a visit before returning to Utah.

CERTIFICATE OF AMENDMENT
—OF—
CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION
—OF—
THE ATLAS STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

IT IS HEREBY CERTIFIED by D. T. Helm, President, and R. C. Helm, Secretary, of The Atlas Steamship Company—a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Minnesota—that at a special meeting of the stockholders of said corporation, duly called for the purpose and held at the Company's office in the City of Duluth on the 14th day of March, 1914, at which meeting a majority of all the stock of said corporation was present and voted, the following resolution was unanimously adopted by a majority of all the issued stock of said corporation, and the same was declared duly adopted; to-wit:

RESOLUTION.

WHEREAS, for the further prosecution of this company's business it is desirable and necessary to increase the capital stock of this corporation from Seventy Thousand Dollars to Three Hundred Thousand Dollars,

RESOLVED, Therefore, that Article V. of the Certificate of Incorporation of the company be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE V.

The amount of capital stock of this Company shall be Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($300,000), to be paid in cash or property, or both, as may be determined by the Board of Directors; The same to be divided into three thousand shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each.

And that Article VI. of the Certificate of Incorporation of this Company be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE VI.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject is Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($300,000.00).

That the President and Secretary of this corporation are hereby authorized to execute such certificate, and to perform such acts as are requisite to carry this resolution into effect.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF We have hereunto set our hands and seals as President and Secretary respectively of said corporation, and have hereto caused the seal of this corporation to be affixed this 14th day of March, 1914.

D. T. HELM,
President.
R. C. HELM,

METHODISTS READY TO CALL ALL MEXICAN MISSIONARIES HOME

Church Board Has Authorized Such Action By Butler.

American Is Kidnaped in Texas, But Makes Escape.

Washington Will Welcome Any Resumption of Negotiations.

New York, March 20.—The present conditions in Mexico may shortly result in the recall of missionaries, according to a statement given out today by the board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church.

"In view of possible new developments in the Mexican situation," read the statement, "the board has authorized John W. Butler, superintendent of the Mexico district, to recall at any time such missionaries as may be in peril.

"Of the thirty Methodist missionaries none has as yet come home; in fact, five missionaries have gone to Mexico within the last four months. Methodist property in the republic is estimated at nearly $1,000,000."

Escaped By Swimming.

Austin, Tex., March 20.—Charles Ballard, an American, was kidnaped by Mexicans Wednesday from Carrizo Springs, Texas, and escaped by diving in the Rio Grande river, according to dispatches today to Governor Colquitt. The governor has wired to know whether Texas Rangers are needed in the Carrizo Springs territory.

Will Welcome Negotiations.

Washington, March 20.—The United States government will welcome a reopening of negotiations with the Huerta government or the Constitutionalists, and will be glad to consider any proposal that will tend to draw the various factions together into a plan for the restoration of peace in Mexico.

This is the attitude of President Wilson as it was revealed after reports reached here saying Senor Pedrillo y Rojas, minister of foreign affairs in the Huerta cabinet, had gone to meet John Lind, Mr. Wilson's personal representative, to seek a resumption of the peace parleys.

Senor Rojas has been mentioned as the man who would succeed Huerta if he retired, and the object of the visit to Mr. Lind, it has been reported, was to acquaint the president's envoy with his personality. Incidentally, the president, in talking with callers,

WOULD FORCE STATE VOTE ON SUFFRAGE

Shafroth Offers Proposed Amendment to the Constitution.

Washington, March 20.—Woman suffrage came to the fore in the senate today, and a new resolution for a constitutional amendment was proposed by Senator Shafroth, to take the place of that defeated yesterday. It would require states to decide the suffrage question for themselves whenever 5 per cent of the voters petitioned for it.

The first fight developed when Mr. Shafroth asked to have the resolution sent to the suffrage committee. Senators who voted against yesterday's resolution wanted it to go to the judiciary committee, but were beaten, 37 to 25.

Senator Bristow reintroduced the Chamberlain suffrage resolution.

"I want the good women of this country to have this resolution before congress, so that they may carry on their campaign," said Senator Bristow.

URGES WAR AGAINST TYPHOID ON BOATS

Blue Says It Cost Owners Eighty Years of Service in 1913.

Washington, March 20.—Surgeon General Blue of the public health service today made public an open letter to managers and masters of lake and river vessels, calling attention to the prevalence of typhoid fever among seamen employed aboard American merchant vessels, and urging their cooperation in an effort to stamp out the disease. He presents statistics to show that there were admitted to the United States marine hospitals during the fiscal year ending June 30 last, 392 cases of typhoid fever among the personnel of the merchant marine, in addition to many others treated at public hospitals and at home. These 392 cases, according to Dr. Blue, represent in the aggregate a loss of eighty years in actual working time of the seamen, and of $44,000 in wages.

"In terms of dollars and cents alone," he says, "this is a rather heavy price to pay for an entirely preventable disease."

The surgeon general strongly urges that all shipping interests recommend and encourage their ship employes to immunize themselves against infection by the use of typhoid prophylactic. Such steps, he declared, will result in a marked reduction in the yearly typhoid rate among crews.

BUFFALO GIRLS ESCAPE FIRE.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 20.—Fire today destroyed the J. R. Clement Printing & Binding plant on Exchange street. One hundred and fifty girl employes made their way out by the fire escapes. The damage was estimated at $200,000.

CARSON GOES INTO ULSTER

Noisy Welcome Is Given Leader of Unionists at Belfast.

London Telegraph Predicts Bloodshed in Irish Dispute.

Belfast, March 20.—Sir Edward Carson, the leader of the Unionists of Ulster, made a dramatic entry into the capital of the province today. His purpose in coming here is to consult with the other Ulster Unionist leaders and with the commanders of the Ulster volunteer forces.

The great activity displayed at Unionist headquarters and in the army barracks have caused considerable excitement among the people of Belfast, who for days have been momentarily expecting some decisive move on the part of the Unionist chiefs of the government.

Before landing this morning, Sir Edward Carson received, on board the steamer on which he had made the passage from England, Sir George Richardson, a retired lieutenant general of the British army, who is commander in chief of the Ulster Unionist forces, together with his chief officers.

Given Noisy Welcome.

As the party came down the gangway from the steamer to the pier have found drawn up as a guard of honor the emergency force of picked men of the Ulster Volunteers, who had been summoned to the Unionist headquarters late last night. A big crowd gave them a noisy welcome, cheering wildly and firing into the air from their revolvers.

During the night automobiles had been kept busy moving stores and documents from the Unionist headquarters, apparently fearing a raid by the police, who had been keeping close watch on every move made by the Unionists.

Precautions of a rigorous character have been taken at the Victoria mili-

U. S. MINE STATION BILL FINDS FAVOR

House Committee Acts in Approval of Taylor's Measure.

Washington, March 20.—Representative Taylor's bill for establishing ten mining experiment stations to improve labor, health conditions and efficiency in operation—one to be in Alaska and the other in mining states of the West—was favorably acted upon today by the mines committee, and now goes before the house.

MAY NOT PRESS MILK PRICE FIGHT

Producers' Association Advises Members to Accept Contract Figures.

Chicago, March 20.—Cessation of active hostilities in the conflict over milk prices was announced today by the Milk Producers' association, which advised its members that there was doubt whether it would be advisable to press all demands now.

"Probably we must be content to take this summer substantially last summer's prices," said a communication addressed by the milk board to the producers.

The board took the position that in spite of the base rate of $1.34 1-6 offered by a large milk seller, contract prices would not be likely to be less than the association price.

LEE CHOSEN AS OPPONENT OF EBERHART

Anti-Machine Conference at Minneapolis Ends in Harmonious Action.

Pledges of Hearty Support Made By Iverson and Elwell.

Eberhart Charged With Being Notoriously Incompetent and Extravagant.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Receiving 555 votes out of 950 cast, William E. Lee of Long Prairie was selected by the anti-Eberhart conference here late yesterday afternoon to make the primary fight against the present governor. Before the vote could be announced delegations began changing their votes so rapidly that the nomination was made unanimous. Those present cheered loudly and adjourned, feeling satisfied with the results, since apparent harmony had been secured out of a situation that promised in advance to end in a fight.

The only fly in the ointment was the fact that at the end of the proceedings, when the other candidates got up and pledged hearty support to Mr. Lee, James A. Peterson was not present. However, Mr. Peterson had previously agreed to support anybody but Iverson.

Peterson's attack on Iverson in his morning speech, which later became an open threat on the part of his friends to bolt Iverson should the state auditor be named, resulted in carrying Mr. Iverson down with Peterson in defeat and nominating Lee.

Agreed to Support Nominee.

Amid an uproar of applause Mr. Lee made a brief speech of acceptance and Samuel G. Iverson and James T. Elwell took the platform and pledged their hearty support to the winner.

James A. Peterson, who had said he would support the candidate chosen

"TRUST" CONTROLS WISCONSIN PRODUCE

State Body Adopts Resolution Aimed at Elgin Board.

Madison, Wis., March 20.—Because an investigation conducted by the agricultural college and the state board of public affairs discloses that practically 80 per cent of the butter and cheese products of Wisconsin are controlled by the "trust," which arbitrarily fixes prices, the state board of public affairs, it becomes known today, passed a resolution requesting the governor to appoint a committee of Wisconsin farmers to attend the second national conference on marketing and farm credits, to be held in Chicago April 14-17.

The resolution is considered as a rap at the Elgin board of trade, and the Wisconsin delegates will go to Chicago with resolutions asking for specific amendments to the Sherman anti-trust law, changes in which are now pending before congress.

FEDERALS SUE FOR KILLIFER

Baseball War Is Carried to Court By Chicago Club.

Petition Explains Game and Calls "Bill" Extraordinary Player.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 20.—The first legal shot of the baseball war of 1914 was fired here today by the Federal league in filing a petition with the United States district court for the Western district of Michigan, asking for an injunction to restrain William J. Killifer, Jr., formerly catcher of the Philadelphia Nationals, from playing baseball with any club other than the Chicago Federals.

Killifer signed a three-year contract with the Chicago Federals, but afterward was persuaded that the reserve clause in his old contract with the Philadelphia club held him legally to Philadelphia, and joined his former team.

The suit involves the legality of the reserve clause, long regarded as one of the bulwarks of organized baseball, and was brought in the Western Michigan district because Killifer is a resident of Paw Paw, Mich.

"Unique Skill" and Expertness.

After reciting the organization of the Chicago Federal league baseball club for the purpose of maintaining a baseball club, the bill declares "that it was necessary to engage the services of baseball players of unique and extraordinary skill and expertness, among whom was the defendant," Bill Killifer.

The complaint, which was signed by Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago Federal league baseball club, told of the signing of the contract by Killifer, in which he agreed to play

"WET" ORATORS ARE TO TOUR ILLINOIS

Brewers and Jobbers Will Finance Special Train for Speakers.

Chicago, March 20.—Carrying "wet" speakers and financed by the Illinois Brewers' association and the Illinois Jobbers and Dealers association, a special train will leave Chicago next Wednesday to make a campaign tour of Illinois cities and towns where wet and dry elections will be held in April, it was announced today.

More than 200 of the 300 cities in which such elections will be held will be visited by the "wets." Most of the speeches will be made from the rear platform of the train. Evening meetings will be held in halls in the larger cities.

Circulars entitled "Who's Who Among the Wet Orators" will be circulated by the Anti-Saloon league in every town visited by the special train.

OVER EIGHT INCHES OF SNOW IN VIRGINIA.

Richmond, Va., March 20.—Local weather bureau records for March were broken by snowfall which began last night and, with eight inches on the ground today, continued to fall.

LANSING FOR COUNSELOR, VICE MOORE

Cone Johnson Chosen for Solicitor of State Department.

New Adviser of Bryan Is International Law Authority.

Has Served as U. S. Attorney in Several Disputes.

Washington, March 20.—Robert Lansing of New York and Cone Johnson of Texas will be nominated counselor and solicitor, respectively, of the state department, according to announcement from the White House today.

Mr. Lansing is an associate editor of the American Journal of International Law, and author of several works on international subjects. He will succeed John Bassett Moore, while Johnson will succeed Joseph W. Folk.

Mr. Lansing is 50 years of age; was associate counsel for the United States in the Behring sea arbitration, 1891-93; counsel for the United States in the Bering sea claims commission, 1896-97; solicitor for the United States on the Alaskan boundary tribunal, 1903; counsel in the arbitration at The Hague in 1909 of the North Atlantic coast fisheries case. His home is in Watertown, N. Y.

'Brilliant" Texas Lawyer.

Mr. Johnson, who will succeed Folk as solicitor, is about 49 years of age, and according to the statement issued from the White House today is "one of the most brilliant lawyers in Texas." He was a candidate for the United States senate once, but retired from the contest on account of ill-health. The White House described him as "one of the leading factors in progressive Democracy of Texas."

With the naming of a new counselor and a new solicitor, all the vacancies in the state department will have been filled, a new third assistant secretary of state, William Phillips, having recently been nominated.

Secretary Bryan said that he knew both men personally and considered them eminently fitted for their positions. Both are Democrats. Mr. Johnson was a Wilson delegate to the Baltimore convention. Mr. Lansing has not been active in politics.

BILLION DOLLAR CROP OF COTTON IN 1913

Most Valuable on Record, Say Government Statisticians.

Washington, March 20.—The 1913 cotton crop was the most valuable ever grown, and second largest in point of quantity. Statistics announced by the bureau of the census today indicated it amounted to 7,383,557,500 pounds, or 14,767,151 bales of lint and linter cotton. The total value of the crop, including the value of cotton seed, is unofficially estimated roundly at more than $1,000,000,000, compared with last year's $920,000,000, and $963,000,000 for the previous most valuable crop, that of 1910.

SUPREME COURT HOLDS NON-PARTISAN PRIMARY LAW CONSTITUTIONAL

AUTHORITY OF OPINION THE PRIMARY LAW

HOMER B. DIBELL.
Of Duluth, Commissioner of the Minnesota Supreme Court.

Not Violation of Provisions Regarding Title and Germane Subjects.

Contention That It Was Special Legislation Denied By Court.

Lengthy Opinion of Court Is Written By Commissioner Dibell.

St. Paul, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The supreme court today sustained the constitutionality of the state primary law passed at the last session of the legislature, providing that members of the legislature shall be nominated upon non-partisan ballots and changing the date of the primary to the third Tuesday in June preceding the general November election. The opinion of the court was written by Commissioner Homer B. Dibell of Duluth. Following is the syllabus:

"1. Chapter 389, laws 1913, amending certain sections of Revised Laws, 1905, as the same were amended by subsequent session laws, and repealing certain session laws, the subject-matter of all such laws being primary elections, which chapter refers in its title to the sections amended by number only, without stating by descriptive words in connection therewith the general subject of the statutes amended, and without reciting in its own title the general subject of the legislation, is not unconstitutional as in violation of article 4, section 27, of the Constitution, requiring the subject of every law to be expressed in its title.

"2. Nor is it unconstitutional as in violation of article 4, section 27, of the Constitution, providing that no law shall embrace more than one subject.

"3. Nor is it unconstitutional because the subject-matter of it is not germane to the statutes amended.

"4. Nor is it unconstitutional as special legislation or as class legislation.

"Order affirmed."

Judge Dibell's Opinion.

The opinion written by Commissioner Dibell is as follows:

"On Jan. 5, 1914, the relator tendered to the respondent, the county auditor of Hennepin county, his affidavit of

RESUME NEW HAVEN TALKS

U. S. Attorneys and Counsel for Railroad Meet Again.

Prospects Seem Bright for Settlement of Dispute.

Washington, March 20.—The personnel of the boards of trustees for the Connecticut and Rhode Island trolley lines, owned by the New Haven system, was taken up today by attorneys for the department of justice and counsel for the railroad, in the hope that settlement of that feature of the dissolution plan will lead to a speedy agreement on every point involved.

Personal investigation of a list of men suggested for the boards by representatives of the department led to the understanding today that prospects for an agreement were bright. Both the department and the New Haven officials are known to be eager for an early announcement of a complete agreement and it was the hope of officials that a settlement would be reached before tomorrow night.

May Compromise on Terms.

With the trolley trusteeships out of the way about the only other important point left is the length of the term of the trustees who are to take over the Boston & Maine railroad stock owned by the New Haven. It was predicted at the department today that this feature will be settled by a compromise under which the trustees shall serve two and one-half years with provision for an extension of the term by a Federal court.

Urge Defiance by Railroad.

New Haven, Conn., March 20.—"Rather than surrender to the demands of the attorney general of the United States for the dismemberment by agreement of any part of the New Haven railroad system," the New Haven chamber of commerce yesterday passed resolutions calling upon the president and directors of the railroad "to resist to the utmost such demands and compel the attorney general to argue his case in court."

The resolutions say that the present plans of the attorney general mean "the destruction of the present transportation system of New England with consequent paralysis of both it and manufacturing interests."

Johannisthal, March 20.—The altitude record of 12,303 feet for a flight with three passangers was established today from the aerodrome here by Robert Thelen, the German aviator.

The previous record for a flight in an aeroplane carrying three passengers was held by the French aviator Garaix, who on March 2 attained an altitude of 10,890 feet at Chartres.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

Lobby committee took testimony on the charge that a fund has been raised to defeat Hughes' bill to regulate shipments of convict labor products.

Protest from the American Seamen's association against the recent London safety at sea convention was presented by Mr. La Follette.

HOUSE.

Met at noon.

Debate was resumed on the rivers and harbors appropriation bill.

Mines committee acted favorably on Representative Taylor's bill for new experiment stations.

Arrangements were made to hear John Mitchell testify Monday on the Michigan copper strike situation.

CAR RUNS WILD; ONE DEAD; SCORE INJURED

Mysterious Collision on New York State Interurban Line.

Gasport, N. Y., March 20.—Glenn W. Bridgemann of Lockport, N. Y., was killed and twenty persons were injured in a collision between two cars on the Buffalo, Lockport & Rochester trolley line at Wickwire early today.

A Rochester-bound car stopped at the Gasport station about midnight for orders. Both motorman and conductor got off the car and went into the station. From some unknown cause the car suddenly started at full speed. For two miles it ran wild. At Wickwire it crashed into a Buffalo-bound car, telescoping it.

Not one of the passengers on the two cars escaped injury. At least two of the injured will die.

INSPECT HOSPITAL; ARE QUARANTINED

Four New York State Examiners Are Detained at Willard.

Albany, N. Y., March 20.—Four examiners from the state department of efficiency who went to the state hospital at Willard to make an investigation of the accounts of the institution, were today quarantined by the hospital authorities, because they had been exposed to smallpox in a nearby village. The examiners probably will be detained at the institution for three weeks.

THREE ARE SHOT BY WASHINGTON MAN

Wife and Her Mother and Brother Hurt in Family Row.

Washington, March 20. — Herman Kabansky, a grocer, ran amuck with a revolver today, shot three persons, one of whom may die, and was taken wounded after a pistol fight with a policeman. His wife, mother-in-law and brother-in-law fell before his fire. The wife was seriously wounded. Family troubles were the cause, the police say.

MOVE TO IMPEACH THE TOKIO CABINET.

Tokio, March 20.—The impeachment of the Japanese cabinet on account of the recent naval scandals in connection with the receipt of illicit commissions by naval officers was asked today in an address to the throne introduced in the chamber of deputies by the opposition parties. The address declares that "the scandals are a stain on the newly begun reign of the emperor, and are harmful to the prestige of the Japanese navy, both at home and broad."

COMPLETE FACTS READY FOR CLUB

Committee Will Report on Polk Street Sewer Contracts.

Members of the West Duluth Commercial club at the meeting of the club tonight will be given full information regarding the number of contracts let for the completion of the Polk street sewer. The committee appointed last week to investigate the matter has secured possession of all the facts during the week.

Three different contracts are said to have been let. The original contract provided for the sewer emptying at the foot of Main street. The terminal had to be changed on account of complaints made by owners of the property and another contract was let by the city engineer to the same contractor which provided that the sewer outlet should be about 300 feet east of this spot. After this job was completed it was found that the sewer still remained on the same property and that the outlet would again have to be moved.

The final contract for completing the job was then again let which brought the mouth of the sewer to a point within three feet of the outlet of the Forty-ninth avenue sewer at the junction of the foot of Ramsey street and Forty-ninth avenue.

Members of the committee that has been doing the investigating state that the latter job has been done in a flimsy manner. It is said that where the connection was made to bring the last extension onward the links of pipe had been left exposed and that the lead had worked loose from the joints allowing about half of the sewage to ooze out at this place. The committee recently made a trip over the route. The members of the committee are W. B. Getchell, David Sang and Thomas Olafson.

HAS SON ARRESTED AT THE ALTAR

West Duluth Man Accuses Boy of Perjury in Telling Age.

After being refused a license to marry in Duluth because they were under age, Tony Desanto and Clerissa Romano went to Superior and were yesterday afternoon married at the home of Rev. Elmer F. Lund. Just as the wedding ceremony was about completed Capt. Olson of the Superior police force, accompanied by the bridegroom's father, L. Desanto, entered the pastor's home armed with a warrant for the bridegroom charging him with perjury in giving his age.

In police court this morning the young man pleaded not guilty and the hearing was set for Saturday, March 28, at 10 o'clock. Bail was fixed at $300 which up to a late hour today had not been furnished. It is expected that the bride's parents will furnish the bail.

THIEVES STOCK UP WITH GROCERIES

Steal Goods Valued at $200 From Olson & Kauppi Store.

The grocery store of Olson & Kauppi, 15 South Sixty-third avenue west, was entered last night and about $200 worth of goods carried off. Among the goods taken were about a dozen pair of heavy workingmen's shoes, a quantity of cigars, tobacco, candies and groceries.

The only money found by the burglars was a few cents of stamp money in a cardboard box in the till. The burglars had evidently taken their time in getting away with the stuff and they left without leaving any clews for the police to work on.

Entry to the store had been made through the rear door. A shed door had been pried open and then the burglars had cut a panel out of the rear door getting into the place with ease. It is thought that there were at least two or three men in the gang that committed the robbery because the amount of stuff taken would require at least that many to carry it off.

DULUTHIAN PATENTS VALUABLE INVENTION

A patent for a non-refillable bottle has just been granted to Roy Lee Le Wright of New Duluth. The bottle is designed for goods of special brands whose makers do not want adulterated goods sold in the same bottle. Le Wright says he has been working on the invention for several months and that recently he had been offered $35,000 for it.

Mr. Le Wright has resided in New Duluth for about four years.

Hold First Banquet.

The Irving Social Center Dramatic club entertained at the Irving school at its first annual banquet last evening. About twenty guests attended.

The members presented Miss Anna McFarlane, who has been directing the activities of the club, with a handsome cameo pendant. Miss McFarlane gave a short talk to the members on "Dramatic Clubs."

Clifford Stowell presided as toastmaster. Short talks were given by various members of the club and a reading was given by Miss Pearl Ayotte.

Win the Banner.

The Sunday school of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, will be presented Sunday with the city membership banner. The presentation will be made by S. S. Williamson. The banner is being contested for by the various Presbyterian Sunday schools of the city. The school getting the largest percentage of new scholars and attendance is awarded the banner for the following Sunday. This is the first time it has been won by the West Duluth Sunday school.

WADE'S "KIDS" WIN IN FINAL MATCH.

F. H. Wade and his "kid" rink won the final event of the season last night at the Western Curling club by defeating the Zauft ring in the finals of the West Duluth Commercial club event. The final score was 10 to 8.

This evening the Wade rink will be called on to defend the championship buttons against the Mallory rink. In case ice remains in good shape, games will be played every evening for the buttons.

WOULD TEST SALE.

Daughter Asks Administrator in La Ruffa Estate.

For the purpose of testing the validity of the sale of certain goods claimed by the estate of Joseph La Ruffa, who died, aged 63, in this city on Oct. 21, last, Mrs. Carmela Michilizi, a daughter, today petitioned the district court for the appointment of S. W. Richardson of this city as administrator of the estate.

The petition intimates that the administrator will bring a cause of action for conversion of goods which may or may not prevail. The property involved is valued at $1,000. The heirs are Marie Rosa La Ruffa, widow and two daughters in Italy and one daughter, the petitioner, in Duluth.

NEW PUBLICATION FOR POLICEMEN.

Several copies of the National Policeman's Home Journal, a new publication which will be devoted to the interest of police officers throughout the country, were received at police headquarters this morning.

The new magazine is published in New York and is to be known as the official publication of the National Policeman's club, an organization now being perfected and which will include police officers throughout the country. It is the aim of the club to erect a handsome club house on Long Island for the use of the members. There will be a gymnasium, swimming pool, tennis courts and a rifle range among the features.

The National Journal makes its bow this month with articles by Former President Taft, Elbert Hubbard, Commissioner of Police Sylvester of Washington, D. C., and two stories written by George Barr McCutcheon and E. Phillips Oppenheim.

"Correct Dress for Women and Girls"

Three Weeks From Sunday Is Easter

The woman or miss who is contemplating wearing her new Suit, Coat, Gown or Hat at that time can come to "Gidding's" now, and see unusual assortments not to be found in other shops so early. The past week has been a busy one—unpacking and marking the new garments and stocks are now practically complete.

Paris, New York and Gidding Millinery

Featuring many clever, original models by Georgette, Lewis, Varon, Germaine, Pouyanne and other French artists—also many reproductions and our own adaptations. The Napoleon and Russian styles are much favored, the Watteau Hat being one of the prominent styles—close fitted shapes, tilted effects and wide, flaring brims from various angles are shown — ribbons and flowers are more prominent than ever before—many new colorings are shown, as tete de negre, bordeau, peacock blue, bottle green and cerise. Tailleur Hats, $7.50 and up. Dress and Semi-Dress Hats, $15 and up.

Tailleur and Demi-Tailleur Suits

Clever reproductions copied from original Paris models, featuring the "new" Watteau styles—charming two and three-piece models in silk and cloth materials, as Broadtail-Moire, Crepe-Faille, Cascade d'Eau, Gabardine and Barathea, also Taffeta and smart combinations of Taffeta and cloth. Puffs and ruffs and frills are very prominent, featuring the "bustle-back," "pouch-front," mandarin bows, etc. Tailleur Suits, $25 and up. Demi-Tailleur Suits, $45 and up $125.

Gowns and Dresses

For street, afternoon and evening wear—exquisite creations copied from original models produced by such noted coutouriers as Poiret, Paquin, Drecoll, Doucet, Worth, Lauvin, Bulloz and others—creators of the "umbrella" dress, the "shepherdess" frock, the bustle-back, apron-front and cascade flounce, in the "new" wanted materials, as Taffeta, Moire, Faille-Moire, Crepe de Chine and Chiffon, for the "Dansant" and afternoon and evening functions — also combinations of Serge and Taffeta, plain Serges, Shepherd Checks, etc. — for morning, street and general wear. Street Dresses, $15 and up. Afternoon and Evening Gowns, $19.50 and up.

Street, Afternoon and Evening Wraps

The "Golf Cape" will have much prominence during the season. There are also many other models of such materials as Golfine, Duvetyne, Peluche de Laine, Cheviots, Diagonals and Novelty Checks. These materials are used mostly for street and outing wear. For afternoon and evening wear are Bengalines, Taffeta, Faille-Moire, Chiffons and Duvetyne, in a wide range of colors. Priced at $15 and up.

Separate Skirts

Separate Skirts have again become prominent with the well-dressed women. There are Bengalines, Taffetas and Moires, Serge Plaids, Checks and Novelty Mixtures—featuring the tunic pouch-front, bustle-back and apron effects. Priced at $7.50, $10, $12.50 and up.

Exquisite Blouses

Many "new" and charming creations are now being exhibited in our blouse section. Semi-tailored Crepe de Chine, Taffeta and wash silk blouses are on display, in a large variety of colors—also Shanghai Silks, Nets, Chiffons, Fabiola and Cotton Crepes, Tosci Voiles, Pompadour Chiffons and Hand-made Laces—also large varieties of Middy Blouses, of serge, wash silk, linen, new cloth and galatea. Priced at $3.50 to $35.

ARGENTINE BEEF IN CITY

Sold at Same Price as U. S. Meats, Says Duluth Dealer.

Accuses Large Packers of Controlling the Imported Product.

The first consignment of Argentine beef to reach Duluth was put on the market here yesterday by the local agency of a large packing corporation, and another large consignment will be received here next week.

"Several millions of pounds of beef has been shipped to the United States from Argentina since the new tariff law went into effect, but I hear from authentic sources that the large packers have control of it," said a Duluth meat dealer today. "The prices asked yesterday were as high as for the American product and the quality was not so good. For that reason I didn't buy any. Some of the lumber camps are to be supplied with the South American beef received here yesterday."

When asked if the steady incoming of Argentina beef would not cause prices to drop, the meat dealer said:

"Why should it? The large packers are able to buy the meat as soon as it comes or before and when they get control of it, they can keep the prices where they want them."

According to this dealer the Argentine beef is a poor buy for a meat dealer at the present quotations. The beef he said was frozen as hard as a rock and would lose a large percentage of its nutritive value by the necessary process of thawing, while the American beef was simply chilled sufficiently to keep it fresh.

GIVES ADVICE ON FLOWER GARDENING

Prof. Cady of Farm College Tells Time for Planting Seeds.

Prof. Le Roy Cady of the University of Minnesota agricultural college, who is writing on garden topics in the Minneapolis Journal, has prepared a list of garden annuals, the time for sowing or seeding and the flowering period.

As this is a time when Duluthians are beginning to plan their flower gardens Prof. Cady's advice will be of much interest and value as he has made a study of the subject and knows just when to plant seeds in this climate to get the best results. The list follows:

	Sow Indoors.	Seed Outdoors.	Flowering Period.
Sweet Alyssum	April 1	May-June	May-Oct.

BURNED STUDYING JAPANESE VOLCANO

Frank Perret Suffers in Explosion of Molten Lava.

Tokio, March 20.—Frank Alvord Perret, American volcanologist, was slightly burned on the hands and legs today by an explosion of molten lava while studying the volcano of Sakura Jima.

Mr. Perret represents the Volvanic Research society of Springfield, Mass., and is honorary assistant in the Royal Observatory on Mount Vesuvius. He came from Italy to study Sakura Jima, whose recent eruption caused great loss of life and property. His expedition was subsidized by the Volcanological institute at Napies.

CHICAGO WILL GIVE UP CONVICT SYSTEM

Selling of Prisoners' Labor Is Declared to Be Illegal.

Chicago, March 20.—After May 1 the contract labor system under which the labor of prisoners in Chicago's Bridewell has for a number of years been sold to private contractors, will be abolished as the result of an opinion given by the corporation counsel declaring that the system is illegal.

The Bridewell is one of the last large prisons in the country to abandon the contract labor plan. The city has received about $15,000 a year from the sale of the labor of prisoners in certain of the shops.

SIEGEL ASSETS BRING $392,000.

Boston, Mass., March 20.—The receivers for Henry Siegel company of Boston announced today that $392,000 had been realized on the sale of the stock and other assets of the company.

Fargoan Lands Big Contract.

Fargo, N. D., March 20.—Senator James Kennedy, Fargo's well known contractor, has just landed what is perhaps the biggest sewer contract ever awarded in the West. He was awarded the gigantic $663,000 storm sewer contract at Los Angeles and is now on his return home with this big plum in his pocket.

Bishop Bristol Recovering.

Chicago, March 20.—Bishop Frank M. Bristol, of the Methodist Episcopal church at Omaha, who was stricken recently with acute indigestion, was said today by his physicians to be on the road to recovery.

NO HOLDING BACK IN BUSINESS NOW

Max Albenberg Pleased With Conditions in the East.

Max C. Albenberg has returned from the East where he has been on a purchasing tour for the last month. Mr. Albenberg was much impressed with business prospects in the East, and with the way that Easterners look on the West. Said he today: "Business is opening up well in the East, credits are liberal, purchasing for the season's business is good, there being no curtailing in any part of the country, and in general the view taken by wholesalers and retailers alike is that there is no need for holding back for fear of a backset in business. Everything points to progress from now on. The old fear expressed in some quarters of bad results from the tariff and currency legislation has been dissipated by results and the country is safe. Business men in general would like to see the Mexican situation cleared up, for that is the only thing in the way of industrial peace. However, most people express satisfaction over the way President Wilson is handling the matter, and what few there are who think otherwise, are frowned upon by business. Jingoism is not popular."

Bemidji U. C. T. Elects.

Bemidji, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the annual meeting of the Bemidji United Commercial Travelers the following officers were elected: Senior counsellor, Frank Koors; junior counsellor, Ed Tabor; conductor, R. KILLS FAMILY, BURNS HOME, KILLS HIMSELF

Young Georgia Farmer Tells of Crimes Before Suicide.

Oak Park, Ga., March 20.—J. A. Eubanks, a farmer, early today killed his wife and two daughters as they slept, set fire to his home and several other farm buildings, and then fired a bullet through his forehead. He died several hours later.

Mrs. Eubanks' head was almost severed with an ax. The children, 4 years and 6 months old, were killed with a knife.

After slaying his family and firing the buildings on his premises, Eubanks awakened a neighbor, told him what he had done and then shot himself.

The fire consumed Eubanks' barn and a number of tenant houses. His house was saved. Eubanks, 30 years old, it is believed was mentally deranged.

CHILD PERISHES IN PRAIRIE FIRE.

Bismarck, N. D., March 20.—A fierce prairie fire swept through portions of Dunn and Mercer counties and while Rev. Samuel Bloomhagen and his wife were absent from home their five children were driven from the house by flames and one of them perished.

A girl, 8 years old, lost her life, and a son, Herman, aged 10, was burned so badly about his face and body that his recovery is considered doubtful.

ADOPT STANDARDS FOR EDUCATION.

Chicago, March 20.—Standards for use in colleges and schools of the North Central association of colleges and secondary schools, and a list of accredited memberships, will be adopted by the association at its annual meeting here today.

The list of accredited schools was prepared yesterday by the board of inspectors and the report will be made to the convention today by Prof. H. A. Hollister of the University of Illinois. Prof. F. N. Scott of the University of Michigan delivered the principal address at today's session. He spoke on "Efficiency for Efficiency's Sake." Dean E. A. Berg of the University of Minnesota, presided.

SUFFRAGE IS SHY OF VOTES

Gets Majority in Senate, But Not Needed Two-Thirds.

Women Appeal to Wilson for "Woman's Independence Day."

Washington, March 20.—Woman suffrage advocates have lost their fight in the United States senate for a resolution proposing an amendment to the Federal Constitution giving women the ballot. The vote, taken late yesterday, was 35 for the measure and 34 against it, a two-thirds affirmative vote being required for passage, and when it was all over suffragist leaders jubilantly pointed to the majority of one as conclusive proof that their cause had scored a triumph in defeat, and was immensely stronger than its opponents had ever been willing to concede.

For the Amendment.

Senators voting for the suffrage amendment were:

Ashurst, Brady, Bristow, Burton, Chamberlain, Clapp, Clark (Wyo.), Gallinger, Gronna, Hollis, Hughes, Jones, Kenyon, La Follette, Lane, Lea, Myers, Nelson, Newlands, Norris, Owen, Perkins, Poindexter, Randsell, Shafroth, Sheppard, Sherman, Smoot, Stephenson, Sterling, Sutherland, Thomas, Thompson, Townsend, Works—35.

Against the Amendment.

Senators voting against the amendment were:

Bankhead, Borah, Bradley, Brandegee, Bryan, Catron, Dillingham, Du Pont, Gore, James, Johnson, Lee (Md.), Lodge, McCumber, McLean, Martin, Martine, Oliver, Overman, Page, Pittman, Pomerene, Reed, Shields, Smith (Ga.), Smith (Md.), Smith (S. C.), Swanson, Thornton, Tillman, Vardaman, Weeks, West, Williams—34.

The vote, following weeks of debate on the floor of the senate during which many leaders in the suffrage movement pleaded for postponement of the final action, marked the climax of a spirited campaign launched here the day before the inauguration of President Wilson.

Headed Off New Move.

Immediately after the vote Senator Shafroth of Colorado sought to introduce a new resolution for a constitutional amendment requiring each state to vote on granting suffrage to women, upon petition from 5 per cent of its voters. The senate went into executive session before the senator could get the floor, however, and the resolution will be offered later.

The resolution defeated was the first introduced in the present congress. It was presented by Senator Chamberlain of Oregon and the woman suffrage committee later authorized Senator Ashurst to report it favorably.

The vote was preceded by a three-hour debate on the various phases of suffrage. Senator Martine of New Jersey was the only member who stated he was opposed to woman suffrage on principle.

Senator Gallinger declared it would be a crime to repeal the Fifteenth amendment, even if it were a blunder to have passed it.

Senator Newlands declared he was in favor of making this a white man's country so as to shut out the Japanese as well as the negro, but questioned the propriety of doing that on a woman suffrage proposition.

Amendments Defeated.

The Vardaman amendment, which in effect proposed repealing the Fifteenth constitutional amendment extending suffrage to negroes and then to grant women the right to vote, was defeated, 48 to 19.

An amendment by Senator Williams to grant the vote to white women only was defeated, 44 to 21.

Want Woman's Day.

New York, March 20.—The National Woman Suffrage association has appealed to President Wilson to establish the first Saturday in May of each year as "woman's independence day." On behalf of the executive board of the association, President Anna Howard Shaw has addressed to President Wilson the following letter:

"The agitation for the political enfranchisement of women has been carried forward without faltering for nearly three score and ten years, along dignified and constitutional lines.

"Year after year, one nation after another has recognized the justice of this democratic demand for self-government and has granted to women citizens equal political rights with men and, in our own country, at the next general election women will vote in ten states and one territory. Amendments to state constitutions granting suffrage to women in at least five states will be voted upon at the same election, and six or more additional states in 1915, while in every state demands are being made upon the national congress to so amend the national constitution as to forbid the states from disfranchising United States citizens on account of sex.

"No Longer Academic."

"Recognizing that the cause of woman suffrage is no longer an academic problem but that it has entered the field of practical politics and that its speedy solution is of vital importance to the country, the National Woman Suffrage association has set apart the first Saturday of May for a great public demonstration throughout the nation for the purpose of setting forth the just claim of women to political freedom, to arouse such a spirit of patriotic devotion in the hearts of all mothers that it may burn with a quenchless flame in the lives of their children.

"In this spirit of loyalty to a true democracy, Mr. President, the executive board of the National Suffrage association appeals to you, in your official capacity as president of the United States, to set apart the first Saturday in May, to be known as Woman's Independence day, in recognition of the loyalty of American women to the spirit and claims of 1776, that the foundation of all just governments rests upon the consent of the governed."

CHINA NOW FACING RELIGIOUS CRISIS

Declares Returned Missionary to Conference Held at Bemidji.

Bemidji, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the new republic of China is facing a religious crisis is the opinion brought direct from Siangtan, China, by Mrs. W. H. Lingle, whose graphic account of present moment Chinese conditions was the feature of a two days' session of the Women's Missionary convention of Adams Presbytery of Northern Minnesota, held in the Bemidji Presbyterian church, which was attended by many delegates and addressed by speakers from Chicago, Minneapolis and other points.

"At last awakened to a realization of her commercial and political possibilities, with a president at the head of the government who looks to George Washington's career as an inspiration, China," declared Mrs. Lingle, "today is in a state of religious unrest. Now is the time for the Christian church to do effective work, as the Chinese are looking for a new religion, and unless the church steps in, China will soon be in a worse religious condition than before."

Mrs. Lingle explained the development that has taken place, especially since the war with Japan, reciting the traditional reluctance of the Chinese to adopt modern methods.

"When American telephones—which only recently have become at all common—were introduced, the Chinese made it a practice to cut down every telephone as soon as it was erected. The government stepped in and said that every time a Chinaman chopped down a pole his head would be chopped off. As a Chinaman thinks more of his head than a pole, he has stopped cutting them down."

The address of welcome to the delegates was prepared by Mrs. S. E. P. White and was read by Mrs. Frank Hitchcock.

Next Convention at Stephen.

Stephen was awarded the 1915 convention, and the following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, Mrs. E. L. Oberg, Blackduck; first vice president, Mrs. Eastburn, Stephen; second vice president, Mrs. Romeo Drysdale, Mallory; third vice president, Mrs. L. Chapin, Euclid; fourth, Mrs. D. J. McNichol, East Grand Forks; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. M. Freeburg, Blackduck; recording secretary, Miss Eva Powell, Warren; band secretary, Miss Ada Brown, Fisher; freed men secretary, Mrs. J. A. Hannah, Fisher; treasurer of foreign work, Mrs. W. N. Powell, Warren; treasurer of home work, Mrs. M. Phalen, Crookston; secretary young people's work, Mrs. C. L. Wilcox, Euclid; secretary of literature, Mrs. J. F. Essler, Bemidji.

ROSEAU COUNTY IS AFTER SETTLERS

Farmers' Clubs of County Map Out Campaign to That End.

Warroad, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A joint meeting of delegates of all Farmers' clubs of Roseau county was held in the village of Roseau Monday afternoon to decide some plan to settle the unoccupied land in this county. It was finally decided that each club appoint a solicitor, whose duty it would be to canvass within the territory of such club and ascertain from the owner of the land his lowest selling price, also an actual description of the land and improvements.

A list of these lands is to be published with selling price plus $10 added to it to defray advertising expenses. This scheme appears to be of great benefit both to the purchaser and for bringing actual settlers into the country.

MUCH PRAISE FOR WILSON

President Is Not Forgotten at Lincoln Bryan Dinner.

Letter From Secretary of State Is Read to Guests.

Lincoln, Neb., March 20.—Praise for President Wilson and Secretary of State William J. Bryan in nearly equal measure was the dominating note in the addresses last night at the annual banquet on the occasion of the fifty-fourth anniversary of Mr. Bryan's birth. Detained at Washington by press of official business, Mr. Bryan sent a letter to be read in which he said he could look with satisfaction over the accomplishments of the first quarter of the present Democratic administration.

The crowd at the banquet was large, and representative of the party of the state which has supported the policies of Mr. Bryan. The dinner was the seventh successive celebration in Lincoln of the anniversary, held under the auspices of the Lincoln Bryan club. The program of addresses was limited to four speeches, by Governor Morehead of Nebraska, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Governor Cox of Ohio, and Joseph W. Folk, former governor of Missouri.

Governor Morehead, in bidding welcome to the banqueters in behalf of the state of Nebraska, said he believed he voiced the sentiment of a large percentage of voters in declaring they rejoiced in the return to the fundamental principles of Democracy.

Governor Cox of Ohio said if there was any man who deserved a rich reward for services rendered, it was the distinguished son of Nebraska. It was after midnight before Senator Robinson, who was the last speaker, concluded his address.

Letter From Bryan.

The letter from Mr. Bryan read:

Washington—Mr. E. F. Snavely, president of the Lincoln Bryan club:

"My Dear Mr. Snavely: I regret exceedingly that official duties prevent my attendance, March 19, upon the dinner with which my Nebraska friends are accustomed to celebrate the anniversary of my birth. These dinners have always been happy occasions to me. Please present to those assembled a loving greeting from Mrs. Bryan and myself.

"On the last anniversary we exulted over the great victory our party had won throughout the nation, and yet every joy was restrained by a sense of responsibility for the proper use of the authority conferred. Today we look over a year rich in achievements. President Wilson has more than realized our highest hopes by the splendid record he has made.

"If I may be pardoned for referring to the part with which the president has honored me, I am glad to report progress. It has been my privilege to sign the document which concluded the twenty years' contest for the popular election of senators and added to the Constitution the amendment making this change.

"The signing of peace treaties is the most pleasant of my tasks. The governments which have already accepted the principle represent more than three-fourths of the population of the world. Thirteen treaties have been signed, four more have been authorized and some eight governments are now considering the details.

"In view of the triumph of the principles and policies for which the Democracy of Nebraska has contended for so many years, I beg to offer, as my contribution to your intellectual feast, a very appropriate sentiment expressed in most of the felicitous language by James Russell Lowell:

"'Get but the truth once uttered and it is like a star new born, that drops into its place, and which, once circling in its placid round, not all the tumult of the earth can shake.' Very truly yours,

"WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN."

Met Newspaper Men.

Washington, March 20.—The secretary's anniversary was celebrated on a scale quite unusual in the capitol. One of the features of the day was a little smoker given by the secretary to his many friends among the newspaper men whose duties bring them into close daily association with the secretary of state.

Later in the afternoon the secretary and Mrs. Bryan gave a reception to officials and employes of the department of state and the ladies of their families.

candidacy for the office of representative from the Thirty-third legislative district of the state on a party ticket at a primary election to be held Sept. 15, 1914. The auditor refused to receive and file the affidavit. He is the officer with whom filings are made. An alternative writ of mandamus was issued. By laws 1912, chapter 2, section 2, amending revised laws 1905, section 182, candidates for judicial offices, county superintendents of schools and municipal officers in cities of the first class were nominated upon separate ballots designated as non-partisan ballots. By laws 1913, chapter 389, section 2, amending revised laws 1905, section 182, as amended by laws 1912, chapter 2, section 2, members of the legislature are also nominated upon separate non-partisan ballots. By revised laws 1905, section 181, and laws 1912, chapter 2, section 1, the general primary election for 1914 would be held on Tuesday, seven weeks preceding the general November election, that is, on Sept. 15, 1914. By laws 1913, chapter 389, section 1, amending revised laws 1905, section 182, as amended by laws 1912, chapter 2, section 1, the date of the general primary is changed to the third Tuesday in June preceding the general November election. There are other changes made in the primary law, some of which will be noted as we proceed. The court quashed the alternative writ and the relator appeals. The question is whether chapter 389, laws 1913, is constitutional. Its constitutionality is attacked on the following grounds:

"(1) That the title of the act embraces more than one subject.

"(2) That the subject of the act is not expressed in its title.

"(3) That the provisions of the act are not germane to the subject matter of the statutes which it amends.

"(4) That the act is special and class legislation.

"These objections are not trivial. They were thoroughly well argued. They invite serious consideration; and we have taken such time as was found necessary to reach a mature and satisfactory judgment.

The Title of the Act.

"1. The Constitution, article 4, section 27, is as follows: 'No law shall embrace more than one subject, which shall be expressed in its title.'

"Similar constitutional provisions are found in other states. Sometimes the word object instead of subject is used. If there is a difference in the application of them the word subject is less restrictive than the word object. Lien vs. Board, 80 Minn. 58; State vs. Cassidy, 22 Minn. 312.

"The title of laws 1913, chapter 389, is as follows: 'An act to amend sections 181 and 182 of the revised laws 1905, as amended by chapter 2 of the general laws, special session 1912, section 184 of the revised laws 1905, as amended by chapter 226, general laws 1907, and chapter 95, general laws 1909, and chapter 2, general laws, special session 1912, section 187, revised laws 1905, section 200, revised laws 1905, and section 213, revised laws 1905, and section 217, revised laws 1905, all as amended by chapter 2, general laws, special session 1912, and to repeal a part of section 18 of chapter 2, special session 1912.

"The revised laws have no title as that term is generally understood. The amendment of 1913 could not have referred to them by title. It could have added the words, 'relating to primary elections,' or similar words, and had it done so no question would likely be made as to the sufficiency of the title. The body of law included in revised laws 1905 was the result of a revision by an official commission. The revision was adopted by an act entitled 'An act to revise, consolidate and codify the general laws,' approved April 18, 1905. The title was appropriate. State vs. Great Northern Ry. company, 100 Minn. 445. This act provided that the revision should be known as revised laws 1905. The sections amended by the act of 1913 are a part of chapter 6 of the revision. The sections referring to primary elections were enacted under a general head of 'Nominations by direct vote.' The section headings, as they now appear in the revision, were in the revision as enacted by the legislature. By laws 1905, chapter 218, providing for the editing and annotating of the revision, the sections were required to be numbered consecutively throughout. Before they were numbered by chapter. As the revision went through the legislature section 181, under a different number, was a part of chapter 6, and under the general head of 'Nominations by direct vote,' and with the section heading as is now indicated in the revision. The same is true of the other sections. Chapter 6 referred to elections and completely covered the subject of general laws and primary elections. The revised laws are required to be designated as 'Revised laws 1905.' Revised laws 1905, section 5504.

Two Definite Purposes.

"There are two definite purposes of the constitutional provision hereinbefore quoted. One is to prevent fraud upon the public and the legislature by permitting the passage of acts, the nature of which their titles do not disclose. Another is to prevent the passage of unrelated measures by a combination of interests each particularly concerned with one or more and careless of the others. These purposes were early expressed in State vs. Cassidy, 32 Minn. 312, as follows: 'The well-known object of this section of the Constitution • • • was to secure to every distinct measure of legislation a separate consideration and decision, dependent solely upon its individual merits, by prohibiting the fraudulent insertion therein of matters wholly foreign, and in no way related to or connected with its subject, and by preventing the combination of different measures, dissimilar in character, purposes and objects, but united together with the sole view, by this means, of compelling the requisite support to secure their passage.'

"In People vs. Mahoney, 13 Mich. 481, the court, in referring to a like constitutional provision, said: 'The practice of bringing together into one bill subjects diverse in their nature, and having no necessary connection, with a view to combine in their favor the advocates of all, and thus secure the passage of several measures, no one of which could succeed upon its own merits, was one both corruptive of the legislator and dangerous to the state. It was scarcely more so, however, than another practice, also intended to be remedied by this provision, by which, through dexterous management, clauses were inserted in bills of which the titles gave no intimation, and their passage secured through legislative bodies whose members were not generally aware of their intention and effect.'

What Was Sought to Prevent.

"Illustrations are plentiful in territorial days of legislation induced by one or both of the motives against which the constitutional provision is directed. In State vs. Shevlin-Carpenter company, 99 Minn. 168, the present chief justice, in considering the purpose of this provision of the Constitution, and as an illustration of the practices which the Constitution sought to avoid, referred to Laws 1855, chapter 34, where, under an act entitled 'An act to incorporate the Root River Valley & Southern Minnesota Railroad company,' the legislature incorporated the railroad, located the county seat of Fillmore county, declared Wright county duly organized, and provided for the appointment of certain officers for it. This illustration may be supplemented by reference to an act a year earlier, Laws 1854, chapter 42, entitled 'An act relative to sheep and swine,' which, after regulating the running at large upon the open commons of the animals of the kind mentioned, provided that 'no person shall be eligible to hold any office under the laws of this territory who has not been a resident of this territory for six months preceding his election or appointment.' These are exaggerated instances, but they are practical illustrations of the legislation with which the framers of the Constitution were familiar.

"With the purpose of the constitutional provision in view we come directly to a consideration of the single question whether the title of an amendatory act referring by number to the sections of the revision, as such revision is amended by specified chapters of subsequent session laws, and repealing certain session laws, without reciting by descriptive words the matter to which the revision or the amendatory act itself relates, or giving the titles of the session laws, is constitutionally sufficient. In support of the view that such an amendment is constitutional as against the claim that its subject is not expressed in its title we cite as typical a statute of Maryland entitled 'An act to amend Article 95 of the Code of Public General Laws by adding an additional section thereto,' which was upheld in second German etc. Ass. vs. Newman, 50 Md. 62, where the court said: 'It was not necessary to state in the title that the section to be added to the code related to the subject of usury; the reference to the particular articles in the code, which relates only to the subject of usury, clearly indicated the subject of the law.'

A Nebraska Decision.

"Another, a statute of Nebraska, entitled: 'An act to amend Section 4 of Chapter 55 of the Compiled Statutes of Nebraska,' which was upheld in Dogge vs. State, 17 Neb., 140, where the court said: 'All that the law requires is that the amendatory statute shall be definite and certain as to the statute amended. This may be accomplished as well by designating the chapter in the compiled statutes as by referring to the act by its title. The legislature alone decides upon the title of an act or amendment thereto, and the act will not be declared unconstitional unless it is clearly so. The title to the amendatory act in this case is sufficient, and the act is valid.'

"And another, a statute of North Dakota, entitled: 'An act to amend Section 10 of Chapter 38, Laws of 1887, being Section 545 of the Compiled Laws,' upheld by the circuit court of appeals of this circuit in Steele county vs. Erskine, 93 Fed. 315, where Judge Caldwell, delivering the opinion, said: 'The subject of the act was the amendment of that section which was accurately and appropriately designated, and the section as amended was set out in full in the act. The title sufficiently designated the subject of the act. It plainly indicated the object and purpose of the act, which is all the Constitution requires. The subject of a statute is one thing, and its detailed provisions quite another; one is the topic, the other its treatment; one is required to be stated in the title, the other not.'

"Other cases properly cited in support of the sufficiency of the title are the following: Tomack vs. Carner, 31 S. W., 378, affirming 10 Tex. Civ. App. 367, 30 S. W., 699; Montgomery vs. State, 107 Ala., 373; State vs. Brown, 41 La. An., 771; Garrison vs. Hill, 81 Md., 551; Ross vs. Aguirre, 191 U. S., 60; Heath vs. Johnson, 58 W. V., 782, 785.

"The rule stated is supported by the statements of text writers. 1 Sutherland Stat. Cons., section 141; 36 Cyc., 1029, 1030; 26 Am. and Eng. Enc. Law, 582.

"Opposed to it are the following cases: State vs. Superior Court, 28 Wash., 317; Pennington vs. Woolfolk, 79 Ky., 18; Webster vs. Powell, 36 Fla., 703; Cunter vs. Texas & Co., 32 Tex., 496; People vs. Briggs, 50 N. Y., 553; Tingue vs. Village, 101 N. Y., 294; Boring vs. State, 141 Ind., 640.

"The citation of cases is not exhaustive, though, avoiding a duplication of cases from the same jurisdiction, it is fairly complete, for the cases directly and precisely in point are few. Those cited are of direct value and the weight of authority undoubtedly is that an amendatory act, such as chapter 389, is not unconstitutional because of a failure to state the subject in the title more precisely than by a reference to the statutes and laws amended. We adopt such view.

Expressing Subject of the Act.

"2. The related question whether the amendatory act contains more than one subject yields readily to a careful analysis.

"We have already discussed the purpose of the constitutional provision. It is true that the amending act refers to many different matters as subjects, such as the filing by candidates for nomination, the preparation of ballots, the method of voting, registration, polling places, nomination by voters and in general all the details from the filing for nomination to the canvass of the votes and the declaration of the result; but all the separate subjects relate naturally and logically and necessarily to the one general subject of primary elections. The following language of Justice Mitchell in Johnson vs. Harrison, 47 Minn., 575, is applicable. 'It is not intended nor should it be so construed as to embarrass legislation by making laws unnecessarily restrictive in their scope and operation, or by multiplying their number, or by preventing the legislature from embracing in one act all matters properly connected with one general subject. The term "subject," as used in the constitution, is to be given a broad and extended meaning, so as to allow the legislature full scope to include in one act all matters having a logical or natural connection. To constitute duplicity of subject, an act must embrace two or more dissimilar and discordant subjects that by no fair intendment can be considered as having any legitimate connection with or relation to each other. All that is necessary is that the act should embrace some one general subject; and by this is meant, merely, that all matters treated of should fall under some one general idea, be so connected with or related to each other, either logically or in popular understanding, as to be parts of, or germane to, one general subject.'

"The general subject of the sections of the Revised Laws, 1905, amended by later session laws and by the act of 1913, is the subject of primary elections. This general subject has many included subjects, for the subject of primary elections is one of complicated detail; but they are parts of the general subject to which they relate. 'Indeed, it matters not that an act embraces, technically, more than one subject, one of which only is expressed in the title, so that they are not foreign and extraneous.' State vs. Madson, 43 Minn. 438.

"The act of 1913, in the Constitutional sense, embraces but one subject.

Germane to Subject Matter.

"3. Chapter 389 is amendatory and its provisions must be germane to the statutes amended.

"The general subject of the statutes amended is primary elections. It is clear to us that there is such logical and practical connection and relationship between the subject matter of the statutes amended and the subject matter of the amending act that the latter is germane. From the standpoint of practical legislation it cannot be otherwise. The changes which particularly affect the relator are the change of the date of the primaries and the change of candidates for the legislature from the partisan to the non-partisan ballot. There is no substantial question as to the propriety of the change by amendment of the date of the primary.

Chapter 2, Section 2 of the Laws of 1912, amending R. L. 1905, Section 182, provides for the nomination of certain officers, not including members of the house of representatives, on a non-partisan ballot. It was a matter of legislative discretion later to provide for the nomination of members of the house upon a non-partisan ballot. This was well enough done by amending the act which provided for the nomination of other officers upon a non-partisan ballot. We think the same is true of other provisions to which our attention was called in argument; and we see no change or addition made by chapter 389 which might not be made properly by amendment.

"The following cases illustrate various applications of the rule requiring the amending statute to be germane: State vs. Smith, 35 Minn. 257; State vs. Madson, 43 Minn. 438; O'Brien vs. St. Croix Boom Corp., 75 Minn. 343; McCollister vs. Bishop, 78 Minn. 228; Loper vs. State, 82 Minn. 71. Within them the amending act of 1913 is germane to the amended statute.

Not Class Legislation.

"4. The relator contends that the amendatory act of 1913 is unconstitutional because it is special legislation and because it is class legislation.

"Without stating all the details of the relator's contention, and without always distinguishing between special legislation and class legislation, the broad claim is that there is an unconstitutional classification of the municipalities affected by the act, some being made subject to it and others relieved from it; that there is an improper classification of candidates with respect to the time for filing for nomination, some being required to file within a designated period and others within a different period; that there is an improper classification of candidates as non-partisan and partisan, without a proper basis of distinction; that it is an improper classification to require partisan candidates to be put in classes upon the primary ballot and to prohibit non-partisan candidates from being so placed; and that there is an improper classification with regard to the nomination of candidates by petition. These are not all of the relator's specific claims but they illustrate.

"We recognize the rule applicable to special legislation stated in Johnson vs. St. Paul & D. R. company, 43 Minnesota 222, that 'not only must it (the law) treat alike, under the same conditions, all who are brought "within its influence," but in its classification it must bring within its influence all who are under the same conditions.' We have considered all of the cases cited by the relator. Space does not permit of their review nor would a detailed discussion of them be with profit. The problem of classification for purposes of legislation is a vexing one, whether the claim be that the legislation is special or class. To a considerable extent classification must be a matter of legislative determination and discretion. In Magoun vs. Illinois Trust & Savings bank, 170 U. S. 283, the court, in referring to classification by states, for purposes of legislation, said: 'In other words, the state may distinguish, select and classify objects of legislation, and necessarily this power must have a wide range of discretion. It is not without limitation, of course.'

"In Orient Insurance company vs. Daggs, 172 U. S. 557, in discussing an alleged discrimination by classification, the court again said: 'It is not necessary to state the reasoning upon which classification by legislation is based or justified. This court • • • lately reviewed the subject in Magoun vs Illinois Trust & Savings bank, 170 U. S. 283. We said in that case that "the state may distinguish, select and classify objects of legislation and necessarily the power must have a wide range of discretion." And this because of the function of legislation and the purpose to which it is addressed. Classification for such purposes is not invalid because not depending on scientific or marked differences in things or persons or in their relations. It suffices if it is practical, and is not reviewable unless palpably arbitrary.'

Within Legislature's Province.

"It was within the province of the legislature to say when the primary should be held, and what officers should stand for nomination on the partisan and what on the non-partisan ballot. The same is true of the other grounds of classification claimed to be invalid so far as our search has led us.

In a general body of statutory law, providing for a state-wide primary with all the machinery necessarily incident to it, it is largely for the legislature to say how officers and municipalities shall be classified, how particular officers shall be nominated, and how expression shall be given to the preferences of the voters. The legislature may make such regulations as are reasonable and impartial and fair. State vs. Erickson, 119 Minn. 152; State vs. Moore, 87 Minn. 308.

"The attorney general contends that the relator can make no complaint of the changes made by chapter 389 except that relative to the time of holding the general primary and that relative to placing candidates for the legislature upon the non-partisan ballot; and he cites authorities in support of his contention. We have not examined the authorities and we do not find it necessary to rest our decision upon the contention made. So far as a somewhat thorough investigation has led us we see no provision in the chapter which renders it unconstitutional because not germane, or because special legislation, or because class legislation.

"We place our decision upon the broad ground that the act is constitutional as against the objections that the subject thereof is not expressed in its title, that it embraces more than one subject, that its subject-matter is not germane to the statutes amended, and that it is special or class legislation.

YOUR FRECKLES

Need Attention in February and March or Face Will Stay Covered.

Now is the time to take special care of the complexion if you wish it to look well the rest of the year. The February and March winds have a strong tendency to bring out freckles that may stay all Summer unless removed. Now is the time to use othine—double strength.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful that it is sold by Boyce drug store under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Get an ounce of othine—double strength, and even a few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the smaller freckles even vanishing entirely.

HENRY CLEVELAND.

Duluth's "Municipal Daddy" would be a fitting appropriate title for Henry Cleveland, manager of the park system.

For if Henry Cleveland has any failings, one of them is a pronounced weakness for the "kids." He's for the youngsters any time and all the time. If you want him to talk just say "kids" and no other prompting is necessary.

As manager of the parks he has had charge of the playgrounds and the outdoor skating rinks since they were first started in this city. He has aided in their equipment and maintenance and has spent much time and thought in establishing them firmly as permanent institutions of Duluth. Last fall he was the moving spirit and general in chief at the big Hallowe'en party which the city gave for the boys and girls of Duluth at Lake Shore park.

But encouraging the "kids" is only a small part of what the park manager does. In fact, it's a side issue, for which he manages to squeeze in time from his other work. For looking after Duluth's parks is a good-sized job the way Manager Cleveland handles it. He maintains the parks, keeping them spick and span, particularly during the summer season. He superintends the planting of shade trees and flower gardens, builds and keeps up walks and driveways, constructs retaining walls where necessary, and does a multitude of other things incidental to his position. This season he will superintend the improvement of Lake Shore park, the building of another extension to the western end of the boulevard and the erection of comfortable stations in Fairmont, Lincoln and Chester parks.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota supreme court today rendered the following decisions:

Hennepin County.

Charles Matthias, appellant, vs. Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railway company, respondent.

The smoke, noise and disturbance which ordinarily attend the proper operation of a railroad at and between stations should not be held a private nuisance to adjacent property affected thereby.

But as to such incidental railway facilities as shops, roundhouses and switch yards, of the character here involved, the location and operation of which is not determined by public convenience or necessity, the railroad is liable if thereby a nuisance is imposed upon an adjacent land owner, even though the location of the facility be proper and the operation thereof duly careful.

If the ordinary careful location and operation of such railroad facility as the one here in question creates a private nuisance upon adjacent property such property is thereby damaged within the purview of the Constitution entitling the owner to compensation.

Under the evidence the question whether the operation of defendant's switch yard imposed a private nuisance upon plaintiff was for the jury.

Judgment reversed.

HOLT, J.

Bennington County.

T. J. Fay, respondent, vs. Bankers' Surety company, appellant.

Robert McGinn, sole trader under the name of McGinn, Hardman company, respondent, vs. Bankers' Surety company, appellant.

S. O. Prestegard, respondent, vs. Bankers' Surety company, appellant.

A county ditch contractor's bonds held to be valid statutory obligations to the extent of the fair import of the language used in their conditions, but no further.

Evidence in actions on such bonds held sufficient to connect the items sued for with the ditches covered by the bonds.

Axes, hack-saw blades, horse feed, and provisions, held not "materials" furnished in the execution of the contract, within the meaning of the bonds.

Items for coal and wood consumed in generating power used in the ditching work, and for labor as cook for the workmen, held within the terms of the bonds.

The issue of noncompliance with G. S. 1913, section 5658, requiring notice of assignments of wages to be given to the employer, held sufficiently raised by defendant's general denial of assignments sued on.

This statute sustained, as against a claim that it is unconstitutional as infringing upon freedom to contract and on the ground of class legislation.

Double costs under G. S. 1913, section 7975, held improperly allowed where no claim therefor was made in the complaint, and no proof of the right thereto on the trial.

Orders modified.

PHILIP E. BROWN, J.

Hennepin County.

N. A. Madler, respondent, vs. Twin City box factory, appellant. Shevlin-Carpenter Lumber company, et al, respondents—

The defendant owned a ground lease. The building was burned. By agreement between the defendant and the fee owner the insurance money was deposited as security for rebuilding. The ground lease was afterwards assigned to the plaintiff upon condition that he rebuild the building. Liens accrued against the ground lease. The fee owner gave notice forfeiting the leasehold. The defendant purchased the fee and claimed a forfeiture. It is held that by purchasing the fee, after the forfeiture by the fee owner, the defendant could not defeat the liens against the ground lease.

Judgment affirmed. PER CURIAM.

Hennepin County.

Clarence R. Wilkinson, et al, respondents, vs. Hugh V. Mercer, et al, defendants, Hugh V. Mercer, appellant—

1. The Minnesota employes' compensation commission created by laws 1909, chapter 28, was not a governmental agency of the state, nor were its members public officers, so that they were relieved from personal liability for debts contracted in the name of the commission beyond the amount of its appropriation, with a creditor having no knowledge of the deficiency.

2. If the members contracted debts in behalf of the commission, in excess of their appropriation, without disclosing its condition, they are personally liable; but if they disclosed the condition of the appropriation, so that the plaintiffs, who contracted to do work for them, knew that the fund would be insufficient to pay for the work for which they contracted, and they dealt with them as a commission, without stipulating for personal liability, they cannot recover of them personally.

3. With the ground of liability as stated there was no variance between the complaint alleging a contract with the defendants and proof that the defendants did not disclose the condition of the fund, nor did the fact that the plaintiffs obtained knowledge of the condition of the fund, after the performance of a substantial portion of the work, prevent a recovery.

4. Applying the rules states it is held that the evidence justifies the verdict for the plaintiffs.

Judgment affirmed. DIBELL, C.

Cass County.

Robert Lassman, respondent, vs. Tollef Jacobson, et al, appellants—

A loan for which the borrower paid the maximum interest and in addition paid the mortgage registry tax upon the mortgage given to secure the same, held not usurious.

Judgment reversed. HOLT, J.

Brown, C. J., and Hallan, J., dissent.

FEARS CONNECTICUT IS GOING TO SUFFER

Governor Baldwin Asks Leniency Toward the New Haven.

Waterbury, Conn., March 20.—Federal proceedings against the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, in their present aspect, were condemned last night as too drastic by Governor Baldwin, in an address before the Waterbury Chamber of Commerce. He also said that the proposed board of interstate trade regulation looked to him as a serious menace to the prosperity of the manufacturing interests of Connecticut.

Governor Baldwin, after touching upon the state's development by reason of a great transportation system, said that it looked to him as if that system was to be lost.

"Unless we can keep our transportation credit good," he said, "we cannot keep our trade prosperous. The railroads are the life blood of the state. A great transportation system, dominated by one strong man, is always in some danger. His death may disarrange it. J. Pierpont Morgan bore such a relation to the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. He largely shaped its policies and directed its finance. His death unshipped the rudder. The boat swung around. It is now lying in the trough of the sea. The waves of financial disorder are breaking over it.

Opposes Government Demands.

"The Federal authorities seem to me to be asking too much. If it is deemed necessary to require the sale of any of the property of the road, it ought to have time enough to dispose of it; not to the best advantages, but at least a fair price. It is not a case for an auction sale, rain or shine, under a red flag."

Governor Baldwin condemned the tendency to govern "by Federal commissions" and investigation agencies "composed of men who know little of the wants of a community."

Of the trade regulation bill, the governor said that judging from newspaper reports, it would be unfavorable to the commercial dealings of Connecticut with her sister states.

MAN OF 60 STILL USEFUL, SAYS TAFT

Former President Comments on Discretion Years Brings One.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 20.—Former President William H. Taft does not believe that a man at 60 years of age has outlived his usefulness, by any means. On the other hand he believes a man at that age has but reached his zenith, and profiting by the experiences of his youth is better able to perform the work that is cut out for him. Addressing a mass meeting of University of Minnesota students yesterday afternoon Mr. Taft said:

"When a man is 60 and looks back on life he is able to recognize the defects which have come to him through lack of self-restraint and self-sacrifice. We know so much at 60; we think we ought to rush in and help the young men and young women to avoid the same pitfalls."

Discusses Famous Decisions.

In his lecture before the law school of the university later in the day, Mr. Taft discussed the Standard Oil and American Tobacco decisions and others since the enactment of the Sherman anti-trust law.

"No man," he declared, "who has read this series of decisions need be doubtful, when he is making a business arrangement, whether or not he is violating the law. By searching his own heart he can tell what his interest and purpose is, and what the effect of his act is going to be. If what he is dealing with is interstate commerce, if his intention is to reduce competition and gain control of the business in any particular branch; if that is his main purpose and not an incidental one; if except for that purpose he would not go into the arrangement, then he knows he is violating the law, and no sophistry, no declaration of other purposes need mislead him. It is a question of proof to others, but with him it is a question of intention and necessary effect."

"Mere bigness," Mr. Taft said, "in itself, does not constitute a violation of the statute, but power to restrain competition must be shown."

FUNDS TO REBUILD WELLESLEY LACKING.

Boston, Mass., March 20.—The immediate future of Wellesley college is in doubt as a result of the financial loss sustained in the fire which last Tuesday destroyed college hall, the one great building of the institution. The true situation, it was said, was not realized until the executive committee met and discovered that the estimated loss of $900,000 was based on assessor's valuation of great depreciated property and that the insurance obtainable represented only about one-fourth of the probable cost of restoration.

Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, president of the executive committee, said that within a few days he would call the trustees together to take some definite action toward putting the college immediately into working order, but at present, he said, the officers were at sea as to what steps to take.

President Ellen F. Pendleton of the college said that all the students had been notified to be back in three weeks and that it was hoped to resume sessions at that time.

NEW GRAIN VESSEL OF RECORD SIZE

W. Grant Morden Will Carry 500,000 Bushels of Wheat.

What is claimed to be the largest grain-carrying steamship in the world will be launched at Port Arthur on April 4. The steamer was built at the American Shipbuilding company's Canadian plant for the Canada Steamship Lines, and it will be named the W. Grant Morden. The capacity of the new boat will be approximately 500,000 bushels of wheat. Its equipment will be of the very latest and it will carry Lloyd's highest classification.

The management of the company is looking forward to a good season in the grain and general freight carrying trade, in view of the greatly increased acreage expected to go under crop in the three Western Canadian provinces this spring.

"SUSPENDER JACK" WORKS FOR THAW.

Albany, N. Y., March 20.—"Suspender Jack" McGee, the former New York policeman who started the stampede for Oscar S. Straus for governor at the Progressive convention in 1912, has appeared in Albany as an agent of Harry K. Thaw. McGee said he was serving without compensation.

Mr. McGee had a large collection of petitions, said to have been signed by 150,000 persons, favorable to the Golden resolution pending in the assembly, which would instruct the state officials to discontinue their efforts to have Thaw extradited. Two New York lawyers also were here in Thaw's interests.

The Easter Blouses Are Irresistibly Charming

We did not dream you would be so eager to buy them. Why! we have already started in selling them in a way that gives promise of a brilliant blouse season. The vogue for the separate skirt is big. Incidentally the separate blouses will be in great favor. The new arrivals are truly confections of Modistes' Art. Paris models have been cleverly copied and still more cleverly adapted to the needs of American good dressers and we have seen that you should have your choice of the pick of the new styles.

Choose from models made up of Chiffon and Lace and finished with fine pleated and hemstitched net, collars, lapels and cuffs. Fronts are open—in some cases decidedly. All are net lined. There are charming ideas in the new shades of Gold, Amber, Helio, Labrador Blue, Green, Copper, Tango, Taupe, Navy and Black. See the showing in our east window.

Prices range $5.98, $6.50, $7.50, $8.50 and $10 for extremely popular models.

Other styles in many instances but one or two of a kind, prices range from $12.50 to $18.50.

A Suit with Oriental Touches—$35

IN Wooltex suit, Number 300, we show one of the smartest styles of the season. The embroidery of Persian design used in the jacket is suggestive of the Orient. Some of the interesting styles points in the jacket are the flounce effect in front ending in point under arm and a modish fullness in the back held by a belt. The skirt has a wide full length plait in front and a plait on each side at the bottom and loose double tucks in back. In many new materials, priced unusually low—$35. Alterations, if required, at a small additional charge.

New Postilion Suit—$25

A VERY clever effect is secured in suit on second figure, Number 331, by the smartly tailored cutaway jacket with the postilion effect in the back. The collar is made of woven striped silk; short kimono sleeves have single plait at wrist trimmed with self colored cord. The plain tailored skirt has fullness at hips and slit at bottom. Materials include a variety of new crepe weaves. An unusual value at the price—$25. Alterations, if required, at a small additional charge.

Handsome Walking Coat—$20

A REFINED original style is this coat, Number 8, made in a variety of novelty cloths. Note the stitched line across the bust which terminates in cuff of kimona sleeve. Each cuff is trimmed with button and buttonhole. Coat buttons with two straps with loops attached. The distinguishing feature of this coat is the back, which has a broad shaped belt, trimmed with single button and buttonhole, which holds the umbrella effect correctly by two box plaits in the middle of back. Price $20. Alterations, if required, at a small additional charge.

Come In and Try Them On!

These suits are made in a wide variety of cloths in novel and distinctive weaves and colorings. Here and here only in this city have you the advantage of being able to purchase a Wooltex coat or suit, the highest type tailored garments for women.

This Is a Season of Printed Fabrics

Never before have such rich handsome fabrics been shown or such beautiful combinations of colors.

We are showing them on Pussy Willow Taffeta, Foulard, Terry Silk, Shantungs, Crepe de Chine and Canton Crepes. All are soft draping fabrics that make the most effective gown or waists. Some of them are foreign manufacture—however, most of them are domestic designing and printing.

The new Paul Poiret designs and colorings are ready.

They offer the most agreeable change from plain fabrics. They can be used in combination with plain materials, or, made up entirely alone. Prices range as low as 85c a yd. for the 23-inch—$1.50 and $2.00 for the 40-inch—and on up by easy stages to $7 the yard.

Plan on Them for That Spring Gown or Waist.

Many Tub Silks Will Be Used This Season

The designs and qualities offered this season are entirely different from those you have seen before. There are no gingham styles but cleverly new ideas brought out for this particular style of fabric. Some of them are woven of extra quality crepe de chine. All of them in stripe effects, some have little jacquard figures woven between the stripes to be used for separate waists and dresses, girls' dresses and men's shirts. 32 inches wide, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 the yard.

See Yourself in a Spring Hat Here Tomorrow

Decided charm and character is revealed in the hats we wish to show you tomorrow.

Styles that are artistic—refined—unusual — and yet at "usual prices."

Let the smart street hats at $5.00 to $10.00 prove how well we've succeeded in our efforts to please you particular people.

Our milliners are close students of style — and artists in its expression. They study your face and features—and give you hats with personality.

NEW PARCEL POST RULES

Duluth Office Receives Regulations Governing Perishable Shipments.

Eggs, Butter and Vegetables Must Be Securely Packed.

The Duluth postoffice officials have received amendments and extracts from the parcel post rules and regulations, which emphasize certain points of general interest at this time of year. These rules cover the transportation of eggs, poultry, vegetables, fruits and various perishable products and also communications sent with fourth-class matter. These points are covered as follows:

On Communications.

"Section 458, postal laws and regulations, edition of 1913, is amended by addition of the following paragraph 5½:

"When the sender desires that a parcel of fourth-class matter, on which postage is fully prepaid, with stamps affixed at the rate for that class, be accompanied with a communication which is not a permissible inclosure at the fourth-class rate, the communication may be placed in an envelope, and after the full amount of postage at the first-class rate is affixed to the envelope, it may be tied to or otherwise securely attached to the outside of the parcel in such manner as to prevent its separation therefrom and not to interfere with the address on the parcel. The envelope shall be addressed to correspond with the address on the parcel. Parcels to which such communications are attached shall in all cases be treated as fourth-class mail."

Perishable Matter.

Section 475 reads: "Parcels containing perishable articles shall be marked 'Perishable.' Articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery shall not be accepted for mailing.

"Butter, lard and perishable articles such as fish, meats, dressed fowls, vegetables, fruits, berries and articles of a similar nature, which decay quickly, when so packed or wrapped as to prevent damage to other mail matter, shall be accepted for local delivery either at the office of mailing or on any rural route starting therefrom. When inclosed in an inner cover and a strong outer cover of wood, metal, heavy corrugated pasteboard or other suitable material, and wrapped so that nothing can escape from the package, they will be accepted for mailing to all offices to which in the ordinary course of mail they can be sent without spoiling.

"Butter, dressed fowls, vegetables, fruits and other perishable articles in parcels weighing more than twenty pounds shall be accepted for mailing to offices in the first and second zones when suitably wrapped or inclosed and packed in crates, boxes or other suitable containers having tight bottoms to prevent the escape of anything from the package and so constructed as properly to protect the contents. All such parcels to be transported outside of mail bags.

"Vegetables and fruits which do not decay quickly will be accepted for mailing to any zone if packed so as to prevent damage to other mail matter.

"Eggs shall be accepted for local delivery when so packed in a basket or other container as to prevent damage to other mail matter.

On Mailing Eggs.

"Eggs shall be accepted for mailing regardless of distance when each egg is wrapped separately and surrounded with excelsior or other suitable material and packed in a strong container made of double faced corrugated pasteboard, metal, wood or other suitable material and wrapped so that nothing can escape from the package. All such parcels shall be labeled 'eggs.'

"Eggs in parcels weighing more than twenty pounds shall be accepted for mailing to offices in the first and second zones when packed in crates, boxes, buckets or other containers having tight bottoms to prevent the escape of anything from the package and so constructed as properly to protect the contents. Such packages to be marked 'eggs, this side up,' and to be transported outside of mail bags.

"Section 1629. Mail matter shall not be carried outside of the regular mail bags except second-class matter marked for outside delivery as provided in Section 1613 or matter the character, form or weight of which prevents it from being carried in the mail bags or makes it liable to damage mail."

HICKEN MAY FACE RECALL

Enemies to His Law Enforcement Policy Back of Move.

Report has it that a petition is to be circulated for the recall of Commissioner William A. Hicken, head of the division of public safety.

The rumor has been current at various times since he assumed his office last April and instituted the first real law-enforcement administration which Duluth has ever had. Lately it has been revived, and it is claimed that this time a recall petition will actually be circulated. It has gained considerable credence in the downtown section.

Those said to be back of the move are men whose pocketbooks are alleged to have been hit by the law-enforcement policy which has been in effect for nearly a year. They say that Commissioner Hicken's policy has been too stringent and that there has been too much law. They want more liberality in the safety division.

A recall petition must contain signatures of voters equivalent in number to 25 per cent of the total vote cast at the last general city election. The vote at the election a year ago was about 11,000, so that a recall petition would have to contain approximately 2,750 signatures. After such a petition has been submitted, the council must, within ten days from the date of its filing, call a special election to be held not less than forty nor more than 60 days of the date of filing. In the published call of the election the reason for it must be stated in not more than 200 words, and in the same statement the officer sought to be recalled may justify his course in a statement of not more than 200 words.

VICTORY IS COMPLETE

Lake Lines Are Not Allowed to Charge for Refrigeration.

Must Transport Dairy Products Without Any Extra Charge.

The Duluth interests have won a complete and decisive victory in the matter of rates on lake steamers which will carry dairy products, and which, for that purpose are installing refrigeration facilities.

In a letter received this morning by G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Commercial club and by Bridgeman-Russell company, B. H. Meyer of the interstate commerce commission, informs them that these steamers should carry dairy products and refrigerate them without extra charge. This was the point that was in dispute when the representatives of the lake lines were here in conference with the Duluth interests a few weeks ago. The roads wanted to make an extra charge for the refrigeration but to this the Duluth people entered strenuous objection. The matter, therefore, was referred to the interstate commerce commission with the result mentioned.

One feature of the whole case was the magnanimous stand taken by Henry Bridgeman of the Bridgeman-Russell company, but unsuccessfully made. That company, together with the Northern Cold Storage & Warehouse company paid the bills of the fight for refrigeration on lake steamers. The co-operative creameries of the Northwest were asked to take part, not in the expense but in the demand for refrigeration, but none of them seemed to take interest. So the vessel lines have determined to install only enough refrigeration to accommodate the Duluth interests, in view of the fact that the country creameries did not seem to think the demand of enough value to them to participate. Mr. Bridgeman fought against this stand of the lines even though his own interests were being served by the lines. He insisted that the country be given equal accommodation. It was remarked at the time that the spectacle of a centralizer of dairy products making a fight for the co-operative creameries—his supposed worst enemies—was a rather unusual one. But the vessel lines would not do as he asked, and therefore the only shippers that will be accommodated this season will be those from Duluth.

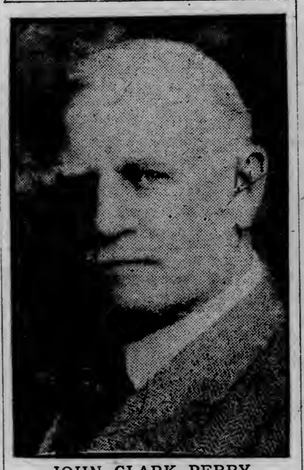
In the letter received today from the interstate commerce commission Mr. Mever says in part:

"In common with my colleagues, I was impressed by the argument of the Duluth people that the westbound rate, second class, including insurance, is 54 cents, while the eastbound rate, without insurance, is 65 cents. Furthermore the Duluth people urged that the all-rail rate, second class, L. C. L., included refrigeration, and that it was but logical to assume that the water rate of 65 cents included refrigeration, and that their estimates of tonnage had been based upon this assumption. You remember that on behalf of the lake carriers it was stated that 10 cents would fairly cover the special refrigeration service which it is proposed to install experimentally upon certain boats. Deducting this 10 cents from 65 cents, the present published charge, leaves 55 cents as a transportation charge eastbound, compared with 54 cents westbound, including insurance; or deducting 3 cents for insurance, 51 cents westbound. Under these circumstances and in the light of all the arguments presented in conference, the commission is of the opinion that it would not be unfair to request the lake carriers to inaugurate the experiment on the basis of 65 cents for the entire service of transportation and refrigeration."

FORMER DULUTHIAN DEAD IN MILL CITY

John Clark Perry, 65 years old, who left Duluth four years ago after having resided here for nearly twenty years, died at 2:30 o'clock this morning at his home in Minneapolis, following an illness of several months. Mr. Perry had been failing in health for the last few weeks.

Mr. Perry came to Duluth with his family in 1891, coming here from South Dakota, where he had been engaged in the grain business. He became a partner in a grain company at West Duluth and was connected with the concern up to the time he left here four years ago to make his home in Minneapolis. He was in the land business in the latter city and was actively engaged in his work up to the time of his illness.



JOHN CLARK PERRY.

Besides a widow he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Henry Folz of 1932 Jefferson street, and Mrs. George H. Mayhew of Grand Marais, Minn.

The body of Mr. Perry will arrive at 7 o'clock Sunday evening and the funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the Masonic temple. It will be in charge of the local Masonic fraternity, of which Mr. Perry was a member. Interment will be at the Forest Hill cemetery.

GIVES TIP TO LEGISLATURE

State Supreme Court Suggests Recompense to McEwen and Mercer.

Holds State Commissioners Liable for Expenses Over Appropriation.

St. Paul, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hugh V. Mercer of Minneapolis, president of the State Bar association, and W. E. McEwen of Duluth, former state labor commissioner, will have to pay approximately $425 to Clarence R. Wilkinson, who printed the reports of the workmen's compensation commission created by the 1909 legislature, of which they were members, the amount still due on this contract.

This is the decision of the state supreme court in an opinion handed down today affirming the verdict of a jury in the Hennepin county district court. The court suggests, however, that the legislature ought to make up the amount expended by these men.

George Gillette of Minneapolis, also a member of the commission, was sued with Mercer and McEwen. He paid his share of the judgment, $213, while the other defendants appealed.

Exceeded Appropriation.

The commission was granted $5,000 for expenses by the legislature, but the bills contracted exceeded this by $638.

The court holds the commissioners are personally liable, although the decision was not unanimous, a minority of the court favoring a new trial. Commissioner Dibell wrote the opinion, which does not give the names of the dissenting justices.

"While of not the slightest consequence in the determination of this case," says the opinion, "it is not to be thought that the defendants will lose the amount which they are required to pay.

"They performed a distinguished and uncompensated service in an investigation for which they were chosen because of their peculiar fitness.

Has Accepted Their Work.

"The state has accepted their work, made use of it, and it is now the basis of an important body of statutory law. The state will not receive their freely-given service, and finally refuse to pay their expenses though they slightly exceeded the $5,000 appropriation."

This is about as near as the supreme court of Minnesota has ever gotten to telling the legislature what to do.

DENIES RATES MAKE PRICE OF ANTHRACITE

Philadelphia, Pa., March 20.—John F. Auch, vice president and traffic manager of the Philadelphia & Reading Railway company, declared on cross-examination today in the government's suit against the Reading company and others, that freight rates were not a controlling factor in determining the price of anthracite.

The government in its suit is attempting to separate the Reading company from its control of railroads and coal companies affiliated with the Reading or Jersey Central.

Mr. Auch, who is a witness for the defense, said market conditions largely enter into the question of price.

Counsel quoted a letter from President Baer of the Reading to President Fowler of one of the other anthracite roads, written in 1906, in which the Reading's chief feared that if other roads reduced coal freight rates, the coal companies would have to reduce prices.

Alaska and Yukon Pioneer Buys Duffy's With Gold Dust

Has Used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for the Past Twenty Years and Says It Gives Him Health and Power to Face the Hardships of Some of the Most Remote Mining Camps on This Continent.

"Years ago when I was under engagement as Mining and Metallurgical Engineer in Old Mexico—that was in '92 and '93—I was plumb broke down in health after some hard and strenuous work. I had Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey sent down to me especially—way up in the Sierra Madres Mountains, 200 miles northwest of the City of Durango—it put me on my feet, so as to face the hardships of this country.

"I am now 67 years old and it is quite a difference, although I think I am as young as ever and can undertake all kinds of hardships. I am considered one of the very oldest of Alaska and Yukon pioneers, as I started the first legitimate mining in Alaska in '77 before I went to Mexico—I built the first quartz mill in Alaska and mined the first gold ore out of rock; but I do break down and need a stimulant like your Duffy's Malt.

"We can't get anything here or within hundreds of miles around, but if you can ship a couple of bottles a month of your Elixir I would like to have you let me know. We have no currency here—our only exchange is gold dust—the commercial value of which is $17.00 per ounce. I'll ask you to accept such as currency and do inclose to you ¼ ounce, so send me what you can of Duffy's for it."—George E. Pilz, Jack Wade Creek P. O., Alaska.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is a very gentle, invigorating stimulant and tonic that influences for good every important organ of the body. It builds up the tissues, tones up the heart, and gives power to the brain, strength and elasticity to the muscles and richness to the blood. It brings into action all the vital forces, aids digestion and enables you to get from the food you eat all the nourishment it contains. It is invaluable for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children. It strengthens and sustains the system, is a promoter of good health and longevity, makes the old feel young and keeps the young strong and vigorous. Its rare purity and honest richness have won the friendship of the civilized world. It is more than a medicine—it will keep you well. Sold in sealed bottles only by most druggists, grocers and dealers, $1.00.

SOUR, UPSET STOMACHS FIXED IN FIVE MINUTES---PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Best for Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn and Dyspepsia—It's Great.

When your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

COPPER PRICES GO UP.

Sale of Several Million Pounds Causes Quick Advance.

An improved demand for copper for both domestic and foreign account set in this week, and as a result several million pounds of the metal was sold for immediate and April and May deliveries. The quotation was consequently advanced from 14¼c on Monday to 14½c a pound yesterday.

Predictions are being made freely at Boston and New York that, failing unfavorable developments, its price will be advanced to 15c on the present movement.

It has been noted by the trade that orders during the last few days have been for good-sized lots in contrast with the dribbling business that had been the rule during the last few months.

Duluth capitalists interested in the large producing companies express confidence that the firmer situation in copper metal will soon be reflected in higher mining stock quotations. Said Frederick R. Kennedy, secretary treasurer of the North Butte Copper company today: "There is a fair profit for producers with the metal selling at around a 15c basis. I would rather see the price stable at that figure than have it manipulated up perhaps several cents higher, as that policy always results in checking consumption and leads to a reaction sooner or later."

HASKINS IS RETURNED TO STATE'S PRISON.

Frank Whittier, parole agent of the state penitentiary, was in Duluth today and took back Arthur Haskins, who was arrested in Duluth yesterday on a charge of breaking his parole. Haskins, who denied yesterday that he was the right man, today admitted his identity to Whittier. The prisoner was released in 1910 and broke his parole in 1911. Authorities have been searching for him since. Officer Montgomery, who made the arrest of Haskins, will receive $25 reward from the state.

HARVARD DEBATE TEAMS ANNOUNCED.

Cambridge, Mass., March 20.—The Harvard debating teams that will take part in the triangular contest with Yale and Princeton next month are announced:

The team to meet Yale at New Haven is made up of H. F. Epstein, '16 of Brookline; E. R. Adams, '14 of Galesburg, Ill., and P. L. Sayre, '14 of Chicago, with J. Bovington, '14 of Cambridge as alternate.

WILL CONSIDER PROHIBITION PLANS.

Washington, March 20.—To consider the resolutions pending to provide a constitutional amendment for national prohibition, the senate committee on judiciary has appointed a sub-committee consisting of Senators Chilton, chairman, Fletcher, Shields, Borah and Dillingham. This sub-committee will hold hearings on the subject to begin April 16.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR MAMMA, DAD, BABY, "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Better Than Calomel, Oil or Salts for Liver, Bowels and Stomach.

Mother, daddy and the children can always keep feeling fine by taking this delicious fruit laxative as occasion demands. Nothing else cleanses the stomach, liver and bowels so thoroughly without griping.

You take a little at night and in the morning all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and fermenting food, delayed in the bowels gently moves out of the system. When you awaken all headache, indigestion, sourness, foul taste, bad breath, fever and dizziness is gone; your stomach is sweet, liver and bowels clean, and you feel grand.

"California Syrup of Figs" is a family laxative. Everyone from grandpa to baby can safely take it and no one is ever disappointed in its pleasant action. Millions of mothers know that it is the ideal laxative to give cross, sick, feverish children. But get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups on each bottle. Refuse with contempt the cheaper Fig Syrups and counterfeits. See that it bears the name—"California Fig Syrup Company."

SUE UNION MEN FOR $4,000,000

Colorado Coal Companies Will Claim Damages From Strikers.

National and District Officers and Organizers to Be Accused.

Trinidad, Colo., March 20.—Suits alleging conspiracy and claiming damages in a total sum of nearly $4,000,000 will be filed during the next few days against the national and district officers of the United Mine Workers of America and all organizers of the union who have taken part in the Colorado coal strike, according to Judge Jesse G. Northcutt, of counsel for the coal operators. The actions will be instituted in the Federal court and in the district courts of three counties by attorneys for the four largest coal companies of the state.

The plaintiffs in the suits will be the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, the Victor-American Fuel company, the Rocky Mountain Fuel company and the Oakview Coal & Coke company, representing a majority of the coal producers of the state. Individual complaints will be filed by each company.

The Colorado Fuel & Iron company will bring suit in Las Animas county; the Victor-American company will bring its suit in the Federal court in Denver; the Oakview Coal & Coke company will file its complaint in Huerfano county, and the suit of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company will be brought in Boulder county. The complaint of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company will be filed here today. It alleges damages to the extent of a million dollars and asks body judgment.

"The coal producers are determined to bring the strike issues squarely before the highest courts and to secure redress from agitators who come into the state and ruin their business," said Judge Northcutt. "Nearly all of those who will be named as defendants are property owners, and figures will prove that the sum asked in damages is not in excess of the loss incurred by the palintiffs during the strike."

The Danbury Hatters' case will be cited as a precedent for the action of the coal companies.

Miners Not Worrying.

Denver, Colo., March 20.—Officials of the United Mine Workers of America were little perturbed today over the announced intention of the Colorado coal companies to file suits asking damages of nearly $4,000,000 and body judgments against them.

John R. Lawson, executive board member from Colorado, characterized the contemplated action as "another attempt to harass the union, and an admission of the inability of the companies to break the strike called Sept. 23, 1913."

Announcement of the companies' intentions was made coincidently with the mailing of papers in the Colorado Fuel & Iron company suit against the union to counsel in Trinidad for filing in the district court of Las Animas county today.

The defendants include John White, president; Frank J. Hayes, vice president; William Green, secretary and treasurer; John R. Lawson and Edward Doyle, district officers; John McLennan, president of the Colorado State Federation of Labor; Adolph Germer and other national organizers directly connected with the conduct of the strike in Colorado.

BIG OLEO PLANT MAY BE FORFEITED

Further Penalty Possible for Failure to Pay Taxes.

Chicago, March 20.—Forfeiture of the plant of the John F. Jelk company, officials of which were found guilty of conspiring to defraud the government of the tax on colored oleomargarine, is declared possible by attaches of the district attorney's office. If the higher courts uphold the convictions, the plant, which is worth several million dollars, may be forfeited under the provisions of the internal revenue act, they say.

Civil suits are being prepared against the G. H. Hammond Packing company, the Friedman Manufacturing company, and W. J. Moxley, incorporated. The district attorney charges that these concerns failed to pay taxes of nearly a million dollars when they used cotton seed oil as coloring matter for oleomargarine.

Fines aggregating $1,000,000 were compromised on the payment of $102,000 on March 4, 1912, while Franklin MacVeagh was secretary of the treasury. An investigation ordered by Federal Judge Landis revealed, it was charged, that $800,000 in taxes remained unpaid. Demurrers to these suits will be argued in Milwaukee, Wis., before Judge Geiger next week.

SECOND EAST ALTON PLANT IS BURNED.

St. Louis, Mo., March 20.—Fire last night destroyed four buildings of the Western Cartridge company's plant at East Alton, Ill., near here, causing damage estimated at $50,000. Wednesday night, the glazing plant of the Equitable Powder company at East Alton, a subsidiary of the Western Cartridge company, was demolished by an explosion which killed the night watchman and which was heard fifty miles away.

Last night's fire was of unknown origin. The company's firemen fought the blaze in the face of repeated explosions of boxes of cartridges, but none of the men was injured.

CHESTNUT BLIGHT IN IMPORTED TREES.

Seattle, Wash., March 20.—Chestnut blight was discovered by University of Washington botany professors in a shipment of chestnut nursery trees from Japan, and the 1,500 trees in the consignment will be burned. Because of the belief that the Japanese chestnut was free from the blight, which has caused great loss in American groves, arrangements had been made recently for large importations.

ASK PASTORS TO PREACH ON PEACE.

New York, March 20.—The first concrete move by the Church Peace union, founded by Andrew Carnegie, has been outlined by Rev. Frederick Lynch, secretary of the union. Mr. Lynch said the executive committee had decided to arrange with 40,000 or 50,000 ministers of all denominations throughout the country to preach on the peace movement on May 17, the Sunday before peace day. The ministers will be asked to advocate the calling of a third general peace conference at The Hague.

THE CAMERON-JOHNSON-HORGAN FURNITURE DISTRIBUTING SALESROOMS

here in Duluth are operated for the purpose of giving all the people an opportunity to purchase the world's best made furniture and save 35 to 40 per cent of the retailers' profits.

¶We have not only succeeded in fulfilling this very purpose beyond our expectations, but have in addition thereto been able to show large profits on our own investment, and we are at this time negotiating for much larger salesrooms right in the midst of the retail shopping district, where we can show to better advantage the class of furniture, rugs, etc., we sell much below retail prices.

¶To enable us to carry out more successfully our greater salesroom idea, we are offering 400 shares common and preferred stock in our business at $100 per share par value. Anyone interested in a safe, progressive business which is under the management of an expert furniture man at this time and in future will have the assistance of one of Duluth's best financial men of twenty-five years' experience in the retail trade right here in our city—one who is prominently known among all the leading merchants of Duluth.

¶For further information regarding our common or preferred stock proposition, call on our corporation attorney, A. G. McKnight, 614 Providence building, or come direct to our salesroom, where Mr. Cameron will be pleased to give all details in the business. To those who care to write, address all communications to T. GREAT FUTURE FOR AVIATION PREDICTED

Medals for Aerial Achievements Are Presented By Aero Club.

New York, March 20.—Aviators of note and men of prominence in other activities sat side by side last night at the eighth yearly dinner of the Aero Club of America, and heard speakers wax enthusiastic over the progress recently made in the science of navigating the air, and predict even more remarkable developments along this line within the next few years.

Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary was one of the speakers who dwelt optimistically on the future development of aviation. Its past record had convinced him, he said, that within five years trans-Atlantic and circumterrestrial flights would be possible. He did not discount, however, the difficulties to be encountered in this, and declared that for a flight to the North Pole a machine would have to travel 1,000 miles without a stop.

Letter From Orville Wright.

Alan R. Hawley, the president of the club, read a telegram from Orville Wright in which the aviator predicted a great year for the sport.

Mr. Hawley presented to Ralph H. Upson a gold medal for his victory in the international baloon race last year, and the aviation medal of merit to R. A. D. Preston, aide to Mr. Upson in the contest.

J. B. H. Verplanck also received a medal for winning the flying boat cruise from Chicago to Buffalo by way of the Great Lakes.

Cheering greeted the introduction of the German ambassador, Count von Bernstorff.

DANDRUFF SURELY DESTROYS THE HAIR

Makes It Dull, Brittle, Lifeless, and Causes It to Fall Out.

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will be silky, fluffy, lustrous, soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

CLAIMS PAINTINGS IN BANKRUPTCY CASE.

Chicago, March 20.—Mrs. Chauncey J. Blair, wife of a Chicago banker, has filed a claim in the Federal court to four oil paintings which she declared she had entrusted to the art firm of Moulton & Ricketts, whose affairs are in the bankruptcy court.

Her attorneys said the paintings, "Late Afternoon," by Innes; "Returning Home," by Maris; "Moonlight on the Sea," by Wendt, and "A Portrait," by Walter Scofield, were with the art firm on consignment and could not be classed as assets of the picture company.

Attorneys for the receiver opposed the claim and asserted that until the present investigation into the firm's assets is concluded, the receiver will not admit the pictures are Mrs. Blair's assets.

SWEDISH COUNCIL CONFIRMS DIVORCE.

Stockholm, March 20.—The council of state has approved the decision of the consistory court granting a divorce in the case of Prince William of Sweden and Princess Marie, who before her marriage was the Grand Duchess Marie Pavlovna of Russia, and has declared the marriage dissolved. In their petitions for divorce, incompatibility of temperament was given by both the prince and the princess as the ground. They requested a speedy decision.

Negotiations between the courts of St. Petersburg and Stockholm for the dissolution of the marriage began last November. The couple were married in 1908, and on account of alleged domestic troubles the princess separated from her husband.

NEW ITALIAN CABINET NAMED.

Rome, March 20.—The new cabinet formed March 17 by Signor Calandra, former minister of the treasury, to succeed the Giolitti cabinet, has undergone some changes and is now definitely constituted as follows:

Premier and minister of the interior, Signor Calandra; minister of foreign affairs, Marinuis A. di San Giulano; colonies, Signor Martini; justice, Signor Dari, ex-secretary of posts; agriculture, Signor Cavasola; public works, Signor Ciuffolli; treasury, Signor Rubini; finance, Luigi Rava; public instruction, Signor Daneo; war, Gen. Grandi; marine, Admiral Enrico Melle; posts and telegraphs, Signor Riccio.

STILL "SOME HIKER."

Commissioner Merritt Walks Ten Miles When Auto Gives Out.

Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the division of public utilities, demonstrated yesterday that he is still "there" when it comes to hiking.

About ten miles out of the city the automobile in which he was returning to Duluth after having made preliminary preparations for reopening his summer home at Pike Lake, broke down. "First aid" measures proving unavailing, the commissioner footed the remainder of the distance. He reached the office at the water and light department late in the afternoon. He was tired but said that he enjoyed the hike. In the old days ten miles would have been a mere trifle for "Lon" Merritt, who covered hundreds of miles on foot with a pack on his back.

Lutheran Editor Chosen.

Columbia, S. C., March 20.—Rev. J. W. Horine, D. D. of Philadelphia was appointed editor and manager of the Lutheran Church Visitor, by the board of publication of the Lutheran church. He succeeded Dr. W. H. Greever, recently elected editor-in-chief of The American Lutheran Survey. The Visitor is published here.

Good Bowels Are An Aid to Growth

Growing Children Need a Mild Laxative to Foster Regular Bowel Movement.

MARIE DEY.

As a child grows older it requires more and more personal attention from the mother, and as the functions of the bowels are of the utmost importance to health, great attention should be paid to them.

Diet is of great importance, and the mother should watch the effect of certain foods. A food will constipate one and not another, and so we have a healthy food like eggs causing biliousness to thousands, and a wholesome fruit like bananas constipating many. It is also to be considered that the child is growing, and great changes are taking place in the young man or young woman. The system has not yet settled itself to its later routine.

A very valuable remedy at this stage, and one which every growing boy and girl should be given often or occasionally, according to the individual circumstances, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a laxative and tonic combined, so mild that it is given to little babies, and yet equally effective in the most robust constitution. At the first sign of a tendency to constipation give a small dose of Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring, and prompt action will follow in the morning. It not only acts on the stomach and bowels but its tonic properties build up and strengthen the system generally, which is an opinion shared by Mr. John Dey of Bloomfield, N. J. He has a large family and at ages where the growth and development must be watched. Little Marie has thrived especially well on Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mr. Dey considers it the right laxative for young and old, and has found none better for young children.

The use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will teach you to avoid cathartics, salts and pills as they are too harsh for the majority and their effect is only temporary. Syrup Pepsin brings permanent results, and it can be conveniently obtained of any nearby druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

TO REVISIT OLD SCENES

Charlemagne Tower Plans Trip to Duluth and Vermilion Range.

Distinguished Diplomat the First President of Duluth & Iron Range Road.

Charlemagne Tower of Philadelphia, distinguished diplomat, who represented the United States as ambassador, first at St. Petersburg, and then at Berlin, is planning a visit to Duluth and the Vermilion range, and his proposed coming is a matter of interest to the state of Minnesota, and particularly to Duluth and the famous iron range.

For be it remembered that Mr. Tower was the first president of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, which was the first railroad to be built in Minnesota primarily for the transportation of iron ore. He was president at the time that the first ore was shipped from the Soudan mine, at Tower, in 1884, and therefore figured prominently in the birth of the great iron mining industry in this state. He was also president of the Minnesota Iron company. And now after some thirty years, during which time he has achieved distinction at home and abroad as a diplomat, Mr. Tower's mind turns to the early days of the Duluth & Iron Range, in the service of which, as a young man, he spent days which no doubt were beset by difficulties, and vexations, but which appear golden in retrospect. He desired to view the old scenes, and meet the old friends of the early eighties in Duluth and on the Vermilion range. Writing to the editor of Skillings' Mining and Market Letter, in reply to an inquiry if he would some day again visit Duluth and the Vermilion range, Mr. Tower says:

"Although I have made no definite plans for a visit to Minnesota it has been in my mind a great deal of late that I should like to go to Duluth and greet my old friends there. I have a strong attachment to them, and a vivid recollection of their kindness to me during my life among them in the early days of Duluth. It would give me pleasure not only to be in the surroundings of my former activity once more, but also to see for myself the wonderful changes that the energy and progressive enterprise of the people at the head of Lake Superior produced in the last thirty years since we first opened the Vermilion range and built the railroad. I trust that such a day will come before very long."

Mr. Tower was a charter member of the Kitchi Gammi club of Duluth, and as may be readily guessed, the city of Tower on the Vermilion range, was named after him. There is no doubt that a very warm reception awaits Mr. Tower in Duluth and on the Vermilion.

TORPEDO BOAT SINKS STEAMER

Fifty Persons Drown in Collision Near Venice.

Venice, March 20.— A torpedo boat yesterday cut down a small passenger steamer which plies between Venice and Lido, a chain of sandy islands separating the lagoon of Venice from the Adriatic, and fifty persons were drowned. The sharp nose of the torpedo boat went through the stern of the steamer, which sank almost immediately. Although many Americans are visiting Venice, it is not believed that any were on board the steamer.

Fifteen persons who were on deck at the time were saved by the crew of the torpedo boat. The others were caught in the cabin and were carried down with the wreck. The Italian sailors dived many times in an effort to rescue those who sank with the steamer, but without avail.

DUEL CHALLENGE IS SENT BY MAIL.

New Orleans, La., March 20.—A challenge to a duel, sent through the United States mails by Capt. N. J. Nyholm, a retired officer of the Danish army, to Count Viggo Knuth, a Danish nobleman, has resulted in Count Knuth appealing to the police for protection. Detectives advised Capt. Nyholm that duelling is not permitted in the United States, and that further hostile advances toward the count would result in grave consequences. Both count and captain admitted their differences grew out of a business transaction.

Capt. Nyholm, according to the police, admitted that he sent the challenge, saying that the count had assailed his honor.

REV. DAHLSTROM'S WIFE GETS DIVORCE.

Everett, Wash., March 20.—Mrs. Martha Dahlstrom, wife of Rev. Albert Dahlstrom, who is now in jail in Seattle awaiting sentence for violation of the white slave law, obtained a divorce here yesterday, the decree carrying with it all the property of the Dahlstroms. Included in the estate is a large tract of land in Snohomish county, Wash., on which Dahlstrom had planned to found a colony of his sect, known as Heliga.

According to the agent of the United States department of justice, Dahlstrom had contracted common law marriages all over the western part of the country, thirty-one of these alliances being charged against him.

WOULD RATHER DIE THAN GO TO PRISON

Youthful Murderer Refuses to Plead Guilty in Second Degree.

New York, March 20.—"I would rather go to the electric chair than spend twenty years in prison," said 19-year-old Harry Schaeffer to his parents in the supreme court when they urged him to plead guilty in the second degree at his trial on the charge of first degree murder for the killing of William T. Martin, a Toronto, Canada, milliner, last August.

Taking the stand in his own defense, Schaeffer told how he and another man wrapped a towel around Martin's neck so tightly that death resulted, after luring their victim to a West side flat.

Schaeffer said he and his companion, who is a fugitive, had not intended to kill Martin, but merely to quiet him until they could rob him. After the crime, the youth testified, he and his companion fled to Baltimore, pawned Martin's ring there, and then went to St. Louis, where they separated. Schaeffer later was conscience stricken and gave himself up.

KILL THE CATARRH GERM--USE HYOMEI

It's the Direct-to-the-Spot Method —You Breathe It.

Why delay and continue to needlessly suffer the ravages of catarrh germs? It is not only unnecessary, but dangerous. Try now—today—the Hyomei treatment for catarrh, head colds, or bronchial coughs.

The Hyomei process of destroying catarrh germs relieving head colds and healing the raw and inflamed mucous membrane is not only most effective, but is quick, entirely harmless and pleasant to use—it's nature's way—you breathe it—no bad tasting drugs to upset the stomach.

You cannot successfully reach the organs where the catarrh germs thrive except with antiseptic and germicidal air. The commonsense method is to breathe a few times daily health-restoring Hyomei. Being medicated air it goes right to the spot and immediately reaches all the diseased tissues. Its antiseptic healing begins at once.

If suffering from frequent colds, headaches, raising of mucus, spasmodic coughing, difficult breathing or that weak and run-down feeling, surely try Hyomei. Its your duty to yourself, friends and family, for no catarrh victim ever enjoys good health.

Get from your druggist at once a complete Hyomei outfit, $1.00 size. Boyce drug store always sells it on money back if not benefited plan.

GOES 13,000 MILES AT FULL SPEED

Steamer Makes Record From Sandy Hook to San Francisco.

San Francisco, March 20.—The freighter Santa Cruz steamed into port yesterday from New York with what Capt. A. Watson said was a new record for the passage via the Straits of Magellan. From the time the vessel left Sandy Hook until she slowed down off Los Angeles harbor, the engines were run full speed without a stop. The distance is approximately 13,000 miles, and the time consumed was forty-seven days, four hours. The Santa Cruz is an oil burner and did not need to put in at any port for fuel.

WILSON FOLLOWING RAILWAY FINANCES

President Considers Appeal for Rate Increase "the Big Thing."

Washington, March 20.—President Wilson has manifested his deep interest in the financial condition of the railroads of the country, expressing a desire to help in every legitimate way to bring them relief.

The president had been asked by callers if he had heard any particular complaints from the railroads about their financial condition, and remarked that he had heard what everybody was discussing—the uncertainty of their position. He let it be known that the government was giving consideration to the general facts of the continued increase in operating expenses with the decrease in net revenues.

Mr. Wilson considers as an important factor in the railroad situation the question whether the railroads would get the proposed increase in freight rates now being argued before the Interstate commerce commission. He made it clear that this was "the big thing" in the situation, but did not express any opinion on the merits of the increase.

SEEK READJUSTMENT OF WESTERN RATES

Plains and Rocky Mountain Cities Join in the Movement.

Denver, Colo., March 20.—A movement to secure a general readjustment of freight rates for the plains and Rocky Mountain states west of the Missouri river will be launched here April 7 at a conference of representatives of commercial bodies from seven Western states. A call for the conference was issued by a special committee of the Denver chamber of commerce, headed by Former United States Senator Thomas M. Patterson, to commercial bodies in cities of Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Kansas, Nebraska and Kansas City, Mo.

DUKE ACQUITTED OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Seattle, Wash., March 20.—Laurence Duke, nephew of James B. Duke, the tobacco manufacturer, was found not guilty by a jury in the superior court of the charge of manslaughter, preferred after his automobile ran down and killed Henry N. Parr on the county road south of Seattle, Oct. 15 last.

The state alleged that Duke was intoxicated and recklessly handled his car.

GREECE DETERMINED ON NAVAL SUPREMACY.

Athens, March 20.—The minister of marine announced in the chamber of deputies that the Greek naval program provides for three dreadnought battleships, one of which is now under construction, three armored cruisers and a number of lighter craft. He declared that Greece was prepared at all costs to maintain the supremacy of the sea won in the recent Balkan war.

BURNETT BILL IS BACK IN SENATE.

Washington, March 20.—The Burnett immigration bill was reported to the senate favorably. It retains the literacy test. Some officials believe President Wilson may veto it on that account.

GIVEN DAMAGES FOR AEROPLANE INJURY.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 20.—Damages to the amount of $3,000 were awarded to Mrs. Irene Morrison in a suit for $10,000 brought against five members of the state fair board of 1910, for injuries received when Archie Hoxey's aeroplane fell into the crowd in front of the grandstand.

The jury, in a special verdict, found the defendants guilty of negligence, in allowing the flight to start where it did on the race track. The five against whom the damages will be assessed are Grant U. Fisher, C. H. Everett, George Wylie, George McKerrow and Ed Nordman.

SUES MILLIONAIRE AS FATHER OF CHILD.

Los Angeles, March 20.—Bryant H. Howard, a San Diego, Cal., millionaire is made defendant in a $1,500,000 breach of promise suit filed here by Maud Armfield, who alleges that Howard is the father of her 2-year-old daughter.

MOTHER AND BABY BURNED TO DEATH.

Ringling, Okla., March 20.—Mrs. A. M. Dulaney and her 2-year-old baby were burned to death here in a fire that destroyed their home. The woman's husband carried four children and his wife from the house, but efforts to reach the baby failed. Mrs. Dulaney was so badly burned she died soon afterwards.

Busted Higher Than a Kite!

Goodbye to the Old Fogy Idea That Tailor-made Clothes Must Cost $25.00 and $30.00. Paste This in Your Bonnet, Fellows!

Do you know why your grandfather and your father after him had to pay $25 or $30 for a made-to-order suit? Because they had no way to get one except from some small tailor who had to charge that much or starve. Do you know why those old boys look at an offer of "made to measure clothes $15" and snicker? Because in their day a $15 suit was a joke!

But this isn't their day. Lots of things have happened since then. Enterprising men have turned nearly every line of business topsy turvy with new methods. Why let an old mill-dewed legend steer you away from real clothes and a saving of $10. You don't have to pay $25 and $30 for a suit made to your order. I will make you the niftiest clothes, give you the snappiest, most fascinating styles, the sweetest, newest, $25 to $30 pure woolens and will charge you just $15. And if the suit doesn't warm your heart the very moment you put it on, you don't have to wear it.

Now that's some offer. And here's how I do it. I am a part of the great Glasgow Woolen Mills. Our woolens are figured in carload lots. They come directly from the looms to our 117 stores. Think of the saving we make on each suit length. Then we sell direct. We cut out the profits of middlemen. And then again, we make thousands of suits in our big string of 117 stores, so we can take a small profit. Now that's the reason, boys, that I can give you a suit in the classiest Spring and Summer styles, made to your measure, from regular $25 and $30 fabrics, for only $15. And if you have the sense that heaven gave a goose, you'll come over here and make me back it up. It means a "10 Spot" saved, and just as good a suit. Come on over anyway and look us over. George H. Mills, Mgr. The "Glasgow" Woolen Mills store, 333 West Superior street. Remember, mister man, it's "Glasgow." We're the original $15 men. Don't make a mistake and get into a nest where you'll get stung. I've got a pants offer that's a pippin, too. Regular $5, $6 and $7 trousers made to your measure going this week for $2.75. See them!

ABOUT EBERHART, LEE ET AL—ESPECIALLY ET AL.

The famous Republican "elimination conference" has come and gone, and it is time for a taking of stock. Where do we stand now?

The conference, or convention, seems to have been pretty fairly representative. Certainly its size and character and spirit made it pretty plain that there is a good deal of discontent with Governor Eberhart among Republicans, and it is by no means confined to them. We do not hold, with the Eberhart press of the state, that the managers of this convention sought to clean out the Eberhart machine in order to erect one of their own in its place, nor that anything serious has happened to the principle of direct popular nominations.

What HAS happened, then? There seems to have been considerable elimination. Iverson and Elwell are clearly eliminated, and Peterson probably also, though at this writing that is somewhat less clear. The choice of the convention centered on William E. Lee of Long Prairie, which is no surprise because the elimination game has been his game from the start. It would hardly have been poetic justice if somebody else had turned out to be its beneficiary. The convention said very vigorously some very true things about the character of the Republican government of this state, which its members can hardly take back if Eberhart should succeed after all in getting to be the Republican nominee again.

Will he? That's one question; and that reminds us that there were two more or less related demands that hinged somewhat on this convention: First, the demand within the Republican party for the elimination of Eberhart and his machine, a very worthy demand indeed; second, and vastly more important, the statewide demand for a real MAN for governor, for a big man, a broad man, a true man, a man of capacity and courage and complete loyalty to the common welfare.

Something toward meeting the first and less important demand has been done by the convention. To those who hold that the only job before the state is to beat Eberhart, the result is encouraging. To those who hold that the real task before the state is to elect the right kind of a man for governor, it is decidedly less encouraging. The question whether Mr. Lee, if successful in beating Eberhart and in getting elected, would be much of an improvement on Eberhart, is a very awkward one.

If the point is "anything to beat Eberhart," a good deal has been gained. If the real point, as we think, is to get a suitable governor, the gain is much less.

To those who are satisfied with Mr. Lee as a Republican candidate instead of Eberhart, the result should be highly gratifying. Mr. Eberhart two years ago was nominated as a minority candidate, something more than sixty per cent of the Republican vote being scattered and wasted between a handful of candidates. He is no stronger now than he was then. Many things, such as his large-handed generosity to the Bell Telephone company and the Minneapolis public utilities in vetoing the Minette and Nolan bills, should have made him much weaker. If Mr. Peterson decides to stay eliminated, and if Mr. Lee can count on the ardent support of those whom he beat in the convention, Mr. Eberhart might very easily be beaten for the nomination; and at the best his supporters are going to have their hands very full.

To those who had been hopeful that the convention would prove big enough and strong enough and broad enough to kick the whole wrangling mass of place-seekers off the stage and put up an entirely new candidate of whom Republicans and citizens more solicitious of state welfare than party welfare could be proud, the result will be a bitter disappointment, though no surprise. That hope was never very strong.

To those who are concerned chiefly in having the vigor and public spirit and progressive enterprise of the state represented properly in the executive offices at the capitol, the whole proceeding can have relatively little interest. It did not answer their demand or meet their need.

That demand and that need have still to be met.

The Democrats are to gather in a similar conference March 31.

They have a chance to meet that demand and that need.

The hopes and prayers of those who want a governor they can support proudly turn now with anxious interest to that convention.

As a lesson in the immensity of the United States of America, some of the men who have been working on the Panama canal might be transferred to jobs on the Alaska railroad.

A TRIUMPH OF COMMON SENSE.

The supreme court of Minnesota, in a decision written by Judge Dibell, holds that the new nonpartisan primary law is constitutional.

This is a triumph of the public will and of common sense over legal technicality; for the objections made to the law were highly technical, and it would have been disturbing if a highly important and plainly expressed intent had been defeated by a legal quibble.

Under this law nominations and elections for members of the legislature and county officers are to be made purely on individual merit, and without the confusion of party labels.

And this is as it should be. Whether a man seeking to be a county treasurer or a state lawmaker is a Republican, a Democrat or a Bull Mooser is no more important than whether his hair is red or black or whether he takes sugar in his coffee.

Incidentally, this puts Minnesota in the vanguard of progress toward simple, unconfused and efficient election machinery; for no other state has yet gone so far as this.

Prof. Taft is taking full advantage of his temporary opportunity to be quoted as the only living ex-president on United States soil.

MUCH ADO ABOUT LITTLE.

The elimination mountain labored and brought forth—William E. Lee.

If that Illinois insane asylum band takes more kindly to classical selections than to popular ones, a lot of people will feel that their taste is justified.

A TRUST MAKES A FLANK MOVEMENT.

It's pretty hard to beat an enterprising trust.

Not even "busting" does it. The oil trust and the tobacco trust and a miscellaneous collection of trusts all have been "busted," either by conviction or agreement, without the slightest appreciable effect upon the cost of living. They have fattened on the process, and we have a disturbing fear that they could not fatten on any process except at public cost.

Not long ago downhearted Mr. Ultimate Consumer chirked up a bit when, under the new tariff law, mountains of meat began to come from Argentina. "Here," he said, "is competition from abroad at last! Now let the beef trust take care of itself!"

Well, apparently it has.

A farmers' bulletin just issued by the department of agriculture reports that Argentina's beef industry is dominated by our good friends the Chicago packers—or at least we are so generous with them.

The bulletin says that of the nine establishments for slaughtering, freezing and exporting beef located in or near Buenos Aires, five are owned or operated by Chicago houses. They don't own the others, but there appears to be no fierce competition between them, leading to price-cutting.

All the Argentine receipts, it is further related, amount to a little more than one per cent of this country's supply, and most of them come from the Argentine houses of Chicago packers. "A great deal of it," says the bulletin, "has been consigned by the Buenos Aires frigerifico of the Chicago companies to themselves at New York, for sale by themselves in New York or wherever they please to send it by rail."

"It is not assumed," says the farmers' bulletin with grave sarcasm, "that the American-controlled companies in Argentina are using Argentine beef to beat down the prices of Chicago beef."

Very likely not.

You have to admire the farsight and ingenuity of the trusts, anyway. So far, they have been altogether too much for us.

The spring poet, as a nuisance, has mighty little on the persistent quoter of spring poetry.

When congress runs out of other things to investigate, why not tackle these southwestern train robberies?

Naturally it is open to question whether the umpires are looking forward to the opening of the season with anything like eagerness.

What Drink Did to One Man

From the American Magazine.

The American Magazine has been publishing a number of articles touching on the drink problem. In the March number a contributor tells what drink did to him. Following is an extract:

I have gone many routes in my fifteen years' bombardment of the red demon, and by no means do I wish to give the impression that I am in any way secure in my present position of a teetotaler. When a man has gone six months and fallen; then seven months and fallen; then eight months and fallen, he is not apt to "swell with pride" when he is writing with only a two-months' record to his credit. And that's the percentage on the series which the writer is now playing.

One of the mysteries of the alcoholic game is that after the "jag" is finished and you return to terra firma, your mental equipment doesn't seem to be impaired. I am a newspaper man, have been for fifteen years, and the finish of each long drawn-out spree seems always to be followed by fresh inspiration. Undoubtedly a man is benefited by a broader view of life—has more sympathy for his fellow man generally, and can't help but profit by the bitterness of his experiences. At least, it seems so in the newspaper game.

After reading the Macfarlane article in the January number I reviewed my own record of come-back attempts and this record, in brief, I hand to you:

Two visits, each of two weeks, to the "springs" cure. (Partly successful, the lack of proper environment, presence of bars, limit of treatment and lack of earnestness entering into the failure.)

Three trips to private hospitals, with no special line of treatment, just a rest cure. (Fairly successful; that is, I sobered up sufficiently to return to work, but remained sober only a short time.)

One three-day liquor cure. (Absolute failure. I was filled with whisky the first day, nauseated, weakened by purgatives, and if I hadn't the constitution of an ox believe I would have died.)

Alcohol ward, Bellevue hospital. Kept four days, denied drink and tobacco, choked full of "dope," and had a good start on an uproarious spree two hours after I was discharged from the hospital.

One week in a monastery (new and original idea, I believe) which was followed by six months of sobriety.

One week in same, after next fall, followed by eight months of sobriety.

After this last fall, following the eight-months' dry period, I was ashamed to go back to the monastery; but after a long period of drunkenness, extending over an area of about four thousand miles, I hid away at home (in my own house) for three months and made a record of seven months without a drop.

I did my last sentence in Old St. Paul's club, Philadelphia, where I washed dishes, scrubbed floors, shoveled ashes and did the most menial of tasks—because I wanted to do them; I didn't have to—and believe that I got the moral kick.

In the foregoing chronology I haven't attempted to list visits to hospitals, where I have talked my way out in a day or two; or numbers of Turkish bath treatments, which are no treatments at all; or innumerable times I have locked myself in a hotel room, always to re-embrace temptation by means of a telephone and a uniformed bellboy.

O, For a Rattling Romance

From the Letters of R. L. Stevenson: To W. E. Henley: I send you a book which (or I am mistook) will please you; it pleased me. But I do desire a book of adventure—a romance—and no man will get or write me one. Dumas I have read and reread too often. Scott, too, and I am short. I want to hear swords clash. I want a book to begin in a good way; a book, I guess, like "Treasure Island," alas! which I have never read, and cannot though I live to be 90. I would God that someone else had written it! By all that I can learn, it is the very book for my complaint. I like the way I hear it opens; and they tell me John Silver is good fun. And to me it is, and must ever be, a dream unrealized, a book unwritten. O, my sighings after romance, or even Skeltery, and O, the weary age which will produce me neither.

"Chapter I—The night was dark and cloudy, the ways foul. The single horseman, cloaked and booted, who pursued his way across Willesden Common, had not met a traveler, when the sound of wheels—"

"Chapter I—'Yes, sir,' said the old pilot, 'she must have dropped into the bay a little afore dawn. A queer craft she looks.'

"'She shows no colors,' returned the young gentleman, musingly.

"'They're a-lowering of a quarter boat, Mr. Mark,' resumed the old salt. 'We shall soon know more of her.'

"'Ay,' replied the young gentleman called Mark, 'and here, Mr. Seadrift comes your sweet daughter, Nancy, tripping down the cliff.'

"'God bless her kind heart, sir,' ejaculated old Seadrift."

"Chapter I—The notary, Jean Rossignol, had been summoned to the top of a great house in the Isle St. Louis to make a will; and now, his duties finished, wrapped in a warm roquelaure, and with a lantern swinging from one hand, he issued from the mansion on his homeward way. Little did he think what strange adventures were to befall him—"

That is how stories should begin. And I am offered husks instead.

What should be:
"The Filibuster's Cache."
"Jerry Abershaw."
"Blood Money; a Tale."

What is:
"Aunt Anne's Tea Cozy."
"Mrs. Brierly's Niece."
"Society; a Novel."

Italy's Cost of War With Turkey.

World's Work: In considering the money cost of the Turko-Italian war, Turkey was under but a nominal expense. At the beginning, certain Italian newspapers estimated the cost of the war to Italy at $20,000,000, but within a year the special war fund of $150,000,000 had been sunk in the sands of Tripoli; the people, already taxed four times as much as any other people in Europe, had additional tithes saddled upon them, and as recently as last New Year's day advices from Tripoli told of nearly 100 Italian casualties in one fight on those burning wastes.

It is reasonable to assume that the cost to Italy of the Turko-Italian war amounts to at least $250,000,000; and a year and a half after the war had begun, and half a year after the Lausanne peace treaty, an additional $20,000,000 was appropriated to carry on the war with Tripoli. Though we know little of the expenses of the last ten months, the total expenditure would probably reach $300,000,000.

Is Religion Dead?

Editorial in the New York Sun.

New York does not lack preachers who strive for sensational effects in their pulpit oratory, or gladly resort to rhetorical violence in their efforts to arouse their auditors to good works and godly lives. Yet we do not remember that even the most daring of these ministers of the Gospel has ever turned away 5,000 would-be hearers after 3,000 had been packed into the auditorium in which his message was to be delivered. This is the thing that Billy Sunday did on Monday night at Carnegie hall.

Mr. Sunday's methods are not novel. He is, indeed, old-fashioned to a degree. His doctrine is of the simplest. He preaches heaven and hell, God and the devil, in the familiar manner of the camp-meeting evangelist. His appeals are crude and rough. He does not seek to win his converts with honey, but belabors them with threats. He uses copiously the slang of the street. There is no refinement of diction, no careful balancing of phrases, no effort to soften his denunciations, to excuse sinners, to make the path of the righteous seem easy. Harsh, blunt, uncompromising, how does he achieve results that have put him in a unique position in this country today?

The churches wonder and complain at their empty pews. "Religion is dead," moans the despairing Chrisitan; it has been killed by golf, by Sunday baseball, by Socialism, by indifference, by a cheap sophistication that springs from a petty bit of half education, swallowed but not digested. And meanwhile Billy Sunday achieves such triumphs at the sinners' bench as recall the noble days of old, and give life to a gallery of worthies at whose activities the knowing poke mild fun.

"Billy Sunday will do in the Middle West, in the rural environment," say the wise men. Thereupon Billy Sunday betakes himself to the towns and cities that rejoice to call themselves urban, and turns them upside down, repeating with their smug populations his successes with the supposedly less alert ruralists. He comes to the capital of supercilious provincialism, self-satisfied, conceited New York, and the belated police are put to it to handle the crowd he draws.

That Billy Sunday, in his own language, has "the punch" is plain; but that does not explain everything. Other men not less sincere, not less devoted than Billy Sunday fail where he brings prosperity to his cause. Is it that he has the gift, the mysterious call, which marks one man out of thousands to do the particular kind of work in which he engages?

Over the value of the results obtained by evangelical work of the sort done by Billy Sunday there is still dispute. The camp meeting and the revival have been subjected to the statistician's impartial examination and condemned in tabular statements. The backsliders are notorious; yet there are some who do not backslide, some brands plucked from the burning, some repentant ones who amend their ways. Perhaps the statistician cannot tell the whole story in his carefully revised columns.

One thing Billy Sunday does prove. The talk of a decline in religious interest is without substantial basis. The hopes and fears of immortality possess the human heart. Perhaps the institutional church, with its subtle invitation to faith through shower baths, gymnasiums, moving picture shows and dance halls may not draw them out to expression, but when the master chord is touched they reveal themselves in these days as they did in the times of our fathers.

The Landing of the Pilgrims.

The breaking waves dashed high
On a stern and rock-bound coast,
And the woods against a stormy sky
Their giant branches tossed;
And the heavy night hung dark,
The hills and waters o'er,
When a band of exiles moored their bark
On the wild New England shore.

Not as the conqueror comes,
In silence and in fear—
They shook the depths of the desert gloom,
With their hymns of lofty cheer.
Amidst the storm they sang,
And the stars heard, and the sea,
And the sounding aisles of the dim woods rang
To anthem of the free.

The ocean eagle soared
From his nest by the white wave's foam,
And the rocking pines of the forest roared—
This was their welcome home.
There were men with hoary hair
Amidst that pilgrim band;
Why had they come to wither there
Away from their childhood's land?

There was woman's fearless eye,
Lit by her own love's truth;
There was manhood's brow, serenely high,
And the fiery heart of youth.
What sought they thus afar?
Bright jewels of the mine?
The wealth of seas, the spoils of war?
They sought a faith's pure shrine.

Ay, call it holy ground,
The soil where first they trod;
They have left unstained what there they found—
Freedom to worship God.

—Felicia Hemans.

The Way of Ethical Progress.

Henry L. Mencken in the March Atlantic: The white slave agitation of a year or so ago was ludicrously extravagant and emotional, but its net effect is a better conscience, a new alertness. The newspapers discharged broadsides of 12-inch guns to bring down a flock of buzzards—but they brought down the buzzards. They have libeled and lynched the police—but the police are the better for it. They have represented salicylic acid as an elder brother to bichloride of mercury—but we are poisoned less than we used to be. They have lifted the plain people to frenzies of senseless terror over drinking cups and neighbors with coughs—but the death rate from tuberculosis declines. They have railroaded men to prison, denying them all their common rights—but fewer malefactors escape today than yesterday.

The way of ethical progress is not straight. It describes, to risk a mathematical pun, a sort of drunken hyperbola. But if we thus move onward and upward by leaps and bounces, it is certainly better than not moving at all. Each time, perhaps, we slip back, but each time we stop at a higher level.

What John Clark Will Do.

Malvern, Ark., Meteor: John Clark permitted a woman to faint in his arms at the Iron Mountain station at Little Rock last week and lost his watch and chain during the operation. We're safe in saying the next woman that faints in Clark's vicinity will drop the entire distance.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The bravest member of the president's cabinet is Postmaster General Burleson.

He is the only member who at all times dares tell the president exactly what he thinks about a given proposition—regardless of having views that may differ from the president's.

The average cabinet officer figures that perhaps the president is only human and will have the greater respect for those that seem to think just as he does. And all are anxious to keep the man's good will and esteem. I do not say that they sit about like a row of castor oil bottles and never have the nerve to disagree with the president at all, but they do not go out of their way to do so. They are reluctant to come right out and say:

"Mr. President, I think you are taking a wrong view of this matter."

The only man who invariably goes to the president and speaks right out what is in his mind is Burleson. Candor is such a predominant trait with Burleson that he could not do otherwise than tell the whole truth as he sees it. And there is nothing to indicate that the president thinks any less of him for so doing.

One may recall in this connection the remark Burleson made some time ago in introducing two men on the street.

"Mr. Smith," says Burleson, "let me introduce Mr. Jones, one of the foremost Joe Bailey bootlickers in congress."

He wasn't joking, either.

The greatest pride of Senator Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin is the fact that he used to possess a great deal of skill in driving six able-bodied oxen. When you harness up six oxen and undertake to drive them over a rough lumber road, each ox is certain to conceive a different notion of the duties of its position. To keep their movements correlated is a trick. It is almost as difficult as trying to keep pace with modern dance steps. Isaac Stephenson declares that he could handle six oxen as well as any man in the North woods.

When the senate was considering recently the proposition greatly to enlarge the scope of the parcel post, it was remarked that the rural delivery wagons would soon have to be drawn by six horses.

"Well, I could get a job on the R. F. D. routes then," remarked Senator Perkins of California in a cloak-room conversation. "I used to drive six horses and if I do say it—"

"Did you drive with two lines or six lines?" interrupted Senator Stephenson.

"Two lines."

"Huh," grunted Stephenson, "that's nothing. You're not really driving unless you have at least six lines in your hands."

Attorney General McReynolds professes nearly everything that he has to say with a story. The only other cabinet member who perhaps tells as many stories as McReynolds is Secretary Garrison of the well-known war department, but the odds are in favor of McReynolds for first place. He is as full of stories as a picnic pie of ants.

Occasionally McReynolds tells a story with a point so subtle that only those with a keenly pitched sense of humor can "get" him. The other night at a dinner he sprung something that occasioned not the slightest ripple of laughter. He waited a reasonable length of time and then observed:

"Well, at least, don't cry about it."

Nobody got that, either. They didn't understand what it was that they weren't to cry about. So McReynolds added:

"It'll come in, maybe, by freight."

An Englishman was seated next to McReynolds, and his curiosity was aroused:

"What do you mean when you say come by freight?" he inquired.

"Slowly, like a freight train," explained McReynolds; "they'll get the story if they wait long enough, don't you see?"

A great light dawned in the Englishman's eyes. "Ah!" he exclaimed, "you mean steam packet. Story shipped by steam packet. 'Twould be utterly absurd, wouldn't it—ha, ha, ha!"

Representative Simeon D. Fess of Ohio met an old friend in Washington the other day and they fell to discussing the ravages of time, especially in regard to loss of hair.

"Yes, I have a great prejudice against being bald," remarked Fess' friend, "but I guess I'm elected."

"Well, you know the old story about the big fly and the little fly," said Fess. "The big fly and the little fly were promenading across an expansive bald head, and the big fly remarked to the little fly: 'See this fine wide boulevard here? I can remember when it was nothing but a narrow cowpath.'"

Ever since Blair Lee became a senator from Maryland, Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee has found the high cost of living problem greatly simplified. Lee of Maryland has a great many admirers among the farmers living within a few miles of Washington, and every time they drive into the capital they bring one or two dressed chickens or an armful of potatoes to present to their senator. Half the time they deposit these commodities at the office of Lea of Tennessee. Before Lea found out what was up he thought the golden horn of plenty was using his room for an unloading dock.

A Creed.

Faith in him who calls me friend,
Faith in what is sweet and clean;
Faith that just around the bend
All is peaceful and serene.
Faith that after care and strife
Come the happy days of rest,
Faith that everything in life
Really happens for the best.

This my faith and this my shield
'Gainst the arrows of distrust;
Much of justice is concealed
In what seems to be unjust,
Now what seems a dismal way
That alone I'm forced to tread
I may come to see some day
Is a glorious path instead.

Undisturbed by petty wrongs,
Undismayed by what is mean,
Though the false attracts the throngs,
Though the multitude unclean,
Though at times I stand alone,
Though I'm oft misunderstood,
Faith I still would keep and own
In the decent and the good.

Limitations of Small Minds.

Chesterfield: Little, vicious minds abound with anger and revenge. They are incapable of feeling the positive pleasure of forgiving their enemies.

"Arms and the Man."

Altoona Tribune: Audry Richardson, while visiting his sweetheart in Fredonia last Sunday, sprained his arm severely and won't be able to use it for ten days.

One Year of Wilson; Chorus of Praise

State Press Opinion of All Parties.

Mexican Policy Right.

Lake Crystal Union: President Wilson's Mexico policy is right. Let the greasers fight it out to a finish. Americans in Mexico have had ample time to get out and are well aware of the dangers there, even in times of peace. Why rush into war, and the sacrifice of hundreds of lives for the punishment of a lot of half-breed Yaqui Indians who make the shedding of blood their chief pastime?

The Regulator.

Clear Lake Times: Now begins the second year of the Democratic, or rather the Wilson administration. We say "Wilson" because the president has been the regulator and balance wheel of the party now in power for the past year. But for Wilson the party would have been hopelessly at sea on many important points. We believe the first year of President Wilson's administration has proved satisfactory to the country at large.

But Mr. Wilson has still some hard problems to face at the beginning of his second year, and the way he handles them will determine to a great extent whether he will succeed himself in 1916.

Wilson's Unerring Rightness.

Fremont Sentinel: It turns out that President Wilson knew more about the financial question than the entire aggregation of money kings rolled together. He said a change along the lines he laid down would bring prosperity. The money kings said it spelled disaster. The president was right, and he has made monkeys of the money kings.

President Has the Best Advisor.

Le Sueur News: Hold up your hands in horror and say, Wilson knows nothing because he will not sacrifice the lives of American boys to settle a Mexican rebellion, where only the exclusive rich are interested. God is advising President Wilson, and if he continues to listen in the future on this question, as he has in the past, he will be rewarded.

Praise for a Party Man.

Brown's Valley Tribune: We are at least of the opinion that no Democrat in the country could have made a better president than Woodrow Wilson.

That's Pretty, and True, Too.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: President Wilson undoubtedly stands higher in the estimation of the whole American people today than any president of recent times.

And, Dee Volente, Will Get It.

Fairmont Sentinel: The first year's sample is all right, Mr. President. The American people want seven years more of the same kind.

Cubist English

From a play by Gertrude Stein, used as "Foreword" on Marsden Hartley's picture exhibition.

MARSDEN HARTLEY.

A Cook. A cook can see. Pointedly in uniform, exertion in a medium. A cook can see.

Clark which is awful, Clark which is shameful, Clark and order.

A pin is a plump point and pecking and combined and more much more is in fine.

Rats is, rats is oaken, robber. Height, age, miles, plaster, paddle, more order.

Bake, a barn has cause and more late oak-cake specially.

Spend rubber, holder and coal, high careful in a pointed collar. A hideous Southwest is always a climb in aged seldom succeeded flavoring untimely, necessity white, hour in a blaze.

Break, sky blue light, obliquely, in a cut carpet, in the pack. A sound.

Points.

The exchange which is fanciful and righteous and mingled is in the author mostly in the piece.

Hunger is not hurry and a silence and no more than ever, it is not so exactly and the word used is there.

The soon estate and established alternately has bright soldiers and peaceable in the rest of the stretch.

Point, face, canvas, toy, struck off, sense or, weigh coach, soon beak on so such in, and an iron.

Shut the chamber in the door, so well and so weak and so buttered, shut the chest out, do not shut it in.

A sun in shine, and a so and a so helped angle in the same as the whole right.

The Farmer's Wife.

Boston Transcript: The betterment movement for farmers' wives which has been started by the department of agriculture is said to be unpopular with the farmers themselves. In some of the newer sections may be seen fine barns, but very indifferent houses as their companions. The latest machinery must be had and the best labor-saving devices employed, while the housewife must still go to the pump for her water supply, to the woodpile for heating arrangements, and in other ways follow the primitive methods of 100 years ago. The farmer pleads that he cannot afford to equip his house with modern knickknacks. It would weaken his resources for keeping his outdoor activities up to the highest stadard. But invention has been as busy providing for indoor comfort as for outside expansion. When farmers consider their wives to the same extent as themselves there will be more young women that at present willing to accept those positions.

Afar From Home.

National Monthly: Mahoney of the bureau of forestry, who was recently out West, was a bit sore on the section to which he was assigned, and one day, while out with Stelly, a fellow-worker, inquired the name of the bird that was making such a din nearby.

"That," said Stelly, with a grin, "is the bird of paradise."

"Well," said Mahoney, "all I have to say is, he's a hell of a ways from home."

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

At the city council meeting last evening, the appointments of West Duluth police officers by Mayor Lewis were confirmed, as follows: Lieutenant, Arthur Briggs; sergeants, Hans Peterson and Millard L. Roach; court officer, Edward Jensen; jailors, Charles Stevens and Frank Fredell; patrolmen, Ray McKenzie, Peter Habberstad, John Peabody, Victor Anderson, Gus Schroeder, J. E. Sunneberg, Chris. Johnson, Evan G. Kelso, Norman N. G. Perry. Ellsworth Benham was named by City Attorney Morris as his choice for assistant city attorney. The appointments of S. F. Wadhams as assessor and M. J. Davis and Andrew Swordling as members of the board of public works were confirmed. Salaries were fixed as follows: City attorney, $2,900; assistant city attorney, $1,500; chief of police, $1,500; captain of police, $1,200; lieutenants, $90 per month; sergeants and detectives, $75 per month.

Navigation is thoroughly open in Duluth now. This morning the tug Record broke the ice in the St. Paul & Duluth slip and took out the big lighter scow of the Inman line. The Record will also release the little ferry Mayflower from the ice, and the latter will then run for two or three weeks between Connor's and Rice's points carrying street railway passengers.

The Norwegian Republican club was organized last evening with fifty-eight members. The following officers were elected: President, L. A. Larson; first vice-president, A. B. Lange; second vice-president, O. S. Olson; secretary, Odin Halden; treasurer, O. Berg.

Frederick L. McGhee, the colored lawyer of St. Paul, has written to C. W. Dorsey, congratulating him upon his selection as one of the Duluth delegates to the McKinley meeting at Minneapolis and requesting him to be his guest while there. He closes his letter by expressing a wish that Mr. Dorsey may rise on the political ladder until he has reached the topmost round.

James Staples' residence on Grand avenue in Lester Park was totally destroyed by fire with all its contents about 1 o'clock this morning. The loss on the house was $1,400 and on the contents $3,000, with insurance of $3,000.

Louis Kossuth, the Hungarian patriot, is reported to be dying.

There was a deadlock in the city council last night over a motion to reduce the salaries of the members of the board of public works to $300 a year. Eight aldermen voted for the motion, but nine votes were necessary, and the matter went over until the next meeting.

Wanted to Oblige.

Lippincott's: At the Lambs club Raymond Hitchcock told of the repeated applications for a job made to a Metropolitan manager by a somewhat seedy-looking person who had, as repeatedly, been informed that there was nothing for him. Each time that the man would begin a recital of his qualifications he would be interrupted with "See the stage manager. He is handling all applications."

Finally the dilapidated stranger contrived to gain access to the stage manager, who at that time was busily engaged in assisting the musical leader in sizing up the candidates for the chorus. Now, there was a long line in front of the stranger; but this circumstance did not prevent him, between songs, from interrupting the stage manager with requests for a job. The director at length became exasperated. Turning to the pianist he directed him to play an accompaniment for the seedy-looking applicant. After some hesitation, the stranger, urged by the manager, lifted up his voice in song. His effort was bad, as bad as could be—the stage manager was disgusted.

"What does all this comedy mean?" he demanded. "You are certainly not lacking in nerve to ask me for a job! You a singer—"

At this the applicant himself displayed anger. "See here!" he exclaimed. "I don't sing! I don't want to try to sing! I am a stage carpenter. I was only singing to please you. You insisted upon it."

A Thrifty Lover.

Lippincott's: When she returned from her summer vacation she received him with an icy demeanor.

"I'm going to give you back our engagement ring," she said. "I love another."

"Will you give me his name and address?" he inquired, as he took the ring.

"His address!" she exclaimed, in surprise. "What are you going to do? Kill him?"

"No, indeed," was the reply. "I want to sell him this ring."

TAXING MINERAL RIGHTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you please answer the following in your Open Court? If an owner of land, including mineral rights, in the state of Minnesota, sells the land and reserves all or part of mineral rights, is he compelled to pay a tax on same? J. S. C.

Virginia, Minn., March 19.

There is a law providing for the taxation of mineral rights.—The Editor.

THE COUNTY HOSPITAL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I can't help putting in a good word for the county hospital. It is certainly needed here on the range as well as in the whole county. Such a hospital is needed and needed badly, and I see by The Herald that Virginia wants it. Virginia is certainly a beautiful city and is more enterprising than most of the range towns, but I think on the whole that Wolf would be a more suitable place for the reason it is not crowded with mines and such, which get on the nervous system. It is a quiet, nice little place, more suitable than any place I have seen. It is out in the open air, in a nice pine woods, where patients could surely get well in the invigorating air, and I think that a county institution of that kind ought to have a farm where the patients who are not well and not sick could get out and exercise themselves. There is nothing so good as a little farm work to take your mind off your troubles. I should certainly like to see such a place and at Wolf, too. We need it. We have a good hospital here, but at times the doctors are overburdened and the hospital full. Both nurses and doctors are taxed to their utmost strength. I wish everyone would favor the institution at Wolf. It is the place for it. It connects with many range towns and Duluth. Up here is the place for it, in the Northern part where God offers free cure for all, with the pine woods.

Yours sincerely,

MISS JENNY BARONY.

Eveleth, Minn., March 19.

UP TO BILL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Oh, Bill! Friend Bill! Now don't you see
How useless it would be
To go before the mighty Warren
And enter in my plea?

For straightway he will say, "Kind sir,
Look it up and you will see
That the East end car comes first, as 'tis,
So please don't bother me."

"But that is not my plan," I'll cry;
"I know what you say is true.
Just send them close together,
And see if that won't do."

"That plan we cannot use," he'll say.
"With it we can't succeed,
For it would knock our schedule out,
And that won't do, indeed."

Now, you see I'm in a pickle,
In other words up the flue.
A better plan I can't think up,
So, Bill, it's up to you.

DECIDE TO PAY.

Twenty-Seventh Avenue Property Owners Reassured By Council.

At a meeting of the property owners on Twenty-seventh avenue west, held last night at the voting booth on Twenty-eighth avenue and First street, an agreement was reached whereby the assessment levied against the property for the paving of the thoroughfare will be paid. The property owners decided that as long as a resolution had been adopted by the city commission which will require the city to repair or replace any of the defective paving they would go ahead and make their payment.

The city commission adopted such a resolution at a meeting with a committee of the property owners Tuesday afternoon. The refusal on the part of the property owners to pay the levy came about because of the alleged defect in the laying of the paving, the material used, it is alleged, not being up to specifications.

UNSIGHTLY AND INSANITARY.

Fits on Superior Street Property Considered Menace to Health.

Business men along Superior street are indignant about the alleged insanitary condition of vacant property on the lower side of the street. Several pits in the property are said to contain water during the summer and lately have been used for the disposal of a large amount of rubbish.

At the meeting of the West End Commercial club last night members of the club charged that the city health department was negligent in allowing such conditions to exist. E. H. Olson, chairman of a committee recently appointed to ask the city authorities to have the places filled with ashes and other clean matter, reported that the health officials had refused to act.

It is claimed that during the summer these holes have held stagnant water, and that this water is the breeding place for flies and other disease-breeding and spreading germs.

"If the health of the community is to be preserved we must get rid of these places," said George M. Jensen, secretary of the club.

WILL URGE PAVING.

Improvement Club Will Act on Third Street Matter.

The Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club, at its meeting this evening at the Merrit school, Fortieth avenue and Sixth street, will probably take some action toward getting Third street west of Vernon street improved this summer. It is probable that a committee will be appointed to circulate a petition among the property owners with a view of asking them to stand the full share of the cost of a substantial paving.

The strip of Third street between Vernon street and Thirty-ninth avenue is said to be in a condition that makes travel almost impassable during wet weather.

NO "WHITE WAY" THIS YEAR.

Out-of-Town Property Owners Refuse to Pay Cost.

The West end may have no "white way" this year, according to a report given last night at the meeting of the West End Commercial club. Two property owners, both of whom are out-of-town holders, are said to have refused to consider the proposition to pay their share towards installing or maintaining the system.

The cost of installing the standards, five to each block, has been estimated at about $35 for each 25-foot lot. The maintenance charge a year has been estimated at about $17 a lot.

Every local business man and property holder has willingly signed the agreement to pay his share of the cost. In the majority of instances the property owners have signed to pay both installation and maintenance charges while a number of those renting have also agreed to pay.

Unless the two men who are holding out against the proposition change their minds about the improvement it is unlikely that the new system of lighting will be installed this year.

TO GIVE FRENCH PLAY.

Naturalization Club Will Entertain for Its Members.

The French Naturalization club will entertain for its members with a three-act French playlet at the French hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, tonight. The play will be given in the French language, with the scene laid in Paris and Havre.

Those taking part are as follows: Arthur Veillet, John Desroches, Joseph Poirier, James T. Morin, A. Chamberland, A. Boissoneault, Joseph Robitaille, Emil Beaurivage, Fred Arseneau, Thomas Robillard, William Langlois and Edward R. Grignon; director, Z. Desiaurles.

The entertainment is one of a series planned for the members. Other features, such as athletic exhibitions, wrestling, musical programs and other features, are being arranged for future dates by the entertainment committee.

West End Briefs.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, entertained at a Lenten tea in the guild rooms yesterday afternoon. Mrs. G. Holloway, Mrs. T. E. Halford and Mrs. Oliver Kurker were hostesses.

Thomas Conway of Winnipeg, G. H. Noble of Saginaw, Mich., H. Highland of Winona and O. Peterson of St. Paul were guests yesterday at the Esmond hotel.

North Star Lodge No. 11, I. O. G. T., will entertain at a social program for its members this evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, will leave tomorrow to spend a week's vacation out of the city.

Mrs. E. G. Le Clair of Milwaukee who has been spending the last week visiting relatives in this end of the city, left last evening for her home.

CUYUNA LANDS ARE IN DEMAND.

Crosby, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many individuals and syndicates are acquiring lands on the Cuyuna range at prevailing prices and shrewd observers are convinced that the range is soon to witness one of the largest movements in lands that has ever been seen in the Northwest. Many of the settlers on the Cuyuna range who have sold their holdings are already reinvesting in local lands.

Crow Wing county and the Cuyuna range have wonderful resources and prosperity is already showing itself through its increased mine production and the resources of its vast agricultural lands. The country is young and land prices are advancing every day. Centering around Crosby there are splendid lands and some ready for the plow. There are cut-over lands which have already yielded fortunes in timber. Clover grows like weeds on this soil and there are thousands of acres to be had. It has been demonstrated by one man that one clear acre planted to onions and closely attended to during the season will bring a revenue of $900 net.

OPEN THREE ESTATES.

Letters of Administration Are Asked in Each Case.

Three new estates were opened in probate court yesterday afternoon.

Panagiotis Athanasopoulus, who died in Duluth Dec. 17, 1913, aged 19, as a result of injuries sustained in an accident, left an estate consisting principally of a cause of action for wrongful death. George Asemakopoulus and John Prevezanos, attorney in fact for the widow and brother, petitioned the court for letters of administration on the estate.

Anna E. Thomas filed a petition with the court asking for the appointment of William H. Denman as administrator of the estate of her late husband, Frank M. Thomas, whose death occurred in this city on Jan. 28 last. Thomas was survived by a widow and one son. His estate consists of real and personal property valued at $10,000, located in Lake and Crow Wing counties.

Stephen J. McCloskey, who died in Duluth on Feb. 14 last, left an estate consisting of personal property valued at $400. Ella McCloskey, widow, yesterday petitioned for appointment as administratrix.

WESTERN FUEL MEN SENT TO PRISON.

San Francisco, Cal., March 20.—The three officials of the Western Fuel company who were recently convicted of conspiracy to defraud the Federal government were given jail sentences last night by Judge Maurice T. Dooling of the United States district court in this city.

James B. Smith, vice president and general manager, was sentenced to serve one and a half years in San Quentin and to pay a fine of $5,000; Fred C. Mills, superintendent, was also sentenced to one and a half years in San Quentin; Edward H. Mayer, a weigher, was given a year in the Alameda county jail.

Oranges for Health

Doctor Harvey W. Wiley, the greatest authority on pure foods and dietetics in the world says: "Eat oranges; eat them in winter, eat them in summer; they are better for you than physic."

In an interview, Dr. Wiley says: "Oranges are excellent for people. It is good to eat oranges for breakfast, and also for dinner—not from a medical, but an anti-medical standpoint.

"Both oranges and lemons ought to be used freely.

"Note that I do not say 'Eat an orange for breakfast', but rather, 'EAT ORANGES'."

IMPORTANT PERSONAGE

Peasant Monk Has Full Sway in the Czar's Court.

Rasputin, the "Faith Healer," Has Mastered the Holy Synod.

St. Petersburg, March 20.—Gregori Rasputin, the Siberian peasant and faith healer from Tomsk, is now firmly established as one of the very few really important personages in the Russian empire. Till recently his occult sway was wielded only inside the czar's palaces, but in the past few weeks he has successfully mastered the procurator of the holy synod and the heads of the Orthodox church who wish to have him put out of St. Petersburg.

Instead, he has taken a large house here in the neighborhood of the palace of the late Grand Duke Alexis, and gives audiences to petitioners like an accredited dispenser of power.

A visitor to his residence the other day found a row of fashionable carriages and automobiles waiting outside his door. In his reception chamber were women of high title and generals in uniform waiting to get his blessing.

Wears White Tunic.

He emerged from his inner room wearing a white tunic shirt of china silk outside his trousers and reaching to his knees. It was bound round his waist with a dark red sash. He wore bedroom slippers, as he always does indoors, replacing them by high top boots when he goes out.

Some of his high-placed devotees kissed him on the cheek, others on his hand, and some put his sleeve to their lips. He just bowed recognition to them. Then he opened another door to a room where about thirty humbler petitioners were waiting.

Each of them handed his plaint in writing, and Rasputin, after reading it through, would mark on it the name of the minister or department where the petition would be granted, and his initialled notation in writing is almost that of an illiterate. He would say to some of them as he handed back their petitions: "Now, do not thou shame me. Go, and thou shalt get what I ask for thee." To the poorest among them he would give some money.

He Picks the Czar's Ministers.

He is intrusted with confidential missions into the interior by the czar. The ex-governor of Nijni-Novgorod, Mr. Hvostoff, tells of a remarkable experience. Hvostoff made a name for ruthlessness in suppressing attempts at political discussion during the period of the great fair at Nijni-Novgorod. For that reason it was thought at the imperial court that he would make a good minister of the interior. The czar sent Rasputin out to Nijni-Novgorod to see if Governor Hvostoff had a "pure soul." Rasputin duly presented himself at the governor's residence and was at once received. After some talk he asked Mvostoff how he truly felt in his soul. Hvostoff answered: "My soul is all right, but I have a short temper. Sometimes I put a man in a sack and throw him into the river," pointing out of the window to the Volga. Rasputin remarked that that might happen to him, and the governor said: "You never know." Rasputin went straight from the governor's palace and sent a telegram to the empress's chief lady in waiting, Countess Vyrubova, saying: "His soul is pure, but he is too young." Hvostoff kept the original of the telegram and has shown it to friends in St. Petersburg.

He Is Influenced by Women.

All steps to secure his good influence for high appointments are made by way of Rasputin's women admirers. His introducer in St. Petersburg is the sister of the Countess of Hohenfelsen, the morganatic wife of the Grand Duke Paul. Countess Witte attends his receptions, and his power over the empress's nervous system is absolute. He goes from St. Petersburg to Tsarkoe-Selo three or four times a week, and while he is in the palace all doors are open to him, and everything he says or does is treated as if he were sent by Providence to guide the czar.

GETS U. S. MEDAL FOR LIFE SAVING

Twelfth Woman Receives Recognition By President of Heroic Act.

Washington, March 20.—Little Miss Anna Olsen, a young nurse at the Ellis Island Immigration Station hospital, has received at the hands of the president the silver medal of honor authorized by congress to be bestowed upon "any persons who shall endanger their own lives saving, or endeavoring to save, lives from perils of the sea."

The medal of the first class, of gold, is "confined to cases of extreme heroic daring." The medal of the second class, of silver, is for "cases not sufficiently distinguished to deserve the medal of the first class." These medals represent a monetary value of respectively $75 and $30.

Miss Olsen's medal is the second class. The award was made upon the testimony of Surgeon L. L. Williams, chief medical officer of the hospital; Past Assistant Surgeons Herring and Carmelia, and Hospital Attendant Lee, all of the public health service. According to their testimony Martha Nevik, an alien, who was one of the survivors of the Volturno disaster, was detained at Ellis Island because of her demented condition following it. She developed scarlet fever and was taken to the hospital on Oct. 27 last. She was placed under the charge of Miss Olsen. The patient was troublesome and required constant attention. She escaped from the isolation room and had dashed out the rear door, and before Miss Olsen could seize her she plunged into the water from the dock. The nurse, without stopping to remove any of her clothing, plunged after her. It was twelve feet to the water, and the water was nine or ten feet deep. Miss Olsen could swim a bit, but not enough to warrant her going out to save another bent on suicide. It was several minutes before others arrived, and by that time the heroine had brought the woman up, after having gone down twice, and after a desperate struggle had dragged her to a piling, where she managed to hold on until the doctors and others came with a boat.

Only two women have been awarded the gold medals. One was Ida Lewis Wilson, keeper of the Lime Rock lighthouse, at Newport. The other was Mrs. John H. Small, wife of a New York and Washington florist, who in 1908 rescued two women who were drowning while in bathing at Sea Girt.

Miss Olsen is the tenth woman to receive the silver medal.

INSANE MAN'S LAND ENHANCING IN VALUE

Chico, Cal., March 20.—If John M. Skare stays insane long enough he will be a millionaire, according to Attorney Richard White of this city, who is looking after the interests of the Chico man, who was committed to the Napa state asylum for the insane six months ago, following a mental breakdown.

When Skare became ill his estate was worth $3,825. It consisted of 17.68 acres of land just outside of Chico.

The report filed in Oroville shows that the estate is now valued at $6,643.85, or an increase of 76 per cent, meaning $2,819.95 gain in six months.

White claims careful handling of the property is making the incompetent man rich by leaps and bounds.

FAILS TO SAVE HUSBAND IN WELL

Wife Descends Forty-Foot Rope But Cannot Lift Him.

Kansas City, Mo., March 20.—A wife's heroic efforts to save her injured husband from drowning in a well on their farm near here failed.

While digging the well Gabriel Dinkel slipped and fell forty feet to the bottom. Mrs. Dinkel heard his cries and ran to the well. He told her she must hurry with aid as he was fast becoming exhausted. She fastened a rope to a plank, then, hand under hand, she went down the rope.

When she reached Mr. Dinkel the narrowness of the well made it difficult for her to get a firm hold. Bracing herself against the slippery sides, she grasped him by the hand, then began a terrific fight to pull him back up the rope. He was injured severely and could give little assistance.

She began to weaken, her grasp loosened and her husband slipped and disappeared into four feet of water. Then began the fight of the woman to save herself. Realizing that her husband had drowned, and almost exhausted by her efforts to rescue him, she climbed slowly up the forty feet of rope.

Time and again she nearly fell backward, only saving herself by bracing against the sides of the well, reaching the top and summoning help. Neighbors brought the body of the husband to the surface.

RHODES BOYS FROM U. S. HAVE BEST YEAR

Oxford, England, March 20.—The annual report of the Rhodes trust shows that the American scholars during 1913 had a better scholarship record than in any year since the system was started.

The whole number of Rhodes scholars in residence during the year was 175. Altogether the Rhodes system now represents about an eighteenth part of the whole student body.

Only three Rhodes scholars are working merely for a pass degree. Most of them are out of honors, and on the whole they seem to be standing the test of Oxford standards well except in classics. Only one "first" was obtained in classics, and this was by an American from the Pacific coast. In the other departments the scholars held their own. In jurisprudence they gained five firsts out of seven awarded.

The question of what becomes of the Rhodes scholars after their many years of study is answered in the report:

More than one-fourth of the 431 Rhodes men who have been graduated from Oxford since the system was started have kept on with education as their lifework. About 100 have turned to law; nearly fifty have gone into the civil service of the British empire, the United States or Germany, twenty-five have become physicians, eighteen have gone into business, eighteen have turned to the church, and a small group is divided among journalism, agriculture and science.

DREAM OF OLD SALT'S LIFE IS REALIZED

San Francisco, Cal., March 20.—For fifty years Capt. Bernard Paulson sailed the seven seas and devoted his waking hours to battling with wind and tide. But when he climbed into his bunk, he dreamed of chickens.

Not the sort of chickens you are thinking of, but fat Plymouth Rock hens that laid an egg a day, and stately roosters as consorts to the same. For the "Cap." was one of that vast army which devours poultry journals and pines, if in their secret hearts, to own a poultry ranch with high wire fences.

Through all the years Capt. Paulson had come off without a single mishap. Recently his craft went ashore on Marin islands. When daybreak came in the morning, the captain looked about him and slapped his leg.

"This island," he cried, "is just the place I have been looking for. Right here is where I am going to start that poultry yard I have been planning."

The islands are owned by the government. Capt. Paulson leased them as soon as he got ashore. He will have a modern seven-acre marine poultry farm with ship's lights on the coops and a foghorn to call the chickens with.

Court Thirty Years, Then Wed.

Sterling, Ill., March 20.—A courtship lasting thirty years has ended in the marriage of Frank Connolly, 58, and Miss Elsie Conners, 60. Since 1880 Connolly has been "calling on" Miss Connors and it had been understood generally by the folks of the town that the couple would wed some day.

THE AGES WHEN LOVE IS DEEPEST

Psychological Tests Conducted at California and Hamburg Universities.

San Francisco, Cal., March 20.—Psychological tests to determine at what particular age men and women love with deepest feeling, conducted at the University of California and at Hamburg university, have resulted in the graphic showing of the "curve of love" by German scientists, but with no results of scientific value at Berkeley.

Prof. John Jackh, eminent German scholar, declared that by pencil and compass he has actually succeeded in plotting the "curve of love," showing that man loves deepest at from 24 to 26 years of age, while woman has her greatest affection between the ages of 30 and 34.

Prof. Warner E. Brown of Berkeley, a psychologist of wide reputation, declares that his tests fail to show that there can be any graphic illustration of the intensity of affection for the opposite sex.

The German psychologist holds that men love to a degree between the ages of 20 and 22, but that their "best" loves comes between the ages of 24 and 26. After this, he contends, and especially after they have arrived at 30, they love but little.

On the other hand, women are most susceptible to their deepest affection at 30 to 34 years, long after man has ceased to be a love factor.

Prof. Jackh has based his theories and plotted his "curves of love" on the love affairs in the lives of 400 famous men and women, and said, in a scientific bulletin, that these cases are typical of man and womankind the world over.

EGGS HAVE BIG SLUMP

Decline of Five Cents a Dozen From Last Week's Prices.

Will Go Into Storage on About a 15-Cent Basis.

A decline of 5 cents a dozen in eggs as compared with a week ago, is the feature of the produce market today.

The slump was brought about through the enormously increased receipts following the recent spell of mild weather. The price quoted today is 22 and 23 cents.

"Receipts have been greatly in excess of consumption and present prices are too high for storage," said B. M. Ruse, sales manager of the Bridgeman-Russell company, this morning. "This condition has ruled pretty much all over the country. Eggs have been rushed up here from points in the southern part of the state, so that as the consumptive demand in this territory cannot be increased beyond a certain point, stocks in dealers' hands have been accumulating in spite of carlot shipments to New York and other cities east of Buffalo. It is safe to say that heavy losses are to be shown in all eggs now being carried. The market slipped away so fast that traders were unable to protect themselves."

The opinion is generally entertained by Duluth dealers that eggs will go into store next month at around 15 cents a dozen. This will be the lowest figure in several years, so that the cost of living in at least one direction, promises to be materially reduced.

Butter Cheaper, Too.

Butter prices have dropped 2 cents a pound all around. The best creamery is quoted today at 27 and 28 cents, first creamery at 26 and 27 cents; imitation creamery at 22 and 23 cents, and dairy at 21 and 22 cents. It is thought that the bottom in the market has been about reached for the present, though members of the trade do not care to hazard an opinion as to where quotations will stand when storage supplies are put away in June. Production of the creameries has been largely increased of late, but storage stocks at this point have been practically cleaned up. They are still, however, a factor in the East where substantial stores are still being carried in warehouses.

In view of the unsettled condition of the butter market, cheese quotations are regarded as holding remarkably well. This is brought about through the limited stocks and the strong consumptive demand from over the territory. The new season's Wisconsin cheese is now offering at 19 cents a pound.

Poultry is Scarce.

Poultry is from 1 to 2 cents a pound dearer through the list, attributable to the present small marketings by fanciers. Receipts of live poultry are now merely nominal and they are practically confined to hens and spring chickens.

Packers' figures in meat are firm with the exception of veal, which is off a cent. Mutton and lamb are each quoted a cent up.

Good Choice in Fruits.

The choice in fruit and vegetables is reported good by the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company, with prices practically unchanged through the list.

Oranges are the feature in fruits, and they are thought to be now quoted as cheaply as they will be this season. The fruit is of exceptionally fine quality, and a good demand is being met within it. Grapefruit is offering in a choice grade and it is felt that no reduction from its present quotation is to be looked for. Apples are selling higher in the East and an advance is looked for here, also any time now. All varieties of the fruit are being cleaned up rapidly.

Potatoes Getting Cheaper.

Receipts of green California and Florida vegetables are light and quotations are slightly higher than in other seasons. That has been brought about through the colder weather prevailing in the South this winter.

The market in Minnesota potatoes is easier, with a slump in it regarded as certain in the near future. Stocks in growers' hands are said to be larger than had been estimated and there is now only a limited time remaining to market them.

Texas cabbage is higher to the extent of $10 and $15 a ton at producing points, and that condition is reflected in today's price lists. Old Minnesota cabbage is said to be nearly cleaned up.

LEARN ARITHMETIC WITH LIVE CHICKENS

Pupils Also Count Cash Dividends in School Stock Company.

Eugene, Or., March 20.—Making arithmetic attractive by cash dividends has been successfully accomplished by a school chicken yard recently established at the Glenada school, located on the Siuslaw river. Details of the plan were brought here by Miss Goldie Van Biber, the former University of Oregon student, who is supervisor over forty isolated schools in the coast region of Lane county.

A "Stock" company was formed by the children. A hen will buy one share of stock. The number is unlimited. The company is regularly "incorporated," with student officers and student clerical force.

The chicken yard is maintained by the care of the children and by the scraps from the children's lunch boxes. Feed, however, is purchased, with many other supplies, but all items purchased are recorded. Wire netting has been purchased and sanitary coops have been built.

The sale of eggs represents the income of this company. So far outstanding obligations have been met, and the industry is already returning dividends. The business management, the bookkeeping, the quoting of prices and purchase of supplies are part of the course of arithmetic taught.

The care of poultry is part of the course in the agricultural manual, taught in all Oregon rural schools. And the money earned is at the disposal of the young student-business men.

SUEZ CANAL TO BE DEEPENED SEVEN FEET

Paris, March 20.—M. Jounart, the chief executive of the Suez canal, informs the shareholders that they will be benefited rather than harmed by the opening of the Panama canal. He predicts that the opening up of regions in East Asia by the American canal will create a traffic, some of which naturally will find its way through Suez. "Be that as it may," he adds,, "Suez will still remain the shortest route from Europe to the Far East."

Extensive and costly improvements are being made to the Suez canal to enable it to compete with Panama. The original depth, in 1865, was twenty-six English feet. The present depth is thirty-two feet. The new depth will be thirty-nine feet.

The Suez canal has no locks and no tides. The waterway remains almost constantly at a uniform depth. The Mediterranean sea is almost tideless. No vessel drawing more than twenty-nine feet is at present allowed to go through Suez. The canal is 146 feet wide at the narrowest part of its course through the 100 miles of sandy desert that marks the distance between the Red sea and the Mediterranean. About $3,000,000 is being spent to minimize the effect of sand storms by extending the breakwater at Port Said by some 2,700 yards.

FOR A HONEYMOON TRY SENATE SUBWAY

Washington, March 20.—A rosy cheeked bride, named Henrietta, and a bridegroom, named George, drifted into the senate subway and discovered the automobile and the monorail car used for conveying senators and others from the office building to the capitol and back. George helped his bride in and they were shot through the subway.

"How much?" asked the bridegroom.

"No charge," responded the chauffeur.

"Fine! Could we go back?" asked the young fellow, smiling.

"If you like," was the answer.

The bride and bridegroom made six round trips on the automobile and three on the monorail car.

"Who are they?" asked Senator Ashurst, upon seeing the couple twice. "What are they up to?"

"Bride and groom, joyriding," declared the chauffeur.

SEVEN SEPARATIONS WITHIN TWO YEARS

Washington, March 20.—Seven separations and as many reconciliations in two years is the record established today when the maintenance suit of Mrs. Lillian E. Della against Edward L. Della was dismissed at the instance of the wife.

Summer-time fun in Atlantic City, a little turkey trotting in Washington and disagreements over money matters were the principal features of the case.

Mrs. Della is 52 and her husband 47. He testified that he shaved off his mustache, combed back his hair, donned a light-colored suit and went to the summer resort to watch her actions. Della said his wife did not penetrate his disguise until she discovered a mole on his ear.

Mrs. Della testified her husband complained about her "going around in a bathing suit" and to her having her picture taken in a certain suit. She explained that he also unjustly protested about her turkey-trotting at the home of her step-daughter.

"BEST REPORTER IN CHICAGO" IS KILLED

John L. Lawson Falls Down Press Club Building Elevator Shaft.

Chicago, March 20.—John L. Lawson, star reporter for the Chicago Tribune and one of the best known newspaper men in the Middle West, met a tragic death yesterday afternoon when he fell down an elevator shaft in the Chicago Press Club building. His body was discovered at the bottom of the shaft some time after the accident is supposed to have happened.

It is believed that Mr. Lawson opened the door of the elevator shaft, which is used for freight, mistaking it for the door of the lavatory adjoining, and stepped in before realizing his mistake.

When news of the tragedy was flashed to the different newspaper offices by the city news bureau, there ensued an almost complete cessation of activities among editors and reporters by whom Mr. Lawson generally was considered "the best reporter in Chicago."

For years his stories have been held up as models of newspaper writing.

Wrote Up Cherry Disaster.

Mr. Lawson was 36 years old and unmarried. He was born on Prince Edward Island. His newspaper career extended over a period of fifteen years, during the most of which time he was on the staffs of different Chicago newspapers. His most notable work is said to have been a description of the Cherry mine disaster a few years ago.

Mr. Lawson's news stories were noted for their brevity, simplicity of style and an ability to say much in a few words. What is considered by leading editors in Chicago as a newspaper classic was written by Mr. Lawson about a year ago. It was called in newspaperdom "The Story of a Grouch," and was just 149 words long. Other writers who did the same story required three times the space to tell it.

Worked in Minnesota.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 20.—John L. Lawson, who was accidentally killed in Chicago yesterday, was formerly a Minneapolis newspaper man, having been attached to the staff of the Minneapolis Times in 1901-02. Before coming to Minneapolis Lawson's home was at Northfield and Owatonna, Minn., where his father edited weekly newspapers.

ABANDONED NAVAL TUG IS BOARDED.

Curling, Nfld., March 20.—Six men sent by Consular Agent Gould boarded the abandoned United States naval tug Potomac yesterday after a trip of 100 miles over land and sea ice. The Potomac was found at the mouth of the straits of Belle Isle, still frozen in the ice. Her hull apparently is sound, and there was very little water in the hold. Another party with pumps and dynamite is on the way to the tug, and an effort will be made to break up the ice and get her to a safe anchorage. She has about twelve tons of coal and a ton of provisions on board.

An easterly gale was blowing and there were prospects that she would be blown out into the gulf again.

ART COLLECTION GIVEN TO LOUVRE.

Paris, March 20.—Marchioness Arconati-Visconti has presented to the Louvre her entire collection of paintings, porcelains, furniture and other art objects, chiefly of the French and Italian Renaissance periods. An announcement by the minister of education places the value of the gift at $1,000,000.

The marchioness in April, 1912, presented to the United States National Museum the armchair of the marquis of Lafayette.

Prof. Edward M. Lehnerts who will give a University Extension course lecture at Central high school this evening on "Minnesota, The Heart of Our Continent," is well known in Minnesota as a remarkably successful teacher and has gained an international reputation through his geographic publications. During the three years he was director of the American Bureau of Geography he edited bulletins of the society, increased the scope of its work and raised the membership higher than it had ever been. He was one of the co-founders of the Journal of Geography, a periodical with an international circulation among scientists and educators.

Prof. Lehnerts is the originator of the "See Minnesota First" tours. "Few persons," he said, "appreciate the vast and varied resources of Minnesota. A more thorough understanding of our state, her beautiful lakes and valleys, her streams and waterfalls, her fertile soils, favorable climate, bountiful crops, extensive forests and unrivaled mines ought to increase our love and enthusiasm for our commonwealth."

OHPHEUM—Vaudeville and diving contests.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville and ragtime contests.

Amusement Notes.

Rose Stahl, one of the most popular actresses on the American stage, will open a two days' engagement at the Lyceum this evening in "Maggie Pepper which is said to be a worthy successor to "The Chorus Lady." Miss Stahl arrived in Duluth this morning.

"Married folk who stay happily married, are always of intense interest to me," said Rose Stahl, in the course of a little talk on life in general, this morning.

"When I meet them in my busy life, they fill me with a sort of reverence that makes me want to hold my hands over their heads and bless them. I look upon them as people who have solved the most difficult of life's many difficult problems, and I feel that not only must they have qualities of an amazingly high order, but that their married life is built upon that most beautiful of all foundations—a mutual respect. And that seems to me the secret of every lasting marriage—respect.

"The marriage may begin with just love, but no matter how intense that joy may be, it will not, it cannot last, unless each day passed together adds to their mutual respect. To love is so easy! In some it is inspired by the pretty turn of an artist, the arch of an instep, or the curl of an eyelash! Ask some of your married friends what first attracted them to each other, and you'll be astonished at some of their answers.

"I remember a talk I had with a charming Englishman. We were deck chair neighbors in a big Atlantic liner, and he had told me that his married life had proved unhappy, and that he didn't mind the divorce, but that he 'missed the children.' He showed me their pictures taken with their mother, whose face was one of the most beautiful I have ever seen in a photograph. I remarked how lovely the mother was, and he said 'yes,' but that they just couldn't get along. After a long study of the picture I gave it back to him with the remark:

"'Well, I feel that it isn't her fault.'

"'No,' he said, 'as a matter of fact, it isn't.

"Having many idle hours at sea, and being anxious to put my pet theory about marriage to the test, I asked: 'What attracted you to her when you first met her?'

"That is just the whole trouble,' he answered; 'her parents sent her to France to be educated, and she came back with a slight French accent that fascinated me. Of course she lost the accent, but I don't know how to explain it, but everything seemed to go with it.'

"For a long time after he had gone away to join the energetic ninepin players at the other end of the deck, I sat and mused about it all. I felt that my theory was proved again. There had been no growth of tolerance and mutual respect, and so, in spite of her beauty and the fascination which had at first brought them together, they had grown away from each other."

The second diving contest will be held at the Orpheum theater this evening.

The first contest was held Tuesday night, when seven young men competed for a cup, following the act presented by Odiva, who is headlining to duplicate several of her feats. Tonight the contest will be for women. Manager Billings states that he has several entries for the contest, and hopes to have at least six young women. If enough young women are not secured, men will be permitted to enter and it will be a mixed contest.

The audience acts as the judge, and the contestant receiving the most applause is declared the winner.

The contest Tuesday night provided a big measure of entertainment for the audience, the climax coming when Capt. Adams, the manager of Odiva, fell into the tank just as the contest came to a close. It made such a hit with the audience that he says he is tempted to repeat the fall, only he does not feel he can afford to purchase a new dress suit for every diving contest.

This week's bill is quite generally conceded to be the best of the season to date. It is reflected in the attendance, and the advance sale for tonight promises a capacity audience.

Hans Robert, famous for his work in "Checkers," will headline next week's bill, opening with the Sunday matinee. He has a one act play entitled "A Daddy by Express."

* * *

Tonight at the Empress theater at both shows, the first "Rag Time Piano Playing Contest" ever held in Duluth will take place.

The "Rag Time Players' Contest," that promises to be just as exciting and entertaining as have been the "Tango Contests."

Among those entered is Miss Marie Nelson, a local girl who is at present playing in one of Duluth's picture and vaudeville houses. Guy Hallock, a pianist well known in Duluth, is a graduate of a rog time school. Another player of considerable ability is Fred Durden. This youthful prodigy can take any of the popular song selections and even operatic pieces and make the most tinkling, tuneful rags of them. Two or three other entries are expected which will give Empress theater patrons a full half dozen to judge.

Each player will be at liberty to choose any two rag pieces and play them. The audience will be the judge. Prizes to the amount of $25 will be offered. There will be three prizes, first second and third.

Roy Flaaten, musical director of the Empress theater orchestra, and James V. Allan, contest manager, will have charge of the contest.

An average vaudeville bill opened at the Empress theater yesterday afternoon for the remainder of the week.

Headlining the bill are the Lutz Brothers, one of whom is without arms, but manages to introduce feats with his feet that are nothing short of marvelous. The young man plays musical instruments, drives nails, saws wood and then ends his specialty with a markmanship number, using only his feet in accomplishing these tricks. The other member of the company introduces the comedy tricks and proves a good asset for the headline number.

The bill is opened by the Musical Fredericks, who play several instruments with ease. Their ragtime selections scored a hit yesterday.

Bernard and Scarth and Sullivan and Mason present singing, dancing and talking acts that are much alike. They are both above the average, special mention being due Miss Scarth for her specialty as the talking girl.

The motion picture feature, "North of 53," is a pictured story of the North woods that pulsates with excitement and thrilling incidents. The vaudeville bill will continue until tomorrow evening, with the regular matinees.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

To Succeed, Do More Than You Are Paid to Do.

The number of people who are smart enough, and yet do not seem to know enough, to make every day tell something for their advancement, are legion. "If," said the buyer in a large department store, "I could place more dependence upon my assistants, that part of my work which is most wearing—attention to detail—would be reduced to the smallest amount compatible with my responsibility for the whole."

The buyer continued, "When a man who can be depended upon to do all that is expected of him, and maybe a little more, falls to your lot as an assistant he does not linger long in a humble position. He is boosted from one position to another and is usually called to fill some position outside your domain, and higher than you could place him. Men worth while do not today have to grub along any more than they did fifty years ago."

This man of experience added, "I have a lot of smart men in my store, but there isn't one who has the right idea of his duty. Everyone of them knows that I want certain bolts of cloth kept properly rolled, but half a dozen times a day I go among them and repeat the same old story about keeping the cloth rolled. If but one would take the initiative the rest would follow his lead; but no, they wait for me to prod them. Take my word for it, when you have to keep after everything in this fashion it is almost as hard as having to do all the work yourself."

I know that those who work are not always of the same mind as to their work. One cannot bring exactly the same enthusiasm to a round of rather monotonous duties every single day in the year. But with due consideration for these various states of mind, it is hard to puzzle out the attitude that makes constant reminder of a trivial duty a necessity. If it required extra effort or preparation there might be reason for their neglect, but it is part of the daily round and has to be done. Why not without the whiplash of constant rebuke?

Complaints about not getting ahead usually come from these shirks. The old admonition, "Do a little more than you are paid for," is good advice, and such conduct is usually rewarded.

WOMAN WAS THE PIONEER

Came to America and Earned Money for Husband's Ticket.

Has Supported Him Since, But He Must Work Now.

How she came to this country from Finland nearly six years ago, leaving her husband and a small child in the old country; how she worked here for two years and then sent a ticket for her husband to come to Duluth, and how he has refused to do a day's work since his arrival on this side, were included in the story told yesterday afternoon by Hilda Kolhi to Judge Cutting, who was trying Anton Kolhi, 29 years old, on a charge of non-support.

And so pitiful was the story that Judge Cutting found Kolhi guilty of the charge and gave him the maximum sentence of three months on the work farm. He refused the prisoner the alternative of a fine.

On Wednesday evening Kolhi was arrested by Patrolman Englert on a charge of vagrancy, after several complaints had been made at headquarters by neighbors of the Kolhis, who live at 16½ West Second street. They reported that Kolhi was drunk in his home and that he has refused to work, while his wife is compelled to do washing that the family may be able to live. Kolhi was arraigned in police court yesterday morning and pleaded not guilty to the vagrancy charge, and his trial was set for 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Sent Him Ticket.

Just before noon Chief Troyer learned from Mrs. Kolhi that her husband came to this country four years ago on a ticket she had sent him, and that he has failed to do any work since his arrival on this side. It was then that Chief Troyer had the vagrancy charge dropped and Kolhi was arraigned later in the afternoon on a charge of non-support. He was found guilty and the straight sentence was imposed.

Mrs. Kolhi told the court that she left her husband and a small child in Finland and that she came to America alone about six years ago. She took in washing and did odd jobs about town and finally succeeded, she said, in earning enough money to purchase a ticket from Finland to Duluth. This she sent to her husband and he came over here four years ago, leaving their child with relatives in Finland.

And since Kolhi came over, Mrs. Kolhi declared to the court, he has failed to do a single day's work. He is constantly drinking, she said, and spends her money which she earns by doing washing about the city.

The Kolhis have a child, Hilma, 3 years old, who was born since the father came over from Finland. The older child is still with relatives in the old country.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR THE LYCEUM

Charles A. Marshall, owner of the Lyceum theater, announced this morning that the local playhouse will be improved and remodeled this spring at a cost of about $5,000.

The date when this work will be begun is not yet known, but Mr. Marshall said this morning that it will probably be some time during the middle of April.

The improvements will include the changing of the lobby and entrance to the theater, a complete refinishing of the interior and a change of rugs, carpets and draperies for the entire playhouse.

WIDOWS FIGHT HUSBANDS' CASE

Widows of the late J. O. Lee and Fred B. Rossom are engaged in a lawsuit which has been brought in district court to straighten out a mining deal in which their husbands were involved back in 1909.

The suit originally was brought by Helen O. Lee, widow of J. O. Lee, whose death occurred four years ago, to recover from Fred B. Rossom certain money which it was claimed had been advanced by Lee to Rossom on a mining deal.

On Jan. 23, 1914, just before the case was reached for trial, Rossom, defendant in the action, died. On the motion of the plaintiff the court has ordered that his widow, Ida C. Rossom, who is the legal representative of his estate, be substituted as plaintiff in the action.

COPPER STOCKS GROWING STRONGER

Many Issues Sell Higher on Firm Copper Metal Market.

Business in mining stocks was active at Boston today attributable largely to improvement in the copper metal situation. Moderate price advances were shown by the leading issues.

Granby was a feature, advancing 50c on good buying to a close of $89.50. Butte & Superior was firm, closing unchanged at $36.75. Calumet & Arizona closed 25c up at $68.25; Franklin 25c up at $6.50; Butte & Ballaklava a fraction up at $3.12; North Butte 50c up at $28.75; Shattuck 25c up at $28; Alaska Gold 88c up at $23.62 and Amalgamated Copper, $1.25 up at $76.50.

Trading in the Duluth curb list was in the largest proportions in some time. Calumet & Corbin sold at 29@30c and closed at 29c bid. Chief sold at $1.06; Denn at $8. Interstate at $5 and Keating at $1.38.

Directors of the Anaconda Copper company will meet next week to take action on dividend. No change in the rate is expected notwithstanding that the company, due to low copper prices, has not earned its dividend for some time past.

* * *

A wire received by Gay & Sturgis from Boston today said: "In crosscutting from the Sheep Creek tunnel in Alaska Gold, they have gone into an ore body they knew nothing about, 100 feet broad and higher in value than ore body they were working on. Jackling has gone to the property to report on the find."

* * *

Revised figures show that the Miami Copper company produced 3,316,432 pounds of copper during February, a record, as against a preliminary estimate of 3,188,748 pounds. Despite the fact that February was a short month, the output was considerably in excess of any preceding month.

It cost the company less than 9 cents a pound to produce its copper in February, including all Eastern charges of refining and selling. This established the lowest cost thus far attained by it.

It is estimated that based on 14½ cent copper, Miami could earn $3 per share if February's scale of operations were maintained.

The following wire from Boston in reference to developments at the Franklin property was received by Gay & Sturgis this morning. President R. M. Edwards, of Franklin Mining company, who has just returned from a visit to the property, says:

"I have no hesitation in stating that the showing in the Allouez conglomerate lode on the thirty-second level of Franklin is the most important development which has ever occurred at the property. I believe that Franklin can be made a profitable mine from this conglomerate lode, and within a comparatively sort time. All that is necessary is to get the lode opened sufficiently so that operations can be conducted on a large scale; all the necessary equipment is in readiness, including a mill.

"Franklin owes considerable money, but has enough cash on hand to last four or five months. I am extremely hopeful, however, that it will be possible to avoid a further assessment. The changed condition of the company's affairs makes me confident that if financing has to be done, a little later on, it can be accomplished through the sale of treasury stock at not far from $15 per share. I have been assured by strong financial interests that they would underwrite such issue provided our mill tests are as favorable as is now indicated."

Superior

MONTHLY SESSIONS OF FEDERAL COURT.

Sessions of the Federal court may be held in Superior monthly hereafter according to statement made this morning by Judge A. L. Sanborn. The large number of indictments brought in by the recent Federal grand jury totaling ninety-seven in all, is the reason for the statement. Heretofore it has been the custom to take the indicted persons to Madison for trial, but in the future it is intended to try their cases in Superior. Most of the defendants under indictment are said to live in the northern part of the state.

Petition for Paving.

Petitions asking for the paving of Winter street, Susquehanna avenue from Winter to Belknap, and Belknap to Iowa, and Iowa to Twenty-first street, were filed yesterday by property owners along this route with the city commission. The petition contained seventy signatures.

SANCTIONS BOOKMAKING

Berlin, March 20.—The German government's measure, legalizing betting on horse races through licensed bookmakers, was published today.

The bill, which had been long heralded, aims at combating handbooks and other illicit forms of betting, which have flourished under the existing law restricting betting to the official, highly taxed parimutuels. The measure also is intended to discourage betting along the lower and the middle classes and to augment the government's revenues by taxing the immense sums now illicitly wagered.

The percentage to be taken by the government and the race track owners from the takings of the parmutuels is reduced by the new measure from 16⅔ to 12 per cent, in order to popularize machine betting, while money bet through book-makers is to ne subjected to a general tax of 5 per cent. Winners are to be further taxed on a graduated scale, ranging from 6 to 20 per cent, according to the odds.

Unlicensed book-makers, by the new regulations are subject to a punishment of two years' imprisonment and confiscation of the bets, while the bettors themselves are to be heavily fined.

The bill prohibits the public display of race results and tips, and makes illegal bets recoverable by legal action.

GALLANT-WATSON BATTLE.

Lightweights Scheduled to Meet at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., March 20.—Gilbert Gallant of Boston, and "Red" Watson of San Francisco are scheduled to fight twenty rounds tonight. They will weigh in at 135 pounds. Betting is at even money.

Gallant fought a draw with Frankie Burns at Oakland last January and Watson claims pugilistic distinction by his defeat of Bud Anderson.

SKI ASSOCIATION TREASURER DIES.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Julius Howland, aged 45, treasurer of the National Ski association, died suddenly here last night of heart failure after a day's illness. He never had been ill a single day previously. The funeral will be held here Sunday afternoon.

BUSINESS SECTION OF DUMREA BURNED

Winnipeg, Man., March 20.—The business section of Dumrea, Man., on the Canadian Northern railroad, 144 miles southwest of here, was wiped out by fire today. The town hall, International Harvester company's warehouse and ten stores were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

KING OPPOSES BILL HITTING DIRECTORATES

Washington, March 20.—Hearings before the house judiciary committee on administration bills to supplement the Sherman law were concluded today with the appearance of Willard W. King of the Columbia-Knickerbocker Trust company of New York, who opposed the interlocking directorate bills. Hearings will be continued on the holding companies bill recently framed.

Mr. King contended that without some connection between railroads, industrial corporations and big banks, the former would find it almost impossible to market their securities.

Every new and popular style is represented at one of the two prices.

Now choose Saturday and Monday the Spring Suit for Easter promenade from one of these two lots. Every Suit is brand new—some were received two days ago, others have been here about ten days.

The colors are most desirable, and include tango, saxe blue, mahogany, new greens, royal, Burgundy, iris, flamme, tobac, prune and the always staple navy and black.

More than 25 different styles to select from, many of these suits being replicas of the most admired European models from Bernhard, Decoll, Paquin, Poiret, Callot, Premet, and are just as clever in fit and lines as were the originals.

The jackets are mostly the new French peasant style and the skirts show two or three tiers, some draped. Materials include French serge, all-wool crepe, gabardines, silk moire and poplin. Jacket linings are of excellent quality peau de cygne, in self color or contrasting hues, and are guaranteed to wear a year.

You should really see these spring suits. They will exactly fit your ideas for a new Spring Suit, we know.

Nobby Coats in Variety

This season's styles in Coats will create a large demand for separate wraps. They are garments that are dressy, add but little weight and are almost a necessary adjunct to woman's wardrobe. These coats are worn with separate skirts, with your visiting gown and with the lighter-weight summer dresses.

BLOW BANK VAULT AND GET $18,000.

Nashville, Tenn., March 20.—Robbers early today blew open the vault in the First National bank at Gallatin, Tenn., thirty-five miles northwest of Nashville, stole $18,000 and escaped. The explosion started a fire in the vault which passersby discovered.

The experience of German railroads has been that the maintenance cost of electric locomotives has been less than that of cars fitted with individual motors.

EARTH SWALLOWS TWO MEN AND SHANTY

Pottsville, Pa., March 20.—The earth opened and swallowed two miners and a work shanty on the mountainside at Kehley Run colliery at Shenandoah today, and although large forces of men have been put to work both inside the mines and at the surface, no trace of the men or building can be found. They may have been dropped a distance of 500 feet or any portion of it, and it may require weeks to learn their fate.

A third man working near the shanty at the time saved himself by grasping a steam pipe and hanging on until help arrived.

FRENCH CABINET AGAIN COMPLETE.

Paris, March 20.—The gap in the French cabinet caused by the resignation of Ernest Monis from the ministry of marine, was filled today by the appointment of Senator Armand Elzear Gauthier, a former minister of public works.

Ernest Monis appeared today before the investigating committee of the chamber of deputies to explain his part in the scandal connected with the delay in the trial of Henri Rochette, who is said to have swindled the French public out of many millions.

VIRGINIA MINE EMPLOYE SLEEPS WHILE HOUSE BURNS

Mike Ostovich, Skiptender at Norman Mine, Burned to Death.

Brother Has Close Call When Boarding House Is Destroyed.

Virginia, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mike Ostovich, 22 years of age, a Montenegrin, employed at the Norman mine as a skip tender, was burned to death in a fire which destroyed the boarding house of Luigi Beratti at the Lilly mine about 10 o'clock last night.

Sam Ostovich, a brother of the dead man was also severely burned.

The family of Beratti, consisting of his wife, a 16-year-old son and a young daughter, escaped in scanty apparel, as did a woman friend of the family, who was staying with them at the time.

The Beratti boy in escaping jumped from a second story window.

The Ostovich boys rented two rooms from the Berattis, one of which was used as a kitchen, where they did their cooking, and the other as a sleeping room.

It was the custom when retiring to fill the stove in the kitchen with wood, and it is thought that the stove became overheated and set fire to the wall which was simply covered with tar paper.

Sam Ostovich was awakened by the smoke and rushed from the room through the flames to the open air.

Cries Awaken Others.

His cries from the outside awakened the other inmates of the building with the exception of Mike Ostovich, whose charred remains were found in the ruins on the wire mattress of the bed this morning.

Sam Ostovich was badly burned about the head and body, and is at the hospital of Dr. C. V. Malmgren. The building was not much more than a tarpaper shack, and the neighbors who had been aroused were powerless to check the flames. Beratti's loss amounts to several hundred dollars, without any insurance. And the fire leaves the family practically destitute. They are being cared for by neighbors, having lost all their clothing as well as household effects.

DULUTH CONCERN LANDS CONTRACT

Gogebic Boiler Works to Furnish Eveleth Two Boilers.

Eveleth, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The bid of the Gogebic Steam Boiler works of Duluth to furnish the city with boilers for the new pumping station at St. Mary's lake was accepted by the council yesterday. The bid was for two Scotch marine boilers of 150-horse power and 150 pounds pressure. The figure was $3,577.

Is Appointed Assessor.

F. C. Cerveny was appointed assessor for a two-year term. Mr. Cerveny served in a similar capacity several years ago.

It was decided to have a synopsis of the report of the accountants who audited the city books prepared to be read at the next meeting of the council.

DECLINES NEW OFFER.

Eveleth Inventor Not Anxious to Figure in the Movies.

Eveleth, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Martin Panian, the Eveleth shoemaker who has perfected a fireproof suit, has been made another proposition by a Chicago motion picture firm. The Chicago concern offers to pay his expenses to Chicago if he will come to talk over a proposition to make a demonstration before the camera. Neither offer has appealed to Mr. Panian strongly enough to induce him to leave his business here again.

ENGINEER GILL IS OUT FOR LEGISLATURE.

Virginia, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Gill of Virginia has begun an active campaign for election as state representative from the new Sixty-first district and will be busy from now until the time of the election. Mr. Gill, who is a locomotive and steam shovel engineer, has been a resident of the city for sixteen years.

Range Wrestling Bouts.

Hibbing, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large number of local fight fans are planning to attend the wrestling match in Virginia this evening in Fay opera house, between Tom Matievich, the well-known Croation wrestler, who recently defeated Kahn Alley, the local Turk in a fast bout, and George Deneff, known as the middleweight champion of Canada. A preliminary has been arranged between Henry Keranen of Eveleth, and John Stajdohar of this village.

WHAT A MAN WILL DO FOR A DRINK

An old bartender writing for the American Magazine says: "His career is that of most drunkards; first spenders; then drunkards on credit established during the spending days; then bar flies; then beggars, panhandlers, bums, thieves—anything to get a drink." The craving for liquor, caused by the accumulated poison of alcohol in the system must be satisfied. The more you drink the greater the craving. The only salvation for the man who has acquired a thirst or craving for liquor is in the Neal treatment for the drink habit. A purely vegetable remedy, taken internally, administered by regular licensed physicians, with no hypodermic injections, no bad after effects, requiring but three days to rid you of desire or craving for alcoholic liquors. In fact an aversion and distaste is set up. Our new booklet "The Modern Method of Treatment for Alcohol and Drug Addiction," is mailed free on request.

SOCIAL CENTER PLAN APPROVED

Two Harbors Library Basement to Be Used for Girls' Work.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Odric Leclair at the regular meeting of the library board presented a plan to organize a social center for girls in the basement of the library, where all the various useful arts and hand crafts could be taught, free of charge, by competent instructors.

The library board approved the plan and unanimously extended their support by permitting the free use of the rooms.

Mrs. Leclair at once began her plans for organization, and called a meeting for all the girls interested in the work. The idea was carefully outlined before an enthusiastic gathering of fifty girls, and all of them signified their intention of entering heartily into the work. As most of these specials have been taught in the public schools during the last few years, it was deemed advisable to give the city girls the first opportunity of joining the class. Tuesday evening has been selected as the regular weekly meeting night, and the first class will be held next week.

Teachers Secured.

The following public-spirited teachers have been secured: Miss Elna Linberg, crocheting; Miss Colwell, art needle work; Miss Delia Johnson, basketing and weaving; Miss Ruth Woodward, plain sewing; Miss Bessie Jones, rapid work.

The success of the plan is assured, as seventy-three members were secured at the first meeting, and it is expected that the total enrollment will soon pass the century mark.

It is to be hoped that a similar movement will be started among the boys for instruction along the lines of manual training.

The following schedule has been arranged: Tuesday, March 24, art needlework; Tuesday, March 31, basketry and plain sewing; Tuesday, April 7, crocheting.

This particular schedule has been adopted in order to enable every member to take as many subjects as they desire.

FORTY MILES OF ROAD NOW LOCATED

Progress Being Made on Building Line Out of Grand Marais.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word has been received here that forty miles of the Grand Marais & Northern Railway company's road through Cook county will be completed this year. Mr. Mitchell, president of the company declares that a right-of-way out of Grand Marais for nearly forty miles already has been located by surveyors and a large force is engaged in clearing it. Grading will be started this spring. The principal objective point at the present time is Ely. It is believed by the builders of the road that eventually the one from the Vermilion will be shipped to the Grand Marais docks.

UNION DELEGATES ARE GIVEN BANQUET

Slovenian-Croatian Union Are Hosts to City's Visitors.

Ely, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—After struggling with the usual tangle connected with revising the by-laws of a fraternal insurance company for three days, sixty delegates attending the eighth convention of the Slovenian-Croatian union were tendered a banquet by the members of Ely union last night in the I. O. O. F. hall, local caterers serving.

During the evening a number of the visiting delegates gave addresses on the benefit of the order.

Ely lodge, I. O. O. F., are securing a splendid class of initiates for the near future. Applications are now being received at every meeting of the lodge.

HAULING SAW LOGS.

Being Transported By Rail From Omega to Virginia Mill.

Virginia, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald)—Logs are being loaded at Omega on the Great Northern between Fernoy and Kelley Lake for shipment to the mill of the Bailey Lumber company in Virginia. Sixteen cars have already been received and further shipments are to follow.

Silver lake is now well filled with logs hauled in on the various railroads during the winter to be sawed at the Bailey mill during the coming summer. The mill will resume about the usual time and expects to operate up to its capacity during the summer. Structural iron workers are busy on the construction of a new sawdust burner at the plant and other improved equipment is being installed at the mill. Should it ever be desired to operate the mill during the winter months a hot pond could be installed in a short time and with its new equipment the mill would then be in a position to saw the year around.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEET

Two Harbors Organization to Have Important Session.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be an important meeting of the Commercial club this evening. Several important committees will be appointed and a report will be presented by the finance committee.

Thomas Owens will give a short talk on his recent tour of the East where he visited many points of interest among them being Old Point Comfort, Richmond, Va. and the national capitol.

A report will also be given by the members of the party who recently visited the state farm and experiment station near Duluth. The following from Lake country made the trip: Herman Anderson, Joseph Beck, W. B. Woodward, Thomas Owens, August Tabor, George W. Watts, A. A. McPheeters and A. A. Giddings.

CHISHOLM MAN HAS FARM PLANS

Lawrence Paskvan Will Raise More on His Farm Near Village.

Chisholm, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lawrence Paskvan, a business man, is going in for farming on an extended scale this year, his experiences of the past giving him encouragement. Mr. Paskvan has a farm about five miles north of the village, of which thirty-five acres are cleared and ready for the plow. On less than two acres of this land he harvested no less than 450 bushels of potatoes last year, in addition to raising wheat which, upon being placed on exhibition, was pronounced equal to anything that the West could produce.

Plans Variety of Crops.

This year Mr. Paskvan will try a variety of root and grain crops. He will try potatoes again, beets, rutabagas, cabbage and has already purchased 350 pounds of seeds. Clover and timothy will be cultivated extensively, that crop when put into hay bringing from $20 to $25 per ton and the yield is around three tons to the acre.

Mr. Borlin also is going into hay raising extensively, his fine 130 acres, all cleared, he proposes to devote to that crop.

CHANGES PLANNED IN RURAL SCHOOL WORK

Superintendent Young Outlines Ideas During Virginia Visit.

Virginia, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Changes in the manner of handling the supervision of the county's rural schools may be made in the near future, according to County Superintendent of Schools N. A. Young, who has been visiting the schools in this section. The task of supervision is a considerable one and a plan may be worked out whereby Assistant County Superintendent L. A. Ink will be made principal of the unorganized schools, while Miss Holmes will be rural school supervisor.

Following his inspection of the normal training department of the Virginia public schools Supt. Young stated that every student in the department can have a position as rural school teacher at an average wage rate of about $60 per month. The normal training department was added to the courses offered at the local schools at the beginning of the present school year and Supt. Young expressed his satisfaction at the work being done.

AFTER THAT HOSPITAL.

Virginia to Continue Campaign to Secure Institution.

Virginia, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council will make strenuous efforts to have the proposed branch county and city hospital located here, despite the protests from Hibbing residents, who have favored Wolf as the site for the institution.

"Virginia is the logical place for the hospital," said Alderman Conrad Matteson. "This city is the center of the range and most of the patients of the institution will be residents or lumberjacks coming from points north of the city.

"I do not believe nurses and doctors who would be employed at the hospital would care to spend all their time at a small place like Wolf. The feasible plan would be to have the institution located here."

Representatives of the council are to confer with the board of county commissioners, so that work can be done on the proposed building this summer.

MYERS TALKS OF GAME WARDENS.

Hibbing, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred Myers of Biwabik, recently appointed a member of the game and fish commission, was here yesterday on his way to Grand Rapids, where he has business. Mr. Myers, while here, consulted with local sportsmen relative to the appointment of game wardens and other matters that will be brought up at the meeting of the state board next week. Mr. Myers expects to be here for a few hours this evening before returning to his home in Biwabik.

BURIAL AT SUPERIOR OF HIBBING BUTCHER.

Hibbing, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Philip Siegel who died here yesterday six days after arriving from New York to take a local job will be taken to Superior for burial in the Jewish cemetery. He was 44 years of age and leaves a widow and family in New York. He had intended moving them to this village in the near future.

Joseph, the 7-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Simenc of the Nelson location died after a lingering illness. The funeral was held Tuesday at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Rev. Father Hogan officiating.

OTHER CONTESTS NOW LOOKED FOR

Chisholm Expects More Defeated Candidates to Start Something.

Chisholm, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The news in Thursday's Herald that Henry Fugere had contested Joseph Austin's recent election as village president naturally started much political contest here. While rumored since election the actual beginning of the proceedings caused a mild sensation.

The contestant claims that more votes were cast than were counted, that more votes were counted for Mr. Austin that were cast and that votes counted for Austin should have gone to Fugere and also that votes counted for Austin should not have been counted at all.

Mr. Austin received a plurality of twenty-eight votes over Henry Fugere he getting 399 to Mr. Fugere's 371. Matt Borlin got ninety-nine and Gust Anderson, the fourth candidate, seventy-five.

It is believed that other contests will follow since there were but five votes between Trustee Jakse and F. W. Anderson, Mr. Jakse being elected. Mr. Anderson ran on the Progressive ticket with Mr. Austin and should sufficient votes be found belonging to Anderson it would give the Progressive ticket four members on the council instead of three, as at present.

To Effect Next Election.

Those on the inside insist that the contest will raise havoc in the sentiment and that when the next election arrives a large number of voters will be switched from their present position.

D. C. Hackett, the outgoing president, was served with notice of the contest yesterday and immediately got in touch with the village attorney.

STATE EDUCATORS WILL HAVE MEET

Hibbing and Duluth Men to Figure in Mill City Gathering.

Hibbing, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. H. F. Blair, C. C. Alexander, principal of the high school, and H. H. Faust, superintendent of the Jefferson and Washington buildings, will leave tomorrow for Minneapolis to attend the short course for principals and superintendents at the University of Minnesota for one week beginning Monday in connection with the meeting of the superintendents' section of the Minnesota Educational association.

Among the special speakers will be Dr. Lightmar Witmer, University of Pennsylvania, who will speak on "Mental Retardation;" Dr. L. D. Coffman, University of Illinois, on "School Supervision;" C. A. Prosser, secretary of the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education, on "Vocational Training;" and Dr. David Snedden, Massachusetts commissioner of education, on "School Administration and Industrial Training." Discussions on the subjects presented will be held each day of the session.

The General Subject.

The general subject is "The Schools of Minnesota and Their Relation to State Aid." The program for the three meetings to be held for the discussion of this subject, as prepared by Supt. Blair, who is president of the superintendents' section, is as follows:

Thursday Afternoon.

"The Professional Schools and the State, "School of Education," Dean George F. James; discussion, Principal W. F. Webster; "The State Normals," President E. W. Bohannon of Duluth; discussion, Supt. W. C. Cobb; "High School Normal Department," Supt. C. E. Young; discussion, Supt. Alma B. Campbell; general discussion, superintendents.

Friday Afternoon.

"Just Schools and the State;" "Distribution of State Aid," Dr. David Snedden; "State Aid for High Schools," George B. Aiton; "State Aid for Graded Schools," S. A. Challman; "State Aid for Rural Schools," E. M. Phillips; discussion introduced by Supt. Raymond Kent.

Saturday Morning.

"Vocational Schools and the State;" "State Aid for Vocational Schools," Dr. David Snedden; discussion, Prof. A. V. Storm; general discussion, superintendents.

MUCH SCARLET FEVER.

Epidemic May Force Closing of Two Harbors Schools.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—People are much aroused over the recent scarlet fever epidemic. It is feared that unless some check is placed upon the disease it may be necessary to close the schools and theaters. Every precaution is being taken, however, and most of the public buildings have been carefully fumigated.

The following cases have been reported: Clifford Bergstrom, Miss Borreson, Nels Haugsten, Welsey Hamilton. It is understood there are eight cases in the city and more are being reported daily.

The ballot boxes and their undisturbed contents are being carefully kept under lock and key awaiting the action of the court.

SIX INDICTED FOR NASHWAUK SHOOTING

Grand Jury at Grand Rapids Returns True Bills.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grand jury this morning found indictments against six men arrested for shooting Officer Kukko at Nashwauk on Feb. 11.

A verdict for the plaintiff in the case of W. C. Tyndall of Grand Rapids vs. Chris Hagen of Bovey for $243.51 was returned. The plaintiff sued for $320 for the rent of a saloon building.

The petit jury was excused today until Monday morning. Election contest cases in Trout Lake township were taken up this afternoon.

MANUAL ARTS MEET.

Range Association Members to Gather at Biwabik Saturday.

Gilbert, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The regular bi-monthly meeting of the Range Manual Arts association will be held at Biwabik Saturday, March 21.

Following is the program:

Address, Superintendent J. E. Lunn, Biwabik; "Psychology of Manual Training," R. W. Elliott of Hibbing; "Pattern Making and Its Practicalness in Our Course of Study," H. J. Wieland of Virginia. Demonstrations will accompany this talk. "Architecural vs. Machine Drawing," R. M. Thompson, Chisholm. Each talk will be followed by a brief discussion led by the speaker.

CHISHOLM CHILD FATALLY INJURED.

Chisholm, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Francis, the 4½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dolinar of the Monroe location, was buried yesterday in Calvary cemetery. His death resulted from an accident sustained early in the week while playing in the yard at home. The little fellow, in climbing upon a pile of logs, slipped and one of the logs rolled over his body, injuring him internally and causing paralysis. He did not regain consciousness.

AURORA PUPILS WIN PRAISE IN OPERETTA,

Aurora, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The operetta, "The Merry Milk Maids," which was given last night at the Hearding auditorium by the pupils of the Aurora high school and seventh and eighth grades was very well presented and the pupils taking part were loudly applauded throughout by a large and appreciative audience. The performance reflected much credit upon those participating and upon their instructor, Miss Thomson.

HIBBING LIBRARY SUNDAY CONCERTS.

Hibbing, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A phonograph has been purchased for the library and a concert will be held every Sunday afternoon between 5 and 6 o'clock. This is a new departure and will doubtless make a wide appeal. Its success has been marked in other cities. The best of records are being secured.

O'BRIEN LAKE DITCH HAS BEEN COMPLETED.

Nashwauk, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hawkins Mining company has completed the big ditch around O'Brien lake after seven months' work with one shovel. The mine employed about 100 men building the ditch, which is to be used in purifying the water used in washing the iron ore after it is taken through the new concentrator. The ditch is about fifteen feet wide at the bottom and thirty feet at the top and extends about two miles around the lake.

Aurora Yeomen Homestead.

Aurora, Minn., March 20.—P. F. Haroutf and Walter Grudnosky of Two Harbors are organizing a homestead of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen here. They are meeting with success and have more than enough applicants to secure a charter.

Small Two Harbors Fire.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A small fire occurred yesterday in the basement of John Magnuson's house on Eighth avenue. The blaze was caused by the exploding of a plumber's torch. It is understood that Mr. Haugsten received a number of minor burns about the face and hands but he succeeded in putting out the fire before it gained much headway.

Grand Rapids Books.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The total number of books in circulation from the public library for the month of February was 1,386. Of this number 100 were children's non-fiction; 517 children's fiction; 178 adults non-fiction and 591 adult fiction. The average daily circulation was sixty-three. Fines on overdue books to the extent of $5.7[illegible] were collected.

Not Crazy; Only Drunk.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—August Reschke was brought here from Swan River and placed in jail. His actions had led to the belief that he was demented, but investigation proved he had been drinking too freely and had trouble in ridding himself of the effects. He was found standing between the car tracks at Swan River and insisting that he had received orders to remain there and "watch" things.

Four Tons of Hay Burn.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A stack of baled hay containing four tons was set on fire Monday by the sparks from a passing train and completely consumed. The hay was the property of the Stackhouse concern at Cohasset.

After State Encampment.

Chisholm, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Commander William Clemens and Adjt. W. Brown are trying to secure for Chisholm the 1915 state encampment of Spanish-American war veterans. The local camp is being backed in its efforts by Duluth, St. Paul and Virginia camps. The encampment for which the local men are trying falls on the same year as the state fire department convention, which has already been secured for Chisholm.

Eveleth Hotel Renamed.

Eveleth, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hotel Eveleth, which was recently purchased by W. M. Mahon, has been renamed the Rex. The hotel has been remodeled.

Eveleth Woman Dies.

Eveleth, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Nick Perske, age 40, died here from cancer of the liver. She was a native of Austria and had resided at Eveleth for several years.

Chisholm Man's Death Shock.

Chisholm, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sudden death of John Amatti from pneumonia was a shock to his many Italian friends, many of whom did not know he was seriously ill. He was taken sick Sunday and called a physician at once. His condition steadily grew worse and he died Wednesday, leaving a wife and three small children. Mr. Amatti came to Chisholm last fall.

MORE SETTLERS COME.

Every Day Adds to Number Locating in Hinckley Locality.

Hinckley, Minn., March 20.—New settlers for this locality are arriving almost daily.

Mr. Irvins and family of Emmetsburg, Iowa, arrived last week and will locate east of Kettle River in Crosby township.

Clarence Thompson of Willmar, Minn., purchased the Charles Wendlund farm and will locate on the farm about April 1.

Paul Linderman who has been living in Hinckley for a few weeks moved out Monday to his forty-acre farm in section 10, Hinckley township, and will improve it.

William Benson who purchased land in section 28, township 41, range 17, arrived last week, and as soon as he can build will move onto his land.

William Lukeman of Red Lake Falls has purchased what is known as the Finney ranch in 41-17. This is the farm which Frank Howell lived on some years ago.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

U. L. BURDICK IN KEYNOTE

North Dakota Progressive Candidate for Governor Opens Campaign.

Speaking at Grand Forks, Says Fight of Progressives Has Just Begun.

U. L. BURDICK.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—U. L. Burdick of Williston, progressive Republican candidate for the Republican nonination for governor, opened his campaign here last night. Today he speaks at Hillsboro, tomorrow at Fargo, and then he goes to the Missouri Slope where he will deliver approximately fifty addresses in ten counties west of the Missouri river.

Mr. Burdick in his keynote speech held that North Dakota is distinctly a progressive Republican state, and that that faction should be represented by one of its own supporters in the governorship. While disclaiming any such designation as "insurgent" or "progressive," maintaining that he was simply a Republican, he also contended that the delivery of the party of Lincoln into the hands of the "stalwarts," was in reality the divorcing of the party from the people.

Burdick attacked the game warden system. He said the system of enforcing the game law created a political machine.

"It has been said," Mr. Burdick declared, "that all the progressive legislation is done. As a matter of fact, we have just reached the beginning. Rural development, rural credits, road laws, etc., all of which are progressive; all of which will become more important as the state grows, are still to come, and legislation of the coming few years will be far more important than that already enacted."

Local Taxation Economy.

Discussing the question of economy in state government, he maintained that the reduction of state expense meant comparatively little to the average taxpayer. The real economy must come in local taxation matters.

Mr. Burdick maintained the tax commission plan, in itself, was worthy, but he reserved indorsement of the personnel of the present commission, maintaining that the original appointments should have been made on the basis of expertness in taxation matters. Appointments which he might make to the commission, he said, would be on that basis.

Mr. Burdick declared that he would continue in the campaign continuously from now until the primary election June 24. He will spend much of the early portion of the campaign in the Missouri Slope district, where he expects to speak his approval of woman suffrage, in the midst of a hotbed of opposition to such principle. The German-American alliance, particularly strong in that section, is making an issue of suffrage, opposing it, while Burdick is for equal voting rights.

FARMER CATCHES SILVER GRAY FOX.

Bemidji, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.) — A silver gray fox, valued at $650, was caught by Gill Peterson, a farmer living near Bemidji, a trap having been set for the animal. The hide was sent to a Wisconsin furrier for a bid on it.

PLAN COLONIZING IN COPPER COUNTRY

Organization to Bring Settlers to Upper Peninsula Counties.

Hancock, Mich., March 20.—With the idea of grouping individual land holdings and working collectively several Copper country Finns who are interested in the colonization of unsettled lands in Houghton, Baraga and Ontonagon counties have formed a copartnership, which will be known as the Finnish Colonization association. Articles of association have been filed with the county clerk. Headquarters will be established in Hancock. The officers are:

President, A. J. Vitall, Houghton; treasurer, Axel Keskitalo, Calumet; secretary, Jacob Jarvis, Houghton; directors, Andrew Wierma, Painesdale; Otto E. Miller, Laurium; Emil Tillstrom, Painesdale; Frank P. Peterson, Calumet, and the officers.

The association proposes to be represented in different parts of the United States. It will not confine its activities to this country, but will invade Canada and Finland. It is hoped to bring in many new settlers.

Several thousand acres of land is represented in the association and it is proposed to acquire additional holdings at once.

NORTH DAKOTA IS AFTER SETTLERS

Future Farmers and Not Residents of Cities Are Wanted.

Fargo, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—To secure more settlers for North Dakota is the ambition of Governor Hanna, Commissioner of Agriculture Gilbreath and Immigration Agent Neal. The plan is to issue a pamphlet which will contain a brief mention of every realty man in each county of the state, together with a general condensed story of the amount of lands held by the dealer and the general location. Each county will be given the same opportunity for representation and no particular section will be advertised any more than another.

Gain Only in Cities.

The increase in population in North Dakota, it is claimed, is entirely in the cities and the towns and the rural population has stood still, and in some communities actually decreased. To offset this this state pamphlet will be sent widely to Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Nebraska and Michigan and to inquirers in other states. The idea is original with Governor Hanna who believes this will be the best method of securing practical farmers and actual settlers for the rural sections of the state.

FARGO WILL VOTE ON CENTRAL MARKET.

Fargo, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The question of a central market plan for Fargo will be voted upon at the general election April 6. For many years the plan has been agitated. Two years ago the city council selected a site and made an appropriation for its purchase but the matter was vetoed by Mayor Sweet because of the location. The members of the city commission are strongly in favor of the plan and believe that residents of Fargo will heartily indorse any proposition that will tend to reduce the high cost of living.

NINE APPLICANTS PASS.

Result of North Dakota Board of Pharmacy's Examination Announced.

Fargo, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nine of the sixteen applicants for certificates were passed by the state board of pharmacy and two of the four seeking assistant permits passed. One pharmacist each from Illinois, Kentucky and South Dakota, was admitted on exchange. Those who passed the examination for pharmacists were T. S. Campbell of Lisbon, O. Ellingson, Cando; W. E. Henderson, Velva; C. G. Kingsbury, Sherwood; D. A. McArthur, Anamoose; Susan F. Millard, Ortonville, Minn.; J. W. Trimbo, Forman; V. J. Officer, Hope; G. W. Walt, Fingal. Those for assistants were J. F. Courtney, Minneapolis, and L. Smith of Steel.

SITE OWNERSHIP STUMBLING BLOCK.

Fargo, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ownership of the lots upon which thhe armory-auditorium was started in this city seem to be something of a stumbling block for the plan to have the city issue bonds and complete the structure which is now about half finished. There was an arrangement between the militia company, owning the site, and the private incorporation constructing the auditorium. The private concern has reached the limit of its resources. Something must be done to complete the structure. Unless the ownership of the site is in the name of the city no municipal funds can be expended on the building. An effort is being made to unravel the legal entanglements and get the matter cleared up in some way to have the structure completed this year.

MILWAUKEE BALLOT TWO FEET SQUARE

Milwaukee, Wis., March 20.—The primary ballot this year resembles a large checker board.

The sample ballots printed by the official printers, measure two feet square. Of this the great part is taken up by the forty-three candidates for alderman-at-large.

To make possible a second choice, it has been found necessary to have forty-three separate columns running down the page with forty-three additional columns running across the page, giving the checker board effect.

From seventy-four names on the sample ballot, the voter will select fourteen candidates for first choice.

New Federal Game Wardens.

Fargo, N. D., March 20.—On the recommendation of the North Dakota Game and Fish board the department at Washington has named Chief Game Wardens McCutcheon of the First district and Reko of the Second district as Federal game wardens. The board also submitted the names of half a dozen of the deputies from which Washington officials will select at least two more appointees for this state.

Bury Former Ashland Woman.

Ashland, Wis., March 20.—The funeral of Mrs. George W. Johnson, whose husband was one time employed here by the Ashland Lumber company, and who left here a dozen years ago to live in California, was held today at Tuolumne, Cal., where she died early in the week. Interment was at Sonora, Cal.

Ashland Hospital Orderly Dies.

Ashland, Wis., March 20.—Bartholomew McCarthy, for the past fifteen years orderly at St. Joseph's hospital, Ashland, died Wednesday night after three days' illness with pneumonia.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Milwaukee — The first Chinese eggs to be received in Milwaukee, a consignment of 1,000 dozen from near Pekin, arrived Wednesday for the H. J. Grell Butter & Egg company, Broadway. Although the eggs were six weeks en route they were in good condition.

Green Bay—John Gledsky, aged 60, was instantly killed late Wednesday afternoon while on his way home. He fell from the wagon on which he was riding and suffered a broken neck.

The delegation will be in charge of H. H. Pellow, superintendent of the Sunday school, who will attend as leader.

Calumet — While working on the seventy-first level of the No. 7 shaft, Hecla branch of the C. & H. mine at an early hour March 18, Alex Kovack, aged about 55 years, a trammer, met almost instant death when he was crushed beneath a fall of rock.

Marquette—Roy Nunn, 34 years of age, who for the past seventeen years has been behind prison bars, was given his freedom from the Marquette branch prison March 18. Nunn was sent to prison for life on the charge of murder.

Hancock—Lewis Barrett, formerly a resident of this city and a graduate of the Hancock high school, is making good at Grinnell college, where he entered last September, according to advices received by his friends in Hancock.

Lake Linden—Lake Linden lodge of Odd Fellows will accompany Calumet lodge to Painesdale Saturday evening, when the Calumet order will confer the initiatory degree on a class of candidates.

Houghton—Deputy Sheriff Jack Chellew returned March 18 from Duluth, where he took in custody a man named William Johnson, wanted here for obtaining money under false pretences. Johnson was arraigned before Justice Eichkern in Hancock and bound over to the circuit court.

Laurium—Mrs. Otto Petersen, wife of O. A. Petersen, died at the family residence at 616 Florida street March 17, following an illness of one week. Besides the husband, the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Johnson of Wolverine, six brothers and four sisters survive.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Devils Lake, N. D.—The Sevilla hotel was taken over by the North Dakota Improvement company March 18. M. A. Baldwin, receiver for the company, is in Devils Lake closing the deal. Mr. Baldwin stated that for the present there would be no change in the place.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Advices from Washington are to the effect that the Grand Forks postmastership race will be decided during the next two or three days. F. V. Kent's term expires Friday, March 27, and the new postmaster will begin his duties on April 1.

Mandan, N. D.—William Schultz, who has been serving time in the county jail here for carrying concealed weapons, was released on having finished his sentence.

Devils Lake, N. D.—L. C. Mart of this city has been awarded the contract for the construction to an addition to the public school building at St. John. The work will cost $4,000 and will be done during the summer vacation.

Minot, N. D.—E. B. McCutcheon, chief game warden of Minot, has received notice from the bureau of biological survey that he had been appointed to the position of United States game warden to work under the instructions of that bureau for the enforcement of the new United States migratory bird law, which went into force last October.

Kenmare, N. D.—At the annual meeting of the Kenmare Gun club, the following officers were elected: President, H. E. Peck; vice president, Lewis Knudson; secretary and treasurer, Theodore Kahellek; first field captain, Oscar Olson; second field captain, A. E. Paulson.

Goodrich, N. D.—W. B. Evans, state organizer of the Farmers' Union of the United States, held a meeting of farmers here and succeeded in establishing a local lodge of the Farmers' union with about twenty prominent farmers as charter members.

Fargo, N. D.—Commissioner of Immigration E. S. Neal arrived from Bismarck to start a new campaign to bring settlers to North Dakota. The idea was evolved by Governor Hanna, Commissioner of Agriculture Gilbreath and Commissioner of Immigration Neal, who are working in harmony to get new settlers for the state.

Hillsboro, N. D.—Clythe Richmond Butson, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Butson of Hillsboro, was married March 11 to Miss Ruth Camille Sutherland of Portland, Or. After completing his studies at the university at Larimore a few years in 1910 he went West and has since been connected with a lumber company at Astoria, Wash.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

International Falls—The International Falls police department will give its first annual ball at the Grand opera house on Friday, April 17.

Littlefork—Two prisoners were sent to the county jail at International Falls this week. They are Walter Van Camp and Mike Maxey, both of whom were sentenced to serve ninety days for vagrancy.

Crookston—A. M. Childs, who has been seriously ill for the past ten days in Minneapolis, has so far recovered that he will leave for Duluth where he will visit his daughters at 5205 London road for some time before proceeding West.

Stillwater—Ben Underhill, a former Stillwater boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Underhill of this city, has been promoted from master mechanic of the Northwestern Fuel company's dock No. 1 at Superior, Wis., to the position of assistant superintendent to E. A. Gallagher, superintendent of docks for the Northwestern Fuel company at Superior.

North Branch—The East Side Progressive Farmers' club met at the home of C. J. Anderson Monday evening with a very large attendance. A committee of three was chosen to meet with members of the Crescent club, to make plans for a clubhouse.

Hinckley — The Farmers Co-operative Telephone company held a big meeting at the opera house to talk over the advisability of extending the line by buying the Turpville line which extends from Hinckley east to Turpville. If satisfactory terms are made the company will buy the line and improve it.

Isanti — Rev. Mr. Freeman and daughter arrived Wednesday afternoon and began special services in the Blomford Baptist church. Rev. Mr. Freeman, who is known throughout the country as the blind evangelist, will conduct services in the Blomford church for about two weeks.

St. Paul—Mrs. George W. Barton, mother of George A. Barton, sporting editor of the Daily News, died at her home here March 18, after a long illness. Mrs. Barton was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Ryan and was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., July 23, 1859. Her father fought in the Mexican and Civil wars. He brought his family to Shieldsville, Minn., in 1869. Her husband and five children, Sadie, Alberta, Richard, William and George, survive.

Minneapolis — Mrs. Antoinette K. Dey, 70 years old, widow of William Henry Harrison Day, an old time lumberman of Minneapolis, died at her home at Pasadena, Cal., March 17. Mrs. Day, who was a daughter of William Ranscome, an early settler of Richfield, Minn., was one of the pioneers of Minneapolis, and until a few years ago had resided here. Mrs. Day is survived by a daughter, Addie M. Day of Pasadena, and two sons, Frank E. Day of Pasadena, and Fred H. Day of Minneapolis.

Winona—Two octogenarian pioneers of Winona county, both of whom came to this section in 1854, died at St. Charles, March 18. Mrs. Martha Russell, aged 86, and Thomas Stevenson, aged 84, expired almost within the same hour. One of the latter's daughters, Mrs. Frank Winship, resides at Merriam Park. The services for both will be held Friday.

Austin—Thomas Riley, railroad detective, died suddenly at his home here March 18. Mr. Riley left his home at about 11 a. m. for the C. M. & St. P. depot but was compelled to return home. He suffered a stroke later and Dr. A. W. Allen was called. Another stroke followed from which he did not recover.

Le Sueur Center—W. S. O'Connell, a prosperous farmer of Derrynane township, filed for the state senate March 18, and Martin Schwartz filed for representative. Mr. Schwartz is up for re-election. It is understood that Senator Weiss of Le Sueur will file in a few days.

Rheumatism—SUCCESSfully Overcome in the Tissues by a Searching Remedy

If you are down with rheumatism; if you sneeze, feel chilled, are choked with catarrh, have a cough, or your skin is pimpled and irritated with rash, eczema, or any other blood disorder just remember that all the ills of life come from impure blood. And you can easily give your blood a good thorough cleansing, a bath by using S. S. S. There is no need for anyone to be despondent over the illness of blood impurities. No matter how badly they attack the system, or how unsightly becomes the skin, just remember there is one ingredient in S. S. S. that so stimulates the cellular tissues throughout the body that each part selects its own essential nutriment from the blood.

This means that all decay, all breaking down of the tissues, is checked and repair work begins. S. S. S. has such a specific influence on all local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and afford a proper relative assistance to each other. More attention is being given to scientific medicine than ever before and S. S. S. is the highest achievement in this line. For many years people relied upon Mercury, Iodide of Potash, Arsenic, "Physics," Cathartics and "Dope" as remedies for blood sickness, but now the pure vegetable S. S. S. is their safeguard.

You can get S. S. S. in any drug store, but insist upon having it. And you should take no chance by permitting anyone to recommend a substitute. And if your blood condition is such that you would like to consult a specialist freely, address Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Co., 301 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

This is recognized as the most concise, practical, intelligent discussion of rheumatism ever written.

It explains the action of 6088, guaranteed to cure rheumatism—or your money back. It tells how this great remedy was discovered, tested and proved by a rheumatism specialist before it was placed on the market. Read why 6088 dissolves and removes the deposits from joints and muscles, and acts as a tonic, blood purifier and laxative. Not a drop of habit-forming drugs in 6088. TRUMP CARD OF DEFENSE

Gran's Failure to Prevent Wife's Misstep May Be Bar to Divorce.

Claimed That He Knew Her Intention and Did Not Interfere.

That the actions of Victor H. Gran, local attorney, in secretly spying upon his wife, whom he suspected of unfaithfulness, and in laying a trap into which she and John R. Heino fell, constituted connivance on his part and an effectual barrier to his right to a divorce, was the contention of the defense today at the Gran divorce trial.

VICTOR H. GRAN,
Plaintiff.

MRS. VICTOR H. GRAN,
Defendant.

This was the trump card of Attorney B. M. Goldberg, who is conducting the defense for Mrs. Gran. It was sprung as a surprise at the trial this morning when Mr. Goldberg was obliged to state to the court a line of questioning which he was pursuing in the cross-examination of Victor H. Gran, defendant.

The court dismissed the jury shortly before noon to hear arguments on the admissibility of evidence tending to show that Gran had connived in the offense with which he has charged his wife. The defense was not set up in the answer to the case, but the court's ruling was that it might be received providing the answer was amended so as to make it admissible.

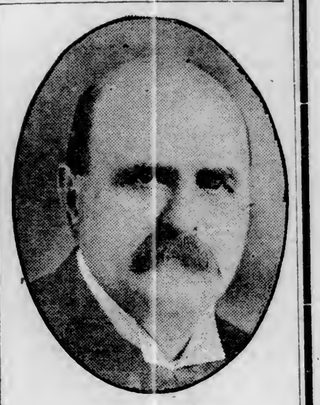
Attorney Goldberg's contention is that a man is not entitled to a divorce under the law on the grounds of adultery if he knew that his wife was about to commit such an act and took no steps to prevent it. This, he asserts, has been interpreted by the courts to constitute connivance and a barrier to a divorce.

Before Attorney McManus, counsel for Gran, stopped him with an objection, Mr. Goldberg drew out under cross-examination statements that he knew of the clandestine meeting which had been arranged over the telephone between his wife and Heino and that he took no steps to prevent it, or, as Attorney Goldberg put it, "to warn her of the danger of being prostituted."

"Did you do anything to warn her or protect her?" asked Mr. Goldberg.

"I did not," was Gran's answer.

Gran's cross-examination is expected to be concluded this afternoon. Today he went over in detail the events which he related on his direct examination.



JOHN R. HEINO,
Co-Respondent.

When court opened this morning, Judge Cant stated that the trial of the case was taking unnecessary time and urged the attorneys to be more expedite in the examination of the witnesses. This is the third day of the case and only one witness has been called to the stand. It is [illegible] nearly fifty witnesses have been subpoenaed.

HEALTH INSPECTOR TENDERS RESIGNATION

Morris J. Segal, employed in the health department for nine years, has tendered his resignation to Safety Commissioner W. A. Hicken. The resignation gives no reason for his action.

Segal was recently transferred to the assessor's office and was to have remained there until needed again in the health department. The health department was not busy, and the assessor needed more help, but the arrangement didn't meet with Segal's approval. He quit the assessor's office after he had been there a short time and has now severed his connection with the health department.

NELSON DEFENDS HUGHES BILL ANTIS

Says Opposition Is No Sign of Any Insidious Lobby.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 20.—Declaring that the insinuation that persons who appeared in opposition to the Hughes convict labor bill were in the employ of an insidious lobby was unpalatable to him and to the farmers of Minnesota, Senator Nelson scored his colleagues for the way in which the lobby investigation was being conducted.

"We are running this matter into the ground," said Senator Nelson. "Every time a man comes here openly and above board we call him before this committee. The people of Minnesota are interested in their state prison and are opposed to the Hughes bill. I am also opposed to it, and the insinuation that there is an insidious lobby trying to defeat it is very unpalatable to us."

Senator Walsh endeavored to explain that "the views of members of the senate are not to be determined by what the lobby committee investigates" and that Edward Boyle of Chicago, who was called to testify in reference to a fund of $50,000 alleged to have been raised to defeat the Hughes bill, was "apparently under very honest employment, which he was perfectly willing to expose."

This closed the incident.

OPEN BIDS FOR NEW PAVEMENT

Commissioner R. Murchison, head of the works division, this morning opened bids for material to be used in the paving of West Superior street, between Fifteenth and Twenty-fifth avenues.

The Purington Paving Brick company of Galesburg, Ill., was low on brick, bidding $1.10 per yard on an estimate quantity of 30,000 yards. The Kettle River company was low on creosote blocks, making a price of $1.37 a yard on 3½-inch blocks and $1.65 a yard on 4-inch blocks. The Standard Salt & Cement company was low on cement, bidding $1.83 per barrel. The Kettle River company submitted a price of $1.10 per cubic yard for crushed sandstone, which is less than the price which can be secured here for crushed rock. The sandstone may be used as one of the materials in the concrete base. The estimated cost of paving West Superior street is $65,000. An assessment of $275 will be levied against each 50-foot frontage. The work will be begun as soon as the weather permits.

FOUR ELECTION CONTESTS FILED

Four election contests involving offices in the town of Balkan were filed today in district court.

B. Magnusson is contesting the election of W. E. Bates for town supervisor for three years; William Cooper that of A. J. Sullivan for town clerk, and Gust Lake against B. E. Johnson for town treasurer. W. C. Ramsay, a voter and not a candidate, is also seeking to set aside the election of E. F. Kowalke for town supervisor, elected for a term of two years. Magnusson, Lake and Cooper were defeated candidates. In each case the vote stood 61 to 11 against them.

It is also claimed in each case that the respondents were not legal residents of the town, but came to Balkan about thirty days previous to the election and slept there. It is alleged that this was done at the instigation of the Oliver Iron Mining company "to thwart and circumvent the will and express choice of the legal residents, citizens and voters of the town of Balkan."

CASE TRIED WHILE JURY DELIBERATED.

While a verdict was awaited in one criminal case today, another action of a similar nature was brought to trial and a verdict in the second case returned before the first jury had made up its mind. Both verdicts were returned about noon today.

The jury in the case of the state against Emil Boboiz, charged with grand larceny in the second degree, after having been out since 2:25 o'clock yesterday afternoon, reported a verdict of guilty at 12:40 o'clock this afternoon. The jury recommended that the court exercise leniency towards the prisoner.

Boboiz was accused of stealing two sacks of flour valued at $1.50 from the Soo railroad on Feb 17. John Sayne, who was indicted jointly with Boboiz, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty when the case against both of the men was called for trial.

At 11:56 o'clock this morning, another jury returned a verdict of guilty against Frank Wilson, indicted under the name of Frank Fisher for the crime of burglary in the third degree. Wilson on Jan. 20, broke into a Northern Pacific box car and stole a cheese, a kit of herring and a fish spear. He was arrested by railroad detectives.

SILENT CROWDS AT BIER OF CALMETTE

Paris, March 20.—The police and military authorities took great precautions today to prevent any disturbances during the funeral of Gaston Calmette. All along the route of the procession details of police were stationed in readiness to suppress demonstrations.

The funeral procession reached the cemetery with little incident. The crowds along the route were silent, and onlookers uncovered respectfully as the hearse passed.

Some of the many wreaths bore the inscriptions: "A victim of his devotion to his country" and "Killed on the field of honor."

High prices were paid for advantageous places along the route from which to see the procession. There was no funeral oration in the church. A simple mass was performed by the parish priest.

While they were returning from the cemetery, ex-Premiers Barthou and Briand, with Louis Klotz, former minister of the interior, were cheered by the crowd. At the same time a royalist enthusiast shouted "Cheers for Caillaux." He was attacked by the crowd and struck with canes, and when the disturbance ended was found to have been wounded by a revolver shot. The police had great difficulty in suppressing the disorder.

Jones Is Sat Upon.

Washington, March 20.—Senator Jones of Washington asked again today to have the senate consider his resolution calling upon President Wilson for information on the attitude of foreign governments toward the Panama canal tolls exemption. The request was blocked.

FRISCO DEBT IS CANCELED

Three Million Dollar Liability Is Straightened Out.

Separation of Interests Marks Step in Big Reorganization.

St. Louis, Mo., March 20.—A debt of more than $3,900,000 which the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad owed Albert T. Perkins as syndicate trustee was canceled by the terms of an agreement filed with United States Circuit Judge Sanborn today. Two of the subsidiaries of the 'Frisco revert to the syndicate that promotes them.

The indebtedness was in the form of notes, aggregating $2,573,386, which had been given by the Frisco to Perkins, as syndicate manager of the St. Louis Union Trust company, and certain collateral given to guarantee the payment of certain loans.

The notes represent the sum paid to Perkins for the New Iberia & Northern railroad, a line 120 miles long in Louisiana, which the Frisco purchased from the syndicate. This road and the New Iberia, St. Mary & Eastern, now revert to the syndicate.

Step in Reorganization.

The separation from the Frisco marks a step in the reorganization which has been under way since the recent investigation of the interstate commerce commission into the causes of the Frisco receivership.

Attorneys for the receivers said that the purchase of the New Iberia & Northern was illegal, as the subsidiary had no physical connection with the parent road.

Perkins had filed suit to enforce the payment of the notes, but the receivers had planned to fight the suit with a denial of the validity of the contract.

A petition was filed with Judge Sanborn today asking him to approve the cancellation of the debt.

for three years for the Chicago Federals for a total of $17,500, or $5,833.33 a year. The contract, a copy of which was attached to the petition for an enjoining order, expressly stipulated, the court was informed, that Killifer agreed to devote his entire time and attention to the services of the Chicago Federals. The court was informed that $500 was advanced to Killifer on account, and was accepted by him and still is retained.

Failure to report for practice in accordance with his contract was alleged against Killifer.

What Composes a Team.

The bill then sets forth the information "that a baseball team consists of nine regular players, besides substitutes, each of whom play in different positions, to wit: Pitcher, catcher, first base, second base, shortstop, third base, right field, center field and left field. * * *

"That one of the principal positions on a baseball team is that of catcher; that on account of its importance and of the extraordinary skill, adaptability and training necessary for the expert playing of this position, it is more difficult to secure an expert catcher than any of the other players."

A tribute to the ability of Catcher Killifer was contained in a paragraph which informed the court "that the defendant is a baseball player, to wit: A catcher of unique and extraordinary skill and experiness, and of such personal and intellectual character that his loss cannot be substantially compensated for by the services of some other baseball catcher."

Fear "Irreparable Injury."

The bill sets forth that the Chicago Federals will suffer irreparable injury unless a restraining order issues enjoining Catcher Killifer from playing with clubs other than the Chicago Federals, and more particularly with the Philadelphia Nationals with whom the complainant believes Killifer is now in active practice in preparation for the opening of the baseball season.

Because of the absence of United States Judge Sessions from the city, it was impossible to secure a temporary restraining order as originally planned. The prayer for this was stricken from the bill and, instead April 3 was fixed as the date for the hearing on the question of a temporary injunction.

ALL CAMELS AND CANDIDATES

will meet at Soo station 7:20 p. m., Saturday, March 21st, to meet Minneapolis Camels. A guard of naval militia cadets will form guard of honor to Governor Eberhart, who will lead the Minneapolis caravan. On arrival at Soo station all will form in parade order and march to Hotel McKay for dinner, after which they will proceed to the caravansary at 118 West Superior street, in parade order. Tell your friends to be sure and see the Camels on Saturday night.

providing he be not a machine man, could not be found when sought by members of the conference after the result was announced.

Seen later, he said he had nothing to say other than he had said at the conference.

The conference wasted little time, got its work done and adjourned.

The lack of any discussion during the proceedings surprised some of the delegates, who feared a split-up. That no bitterness developed was due largely to the attitude of the country delegations, most of which were uninstructed.

One of the things that prevented trouble was the masterly way that Chairman Jacobson handled the convention.

Jacobson refused to allow his name to be considered, although the delegates were eager to "spring" him and name him by acclamation.

There were many Eberhart supporters in the audience as spectators and after the conference the friends of the administration expressed their satisfaction, claiming they preferred Lee to any other candidate, believing he will hurt the governor less than a Scandinavian would have done.

The Resolutions.

The resolutions adopted by the conference are as follows:

"This conference is made up of Republican voters of the state of Minnesota who believe that under its present leadership the Republican party of this state has abandoned its time-honored principles and has become an instrument for the promotion of the sinister purposes of a political machine organized solely for spoils.

"Without condemning the principle of a fair primary law, we realize that under a primary law such as is now in force in this state, and which permits the nomination of candidates by a mere plurality, a well-organized machine can always defeat the will of the people, through the agency of a multiplicity of candidates opposed to the machine candidate.

"In the last state contest a number of gentlemen who were conscientiously opposed to the machine became candidates and remained in the field to the end in the best of good faith, with the result that at the primary the present governor, backed by the united support of the machine, received 62,402 votes, while 101,665 votes were cast for the candidates opposed to the machine, showing that either of the anti-machine candidates, having the field to himself, would have won. Out of eighty-six counties, the machine candidate carried only five.

United Action Desired.

"We are confronted by the same situation in this campaign; again the machine presents the name of Governor Eberhart as its candidate, and several gentlemen of ability and high character who are opposed to the machine have become candidates against him. This conference has not been assembled in the interest of any candidate, but it has been assembled in the interest of the rank and file of the Republican party who desire to avoid the repetition of the calamitous experience of two years ago. We are satisfied that success can only come through the united action of the anti-machine wing of the party in support of a candidate who stands for Republican principles, and it was for the purpose of endeavoring to reach an agreement upon such harmonious action that this conference was called, and the various avowed candidates and their friends were asked to meet with the other Republicans of the state who desired in this election the success of Republican principles.

"This extraordinary action is justified by the necessity of presenting a united front to the enemy, and it might not be improper at this time to enumerate some of the reasons why we feel that the public welfare requires the defeat of the present incumbent of the governor's office.

Governor's Action Scored.

"The fact that he is a minority candidate might be passed over, if he had filled the office faithfully, but we claim he has neglected the performance of his duties, and has absented himself from the capitol, and often from the state on trivial and purposeless junkets, leaving the important duties of the office to be performed by inferior employes.

"He has failed to keep informed concerning important interests of the state entrusted to his personal care.

"His administration has been dominated by invisible influences arrayed against the public welfare, and his actions have been openly dictated by a machine created and supported by the predatory interests.

"He so far ignores Republican principles as to constantly cater to, and solicit the support of the reactionary Democrats, and owes his election in the last two campaigns to support received from that source.

"His administration has been notoriously incompetent, vacillating and extravagant, and so long as the machine which controls his actions dominates the state, there is no hope of either improvement or reform.

Vetoes Denounced.

"He professes to believe in the control of public utilities by the state, and yet he vetoed a bill passed at the last session of the legislature providing for regulation of telephone by the railway commission.

"He also vetoed the Nolan bill allowing the city of Minneapolis the right to control its local utilities.

"He says he wants to have the railway commission made appointive so that he can appoint them at the behest of the interests to be regulated.

"This is the situation which impels us to call upon the anti-machine candidates in the field and all other patriotic Republicans to unite in a supreme effort to save the state from a continuation of these conditions, and consent that a majority of this conference name the one who shall represent the anti-machine side of this contest.

"To the end that government of the people be restored in this state, that the control thereof be wrested from the hands of an unprincipled machine, we recommend that such change be made in the present primary law as to forever prevent the nomination of state officers by a majority; that the principle of the initiative and referendum be engrafted into the law of this state, and call upon all good citizens to rally about our banner and our candidate."

tary barracks here. Extra guards are one duty day and night. Urgent instructions have been sent to the military authorities in the south of Ireland to dispatch reinforcements immediately to the garrison stations in Ulster.

Warships in Dublin Bay.

In response to instructions from army headquarters, a detachment of 200 infantry arrived at Newry today from Curragh, and another 300 from Mullingar. The garrison of Londonderry also was reinforced by 300 men from Mullingar, and two warships arrived in Dublin bay.

Feeling among the public in Belfast has become tense since yesterday's debate in parliament. Soon after his arrival here, Sir Edward Carson issued an appeal to his followers to preserve calm.

Military Occupation Rumored.

London, March 20.—Grave events are impending in Ulster, according to the Unionist newspapers, and a rumor is current that the government is preparing for the military occupation of the province. There are various indications that a crisis has been reached.

A vote of censure on the British government, which was moved in the house of commons yesterday by Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, was rejected, 345 to 252. Arthur J. Balfour, summoned by Bonar Law, made a hurried return from the Riviera and arrived in London in time to participate in the division.

The Daily Telegraph's lobbyist says: "Unless all omens are false, blood will be spilled in Ulster before the house of commons sees Sir Edward Carson again."

The view of both Liberal and Unionist morning papers is that after yesterday's debate all chances of settlement by consent are ended and the home rule bill will be passed in its original form.

It is said that the government has assured the Nationalist leaders that Bonar Law's referendum offer will not be accepted.

METHODISTS READY TO CALL ALL MEXICAN MISSIONARIES HOME

while remarking that he had had no official report of any parleys, spoke in complimentary terms of the Mexican minister of foreign affairs as a man of high character.

Has No Taboo List.

What the president emphasizes in his informal discussions on the Mexican situation is that he, as president of the United States, has never sought to approve or disapprove of individuals who may aspire to the presidency of Mexico, and that he has no list of men whom he holds under so-called ban because of alleged complicity in the assassination of Madero. His refusal to recognize Huerta, it may be stated on the highest authority, was not based on any personal antagonism to Huerta, but on the ground that the Constitutionalists would never be reconciled to the man who had overthrown Madero and Suarez, and that governments set up by arbitrary force and not reflecting the popular will should not be dealt with by the United States.

Likewise, in the consideration of individuals who might seek the recognition by the United States, the principle President Wilson has been working on is that recognition extended to any one set up in the presidency without some popular expression or without the indorsement of all factions could not lead to peace.

Likes Straus' Suggestion.

One of the suggestions made to President Wilson lately, contemplates the sending of a commission of Americans of prominence to investigate conditions in Mexico. Unofficial reports have had it that both Carranza and Huerta would receive such a commission. President Wilson is carefully considering the suggestion, said to have been made originally by Oscar S. Straus, former ambassador to Turkey and prominent in the couse of world peace. The president, it is known, would be glad to send such a commission if it could assist the Mexican factions in arriving at an agreement, but it is believed he feels that actual peace proposals must necessarily originate with the Mexican factions, and that unless the commission were invited to go to Mexico its errand would be fruitless, mediation of the same sort having previously been rejected by both Mexican factions.

Make Bogus Rebel Money.

El Paso, Tex., March 20.—The continued issuing of bogus Villa paper currency on this side of the line resulted today in a public argument. Agents of the Chihuahua rebels accosted an American in a hotel lobby today, accusing him of having in his possession 12,000,000 pesos in counterfeit rebel money. They were told to "mind their own business."

The incident raised a question as to whether the possession or even the manufacture of the Mexican fiat paper was illegal in the United States. It was said that large quantities of the currency printed here had been circulated in Mexico. Mexican officials pointed out that the Villa money had a certain monetary value, even in the United States, as an exchange bank is doing business here.

San Francisco, Cal., March 20.—"Unless Governor Johnson can show me a more pressing need for troops on the Lower California border than now is apparent, I shall send no soldiers there from here," said Maj. Gen. Arthur Murray, commanding the department of the Pacific.

When Governor Johnson asked President Wilson for troops, at the request of Southern California towns excited by the murder of Postmaster Johnson at Tecate, Cal., by Mexican bandits, the request was referred through the war department to Gen. Murray. Conditions on the border, the general believes, are pretty much what they had been for the last two years.

O'Shaughnessy Is Sick.

Mexico City, March 20.—The American charge d'affaires, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, is confined to his bed by an attack of sciatica, and it is thought possible he may proceed to Vera Cruz to benefit by the lower altitude.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and luster to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy. Agent, Wirth's drug store, 13 West Superior street.

BIDS FAREWELL TO HIS LITTLE CHUMS

Louis Gaspard Pare.

Little Louis Gaspard Pare, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Pare, 516 North Twenty-fifth avenue west, was host yesterday afternoon for a number of his small chums in honor of his second birthday anniversary. The party was also in the nature of a farewell, the family intending to move in a few days to Virginia, Minn., where they will make their home.

BEGIN TO PICK JURY IN TERRE HAUTE CASE

Everybody Who Enters Courtroom Will Be Searched.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 20.—Selection of a jury to try Mayor Donn M. Roberts on charges of corrupting elections began in circuit court here today. A special venire of 100 had been summoned.

That the trial may last a week or longer was indicated when the state announced that it had subpoenaed more than 100 witnesses, and the defense, it was said, will have nearly as many. A large number of persons who have served as election officials here are among the witnesses.

Every person who enters the courtroom during the trial will be searched for weapons, in accordance with orders issued by the sheriff. Court officials recently received threats that they would be killed unless the prosecutions of the city officials for election frauds were stopped, and two men now are held in the county jail under bond of $25,000 each, on charges of conspiring to kill Judge Fortune and Felix Blankenbaker, special judge.

110 FARMERS SUE TO CLEAR TITLES.

Hutchinson, Kan., March 20.—Suit was filed here yesterday on behalf of 110 farmers against the United States for $370,000. The action is the result of the failure of a government irrigation plant at Deerfield. The government holds a lien against the farmers for the amount named in the petition, and the owners want their land cleared of encumbrance. Congress has twice refused to relieve the men of their debts. Secretary of the Interior Lane is made a party to the suit.

ARGUES IN FAVOR OF MOTHER PENSION.

Albany, N. Y., March 20.—That "a second rate mother is a better mother than the very best institution," is one of the arguments contained in the preliminary findings of the state commission for relief for widowed mothers, which were filed with the legislature in support of the Griffin-McCue bill designed to provide for state "allowances" for needy widows and children.

The commission asserts that widowed mothers have the right to claim from the state money with which to rear their children to become good citizens.

"ROLL" PROVES FIZZLE.

Mill City Police Trying to Protect Badger Are Stung.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 20.—Anthony Johnson of Green Bay, Wis., came to Minneapolis yesterday, went into a Bridge square saloon, bought a drink, and pulled out a large roll of bills. Three strangers immediately introduced themselves to him. He wanted to buy them a drink, but they refused. He was such a good fellow they wanted to treat him. They even bought his lunch.

The police were notified and two detectives went to the restaurant and watched Johnson and his three friends. Finally the friends suggested that Johnson go out with them to see the town. The detectives nabbed the strangers and took them to police headquarters with Johnson as a witness.

At the station the police asked Johnson to count his money. He pulled out a roll of bills so large that detectives in the place had to be revived by a pulmotor. A $1 bill on the outside and 400 cigar store coupons was all there was to the roll.

The detectives turned the three strangers loose. Then they took turns kicking each other around the building, but laid in wait for Johnson. Two detectives were appointed guards for Johnson during his visit to Minneapolis.

OIL MEN FROM NINE STATES MEET.

Kansas City, Mo., March 20.—Three hundred oil men are taking part in the annual convention of the Western Wholesale Oil Jobbers' association here today. The meeting will cover two days. Traffic problems and questions relating to the marketing of petroleum products occupied the sessions today. Delegates are in attendance from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas. Attorney General Barker of Missouri and Attorney General Dawson of Kansas were on the list of speakers.

SURING, WIS., FIRE; MAIL POUCHES BURN

Green Bay, Wis., March 20.—Word was received here yesterday by the Milwaukee railroad office of the burning of the Suring depot, seven locked pouches of mail and three cars.

The origin of the fire is not known. The contents of the pouches also are not known. They were transferred from the "Soo" line.

Sigma Chis Celebrate.

The alumni of the Sigma Chi fraternity at the Head of the Lakes are receiving a visit from their chief officer, Grand Consul Newman Miller of Chicago. A dinner will be given in his honor tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock at the Kitchi Gammi club, which will be attended by the "Sigs" of Duluth and Superior and the ranges. The toastmaster on this occasion will be Donald S. Holmes of Duluth, and about thirty are expected to be present. Toasts will be responded to by Messrs. Newman Miller of Chicago, William H. Hoyt and Richard M. Funck of Duluth, A. E. Purdy of Minneapolis, James T. Hale of Deerwood, and others.

RAISE NEW POINT IN LAW

Settlement of Injuries Refused to "Independent Contractor."

Is a Laborer Working "By the Piece" an Employe?

If a workingman is engaged to work by the piece and paid accordingly, is he an independent contractor and foreclosed from recovering damages for injuries under the terms of the workingmen's compensation act?

This question has been raised in a suit which has been instituted in district court by Stanley Boshko, laborer, who is seeking to recover approximately $1,050 from the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company for the loss of an eye while working for the company on Dec. 29 last.

Boshko was engaged by the company to get out ties, poles and posts and was paid for his work by the piece in lieu of stated wages. During the course of his work he met with an accident, which resulted in the loss of an eye.

Boshko presented his claim for damages to the company, but the latter denied any liability, asserting that he was not an employe within the meaning of the statute. The company takes the position that Boshko was an independent contractor and consequently no liability attaches to the company for injuries which he might receive during the course of his work.

The point will be argued in district court at a special term hearing in April, which has been set by Judge Dancer. The claim of C. E. Adams, attorney for Boshko, is that the method of paying does not affect the status of the laborer as an employe within the meaning of the statute.

They are fireproof. M. I. Stewart Co.

Arrested in Minneapolis.
C. A. Boone of Two Harbors, who is alleged to have stolen a dozen fire extinguishers that belonged to the Kelly Hardware company, was arrested in Minneapolis yesterday afternoon. Sergeant Roberg left for the Mill City last night and will return with the prisoner this afternoon.

Held to Grand Jury.
John Morley was yesterday afternoon bound over to the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. He is accused of having stolen $20 and a $5 watch last Sunday from Thomas Golis in a West Superior street hotel.

Loses Pay Envelope.
Jacob Peterson of 2211 East Water street reported to the police this morning that he lost his pay envelope containing $45 last Monday evening. Peterson had left his home in the afternoon and walked downtown to do some shopping. When he offered to pay for some goods he bought at a downtown department store, he discovered his loss.

Dairyman Fined.
Alex Salmi, who operates a dairy on the Rice Lake road, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of selling adulterated milk, preferred against him by Dairy Inspector North. The latter claimed that Salmi sold him one-half pint of cream that contained less than the required 20 per cent of butter fat. Salmi pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs or 15 days. He paid his fine.

Police Have Vacation.
Not an arrest was made by the police up to noon today, the last recorded arrest having been made at midnight last night.

Finds $50 Certificate.
Patrolman Fink this morning found a certificate of deposit on the American Exchange National bank for $50 issued to Pat Landy. The certificate is being held at headquarters, awaiting the owner.

Will Vacate Livery.
The Board of Trade livery on West First street between Fourth and Fifth avenue will soon be vacated. Capt. James Sullivan, the proprietor, has purchased the interest of John Ford in the Lyceum livery on First street between Lake avenue and First avenue east. The sales stable conducted in connection with the Board of Trade livery will not be continued at the Lyceum livery. The Board of Trade stable is being vacated to comply with the new ordinance regulating stables, recently passed by the city council.

Files for Legislature.
Charles R. Woods, a Chisholm attorney, formerly associated with Representative Cleon T. Knapp in the practice of his profession, today filed with the county auditor notice of his intention of becoming a candidate at the June primaries for the office of representative from the Sixtieth district.

NEW REGISTER OF LAND OFFICE

Winona Man Is Appointed to Succeed Charles F. Hartman.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 20.—President Wilson's nominations today included that Joseph Winczewski of Winona, Minn., to be register of the land office at Duluth.

Mr. Winczewski will succeed Charles F. Hartman. Mr. Hartman has already resigned, and the understanding was that he was to be relieved of duty by April 1. Mr. Winczewski will therefore probably come to Duluth within a week in order to become familiar with his new duties before April 1.

HAVE HOT DEBATE OVER McDERMOTT.

Washington, March 20.—Expulsion of Representative McDermott of Illinois from the house was proposed when the judiciary committee met again today and considered resolutions to censure him and officers of the National Association of Manufacturers for activity disclosed in the lobby investigation. The debate over including a provision of expulsion for the congressman was hot, but ended without action.

The Herald Sporting Gossip Is Reliable

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

WITH the teams of five or six of the real and alleged baseball leagues in the process of boiling out and working out lackadaisical dispositions and morose muscles, it begins to look as if spring was approaching and the near-baseball season at hand.

One of the enlightening features of the early spring training period is the advent of Hugh Fullerton, baseball's eminent authority, a captious critic and one of the fireside companions of Garry, in the camps of the Federals.

Some of us were vaguely wondering some weeks away as to whether there would be any spring training camps in the case of the Federals. Time passes and the Feds have both training camps and Hughey Fullerton.

So mighty is the pen or the well-regulated typewriter, that the very fact that Hughey Fullerton is in the camp of the arch enemies of the big league teams will lead some of the gentle folk who derive their opinions from the printed page, to look with more seriousness upon the efforts of Gilmore's galoots.

The sport page these days is littered with reports from the camps of the American, National, International, American association and Federal league teams—and as the busy weeks fly there will be the gay departure of the teams of the Northern league, and then the oldest resident—the one who can recall the late spring of 1887, will begin to admit that the blithesome twig time is near, no matter if the rheumatics continue to misbehave.

Darby's darlings will be hiking to the spring camp within the next few weeks. That will also be true of practically all of the teams of the Northern league. President John Burmeister has written asking about the press passes—so it must be that the season is coming on.

Bill Hart Speaks Out.

IN the Eau Claire Leader Bill Hart, one of the members of the Wisconsin State Boxing commission, takes a rap at those who have cried that the recent bout between Pal Brown and Johnny Tillman was a fake.

Immediately after the bout it was bruited about that Brown permitted Tillman to remain through the ten rounds in order that the range boy could get another fight. This statement is a libel on the sport and an insult to the intelligence of the throng of fans that witnessed the mill.

Brown did the best he could—and take it from us, it was not his fault that some of his followers believed, or stated so, the bout was fixed.

There are always some to cry fake. Professional sport and at times amateur competition has to put up with the doubting Thomas. No sane or intelligent man could believe that there was anything wrong with the recent go—that is if he knew the least thing about the first principles of the boxing game.

Here is what Hart says:

"Anybody who witnessed the mill could not honestly say that either of the boys was pulling. It was one grand bout with Tillman holding his own. He fought a much better battle than he did here in Eau Claire with Goodman. He used his right more and had Brown's left ear in a bad way, and no boxer would take the punches on that sore ear that Brown took if he could get away from it. Brown is a proud boy and thinks too much of his record to let any of them get an even break if he can help it, and Tillman is one of the most confident boys in the ring today and took the bout for small money, in order to get on with Brown for he was confident he was Brown's master."

More Cheer for Eau Claire.

FANS around these more or less fanatical parts recall the time that large Jawn Kading went to the Pittsburg team. Large gobs of pride were hastened into being in the vicinity of Eau Claire, a small village of Wisconsin. As suddenly as he went to the top Jawn descended to the lower leagues. Now the Kading boy is playing first base for the Chicago team of the Federal league and some of the more optimistic of the cits of the creamery section of our sister state are preparing to puff a bit. Gol darn it, Jawn, we're with you.

About Enough for Joe.

LAST winter a ribald American fight fan of Winnipeg took pen in hand and wrote us concerning the cheese variety of champion represented in the elusive and graceful tango dancer, Mr. Freddy Welsh, the literary friend of Fra Elbertus Hubbard.

It was after the embroglio with Young Saylor, and Milburn smote Frederick in the mid section and Fred went down and remained in a pathetic and prostrate position for some time.

It was then that the referee gave the decision to Welsh on the plea or technicality or biased view that Mr. Welsh was smitten where it is eminently unfair to smite an opponent.

Be that as it was—the fact remains that the said Welsh was quite agile and supple and clever enough to so far outpoint the Mexican Jose Rivers that even the loyal friends of the Mexican are seriously thinking of relinquishing all claim to any seat in the red painted championship wagon.

For the streaming years, as years go in pugilistic things, Rivers has been held as the coming champion. It would seem to those possessed of calm and judicial temperaments, uninfluenced by hot tamales and the chili con carne menu, which is emotional to say the least, that Rivers is going with the stern tag of a large emphatic G—that his days as one of the serious contenders are done.

There is a psychological moment in everything, even in an omelette—and Jose has had his.

Work for "Musterole."

NOW that the hockey season comes to a dreary end, owing to inconveniences of the weather, some of us are wondering what will come of "Musterole" Bill Trepanier. We think that William in the softer months of the season will confine his energies to the tired business man and will apply kneading to muscles that need it.

Fondling Mons. Ferns.

IN the near future Mons. Kelly will attempt to fondle one Ferns, who sails the pugilistic seas under the nom de guerre of "Wild Cat" Ferns.

Mike Gibbons took a large sized reef in the ambitions of the Ferns one and there are some of us who believe that Kelly will go and do likewise.

GOULD WILL PLAY A RETURN MATCH

New World's Tennis Champion Will Go to England Next Spring.

Philadelphia, March 20.—Neville S. Lyton, who employs George T. Covey as a professional and accompanied him to this country for his match with Jay Gould, has announced that Covey will play a return match with the new titleholder next spring in England.

"It was thoroughly understood that we would receive a return match to be played in England in the event of Covey losing to Mr. Gould," said the English visitor, "and I will arrange for the same to be played next spring.

"Mr. Gould played a wonderful game, quite unbeatable, to my way of thinking, at this particular time, but when you consider that he was favored by a home court and American balls, he certainly had Covey playing under a strong handicap."

THREE TIED FOR LEAD.

Close Contest in National Amateur Billiard Tournament.

New York, March 20.—Three players—E. W. Gardner and J. Ferdinand Poggenburg of New York, and Morris D. Brown of Brooklyn—were tied for first place with four wins and one loss in the national amateur billiard tournament at the end of last night's contest, in which Brown defeated Joseph Mayer of Philadelphia, the present titleholder. The contest last night was the closest of the tourney. Score: Brown, 400; Mayer, 379.

Charles Heddon of Dowagiac, Mich., and Dr. Walter E. Uffenheimer of Philadelphia completed their quota of six games each yesterday, and the victory of the Westerner by 400 to 343 left the pair tied for fifth place, each having won two and lost four games.

Heddon played the more consistent game yesterday and led all the way. He resorted to masse shots frequently and proved himself an adept by failing only four times out of thirty-two. Dr. Uffenheimer had two good runs, 60 and 40, but he lacked control at many critical stages.

BAN JOHNSON WON'T COMMENT ON THOMAS.

Chicago, March 20.—President Johnson of the American league, who returned late this afternoon from Wisconsin, declined to comment on Thomas' appointment as president of the Cubs. He seemed to be assured that C. W. Murphy was not connected with the Cubs any more.

President Comiskey of the Chicago Americans, whose illness while abroad caused his friends anxiety, has improved greatly since he went into the North woods, according to President Johnson.

ROLLS 300 SCORE TWICE SAME DAY.

Fargo, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rolling two perfect scores in one day, some hours apart, using two alleys with alternate balls in each game, A. Benarfa of this city has established a record. He was a participant in the recent bowling tournament in Minneapolis. In the forenoon he engaged in a game with some friends, each player alternating between alleys Nos. 5 and 6 in a local establishment. He piled up the first perfect score of his life. In the afternoon, under exactly similar conditions, he again made a perfect score.

He has made two of the five 300 scores that have been registered in Fargo this year. Manager Smith of the place, who was also a contestant in Minneapolis, rolled 300 on alley No. 5. Emil Salfer, using the same alley, also piled up a perfect score. Joe Peterson rolled thirty games one night. His general average was 232 for the thirty games. In the sixth game he lacked but one pin of a perfect score, and in the thirtieth he got the coveted 300.

Baseball Scores.

Greensboro, N. C., March 20.—The Baltimore Internationals won the third victory of their five-game series with the Philadelphia National league team at Fayetteville, N. C., yesterday, by a score of 7 to 6. The victory was mostly due to Derrick, Gleischmann and Egan, each of whom hit for three bases in succession.

Atlanta, Ga., March 20.—The Cleveland American league team and the Atlanta Southern league team played a tie game here yesterday, 6 to 6, the contest being called at the end of the eighth inning on account of darkness.

Waycross, Ga., March 20. — The Philadelphia American league team yesterday won from the Waycross, Ga., state league team here 9 to 0. McInnis, Philadelphia's first baseman, hit for a home run in the seventh inning, scoring one run ahead of him.

Savannah, Ga., March 20.—The Chicago National league baseball club outclassed the Savannah club of the South Atlantic league yesterday and won 12 to 3.

Charlottsville, Va., March 20.—Recruits and a few veterans of the Washington American league team yesterday defeated the University of Virginia nine, 5 to 4.

Macon, Ga., March 20.—The Boston National league club yesterday defeated the Newark, N. J., International league team 3 to 2. Maranville, shortstop, and Evers, second baseman of Boston, played sensational ball. E. Zimmerman and Tooley scored Newark's runs with home runs.

MILWAUKEEAN WINS.

Roland Cioni Qualifies for Finals in Roller Race.

Detroit, Mich., March 20.—Roland Cioni, professional champion of Italy, but whose home now is in Milwaukee, won the semi-final heat last night at the opening of the professional roller skating championship meet, and is the first to qualify for the grand final race to be decided next Wednesday night. Three preliminary heats were raced, the first and second man in each taking part in the semi-final.

Cioni's time for the mile in the semi-final was 3:01 3-5, a new record for the local rink, which is fourteen laps to the mile.

Perfection is a mighty word—it honestly describes the new spring

LAKES WIN FIRST GAME OF THE TITLE SERIES

Northern Hockey Team Is Decisively Defeated By 5 to 2 Score.

Ward Brown Stars for Winning Team; Second Contest Tonight.

The Lake Hardware hockey team last evening won the first of the championship games from the Northern Hardware seven, the score being 5 to 2.

As a result of the initial victory of the Lakes the runners-up in the pennant race have the edge in the series, that is, to decide the championship of the city for the season. A win by the Lakes this evening will give the Ryberg-Harris combination the much-coveted cup.

In the first half the Lakes had it on their stalwart rivals. All of the goals of the former team were scored in the initial period, the score at half time being 5 to 1. In the second half the Northerns braced and more than held their own, but it was too late to attempt to even up the long lead of the Lakes.

In the matter of team work and combination play, the advantage was with the winning team. The Lakes played the game in the form that was displayed when the record of seven straight games was hung up. It was the clear-cut advantage in practically all of the details of play in the first half that sewed up the game.

Lakes Start Early.

In the first three minutes of play the first score was made. Bartlett took the puck from center ice, down teh sidelines and shot from directly in front of the Northern goal. The shot was blocked and a lively scrimmage ensued. Curly Harris smashed the rubber in and a mighty shout went up from the faithful followers of the Lakes.

In four minutes after the first be'l Ward Brown took the rubber down the sidelines in a pretty rush. The famous combination of Brown to Harris was worked neatly and effectively and the second cage of the game was registered.

Woods made the third and fourth goals from scrimmage, the first of the two coming in nine minutes of play from a point directly in front of the Northern cage and the second being registered a few seconds later from the side of the cage.

Ward Brown again figured in the scoring of the fifth final goal for the Lakes. Little Wardy took the puck down the sidelines, dodged one of the defense men by a clever feint and then slipped the rubber over to Mike Taylor, who shot a beauty.

Along toward the close of the half the Northerns sort of shook themselves together and began to get in the game. The league leaders became more aggressive and began rushing the puck into the Lake territory. Just before the bell brought the half to a close McCormick took the puck near his own net and carried it nearly the length of the ice, passing to Parsons near the Lake net, and that gentleman shot the first and final Northern goal of the first half.

Northerns Come Strong.

All through the closing period of play the Northern came strong, at times outplaying the high score team. But the rally was too late.

As the ten-minute mark was checked off by the timers, Nelson took the puck just on the Lake line of middle ice and made a pretty rush down the ice. He dodged along the sidelines and then made a pretty pass to Parsons, who made the final net of the evening.

During the second half the play was faster than in the proceeding half—and it wasn't slow at any stage of the proceedings.

In the final ten minutes of the game the Northerns tried desperately to cut down the Lake lead, but the defense of the Lakes was effective and some clever checking was done.

Ward Brown, the lad who was placed at substitute on the all-star league team, was the bright and particular star of the pastime. The youngster played a remarkable defensive and offensive game and broke up combinations with a regularity that brought frequent cheers of admiration from the spectators.

Young Bartlett was a bear on defense and broke up a number of combination plays in clever manner.

However, it was the team work of the Lakes that won the game, and it is this quality of play that really deserves the greatest commendation.

Parsons was a star for the losing aggregation and Nelson also shone in a stellar role.

The two teams will meet this evening for the second game of the series.

The lineup and officials:

Lakes—		Northerns—
Harris	c	Parsons
Brown	lw	Du Moe
Taylor	rw	Nelson
Woods	r	McCormick

MATHEWSON HAS MADE A GREAT SHUTOUT RECORD

New York, March 20.—When Christy Mathewson decides to quit the national pastime he ought to start a school in which to teach the art of whitewashing, for "Big Six" could get recommendations from almost every major league team he ever raced that he is an adept in the use of the brush. The Old Master now has kalsomined all the clubs in the fast set that he has pitched against except the Red Sox and the Yankees and possesses a record of having fitted eighty jackets of white on the objecting opposition. Seventy-six of these goose-eggs affairs that Matty owns were pitched in the National league, four in series for the world's title.

The National league team that Matty has blanked oftenest is Boston, over whom he has registered fourteen shutout wins. He has fed henfruit to the Cubs thirteen times, to the Superbas twelve times, to the Reds twelve times, to the Phillies nine times, to the Pirates eight times, to the Cardinals eight times and to the White Elephants four times.

Mathewson's greatest activities in the shutout line were displayed in 1905 and 1908, pitching twelve goose-egg games in each of those seasons. Walter Johnson, Chalmers car winner, had a dozen whitewashes to his credit last season, and so had Ed Walsh of the White Sox in 1908, John Wesley Coombs of the White Elephants beating this mark in 1910 by distributing thirteen sets of ciphers.

Matty did not whitewash anybody the first year he toiled in the National league, which was 1900, but in 1901 he rid his system of five goose-egg games, pitching four prior to Decoration day, when he met with his first defeat of the year. In his first eight games in 1901 the Old Master permitted his opponents seven runs and thirty-four hits—a record that made him a favorite at home and a great drawing card abroad.

Mathewson whitewashed all seven of the Giants' opponents in 1907, and five years later he failed to blank anyone. His average of shutouts per year (1900 not included, as he then pitched only one complete game) is 6.67; Johnson's is 6.43.

NEW LEAGUE FOR DULUTH

National Amateur Baseball Organization Is Planned.

Ray Johns Will Assist in Forming the Local Branch.

Duluth is to have an amateur baseball league modeled on the famous league of Cleveland, according to the plans that have been made by Ray Johns, formerly of this city, and several of the amateur baseball boosters of Duluth.

Mr. Johns is engaged in business in St. Paul. Just the other day the National Amateur league of St. Paul was organized. This gives the teams a standing in the national association and also gives the game a firm and definite standing in the city.

A board of governing officials has charge of the games. The teams are classified in divisions, such as A, B, C etc., the smaller teams having as much right in the league and just as much voice as the teams that play in enclosed parks.

It is expected that Johns will come to the Head of the Lakes this week or early next week, when he will take up the plans for the establishment in Duluth of a branch of the national association.

In order to establish the league in St. Paul Johns made a special trip to Cleveland, the home of amateur baseball, and studied the makeup of the league. The league of St. Paul is modeled upon the Cleveland plan and will have a rule book out giving all the rules and regulations governing play.

The winners of the various divisions of the St. Paul league will be entitled to go to Cleveland or any city where the national amateur championship tournament is held and compete for the highest amateur baseball honors in the land. In the event of the establishment of a league here, the winners of the various Duluth divisions would have the same privileges.

Duluth fans have reason to know or at least suspect of the high quality of amateur baseball played at Cleveland. Bunny Schreiber, now playing on the first team of the Chicago Americans, came from the Cleveland lots and made so good in his first year of professional baseball that he went to the majors.

O'Brien has always claimed that the fastest amateur baseball in the United States was played in Cleveland. No doubt this condition has been brought about by the championship incentives caused by the makeup of the league.

The organization of such a league here would be a great boon to amateur baseball and would result in the creation of a vast amount of interest.

WORLD CHALLENGE IS ACCEPTED BY SUPERIOR.

Accepting the challenge of the Board of Trade curlers in its literal sense, in regard to the defi to the world, the Superior curlers have requested a game from the confident curlers of the grain mart and the chances are that a contest will be arranged to be played at Superior this evening.

The stone throwers from the other side of the bay are confident that they can give the cheesty grain men an artistic trimming.

Bill Dinham is earnestly engaged in getting the flax and wheat clan together and one of the most exciting contests of the year is expected to take place.

DULL IN BOWLING.

Mediocre Work All Around at Congress Tournament.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 20.—Yesterday was the dullest day in the American bowling congress tournament thus far, not one of the bowlers competing in the individuals or two-man events, morning or afternoon, winning a place among the ten leaders.

F. M. Schardt and G. H. Fuller of this city shot high scores in the doubles, totalling 1,162.

Chicago, Montreal, Hamilton, Toronto, Buffalo and Milwaukee bowlers made up the five-man squads last night.

The Athenaeum team of Toronto, Ont., champions of Canada, took third place in the five-man event last night, with a score of 2,863. Following is the standing:

Five-man event—Howard Majors, Chicago, 2,881; Clarks, Peoria, 2,871; Athenaeums, Toronto, 2,863.

DATE FINALLY SET FOR STATE HANDBALL GAMES

Duluth Y. M. C. A. Players Will Meet the St. Paul Association Stars for State Title Saturday, March 28.

"Bill" Dreves, one of the enthusiastic boosters for the good old game of handball and also one of the crack players of the city, yesterday received a long-distance telephone communication from John Kay of the St. Paul handball committee, stating that Saturday, March 28, had been definitely set aside as the date of the holding of the state championship games between the Duluth and St. Paul Y. M. C. A. players.

The Duluth players are training daily for the series of games, as the local lights will be opposed by some of the best court men in the Northwest. Men of the class of Kay, Sudheimer, Schumacher and Nolan are among the St. Paul players, and they have played the game in the fastest kind of company since the old St. Paul Amateur Athletic club days.

Some new handballs of the fastest make have been sent for and will be used by the Duluth players in practice. This is the make of ball that has been used for several years by the St. Paul players.

Duluth's Star Players.

Dr. Floyd Clark, C. Olson, Axel Lavine, Pete Petkoff, Bill Johnson, Bill Dreves, Bill Wendlandt, Hanson and Wisted are in the squad from which the local team will be chosen.

Hanson and Wisted will play Dr. Clark and Dreves Saturday noon, and Bill Johnson and Clarence Olson will meet Petkoff and Lavine Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The winners of these two matches will go to St. Paul and compete in the doubles.

Sturm and Wendlandt will compete in the singles and will meet two of the best men in the Middle West in John Kay and Hugo Schumacher.

While the Duluth players will be at somewhat of a disadvantage in playing on a strange court, the followers of the game here have abundant faith in the ability of Bill Wendlandt to hold his own in any kind of company.

Last fall George Sudheimer came up here and met the local star on the Y. M. C. A. courts and was defeated in something like seven straight games. Sudheimer is one of the crack players of St. Paul.

The proceeds of the circus will be used to defray the expenses of the team.

CATHEDRAL HIGH WINS

Central Is Beaten at Basket Ball By 34 to 20 Score.

At the Washington school gymnasium last evening the Cathedral high school basket ball team defeated the Central high school quint by the score of 34 to 20.

The Cathedrals scored first and retained the lead throughout the contest. The team play of the Catholic boys was superior to that exhibited by the hilltop athletes, and in most of the departments of the game the Cathedral boys held the edge and showed that they knew more of the fine points of the game than their less experienced opponents.

Monaghan was one of the stars of the contest, getting eight field baskets. Graves made five baskets and shared the stellar honors with Monaghan. Larsen was the star for Central, getting three of the four field baskets scored by his team.

During the intermission the Cathedral second team defeated the Central seconds by the score of 18 to 15, thus adding to the enthusiasm of the followers of the Catholic quint. A large crowd witnessed the contest, which despite the rather one-sided score was interesting and brought out some clever playing.

The lineup and summary:

Cathedrals—		—Centrals.
Monaghan	f	Capt. Larsen
Graves	f	Forshiach, O'Brien
Barrett, Capt.	c	Olson, O'Brien
Nicholson	g	Brown
Cole	g	Stevens

Field baskets—Monaghan, 8; Graves, 5; Nicholson, 2; Larsen, 3; Brown, 1. Foul baskets—Forshiach, 6; O'Brien, 4; Graves, 3; Barrett, Larsen. Point awarded to Centrals on foul. Referees—Conley and Deighton.

Win Mixed Foursome.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 20.—The annual mixed golf foursome of the silver foils here yesterday was won by Henry C. Fownes and Mrs. J. Raymond Price, both of the Oakmont club, Pittsburg, with a card of 81 net, they having a handicap allowance of five.

STOP FIGHT AT LA CROSSE CLUB

Pugilists Persist in Hitting in Clinches, Violating Law.

La Crosse, Wis., March 20.—The Redmond-Childs prize fight was stopped by state officers here last night and the gate receipts were seized because of alleged violation of the Wisconsin law which forbids hitting in the clinches. Childs was charged by the referee and boxing commissioner with breaking this rule, and when he ignored repeated warnings, the contest was stopped.

The fighters and the boxing club will be cited to appear before the state commission and defend themselves under threat of suspension for the fighters and forfeiture of permit for the boxing club, if they fail to satisfy the state authorities that they were without fault.

CANAL ZONE UNIONS WILL FIGHT PAY CUT

Meeting to Form Metal Trade Council Is Called.

Panama, March 20.—A call has been issued to organized labor in the canal zone to meet on Sunday next for the purpose of forming a metal trade council, to combat the prospective reduction in wages to become effective April 1. The meeting will be under the auspices of the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor, and the call urges all workers to refuse to accept any reduction, declaring that the executive order in no way prevents the continuation of the present scale.

President Wilson's order with respect to the organization of a permanent forec to operate the canal provided only that pay on the isthmus should not exceed the wages provided for similar services in the United States by more than 25 per cent.

WHEAT CLOSE SLIGHTLY OFF

Market Sells Lower at Finish on Weakness in Corn at Chicago.

Flaxseed Has a Fair Reaction, Following Weakness at Winnipeg.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 20.—Wheat turned weak at the close on a break in corn. May wheat closed ¾c off and July ⅝c off. May durum closed ⅛c up and July ⅛c up.

Oats closed ⅜c off at 37⅛c Rye closed unchanged at 54@56c for the best grades. There was no market in barley.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 36⅞c bid and July at 38⅛c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 91¼@91⅜c bid, and calls at 91⅜@91¾c bid.

The wheat market was strong during the first three hours' trading today, reflecting higher Liverpool cables. A bullish influence was furnished in the confirmation from New York of a sale of forty loads of chiefly No. 2 hard winter wheat for export to Europe. There was also advised to be good export inquiry for June and July shipment.

A strong cash demand was reported at Minneapolis with No. 1 hard wheat selling at 4c over May. A better flour inquiry was commented upon, but sales were only moderate.

Leading Chicago bulls were said to be confident, saying that the cash demand had arrived a week or ten days ahead of the time expected. Export inquiry is expected by them to be more active from now on. A further aid to operators on the long side was furnished in an estimate by Broomhall of only 36,000,000 bu Argentine wheat surplus.

On the other hand the domestic news of the day was bearish. The winter wheat condition was said to be perfect by leading experts. The corn market on which the wheat advance at the close was engineered yesterday turned weak with heavy realizing reported at Chicago and other markets. Advices were received that 1,000,000 bu of Argentine corn had been bought this morning for shipment to America.

Receipts at American primary markets were off from the rate they had been running of late. Inspections at Duluth today were 40 cars against 39 last year and arrivals at Minneapolis were 188 cars for the day. Stocks there increased 200,000 bu in the week. Winnipeg received 189 cars against 246 last year.

May wheat opened ⅛c up at 92⅞c and gained ¼c more. The July option opened unchanged at 93⅜c and showed a net gain of ⅛c more at the final hour, after selling a fraction higher. There was fair inquiry for durum. It opened ⅛c up at 91⅝c and held at that basis.

Flax Breaks at Close.

Flaxseed was strong again today on the development of active pit trading at the opening. An advance of ⅝@⅞c was scored during the first few minutes' business and prices then rested on that basis till near the close. A selling movement then developed and final prices showed losses of ⅜c in the day.

Strength at Winnipeg with the market there nearing an export basis was a factor at the start. Later on cables came generally higher. Buenos Aires closed ¾c up; London ⅜c up and Antwerp ⅝c off.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.61½ and it closed ⅜c off at $1.60½. The July option opened unchanged at $1.63 and it closed ⅝c off at $1.62⅝ asked. The September option was closed up nominally at $1.63¾.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.40½ and July at $1.43¼.

MARKET GOSSIP.

The Modern Miller says: "Growing weather in Texas shows the plant is in a thrifty condition. Oklahoma has a practically perfect stand on a 20 per cent increase in area. Snows have fallen throughout Central and Eastern Kansas. The soft winter wheat area is in unexcelled condition. Snows fell in Illinois and Missouri and in Southern Indiana and Northern Kentucky, the snowfall was the heaviest of the season and highly beneficial to wheat."

* * *

Bradstreet's world's clearances: Wheat, during week, 4,500,000 bu; corn, 69,000 bu.

This day last year was good Friday and a market holiday.

The Argentine wheat crop surplus is now estimated by Broomhall at 36,000,000 bu.

Baker had the following wire from Dodge City, Kan.: "Ran 150 miles through where storm center was yesterday. Wheat generally is too well rooted to blow out excepting on sand ridges. Some of the late seeded is partially covered up. Fields in general still show the plant strong and of good color."

* * *

The Minneapolis cash demand was keen and the market strong. No. 1 hard wheat sold at 4c over May; No. 1 northern blue stem at 2@3c over and velvet chaff at 1½@2c over May. There has been better inquiry for flour, and some mills reported better sales, but the aggregate was still moderate. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 93¼@94¾c and No. 2 northern at from 91½@92¾c.

Estimated world's shipments exclusive of North America are 8,000,000 bu against actual shipments last week of 8,968,000 bu. Of this Europe will take about 7,200,000 bu. Total shipments last week were 13,408,000 bu and last year 12,776,000 bu. Arrivals into United Kingdom were about 3,600,000 bu. Broomhall predicts moderate change on passage.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat covering at the immediate opening was stimulated by the steady American cables and firmness in Winnipeg yesterday and values were ¼d higher. Following the opening the market was dull but well supported and May advanced an additional ⅛d. Light Argentine shipments, firmness of Plata and Australian offers, strength in spot hers and few speculative offers, helped the advance. Expectations that the world's shipments this week will be ample, and continued highly favorable reports regarding the American winter outlook checked the advance. At 1:30 p. m. the undertone was steady, ¼ to ⅜d higher.

"Corn opened with covering by shorts and an advance of ¾d and later March gained an additional ½d on a good outside demand for Liverpool spot, unfavorable Argentine weather, strength in spot here and firmness of Plata holders. At 1:30 p. m., the undertone was strong, March ⅝d higher and July ¾d higher."

Australian wheat shipments are estimated this week at 2,750,000 bu.

The Southern area is dry and seeding is being delayed. The visible has shown a decrease of 2,000,000 bu since March 1.

Russia and Danube are expected to ship about 4,000,000 bu wheat this week and India nothing.

Argentine shipments—Wheat, 1,496,000 bu against 1,776,000 last year and 4,368,000 bu last year. Oats 800,000 bu against 640,000 bu last week and 3,720,000 bu last year. Corn—564,000 bu against 493,000 bu last week and 808,000 bu last year. Visible—Wheat, 2,230,000 bu against 2,560,000 bu last week and 8,536,000 bu last year. Corn, 765,000 bu against 765,000 bu last week and 1,105,000 bu last year.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Corn Prices Are Driven Down By Heavy Selling.

Chicago, March 20.—Heavy selling by leading firms today drove down the price of corn. New York reported that nearly a million bu of Argentine corn had been bought yesterday to come to this country. Besides word came from Omaha that cash demand had failed to follow the latest bulge and that only a few cars were sold to feeders last night. Opening prices, which varied from ⅛c off to ⅛c up, were succeeded by a material setback all around.

Export sales at New York tended afterward to rally the market. The purpose, however, was easy, ⅛c to ½c under last night.

Wheat weakened in sympathy with corn. The firm cables, however, tended to check selling. Prices started ⅛c lower to a like advance, and later showed a general decline, with July leading the downturn.

No important reaction took place, offers increasing whenever the market began to harden. The close was weak at ⅜c to ½@½c net decline.

Commission houses took to the bear side in the oats crowd. Pit speculators seemed willing to buy at a moderate drop in quotations.

Provisions developed a little firmness on account of an advance in the price of hogs. First sales ranged from a shade to 5c higher, but not all of the gain was held.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Suspension of Liquidation in the Low-Priced Railroad Shares.

Close Strong With General Gains of One to Two Points.

New York, March 20.—Liquidation in low-priced railroad stocks, which has held the market in check recently was suspended today. Rock Island securities in particular made a better showing. The effect on the general list of this improvement was heightened by intimations from Washington that the administration favored an increase in freight rates for the Eastern roads.

Railroad stocks responded with a general advance, and ultimately the industrials joined in the movement, although held back for a time by the sluggishness of United States Steel which was affected by further reports of slackening of business in the steel industry. The morning rise ran to a point or more in many cases. Bonds irregular.

Lehigh Valley was under pressure at the opening of the market today. The first sale was at an advance of ¼, but it then reacted a point. The other active stocks moved narrowly, with an easier tendency. United States Express receded 4 points further to 69, a drop of 18 points from its recent high figure.

Prices moved upward briskly under the stimulus of some large buying orders by local bullish interests. No attention was paid to continued offerings for foreign account. Reading, New Haven, Baltimore & Ohio, the Hill stocks, Missouri Pacific and some of the active specialties were raised 1 to 1½ above yesterday's closing. Lehigh also rallied more than a point.

The advance became a little more rapid in spots, particularly for Pennsylvania, Amalgamated and Chesapeake & Ohio. Burlington joint 4's showed the effect of liberal profittaking and surrendered about all of yesterday's gain.

The market went through the forenoon high figures with a rush when buying orders appeared in lots of 1,000 shares. Union Pacific and Steel were foremost in the late rise.

The market closed strong. Speculation became buoyant near the end with general advances of 1 to 2 points.

WILL INSPECT ALL THEATERS

Fire Chief and Electrician Will Submit Written Report.

Hotels and Factories Will Be Checked Up Later.

Fire Chief Joseph Randall and City Electrician F. E. Hough will make a thorough investigation of all theaters, moving picture houses and assembly halls in Duluth and will submit a written report of their findings to Safety Commissioner William A. Hicken and Mayor Prince.

The mayor and the safety commissioner held a conference with these officials and several men interested in the local theater business. They felt that there is considerable room for improving safety precautions but decided that the first move should be to ascertain their exact condition, which will be done by the fire chief and the city electrician.

When this has been done the ordinances governing these places will be considered and probably revised to meet present conditions. "The present ordinances were passed some years ago and are not up-to-date," said the mayor this morning. "The moving picture houses, particularly, have been increasing in size and importance and it is essential that the city take all possible steps to insure the safety of the thousands of people who patronize them. I do not think that the situation in Duluth is aggravated or approximately so, but we shall leave nothing undone to require them to be made as safe as possible."

When this work has been concluded the officials plan to extend the investigation to hotels, lodging houses, boarding houses, hospitals, factories and other places where sleeping accommodations are provided or where large numbers of people are employed. The regulations governing them are similar to those regulating the amusement places in that they need to be brought up to date.

EXTRADITION CASE HAS BEEN DELAYED

Absence of Governor of Oregon Delays Hearing at Salem.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is probable that McLain Cooper's hearing before the governor of Oregon, in the matter of the attempt of North Dakota to extradite him for alleged briberies in connection with his acquittal from the charge of murder here two years ago, will be delayed several days. Governor West of Oregon is absent from the state, and advices are to the effect that he is not expected to return till Monday or Tuesday.

Deputy Sheriff Doty of Grand Forks is at Salem, Or.

Local counsel for young Cooper are uncertain as to what steps will be taken at Salem in connection with the extradition.

Today E. N. Bruyere of Larimore, one of he jurymen charged with agreeing to accept a $3,000 bribe, will have his hearing.

NELSON SEEKS PARDON.

Senator Would Procure the Release of a Stillwater Lifer.

St. Paul, Minn., March 20.—Senator Knute Nelson is attempting to secure the pardon of a man who was sentenced to life imprisonment in Stillwater penitentiary twenty-one years ago, when the senator was governor of Minnesota.

The prisoner is Henry Jackson, committed from Crow Wing county in September, 1893, after a conviction for second degree murder. Jackson pleaded guilty to killing Edwin Peck, a farmhand employed by him.

The board of pardons will meet in April. Jackson's application for a pardon has been submitted, and is further backed by the recommendation of Warden Wolfer.

CITY WILL SPRAY TREES.

Cost Nominal for Either Private or Public Use.

The park department will soon be equipped with a power sprayer which will be used for trees in the city's parks and along its highways. The trees of private owners will also be treated. Henry Cleveland, manager of the park department, said this morning that the charge will be equivalent only to the cost of its operation.

The new kerosene engine, which is being purchased to run the portable rock crusher of the department, will be used to furnish the power for the operation of the sprayer.

The park department has charge of the trees on the public highways as well as those in the streets. Last fall G. G. Hartley pointed out that many trees were dying for lack of attention and suggested that a power sprayer be secured for treating them after they had been properly trimmed.

RELATIVES IN NORWAY WILL GET PROPERTY.

White Earth, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Relatives in Norway are the sole heirs to the estate of George E. Boe, who recently committed suicide on his farm near here because of lonesomeness, after living in the United States ten years. During that period he accumulated about $20,000 worth of property.

The public administrator is attempting to get in touch with Norwegian relatives, who are understood to be very poor.

SMALLER PROGRAM FOR EDUCATORS' MEET.

Mayville, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—President C. R. Travis of the North Dakota Educational association announces an important change in the policy of the association in the matter of programs. The program hereafter will be reduced materially, that more complete consideration may be given to the various questions that are brought up.

The annual meeting this year will be held at Bismarck, Oct. 21-23.

Charge Causes Stabbing.

Escanaba, Mich., March 20.—With his jugular vein severed, and stabbed in seven places, Alexander Lemkivic of Nahma, is dying. His assailant, Andrew Johnson, is jailed here. The men were bunkmates. Johnson lost $10 and charged Lemkivic stole it. The fight followed.

PETITION FOR PUBLIC DITCH—
State of Minnesota, County of Carlton —ss.
District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

To the Judge of the District Court of the Eleventh Judicial District in the State of Minnesota:

The undersigned land owners, whose lands will be liable to be affected by, or assessed for, the expense of the construction of the ditch hereinafter described, would respectfully represent that the public health, convenience and welfare, and the reclamation of wet and overflowed lands, require the establishment and construction of a drainage system with several laterals and branch ditches, along the following described routes in the towns of Corona, Perch Lake and Red Clover, in the County of Carlton, and unorganized territory in Congressional townships 50 and ranges 18 and 19, in said county of St. Louis, Minnesota, and that the construction of same would be of public benefit and utility and promote the public health, remove stagnant water, improve the sanitary conditions, and will facilitate the building of public roads; that much of the lands in said drainage district are now wet and overflowed and unfit for agricultural purposes without drainage, and which would, if drained, become very productive land, and said drainage ditch would make practicable the settlement and development of a large part of Carlton and St. Louis counties.

A general description of the proposed starting point, route and terminus of said ditch is as follows:

Commencing at a meandered lake at a point seven hundred feet south of the center of section two (2) in township forty-eight (48), range nineteen (19), in Carlton County, Minnesota, and running thence north along the quarter line in said section 2 to Stony Brook; thence following the course of the Stony Brook as nearly as practicable in a northerly direction through sections thirty-five (35) and twenty-six (26), in township forty-nine (49), range nineteen (19), to Rice Lake; thence through Rice Lake to the outlet into the Stony Brook in the northeast part thereof; thence following the general course of the Stony Brook in a northerly direction through sections thirty (30) nineteen (19), eighteen (18), seventeen (17), seven and six (7 and 6), township forty-nine (49), range eighteen (18), and sections twelve (12) and one (1), in township forty-nine (49), range nineteen (19), in Carlton county, and sections thirty-one (31), thirty-two (32), thirty-three (33), twenty-eight (28), twenty-nine (29), twenty-one (21), twenty-two (22) and sixteen (16), in township fifty (50), range eighteen (18), in St. Louis County, following the general course of said Stony Brook as far as practicable, and terminating at a point in said Stony Brook in section sixteen (16), township fifty (50), range eighteen (18), St. Louis County, five hundred (500) feet north of the dam now located and constructed in said Stony Brook in said section 16, as its outlet; and also all laterals and branch ditches which may be found necessary by the Engineer, to fully drain the lands in the watershed of the proposed ditch.

That all of the meandered lakes affected by the proposed ditch are normally of a shallow, grassy and marshy character.

And your petitioners pray that you will proceed to establish such ditch and drainage system, and cause the same to be constructed as provided by chapter two hundred thirty (230) of the general laws of Minnesota for 1905, and acts amendatory thereof or supplemental thereto.

TORREON WILL BE MINE WITHIN A WEEK, SAYS VILLA---ALL IS READY FOR DECISIVE CONFLICT

LIND SENDS LONG MESSAGE OVER CABLE

Bryan Says Only That Envoy Talked With Huerta's Agent.

O'Shaughnessy and British Charge Go to Vera Cruz.

Huerta Has Former Pupils of Gen. Angeles Executed.

Constitutionalist Headquarters, Yermo, Durango, Mex., March 21.—With cannon planted, with practically all accoutrements of war burnished and ready, Gen. Pancho Villa with his 12,000 rebel soldiers today was almost prepared to begin the investment of Torreon; to hurl the first shell into the trenches of the resisting Federal army under Gen. Refugio Velasco in what is considered the decisive battle of the Constitutionalist revolution.

Full of confidence and certain of victory, Gen. Villa has magnetically transmitted his energy to his subordinates, and today the waking camp at Yermo presented a scene which never has marked a revolutionary movement in Mexico. The peon soldiers hurried here and there, giving final touches to the establishment of the rebels' plans for opening assault, spurred on by the sharp command of superiors, whose every order is given with an admonition against delay.

Soldiers Work With Zest.

Refreshed by a night's sleep after their long, hard march through the desert from Maplmi and Bermejillo, the little khaki-clad soldiers of Villa sprang to their work with a zest which discounted the stern order for haste.

The beginning of today saw the rebel army stationed on the outskirts of the Federal stronghold, a position they had gained without resistance and with scarcely the sound of a shot to check their preparations for an assault. Within Torreon all was comparatively quiet, and none in the rebel camp knew what preparations Gen. Velasco was making to repel the onslaught of the revolutionists.

Speculation as to when the battle

MINERS REFUSE TO OBEY STRIKE CHIEF

Maintain Camp Near West Virginia Coal Workings.

Colliers, W. Va., March 21.—Striking miners of the West Virginia & Pittsburg Coal company, who have been in camp near the company's property since the strike was declared last September, held their ground today in spite of the report that James Oates, their leader, who is on trial in the United States district court at Philippi for violating the injunction of Judge Dayton, had ordered them to leave their tents.

Joseph Bowers, who has command of the camp in Oates' absence, declared he would maintain the camp until he received orders from John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, to move. It was reported here that officials of the Ohio organization had instructed Bowers to keep the strikers together and not abandon the camp.

A number of arrests were made during the night for alleged pistol carrying, among the men taken being a foreman at the Colliers mine.

THREE DYNAMITERS ARE DENIED RELEASE

Judge Pollock Holds Basis of Pleas Is Not Sufficient.

Kansas City, Kan., March 21.—Applications of three of the labor men convicted at Indianapolis in 1912 on charges of transporting explosives illegally, asking their release from the United States penitentiary at Leavenworth, were denied last night by Judge John C. Pollock in the Federal court here. Philip Cooley of Utah, J. E. Munsy of Buffalo and John Webb of Cleveland, who asked release, were not given their liberty on bond with the others of the convicted men awaiting final disposition of their cases in the United States courts. As the prison is located in Kansas, the applications for release must be made to Judge Pollock. Release for the three was asked for on ground that they were convicted in Indiana, while none was a citizen of that state. Judge Pollock held this not sufficient grounds for taking up the matter.

EX-SULTAN ABDUL HAMID VERY ILL.

London, March 21.—Abdul Hamid, the deposed sultan of Turkey, is said to be in a critical condition, according to a dispatch from Constantinople. The former ruler has been ill for some time. Abdul Hamid was deposed April 27, 1909.

THESE MEN KNOW ALL ABOUT BENTON'S DEATH

—Copyrighted by the Mutual Film Company.

MAJ. FIERRO AND GEN. VILLA.

El Paso, Tex., March 21.—Maj. Rudolfo Fierro and Gen. Villa are believed to be the men who know exactly all the details of the death of the Scotchman, William Benton. It is asserted that Benton was stabbed to death in Villa's office, and that Fierro was present at the time. It is even said that Fierro did the stabbing. He has the reputation of being merciless to his enemies, and a staunch friend of Villa.

DULUTH-STAPLES TRAIN OFF TRACK

Leaves Rails Approaching Brainerd But No One Is Hurt.

Brainerd, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rounding the curve into Brainerd last night, Northern Pacific passenger train No. 57, running from Duluth to Staples left the rails and ran 100 feet on hard ground without upsetting. No one was injured. The engine, tender and four cars bumped along the ties. The sidings were free from cars and this fortunately prevented a more serious accident. A special was made up at Brainerd and took the passengers and mail to Staples.

YALE NOT TO CLOSE OWING TO FEVER

Hadley and Dean Jones Minimize Reports of Sickness There.

New Haven, Conn., March 21.—President Hadley and Dean Jones of Yale issued a statement today minimizing reports of an epidemic of scarlet fever at the university. There are eight students ill of the disease, and the cases, with one exception, are mild. The statement denies that the university is to close temporarily on account of the epidemic.

FLAXSEED RATES NOT ABOVE WHEAT

Interstate Commerce Commission Rules in Minneapolis Controversy.

Washington, March 21.—The interstate commerce commission held today that rates on flaxseed "should bear a consistent relationship to one another and to the rates on wheat and other grain," and permitted the railroads to "increase the rate from Minneapolis proper to Fredonia, Kan., from 15 to 20½ cents per 100 pounds, and to establish rates to all other destinations involved, no higher than the present wheat rates."

LAY ST. VITUS DANCE SPREAD TO MOVIES

Philadelphia Hospital Workers Report After Investigation.

Philadelphia, March 21.—The moving picture film is a contributing factor to the spread among children of the nervous affection known as St. Vitus dance, according to the findings of the Social Service department of the Philadelphia Orthopedic hospital and infirmary for the nervous diseases.

A careful examination was made by social workers of the histories of 100 children suffering with St. Vitus' dance, and Miss Blanche S. Jobes, under whose supervision the investigation was made, said today that there was no question that the moving picture show is a strong contributing factor to the widespread prevalence of the disease.

UNIVERSITY BOARD WINS OVER BISHOPS.

Noshville, Tenn., March 21.—The Tennessee supreme court today decided the case involving the control of Vanderbilt university in favor of the university board of trustees, and against the college of bishops of the Southern Methodist church. The court held the board of trustees to be a self-perpetuating body.

HURLS ACID IN FACE OF BEAUTIFUL WIFE

Chicago Man's Act May Be Fatal—He Kills Himself.

Chicago, March 21. — Mrs. Mary Karant, a nurse who is noted for her beauty, was disfigured and perhaps fatally burned last night by acid which her husband, Walter R. Karant, a jeweler, dashed into her face when she refused to return to him. Karant was found dead in a street car a few minutes later, a victim of the acid.

In his pocket was a note which read: "My wife drove me to this." There was also a photograph of his wife and an unknown man.

The Karants separated two months ago after Karant accused her of accepting attentions of other men. Mrs. Karant told the police on reviving. He met her last night near the county hospital, where she is employed.

"He asked me to go back to him," she said. "He told me to think well before I answered. I became frightened and asked him to let me pass. At the same time I told him I would never return to him. Then my face seemed to be burning up."

Nurses who heard her scream administered first aid. Other pedestrians pursued Karant. He eluded them and was found dead a short time later on a street car.

FIND CASTRO IN TRINIDAD

Police First Discover Big Venezuelan Supply of Ammunition.

Further Raids Reveal Ex-Dictator, Who Resents Discovery.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, March 21.—Gen. Cipriano Castro, former dictator of Venezuela, whose whereabouts had been unknown for several months, was discovered here today.

A party of detectives last night raided a hotel occupied almost solely by Venezuelans, and found there 40,000 rounds of ammunition and a few revolvers. This discovery led to a further raid early today. The police went to a house which had been occupied for several months by Gen. Carmelo Castro, a brother of the former president. Armed with a search warrant, they went over the place. Among the effects of the occupants they found only one revolver and a few cartridges.

Found Ex-Dictator.

On entering one of the rooms, however, they found it occupied by Gen. Cipriano Castro himself. The one-time dictator was extremely indignant over the procedure of the police, whose methods he denounced as harsh and unnecessary.

It is stated that Sir George Le Hunte, the governor, cabled to London today for instructions from the foreign office regarding Castro. The police disclaim any intention of interfering with the general's liberty, but among the Venezuelan residents there is great excitement in regard to possible developments.

Great crowds assembled in the vicinity of the house when the report spread that Gen. Castro had been found, but the police soon dispersed them.

Baptista at Willemstad.

Willemstad, Curacao, March 21.—Dr. Leopoldo Baptista, formerly secretary-general to President Gomez of Venezuela, has arrived here from Porto Rico together with the secretary of Gen. Hernandez (El Mocho).

HULL HOUSE FOUNDER FOUND NOT GUILTY

Miss Starr Acquitted of Interfering With Police.

Chicago, March 21.—Miss Ellen Gates Starr, joint founder with Miss Jane Addams, of Hull House, this morning was found not guilty of interfering with the police and resisting arrest. Miss Starr was accused of obstructing the police in connection with the waitresses' union boycott of a restaurant here.

"I never expected any other verdict. I don't see how a jury of sensible men could rule otherwise," said Miss Starr. "My acquittal is a vindication of the right of free speech. It is absurd to contend that a citizen has not a right to protest against what he believes to be a wrongful arrest by police."

Miss Starr was accompanied to court by many persons prominent in social and philanthropic work who congratulated her after the verdict was read.

MME. CAILLAUX SOBS IN COURT

Tells Her Version of the Shooting of Gaston Calmette.

Former Premier's Wife Is Lionized By Friends in Paris.

Paris, March 21.—Mme. Caillaux, gowned in black, sobbingly gave her version of the killing of Gaston Calmette before Henri Boucard, the investigating magistrate, today. The courtroom was protected from any disturbance by a heavy guard.

Mme. Caillaux began with a brief history of her married life. Then she remarked: "I always took great interest in the public life of my husband, sharing the pleasures and the cares of politics."

The prisoner's recital was suspended temporarily when she burst into a fit of sobbing.

"Abominable Campaign."

On resuming her testimony, she said, speaking slowly:

"For two years an abominable campaign was directed against my husband, who was attacked on every occasion, notably on the charge that he had secretly ceded a portion of the French Congo to Germany and in connection with the Agadir incident in Morocco. I was deeply grieved by these calumnies, which became particularly venomous at the time of the formation of the Doumergue cabinet. The feeling of hostility I noticed especially at receptions. My indignation was aroused because I had implicit faith in my husband's probity."

Showered With Attention.

Mme. Caillaux was showered with attention today. Her friends and acquaintances, having partly recovered from the shock caused by her act, are now showing their interest in her fate and hundreds of them have written to her or left cards at Saint Lazare prison, where she is in custody. She receives a huge bag of letters in every mail, as well as great bouquets of flowers, baskets of fruits and packages of books.

Mme. Caillaux passed the greater part of the forenoon in answering her correspondence, reading the newspapers and conversing with her husband and her little daughter.

The sharp watchfulness of the prison wardens and the attendant nuns, which has been called forth by rumors of the prisoner's intention to commit suicide, has now been relaxed. Mme. Caillaux gives no indication of being morbid or depressed.

She now has three cells, one of them serving as a bedroom, another as a dining room and a third as a work room. All open into the same corridor, which is inclosed by a finely meshed wire netting.

WOULD USE INDIAN FUNDS FOR ROADS

Miller Introduces Bill That Would Help the Red Men.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 21.—Representative Miller today introduced a bill under which payments may be made from Indian funds towards the construction of state highways in Minnesota under the Elwell law.

The bill provides that when the 25 per cent assessment against Indian land has been made by state authorities, these assessments shall be reviewed by the secretary of the interior, and if approved, that official is to pay the assessments from any funds to the credit of the Indian owner in the treasury of the United States.

The purpose of the bill is to enable the state to construct that part of the Duluth-Moorhead highway that runs through Indian lands, and the proposed Duluth-St. Vincent road, which also will run through several reservations in Northern Minnesota.

Mr. Miller says that if the bill becomes a law it will result in great benefit to the Indians, who need roads for the development of their allotments.

NEW HAVEN'S FUTURE NEARLY AGREED ON

Plan Will Soon Be Submitted to the Attorney General.

Washington, March 21.—Plans for the New Haven dissolution had reached the stage today where attorneys for the department of justice and the railroad expected to lay the details of the road's dissolution before Attorney General McReynolds. Only a few points, considered of minor importance, remained to be agreed upon when the lawyers met in conference. It was their hope to be able to lay the whole plan before Mr. McReynolds today, and it was said that an announcement might be looked for.

WANT FEDERAL LAW ON PRICE CUTTING

Oil Jobbers Discuss Proposal at Kansas City Meeting.

Kansas City, Mo., March 21.—Discussion of a proposed national anti-discrimination law was indulged in at the convention of the Western Wholesale Oil Jobbers' association here today. The subject was introduced in an address by S. D. Hastings of Green Bay, Wis., who recently was in Washington, where the matter was placed in the hands of the judiciary committee of the house of representatives.

Members of the association, which is said to be made up of independent oil dealers, asserted the largest oil corporation can at present cut rates to a ruinous level in one state and make up the loss in another, while the various state anti-discrimination laws are avoided by selling agreements. A rational law, they said, would prevent this.

The convention will close tonight with a dinner to the delegates.

TWO BELFAST COMPANIES IN OPEN MUTINY

English Government Finds Serious Crisis in the Service.

All Ulster Towns Are Occupied By British Regulars.

Sir Edward Carson Tells His Followers to Keep Cool.

London, March 21.—The outstanding feature of the news from Ireland today was the disaffection among the officers of the regular army under orders to proceed to Ulster with their regiments.

The actual number of resignations among them still was problematical, but that it was considerable was evident from the earnest consultations of cabinet ministers regarding the best means of counteracting the movement.

The actual fact of this disaffection is the more discomforting to the military authorities since the army is already seriously short of commissioned officers.

Mutiny Is Reported.

A mutiny of two companies of the Dorsetshire regiment stationed in Belfast is reported by the Pall Mall Gazette. The message says:

"When the men of the First battalion of the Dorsetshire regiment were paraded in Belfast today and notified that they were being transferred elsewhere, they threw down their arms. A sergeant stepped forward, saluted the officers and said: 'We will have no home rule here.'"

This is thought in some quarters to be an exaggerated version of the reports of unrest among the regular troops in Ulster.

An official communication issued this afternoon says:

"The recent movements of troops in Ulster are purely precautionary, with the object of giving adequate protection to depots of arms and ammunition and other government property against possible risks.

"There has not been, and is not now, any intention to move troops into Ulster except for these and like purposes."

Had Been Threatened.

Threats of a crisis in the army if a movement of regular troops was undertaken against Ulster had long been current, and in some quarters it is believed that the sudden marching of a limited number of troops was ordered that the military authorities might Department Store, Garage and Twenty-Four Autos Burn in Toledo.

Toledo, Ohio, March 21.—Samuel Riggs, a porter, was killed and $50,000 worth of furniture owned by a department store, together with twenty-four automobiles, the property of patrons of a garage, were destroyed in a fire which originated among gasoline tanks in the garage shortly after 9 o'clock this morning.

The building in which the garage and furniture warehouse were located is situated in the heart of Toledo's retail district. The fire started when tanks in the garage were being filled with gasoline by the light of a torch held by an employe.

COAL WAGE TERMS STILL SEEM REMOTE

Miners' and Operators' Representatives Again in Session.

Chicago, March 21.—A settlement of differences and adoption of a new wage scale for the 400,000 soft coal miners of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, seemed to be no nearer a solution when the joint conference between representatives of the United Mine Workers of America and the operators was resumed today.

For a time yesterday it was believed that an agreement would be reached, but after an executive session it was announced no settlement had been made. However, both the miners and the operators were confident today that an agreement would be reached and would be put into operation by April 1, the time when the present agreement expired.

SALOON LIST IS SHRINKING

While the Population of Duluth Is Steadily Growing.

Census Will Show Number of Saloons Within Legal Limit.

For the first time in years Duluth's saloon list will be below the limit allowed by law, when the next state census is taken in 1915.

As a saloon is allowed for every 500 people, Duluth would be entitled to 180 saloons, estimating the total population of the city at the present time as 90,000, but the number must be based on the last census of 78,000, or 156 saloons.

The latest saloon list shows a total of 174 saloons. While this is more than the limit, the law does not call for the cancellation of licenses but merely a refusal to issue new ones above the limit.

Commissioner Hicken since last summer has revoked the licenses of seven saloon keepers. Even now there are about four saloons on the danger line and they may be dropped with the other seven before many moons. It is expected that the saloon list will not total more than 165 by next summer.

In 1890 Duluth had a population of 40,000 people and at that time there were seventy-eight saloons, or less than one for every 500 people. Four years later there were 103 saloon licenses in the city.

Four years ago the United States census gave Duluth a population of 78,000 souls. That year saw $183,000 paid into the city's treasury from saloon licenses. It meant a total of 183 saloons for Duluth, which was then permitted to have but 156 saloons, on the basis of one saloon for every 500 people.

From 1910 to 1912 there was but one gain in the number of saloons. Last year the estimated population was 86,000, while the saloons had been reduced in number to 181.

And now Duluth has reduced its saloons to 174, and while its population is constantly climbing the saloon list is constantly being shortened. The next census will undoubtedly show more than 90,000 people in Duluth and possibly not more than 165 saloons.

F. E. VOGEL FAILS TO FACE COMMISSIONER

Siegel Appears, But Declines to Answer Many Questions.

New York, March 21.—Frank E. Vogel, partner of Henry Siegel in the bankrupt firm of Henry Siegel & Co., bankers, failed to appear at the hearing yesterday before United States Commissioner Alexander Gilchrist, Jr., of the affairs of the defunct bank. His counsel announced that Vogel was ill, but professed ignorance of his whereabouts. Mr. Gilchrist served notice that Vogel would be held in contempt of court should he fail to appear next Monday or submit legal proof that he was unable to do so.

Siegel refused to answer many questions concerning his assets. Asked what he did with a $150,000 personal loan from the bank, he said that a reply might incriminate him. He gave a similar answer to the question whether he still had in his possession some of this money, but when pressed by the commissioner, he denied that he had any of it now. He refused to say what he did with it.

Transferred Real Estate.

Siegel admitted that he carried life insurance to the amount of $85,000, most of it naming his daughter as beneficiary. Real estate valued at about $345,000 he had transferred to a member of one of his mercantile companies last August, to cover the lease of one of the store buildings used by the firm. Siegel denied that his company owned property in Europe and had deposits in France.

A committee of depositors of the defunct bank attended the hearing, but the angry crowd which disturbed the previous session was absent.

Siegel's examination will be continued next Wednesday.

TWO ARE GUILTY OF AIDING KRAFCHENKO.

Winnipeg, March 21.—The jury in the case of Percy Hagel, a prominent Winnipeg lawyer, and John Westlake, a law student, charged with conspiring to free John Krafchenko, the bandit, from the Winnipeg police station returned a verdict of guilty.

Another accomplice, ex-Constable Reid, recently confessed and was given a seven-year prison sentence.

Krafchenko now is on trial at Morden, charged with the robbery of the Bank of Montreal branch at Plum Coulee and with the murder of its manager.

END RIVER AND HARBOR DEBATE.

Washington, March 21.—Debate on the rivers and harbors appropriation bill was concluded in the house yesterday. Detailed consideration of the bill was begun and several proposed amendments were voted down. It is probable that the bill will not be disposed of until the middle of next week.

ANOTHER ATTACK ON JUDGE WRIGHT.

Washington, March 21.—An attempt by Representative Park of Georgia to propose the impeachment of Justice Daniel Thew Wright of the district supreme court was blocked in the house late yesterday by Republican Leader Mann. Mr. Park had read the first line or two of his impeachment resolution when Representative Mann interrupted with a point of no quorum, and the house adjourned with the Georgia member asserting that he would get the matter before the house later.

The Park resolution is said to be based on charges of official misconduct recently filed with the house judiciary committee by Wade H. Cooper, a Washington banker.

The new tariffs were filed in accordance with the commission's recent decision in the industrial railways case.

BRITISH ARMY OFFICERS QUIT

gather an idea as to how widespread the threatened disaffection was.

Immediately after Col. Seely, the secretary of state for war, had been in audience with King George at Buckingham palace this morning, Col. Seely summoned a meeting of the army council, which took the necessary steps to replace officers who had resigned.

According to reports, however, the number of vacancies is rapidly increasing, and it seems possible that all the regular regiments which have been serving in Ulster may have to be withdrawn and replaced by fresh troops, as both men and officers have openly expressed their disinclination to take the offensive against men with whom they have been fraternizing.

Chance for Peacemakers.

This momentary shifting of the immediate crisis from Ulster to the army may give the peacemakers their desired opening.

The return of Arthur J. Balfour, former Unionist premier, to London has given heart to the advocates of a compromise. He and Premier Asquith have served long years side by side in the political field and understand and appreciate one another.

The utmost activity prevails at the war office and in the other departments of the government affected by the apparently grave situation in Ulster. All the secretaries of state today canceled their usual week-end trips to the country.

Col. John Seely, secretary of state for war, and Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, conferred at the war office this morning. After the conference a statement was issued that the resignations of army officers serving in Ireland will be dealt with in due and normal course by Gen. Sir Arthur Paget, the commander-in-chief in Ireland.

"In the meantime, the officers concerned," according to the statement, "are performing their duties, which duties naturally include obedience to orders."

Rumors were in circulation today that many other officers of the army serving in the south of Ireland will resign their commissions if ordered to Ulster.

Meanwhile Gen. Sir Arthur Paget leaves, to dispose his troops who have orders to safeguard government property and to maintain law and order.

Ignore Gun License Act.

In order to prevent an outburst, the police in Ireland have been told not to take any steps to enforce the gun license act in cases where members of the "Ulster Volunteers" are seen carrying rifles in camp or elsewhere. The act empowers the authorities to seize all unlicensed firearms.

The greatest danger is believed to lie in the possibility of Orange and Nationalist workmen coming to blows. This might start a general conflict.

King George is keeping in close touch with the situation. He summoned the secretary of state for war to Buckingham palace early this morning, and also sent one of his private secretaries to the premier's residence in Downing street to secure the latest information.

Regulars in Every Town.

Belfast, Ireland, March 21.—Ulster this morning presented a very martial aspect. All the towns were occupied by soldiers of the regular army, and other detachments were marching along the country roads with long trains of baggage and ammunition carts, on their way to strengthen the various garisons. In the meanwhile at all the Unionist centers there was great animation among the "Ulster Volunteers."

Throughout the province a feeling of intense excitement prevailed, and everybody seemed waiting in anxious expectation for something to occur—they knew not what.

Belfast Lough also displayed considerable activity. Two torpedo boat destroyers, the Pathfinder and the Attentive, arrived there this morning from Kingstown and landed five officers and 150 men of the Yorkshire regiment at Carrickfergus castle.

Within twenty-four hours over 3,000 regular troops, including four battalions of infantry with machine guns and two bateries of field artillery, all equipped for active service, have arrived in the various towns of Ulster.

Only Advance Guard.

These troops form the advance guard of a large armed force which the military authorities are sending to the northern province of Ireland to prevent the assumption of local government by anti-home rulers. Still more troops are on their way to the north from the local military camp at Carragh and other army stations today.

The first arrivals in Ulster this morning were the companies of half a battalion of the Yorkshire light infantry, which were conveyed from their barracks in Dublin to Belfast lough on board the torpedo boat destroyer Pathfinder during the night. They disembarked early today and mached to Carrickfergus castle, a disused military station commanding the lough. It lies fifteen miles below Belfast and is of historic interest owing to its having been the landing place of William III. Field guns were mounted on the old fortifications there this afternoon.

Orders were issued to other batteries of artillery to locate at strategic positions around the city of Belfast.

Expect Cavalry Brigade.

It was generally expected here that a cavalry brigade would be concentrated in Belfast during the week-end. The Sixteenth Queen's lancers and the Fourth Queen's Own hussars, stationed at the Curragh, were yesterday equipped with carbines in preparation to move northward this afternoon.

These sudden preparations by the war office so far have not created any public demonstration in Belfast. The leaders of the so-called Unionist provisional government, however, admit their anxiety lest their over-enthusiastic followers precipitate riots during the two days of idleness at the week-end, and give their opponents the sought-for opportunity for enforcing rigorous repressive measures.

Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, and his lieutenants desire the government to take the first provocative step.

Men Urged to Keep Cool.

Sir Edward, realizing the vitalness of preventing an undisciplined outbreak as a protest against all these troop movements, today again urged the Ulster men to keep cool during the week-end.

The city this morning presented its normal outward aspect. All the places of business were open, and in accordance with the urgent request of the Unionist leaders, all the men worked until their usual Saturday closing time.

Sir Edward Carson did not emerge today from Craigavon, the residence of Capt. Craig, three miles from Belfast. There he continues to hold his "cabinet councils" with Capt. Craig, the marquis of Londonderry, the earl of Ranfurly, the earl of Clanwilliam and other Unionist workers.

Orders for provisions to be sent to Craigavon are given by telephone or sent by dispatch riders. Martial law has been declared within Capt. Craig's estate. The East Belfast "Special Service corps," which corresponds to the early American minute men, relieved the West Belfast Special Service corps this morning and took up its duties in Capt. Craig's grounds.

Unionist Documents Hidden.

The old town hall of Belfast, which is the official headquarters of the "provisional government" has been denied to all. The important equipment, as well as all documents, ciphers and other papers, have been removed from it and hidden in a variety of places, after being distributed among the most important leaders of the Unionists. This was done in consequence of the announcement of impending arrests, which the Unionists contend brought about the present crisis.

Every "volunteer" in Ulster stands ready for mobilization.

The provisional government's "posting house," by which letters and dispatches are delivered by hand to the furthermost points of Ulster quicker than by the government post, was busy all night sending and receiving communications to and from the various mobilization centers of the Unionists. A wireless station on the roof of the old town hall also was at work, while some of the rooms of the building, which have been fitted with telegraphic instruments for the instruction of the woman telegraphers who are to take over the lines of communication, were filled with workers.

Big First Aid Supplies.

The drug stores of Belfast have laid in large supplies of surgical and medical equipment.

The feeling of unrest among certain sections of the government troops is very strong. Some of the soldiers and the officers of the infantry battalions quartered in Ulster, including the Lancashire regiment and the Norfolk regiment, openly have expressed their disinclination to take the offensive. This does not cause any surprise among civilians, who generally expect wholesale defections. A significant illustration of the attitude was given yesterday by the inhabitants of Enniskillen, who hung flags along the streets in honor of the arrival of a battalion of the Bedfordshire regiment.

Officers Refused to Serve.

Dublin, March 21.—The immediate dispatch of regular calvary from the Curragh camp to Ulster had to be canceled today owing to resignations of officers of the Sixteenth Lancers and Fourth Hussars.

Field Marshal Sir John French, chief of the imperial general staff, arrived here today in connection with the resignations of officers from the regular army, owing to their refusal to march against the Unionists in Ulster.

Nearly all the officers of the Fourth Queen's Own Hussars, stationed at the Curragh camp, are said to have handed in their commission and their places have been filled.

It was reported here today that Brig.-Gen. Hubert de la Poer Gough, the commander of the Third cavalry brigade at the Curragh, composed of the Sixteenth Lancers and the Fourth Hussars, has resigned.

Large bodies of armed police left today for various stations in the north of Ireland. Scores of special magistrates for service in Ulster were sworn in at the castle this morning.

Artillery Is Ready.

Athlone, Ireland, March 21.—All the regular artillery stationed in Central and Southern Ireland has been instructed to hold itself in readiness to proceed to Ulster at a moment's notice. All leave has been canceled and officers and men on furlough have been recalled. It is reported that the infantry reservists have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to join their regiments.

Decide Within Twelve Hours.

Enniskillen, Ireland, March 21.—All the army officers here received a communication from the war office today calling on them to make a definite statement within twelve hours as to whether they were prepared to retain their commissions in the event of hostilities in Ulster. If not, they were told they must resign forthwith.

Similar notices are said to have been received by all officers with the troops in the north of Ireland.

TORREON WILL BE MINE WITHIN A WEEK, SAYS VILLA

will begin, was rife today among the soldiers and the civilians who had followed the rebel leader south from Chihushua, but Villa himself, still unready, answered all inquiries with the vaunt that "Torreon will be mine in a week." He is giving great attention to every detail of camp and armament, with a desire to know that nothing save the Federals themselves can check his victorious march to the national capitol.

Long Message From Lind.

Washington, March 21.—It is reported that a long cipher cablegram from John Lind has been received at the state department, but nothing was made public concerning the contents of the message.

Secretary Bryan announced today that there had been a conference at Vera Cruz between John Lind and Senor Portillo Y. Rojas, minister of foreign affairs of Mexico. As to its naturg, however, Secretary Bryan said no word had reached him. Significance was attached here to the conference, as reopening negotiations discontinued some time ago.

The further fact that Charge O'Shaughnessy and Charge Hohler, the latter of the British legation, also had gone to Vera Cruz, gave added hope in diplomatic circles that some developments might be expected.

Secretary Bryan said he knew nothing of the reports from Mexico City that Mr. O'Shaughnessy might resign because of ill health.

Arms for Embassy.

Mexico City, March 21.—Provisional President Huerta has agreed to permit the American embassy to receive arms and ammunition consigned to it by the United States government for the protection of American citizens in the event of disturbances in the Federal capital. The arms and ammunition have not yet been removed from the custome house. Little by little, as the manner in which Gen. Huerto purposes to permit their delivery to the embassy.

The receipt by the American embassy of the consignment of guns and ammunition, which includes 250 rifles and two machine guns, comes after a sharp controversy between Gen. Huerta's government and the embassy.

Notwithstanding the fact that a number of other foreign powers have been able to introduce arms, the Mexican government raised constitutional objection against the Americans following their example.

Angeles' Pupils Executed.

Brownsville, Tex., March 21.—Nineteen officers were recently executed in Santiago, Tlatoloioo prison, by the order of President Huerta, according to private advices received in Matamoros.

The reason for the executions is said to have been the fact that the officers were pupils of Gen. Felipe Angeles, one time professor in the Mexican military academy, and now in charge of Gen. Villa's rebel artillery.

Federal Soldiers Desert.

Laredo, Tex., March 21.—One hundred Mexican Federals left as a guard at San Ignacio when Gen. Guardiola moved the main body of his troops to the south several days ago, have abandoned the town and crossed to the United States in search of work, according to ten of the men who came to Laredo. Arms and ammunition were thrown into the Rio Grande before the town was deserted. Others of the troops are expected here.

Many Near Starvation.

Douglas, Ariz., March 21.—Arrivals here from Sonora say that many persons in that part of Mexico are on the verge of starvation, as it requires many Constitutionalist currency pesos to purchase even the simplest foods. Many families in the Cumpasos district are so reduced that they have only beans to eat, and few of them.

"THE COMING RELIGION"

Will Shift Emphasis From Theology to Sociology, Says Rabbi.

Chief Concern Will Be the Enoblement of Life.

Because men are different intellectually, there will never be a single universal religion, said Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits, pastor of Temple Emanuel, in his sermon at the regular services last evening on "The Coming Religion."

He said in part:

"The coming religion will not be a universal religion. Men are different intellectually, and will always differ in their apprehension of truth. Men will always differ in their tastes and feelings; therefore, the modes of expressing their religious needs and sentiments will differ and, consequently, will create different forms, ceremonies and rituals,—which are the language of religion. A final form of religion there will never be.

"The coming religion will not be a new religion, nor a new creed, nor a new church. The coming religion will be a spirit that will infuse new life into the dry bones of the existing religious creeds and churches; a spirit that will make them subserve the life beyond by serving the highest good of the life here; a spirit that will make men worship God by helping His children, our fellowmen, our brothers.

Theology to Sociology.

"The coming religion will shift the emphasis from theology to sociology. It will supplant fruitless discussions about the great unknown God and the hereafter by blessed activities centering about known conditions, now and here. Its chief concern will be the development of character, the ennobiement of life; the equitable adjustment of human relationships, the conquest of disease, poverty and vice. It will have us prepare for the life hereafter by making this life more heavenly.

"The coming religion will not only cease persecuting error or independence of thought, but it will honor all truth-seekers and gladly welcome all truth, whether shining from the annals of ancient revelations or discovered by the seers of our own times. It will see so much sacredness in the truths of science as in the truths of phophecy. It will effect a close synthesis between reason and faith. It will show mankind that between the God of Law revealed by science in the matchless order of the universe and in the marvelous unfoldment of the human soul on the one hand, and the God of Love revealed by religion in the intuitions of the human soul, on the other, there is not the least antagonism; that they are but two concepts of the self-same Supreme Being, and are to be recognized as blending in one and the same divine source.

"The coming religion will kindle into one flame the earthly and the heavenly. This blending of the two worlds, the union of rationalism and mysticism will be its outstanding feature. It will restore worship to an age that is dumb and prayerless, because the people doubt and even priests but stammer at prayer. Through such worship men will rise to the highest ranges of moral culture. Out of such worship there will come unto them unfailing inspiration for life, for duty, for principle, for service, for sacrifice.

"The coming religion will proclaim it as the height of grotesque vanity for any creed to claim that it has said the last word in religion, and, furthermore, that it belies the very spirit of religion for any denomination to seek to force its view on those who fail to conform. The Jew, it will say, must be loyal to his heritage, the Christian to the ideals of his faith, and all religions must give of their best strength to combat the common foes of irreverence, irreligion and vice.

"The coming religion will not be an amalgamation, but a federation of the faith. It will substitute for the enmity the comity of creeds. It will demand and conserve for every denomination the highest freedom, and thus secure the best for each for the highest good of all. Each of the faiths will shine forth in the distinctiveness of its highest individuality, without rivalry, not to blur or destroy the others, but blending with all in the harmony of perfect co-operation to contribute of their very best to the service of mankind in the conquest of evil and for the triumph of right. This blending of the truest and noblest of all individual religions for the common good of all humanity will constitute the coming religion. A better religion than this has never existed, does not exist today, and never will exist."

INTERESTING PEOPLE WHO ARE DOING INTERESTING WORK HERE

A. B. HOSTETTER.

A. B. Hostetter was the first county agricultural agent in the United States.

Mr. Hostetter began preaching the gospel of scientific farming in Duluth six years ago under the auspices of the Duluth Commercial club. He was one of pioneers in agriculture, for at the time many people believed St. Louis county could produce nothing but iron ore and rock with a little timber and hardy vegetables.

Mr. Hostetter left the fold of the Commercial club, becoming the county agricultural supervisor. Since then he has preached the great doctrine of scientific agriculture with the aim of getting every farmer in his district to produce $2 worth of crop where he is now raising but one.

He says this can be done by the use of good seed, proper cultivation, stock raising and proper marketing of produce.

These first principles he is drilling into the farmers' heads through short courses in agriculture, agricultural specials, personal visits to the farms and the organization of farmers' clubs.

The great idea of county agent work is one of his hobbies, and the wonderful growth of the idea is flattering to him as one of its first advocates and its first representative. There are now twenty-four county agents in Minnesota, two supervisors and a state leader. Nearly every important agricultural state has a county agent, and the idea is now a part of the program of the department of agriculture of the United States government.

Mr. Hostetter is now supervisor over four county agents—those of St. Louis, Carlton, Crow Wing and Koochiching counties.

FORMER DULUTH BOY IS NOW SUCCESSFUL AVIATOR ON COAST

WEBSTER AND HIS AEROPLANE.

DULUTH AVIATOR MAKING FLIGHT.

Harry Webster of Duluth, who left here in January to enter the Curtis school of instruction for aviators, has passed all his test flights. In a recent flight near San Diego, Cal., he broke the altitude test record for the aviation school, making a flight of 1,400 feet and shut off the motor at 1,000 feet. He is planning to make flights under his own direction soon, and will make the flying game his profession.

The young aviator has two brothers in Duluth, Fred and Victor. In a letter to them he speaks very interestingly of his aviation tests:

"I have passed all tests in flying, for my license," he says, "and broke the school record for altitude tests. The test calls for two sets of five figure flights, landing within a 160-foot circle, shutting off motor before landing; also an altitude test of 364 feet and shutting off motor at that height. The altitude is recorded on a barograph, which I carried in my pocket.

"I made eight figure "8s" and a large circle at 900 feet, cut off switch at 250 feet and landed well. On my altitude test I made one large circle and climbed to 1,400 feet and shut off the motor at 1,000 feet, making a steep glide and a good landing. The last record was 1,100 feet and a cut switch at 600 feet. I climbed the 1,400-foot flight in four minutes, which is a record for this machine.

"I can handle the flying boat very well now and made a flight today of about twelve miles and succeeding in making good landings."

chorus will be composed of fifty voices. In addition to the minstrels there will be selections by the Mandolin club under the direction of Rollin Hawkes, selections by the mouth organ orchestra, moving pictures, and a play entitled "Fooling Father," a one-act comedy given by Rollin Hawkes, Harold Smithies and Edward Scriven. Richard Cullum will coach the players. The proceeds of the entertainment will be used for the building of a kitchen at Camp Miller, the boys' department summer camp at Sturgeon lake.

SUES FORMER CLIENT FOR SETTLEMENT.

For legal services performed in aiding Otto Erickson to obtain a land and timber grant from the government said to be worth $19,930, W. H. Smallwood, an attorney, started suit in district court yesterday afternoon for $9,965.

Attorney Smallwood claims that he appeared at the land office in behalf of Erickson and did other work under a contract entered into between them on March 25, 1907, and that as a result of his endeavors, the patents for the land were finally obtained.

The plaintiff alleges that his client agreed to pay him on a percentage basis. The land is located in section 21, 56-16.

SHANK CANDIDATE IN THE SIXTH

Biwabik Man Wishes Election to Board of County Commissioners.

N. B. Shank of Biwabik, one of the best known business men of the range, announced himself today as a candidate for the office of county commissioner from the Sixth district.

Mr. Shank's announcement will be received with a good deal of interest by many in the county as a whole, for he is considered to be one of the best fitted men in St. Louis county for the office which he seeks. He has been in the lumbering business practically all of his life and has had much practical experience in road building. With him this part of the duty of a county commissioner would be no theory, and his ideas would be worth while. In short, his friends regard Mr. Shank as the ideal man for the place and on that basis are asking the support of the voters in the Sixth.

Chairman Neil McInnis, the present commissioner from the Sixth, has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election, but several others have filed for the office.

WILL CONDEMN LAND FOR FARM

County and City After Twenty Additional Acres for Correctional Farm.

In accordance with a resolution passed Feb. 6 by the county board, Charles E. Adams, special county counsel, in district court yesterday started condemnation proceedings to acquire a 20-acre tract adjoining the present work farm site. The tract sought to be acquired is described as the north half of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 2, 50-15. The suit is brought in the name of the county and city against Mary and John Jankowski and others who own an interest in the land.

Efforts to purchase the land without resorting to condemnation proceedings were without avail. The land will be added to the present work farm site and will make an even 1,000 acres dedicated by the county and city to the new correctional institution.

MORE MEN KILLED IN COAL MINES IN 1913

Washington, March 21.—The year 1913 was more fatal for coal miners in the United States than the preceding twelve months. A report issued today by the bureau of mines showed an increase of fatalities of 425 over 1912, and twelve deaths for every working day in the year. In the army of 728,355 underground workers, 2,785 perished, a fatality rate of 3.82 in every 1,000 men employed, as compared with 3.27 in 1912.

Six thousand more men were employed in 1913, and the increase in production was between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000 tons.

Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the bureau, in commenting on the record for the year, said:

"An examination of the statistics develops the disappointing fact that in our coal mining operations during 1913, there were killed 425 more men than during 1912. This is an increase of 18 per cent in fatal accidents, with an increase of only about 8 per cent in coal production.

Progress in Eight Years.

"We can find little comfort in the suggestion that this increase may in part be accounted for by the occurrence during 1913 of four large mine explosions. The statistics show an increase in fatalities during 1913 from all the underground causes except mine fires and surface accidents.

"Some progress has been made, however, in the safety movement as shown by the statistics for the last eight years. In the four years ending Dec. 31, 1909, the average death rate was 3.97 for each 1,000 men employed. In the last four years the rate was 3.68.

The states in which the greatest number of deaths occurred were: Pennsylvania, 1,227; West Virginia, 337; New Mexico, 272; Ohio, 165; Illinois, 164; Alabama, 124 and Colorado, 108.

CLOQUET CLASS PLAY.

"The Modern Shrew" Is Presented By the 1914 Class.

Cloquet, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The seniors of the Cloquet high school presented their class play "The Modern Shrew" last evening at Workmen's hall. The play will be repeated this evening. The play was given under supervision of Miss Rachel Harris who has charge of the English department.

The boys taking part are: Robert Campbell, Arvid Boquist, Clarence Vallie, Torva Johnson, Andy Benson; the girls, Frances Underhill, Lydia Hoyt, Annie Norman, Nilla Brissett, Templi Nygaard. Music was furnished during the evening by the Cloquet orchestra, composed of high school pupils and townspeople. John Moody is leader and director. Miss Annie Norman sang a solo.

IMPORT VALUES ARE LESS UNDER NEW LAW

Figures for First Five Months Are Made Public.

Washington, March 21.—Imports into the United States in the five months since the new tariff became effective were less than in the corresponding months one year ago, according to preliminary foreign trade figures announced today by the department of commerce. In the five months beginning with last October goods valued at $769,891,343 were imported, compared with $798,155,684 in the same period one year ago.

A slight increase in imports and a decrease of 10 per cent in exports is shown in last February's preliminary figures, compared with that month in 1913. The total foreign trade for the month amounted to $323,745,479, with a balance in favor of the United States of $23,871,457. The trade balance for the year ending with February amounted to $656,568,908 or $90,887,207 more than in the twelve months ending with February, 1913.

HAS ORDERED ARREST OF "MOTHER" JONES

Gen. Chase Will Oppose Her Return to Strike Zone.

Denver, Colo., March 21.—Adjt. Gen. John Chase, who arrived today from the coal strike district, said that he had given orders to arrest "Mother" Mary Jones on sight if she returns to Trinidad. "Mother" Jones still was at her hotel in Denver. She said that the time for her departure for the strike zone had not yet been fixed.

"Mother" Jones, who is 82 years old, was released in Denver last Monday after having been held as a military prisoner at Trinidad more than two months.

IMPORTED EGGS SHAKING MARKET

Shipments From China and Other Countries Come at Low Prices.

The importation of eggs from China, Austria, Australia and Siberia to both the Western and Eastern markets of the United States is causing the produce market to wobble all over the country, according to Bert M. Ruse, traffic manager for the Bridgeman-Russell company today. Breaking down the tariff wall has invited importations and they are on the increase. Quotations in Duluth are expected to be lower later in the season as a result of this influx.

"Quotations on Chinese eggs are from 2 to 3 cents lower than on domestic eggs," said Mr. Ruse. "But the quality and size of the eggs cannot compare with those of American production. The Chinese raise scavenger poultry and the eggs are very small and have thick shells. A crate of Chinese eggs containing thirty dozens of eggs weighs about seven or eight pounds less than a case of American eggs.

"Most of the Chinese eggs are on the Pacific coast, and none has reached Duluth yet. There is a strong prejudice against anything from the Orient on the West coast, and sales are not very brisk. However, the bakeries, restaurants, hotels, etc., are buying them.

"In New York, Chicago and other Eastern markets eggs are coming from Europe. The effect of these imports is only beginning to be felt."

NO EVIDENCE OF $5,000 LOBBY FUND.

Chicago, March 21.—"There is no evidence here of any $5,000 fund," said Chairman Overman, chairman of the senate lobby committee, at the conclusion of the committee's investigation of reports that such a sum was being used in Washington by representatives of prison labor contractors to defeat the pending Hughes bill to restrict marketing of convict-made goods. The chairman's remark, which apparently closed this latest phase of the committee's inquiry, was addressed to Edward Boyle, a Chicago attorney, and formerly treasurer of the national conference of charities and corrections, who has opposed so-called anti-convict labor legislation for years as legal representative of a group of manufacturers having prison labor contracts.

Mr. Boyle told the committee that he had been done an injustice by the intimations as to lobbying, and asked that a full investigation be made. Senator Overman said he was willing to call any witnesses Boyle might suggest, but that the matter seemed closed.

GOETHALS GOES BACK TO PANAMA.

New York, March 21.—Col. George W. Goethals sailed for the Panama canal zone yesterday after a month spent in the United States. The steamship Colon was held until 4:30 p. m., an hour and a half beyond her customary sailing time, to accommodate the colonel, and then he dashed up to the pier in a taxicab and hurried up the gangplank so fast that none of the reporters, who were waiting for a final interview, was able to get a word with him. Mrs. Goethals, who accompanied her husband on the trip from the canal zone, returned with him.

During his stay here efforts were made to induce him to comment on the possibilities of his becoming police commissioner of New York city, but he sailed, leaving the public still in the dark as to his intentions regarding this proposition.

BOWMAN QUITS IOWA UNIVERSITY.

Iowa City, Iowa, March 21.—John G. Bowman resigned last night as president of the state university after three years' service. He gave as his reason that the state board of education had discharged a professor without a hearing, and without consulting the head of the university. President Bowman charged that this was in violation of his contractual agreement with the board.

RUSSELL GOES TO D. & R. G. RAILROAD.

Portland, Or., March 21.—Word has been received here that J. Russell, general superintendent of the Great Northern lines west of Troy, Mont., with headquarters at Seattle, had been appointed general manager of the Denver & Rio Grande, with headquarters at Denver. Russell was for years head of the operating department of the Hill lines in Oregon, and became general superintendent of the Great Northern on Jan. 1 last. His appointment is effective April 1.

TWO ACCUSED OF DEFRAUDING ROADS.

Chicago, March 21.—John Freeman and George W. Thalberg, wanted in St. Paul, Minn., to face charges of attempting to defraud several railroads in connection with the Minnesota railroad rate case, were arrested by Federal authorities here yesterday.

While the Minnesota 2-cent fare law was being considered by the supreme court, rates were raised to 3 cents a mile. After the law was upheld many persons put in refund claims for the excess fare they had paid. It is charged that Freeman, who was an employe of the Great Northern, conspired with Thalberg to put in false claims for rebates.

The two were arraigned before a United States commissioner and their cases continued to March 25. In default of $3,000 bonds, they went to jail.

Editor to Oppose Gilbreath.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. E. Holbein of Lansford, secretary of the North Dakota Press association, has announced himself as a candidate for commissioner of agriculture and labor, and will oppose W. C. Gilbreath, the present official.

Mandan Re-elects Henke.

Mandan, N. D., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. L. Henke was elected president of the Mandan city commission, at the special recall election, held at the instance of T. G. C. Kennelly, by a majority of one over the combined vote of two opposing candidates. Henke polled 285; Kennelly, 205; and Royer, 79.

In the petition for the recall election, Kennelly charged that Henke was unfit for office.

Kennelly was originally defeated by Henke, by a margin of only one vote, the count then being 151 to 150.

There will be a banquet and speeches and a large class of candidates will be initiated.

HEARING IN SHOLUND CASE

Injunction Proceedings to Stop Interference By City Being Argued.

A hearing is being conducted in district court this afternoon on the application of Charles Sholund, saloon keeper, 101 East Michigan street, for a temporary injunction requiring the municipal authorities to refrain from interfering with the operation of his saloon pending a decision from the supreme court on the writ of certiorari returnable in the supreme court April 1.

An order directed against the city officials directing them to show cause why the temporary injunction should not be issued was returnable before Judge Cant in district court this morning, but the case was not reached until this afternoon.

The writ of certiorari was issued by the supreme court for the purpose of reviewing the actions of the city council in revoking the Sholund license. After the writ was issued, Sholund attempted to open his saloon, but was stopped. Both he and his bartender, Henry Johnson, were arrested and convicted of selling liquor without a license.

McCoy & Hanson, attorneys for Sholund and Johnson, attempted to establish the rights of Sholund to conduct the saloon by instituting habeas corpus proceedings after Johnson's commitment to the county jail. The court held that Johnson was legally detained and that the proper procedure would be to determine the rights of his client in an injunction suit. This suggestion was followed.

HAPPENINGS AT THE DULUTH BUSINESS UNIVERSITY

Located at 118-120 Fourth Avenue West, Christie Building.

A feature of the work at the college this year will be to train teachers to teach commercial branches in high schools and business colleges. There is a growing demand for such teachers. During the past year, four such teachers were sent into high schools, their salaries averaging $90 per month, which was almost 50 per cent more than they were drawing in the public schools.

Private instruction in English branches to middle-aged persons will also be made a feature of the work.

The following young people have left the college to accept the following positions: Ethel Lillig, stenographer for Attorney Tierre; Idena Walstad, stenographer for Kreiger-Jamar company; Erland Larsen, stenographer for Mason Lumber company, Palisade, Minn.; Celia Juusola, stenographer for Culbertson Bros.; Mary Monahan, stenographer for Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company; Florence Salter, stenographer for S. S. Williamson.

Paroled for Year.

Pleading guilty to a charge of petty larceny, Charles A. Boone, 36 years old, who was arrested by the Minneapolis police Wednesday evening for the local authorities, was fined $50 and costs or sixty days on the work farm, in municipal court yesterday afternoon. The court later suspended sentence and Boone was placed on parole for one year.

Boone was charged with having sold twelve fire extinguishers for a local hardware store and then kept the money from the sales. He was arrested in Minneapolis, where he is now working, and was yesterday morning brought to Duluth by Sergeant Roberg.

PETERSON WOULD BE A SENATOR

George M. Peterson, one of the best known traveling men in the Northwest, filed today for the senatorial nomination in the Fifty-ninth district. He lives at 510 Twenty-fifth avenue west, and is secretary of the Duluth Retail Grocers' association and the Duluth Retail Merchants' association.

Sheriff John R. Meining filed today also for renomination. He is the first candidate for the office to formally file. Sheriff Meining was a traveling man before he was sheriff, so it happens that two traveling men file for office at the same time.

PUT the old witch of dust and disease to flight, when you start your spring house-cleaning this year. The oldfashioned insanitary broom is inadequate—it does nothing but stir up the dirt and hidden bacteria of disease—endangering the health of every member of your family. If your home is electrically lighted, you really ought to modernize it still more, by installing a silent running highly efficient Electric Vacuum Cleaner.

An Electric Vacuum Cleaner Lighten's Household Labors

In scarcely any time and without any labor or annoyance, you can clean your entire home with an Electric Vacuum Cleaner. It draws out all the dirt, dust and germs from rugs, carpets, matting, draperies, upholstery, etc. No longer is house cleaning a terrible task to anticipate — a vacuum cleaner does away with the old-fashioned annual house cleaning entirely, because it keeps your home spick and span all the year round.

WILL ATTACK WASHINGTON

"Enemy" in War Game Will Try to Take Capital.

Another Maneuver Will Be Assault on San Francisco.

Washington, March 21.—Plans for joint maneuvers by the United States regular army and the national guard, to include attacks on Washington and San Francisco by invading armies, together with the establishment of numerous training camps throughout the country, are announced by the war department. Although the department has not determined on a date for the maneuvers, it was tentatively decided to begin them in the latter part of July.

Instructions went forth from the department today to the various adjutant generals of the state militia to begin preparations for the event. Special attention was called to the desire of the department that the encampments and maneuvers be conducted with a view to obtaining increased efficiency, and that consequently officers were expected to eliminate all spectacular exhibitions of troops.

For the Central states there will be joint camps at Bay City, Mich.; Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.; Springfield, Ill.; Camp Dodge, Iowa.; Sparta, Wis. Nevada, Mo.; Fort Riley, Kan., and Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo.

Attack on Washington.

The attack against Washington will be participated in by troops of the Seventh and Eighth divisions of the Eastern department, which will concentrate at Baltimore. The attacking forces, the department announced, will be known as the "Red" division. A similar number of troops, designated as the "Blue" division, will be concentrated in the vicinity of the national capital as the defense army.

The maneuvers of the regular army and militia of the Western department, it was announced, will include a maneuver campaign in the vicinity of San Francisco, to be participated in by the California troops, and various state camps, the detailed plans of which will be announced later. The feature will be an attack and defense of the city of San Francisco, to include the landing of a force on the beach by the attacking army and an advance against the city.

The war department has instructed the commanding general of the Western department "to make such disposition for the organization of the regular and militia troops available, as will make the problem most interesting."

BUSINESS GOOD IN THE DAKOTAS

Outlook for Bumper Crop Never Better, Says Merchant.

North Dakota is looking forward to one of the best seasons in its history according to Herman Shark, clothing merchant of Devils Lake, who is in Duluth for a few days visiting his brother, A. H. Shark.

"The farms of the Dakotas were never in such fine condition for a big crop as they are this spring," said Mr. Shark today. "The mild weather and lack of snow during the first half of the winter made farm work easy, and on that account the crops were all harvested and the fields plowed for spring seeding. Usually the corn ground is left over for spring plowing, which makes seeding late. Many of the fields will be plowed again this spring as the farmers have plenty of time to put extra work in tilling the soil. This will no doubt insure much better and bigger crops.

"The roads in Dakota are in fine condition, too, which will greatly increase the farmers' trade in the cities. Farmers can drive long distances and make good time with roads in the condition they are at present.

"The Dakota farmers are beginning to get into dairying and diversified farming just as they are in Minnesota. The farms are not so large as they were and are being handled better. Smaller farms and better cultivation mean more settlers and more business for the farm towns.

"Merchants in Dakota are buying well this spring and expect the best trade in years."

$5,000 REWARD FOR RETURN OF LOST BOY

Philadelphia Mayor Takes Up Case of Warren McCarrick.

Philadelphia, March 21.—Mayor Blankenburg has issued a proclamation, by authority of city councils, offering a reward of $5,000 for the recovery of Warren McCarrick, alive, and the arrest and conviction of his abductors.

The boy, according to the proclamation, was last seen about 4 p. m. on March 12, near his home in the southern section of this city. He is 8 years old, weighed about seventy-five pounds, medium build, sandy hair, and had a small scar on his cheek bone under the left eye. He was dressed then in a blue reefer overcoat, hip gum boots and a red knitted cap.

City hall detectives who have been working on the case for the last week believe that it is hardly possible that a boy seen in Elmira, N. Y., is the missing lad. Warren McCormick's hair had been cut short before he left home. The report from Elmira said a boy who answered Warren's description was in that city Wednesday in the company of a man and a woman. The child was taken to a barber shop for a haircuit. The barber later saw the boy's picture and is positive that he is the missing boy. The man and woman went west on the Lackawanna train Wednesday afternoon, buying tickets for Buffalo. Buffalo police have been notified.

CANCELLATION OF DEBT IS APPROVED.

St. Louis, Mo., March 21. — Federal Circuit Judge Sanborn has approved the agreement by which the receivers of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad cancel an indebtedness against the road of nearly $4,600,000 and relinquish ownership of two subsidiaries in Louisiana to the syndicate that promoted them.

MR. WOODROW WILSON TELLS HOW HE FEELS IN HIGH OFFICE

Unbosoms Himself to Members of National Press Club.

Says He Is Classed With Other "Things to See" at Capital.

Washington, March 21.—Woodrow Wilson has unbosomed himself to the members of the National Press club, telling them in a conversational way how he felt as president of the United States; how difficult it was for him to imagine himself as chief executive with the formal amenities of the position, and how he had struggled to be as free as the ordinary individual without the restraints of his office.

It was an intimate picture of Woodrow Wilson, the man, drawn by himself, on the occasion of the "house warming" yesterday at the Press club's new quarters. The president did not intend to have his remarks reported, but later, at the request of the club, the unusual speech was made public. It was as follows:

When He Reads of Himself.

"I was just thinking of my sense of confusion of identity sometimes when I read articles about myself. I have never read an article about myself in which I recognized myself, and I have come to have the impression that I must be some kind of a fraud, because I think a great many of these articles are written in good faith. I tremble to think of the variety and falseness of the impressions I make, and it is being borne in on me—so that it may change my very disposition—that I am a cold and removed person, who has a thinking machine inside which he adjusts to the circumstances, which he does not allow to be moved by any winds of affection or emotion of any kind, but turns like a cold searchlight on anything that is presented to his attention and makes it work.

Sometimes Feels Like Volcano.

"I am not aware of having any detachable apparatus inside of me. On the contrary, if I were to interpret myself, I would say that my constant embarrassment is to restrain the emotions that are inside of me. You may not believe it, but I sometimes feel like a fire from an extinct volcano, and if the lava does not seem to spill over, it is because you are not high enough to see into the basin and see the cauldron boil. Because, truly, gentlemen, in the position which I occupy there is a sort of—I don't know how else to express it than to say—passionate sense of being connected with my fellow men in a peculiar relationship of responsibility. Not merely the responsibility of office, but God knows there are enough things in this world that need to be corrected.

"I have mixed first and last with all sorts and conditions of men—there are mighty few kinds of men that have to be described to me, and there are mighty few kinds of experiences that have to be described to me—and when I think of the number of men that are looking to me as the representative of a party, with the hope for all varieties of salvation from the things they are struggling in the midst of, it makes me tremble.

Avoiding Colossal Blunders.

"It makes me tremble not only with a sense of my own inadequacy and weakness, but as if I were shaken by the very things that are shaking them; and if I seem circumspect, it is because I am so diligently trying not to make any colossal blunders. If you just calculated the number of blunders a fellow can make in twenty-four hours, if he is not careful and if he does not listen more than he talks, you would see something of the feeling that I have.

"I was amused the other day at a remark that Senator Newlands made. I had read him the trust message that I was to deliver to congress some ten days before I delivered it, and I never stop 'doctoring' things of that kind until the day I have to deliver them. When he heard it read to congress, he said: 'I think it was better than it was when you read it to me.'

Borrows Brains.

"I said: 'Senator, there is one thing which I think you do not understand. I do not only use all the brains I have, but all I can borrow, and I have borrowed a lot since I read it to you first.' That, I dare say, is what gives the impression of circumspectness. I am listening; I am diligently trying to collect all the brains that are borrowable in order that I may not make more blunders than it is inevitable that a man should make who has great limitations of knowledge and capacity. And the emotion of the thing is so great that I suppose I must be some kind of a mask to conceal it.

"I really feel, sometimes, as if I were masquerading when I catch a picture of myself in a printed description.

"In between things that I have to do as a public officer I never think of myself as the president of the United States because I never have had any sense of being identified with that office. I feel like a person appointed for a certain length of time to administer that office and I feel just as much outside of it at this moment as I did before I was elected to it.

Seeming to Fill the Office.

"The machine is so much greater than himself; the office is so much greater than he can ever be, and the most he can do is look grave enough and self-possessed enough to fill it. I can hardly refrain every now and again from tipping the public the wink, as much as to say 'It is only me' that is inside this thing. I know perfectly well that I will have to get out presently. I know that then I will look just my proper size, and that for the time being the proportions are somewhat refracted and misrepresented to the eye by the large thing I am inside of, from which I am tipping you this wink.

Trouble With Precedents.

"For example, take matters of this sort: I will not say whether it is wise or unwise, simple or grave; but certain precedents have been established that in certain companies the president must leave the room first, and people must give way to him. They must not sit down if he is standing up. It is a very uncomfortable thing to have to think of all the other people every time I get up and sit down ,and all that sort of thing. So that when I get guests in my own house and the public is shut out, I adjourn being president and take leave to be a gentleman. If they draw back and insist upon my doing something first, I firmly decline.

There Are Blessed Intervals.

"There are blessed intervals when I forget by one means or another that I am president of the United States. One means by which I forget is to get a rattling good detective story, get after some imaginary offender, and chase him all over—preferably any continent but this. Because the various parts of this continent are becoming painfully suggestive to me. The postoffices and many other things which stir reminiscences have 'sickled them 'oer with a pale cast of thought.' There are postoffices to which I would not think of mailing a letter, which I can't think of without trembling with the knowledge of the heartburnings of the struggle there was in connection with getting somebody installed as postmaster.

"Now if I were free, I would come not infrequently up to these rooms. You know I never was in Washington but a very few times, and but a very few hours, until I came last year, and I never expect to see the inside of the public buildings in Washington until my term is over.

See Washington Some Day.

'Some day, after I am through with this office, I am going back to Washington and see it. In the meantime I am in the same category as the National museum, the Monument, the Smithsonian Institute, or the Congressional library, and everything that comes down here has to be shown the president. If I only knew an exhibition appearance to assume—apparently I can assume other appearances that do not show what is going on inside—I would like to have it pointed out, so that I could practice it before the looking glass and see if I could not look like the monument. Being regarded as a national exhibit, it would be much simpler than being shaken hands with by the whole United States.

"And yet, even that is interesting to me, simply because I like human beings. It is a pretty poor crowd that does not interest you. I think they would have to be all members of that class that devotes itself to 'expense regardless of pleasure' in order to be entirely uninteresting. These look so much alike—spend their time trying to look so much alike, and so relieve themselves of all responsibility of thought—that they are very monotonous indeed to look at; whereas a crowd picked up off the street is just a jolly lot—a job lot of real human beings, pulsating with life, with all kinds of passions and desires. It would be a great pleasure if, unobserved and unattended, I could be knocked around as I have been accustomed to being knocked around all my life; if I could resort to any delightful quarter, to any place in Washington that I chose.

Would Disguise Himself.

"I have sometimes thought of going to some costumer's—some theatrical costumer's—and buying an assortment of beards, rouge and coloring and all the known means of disguising myself, if it were not against the law. You see I have a scruple as president against breaking the law, and disguising one's self is against the law; but if I could disguise myself and not get caught, I would go out, be a free American citizen once more, and have a jolly time. I might then meet some of you gentlemen and actually tell you what I really thought."

The president talked most informally. He wore a sack suit and stood with his hands in his pockets as he spoke. He was in a happy mood, and his remarks were constantly punctuated with laughter and applause. Mr. Wilson is a member of the Press club, having been elected as an author long before he became president.

Members of the cabinet, Speaker Clark and many officials also were guests of the newspaper men.

FOUGHT IN THREE WARS; STILL HALE

Capt. Kruger of Marquette Has Had Remarkable Career.

Marquette, Mich., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the most picturesque figures at the national encampment of the G. A. R. in Detroit next fall—if he lives until then, and at present he is hale and hearty—will be Capt. Anton O. Kruger of this city. Probably few members of the Grand Army can boast of having served under three flags in three wars, fought in widely separated countries. Capt. Kruger has that record. He has the further distinction of being the oldest war veteran in Upper Michigan. Capt. Kruger is in his eighty-fourth year. His has been an eventful and stirring life.

Descended from the Vikings, it is perhaps not surprising that the Marquette veteran has spent practically all his life on the water and since early boyhood has been active in various capacities connected with maritime shipping. A sailor on merchant vessels plying the high seas, an officer of the United States navy, a navigator on the Great Lakes, the keeper of a lighthouse, a Federal inspector of steamboats, and the harbor master of Marquette, Capt. Kruger has had a varied and extended career in his natural calling.

Born in Norway.

Capt. Kruger was born in Touseberg, Norway, Jan. 4, 1830, and began going to sea at the age of 10. He first saw America in 1847, and began his war career in 1848 by fighting with the Danes against the Prussians. Young Kruger came to New York in 1850 and procured his first citizenship papers. Later he enlisted in the Sardinian army and served in the Crimean war, participating in the memorable siege of Balaklava.

When the Civil war began, he was again seized with the martial spirit and, coming to the United States, joined the navy, serving until hostilities concluded. Then he was employed by the Wilmington & Baltimore railroad and later the Milwaukee road, coming to the Lake Superior region in 1877 and has lived here ever since. He never married.

He was appointed keeper of the lighthouse at Rock harbor, Isle Royale, in 1874 and he held the post until he resigned in 1877.

Lived in Copper Country.

Meanwhile he had opened a repair shop at Hancock. He lived at Hancock for three years and at Houghton for twelve, navigating the while the yacht Estelle, which he had brought from Buffalo for William Edwards of Houghton. Capt. Kruger came to Marquette twenty-two years ago as United States inspector of hulls for this district. He was appointed to the office by President Harrison and he retained the post for three years, or until his successor had been named by the Democratic administration that had taken over the government. Capt. Kruger formerly conducted a general repair shop in Marquette, but of late years he has been active only as harbor master, a berth he doubtless can retain as long as he wants it.

The old veteran became a member of the Grand Army in 1875 at Hancock, and has long been on the roster of the Albert Jackson post of this city. He was enrolled in the Loyal Legion in 1894. He has attended many of the national encampments of the G. A. R., among others, those at Washington, Louisville, Buffalo, Cleveland, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and he is looking forward to the approaching annual meeting at Detroit with eager and pleasurable anticipation.

Would Adopt Children.

Two petitions asking permission to legally adopt children were filed yesterday with the clerk of district court.

Robert Y. Dunn and Elizabeth M. Dunn ask the court to allow them to adopt as their own child, Livingston Lockhart, a 2-year-old youngster. The boy is motherless and consent to the proceedings has been obtained from the father.

Fred D. Danielson and Bertha O. Danielson of Proctor want to take into their family the 3-month-old child of Anna Bede, who was abandoned by the child's father seven months ago. The mother has given her written consent.

Both applicants will be heard by the court today.

Enter Your Dog at the Northwestern Kennel Club's Big Show at St. Paul on April 2-3-4.

There's many a dog the owner of which has no idea of his value. For this reason dog shows are worth while. It is always a matter of much satisfaction to the dog owner to have his favorite dog passed on by a qualified expert in the show ring. The small entry fee is more than repaid in services to the exhibitor—and then it is always possible that an heretofore unheard of dog may take the prize money, which runs as high as $15, to say nothing of specials in the way of cups and trophies.

At the St. Paul Show last year an unregistered, unpedigreed and unknown collie, Buster by name, was exhibited by his owner and was catalogued to sell for $85. The dog went down the line, winning over everything in his classes, and took the cup for the best dog in the show. His owner at once withdrew the offer to sell and during the show could have taken $400 for his dog. There are just as good specimens in other breeds throughout the Northwest that will surprise their owners if they are given a chance at a dog show.

The Northwestern Kennel Club's big show will be held at the Auditorium, St. Paul, April 2, 3 and 4. For particulars write the secretary, Mr. Jno. F. Selb, Room 409, Capital National Bank Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.

Suggestion to Young Men

Every young man should make it his business to establish a record with a good bank. At a time when opportunity is at stake, what his banker knows about him may prove a vital help.

Duluth young men on salary can have a savings account here, and are invited to do so, until such a time as their transactions warrant a checking account. A pass book showing regular deposits is an asset in more ways than one.

First National Bank of Duluth.

GRANDMA SAYS:

"Get me a tube of GOOS-OLENE for this pain in my chest. It is pretty near like what I used to use when I was a girl on the farm, only it is better now because the Doctors nowadays know more about Chest and Throat troubles than in our young days."

Grandma was right. GOOS-OLENE is an ointment composed of old-fashioned home remedies such as Goose oil, Amber oil, Mustard, Turpentine, Eucalyptus and Camphor, combined with other potent modern discoveries in drugs, which makes it the sovereign remedy for all throat, chest and lung troubles, as well as for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Sprains, Bruises and every kind of ache and pain. You simply rub it on the part affected and the result is almost magical. WILL NOT BLISTER.

GRANDMOTHER'S REMEDY GOOS-OLENE

Also put up in a milder form for the ailments of BABIES and YOUNG CHILDREN, and called GOOS-OLENE NO. 2. Invaluable for CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH and all infantile congestion. At all Druggists, 25 and 50 cents, or mailed on receipt of price by the GOOS-OLENE COMPANY, Superior, Wis. TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.

PROTEST AGAINST SPECIAL LEVY

G. G. Hartley and Shogomoc Company Refuse to Pay Sewer Assessment.

G. G. Hartley and his holding company, the Shogomoc company, yesterday filed in district court a protest to the delinquent tax notice published against their property in sections 3, 10 and 11, 50-14. The answer to the tax proceedings sets forth various reasons for refusing to pay the tax.

The delinquent tax list includes not only the general levy, but also special assessments made by the city of Duluth on the 640 acres within the city limits to defray a portion of the expense of constructing a sanitary sewer from Austin street to Lake Superior. Objection is made to the special assessment.

Without admitting that the special assessment should have been levied at all, it is alleged that the board of public works proceeded on a wrong theory of making the assessment. It is contended that property more than a mile away from the main trunk sewer was assessed at the same rate as that levied on property directly benefited. This, it is claimed, was contrary to law.

ACCUSED OF TAKING WIFE'S MOTHER'S CASH

St. Louis, Mo., March 21.—Edgar M. Davis, a former insurance man and railroad builder of this city, was indicted by the grand jury of Jersey county, Ill., on a charge of embezzlement of $5,000 in property and money from his mother-in-law, Mrs. Annie B. Cross, of Jerseyville, Ill.

NATURE BUILT HEALTH

Strong Drugs Work While You Sleep—
Later, They Prevent Your Working While Awake

Health is such a condition of the vital organs that their presence is never felt in the human body. Soon as you feel the presence of lung, heart, kidney, liver, stomach and bowels, be sure that the organs felt are in distress. This is a sign of nature's warning, for you to beware. Most of us come into this world healthy, but because of ignorance, carelessness or abuse few remain so. Disease comes like a thief in the night. Then you remember the time when your stomach was strong, your bowels were regular and you felt hale and hearty. Your bowels became irregular, then they were coaxed with gentle laxatives. They became more irregular, then stronger drugs had to be used. Little later headaches, nervousness, sleeplessness and stomach unrest appeared. Thus the conditions went on from bad to worse with the following diseases appearing: Backache, torpid liver, muddy complexion, discolored eyes, dizziness, dyspepsia, indigestion, palpitation of the heart, chronic coughs, acid stomach, gas pressure and coated tongue. Little later catarrhal inflammation of nose, throat, stomach and bowels develop and leave destruction in the wake of their course, such as gallstones, appendicitis, cysts and tumors. All these grave diseases come from poison in the blood caused originally by imperfect waste elimination. You used drugs right from the start and they did not stop the little ailments, will they now cure the full grown disease? No. Why then not listen to God's laws in Nature, where there is a cure for all diseases. Electro Medical Doctors are students of that law which will cure, where unnatural drugs will only make you worse. Do your suffer? Learn free of charge that you can get well. Office Hours, 9 to 8; Sundays 10 to 1.

ON THE IRON RANGES

LOCKED IN BOXCAR, MAN NEARLY DIES

James W. Cowdit Taken From Prison on Wheels at Deer River.

Deer River, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—While Beer Agents Kendrow and Harmond were about to open a car here at about 5 o'clock last evening they were startled by a strange noise in the car. They found a man locked in the apartment for storing ice, which was unused. He was taken to Dr. Fairall's office. At a late hour he was still unconscious from the effect of gas on his lungs which came from close confinement in the car, in which is kept a lighted charcoal stove.

It is supposed the man was locked in the car when it left Duluth and had been in the place of suffocation for two days or more. He is about 40 years of age. On his person was found a bank check issued to James W. Cowdit, signed by Isaac H. Cowdit, dated at Newton, N. J., Feb. 24, 1914, and payable at a bank at Newton; also a long list of provisions made on a bill head from Flemming's store at Bena, dated June 8, 1912. The list totaled $43.38. Officer Dorholt has the stranger in charge and is trying to locate his friends at Bena.

The bank check was drawn for $13 and had been indorsed on the back by James W. Cowdit in clear, fine handwriting.

DESIRE FARMERS AROUND EVELETH

Eveleth, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city is making a strong effort to secure settlers, actual farmers who will open up the adjacent farming country. With this end in view the Commercial club and individuals are working together for the opening up of new roads which will throw some rich agricultural sections open.

In its efforts to obtain farmers Eveleth has a two-fold object. The business men want to make the city a trading center and the housewives want the products of the farm and the dairy. To encourage the marketing of produce here the city has established a public market place in a building at the end of the main business street. A man will be placed in charge of the market place and it is expected to prove popular with both sellers and buyers.

Much Good Land Available.

It is estimated that 75,000 acres of good farming land is now available for settlers in the vicinity of the city. Land values have advanced $5 per acre in the last year and some is being held by speculators, but there is a big acreage of unimproved land that can be purchased at prices ranging from $12 to $20 per acre.

FOR COLERAINE GUEST.

Mrs. Hadley of Virginia Hostess for Mrs. J. K. McDonald.

Virginia, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. J. B. Hadley entertained at her home Wednesday for Mrs. J. K. McDonald of Coleraine. The guests were Mrs. J. K. McDonald, Mrs. William McDonald, Mrs. William Voss, Mrs. E. M. Hadley, Miss Mayme Murphy, Mrs. E. Hill of Blwabik and Mrs. T. Thomas of Elba.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Eaton of Indianapolis arrived in the city last evening for a visit with their son, C. L. Eaton, of the Merchants hotel.

Mrs. J. A. McCulloch is seriously ill at her home.

Mrs. T. Ryan and son of Merrill, Wis., are visiting Mrs. Ryan's sister, Mrs. Owen Gately.

Mrs. E. M. Hadley went to Duluth Thursday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Carney.

Mrs. W. J. Schulze and son Ralph, are visiting Mrs. Schulze's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Fay in Duluth.

Miss Charlotte Davis of Aitkin has been engaged to teach a kindergarten class here. She succeeds Miss Evelyn Storm, who replaces Miss Estelle Page, resigned, as a teacher in the primary grade building.

Entertains Interurban Club.

Mrs. A. C. Osborn entertained the Interurban club St. Patrick's day at a 1 o'clock luncheon. Green was used in house and table decorations and each guest received little favors of pipes, hats, shamrocks and cards. Auction was played after luncheon. Mrs. E. Wenzel and Mrs. D. E. Cuppernull won the prizes. Mrs. N. J. Denson and Mrs. E. Wenzel were the guests of the club.

Miss Myrtle Anderson left on Tuesday for Madison, Wis., where she will visit for about two weeks.

Miss Verna Emerson has gone to Brainerd for a visit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Carl Johnson left on Wednesday for a visit in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Mrs. Charles Gielle visited with relatives at Superior during the week.

George Merdink of Sydney, Mont., returned to his home Monday after a visit with his brother, Attorney H. R. Merdink.

Mrs. R. A. McLean was a Duluth visitor Thursday.

Miss Stella Ward and Miss Clara Fowler of Duluth are the guests of Mrs. W. T. Irwin.

Mrs. Walter E. Quigley of Grand Forks arrived in the city Wednesday to join her husband, who is city editor on the Daily Virginian.

Miss Florence Joubert of Duluth was the guest of Mrs. Donald Young of Cedar street during the week.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK AT ELY

RANGE PLUMBERS TO HAVE BANQUET

Hibbing, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Range Master Plumbers' association will hold its annual banquet at the Hibbing hotel here next Saturday evening. It is expected there will be a large attendance of range plumbers and some from Duluth and Superior. The members of the Duluth master plumbers and their traveling men have been invited.

Mayor-elect Mike Boylan of Virginia will be toastmaster and deliver the address of welcome. Mayor Power of Hibbing will welcome the visitors to Hibbing.

State Officers to Speak.

W. W. Hughes of Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota Master Plumbers' association, will deliver the principal address. Thomas Lynch of Eveleth, president of the range association and others will also speak. Plans are afoot to make this a memorable affair.

GRAND JURY QUITS.

Itasca County Inquisitors Have Finished Their Work.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grand jury completed its work at 6 o'clock last evening. After making formal report Judge Wright discharged the members from further service. Besides the indictment of the six men charged with killing Policeman Kokko at Nashwauk, as mentioned in Friday's Herald, it is understood other true bills were found, but as the parties accused are not in custody they have not been made public, except in jail cases. No unusual recommendations of criticisms were made in the jury's report. The public buildings were visited and reported in satisfactory condition and the management of public institutions were commended. It is anticipated that some of the indictments found will relate to the acts of some of the township officials within the county.

In the case of W. C. Tyndall of Grand Rapids vs. Chris Hagen of Bovey the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff for $243.5.

Yesterday afternoon the court heard the first of the election contest cases from Trout Lake township. F. A. Johnson is contesting the right of John H. Slapp to the office of town clerk, while Emil Nurmi claims that Cole E. Benson is wrongfully acting as supervisor of the same town.

HIBBING MAN MISSING.

Joel Kivisto Starts for Duluth and Drops From Sight.

Hibbing, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local and range police as well as the officers in Duluth and Superior are trying to locate Joel Kivisto of Hibbing, who left here four months ago for Duluth in search of work and has never been heard from. He has a wife and children living here.

DEER RIVER NOTES.

Bowstring Settler Returns to Superior Because of Poor Roads.

Deer River, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charley Lindahl, a settler with a family living at the lower end of Bowstring lake, has left to make his home at Superior until such time as a road will be built to give him an outlet from his farm.

H. G. Carlile, a farmer of Brownsville, Minn., came here the first of the week to visit his brother, B. J. Carlile of Bowstring, and to invest in Itasca land. Mr. Carlisle may conclude to settle here.

James Dowling, the Duluth highway contractor, who does much road work in this county, was here accompanied by his brother, F. E. Dowling, Thursday looking over several miles of road work which is to be let by the county board on March 25.

Mrs. H. Hinken is reported to be seriously ill at her home.

H. O. Anvid of Black Duck is looking the "best town" over with a view of locating here and opening up a paint and papering shop.

Frank Loisel returned Tuesday from Grand Rapids where he had been confined in a hospital for a week with a bad cold.

J. M. Holdridge, who is driving a four and one-half-inch well for the Veneer factory has the piping down 165 feet and has obtained a flow above ground of over twelve gallons per minute.

The last of the literary course series of entertainments given for the benefit of the Methodist church is to be held at the church next Thursday, March 26. The Illinois Glee club is on the boards.

Harry Ryan has bought out his partner, Leo Richardson, in the automobile repair shop and garage, and will conduct the business himself.

To Open Livery.

M. E. Johnston has purchased land in the south part of the village upon which he will erect a barn and open up a livery stable, a thing much needed in Deer River.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cochran, Deer Lake settlement, March 15.

Lander Larson of Bigfork was here the first of the week en route to Sarles, N. D., where he has purchased a farm.

C. H. Fullwood left Tuesday for Mt. Clemens, Mich., where he will remain for two months or more taking the ba thcure for his rheumatism. He took Mike McClusky with him for company.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Brooks were transacting business in Duluth a couple days the first of the week.

Men from the woods are coming to Deer River by the hundreds every day and sleeping room is at a premium.

George Morisset and Ruth Obert were married at Grand Rapids Monday and went to Virginia, Minn., to visit a sister of the groom, and may make that city their home. Mr. Morisset will enter employ of the land department of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad.

Mrs. Frank Tolmie went to Minneapolis Sunday where after a brief stop she will proceed to Rochester, Minn., to enter a hospital to be examined for appendicitis from which she has been suffering of late.

The Lyceum theater, a new picture show house which opened up Tuesday night, is enjoying large patronage. This is the second picture play house in the village and both are thriving.

Last night at the Lyceum the home talent play, "Rebecca's Triumph," given for the benefit of the Methodist church was greeted by a full house.

MRS. OLESON SPEAKS.

Cloquet Woman Addresses Grand Rapids Mothers' Club.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A largely attended gathering was held in the high school auditorium yesterday afternoon, when the residents of the town were the guests of the Mothers' club.

Mrs. Peter Olson of Cloquet, vice president of the Eighth District Federated clubs, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "The Conservation of the Child."

Two vocal numbers given by some of the members of the Choral club was an enjoyable feature of the afternoon. A service of refreshments followed the conclusion of the program.

AURORA TO HAVE YEOMEN LODGE.

Aurora, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The brotherhood of American Yeomen will institute a branch of the order here. P. F. Habrouft of Two Harbors, district manager, is in charge of the work, assisted by Deputy Walter H. Grudnosky, who is well known here. A sufficient number has been secured for the charter, and the homestead will be instituted as soon as the policies return from Des Moines, the head office. Dr. Darrow will be the examining physician. From here Mr. Harouff will go to Biwabik and put in a new homestead there. The order has 600 members on the range north of Duluth.

GILBERT NOTES.

Gilbert, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a match game with two of the Chisholm teams, the Gilbert team won easily. Winslows team lost three straight games to Gilbert and Neely lost two out of three to the Gilbert team.

A delightful dinner party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cosgrove, Sunday. Covers were laid for twelve.

Dr. H. M. Bracken of the state board of health, St. Paul, lectured at Elba last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wartenbe and son left Monday for Ohio in answer to a message announcing the illness of Mr. Wertenbe's father.

The Gilbert Social club gave a stag party Saturday evening in honor of H. Sorenson. About twenty-five people were present.

Misses Steichen and Hoy spent Saturday in Duluth.

R. J. McGhee of Virginia transacted business here Wednesday.

Mrs. M. G. Viola spent Saturday and Sunday with friends at Elba.

Mrs. R. E. Johnston and Mrs. Turner are Virginia callers today.

Mrs. Stewart of Aurora, was a guest of Mrs. Dr. Conners Wednesday.

Mrs. William Hosking will entertain the M. E. ladies' aid society next Wednesday.

IS DYING IN DULUTH.

It Is Feared Miss Hayes of Two Harbors Cannot Survive.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Marie Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hayes of this city is near to death at St. Mary's hospital in Duluth today and may not live. She has spinal menigitis.

The young lady has not been in good health for a number of months but only recently was her case considered real serious and her condition is a great shock to her many friends in this city.

Marie is widely known and very popular among the young people of this city. She graduated from the Two Harbors high school with the class of 1911 and later attended the Villa Scholastica convent in Duluth. During the last two years she has been employed by the Iron Range railroad as abstract clerk in the dock office and worked in that capacity until a month ago.

Marie was born in St. Paul, 22 years ago, and has five sisters, Margaret, Gertrude, Burnidette, Lucile, Virginia, and one brother, John, all residing in this city.

OWENS GIVES ADVICE.

Says Young Men Should Have Definite Purpose in Life.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the young men's Bible class held a very enthusiastic banquet last night in the parlors of the Methodist church. About forty were present. Lorne Fowler was toastmaster.

Thomas Owens gave some splendid advice, saying that the young man should have a definite purpose in life and a firm determination to live up to that purpose.

Following is the program:

Solo—"A Perfect Day" ..... Miss Meta McKee.

Address of Welcome ..... Rev. Mr. McKee.

Remarks ..... Thomas Owens.

"The Possibilities in Bible Class Cooperation for Social Betterment" .. R. B. Elliot.

Solo ..... Henry Hamill.

"How We Can Meet the Needs of Our Young Men in This City" .... H. H. Mixsell.

"The Young Man's Opportunity for Service as a Layman" ..... Andrew Sunquist.

Brown Not Yet Married.

Chisholm, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reports that Pal Brown, the lightweight fighter, was to be married are denied by his relatives here. Plans had been made for the wedding which was to have taken place but were changed because the bride, who came all the way from California, was taken sick.

MORE DRILLS ARE PLACED AT WORK

Chisholm, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Indications point to Chisholm enjoying continued prosperity this year, about 125 drill men were placed at work this week by the Carlson Exploration company on the south and east of the village. This number added to the large drill crews already at work make a respectable number of wage-earners. The existence of large ore bodies, other than those already known has been suspected for many years, but it is only within the past few months that any definite steps have been taken to prove up the properties. Experts in the mining business claim that Chisholm is surrounded by big larger and richer iron ore bodies than any other community on the great Mesaba range, and the experience of the drill men in the past few months bear them out in their stated opinions.

ODD FELLOWS OF RANGE WILL MEET

Eveleth, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A delegation of seven from the local I. O. O. F. lodge, headed by Thomas Benney, noble grand, attended a meeting at Virginia to select a place for the annual range celebration of the organization of the order. Hibbing was chosen for the celebration, which will be held April 26. Biwabik, Eveleth, Virginia, Chisholm and Hibbing were represented at the meeting. The Odd Fellows plan to send a big delegation to the celebration and special cars will be chartered for the trip. Eveleth had the celebration last year.

GILBERT CLUB ELECTS.

Gilbert, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the annual meeting of the Commercial club R. T. Dukelow was re-elected president; W. H. Radermacher, re-elected secretary; J. W. Everett, treasurer; Leo Kukar, first vice president; J. N. Carlson, second vice president, and Mike Viola, third vice president.

The next meeting of the club will be held on March 27.

They decided a city band is an advantage to the community and agreed to stand back of the project. Mike Viola, E. J. Anderson and Harry Lindahl were appointed a committee to look into the proposition and make recommendations.

Inspect Virginia Terminals.

Virginia, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local yards and business of the Great Northern railway were inspected yesterday by G. E. Votaw, superintendent, and F. Weir, trainmaster, of the Mesaba division. Both were recently appointed to their new positions and this was their first official visit over the division. They expressed themselves as pleased with the conditions existing along the line.

Grant Trial Is Near End.

Hibbings, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of the case of Great Scott township vs. Former Treasurer Grant which has been on in district court two days is nearly completed. The evidence had all been submitted when court adjourned yesterday afternoon until Monday morning. When the case is resumed the arguments will be made and the jury should get the case by noon Monday.

AGED ROMANCE ENDS.

Virginian Married Nearly Two Years Ago Seeks Divorce.

Virginia, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Crawford today filed suit in the district court for divorce from his wife. He is 65 and she 56, and they were married March 25, 1912. He alleges she deserted him in September of the same year.

GRAPPLER INJURED.

Virginia, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The wrestling match between Tom Matievich of Hibbing, challenger for the world's welterweight championship, and George Deneff, middleweight champion of Canada, at the Fay opera house last night, came to a termination after twelve minutes of grappling, Deneff having sustained a dislocated elbow and being forced to withdraw from the game. Both men were in fine condition and while the match lasted it was a good exhibition and while Deneff was considerably the lighter man of the two he showed himself to be possessed of a great deal of strength and skill. The hold that caused disaster to him was a leg scissors and arm lock, which was secured after the men had been on the mat about ten minutes and before being pinned Deneff showed signs of the pain he was undergoing, and called to his manager to have the referee stop the match, he being unable to speak English.

Challenges All Comers.

After the match Matievich, who is backed by prominent Austrians of Hibbing, stated that he is willing to meet all comers for the welterweight title. Preceding the main bout "Kid" La Patka of Virginia and "Kid" Stadihar of Hibbing put up an interesting preliminary. Stadihar won two out of three falls, the first in ten minutes and the third in three minutes and a half. The second fall was won by La Patka in two minutes and a half. Both of the contests were refereed by Walter E. Quigley of Grand Forks.

FISH PROTECTION.

Tower, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a special meeting of the Commercial club Thursday evening the chair appointed a committee consisting of Dr. R. L. Burns, J. D. Murphy and W. G. Gallien to draft suitable resolutions regulating fish protection in Lake Vermilion. The resolutions will call several facts to the attention of the state game and fish commission and respectfully request them to desist from the use of spears in Lake Vermilion for two or three years, and operate the hatchery at Pike river to its fullest capacity and efficiency.

Virginia Defeats Chisholm.

Virginia, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia Technical high basket ball team defeated the Chisholm high quint at the Technical gymnasium last night by the one-sided score of 40 to 8. The game was marked by considerable rough work and in the second half two of the players came to blows and were ordered off the floor. The lineup was as follows: Virginia—Enright, Cusson, forwards; Rooney, center; Gustafson, Hodge, guards. Chisholm—Talus, Schweiger, forwards; Candsey, center; Johnson, Winder, guards.

Snow Flurries

The clouds today are making desperate efforts to make the snow prediction of the weather man come true. Flurries have started several times and may yet develop into a full fledged snow storm, for more is predicted for tonight. Colder weather is on the card for tonight also but warmer weather is the promise for Sunday.

A year ago today was cold and windy. This is the first official day of spring. The sun rose this morning at 6:09 and will set this afternoon at 6:22, giving twelve hours and thirteen minutes of sunshine, four minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Decidedly colder weather prevails in Manitoba, Montana, North Dakota, Wyoming and Colorado, with zero temperatures in North Dakota and Manitoba. The temperature has risen somewhat in the Lake region and Central States. Light rain or snow fell during Friday or last night in Middle and South Atlantic states, the Missouri valley and the Southwest."

General Forecasts.

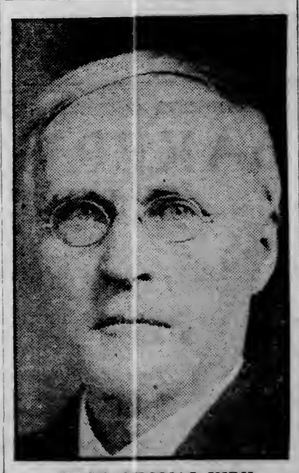
SEEKS RE-ELECTION AS ELY MUNICIPAL JUDGE



JUDGE THOMAS JURY.

TAKE SODA FOR ACID STOMACH, SOURNESS, GAS

A 10-grain Sodagen tablet, taken anytime, followed by a glass of water, will instantly neutralize acidity; absorb gases and sweeten the stomach, thus relieving indigestion without fail. Indigestion does not result from a lack of digestive juices as most folks believe, but from an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, which retards digestion and starts food fermentation. Then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon, producing a heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch up gas or have flatulence, heartburn or nausea.

Any pharmacist can supply a package of these 10-grain Sodagen tablets and thousands of stomach sufferers will be able to eat without dread after ridding the digestive organs of excess acid this way, says a noted authority, who further states that this Antacid is entirely harmless, being composed of Soda, Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate U. FACE A SIGHT WITH ERUPTION RESINOL CURED

Itched and Burned Until Resinol Brought Relief at Once.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 5, 1913: "I had a small pimple on the side of my face, and it kept getting larger and larger. It had spread over one cheek, and as it would spread, water would come from it, and every place the water would touch, another sore would form. It itched and burned and my face was a sight. I used several salves and ointments that were recommended, but none helped, until I tried Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, which relieved me at once, and after using it about two weeks, my face was entirely clear. I cannot praise Resinol enough." (Signed) Mrs. Rose Muller, 1313 Snyder avenue.

Physicians have prescribed Resinol for nineteen years and every druggist sells Resinol Soap (25c), and Resinol Ointment (50c and $1.) Don't be deceived by the useless "substitutes" which a few unscrupulous dealers offer. For free trial, write to Dept. 6-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

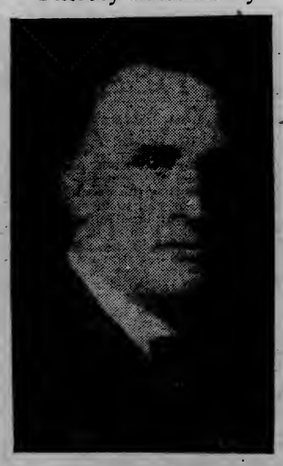
Biwabik, Minn., March 14, 1914.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE SIXTH COMMISSIONER'S DISTRICT OF ST. LOUIS COUNTY:

I hereby announce my candidacy for the nomination as Commissioner for the Sixth District of St. Louis County, believing that I am thoroughly acquainted with the needs of the district, and that I am well qualified to fill the position.



In making this announcement I am encouraged by the support offered me from all parts of the district, and if elected will put forth my best efforts to give all a square deal.

I therefore solicit the support of the voters at the primaries to be held June 16, 1914.

SPECIAL $59.10

This Grafonola, equipped with the new No. 6 Reproducer and tone arm, the VERY LATEST improvement, and the best; including 14 Double Records, 28 Selections—enough of the world's best music for an entire evening's entertainment—all on easy payments.

You cannot weigh a Grafonola in terms of dollars—it must be placed upon the same terms as patriotism, love of home, love of kindred; for its not the instrument itself that gives it worth, it's the atmosphere it creates in the home.

The songless home is apt to be the weak home; it's the home usually where people discuss whether life is worth living; it's the home where the boy and girl, finding no fund of happiness and amusement, seek their pleasures elsewhere—it's too often the average home where life is unrelieved by any ready-at-hand enjoyment. The songless home does not mould strong characters.

The coming of the Grafonola into such a home is more than the chance acquaintance who can entertain at times by a song or instrumental selection. It is the friend of all the family and can be drawn on for many a happy hour.

Do not fail to come in and let us show you the new improved Grafonola—it brings the actual lifelikeness of the artists to your home.

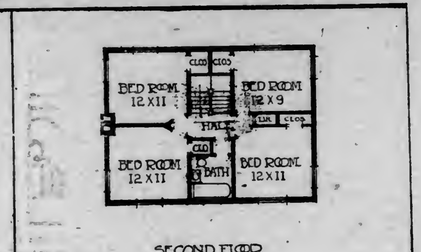
FIRST FLOOR PLAN



SECOND FLOOR

COLONIAL HOUSE TO COST $3500

In this design, the second of The Herald's series, we have the colonial house, the house for the man of moderate means as it gives him a beautiful, aristocratic home for a very small outlay. The roof of this house should be painted a light green with window blinds of the same color. The walls are to be white and the whole scheme when properly carried out is rich in effect and if the grounds surrounding same are platted in an attractive manner, you have a home to be proud of. The interior of the house is well arranged and it is planned to embody the colonial effect inside as well as outside. The large living room with porch in connection with same is most desirable. Four bedrooms on second floor take into consideration ample accommodations for a family of five people. The finish of the first floor is birch with maple floors. The second floor yellow pine, enameled white, with maple floors. This house would cost to build in Duluth or immediate vicinity about $3,500.00 complete.

The Most Modern Homes Use Electric Appliances

Even homes enjoying the advantages of Electric Light have not reached the highest point of domestic efficiency, unless they are quipped with one or more of the handy electrical household appliances. Besides a saving of time and labor, tasks are performed better and with an indescribable feeling of satisfaction.

Lessen the Household Labors

An Electric Vacuum Cleaner cleans thoroughly and quickly. It does not stir up the germ-laden dust as a broom does, and it avoids the back-breaking labor of sweeping. An Electric Sewing Machine Motor allows you to do a great deal more work than you can accomplish on a foot-power machine—saves time and strength as well. You owe it to yourself to investigate.

STILL OPPOSED TO RIFLE RANGE

West End Club Asks Commission to Abolish It.

Declaring that three residents of the hillside and members of the West End Hillside improvement club have had their lives placed in danger because of the flight of bullets from the National Guard rifle range, the club last night adopted resolutions to be forwarded to the city council asking that the place be abolished.

The club also went on record as being opposed to the city giving a guarantee of any paving laid by contractors. The members insisted that the contractor and his bondsmen should be held responsible. The discussion came up following informal talks on the Twenty-seventh avenue paving.

The following are the resolutions adopted:

"To the Mayor and Commissioners of the City of Duluth:

"We, citizens and taxpayers, also members of the West End Hillside Improvement club, passed the following resolution at our last meeting, March 20, 1914:

"That the rifle range now used by the state militia be removed to some safer place, where there would be less danger of accidents, as we have three members of our club who have reported that bullets have been whizzing around them during the time that rifle practice has been going on. One member says that bullets have been whizzing around his home, and both himself and family can prove it; and two other members have had the same experience when driving cattle to pasture, and we ask your honorable body to give this matter your consideration.

"We also call your attention to the Twenty-seventh avenue pavement matter where it has been asserted that defective pavement has been laid by contract. If it should be necessary to remedy such defect, it has been proposed that this burden be taken care of by the city, which would naturally compel every taxpayer in the city to contribute to same, and we strongly oppose the plan, when, as a matter of fact, the contractor and bondsman should be made to stand for it. And further, will ask you to see to it in the future that contracts for street improvements are complied with according to specifications, and that responsible and competent inspectors be put in charge of same, and that the city engineer be notified to see to it that everything is up to standard."

PLAN BRIDGE OVER TRACKS

West End Wants Highway From Garfield Avenue to Incinerator.

The building of a roadway or bridge spanning the network of railroad tracks east of Garfield avenue, is suggested by business men of the West end as a means of compelling the railroads to acknowledge ownership. According to a recent statement made by City Attorney Harvey Clapp, the city's legal department has found great difficulty in ascertaining which of the roads owns the different spurs.

"It is of paramount importance to the West end that the city should have a highway from Garfield avenue to the incinerator and the dock front east of this thoroughfare," said S. W. Hill this morning. "At present every load of refuse taken from the West end has to be hauled to Sixth avenue, down Sixth avenue to Railroad street and then west again to the incinerator at Thirteenth avenue. Just think of the added expense of taking every load in this round-about manner instead of taking it directly down Garfield avenue and then straight to the incinerator. At present each trip requires an unnecessary haul of two miles."

Railroad street between the incinerator and Garfield avenue was in use until about six years ago. It was then temporarily abandoned, and it is said that some of the railroads took advantage of this temporary abandonment by tearing up the planking across their tracks. Several attempts to have it re-established since then have proved a failure.

CHURCH MASS MEETING.

Rev. Swaney Nelson Will Speak to Four Congregations.

A mass revival meeting of the four Scandinavian churches of the West end will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Swedish Methgodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street. Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the Swedish Baptist church will preach.

The joint services which have been held in the churches during the week have proved a success so far. The meetings will be continued until Easter. They will be held alternately in the Swedish Methodist, Swedish Baptist, Swedish Mission and First Norwegian Danish M. E. churches.

PAVING PROGRAM MEETS APPROVAL

Plan to Renew Work on Superior Street Pleases West End.

West end people generally, are much satisfied with the paving plan as outlined by the department of public works. During the week Commissioner Murchison has been getting considerable praise for his intention to renew the paving on Superior street, between Fifteenth and Twenty-fifth avenues.

"The program laid out by Commissioner Murchison for the West end for the coming season meets with the general approval of all concerned," said George M. Jensen, this morning.

"The renewal of the pavement on West Superior street is much needed improvement that will be greatly appreciated and one that for once and all will fill up a sinkhole that has cost the city a great deal of money.

"It was a stupid piece of work in the first place. The paving was hardly finished before it commenced to go to pieces, and practically every year it has cost more or less money to keep it passable, and even then it has never been anything but a monument of public shortsightedness and penny-wise economy. Now it is realized that it is foolish to spend more money in repairs, and that a brand new permanent pavement is cheaper in the end. By extending this pavement to Thirtieth avenue, the commission is wise and will receive the approval of everybody. Twenty-ninth avenue to First street, First street to Vernon street, and Vernon street to Pacific avenue, are also slated for improvement, thereby furnishing a continuous paved street to Grand avenue. By resurfacing Grand avenue on the upper side a satisfactory thoroughfare to West Duluth and the steel plant will be provided that will meet the requirements for the present. If in addition to these improvements it will be possible to pave First street from Twentieth avenue to Twenty-ninth avenue west, then the West end would have all reason to be satisfied for this year at least."

West End Briefs.

Laymen of the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will have charge of the services at the church tomorrow. The musical program will be under the direction of Mrs. David Adams. Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the church left this morning on a week's vacation.

Albert O. Heding of Minneapolis who has been visiting in the West end for a few days left for his home yesterday.

Peter A. Kalmen of Crookston was a visitor in the West end yesterday.

Miss Eva Wahl, 2423 West Third street, entertained this afternoon for the Sunshine society of the Trinity English Lutheran church.

The St. Luke's guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, will entertain next Thursday afternoon at a Lenten tea in the guild rooms of the church.

The Young People's Society of Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, entertained last evening at a social program in the church parlors.

THEOSOPHIST HAS WORLD PEACE PLAN

Wants Power of Thought Utilized to Benefit Humanity.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 21.—A. P. Warrington, general secretary of the American section of the Theosophical society, has instituted a movement to set aside a day on which newspapers, churches and fraternal orders throughout the world would join in one great effort for universal peace and the brotherhood of man. In a letter sent out from Krotona, the Theosophical colony at Hollywood, Mr. Warrington says:

"If a certain day could be chosen and that day were widely heralded as a time for the celebration for the ideals of peace and brotherhood through the world—this to be done by having all the newspapers publish an editorial emphasizing these principals and enjoining the churches, the fraternal and secret orders, and other bodies interested in the upward progress of humanity, to take the same step on that particular day—a great wave of inspiration and strength would be turned loose in the world; and those who realize the power of thought and aspiration will understand how enormously beneficial a concentrated effort of this kind would be to humanity."

NOT SATISFIED WITH VERDICT

Saari Bros. Want Heavier Damages From Cloquet Company.

Declaring that they are entitled to twice the minimum market value of the ties and pulpwood which the jury in special finding had found that the Cloquet Tie & Post company had converted to their own use during the spring of 1912, John and Jacob Saari, doing business as Saari Bros., yesterday filed notice of their intention to ask the court to increase the $4,000 verdict returned two weeks ago to $7,366.88 or grant a new trial.

Saari Bros. sued the Cloquet company for $40,000 damages, claiming that their competitors sent a big lumber drive down the Mudhen river during the spring of 1912 and swept away the storage boom in which the plaintiff's logs were being held. The timber was converted to the use of the Cloquet company, it was claimed. The trial of the case consumed several days and a large number of witnesses were called on both sides.

The hearing on the alternative motion will be held before Judge Dancer Saturday, March 28.

Lifer Tuberculosis Victim.

St. Paul, Minn., March 21.—Ivan Wiskic, 38 years old, sentenced to Stillwater prison for life in December, 1912, for killing his former sweetheart, Mrs. Anna Blazich, died yesterday in the prison hospital. Death was due to tuberculosis believed partly due to a self-inflicted wound in the throat when he tried to commit suicide in the South St. Paul jail a few days after the murder.

THE MORAL COST OF HIGH LIVING.

Though tariff revision, trust-curbing, improvements of transportation and marketing methods and the like all will have their effect on the high cost of living, there is a certain very large and very definite element in that charge upon the national industry that is utterly irreducible by any such means.

This element is what James J. Hill epigrammatically termed the cost of high living.

No statute, no government action of any kind, can have any effect upon the high cost of living that is caused by the efforts of people to live beyond their means—to keep up with a pace set by the ostentatious rich—to live a champagne life on a beer income.

The other day in New York a husband who was defendant in a divorce case thus responded to the innumerable charges made against him by his discontented wife:

> To judge from the affidavits I have been guilty of everything under the sun. I plead guilty to but one crime, and that is the heinous one of being unable to supply my wife with autos, theaters, late suppers and everything in that line that goes to make a New York woman happy.

That outcry from a worm that turned at last is typical of much.

And, it is asked in an editorial in Scribner's, "why, 'New York woman?'"

Can it be established that that same complaint could not be made by any Duluth man?

Says Scribner's: "The aggregate of money thrown away in the manners described is necessarily greater in New York than in other cities, purely by dint of the magnitude of the metropolis. But the per capita expenditure upon foolishness is probably no greater than in other cities, and certainly the tendency to extravagant and silly expenditure is no greater. Silly women of New Haven, Atlanta, Oshkosh, Peoria, of thee the fable is narrated, as the divorce records of these communities amply prove.

"One would wish for a course of the philosophers to be inculcated upon silly women, if silly women ever listened to philosophers. For the root of the matter is that silly women insist upon expenditures which ruin or craze or deprave their husbands, as the case may be, not because they enjoy them, but because other people do them who may or may not be able to afford them. 'As well be out of the world as out of fashion' is a damnable saying which is in the mouths of many well-meaning women, and the application of which has tragical results."

"Silly women!" Did you get that? There are men, sad to say, who lead their wives into silly expenditures intended to vie in ostentation with "other people." But, in proportion, not many. The sin, in the great majority of cases, is that of women.

They invest hard-earned, borrowed or stolen money in gay and riotous living, and they reap a harvest of bitterness and tears.

The divorce court, the criminal court, the sanitarium and the grave are crowded with the victims of this cost of high living, which is not only a very definite factor in the high cost of living, but which has a moral side more terrible than any purely economic problem can possibly have.

For the folly of trying to do "what other people do" we are paying in sin and sorrow and misery.

There's another side of this "too old" matter when it comes to being hired or fired—the man or woman who takes proper care of himself or herself is pretty sure to be capable of a reasonable day's work right up to three score and ten.

HERE'S HOPING.

Something very important is going on at Torreon, which Villa and his army have "invested," which means that they have laid siege to it and are trying to capture it.

This brings Mexican affairs rather more to a head than they have been. It may bring solution nearer.

Awhile ago we were rather hoping that the Carranza-Villa faction would mop up the earth with the Huerta faction. We haven't ceased hoping that, exactly, but the feeling has changed to a hope that somebody in Mexico will whip somebody else so completely that conditions there can be called settled. We care now less who it is that whips or is whipped than that something decisive shall happen.

If Villa takes Torreon, Villa-Carranza stock will rise greatly and Huerta stock will fall accordingly. We hold no Huerta stock, and precious little Villa-Carranza stock; but it would be pleasant to have one set of securities wiped off the board so that we could call the incident closed and cease having to keep an eye on the black-and-tan disorder south of us.

Then, too, there will be a tendency to think of the supporters of the elimination convention as having been in an almighty hurry to get on the lee side of the political windbreak.

LEAVES MUCH TO BE DESIRED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

You don't seem overly enthusiastic over the action of the anti-Eberhart Republicans in picking William E. Lee as their candidate. What have you against him?

ANTI.

Nothing. If we should ask you for a steel tape to measure a field with, and you brought us a foot-rule, we should have nothing against the foot-rule—as a foot-rule.

Maybe if the principle of government ownership of mining property were established in this country, some good Americans wouldn't be so anxious to have Uncle Sam take steps that might tend toward the annexation of Mexico.

THE NOON RELIGIOUS MEETINGS.

Monday Dr. John W. Hoffman of the First Methodist church begins a week of noon religious meetings at the Lyceum theater, taking up the work begun by his predecessor, Dr. Rice.

These meetings last forty minutes, divided equally between a song service and an address.

There will be no collection.

Though conducted by a Methodist clergyman, they will be strictly nonsectarian.

They come at a time when most people can leave their busy affairs long enough to get their benefits.

They bring the leaven of the church into the midst of the busy business day, in the heart of the business section. They can do nothing but good. They deserve success. They will be successful if you attend them.

The death of one investigator and the serious injury of another would seem to indicate that a volcano is anything but desirable as a plaything.

THE NEED OF UNIONS.

"There is a not inconsiderable number of employers in the United States," says the Chicago Tribune, "who ask in all sincerity, 'Why unions?' Why should a third party—the union—take a hand in the relations between employer and employe? Cannot the two parties concerned come to a just and amicable agreement on wages, hours and working conditions without the interference of the union delegate?"

The Tribune then quotes John Mitchell's article in the Atlantic Monthly in answer to these questions.

But before taking that up, let it be noted here that the union is not a third party intervening between employer and employe. If any third party did this, it should be the public, whose interests are often as closely concerned as those of either employer or employe—"master and servant," as the law misleadingly terms them.

The union is not a third and outside party. It is simply the employes, bargaining as a unit and on terms of something like equality. The union has supplanted individual bargaining because individual bargaining left too much to the mercy of the employer, and therefore was unfair and antisocial.

And it is also fair to state that while the unions—or rather their leaders—have faults, being human, and are not beyond criticism by any means, a very large proportion of the antipathy to them on the part of some employers is due not so much to their faults as to their virtues. In other words, the union is hated by some employers because it is successful in doing what the employes could never do individually, what needed to be done, and what it is best for us all to have done—that is, providing proper wages and human working conditions.

In his article, which is entitled "The Economic Necessity of Trade Unionism," Mr. Mitchell says frankly that the employer is not a good person to intrust with the guardianship of the interests of his employe. Industrial conditions have changed too much from the days when such an arrangement was possible.

Departing again from the thread of Mr. Mitchell's argument, let it be interpolated here that while under the old arrangement many masters were as good to their servants as competition would let them be, this was true just as it was true that under the older feudalism which this industrial feudalism replaced, some of the feudal barons were good to their vassals.

Says Mr. Mitchell, in effect: The employer no longer comes directly in touch with the employe. He hires hundreds of men at a time, or rather has them hired. He does not know the condition of each one of them individually, and he does not care to know. One man is as good to him as another. The matter of hiring men is a matter of routine.

To the employe, however, the process of being hired is a matter of great importance. If he can hire himself out to good advantage, he can maintain a good home and rear his children so they will be good and useful citizens. If his bargain is a bad one, then he can't do these things which it is so vital to society that he shall be able to do.

The individual worker, standing alone and unorganized, cannot bargain to advantage with his employer. So the union is needed to bargain for him and his fellows together.

And that is the heart of the argument for unionism. The worker needs it, and society needs it. Hence, until something better takes its place, it is here to stay.

The West Virginia Bull Moose party has entered into a "working agreement" with the Republicans. Just wait until the non-boss hears of that!

THE NEED OF A CITY AND COUNTY HOSPITAL.

Some months ago a man and wife located in Duluth, and rented rooms for light housekeeping. The husband was unable to get permanent employment, and was out of work a good deal of the time. The couple of course had a hard time to get along.

After four months of this the wife, because of worry, became ill and was threatened by abortion. Temporary relief was given, and the county poor commissioner notified.

The hospitals were full, and the woman was told that the only place for her was the poor farm. Her pride revolted at this, and at first she refused to go. Later she had to go there, swallowing her pride, and she came out all right. But her child was born at the poor farm!

It should not have been necessary to subject this unfortunate woman to such humiliation. Had there been a city and county hospital she could have been taken there promptly, and cared for without loss of pride and without the needless ignominy of bringing her child into the world in a poorhouse.

Now let it be understood that in this and other references in this connection to the county poor farm and its excellent hospital, no criticism of that institution is intended. There are few such institutions anywhere that can be compared to the St. Louis county poor farm. It is well equipped, well managed, humane and efficient. We haven't the slightest doubt that patients sent to the poor farm hospital get as good treatment as they could get anywhere. And doubtless most of those who are sent there belong there.

But that is not the point. It ought not to be so that sick people temporarily out of luck, who will be self-supporting when they recover, have to be subjected to the ignominy of going to the poorhouse. It will be so until there is a city and county hospital; and so long as it is so this fate might befall almost anybody.

A man named Maudlin has been nominated for mayor of Ripon, Wis. Now look out for a regular debauch of paragraphic puns, against which there is unfortunately no law.

THE UNEMPLOYED.

One good thing at least will flow out of the theatrical and spectacular demonstrations by the jobless in the last month or so under the leadership of that type of disturber to whom disorder and upheaval are the bread and breath of life.

This is that more thought for the luckless lot of the man out of a job is being taken than ever before.

And it may be that something tangible will come of it—something practically and constructively helpful.

Probably there are no more jobless men today than there has often been before, except on the Pacific coast where over-booming has treacherously misled thousands of men to seek employment where there was none to offer, and where other thousands have been led to settle and invest at the top of a rickety boom structure just at the moment of collapse.

But it seems like more than usual because never before have the unemployed forced themselves so insistently upon the public attention.

There are many jobless men in the country even when prosperity is at the full of its tide; even when, at many points, grain rots in the fields or needed work goes undone for lack of help.

This is so because there is no organized plan for getting the man and the job together.

Recent sensational demonstrations by the unemployed on both coasts will have served a splendid purpose if they carried home to the people of this country the need of some sort of organized system for bringing together the jobless man and the manless job.

And they seem to have done this to a considerable extent; though the folly of the leaders of these men out of work on the other hand has gone far to alienate public sympathy from men who really deserve it, and who are not to blame for the excesses of the few disturbers who have thrust themselves into the limelight as "leaders."

Rev. W. D. P. Bliss, secretary of the National Unemployment committee, is addressing a call to the churches, asking their co-operation. This is work the churches can well take up; but it should be understood that nothing permanently helpful will come of it no matter who takes it up unless attempts to relieve the problem of unemployment are aimed at something tangible, practical and permanent.

Though there are always jobless men in the country, there are few periods when there are many more men than jobs.

Always there is a congestion of labor in part of the country, and usually there is a scarcity of labor in other parts.

Therefore some system of labor-distribution is needed.

To be helpful, it must be national in its scope. To be permanent and effective, it must be governmental. Therefore, the practical way of meeting this problem seems to be for the Federal government to take it up, and to put under its department of labor such a free employment agency as Minnesota and many other states now conduct, only on a wider scale.

In that way something practical, effective and permanent can be done. It is hard to see how anything either practical, effective or permanent can be done in any other way.

There seems no reason to dispute the common understanding that the word "ulster" means a place in which you can keep warm without exertion.

THE TARIFF-RUINED WOOL INDUSTRY.

We have already seen how the sugar beet industry has been ruined by the Wilson tariff—ruined so completely that the sugar beet acreage this year is to be the largest in history and the sugar beet producers have the assurance of as steady markets and as good prices as they ever have enjoyed.

And now the wool industry, as was confidently predicted by its friends during the tariff debates, has been ruined also.

It's terrible! Montana newspapers report offers of eighteen cents for wool in the grease, a better price than has often been offered even under the highest protective tariff, and many growers are refusing this and looking for twenty cents.

The extent of the blasting ruination that free wool has brought upon the luckless head of the wool-grower may be gathered from this sample market report from one of the weekly trade reviews:

> Wool prices are advancing in all markets at home and abroad, owing to decreasing stocks and active demand for all available lots. Domestic wools are quiet, owing to small supply, but demand is eager and available lots are quickly snapped up. Scoured wools are advancing. There is a feeling at Boston that London has about touched the top, and the more conservative members of the trade are beginning to hesitate. This is especially noticeable in the West, where contracting is still going on at prices above last year's quotations.

Awful thing, this tariff revision downward—to ruin, wreck, impoverish and pauperize American producers this way!

Here, after all the threats of ruin and desolation, are tariff-shorn industries doomed to prices higher the year after revision than they enjoyed the year before revision! It's a fearful havoc the Wilson tariff is working!

Whoever filed the rudder on that English aeroplane handed out a most suggestive suggestion to the militants.

A GEM.

If you haven't yet read President Wilson's talk to the National Press club, which appears elsewhere in The Herald tonight, read it. It is a new revelation of the president, a whimsical, naive, frank, modest statement of his impressions of himself as president. It will bring him closer than ever before to those who read it, who will chuckle and admire.

Slang in the White House.

The Popular Magazine: President Wilson's ability to evade the questions of newspaper men is the despair of the profession. He never refuses to answer queries, but he is so expert as a verbal fencer that he can answer all day without giving the information the writers want.

On one occasion, when he was surrounded by a host of the correspondents at the White House, he was asked a question by Matthew F. Tighe, who, as a cross-examiner of public officials, is a wonder.

"As to that," replied the president, smilingly, "in the vernacular of the day, 'you can search me.'"

"There are times, Mr. President," said Tighe, wistfully, "when I wish I could."

Do We Believe in Democracy?

Editorial in the San Francisco Bulletin.

Prof. Adams of Stanford university, in a recent book on "The Power of Ideals in American History," tells of a conversation with an Englishman who in the '50s had worked enthusiastically for the extension of the electoral suffrage. "Do you in America still believe in democracy?" this man asked, and then added, with a world of sadness in his words, "I once had faith in it also."

In England, during the long struggle for the extension of the suffrage among the masses of the people, which culminated in the reform bill of 1867, it was confidently believed that a greater measure of democracy would cure the industrial evils of the time. It was thought that the mere matter of legalizing government by the people would result in making government better and more efficient, and that by the magic of a few slips of paper in a ballot box the dreadful wrongs of poverty would soon be ended. In America, when Andrew Jackson became president, something of the same faith in the power of a political democracy to right all social wrongs was ingenuously held. It was not thought possible that there should come to be oppression in a country where every man had a voice in the conduct of the government, and where all were guaranteed equality of opportunity.

Now, democracy, in America and in England, is somewhat like Christianity. We cannot say that either has failed, because absolutely it has never yet been tried. We cannot lose our faith in them until they have been tried, and have absolutely failed, and then, perhaps, it will be time to lose faith in everything and henceforth be cynics.

That is why an observer may consider the state of our country and doubt the efficacy of democracy under the mistaken impression that what he sees is democracy. He will notice that the equality of opportunity which we once thought ourselves to have secured forever rested on no firmer a basis than the presence of free land in the West, and that, with the passing of free land, that also is gone. He will learn that the millions of immigrants who have come to our shores within the past generation have been exploited, forced to live under a standard inferior to that of the American laborers whom they displaced, and thus made a means, not of obtaining liberty for themselves, but of infringing upon the dearest liberties of others. He will see that great combinations of capital have gained control of the finances, commerce and industries of the country, and, through that control, have exercised a wider and less tolerable tyranny than was ever within the scope of an English king. He will see the elected government at Washington made secondary, in the most important affairs of life, to a self-assumed, irresponsible government in New York. He will hear of whole counties, within the boundaries of this nation, where no constitutional privilege of the citizen is safe, and where the fundamental clauses of the venerable Petition of Right are shamelessly violated. In short, he will find instances which will lead him to doubt not whether the people of the United States have made any progress in democracy, but whether they have retained even the freedom of the English, on whose government theirs was modeled.

So it will be little wonder if he asks, at the end, "Do you in America still believe in democracy?" The answer must be that we in America do believe in democracy, and that we are led to believe in it with the greater faith from a recognition of the evils which have resulted from our deviations from it. We cannot be disillusioned with it while it is still almost an ideal, only partially realized. Our national convictions have but gained strength from a realization of the truth that the United States has suffered vastly more from crimes against democracy than from any mistakes made by democracy itself. The democratic ideal of government had its apotheosis in Lincoln. It was only in the generation after his death, as the material expansion of the nation began, that we began to lose this ideal. We sacrificed more than we yet know to a mad desire for wealth. The nation conquered and settled a continent, and, when that was done, discovered that it must set to work once more to learn how to govern itself.

This is the explanation of the political upheavals, in nation and state, of the past ten years. The nation is trying to win back "government of the people, for the people, and by the people." Lincoln's words are still good enough for the highest ambitions of any reform party. The demand for the referendum, the initiative, the recall and the direct primary is part of an effort made by the people to take back government into their own hands. The political frame which made a kind of democracy possible in the old days does not make it possible now, and that frame, consequently, has to be changed.

Coincident with this demand for political change, and, indeed, as part and parcel of the same government, goes a demand for an extension of the sphere of government so that it may exercise a control over industry. The drift toward government regulation and public ownership is setting more strongly every day, not because the theory has been worked out that they are abstractly desirable, but because they are essential to the maintenance of those liberties that we ought to have. Industrial democracy is being sought as the inevitable accompaniment of political democracy. If we do not secure them both we will not have any democracy at all.

Prof. Adams quotes Huxley as saying, in a farewell speech at New York, "Eternal suspicion is the price of liberty." In another place Dr. Adams adds: "There is no human perfection, and there is, and can be, no such thing on earth as a perfect government. Society is an organism, changing, growing, putting off old forms and putting on new ones. The true test of democracy is not fulfillment; it is progressive betterment."

And so the answer to the question, "Do you in America still believe in democracy?" is that we have just begun to understand what democracy is, that we have not yet obtained it in full measure, but that we are determined that it shall be the destiny of this nation some time to attain it.

Twenty Minutes Late.

Lippincott's: Assistant Professor Charles T. Copeland had reproved his students for coming late to class. "This is a class in English composition," he remarked, and added with sarcasm, "I'm not conducting an afternoon tea."

At the next meeting of the class, one of the girls was twenty minutes late. Prof. Copeland waited until she had traversed the room and found her seat. Then he remarked bitingly, "How will you have your tea, Miss Brown?"

"Without the lemon, please," Miss Brown answered gently.

The Real Prohibition

Editorial in Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Columbia State, viewing through philosophical glasses an incident that recently occurred upon the other side of the Atlantic, says:

"We are perfectly aware that this is an old subject and that the point of view is almost as old.

"Yet let us make a note of the fact that when the 'New York Giants' were entertained in Paris by George Kessler, 'rare old wines were served, but remained untouched by the players.'

"In other words, baseball is a serious business, and these men who are to play baseball this spring and summer are seriously on their job, even though, for the moment, they be junketing on a world's tour abroad. Twenty years ago a baseball team so circumstanced would not have left their glasses untouched; rather, they would have kept the butler and all his assistants busy with hurry calls to the cellar. Why the change, except as indicating that baseball has become a serious business, and that the serious men of baseball have decided that they have more to gain from baseball than the wine cup?

"What the brother of those who would keep the erring brother from intemperance will do does not depend on what they think about it, or on any law that their ingenuity can devise. It depends exactly on what this brother wishes to do with himself. If he would be a ballplayer, he must leave his glass untouched. If he would be an engineer, he must keep his nerves in tune. If he would be a banker or lawyer, or doctor, and make good at his work, he must be either powerful or a genius and pre-eminent, else he cannot drink. In other words, the drink question is settling itself. It is coming to be a privilege, instead of a right, to drink. The man who has beaten his way forward, who has attained his independence of whatever sort, may, as a vanity, afford to indulge a habit that harms nobody but himself, who cannot, in the circumstances, be harmed. The man who has to make his way every year suffers more and more if he offend, by the presumption of drinking, these privileged people who have earned—mostly through initial abstinence—the right to do so. In such circumstances, the man who is on the climb and the march, like the members of the 'Giants,' will prefer not to drink till he has time—and, when he has it, he will be most apt to neglect a privilege that he does not care to avail himself of."

The State is wholly right in saying that a brother cannot become his brother's keeper to the extent of keeping him sober by legislative enactments.

The real prohibition is that inaugurated by the individual who prohibits intemperance from balking his ambition, injuring his health, depleting his treasury and inflicting other penalties upon him. The only "dry territory" is that within the belt of the individual who is an abstainer and by abstaining provides the best examples of responsible and successful local self-government.

The prohibition that society is bringing more and more into play is not prohibition by restraint of the other fellow, but by self-restraint and for the benefit of self. Between the present period and that in which London saloons provided straw where the customers could sleep off the effects of indulgence there is a great difference. That difference does not reflect legislative efforts at brother-keeping. It reflects evolution. There was a time when both intemperance and illiteracy were common among "gentlemen" and when the expression "as drunk as a lord" was suggestive of a condition frequently observable in aristocratic circles. That was an age when highway robbery was an occupation for gentlemen, and when the methods of a modern corporation would have been looked upon by many pious persons as models of square dealing. The times have changed, in many ways, for the better.

Personal efficiency never brought handsomer returns than it does nowadays, despite the fact that the battle axe is not a court of last resort and a coat of mail the only protection from the designing neighbor. Within the experience of everyone who has had dealings with bread-winners there has been a decided lessening of inefficiency through drunkenness. That intemperance is not worth as much as the rewards of sobriety is a truth more widely appreciated nowadays than ever before.

Sacred Texts of the Hindus

Kansas City Star: Rabindranath Tagore's writings, both in prose and verse, contain many passages and texts from the Vedas—the four holy books of the Hindus—and from the various writings and teachings of Brama. They are worthy of note not only on account of their verbal beauty but because of their affinity with the Scriptures of Christianity. The following fragments are picked almost at random from Tagore's "Sadhana."

I bow to God over and over again, who is in fire and in water, who permeates the whole world, who is in the annual crops as well as in the perennial trees.

The Supreme Being is all pervading, therefore He is the innate good in all.

Know thine own soul.

It is not that thou lovest thy son because thou desirest him, but thou lovest thy son because thou desirest thine own soul.

Know thou the one, the soul. It is the bridge leading to the Immortal Being.

Only those of tranquil minds, and none else, can attain abiding joy, by realizing within their souls the Being who manifests one essence in a multiplicity of forms.

Rudra, O Thou Awful One, rend this dark cover in twain and let the saving beam of Thy smile of grace strike through this night of gloom and waken my soul.

From unreality lead me to the real, from darkness to the light, from death to immortality.

Thou, who are the spirit of manifestation, manifest Thyself in me.

From joy does spring all this creation, by joy it is maintained, towards joy does it progress, and in joy does it enter.

He manifests Himself in forms which His joy assumes.

Verily from the everlasting joy do all objects have their birth.

Who could have breathed or moved if the sky were not filled with joy, with love?

In the midst of activity alone wilt thou desire to live a hundred years.

By His many-sided activity, which radiates in all directions, does He fulfill the inherent want of His different creatures.

Man becomes true if in this life he can apprehend God; if not, it is the greatest calamity for him.

Know everything that there is in the universe as enveloped by God. Enjoy whatever is given by Him and harbor not in your mind the greed for wealth which is not your own.

Be lost altogether in Brahma like an arrow that has completely penetrated its target.

I think not that I know Him well, or that I know Him, or even that I know Him not.

From Brahma words come back baffled, as well as the mind, but he who knows Him by the joy of Him is free from all fears.

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

Louis Kossuth, the Hungarian patriot, died at Turin late last night. The Italian authorities expressed the desire that the remains of the distinguished patriot be buried in the Pantheon, in which many of the illustrious dead of Italy have their last resting place, but the Kossuth family has decided to remove the remains to Hungary. It is expected there will be a public funeral at Budapest.

J. A. Sutton, the West Duluth grocer, has decided to move uptown into the store on Superior street soon to be vacated by the Simon Clark Grocery company.

A. Mattson of Butte, Mont., who has been a guest of Charles Nostrom of the fire department at West Duluth for several days, left yesterday for his home.

James E. York of the Ironton Structural Steel company is figuring with the Manhattan Elevated railway in New York for a mammoth contract, requiring iron beams of thirty inches which only the York plant has ever manufactured. The contract would employ 1,000 men at the Ironton plant for the next ten years.

The board of public works was reorganized this morning, Messrs. Davis and Swordling taking the places of Messrs. Truelsen and Nilson and Mr. Davis being elected president.

The Demorest gold medal contest at the First M. E. church last evening drew a good audience. The medal was won by Miss Florence Hoes of Superior. The other contestants were Misses Misses Mabel Bartlett, Maud Clark, Blanche Jefferson, May Merritt, Eleanor Pineo and Adria Shuck.

While in Duluth yesterday, Sheriff Mike Toole of Itasca county appointed James Ross as his deputy at Rainy Lake City and Northern Itasca county.

There is another development in the Ohio Mining company's affairs which is greatly agitating the officers and stockholders. It is a peremptory notice from S. R. Ainslie of Chicago, owner of the fee of the property, to Dr. Fred Barrett and the Ohio Mining company that the lease to them is canceled for non-payment of the royalties amounting to $26,000 and that he has re-entered the property.

Gus E. Lundberg, one of the best known clothing salesmen in Duluth, has joined the Woodward Clothing company's forces at 224 West Superior street.

Duluth was visited by a severe storm last night, in which electrical disturbances, rain, sleet, snow, freezing breezes and young hurricanes were mixed up. Telephone, telegraph and electric light wires suffered great damage.

Live and Learn.

Lippincott's: One morning, at the breakfast table, Mr. Francis heard one of the children finding fault with something he was told to eat.

"'Well, upon my word,'" said the father, "you children are getting too dainty for anything! So you think, Arthur, you should have jam and butter on the same piece of bread, do you? Well, when I was your age I was very glad to get dry bread to eat.'"

"You have a much better time living with us, don't you, father?" queried little Arthur.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Point No Point.

Travelers who have sailed down the Mississippi say there is a point where the two banks of the river seem to come quite together, blocking further progress. As the boat proceeds, however, the opening becomes wider and wider until when the point is reached, the stream appears before one rolling broad and deep to the sea. The place has been called "Point No Point."

It is often true in life that distance lends not enchantment, but a kind of terror to the view. We look with dismay upon certain events that loom portentously before us. Our strength seems quite insufficient for the approaching task. Bible readers will recall how the ten spies were impressed with the land of Canaan they had gone to search out. "And there we saw the giants, the sons of Anak, which come of the giants; and we were in our own sight as grasshoppers and so were we in their sight." The somber report meant discouragement for the host waiting to enter in to take possession. Yet the fears of the timid were dissipated when the campaign was really on and the grasshoppers had begun chasing the giants to the mountains.

Many a man has safely weathered a crisis that at one time he timorously imagined would ruin him. A serene old grandmother was once observed chuckling over a diary she had kept as a girl. On one page she had made an entry regarding some unnamed disaster which was described as casting a blight over all her future life. Never again could the writer of those faded lines hope for joy or peace (so ran the narrative). When grandmother was asked what "disaster" was referred to she replied, with the heartiest laugh, "Well, for the life of me, I can't remember." She had passed Point No Point without being able even to recall the scenery.

The truth of the matter is that we weather many of the "terrible crises" of life because they aren't really crises at all. The event of the day may easily appear in exaggerated importance, because we are so near to it. A 5-cent piece held close to the eye looks as big as a mountain. And it is not otherwise with events either glad or sad that are immediately at hand. One hears men talk of some election that has gone against their candidate, or of some temporary defeat of righteousness in the land as though the crack of doom sounded. One only needs faith and something of that moral perspective that faith gives to realize that in both public and private affairs the stream of tendency bears us forward and not backward if we will but trust ourselves to its current. Whenever the barricading walls begin to close in it is well to remember that

Right is right since God is God
And right the day must win.

The only crisis worth talking about is that hourly one that each man can make for himself by taking the advice of St. Paul to do earnestly and well the one immediate thing his hands find to do. A horizon not extending beyond the day's work will do if we reflect that for tomorrow's work another horizon will be provided. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," and as we may safely believe, the strength also.

By SAVOYARD

Washington, March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—"And the angel said unto him, Fear not; for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people."—St. Luke ii, 10.

William Randolph Hearst makes the glad and welcome proclamation that he is going to leave the Democratic party if the Democratic congress shall favorably respond to the sage advice of the Democratic president and repeal the subsidy granted that remorseless and insatiate monopoly that was voted free tolls for its ships passing through the Panama canal.

Democracy! Thy feet are beautiful on the mountains! It was a saying in Savonarola's day that many a full sack comes from a crooked row, and he that would captain none but honest men would have small hire to pay, and so it is that it takes all sorts of folks and things to make a big political party—in our country. When politics was in a frenzy it made Hearst, and when it was in a frolic it labeled him "Democrat." Politically he is spawn of Sycorax.

And yet he might say, with an honest and guileless man of yore, "I have done the state some service," for William Randolph Hearst nominated Woodrow Wilson at Baltimore for president and the people elected him. The greatest asset Wilson had was his transcendent capacity for the job; the next greatest was the "yaller" hostility of Hearst. These two did the work. Providence has mysterious ways to overthrow and confound the wicked.

And so the country is ready to doff the cap of the nation to Hearst for his invaluable assistance in nominating Mr. Wilson, and if he will only redeem his threat to leave the Democratic party, where he never had a square inch of room, and where he was never for one moment welcome, or respected, or tolerated, it will relieve the Democratic party of some embarrassment and do the American people some service. The only city of refuge for Hearst is Tammany, with whose heifer he has more than once plowed.

There is nothing more certain—not even that congress will pass the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, that provides for the payment of the salaries of members of both houses—than that congress will pass the bill repealing the subsidy known as free tolls. So be good, clear out, leave the Democratic party that ever called you cursed and never knew you sincere.

Now, what is this here proposition about free Panama canal tolls for American craft in the coastwise trade? Lewis Nixon, once Tammany boss, who is accused of sneaking the thing in the platform at Baltimore, and head of the ship trust, might say—tax the people $2,000,000 per annum, give it to our monopoly in the name of patriotism, and we will give it back to the people in cheaper rates. Whatever does the man want with it if he is to take it in one hand and give it back with the other? Bosh!

It is only the old cry of a protective tariff—give me monopoly, and I'll take care of the people. Warwick in England, and Montmorency in France, did that; but they were honest about it and reasonably decent in the administration of their privilege. There was something lordly in them, for they were no hypocrites. They stood out full and fair and asserted their right to reap where others had strewed.

It is nothing in the world but the ship subsidy that the Republican party wanted to adopt but was afeared to enact for forty years. It came as a Grecian horse and as such it is in our house today.

Impression is sought to be made that President Wilson is intimidated by England and is the dupe or the cat's-paw of that power. Why, Hearst's chief "yaller" had a Washington dispatch the other day in which was the silly insinuation that if England would be patient and wait Wilson would see to it that the seceding states of 1861 should be forced to pay the Southern Confederate bonds held by English capitalists. What sort of contempt must this "yaller" have for the intelligence of its Southern readers when it feeds them on such idiocy as that!

If there is one custom practiced by President Wilson that meets the hearty approval of the intelligent public more than all others, it is his habit of delivering important messages to congress face to face. Three months before he was inaugurated I was told by a newspaper friend that was what he intended to do. The news was too good to be true, I feared, and I was rejoiced when the event justified the tidings. Just as the "pit rose" to Edmund Kean, the people have risen to Wilson, and the applause he gets for that act echoes from ocean to ocean.

Well, Hearst is in a rage about that—not because he condemns it per se, but because it has augmented the popularity of a Democratic president and here is a stark, staring stupidity he delivers himself of about it:

"Mr. Wilson, following the custom well established in England and her dependencies, has again delivered a speech from the throne to parliament."

Thus Mr. Hearst plays his constituency for fools—and he is entirely correct as to that. He, too, is "a business man."

Mr. Wilson in public, open, and intimate contact with congress only reestablishes a custom observed by George Washington.

Did Hearst ever hear of Washington? Probably not.

CITY-DWELLING FARMERS

Can the "Average Man" From a City Win Independence With a Farm?—Learning Agriculture at a City University.

By O. S. MORGAN,
Professor of Agriculture, Columbia University, New York.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

On this new continent every energetic man and woman still aspires to independence. The hired man of the city has small chance of becoming the controlling manager of the big business in which he finds himself. He does not realize this fact at 20 years of age. He does after city business has set him down as an "average man," when he is 40 years old.

"Everywhere," he reasons, "I hear of the high cost of farm produce. Every day's paper tells what state and nation are doing to help the farmer be a more successful producer of raw stuff, a more successful consumer of social stuffs, while being his own middleman. I am going to take wife and the youngsters to the farm."

The next morning he reads the paper with one thought in his mind—"farm." His eye falls on a column headed "City Dwelling Farmers." He finds that on one day a week at a great university in a city free lectures and free conferences on farming problems are to be had. The following week if he happens to live in that city he takes his noon hour to talk his case over in conference. The next week he attends one of the lectures.

Success of a Back to-the-Lander.

The lecturer is a man who operates a farm of his own, but who has been brought up in the city, who has graduated from the common schools and got his subsequent education from his business and newspaper. The lecture is on "How a Back-to-the Lander Succeeded." It is no "Get a Farm Quick" story. It is a narrative in which health, wisdom and finances work fifteen years to win a modest farm success.

The Back-to-the-Lander had studied all the free bulletins he could get from the state college of agriculture, the state department of agriculture and the United States department of agriculture, had subscribed to three kinds of farm papers, had bought a few farming books and further, had attended a series of evening lectures given in the city on fruit, poultry and general farming. His first summer's vacation he spent in going about in the country to a distance of 100 miles along three lines of railroads looking up farms for sale, types of farming, farm equipment, and transportation facilities. The following spring he resigned his "job" as clerk, left his wife and children in the city, and "hired out" to a dairy and fruit farmer at $30 a month.

In September he contracted for the purchase of 120 acres of an indifferently worked and equipped farm for $6,000, half down. He brought his family to their new home. The ensuing year $500 above the income of the farm was invested in cattle-feed, seed, lime and phosphate. At the end of this year, after meeting his interest on the mortgage and making a payment of $500 (the last of his sinking fund) he found that he and his wife had cleared $350, a hired man's wages at $30 per month.

Slowly he improved the buildings and equipment. At the end of fifteen years' work the family had paid off the mortgage and was banking an annual income of $800. Furthermore, he was chairman of the local committee on cooperative marketing and buying. He had succeeded.

From this lecture the listening clerk knew that he himself was facing a long, steady, uphill climb to the position of owner of a farm from which he and his family might hope to obtain a modest competence and the perquisites of life in the country. In succeeding lectures and conferences he was put in the way of sifting the chaffy advice and writings on theoretical and practical agriculture. He learned slowly that successful farming requires knowledge of modern scientific agriculture, and actual experience in putting through the diverse enterprises of the 365-day farm year; that it calls for business sagacity; and that above all it calls for patience with the slow pace which successful, plodding farm projects take, a patience that one can be sure he possesses only by trying himself out in an actual farm program.

Better Prepared Farmers Needed.

There are many people of many strata in every city who would succeed on the farm. But more farmers is not the present need of agriculture. Better prepared farmers is the need. If, however, people turn to farm life in the hope of increased happiness they must prepare for the "sea change" as Shakespeare's "Prospero" did in his transition from an artificial to a natural life. Every city man undertaking farming as an occupation should realize that farmers get a small salary and get low interest on their investment, counting country life as making up the deficit. The deficit is more than made up to such as are or come to be farmers in practice and in outlook.

For people of this mind every city in this country should have its free institute of agriculture. Such an institute open once a week through twenty weeks of the year is meeting with marked success in New York City. It is a co-operative effort between the department of agriculture of Columbia university and the New York state department of agriculture.

Through the operation of this plan many people who otherwise would go back to the land unprepared will go prepared. Others will be deterred entirely from going. Finally, it is hoped that through this extension of education in agriculture much abandoned or unprofitable farm land owned by city dwellers will eventually receive safe development and efficient management.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

A Great Russian Realist.

THE POSSESSED. By Fyodor Dostoevsky. Translation from the Russian by Constance Garnett. New York: The MacMillan company. $1.50 net.

"The Possessed" is the third novel of this Russian realist's which Constance Garnett has prepared for English readers. The preceding books of the series uniform with it are "The Brothers Karamazov" and "The Idiot." They have been read with eagerness by those who find in the work of this great Russian a literature typical of the people. Here is a fact that comes as a surprise to many of the English-speaking peoples in Russian literature: Russia is old, but her literature so far as it concerns the world is new. Russian literature as a world interest begins in the nineteenth century. This makes clear in part the lack of technical facility which is so evident to the English reader that to read the translation of a Russian novel it requires concentrated and determined effort. The English are accustomed to the novel as an art form whose possibilities have been realized in large part by many contributors to the literature of the language. It is not so with the Russian whose life ended in 1881, and only a few of his works have as yet been translated into English. The difficulties of presenting him to an English audience are many. He has great inequalities of style, he did not learn the lesson of compression, his work seems to the English reader garrulous and incoherent; and yet he came so close to the Russian people, keeps so eternally to his ideal, that many critics call him not only the greatest of all Russian writers, but one of the greatest writers that the world has ever seen. He has been called "the confessor, the vivesector and the Grand Inquisitor of the Russian soul." Of him and his work one of his own countrymen, Prince Serge Wolkonsky, writes in a lecture delivered several years ago in a series of Lowell lectures:

"Dostoevsky, the somber epileptic, disenchanted with 'civilization,' disgusted with the upper classes and all that comes from Europe, preaches individual self-oblivion; he goes to the outcasts of society; among murderers, convicts, and disreputable women he discovers jewels of moral beauty, and, in an act of mystic veneration, he kneels down before the collective soul of the Russian lower people, as the only true remnant of Christian humility, predestined by Providence to regenerate the world."

Another critic writes: "We must not look on Dostoevsky as on an ordinary novelist, a talented and intelligent writer. There was something more in him and just that something more constitutes his characteristic peculiarity and explains his influence on others."

Certainly "The Possessed," which is sometimes translated "Possessed of Devils," cannot be reviewed in the hurried fashion of most receipts at the reviewer's desk. Its difficulties of style make such a proceeding quite impossible. But certainly to the students of world literature these translations provided by the MacMillan company are most welcome. Other novels by the same author are in preparation.

A Tagore Drama.

CHITRA. By Rabindranath Tagore. New York: The MacMillan company. $1 net.

Rabindranath Tagore, who has lately been awarded the Nobel prize for idealism in literature, is a philosopher, patriot, singer and composer, an editor, a far-sighted educator and a poet of love; and the lyrical drama "Chitra," from his pen, has just been published by the MacMillan company. The drama was written twenty-five years ago, and is based on a story from the great Hindu poem of the Mahabharata. It tells of the love of Arjuna for Chitrangada, daughter of the king of the country, in which the hero finds himself in his wanderings in fulfillment of a vow of penance. The spiritual drama disclosed is of the effort of the princess to reveal her real self to her lover as something finer and more satisfying to them both than the beauty and charms which have first delighted him. The English translation is made by the author, and the dedication to Mrs. William Vaughn Moody is of interest to the American public. Everything available in English from the pen of this Hindu philosopher and poet is being read with much interest.

The Mystery of a Past.

A DOUBTFUL CHARACTER. By Mrs. Baillie Reynolds, author of "The Notorious Miss Lisle," "Out of the Night," etc. London: Hodder & Stoughton. New York: George H. Doran company, $1.25 net.

Miss Fazackerly was a tremendously disagreeable female bounder, and we were rather pleased when, early in the story, she lost her life in an Alpine catastrophe and passed out of our ken.

But her passing surely left Una Martindale in a dreadful fix. Miss Fazackerly was her aunt and sole providing relative, and here she was, in Switzerland alone, friendless, kinless and almost penniless. But she had met Alister Macdonald, a dour young Britisher, alone in the world like herself, and they had struck up a queer sort of relationship, mostly quarreling. He loved her, and he asked her to marry him. She consented, and notified her only relative, a very distant one, who had once been governor of a "gaol." When Macdonald heard who her relative was, he vanished, telling her that it would be unfair to her to let her marry him, and contriving to leave the impression that he had been about to commit a bigamy. Which was stupid, and it was not rendered less stupid by his leaving her a lot of money which pride wouldn't let her use. Clearly, there was a cloud on his past, and that cloud, and what made it, and how it got cleared away, make up the story, which is satisfactorily entertaining and well told.

A Very Sad Tale.

EAST OF THE SHADOWS. By Mrs. Hubert Barclay, author of "A Dream of Rhine Roses." London: Hodder & Stoughton. New York: George H. Doran company. $1.25 net.

Philippa Harford, left alone—as she thinks—in the home of friends who have suddenly been called away by the illness of a son, was startled when a perfectly strange but presentable man appeared and made violent love to her, calling her by name. She had never seen him before, or heard of him; yet he seemed to know her and claimed her as his betrothed. It developed that twenty years before this man had been engaged to Philippa's aunt, of the same name, and had been driven out of his mind by an accident and by Aunt Philippa's lightminded disloyalty to him. The shock of seeing our Philippa, while it cleared his mind, prostrated him also, and the doctor said she would have to play the role that had fallen upon her in order to save his life. So, much against the convictions of her friends, she did it; and incidentally fell in love with the man, though he was old enough to be her father.

But, all the time, she realized that it was not her he loved, but her dead aunt; and that if he recovered—which he presently did—he would find out—which he presently did. This is the situation which makes this sad but very well developed novel.

A Peasant's Fine Novel.

JEAN AND LOUISE. By Antonin Dusserre. New York: George H. Doran & Co. $1.20 net.

It is interesting to know that the author of this book is a French peasant; that the translator, John N. Raphael, is the man who translated Marguerite Audoux's "Marie Claire;" that Marguerite Audoux, herself a humble seamstress who wrote a great book, knows and admires Antonin Dusserre and writes a picture of him to put in this book; that one reviewer has classed this novel as "a French Tess of the d'Urbervilles."

But it is still more interesting to read this prose epic of the fields of Auvergne, this simple, limpid pageant of the seasons and of the love and tragedy of two lives, which this self-educated peasant has made more true and convincing than nine-tenths of the cultivated writers of the world's fiction of today could have made it.

The story is of Jean Paulhac and Marie Louise Simiaise. Jean was the oldest son of the house of Paulhac, who had been embittered by the loss of an arm and by the disloyalty of a sweetheart who wanted no one-armed lover. Louise was the shepherdess of the Carriers, rivals of the Paulhacs for first place in a village of Auvergne. Louise had been left as a baby on a doorstep, and there was a mystery about her birth. Louise cheered Paul while they herded cattle and sheep together, and let him make her the butt of his gloomy humors. Propinquity and the hot blood of youth worked the usual result of fire and tow. The tragedy makes the story. The plot is not new—it is ages old. The treatment is new and "different." For all of what happened to Louise, it is chaste and sweet.

A Bully Detective Story.

CLEEK OF SCOTLAND YARD. By T. W. Hanshew, author of "Cleek, the Man of Forty Faces." Garden City, New York: Doubleday, Page & Co. $1.25 net.

However it may be with others, we like our story detectives served up with a marvelous capacity to disguise themselves, with supernatural penetration, men to whom failure is impossible. And that's the kind Cleek is; so we like him. We like his unfailing dramatic touch at the climax of each incident—his "Played, sir, played!" as he deftly affixes the handcuffs. Moreover, we like the swiftly-moving episodes that make up this book, and that are strung together by Cleek's romance and by the mystery in the background connecting him in some way with high events in the mythical European kingdom of Mauravania. Throughout, while Cleek is solving mystery after mystery, he is imperilled by the plots of Mauravanian enemies and by the Paris Apaches they have hired. It is stirring, thrilling, vastly diverting, and its interest never lapse from first page to last.

Mr. Hanshew lately died in London, and his death rather astonished the world when it was accompanied by the news that he was the author of the sensational novels, familiar to a generation of readers, "by Bertha M. Clay."

A $10,000-Prize Novel.

DIANE OF THE GREEN VAN. By Leona Dalrymple. Chicago: Reilly & Britton company. $1.35 net.

Diane Westfall, sick of her rather hectic social surroundings, went a-gypsying in a great van. She hadn't far to go for adventure. It found her at once. Philip Poynter, the rich American secretary to Baron Tregar of Houdania—which is an interesting European country next door to the theater of the "Prisoner of Zenda's" exploits—was attacked mysteriously just outside her camp, and had to be brought there to be restored to consciousness and to have his wounds dressed. For some mysterious reason, apparently connected with the abstruse politics of Houdania, Poynter's chief was curious about Miss Westfall and about whether she was interested in Houdanian affairs. She wasn't, it seemed, until later—but that's a part of the story. Nevertheless, despite her lack of interest in the problems of Houdania, they revolved about her unceasingly and excitingly. And so did Philip Poynter, who quit his baron to follow her van journey to Florida, deeming it his duty to protect her and to make her fall in love with him and marry him. So Diane in her green van was accompanied by a suave youth on a load of hay, also by an attractively mysterious foreign nobleman in disguise who traveled by a music-machine, by plots and spies and perils innumerable. There is a paper hidden in a candlestick, a cuff covered with cipher, a wonderfully beautiful Indian maiden in the Florida wilderness, a—but, in short, there is a great plenty in the story, almost too much, almost so much as to be bewildering at times. And it is written breezily and cleverly and will surely entertain. The tale was awarded a prize of $10,000 by no less judges than Miss Ida M. Tarbell, S. S. McClure and George N. Madison, out of more than 500 manuscripts. We haven't seen the others, but we have seen some manuscripts, and we feel no disposition to criticize the choice of the judges.

A Philosophy of Sunshine.

SUNSHINE JANE. By Anne Warner, author of "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," etc. Boston, Little, Brown & Co. $1 net.

Reading this book is a pleasant experience. "Sunshine Jane" was a nurse whose mission was not to care for sick bodies but sick souls. She belonged to the new order of Sunshine Nurses, whose religion was quite the most modern of all the New Thought creeds. As she put it: "We're to see the sun as always shining and always shine ourselves; and our training consists in going where there isn't any brightness and being bright, and going where there isn't any happiness and making happiness." That is what Jane does in this sunshiny story. One of Jane's theories is that whatever one wants and has faith to be assured of, one shall have. The working out of this theory quite revolutionized the village to which Jane came to care for her invalid aunt. There is plenty of droll fun, and underlying it all is a sound and helpful doctrine of optimism and faith in the ultimate good in all things, and an entirely practical rule for happy living—by bringing the happiness out from within instead of waiting to have it brought from without.

Many are familiar with this useful and compact compendium of information, and the newest edition is the best. It shows the entire railroad system of the state and the express companies doing business over each road, locates the nearest mailing point of all local places, designates money-order postoffice, telegraph stations, etc., in short, it is what its title calls it, "a shipper's guide."

Anti-Saloon Statistics.

ANTI-SALOON YEARBOOK FOR 1914. Westerville, Ohio: The Anti-Saloon League of America. 25 cents.

This is the seventh issue of this annual publication, which is intended to be—and doubtless is—an encyclopedia of facts and figures dealing with the liquor traffic and the prohibition movement in this country. There are comparative figures on manufactures, crime, pauperism, insanity, industrial conditions, etc., between license and prohibition states, not all of which, of course, can be traced to any relationship between license and no-license. For instance, a comparison between certain license states and certain prohibition states on manufactures seems very impressive until it is realized that the license states enumerated are manufacturing states while the no-license states enumerated are not. The statistics on which the advocates of sumptuary legislation base their arguments are all here, of course.

Alma's Third Year At Hadley.

ALMA'S JUNIOR YEAR. By Louise M. Breitenbach, author of "Alma at Hadley Hall," etc. Boston: The Page company. $1.50.

This is a very pleasant story of the adventures and experiences of Alma Peabody and her friends at Hadley hall in her junior year. Alma is a very pleasant girl to know, there were very pleasant girls—mostly—about her, and many pleasant and interesting things happened to them. The author tells about their adventures most entertainingly, and makes an agreeable and wholesome book for girls out of it all.

Among the Magazines.

The March issue of the Constructive Quarterly, published in London by Henry Milford and in this country by the George H. Doran company, New York, is the first of the second volume. The ample table of contents includes discussions of religion in many phases and from many viewpoints, thus meeting the aim of the publication, which seems to be to make it a gathering place for the leaders of thought in every type of Christian faith. For instance, the subject of faith is discussed by a Scotch Presbyterian, an English canon, a Jesuit and a Russian archbishop. The subtitle of the quarterly is "A Journal of the Faith, Work and Thought of Christendom."

It is a veritable wonder-journey that Theodore Roosevelt begins in the April number of Scribner's Magazine. Having been invited to deliver addresses in South America, he decided not to return in the conventional way but to "come north through the middle of the continent into the valley of the Amazon," and then he wrote to Father Zahm, a priest who used to talk South America with him when he was president, and with the co-operation of the American Museum of Natural History and their naturalists, this piquantly varied party is now far on its journey, a dispatch recently announcing their discovery of an unknown river. Col. Roosevelt calls his narrative "A Hunter-Naturalist in the Brazilian Wilderness," and this first installment describes the journey "Up the Paraguay," made on a Paraguayan government gunboat, with many stops by the way. Readers who appreciate good writing will find here the very best of its kind—a real literary interpretation of this tropical landscape with its strange native people, its gorgeous birds of plumage, its grotesque animals, most of them absolutely unknown in North America. It is with the zest of a boy for a new adventure and the trained eye of a naturalist that Col. Roosevelt starts the reader on his romantic journey. The illustrations, by Kermit and other members of the patry, follow the text exactly, so that what is described in text is also pictured. These articles reflect Col. Roosevelt's most attractive mood.

FOLLOWING THE SPORT THOUGHT ALONG TRAILS OF CURRENT DOPE

Arthur L. Ryberg Will Start a Movement for the Organization of Branch of National Amateur Baseball League---Gossip of Sport Happenings.

BY BRUCE.

ARTHUR L. RYBERG, one of the best known and likewise one of the most consistent sport boosters of the city of Duluth, is an enthusiastic advocate of the plan to organize a local branch of the National Amateur Baseball league, announcing today that he would call a meeting of the various managers of local teams and others interested in baseball, with the purpose of starting the movement.

According to the stated plans of Mr. Ryberg, a meeting of the various baseball managers and boosters will be set for some time during the coming week. Mr. Ryberg has sent to Cleveland for a copy of the rules of the league and it is proposed to proceed here along similar lines.

As the Cleveland and St. Paul organizations include all of the teams of the city, from the best to the smallest, it can be readily seen that the organization of a branch of the league in Duluth would place the game on a substantial basis and would at the same time serve to provide an incentive for better baseball.

"The organization of a league affiliated with the National organization of amateur baseball clubs would serve a much needed purpose," declared Mr. Ryberg.

"In the first place it would bring the game under the supervision of a board of governors, and in the second place it would properly classify the various teams. It would stimulate interest and promote greater competition and in the end would serve the best interests of the game."

The more baseball the better is the city. As Duluth grows the time will come when it will demand parks for the playing of its various amateur games, and the organization of the amateur league is the very best way of securing benefits for the game.

Rooting for William.

DURING the flight of the years, while busy with suffrage, rusty lawn mowers, ill cats, the commission form of government, and multifarious duties immediately and intimately connected with earning a livelihood, some have copped out time to speculate upon the question of what would happen should Bill Wendlandt play some of the crack handball players of the Northwest. It has been one of the standing questions. Time has flitted and lo and behold Bill is going to try. The question will be answered. Hold the fort of interest—for the games are coming. Let us all hope that our boys make a grand la la showing. Sympathy, that figurative Dame with entwining arms, is with 'em, speaking from our side of the kitchen.

Zealous Laborer.

FRANKIE WHITNEY goes under the name of the fighting carpenter. Maybe Frank does not belong to the union. Anyway he is a regular prize fighter.

Over at Dubuque, Iowa, pronounced in some places as Dubyque, they are going to erect a fight arena on the Wisconsin side of the state line—just as they have in all the Wisconsin villages bordering on the Minnesota line.

Frankie declares that during the approaching summer he will labor upon the arena and that after its completion he will labor in it—on it with the hammer and in it with the gloves.

Isn't Frank energetic and optimistic!

A Free College Thinker.

YALE men, attention! Johnny De Saules has been appointed minister to Uruguay—and by President Wilson. But why is that so strange? Don't you remember the time little Johnny De Saules was one of the football heroes of Yale? He sure was—one of the greatest of a long line of illustrious quarterbacks—and he helped to defeat Princeton.

After graduating from the football team John beat it down to South America. Down in the torrid and temperamental zone he copped out the beautiful Senorita Errazuriz. They say that the former Yale football hero fought several well seasoned duels with several well seasoned native admirers of the beauty—all of which raised the diminutive football hero in the lovely eyes of the lady. Anyway, John registered.

After that, or a few years thereafter, John came home and labored for Wilson, lining up the college vote. Now he goes back to the land of the revolution as a minister—and he is from Yale and a football star, all of which goes to show that Woodrow admires some of the former arch conspirators against the ancient honor of old Nassau.

The Tale of Two Cities.

DETROIT and Boston are waging warfare over the question of the relative size of the fat and sleek salaries drawn by Tyrus Raymond Cobb and Tris Tweedham Speaker.

The city by the St. Clair flats comes to bat with the statement that the Georgia Peach is upon the receiving end of a $15,000 salary, whereas Speaker receives $12,000.

Immediately thereupon the Bostonese gather the girdle of argument about their collective loins and shout that the Speaker one is the happy and prosperous recipient of some $18,000 per autumn annum.

This reminds one that in the event of the Detroit Tigers dropping much lower in the pennant flight, there will be little left to make a national noise about, excepting the salary and baseball qualities of Mons. Cobb, a noble youth and brave.

The Romantic Touch.

IN the Pioneer Press of last Sunday a writer gives romantic and glowing description of the game Rube Waddell pitched in this city on June 28 last. Just to make it good, Friend Dunlap that the Rube called the outfielders in and struck out several batters.

Once at a county fair, so the story goes, Waddell did perform this trick. He never did it in a regular league, and we are wondering if some of the fans down St. Paul way really believe he pulled anything like that up here. He didn't.

If His Bones Holdout.

FROM Cadillac, which is identified with Wolgast and occasionally with Michigan, comes trudging the report that the former champion lightweight of the world is thinking seriously of retiring from the ring. His bones won't stand the pressure.

In the training period prior to the meeting with Ritchie, the second one, Adolph broke several of the little bones of his little hand. Previous to the last break there have been others of frequent occurrence.

Wolgast has broken most everything but the ulna bone. Jimmy Britt held the monopoly there—in fact, had it copyrighted. Seriously, Susan, the small and determined Dutchman has met with a lot of ill luck in the ring. But when one grasps the size of his bank roll and then listens to the size of some of the small rolls of the others, the question of the ill luck is sort of lost sight of.

Ad may be champion again—if his bones hold out.

Spend a Lot of Coin.

NOW that the first gun has been fired in the legal war over baseball players, the thought comes trooping to us that some of the others will come in on the coin that is going to be spent by the fabulous Federalists.

Once the lawyers get into the game with enthusiasm and legal abandon, there will be less coin to tempt the unruly boys of baseball with fat salaries of a trifling sum of $25,000 or so per season.

The Salary Uplift.

A TABLE of odious comparisons—to the veterans, understand—is published in an Eastern paper, showing the baseball salaries of the present time and those of times that have lapsed.

Pastimers of the capacious caliber of John Ward, Amos Rusie, Dan Brouthers and Buck Ewing received stipends around the two and three thousand mark; while the players of today, some of 'em, are receiving from $12,500 up to $18,000.

This should make some of the bygones extremely angry that they did not live to labor in a later age.

WILLIE HOPPE RETAINS TITLE

Eighteen-Inch Balk Line Wizard Pulls Himself Out of Hole.

New York, March 21.—Willie Hoppe of this city retained his title of world's champion at 18.1 balk line billiards here last night by defeating George Sutton of Chicago, 500 points to 228 in twenty-one innings.

Hoppe was slow in getting going, scoring only five points in the first five innings, while his opponent ran up seventy-eight. Hoppe made a high run of 67 in the sixth inning, following it up with 44 and 40. His run of 90 was the highest of the match and was beautifully played.

Sutton's best effort was in the sixteenth inning, but he experienced some bad luck during the game, the balls being frozen on one occasion when he had to be spotted. Scores:

Hoppe, 500; average, 23 17-21; high runs, 90, 79, 67, 66.

TOUGH LUCK FOR A GOOD LITTLE PLAYER.

St. Louis, Mo., March 21.—Arnold Hauser, shortstop of the St. Louis Nationals, was taken to a hospital yesterday, suffering from nervous prostration. Physicians declare he will require several months' treatment. Hauser, since the latter part of 1913, has been brooding over a series of recent misfortunes, the death of his mother, the death of his small daughter, and an injury to a knee which prevented him from playing last year.

His wife also is on the verge of collapse as a result of the constant attention she has given him.

SPORT BOOSTER TO START MOVEMENT FOR ORGANIZATION OF A NEW LEAGUE

A. L. RYBERG.

FORMER CHAMPIONS TIED FOR TITLE

Close Finish in National Amateur Billiard Contest in New York.

New York, March 21.—At the conclusion of a string of twenty-one games in the national amateur billiard championship tournament here last night, two former national champions, Morris D. Brown of Brooklyn and Edward W. Gardner of this city were tied for first place, having won five out of six games each. They will play off the tie today.

J. Ferdinand Poggenburg, also of this city, who holds the international championship title, won third place, winning four games and losing two. Joseph Mayer, last year's champion, finished four with three games won and two lost. He won the special prize for the highest average of the contest—101-21.

Brown and Poggenburg played the slowest game of the tournament here yesterday and Brown won by 400 to 336. Although only thirty-three innings were played the men consumed nearly four hours in completing the contest. The fact that the chance of either one of them for championship honors depended upon the outcome was the reason why they were more deliberate than in any of their preceding games.

Champion Is Beaten.

Detroit, Mich., March 21.—Allie Moore of Charlevoix, Mich., professional champion roller skater, was defeated by Rodney Peters of St. Louis in the semi-final heat in the world's championship meet here last night. Peters' victory entitles him to a place in the grand finals next week.

New Haven, Conn., March 21.—William H. Sweney of St. Paul, a junior in the Sheffield scientific school, was elected captain of the Yale hockey team for next year. Joseph L. Otis, Jr., of Chicago, was elected manager.

PRESIDENT BLUME BACK; BASEBALL POT BOILING

Darby O'Brien Off to Round Up White Sox Candidates.

Secretary Kelly of Fort William Predicts a Strong Team.

BY BRUCE.

President Harry A. Blume of the Duluth Baseball association returned yesterday from Hot Springs, Ark., where the genial executive has been getting in shape in the vapory valley for one of the most strenuous baseball seasons in the history of the local club.

Thomas Darby O'Brien, orator and baseball philosopher, was awaiting the return of President Blume, the two holding a 6-hour conference in the association offices in the Winthrop building yesterday.

As a result of this conference Darby will leave late today for Cleveland where the work of assembling the Cleveland candidates for the team will be begun.

On April 25 the first game of the season is scheduled with the Oshkosh team of the W.-I. league. It is the plan of O'Brien to assemble the Cleveland candidates and take them to the training camp, which will be at the little Wisconsin village, and have the other candidates from the other cities come on at the same time.

"We look forward to one of the most successful seasons in the history of local baseball," declared President Blume yesterday.

"It looks at the present time as if we have the material for a fast and evenly balanced team. There is an army of candidates to choose from and we expect to be fortunate enough to find some stars among the large list.

"Darby signed a pitcher by the name of Clarence Grina yesterday. If half of the pitchers we have signed make good, Duluth will have one of the best heaving brigades in minor league baseball.

"Grina hails from Flaxton, N. D., and was in to call on us yesterday. The Flaxton youth is a giant and bears the stamp of a real baseball player, but then you know it is what they do on the baseball field—and not how they look.

"From what I hear the Northern league will be even faster than last year. Cantillon will have a fine team at Fargo, and you can rest assured that Kid Taylor will have a hustling aggregation at Virginia. From time to time we have heard of some of the players Taylor is signing up, and I think Virginia will be one of the teams that will be in the race all the way.

"Eddie Wheeler, at Grand Forks, has a large bunch of material to choose from and Lefty Davis has most of last year's team left. Conrad realizes that he must get away from the mark fast this year and Fort William should make trouble from the start. I guess Duluth and Superior will be able to show the fans some real baseball—at least that is our calculation right now."

Kelly is in Town.

Charles Kelly, secretary of the Fort William team, was in our midst yesterday. Kelly stopped over here en route to the Canadian Head of the Lakes, whither he is bound on duty stern and imposing.

Work is under way on the new Fort William grounds and there is a multitude of tasks awaiting the general direction of the St. Paul man.

In The Herald office Kelly declared that he has received the contracts of twenty-eight ball players. Right now Conrad and Lizette are on the trail of another pitcher and a second baseman. If these men are landed the enthusiastic Kelly has visions of a pennant, and here it is only March.

The Fort William team will train at Ottumwa, Iowa. Five games are scheduled with the team of the Iowa city and Kelly figures that his warriors will be in pretty fine condition by the time the season opens, May 6.

Darby Is Mysterious.

For once in his nomad life of baseball Darby O'Brien maintains a mysterious quiet.

"I will have a young and scrapping team," says the Orator. "Just what the team will do it is difficult to forecast. I have the satisfaction of knowing that I signed the cream of the Cleveland talent and I have supplemented this list with some of the most promising players of the West. On paper the team looks good—but you never can tell. I think we're going to be there—but wait. The pennant is won after the season starts. So long."

With President Blume back on the job, with repair work and some alterations to start at the baseball grounds in the next few days, with Darby O'Brien departing for Cleveland, with the managers of the seven other teams of the league rounding up their players, it begins to take on the zest of spring, even if there is a cold and forbidding wind blowing off old Lake Superior while these lines are being written.

Baseball in the Northern league is not much more than a month away and the time has come when thought of fan and fanssee should be centered upon the team and the prospects of the league in general.

SHUGRUE OUTPOINTS CROSS IN NEW YORK.

New York, March 21. — Young Shugrue of Jersey City cleverly outpointed Leach Cross of this city in a ten-round bout here last night. Cross weighed 135 pounds, Shugrue 133¾ pounds.

San Francisco, Cal., March 21.—Gilbert Gallant of Boston and "Red" Watson of this city fought twenty rounds to a draw here last night. They are lightweights.

WINS TANK EVENTS.

Northwestern University Scores By Narrow Margin Over Illinois.

Chicago, March 21.—Northwestern university was the winner, with 29 points, in a close three-sided race for the tank events of the annual big nine two days' conference meet which began at Northwestern last night. The University of Illinois was second with 28 points, and the University of Chicago third with 22. Wisconsin was fourth with 6 points. Taylor's victory in the 200-yard breast stroke gave 5 points. Taylor also made a point by getting fourth place in the 150-yard back stroke.

Northwestern came up from behind in the relay race, the last event of the meet, winning just enough points to overcome Illinois' lead. The relay race went to Northwestern through the efforts of Capt. Wood, the last man of the Northwestern team. He overcame Illinois' lead, winning the race and the meet in the last few seconds of the evening.

A new conference record was set in the plunge for distance in a sixty-foot tank, McDonald's time of 23 2-5 cutting 1 4-5 seconds from the record held by Lichter of Illinois.

"BEE" LAWLER QUITS THE "U"

Four Football Luminaries Have Left 'Varsity This Season.

Baseball and Swimming Men Are Making Fine Showing.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lawrence "Bee" Lawler, University of Minnesota football, baseball and basket ball star, severed all connections with the university last Monday, according to announcement by the athlete Wednesday.

He is the fourth Gopher football luminary to quite college in the last two months. Lazarus Barron, Lorin Solon and Joe Mattern were the other players who gave up their college work. Lawler was up to the scratch in all his class work. He intends to return next fall for the football season, but it is believed his eligibility will be questioned when he appears before the faculty inquisitions next September. He is of the opinion that his class standings will not be questioned and says he will take a chance on it. A rumor has been rife on the campus for several days that the scrappy little Turk had made plans to enter the University of Wisconsin. He said Wednesday there was no truth to the story and that if he can not play with the Gophers, he will play with no other team. Lawler was registered in the college of pharmacy, and according to the registrar's books was billed to be graduated this June. During the winter, however, he changed his course to one year longer, and it looked as if everything would be smooth sailing for him. A short time ago he discovered that if he had continued the course, that he would not be carrying enough class work to be eligible next fall.

Activity on Demand.

For the first time this season, Dr. Cooke had his university baseball squad outdoors last Saturday. The afternoon was spent in unlimbering the arms and in batting practice. The men have worked daily in the armory cage since early in February and appear to be further advanced as far as condition is concerned than is usual at this time of the year. The eligibility committee has not completed its examination of the baseball candidates and Dr. Cooke is still up in the air as to just how many men will be able to compete. There will probably be at least twenty-five, but as most of these men have had little or no varsity experience, it appears as if the coach will have his hands full in developing a team of real varsity caliber.

The inter-class basket ball games have reached the stage, where the winner in each college has been practically settled. In the engineering college the seniors have a clean slate, with the sophomores a close second. The freshman laws are supreme in their college, as are the freshman dents in theirs. The sophomore class has the championship in the academic college. Prof. O. S. Zelner, the chairman of the faculty committee on intramural sports announced Wednesday that the committee was about to introduce some striking innovations in the matter of inter-class and inter-collegiate games. Hereafter, instead of deciding an intercollegiate champion and then letting the different colleges fight it out, the schedule will call for inter-class games in the whole university. The team representing the senior engineers, for instance, will play all the other senior teams. After the championship has been determined in each of the four classes, the four successful teams will compete for the university championship. Dr. Cooke has promised to furnish coaches for every class baseball team this spring, and as three diamonds will be available for the class games, the series should be interesting.

Big Swimming List.

Swimming directors, Johnson, expects to have a record list of entries for the annual swimming meet, which is to be held at the university armory Saturday, March 21. Final trials in all the life savers' events will be held, including the three swims for form, diving for form, swimming under water against time, undressing swim, salvage swim and rescue swim. The principal event will be the inter-fraternity relay, in which five or six fraternities are expected to enter teams. Alpha Delta Phi won the cup in this event last year, and if they win again today, will retain permanent possession of it.

Four members of the Minnesota track team left Thursday night, for Evanston, Ill., to represent Minnesota in the fifth annual indoor conference meet. The men are Capt. Spink, Lindeberg, Molumby and West. The meet this year is being given under the auspices of Northwestern university. It is to be held tonight in the gymnasium. Capt. Spink will participate in the dashes, with Molumby as his running mate. These men are very fast in the short distances and are expected to win places. Lindeberg will run in the quarter and the half, and from the form that he has been showing recently, he is expected to lead all other rivals in these events. West will represent Minnesota in the distance races.

SHUTS OUT SCOUT.

Manager of Pittsburg Federals Enjoined at Macon, Ga.

Macon, Ga., March 21.—Harry C. Gessler, manager of the Pittsburg Federal League club, late yesterday was served with an injunction restraining him from approaching any player under contract to the Boston National league for the purpose of getting the player to sign a Federal league contract.

The injunction was served while Gessler was sitting in his room in a hotel here talking to Hub Perdue, pitcher, and William Collins, outfielder of the Boston club. Gessler at first denied his identity, but later admitted it.

The action followed the obtaining of an injunction several days ago by George Stallings, manager of the Boston team, to be used on any Federal league representatives who attempted to approach Boston players under contract.

BIG CONSIGNMENT OF BOATS REACHES DULUTH

BY BRUCE.

Early yesterday, the largest consignment of racing shells ever sent to the West reached Duluth over the Omaha road, in one of the largest special freight cars in captivity.

In the big automobile car were two sectional eights of a new pattern, with the break in the shells placed where there is the minimum strain; two fours, two doubles, two new model singles for James E. Ten Eyck, and several singles for different members of the club.

The boats were packed in the car at the Davy boat works at Cambridge, Mass., with the loving tenderness that a mother would bestow upon her child before entrusting it to the care of careless papa, and came through without even a mar to the varnish surface.

This afternoon, while the unpoetic winds blow the germs of accumulated dust in the open and glowing countenances of the brave young athletes, members of Prof. Ten Eyck's school of rowing expression are engaged in the muscle-building task of transporting these boats from the car to the racks of our own little club.

And speaking of the members of Prof. Ten Eyck's school, permit us to state that every man in last year's squad with the exception of Joseph Choate Lathrup, is back. Spread the glad tiuings.

Clifford Thorndike Thorburn is back with the rest of the boys. Malcontents do not exist in our club. With every man back, with new boats and with Prof. Ten Eyck filled with ideas and Eastern oatmeal, the chances for one of the most illustrious seasons in the fair history of the club, are indeed bright.

The Order of the Hike.

Residents of the East end section of our city are puzzled these evenings by the spectacle of young and robust men running through the streets of the village in various modes of desbabille—whatever that is. Some had more than others, depending more or less upon the constitution.

These human spectacles are members of Prof. Ten Eyck's school of physical expression. There are various schools of expression, vocal being prominent in the front rank. Prof. Ten Eyck is an ardent advocate of the physical school of expression and takes an awful fall out of the vocal theory every now and then. Young and inexperienced candidates for the crew kindly take immediate note.

Yes, the boys have taken to the road, or the streets of the city, rather. Owners of dogs that have the incurable tendency to run out and take a running bite at the tempting calves of passers-by, take heed. Take it from us, the experience will hurt the dog more than the athlete.

On Monday the work will begin in earnest in the Y. M. C. A. rowing room. The formulative process has passed; now the squad is assembled and the members have been checked and sized up. Farewell fudge and the lurid flights that beam not at eleven bells. She is a gay life—she is not for the athlete.

NORTHERNS BEAT LAKES

Second Game of Title Series Won By 5 to 1 Score.

Winners Show Reversal of Form and Win Easily.

Last evening the Northerns came back and defeated the Lakes by the score of 5 to 1 in the second post-season hockey game to decide the championship of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league. As a result the contesting teams stand even in the series with one game each. The final game, decisive of the city title, will be played this evening at the club—and it is expected to prove some game.

At the end of the first half the score was 1 to 0 with the Northerns possessing the lead. In the second half the Northerns drew away and clearly outplaying their persistent rivals for league honors, won by the decisive score.

No more exciting or interesting situation could be conjured. Interest in the outcome of the series is literally at fever heat. The followers of both teams are awaiting with breathless interest the playing of the deciding game.

The first score of the game came after twenty minutes of play. Nelson intercepted the rubber away down near the Lake goal, and neatly shot the only score of the first half.

In the second half the Nonthern went after the Lakes in whirlwind style and gave one of the best exhibitions that has been furnished by a Duluth Amateur league team during the season.

At the end of nine minutes of play in the second half. Bartlett stopped the puck and then let it get away from him. Du Moe hooked it neatly and then shot an effective goal. McCormick shot the third cage. Coming down in a combination, three abreast, the Northerns' rush was interrupted when two of the players fell. McCormick kept his feet and pulling Mahan to one side, shot the goal.

Taylor and Curly Harris furnished the medium of executing the lone score of the Lakes. Mike made a beautiful rush down the sidelines, and near the Northern cage slipped the puck to Harris, who made a pretty shot for goal.

Richard got the puck in the immediate neighborhood of his own goal and carried it nearly the length of the ice and made a daisy shot from the sidelines. This was one of the neatest and cleverest pieces of work of the evening.

Nelson caged the final score of the evening, cracking the puck in from a rebound in a lively scrimmage. The final score shattered the hopes of the Lakes and cinched the game beyond the slightest shade of doubt.

Du Moe and McCormick looked awfully good for the Northerns. But the Northern team also looked mighty good as a whole. The Lakes were outplayed and credit must be pretty equally shared among the members of the winning team.

If the Lakes looked better Thursday evening, the Northerns looked even better last evening—the grave question is, which team will look the better this evening.

Bartlett was the star for the defeated aggregation. He was in the game every minute of play and his great work on the defense prevented the score being even larger than it was.

Too much credit can not be given to the members of the winning team in coming back and defeating in decisive manner a team that had secured the edge by winning the first contest of the series.

The win of last evening makes the odds favor the Northerns. The lineup:

Northerns—		Lakes—
Parsons	c	Harris
Du Moe	lw	Brown
Nelson	rw	Taylor
McCormick	r	Woods
Rickard	cp	Bartlett
Swanstrom	p	Wharton
Richards	r	Mahan

SEATS GOING FAST FOR HUDSON BOUTS.

Curley Ulrich writes from Hudson, Wis., that there will be a sell-out for the Christie-Mike Gibbons and Tommy Gibbons-Mike battles that will be held at the new Hudson arena March 24.

According to the statement of the former Superior promoter, the advance sale was started Thursday and netted $5,000 the first day. Every seat in the big arena will be gobbled up by today, according to the Ulrich prediction.

SUPERIOR NINE WILL PLAY AT ROCKFORD, ILL.

Rockford, Ill., March 21.—An interleague exhibition series of six games between the Superior baseball team of the Northern league, and the Rockford team of the Wisconsin-Illinois league, is announced. The series will be on the Rockford grounds and will begin on April 8.

MANY BIG BASEBALL DEALS PULLED IN GAME'S HISTORY

Not Until the Later Years of the Great National Pastime Did Players Command the Huge Prices That Are of Common Occurrence Today.

St. Paul, Minn., March 21.—The recent trades and deals between National league clubs, wholesale and startling as they were, are only a continuation of the course of action of league members almost from the inception of the organization. There have been many such transactions more surprising than those of late. A rapid survey of deals and trades during the last decade, or since the dawn of the twentieth century, is the object of this article. It will include every trade of importance since 1900.

The century began with some of the most momentous deals in the history of baseball. In 1899 the National league consisted of twelve clubs, but before the season of 1900 opened four clubs—Baltimore, Washington, Louisville and Cleveland—were bought out, their best players being purchased by several of the remaining club members. Before the reduction of the circuit took place the Pittsburg club made a deal with the Louisville club whereby it got 14 players in exchange for five players and $25,000. The 14 players were Fred Clarke, Hans Wagner, Charles Phillippe, Pat Flaherty, Charles Zimmer, Claude Ritchey, Tommy Leach, Rube Waddell, Walter Woods, Cliff Lattimer, Elton Cunningham, C. Doyle, Tom Messitt and Mike Kelly. All these except Cunningham, Doyle, Messitt and Kelly opened the season with Pittsburg. The five players given in exchange were Jack Chesbro, Arthur Madison, John J. O'Brien, George Fox and William Gould, the last named being a semi-pro pitcher of Millville, Pa. Of these Chesbro was the only one to return to the Pirates.

Orioles Sell McGraw.

The Baltimore club sold John McGraw, Wilbert Robinson and Billy Keister to the St. Louis club for $15,000 and Joe McGinnity, Jim Sheckard, Gene Demontreville, Bucky Holmes, Jerry Nops, Alex Smith, Kitson and Harry Howell to the Brooklyn club. Washington sold Buck Freeman, William Dineen and John Barry to Boston for $7,500, Dan McGann to St. Louis for $750 and Gus Weyhing to Brooklyn for $500.

In May, 1900, Chicago traded Bill Everett, Sam Dungan and Billy Phyle to Kansas City for John Ganzel. In the same month St. Louis released Lave Cross to Brooklyn for $3,000, and George Cuppy to Boston for a smaller sum.

In 1901 and 1902 few deals were made, the raid of the American league upon National league clubs making the owners unwilling to purchase the service of players who might any day be grabbed by the opposition. However, in 1901 Chicago gave Virgil Garvin, John Ganzel and Sam Strang to New York for Jack Doyle, and in June of that year Brooklyn sold Hugh Jennings to Philadelphia for $2,000. In 1902 not a deal was placed on record.

Three Even Exchanges.

In 1903, before the opening day, these were three even exchanges of players. Pittsburg gave Jim Burke to St. Louis for Otto Krueger, New York gave George Smith to Detroit for Kid Gleason and St. Louis gave Fred Hartman to Buffalo for David Brain. The Smith-Gleason trade was the first between National and American league clubs. In June Brooklyn sent four players to Baltimore. They were Hugh Jennings (who had come back from Philadelphia), Walter McCreedie, Hugh Ahern and Pitcher Pounds.

Chicago made an important trade in 1904, giving Pitcher Jack Taylor to St. Louis for Pitcher Mordecai Brown and Catcher Jack O'Neil. In July it gave Philadelphia Pitcher Frank Corridon in exchange for John Barry, utility man. Later in September Chicago purchased from the Des Moines club Arthur Hoffman for $1,500 and Pud McChesney for $1,250.

New York handed Brooklyn Jack Cronin, Charles Babb and $6,000 for Bill Dahlen before the season of 1904 opened, and in August figured in a three-cornered deal whereby it got Mike Donlin from Cincinnati for Harry McCormick, and Cincinnati at once traded McCormick to Pittsburg for Jimmy Sebring.

In the same year, 1904, St. Louis swapped a battery, Ed Murphy and Jack Ryan, to Kansas City for Mike Grady.

Before the season of 1905 opened several trades were effected. Pittsburg got Del Howard from Philadelphia by giving up three players—Kitty Brainsfield, Otto Krueger and Harry McCormick—and also gave Eddie Phillips to St. Louis in exchange for Heinie Peitz. Boston traded Charley Pittinger for Chick Fraser, and Philadelphia gave Catcher Fred Abbott to Columbus for Rudolph Hulswitt. St. Louis purchased Catcher Jack Warner from New York, and to fill his place the Giants got Bill Clarke, who bought his own release from Washington. In July Pittsburg traded George McBride to St. Louis for Dave Brain.

Big Year of Trades.

The year 1906 was a record breaker for trades, Chicago alone figuring in seven, giving fourteen players in exchange for nine. This, however, did the Colts no harm, as they won the championship that year and the next two years. Before the bell rang to start the race, Chicago gave Dr. Jim Casey, Jack McCarthy, Buttons Briggs and William Maloney to Brooklyn for Jim Sheckard; Frank Pfeffer and Jack O'Neil to Boston for Pat Moran, and Jake Weimer to Cincinnati for Harry Steinfeldt and Jimmy Sebring. In April Chicago got Harry Gessler from Brooklyn for Oscar Knolla, a pitcher secured from the Evansville club. In May Hans Lobert was sent to Cincinnati for Jack Harper, in June Bob Wicker to Cincinnati for Orval Overall, and in July Fred Beebe and Pete Noonan, a battery, to St. Louis for Jack Taylor, who thus went back to his first love. There was another deal made by Chicago, not of much importance, Louis Schaub and Charles Miller, two recruits, were traded to Wheeling for Bill Smith, who acted as pinch hitter in one game and was then let go to St. Paul.

Cincinnati in 1906, besides the deals mentioned in the above paragraph, engaged in several others. Before opening day it gave Al Bridwell to Boston for Jim Delahanty. In May Pitcher Augustus Dorner was sent to the same club for Chick Fraser, and in the same month Pitcher Carl Druhof was given to St. Louis for Catcher Oscar Stanage. In July the Reds swapped Fred Odell and Charles Beck to Toledo for Frank Jude, an outfielder; Jack Barry to St. Louis for Homer Smoot, and topped all by selling Cy Seymour to New York for $10,000.

Pittsburg made two deals in 1908. First it gave Del Howard, Dave Brain and Pitcher V. A. Lindaman to Boston for Pitcher Vic Willis, and then in June traded Eddie Herger to St. Louis for Charles McFarland.

In 1907 Boston gave up two players and got five in return. Early in the year it traded Ed Abbaticchio to Pittsburg for Claude Ritchie, Clarence Beaumont and Pat Flaherty, and in June gave Del Howard to Chicago for Bill Sweeney (the noted second baseman) and Pitcher Newton Randall.

There were several notable sales and purchases in 1907. Before opening day Harry Wolverton was sold by Boston to Harrisburg and in July Philadelphia sold William Duggleby to Pittsburg. In the same month, July, New York paid the Springfield, Ill., club $4,500 for Larry Doyle, and in September St. Louis bought the services of Arthur (Bugs) Raymond from Charleston for $1,500.

Giants Complete Trade.

New York, in 1908, sent five men to Boston and received three in return. It gave Frank Bowermann, Bill Dahlen, Dan McGann, George Browne and Cecil Ferguson for Fred Tenney, Al Bridwell and Tom Needham. In September it purchased Rube Marquard from Indianapolis for $11,000. Boston gave Irving Young (Cy II) to Pittsburg for Harley Young (Cy III), and Pitcher Tom McCarthy. In June Cincinnati traded Sincock, a Michigan university recruit, to Harrisburg for Pitcher John Doescher, and in September Pittsburg purchased Pitcher Chester Brandon from Kansas City for $6,000.

Before the race began in 1909 Chicago gave Cincinnati Blaine Durbin and Tom Downey for John Kane; Cincinnati gave George Schlei to St. Louis for Arthur Fromme and Eddie Karger, and St. Louis exchanged Schlei, Bugs Raymond and Jack Murray to New York for Roger Bresnahan, who became manager of the Cardinals. In July Boston gave Johnny Bates and Charley Starr to Philadelphia for Louis Richie, Buster Brown and Dave Shean. In August Pittsburg traded Alan Storke and Jap Barbeau to St. Louis for Bobby Byrne, and Cincinnati swapped Henry (Mike) Mowrey to St. Louis for Charles Ashenback.

Revival in 1910.

In 1910 there was a considerable revival of trading. Before the season started, Bob Ewing and Addie Brennan, two pitchers, were traded by Cincinnati to Philadelphia for two other pitchers, Frank Corriden and Harry Covaleski, and then Cincinnati immediately traded Corridan, Miller Huggins and Rebel Oakes to St. Louis for Fred Beebe and Alan Storke. The latter died before the season opened. Philadelphia sent Dr. Leon Martel and Gus Eiper to Scranton and took on Johnny Castle.

Chicago consummated several deals. It exchanged W. S. Davidson, Tony Smith and Harry Smith with Brooklyn for Pitcher Harry McIntyre, sent Pitcher Fred Liese to Boston in trade for Clarence Beaumont and shipped two rookies in barter for Catcher Nunemaker.

New York gave Boston Charley Herzog and William Collins for Beals Becker and Pittsburg bought Jack Flynn from St. Paul for $4,000.

After the season opened Pittsburg turned Sam Frock and Bud Sharpe over to Boston for Pitcher Richie to Chicago for Roy Miller and Cincinnati purchased Pitcher Bill Burns from the Chicago American League club for $4,000, and Pitcher Joe Doyle from the New York American League club for $2,000.

Phillies in Big Swap.

Philadelphia effected a successful trade in 1911 when it gave Cincinnati Ed Grant, George McQuillan, Lew Moren and Johnny Bates in exchange for Hans Lobert, Fred Beebe, Jack Rowan and George Paskert. Boston got two players from Chicago for one, giving Dave Shean for Frank Pfeffer and Scotty Ingerton. Pittsburg traded three recruits to Kansas City for Fred Hunter. All these transactions took place before the season opened. During the season, in May, Chicago secured Pitcher Emil Richter from Louisville in exchange for Jack Pfeister, and in September Pittsburg bought Martin O'Toole from St. Paul for $22,500, and William Kelly from the same club for $7,500.

There was no big deal, involving a number of players on each side, made in 1912. Two were registered at even terms. At the end of May Pittsburg traded Tommy Leach and Lefty Leifield to Chicago for Arthur Hoffman and Leonard (King) Cole, and Brooklyn gave Newark Wilbert Schardt and M. R. Stark for Bob Fisher and Bill Kay. Brooklyn also traded Pitcher Scanlon to Philadelphia for Pitcher Stock, and sent Bert Tooley to Newark in trade for Enos Kirkpatrick. Philadelphia gave Boston John Titus in exchange for Roy Miller. These were all the trades.

There were several purchases in 1912. Cincinnati, in May, bought Pitcher Frank Davis from Knoxville for $300 and in September St. Louis bought George Whitted from Jacksonville, Fla., for $3,000, and New York purchased Al Demare from Mobile for $7,000.

Last Year's Deals.

Last year, 1913, the biggest deal was that between Chicago and Cincinnati, whereby Cincinnati gave Chicago Mike Mitchell, Bert Humphries, Arthur Phelan, John Corridon and Peter Kneisley for Joe Tinker, Harry Chapman and Grover Laudermilk. Cincinnati then gave Laudermilk to Louisville for Mordecai Brown, who had been released to the Colonels by Chicago. Chicago also sold the release of Bill Powell and Martin Berghammer to Cincinnati, no price being stated, and Brooklyn traded Hub Northen to Toronto for Benny Meyers. All this was done before the opening day.

In May New York handed Cincinnati Leon Ames, John Devore and Henry Groh for Arthur Fromme; Cincinnati gave Boston Charles McDonald and $4,000 for John Kling and Boston gave Toronto Buster Brown and $4,000 for Pitcher Dick Rudolph. In June, Cincinnati traded Beals Becker, who came from New York for the waiver price, to Philadelphia for Johnny Dodge. In August New York gave St. Louis Pitcher Otis Crandall for Catcher Larry McLean; Chicago gave Brooklyn Ed Reulbach for William Stack and gave Kansas City Louis Richie for Jim Vaughn; Pittsburg gave Philadelphia Howard Camnitz and Bobby Byrne for Albert Dolan, and Philadelphia got Catcher Eddie Burns from Montreal by giving the Canucks Catcher Dan Howley and $10,000, so it is reported.

Former King of the Heavyweights Declares That Former Ring Men Were Tougher Than Present Fighters.

New York, March 21.—"Then was the happy days"—the days when John L. was king. If you doubt it just talk to John L. himself—John will tell you. He will tell you that the world has not progressed an inch in forty years; in fact, it is going back.

"Why, we haven't a thing today that we didn't have forty years ago. We can't do a thing that we couldn't do when I was a boy. You can't tell me—I know. I have seen both the past and the present and you, my lad, have only seen the present. Take any line you want—any sport you want, and it's the same. Ball players are not what they used to be in the days of Kelly and Anson. Neither have we oarsmen, billiardists, actors, runners.

White Hopes Awful.

"Fighters? Bah! Of course, some of the lighter classes are fair and good, but the white hopes—awful. They are so bad that I cannot bear to go and look at them. They should be arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses. I wish that I was fighting nowadays."

And old John L. "always on the level," means every word of it. Sullivan, the most famous of all pugilists of any time (or time to come), on a vacation. That is what he calls stage work. He is the same old John that is known to the millions of our land—the same ruddy, corpulent, white-haired, talkative John. His brain is as keen as it ever was, and don't you forget it Sullivan was smart—one of the smartest that ever climbed within the ropes. He dislikes to talk of his battles. He likes to philosophize and give "advice to young men." He is on a vacation, as he says; a vacation of eight weeks' stage work. And it was nine years last month since he has taken a drink.

Likes to Get Out.

"I like to get out again," says John. "I live most of the year on my farm in West Abbington, a quiet little village just outside of Boston, the city of my birth. A little trip like this does me good. I like to meet my old friends again and to talk to them over the footlights. It gives me a feeling of satisfaction when they applaud, for I live to know that I have not been forgotten. You know it has been over twenty years since I was in the ring.

"Why are the fighters of today so inferior?" quizzed John, right back at our query, says the New York Globe.

Women to Blame.

"Why, I tell you. It is mostly the fault of the women. People don't live right any more. Women squeeze themselves almost in two with corsets, and then besides they don't want children anyway. In the olden days nature was allowed to take her course, and a generation of fine big men resulted. Why, there is not a fighter fighting today who could even go through one hard battle like we used to have in my day."

"Tell you of mine?" laughed John. "My hardest one? Why I never had a hard one—they were all easy for me—even when I was licked. I guess my father gave me the hardest licking I ever had. I spilled a bodful of mortar over him one day when I was helping him on a building. That was some licking," and Sullivan smiled reminiscently.

"I knocked out 147 men in eight months and never had a battle like my old dad gave me. But speaking of ring battles, I think old Jake Kilrain and I had about the toughest fight of any I ever had—that seventy-five-round contest down in Mississippi. I know some people think my hardest battle was with Mitchell in France because it was a draw. That wasn't a hard battle. Mitchell did nothing but run around the ring. That is the reason it lasted thirty-nine rounds.

"Kilrain and I were matched in 1889 for a finish battle on Independence day. Jake won the toss. You know we used to toss up to see which man was to dictate the conditions, and he chose Mississippi as the battle ground. He thought that would be the safest place, for the soldiers and police used to hunt us like dogs when prize fighting was against the law. But they were after us just the same that day, but we managed to elude them at night and the next morning Charley Rich, a wealthy Southern sporting man, took us over to his estate, near where is now Richburg. Here a ring was laid out on the turf, for you know it was to be a London prize ring contest, and on the morning of July 8 we stripped for action.

"Muldoon trained me for the fight, and, as he was a famous wrestler, every one thought I would resort to a great deal of wrestling during the battle. Funny, though, I did very little. I remember in the first round Kilrain came out of his corner like a flash, and, catching me unawares, he threw me flat on my back the first crack out of the box. That ended the first round—it only lasted about five seconds.

John Gets Mad.

"I was mad and when I went out for the next round I says to him, 'So that is your game, is it' and grabbed him, tossing him high in the air and caught him down with a crash. After that I could throw him whenever I pleased.

"He didn't have a chance after the first few rounds until along about the fortieth. My seconds gave me too much whisky and I tell you I was feeling bad. Kilrain certainly gave it to me for a while. I guess it looked as though I was losing. And I was until I recovered from the effects of the overdose. It is hard to remember the details of a long battle like that. The man who fights it remembers less about it than those at the ringside. The fighter has too much to think about to have any time to store away the little happenings in his brain. It is like a billiardist playing a long game of billiards—he couldn't tell you to save his life about a particular shot he made during the game. He has too much to think about and figure on. The same with me in that fight—I had too much to think about. Kilrain was a great fighter, and anybody who fights a man like him seventy-five rounds of the kind of fighting we used in those days is going to get a hard fight—a mighty hard fight, believe your Uncle John.

When the Tide Turned.

"After a while I recovered from the whisky and began to get back to myself again. I was getting tired, too, but I was beating him again. He took an awful hard beating in that fight. The last few rounds were awful. That fight lasted two hours and 17 seconds, and in those days we only had 30 seconds' rest between rounds.

"He would seem to be all in at times, and then he would come back again. Sometimes I thought he would never last another round, and then again I thought he would last a hundred. I was never in any danger myself—Kilrain couldn't have licked me in 1,000 years. It was merely a question of time for the last 30 rounds.

"In the seventy-fourth round I knew he was gone, but previous experience had taught me never to be sure. When we fell ending the seventy-fourth stanza I could feel his muscles relax under me, and I says to myself, 'He's gone this time.' And he was. He valiantly tried to come again in the seventy-fifth round, but before I could hit him his seconds tossed a towel into the ring and the battle was over.

"That is, almost over. Hardly over then," laughed John. "We had to fight the sheriff. They had discovered us and we had to beat it fast. It was no use—they caught all of us. Kilrain and I were both arrested and convicted. He was given a fine and a sentence of eight months. I received a year in jail and $1,000 fine. Neither served his sentence, but it cost me nearly $20,000 to get out of it, just half of what I made out of the fight. Yes, sir! that fight built a courthouse and a schoolhouse for that county down there in Mississippi. S'fact; they took that $20,000 and built 'em with it and they are still standing today down in the city of Purvis, Miss."

TESTIMONIAL GAME TO BE PLAYED FOR DULUTH HOCKEY MEN.

On Monday evening at the curling club rink there will be a benefit hockey game played for the members of the curling club rink and Andy Grenner, the Northern player who was so badly injured during the season.

During one half of the game the Northerns will oppose the curling club team and in the other half the Big Duluths will go out and attempt to make life miserable for big leaguers.

This game will afford the opportunity for the fans to show their appreciation for the excellent work done during the season by the members of the curling club seven.

No money will be given to any member of the curling club team, but the proceeds will go into a fund to buy some appropriate gift for each player.

Duluth this season has been represented by a clean and loyal bunch of players. Ever the interests of the team have excluded any personal interest. No personal remuneration has been asked or expected. The game of Monday evening has been arranged by friends of the game in Duluth and is simply in the nature of an expression of esteem and appreciation for the best hockey this city has ever had.

"TRAMP TEACHER" MAY BE REVIVED.

Chicago, March 21.—The "tramp teacher," travelling from farm to farm to teach the children, will be an old educational figure revived to meet modern needs in Cook county, Ill., if a school consolidation program just broached goes through. It is proposed to consolidate three school districts by moving three schoolhouses together and lay great stress on agricultural studies.

"The school will be run entirely as an agricultural school," E. T. Tobin, county superintendent of schools, said. "One agricultural teacher will be a 'tramp teacher' in the summer time and go from farm to farm helping the children in their agricultural subjects."

BIG CONSIGNMENT OF BOATS REACHES DULUTH

BY BRUCE.

Early yesterday, the largest consignment of racing shells ever sent to the West reached Duluth over the Omaha road, in one of the largest special freight cars in captivity.

In the big automobile car were two sectional eights of a new pattern, with the break in the shells placed where there is the minimum strain; two fours, two doubles, two new model singles for James E. Ten Eyck, and several singles for different members of the club.

The boats were packed in the car at the Davy boat works at Cambridge, Mass., with the loving tenderness that a mother would bestow upon her child before entrusting it to the care of careless papa, and came through without even a mar to the varnish surface.

This afternoon, while the unpoetic winds blow the germs of accumulated dust in the open and glowing countenances of the brave young athletes, members of Prof. Ten Eyck's school of rowing expression are engaged in the muscle-building task of transporting these boats from the car to the racks of our own little club.

And speaking of the members of Prof. Ten Eyck's school, permit us to state that every man in last year's squad with the exception of Joseph Choate Lathrup, is back. Spread the glad tiings.

Clifford Thorndike Thorburn is back with the rest of the boys. Malcontents do not exist in our club. With every man back, with new boats and with Prof. Ten Eyck filled with ideas and Eastern oatmeal, the chances for one of the most illustrious seasons in the fair history of the club, are indeed bright.

The Order of the Hike.

Residents of the East end section of our city are puzzled these evenings by the spectacle of young and robust men running through the streets of the village in various modes of desbabille—whatever that is. Some had more than others, depending more or less upon the constitution.

These human spectacles are members of Prof. Ten Eyck's school of physical expression. There are various schools of expression, vocal being prominent in the front rank. Prof. Ten Eyck is an ardent advocate of the physical school of expression and takes an awful fall out of the vocal theory every now and then. Young and inexperienced candidates for the crew kindly take immediate note.

Yes, the boys have taken to the road, or the streets of the city, rather. Owners of dogs that have the incurable tendency to run out and take a running bite at the tempting calves of passers-by, take heed. Take it from us, the experience will hurt the dog more than the athlete.

On Monday the work will begin in earnest in the Y. M. C. A. rowing room. The formulative process has passed; now the squad is assembled and the members have been checked and sized up. Farewell fudge and the lurid lights that beam not at eleven bells. She is a gay life—she is not for the athlete.

NORTHERNS BEAT LAKES

Second Game of Title Series Won By 5 to 1 Score.

Winners Show Reversal of Form and Win Easily.

Last evening the Northerns came back and defeated the Lakes by the score of 5 to 1 in the second post-season hockey game to decide the championship of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league. As a result the contesting teams stand even in the series with one game each. The final game, decisive of the city title, will be played this evening at the club—and it is expected to prove some game.

At the end of the first half the score was 1 to 0 with the Northerns possessing the lead. In the second half the Northerns drew away and clearly outplaying their persistent rivals for league honors, won by the decisive score.

No more exciting or interesting situation could be conjured. Interest in the outcome of the series is literally at fever heat. The followers of both teams are awaiting with breathless interest the playing of the deciding game.

The first score of the game came after twenty minutes of play. Nelson intercepted the rubber away down near the Lake goal, and neatly shot the only score of the first half.

In the second half the Northern went after the Lakes in whirlwind style and gave one of the best exhibitions that has been furnished by a Duluth Amateur league team during the season.

At the end of nine minutes of play in the second half. Bartlett stopped the puck and then let it get away from him. Du Moe hooked it neatly and then shot an effective goal. McCormick shot the third cage. Coming down in a combination, three abreast, the Northerns' rush was interrupted when two of the players fell. McCormick kept his feet and pulling Mahan to one side, shot the goal.

Taylor and Curly Harris furnished the medium of executing the lone score of the Lakes. Mike made a beautiful rush down the sidelines, and near the Northern cage slipped the puck to Harris, who made a pretty shot for goal.

Richard got the puck in the immediate neighborhood of his own goal and carried it nearly the length of the ice and made a daisy shot from the sidelines. This was one of the neatest and cleverest pieces of work of the evening.

Nelson caged the final score of the evening, cracking the puck in from a rebound in a lively scrimmage. The final score shattered the hopes of the Lakes and cinched the game beyond the slightest shade of doubt.

Du Moe and McCormick looked awfully good for the Northerns. But the Northern team also looked mighty good as a whole. The Lakes were outplayed and credit must be pretty equally shared among the members of the winning team.

If the Lakes looked better Thursday evening, the Northerns looked even better last evening—the grave question is, which team will look the better this evening.

Bartlett was the star for the defeated aggregation. He was in the game every minute of play and his great work on the defense prevented the score being even larger than it was.

Too much credit can not be given to the members of the winning team in coming back and defeating in decisive manner a team that had secured the edge by winning the first contest of the series.

The win of last evening makes the odds favor the Northerns. The lineup:

Northerns—		Lakes—
Parsons	c	Harris
Du Moe	lw	Brown
Nelson	rw	Taylor
McCormick	r	Woods
Rickard	cp	Bartlett
Swanstrom	p	Wharton
Richards	r	Mahan

SEATS GOING FAST FOR HUDSON BOUTS.

Curley Ulrich writes from Hudson, Wis., that there will be a sell-out for the Christie-Mike Gibbons and Tommy Gibbons-Miske battles that will be held at the new Hudson arena March 24.

According to the statement of the former superior promoter, the advance sale was started Thursday and netted $5,000 the first day. Every seat in the big arena will be gobbled up by today, according to the Ulrich prediction.

SUPERIOR NINE WILL PLAY AT ROCKFORD, ILL.

Rockford, Ill., March 21.—An interleague exhibition series of six games between the Superior baseball team of the Northern league, and the Rockford team of the Wisconsin-Illinois league, is announced. The series will be on the Rockford grounds and will begin on April 8.

Braves Beat Newark.

Macon, Ga., March 21.—The Boston Nationals again defeated the Newark International league team here yesterday in a seven-inning contest. Score: Boston, 5; Newark, 3.

MANY BIG BASEBALL DEALS PULLED IN GAME'S HISTORY

Not Until the Later Years of the Great National Pastime Did Players Command the Huge Prices That Are of Common Occurrence Today.

St. Paul, Minn., March 21.—The recent trades and deals between National league clubs, wholesale and startling as they were, are only a continuation of the course of action of league members almost from the inception of the organization. There have been many such transactions more surprising than those of late. A rapid survey of deals and trades during the last decade, or since the dawn of the twentieth century, is the object of this article. It will include every trade of importance since 1900.

The century began with some of the most momentous deals in the history of baseball. In 1899 the National league consisted of twelve clubs, but before the season of 1900 opened four clubs—Baltimore, Washington, Louisville and Cleveland—were bought out, their best players being purchased by several of the remaining club members. Before the reduction of the circuit took place the Pittsburg club made a deal with the Louisville club whereby it got 14 players in exchange for five players and $25,000. The 14 players were Fred Clarke, Hans Wagner, Charles Phillippe, Pat Flaherty, Charles Zimmer, Claude Ritchey, Tommy Leach, Rube Waddell, Walter Woods, Cliff Latimer, Elon Cunningham, C. Doyle, Jim Messitt and Mike Kelly. All these except Cunningham, Doyle, Messitt and Kelly opened the season with Pittsburg. The five players given in exchange were Jack Chesbro, Arthur Madson, John J. O'Brien, George Fox and William Gould, the last named being a semi-pro pitcher of Millville, Pa. Of these Chesbro was the only one to return to the Pirates.

Orioles Sell McGraw.

The Baltimore club sold John McGraw, Wilbert Robinson and Billy Keister to the St. Louis club for $15,000 and Joe McGinnity, Jim Sheckard, Gene Demontreville, Ducky Holmes, Jerry Nops, Alex Smith, Kitson and Harry Howell to the Brooklyn club. Washington sold Buck Freeman, William Dineen and John Barry to Boston for $7,500, Dan McGann to St. Louis for $750 and Gus Weyhing to Brooklyn for $500.

In May, 1900, Chicago traded Bill Everett, Sam Dungan and Billy Phyle to Kansas City for John Ganzel. In the same month St. Louis released Lave Cross to Brooklyn for $3,000, and George Cuppy to Boston for a smaller sum.

In 1901 and 1902 few deals were made, the raid of the American league upon National league clubs making the owners unwilling to purchase the service of players who might any day be grabbed by the opposition. However, in 1901 Chicago gave Virgil Garvin, John Ganzel and Sam Strang to New York for Jack Doyle, and in June of that year Brooklyn sold Hugh Jennings to Philadelphia for $2,000. In 1902 not a deal was placed on record.

Three Even Exchanges.

In 1903, before the opening day, there were three even exchanges of players. Pittsburg gave Jim Burke to St. Louis for Otto Krueger, New York gave George Smith to Detroit for Kid Gleason and St. Louis gave Fred Hartman to Buffalo for David Brain. The Smith-Gleason trade was the first between National and American league clubs. In June Brooklyn sent four players to Baltimore. They were Hugh Jennings (who had come back from Philadelphia), Walter McCreedie, Hugh Ahern and Pitcher Pounds.

Chicago made an important trade in 1904, giving Pitcher Jack Taylor to St. Louis for Pitcher Mordecai Brown and Catcher Jack O'Neil. In July it gave Philadelphia Pitcher Frank Corridon in exchange for John Barry, utility man. Later in September Chicago purchased from the Des Moines club Arthur Hoffman for $1,500 and Pud McChesney for $1,250.

New York handed Brooklyn Jack Cronin, Charles Babb and $6,000 for Bill Dahlen before the season of 1904 opened, and in August figured in a three-cornered deal whereby it got Mike Donlin from Cincinnati for Harry McCormick, and Cincinnati at once traded McCormick to Pittsburg for Jimmy Sebring.

In the same year, 1904, St. Louis swapped a battery, Ed Murphy and Jack Ryan, to Kansas City for Mike Grady.

Before the season of 1905 opened several trades were effected. Pittsburg got Del Howard from Philadelphia by giving up three players—Kitty Bransfield, Otto Krueger and Harry McCormick—and also gave Eddie Phillips to St. Louis in exchange for Heinie Peitz. Boston traded Charley Pittinger for Chick Fraser, and Philadelphia gave Catcher Fred Abbott to Columbus for Rudolph Hulswitt. St. Louis purchased Catcher Jack Warner from New York, and to fill his place the Giants got Bill Clarke, who bought his own release from Washington. In July Pittsburg traded George McBride to St. Louis for Dave Brain.

Big Year of Trades.

The year 1906 was a record breaker for trades, Chicago alone figuring in seven, giving fourteen players in exchange for nine. This, however, did the Colts no harm, as they won the championship that year and the next two years. Before the bell rang to start the race, Chicago gave Dr. Jim Casey, Jack McCarthy, Buttons Briggs and William Maloney to Brooklyn for Jim Sheckard; Frank Pfeffer and Jack O'Neil to Boston for Pat Moran, and Jake Weimer to Cincinnati for Harry Steinfeldt and Jimmy Sebring. In April Chicago got Harry Gessler from Brooklyn for Oscar Knolls, a pitcher secured from the Evansville club. In May Hans Lobert was sent to Cincinnati for Jack Harper, in June Bob Wicker to Cincinnati for Orval Overall, and in July Fred Beebe and Pete Noonan, a battery, to St. Louis for Jack Taylor, who thus went back to his first love. There was another deal made by Chicago, not of much importance, Louis Schaub and Charles Miller, two recruits, were traded to Wheeling for Bill Smith, who acted as pinch hitter in one game and was then let go to St. Paul.

Cincinnati in 1906, besides the deals mentioned in the above paragraph, engaged in several others. Before opening day it gave Al Bridwell to Boston for Jim Delahanty. In May Pitcher Augustus Dorner was sent to the same club for Chick Fraser, and in the same month Pitcher Carl Druhof was given to St. Louis for Catcher Oscar Stanage. In July the Reds swapped Fred Odell and Charles Chech to Toledo for Frank Jude, an outfielder; Jack Barry to St. Louis for Homer Smoot, and topped all by selling Cy Seymour to New York for $10,000.

Pittsburg made two deals in 1908. First it gave Del Howard, Dave Brain and Pitcher V. A. Lindaman to Boston for Pitcher Vic Willis, and then in June traded Eddie Harger to St. Louis for Charles McFarland.

In 1907 Boston gave up two players and got five in return. Early in the year it traded Ed Abbaticchio to Pittsburg for Claude Ritchie, Clarence Beaumont and Pat Flaherty, and in June gave Del Howard to Chicago for Bill Sweeney (the noted second baseman) and Pitcher Newton Randall.

There were several notable sales and purchases in 1907. Before opening day Harry Wolverton was sold by Boston to Harrisburg and in July Philadelphia sold William Duggleby to Pittsburg. In the same month, July, New York paid the Springfield, Ill., club $4,600 for Larry Doyle, and in September St. Louis bought the services of Arthur (Bugs) Raymond from Charleston for $1,500.

Giants Complete Trade.

New York, in 1908, sent five men to Boston and received three in return. It gave Frank Bowermann, Bill Dahlen, Dan McGann, George Browne and Cecil Ferguson for Fred Tenney, Al Bridwell and Tom Needham. In September it purchased Rube Marquard from Indianapolis for $11,000. Boston gave Irving Young (Cy II) to Pittsburg for Harley Young (Cy III), and Pitcher Tom McCarthy. In June Cincinnati traded Sincock, a Michigan university recruit, to Harrisburg for Pitcher John Doescher, and in September Pittsburg purchased Pitcher Chester Brandon from Kansas City for $5,000.

Before the race began in 1909 Chicago gave Cincinnati Blaine Durbin and Tom Downey for John Kane; Cincinnati gave George Schlei to St. Louis for Arthur Fromme and Eddie Karger, and St. Louis exchanged Schlei, Bugs Raymond and Jack Murray to New York for Roger Bresnahan, who became manager of the Cardinals. In July Boston gave Johnny Bates and Charley Starr to Philadelphia for Louis Richie, Buster Brown and Dave Shean. In August Pittsburg traded Alan Storke and Cap Barbeau to St. Louis for Bobby Byrne, and Cincinnati swapped Henry (Mike) Mowrey to St. Louis for Charles Ashenback.

Revival in 1910.

In 1910 there was a considerable revival of trading. Before the season started, Bob Ewing and Addie Brennan, two pitchers, were traded by Cincinnati to Philadelphia for two other pitchers, Frank Corriden and Harry Covaleski, and then Cincinnati immediately traded Corriden, Miller Huggins and Rebel Oakes to St. Louis for Fred Beebe and Alan Storke. The latter died before the season opened. Philadelphia sent Dr. Leon Martel and Gus Elper to Scranton and took on Johnny Castle.

Chicago consummated several deals. It exchanged W. S. Davidson, Tony Smith and Harry Smith with Brooklyn for Pitcher Harry McIntyre, sent Pitcher Fred Liese to Boston in trade for Clarence Beaumont and shipped two rookies in barter for Catcher Nunemaker.

New York gave Boston Charley Herzog and William Collins for Beals Becker and Pittsburg bought Jack Flynn from St. Paul for $4,000.

After the season opened Pittsburg turned Sam Frock and Bud Sharpe over to Boston for Pitcher Richie to Chicago for Roy Miller and Cincinnati purchased Pitcher Bill Burns from the Chicago American League club for $4,000, and Pitcher Joe Doyle from the New York American League club for $2,000.

Phillies in Big Swap.

Philadelphia effected a successful trade in 1911 when it gave Cincinnati Ed Grant, George McQuillan, Lew Moren and Johnny Bates in exchange for Hans Lobert, Fred Beebe, Jack Rowan and George Paskert. Boston got two players from Chicago for one, giving Dave Shean for Frank Pfeffer and Scotty Ingerton. Pittsburg traded three recruits to Kansas City for Fred Hunter. All these transactions took place before the season opened. During the season, in May, Chicago secured Pitcher Emil Richter from Louisville in exchange for Jack Pfeister, and in September Pittsburg bought Martin O'Toole from St. Paul for $22,500, and William Kelly from the same club for $7,500.

There was no big deal, involving a number of players on each side, made in 1912. Two were registered at even terms. At the end of May Pittsburg traded Tommy Leach and Lefty Liefield to Chicago for Arthur Hoffman and Leonard (King) Cole, and Brooklyn gave Newark Wilbert Schardt and M. R. Stark for Bob Fisher and Bill Kay. Brooklyn also traded Pitcher Scanlon to Philadelphia for Pitcher Stock, and sent Bert Tooley to Newark in trade for Enos Kirkpatrick. Philadelphia gave Boston John Titus in exchange for Roy Miller. These were all the trades.

There were several purchases in 1912. Cincinnati, in May, bought Pitcher Frank Davis from Knoxville for $300 and in September St. Louis bought George Whitted from Jacksonville, Fla., for $3,000, and New York purchased Al Demare from Mobile for $7,000.

Last Year's Deals.

Last year, 1913, the biggest deal was that between Chicago and Cincinnati, whereby Cincinnati gave Chicago Mike Mitchell, Bert Humphries, Arthur Phelan, John Corridon and Peter Kneisley for Joe Tinker, Harry Chapman and Grover Laudermilk. Cincinnati then gave Laudermilk to Louisville for Mordecai Brown, who had been released to the Colonels by Chicago. Chicago also sold the release of Bill Powell and Martin Berghammer to Cincinnati, no price being stated, and Brooklyn traded Hub Northen to Toronto for Benny Meyers. All this was done before the opening day.

In May New York handed Cincinnati Leon Ames, John Devore and Henry Groh for Arthur Fromme; Cincinnati gave Boston Charles McDonald and $4,000 for John Kling and Boston gave Toronto Buster Brown and $4,000 for Pitcher Dick Rudolph. In June, Cincinnati traded Beals Becker, who came from New York for the waiver price, to Philadelphia for Johnny Dodge. In August New York gave St. Louis Pitcher Otis Crandall for Catcher Larry McLean; Chicago gave Brooklyn Ed Reulbach for William Stack and gave Kansas City Louis Richie for Jim Vaughn; Pittsburg gave Philadelphia Howard Camnitz and Bobby Byrne for Albert Dolan, and Philadelphia got Catcher Eddie Burns from Montreal by giving the Canucks Catcher Dan Howley and $10,000, so it is reported.

Former King of the Heavyweights Declares That Former Ring Men Were Tougher Than Present Fighters.

New York, March 21.—"Then was the happy days"—the days when John L. was king. If you doubt it just talk to John L. himself—John will tell you. He will tell you that the world has not progressed an inch in forty years; in fact, it is going back.

"Why, we haven't a thing today that we didn't have forty years ago. We can't do a thing that we couldn't do when I was a boy. You can't tell me—I know. I have seen both the past and the present and you, my lad, have only seen the present. Take any time you want—any sport you want, and it's the same. Ball players are not what they used to be in the days of Kelly and Anson. Neither have we oarsmen, billiardists, actors, runners.

White Hopes Awful.

"Fighters? Bah! Of course, some of the lighter classes are fair and good, but the white hopes—awful. They are so bad that I cannot bear to go and look at them. They should be arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses. I wish that I was fighting nowadays."

And old John L. "always on the level," means every word of it. Sullivan, the most famous of all pugilists of any time (or time to come), on a vacation. That is what he calls stage work. He is the same old John that is known to the millions of our land—the same ruddy, corpulent, white-haired, talkative John. His brain is as keen as it ever was, and don't you forget it Sullivan was smart—one of the smartest that ever climbed within the ropes. He dislikes to talk of his battles. He likes to philosophize and give "advice to young men." He is on a vacation, as he says; a vacation of eight weeks' stage work. And it was nine years last month since he has taken a drink.

Likes to Get Out.

"I like to get out again," says John. "I live most of the year on my farm in West Abbington, a quiet little village just outside of Boston, the city of my birth. A little trip like this does me good. I like to meet my old friends again and to talk to them over the footlights. It gives me a feeling of satisfaction when they applaud, for I live to know that I have not been forgotten. You know it has been one year since I was in the ring.

"Why are the fighters of today so inferior?" quizzed John, right back at our query, says the New York Globe.

Women to Blame.

"Why, I tell you. It is mostly the fault of the women. People don't live right and gave more. Women squeeze themselves almost in two with corsets, and then besides they don't want children anyway. In the olden days nature was allowed to take her course, and a generation of fine big men resulted. Why, there is not a fighter fighting today who could even go through one hard battle like we used to have in my day."

"Tell you of mine?" laughed John. "My hardest one? Why I never had a hard one—they were all easy for me—even when I was licked. I guess my father gave me the hardest licking I ever had. I spilled a hodful of mortar over him one day when I was helping him on a building. That was some licking," and Sullivan smiled reminiscently.

"I knocked out 147 men in eight months and never had a battle like my old dad gave me. But speaking of ring battles, I think old Jake Kilrain and I had about the toughest fight either of us ever had—that seventy-five-round contest down in Mississippi. I know some people think my hardest battle was with Mitchell in France because it was a draw. That wasn't a hard battle. Mitchell did nothing but run around the ring. That is the reason it lasted thirty-nine rounds.

"Kilrain and I were matched in 1889 for a finish battle on Independence day. Jake won the toss. You know we used to toss up to see which man was to dictate the conditions, and he chose Mississippi as the battle ground. He thought that would be the safest place, for the soldiers and police used to hunt us like dogs when prize fighting was against the law. But they were after me just the same that day, and we managed to elude them at night and the next morning Charley Rich, a wealthy Southern sporting man, took us over to his estate, near where is now Richburg. Here a ring was laid out on the turf, for you know it was to be a London prize ring contest, and on the morning of July 8 we stripped for action.

"Muldoon trained me for the fight, and, as he was a famous wrestler, every one thought I would resort to a great deal of wrestling during the battle. Funny, though, I did very little. I remember in the first round Kilrain came out of his corner like a flash, and, catching me unawares, he threw me flat on my back the first crack out of the box. That ended the first round—it only lasted about five seconds.

John Gets Mad.

"I was mad and when I went out for the next round I says to him, 'So that is your game, is it' and grabbed him, tossing him high in the air and ought him down with a crash. After that I could throw him whenever I pleased.

"He didn't have a chance after the first few rounds until along about the fortieth. My seconds gave me too much whisky and I tell you I was feeling bad. Kilrain certainly gave it to me for a while. I guess it looked as though I was losing. And I was until I recovered from the effects of the overdose. It is hard to remember the details of a long battle like that. The man who fights it remembers less about it than those at the ringside. The fighter has too much to think about to have any time to store away the little happenings in his brain. It is like a billiardist playing a long game of billiards—he couldn't tell you to save his life about a particular shot he made during the game. He has too much to think about and figure on. The same with me in that fight—I had too much to think about. Kilrain was a great fighter, and anybody who fights a man like him seventy-five rounds of the kind of fighting we used in those days is going to get a hard fight—a mighty hard fight, believe your Uncle John.

When the Tide Turned.

"After a while I recovered from the whisky and began to get back to myself again. I was getting tired, too, but I was beating him again. He took an awful hard beating in that fight. The last few rounds were awful. That fight lasted two hours and 17 seconds, and in those days we only had 30 seconds' rest between rounds.

"He would seem to be all in at times, and then he would come back again. Sometimes I thought he would never last another round, and then again I thought he would last a hundred. I was never in any danger myself—Kilrain couldn't have licked me in 1,000 years. It was merely a question of time for the last 30 rounds.

"In the seventy-fourth round I knew he was gone, but previous experience had taught me never to be sure. When we fell ending the seventy-fourth stanza I could feel his muscles relax under me, and I says to myself, 'He's gone this time.' And he was. He valiantly tried to come again in the seventy-fifth round, but before I could hit him his seconds tossed a towel into the ring and the battle was over.

"That is, almost over. Hardly over then," laughed John. "We had to fight the sheriff. They had discovered us and we had to beat it fast. It was no use—they caught all of us. Kilrain and I were both arrested and convicted. He was given a fine and a sentence of eight months. I received a year in jail and $1,000 fine. Neither served his sentence, but it cost me nearly $20,000 to get out of it, just half of what I made out of the fight. Yes, sir! that fight built a courthouse and a schoolhouse for that county down there in Mississippi. S'fact; they took that $20,000 and built 'em with it and they are still standing today down in the city of Purvis, Miss."

TESTIMONIAL GAME TO BE PLAYED FOR DULUTH HOCKEY MEN.

On Monday evening at the curling club rink there will be a benefit hockey game played for the members of the curling club rink and Andy Grenner, the Northern player who was so badly injured during the season.

During one half of the game the Northerns will oppose the curling club team and in the other half the Big Duluths will go out and attempt to make life miserable for big leaguers.

This game will afford the opportunity for the fans to show their appreciation for the excellent work done during the season by the members of the curling club seven.

No money will be given to any member of the curling club team, but the proceeds will go into a fund to buy some appropriate gift for each player.

Duluth this season has been represented by a clean and loyal bunch of players. Ever the interests of the team have excluded any personal interest. No personal remuneration has been asked or expected. The game of Monday evening has been arranged by friends of the game in Duluth and is simply in the nature of an expression of esteem and appreciation for the best hockey this city has ever had.

"TRAMP TEACHER" MAY BE REVIVED.

Chicago, March 21.—The "tramp teacher," travelling from farm to farm to teach the children, will be an old educational figure revived to meet modern needs in Cook county, Ill., if a school consolidation program just broached goes through. It is proposed to consolidate three school districts by moving three schoolhouses together and lay great stress on agricultural studies.

"The school will be run entirely as an agricultural school," E. T. Tobin, county superintendent of schools, said. "One agricultural teacher will be a 'tramp teacher' in the summer time and go from farm to farm helping the children in their agricultural subjects."

INVENTOR OF AUTO LIVES RETIRED LIFE

Dr. Carhart Built Car With Smokestack and Upright Boiler.

San Antonio, Tex., March 21.—A million motor cars giving pleasure and employment to hundreds of thousands of people are now in use in the United States. The automobile is so common a sight that few stop to think of its origin or of the phenomenal growth of the many industries which it represents, or of the colossal item that it has added in the account of national prosperity. The man who designed, built and operated the first self-propelled road vehicle in the United States is now a quiet and unassuming resident of San Antonio.

Dr. J. W. Carhart, physician and minister, whose office is on the fourth floor of the Moore building, as far back as September, 1871, had constructed and driven an automobile about the streets of Racine, Wis. Only recently J. S. Donald, secretary of state for the Northern commonwealth, in going over the state archives, discovered the records of Dr. Carhart's invention and gave the matter to the Milwaukee papers. Investigation proved that it was the San Antonian to whom the stories referred.

Dr. Carhart has many interesting things to say of his early motor car, of the inception of the idea, of its construction and of its first triumphant, puffing appearance.

Propelled by Steam.

The machine was propelled by steam. In appearance it resembled closely some of the early locomotives that sprang from the brain of Newton, and later, in more practical form, from that of Stevenson. It carried an upright boiler, fitted with furnace and smokestack, complete, just back of the driver's seat. The furnace was supplied with hard coal, from a bin located in the forward part of the machine, and which was delivered through a chute that ran between the operator's legs. A telescoped poker, not the least ingenious thing about the entire mechanism, according to Dr. Carhart, was used, and used frequently, to assist the progress of the fuel. Bolted to the sides of the boiler were two small, old-fashioned, slide-valve steam engines, with bore and stroke, 2½ by 3 inches, respectively, which delivered their power, through a train of gears, to the driving wheels. These were about four feet in diameter, of the regular buggy type, carrying a narrow steel tire. The engines were fitted with "link motion" to permit reversing, and each drove its wheel independently of the other, thus eliminating the necessity of the differential which in modern cars compensates for the difference in speed of the rear wheels when negotiating a curve. Steering wa saccomplished by means of a "fifth wheel," just as in the case of horse-drawn vehicles.

According to Dr. Carhart, Wisconsin was the first commonwealth in the world to offer a bounty for the invention and development of self-propelled road vehicles. The subsidy amounted to $10,000, which, however, was modified by succeeding legislatures. But, nevertheless, five Wisconsin inventors claimed bounties of $5,000 each. One of these, Hans Farrant, builder of the famous "Oshkosh" steam carriage, was directly indebted to Dr. Carhart's invention.

U. S. MAIL CARRIER DEFIES OFFICIALS

Attempt to Stop Use of Motor May End in Supreme Court.

The little Island of Nantucket, off the coast of Massachusetts, is in a furore these days because of what is regarded as a daring violation of "the statutes made and provided." A merry legal war is occupying the attention of the courts, simply because Clinton S. Folger, a mail carrier, likes motoring.

The trouble, in which Mr. Folger has thus far been victorious, dates back several months to the time when the mail carrier purchased a 1914 model Overland touring car in Boston. In spite of the fact that automobiles have been rigorously denied admission to the island Mr. Folger brought his new purchase home and has since, with the exception of the time he has spent in court, been delivering mail in it. The officials of the island were much wrought up when citizen Folger transgressed by introducing his gasoline car in the hitherto sacred precints. They remonstrated with the mail carrier, but to no avail. He made it clear that his citizenship entitled him to deliver mail in any sort of a vehicle he saw fit.

Seeing that words were useless, a big delegation of Nantucket citizens traveled to Boston and had the Massachusetts highway commission pass an exclusion law prohibiting the use of motor cars on the island. But Folger kept right on driving his Overland. Then the island officials put their heads together and decided to ask for an injunction. But there was nothing doing. The injunction was refused. Another conference, and the selectmen cited Folger into court. He was fined $15 for violating the exclusion act, but immediately appealed. The next sitting of the superior court for the district is in July, 1914, so Folger, with a forgiving smile for his opponents, climbed into his car and started it off again. Before starting on his mail route, however, Mr. Folger announced that he would see the case through to the end, promising to take it to the Federal supreme court at Washington, if such procedure required ten years. Meanwhile, he announced, he would continue to drive his car.

Though a considerable amount of ill-feeling has been stirred up over the case, Folger is in no way vindictive, for on the day he was cited to appear in court he gave one of the selectmen a ride and after the trial took Chief of Police Gibbs on a little joy ride to Sciansctott. The selectmen have decided that about the only way to get Folger's Overland off the island is to capture it some dark night and dump it overboard, where the water is deep.

SPEED KINGS MAKE READY FOR RACE

European Drivers Will Sail From Havre About May 9.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 21.—Signed contracts for all of the foreigners who recently cabled their entry to the next 500-mile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway are now in the race course safe. Boillot, Goux, Chassagne, Guyot and Christiaens have all affixed their signatures to sweepstakes paper, and are thus lined up for keeps.

The Europeans plan to come over in a body, sailing from Havre on the Provence about May 9, and reaching Indianapolis May 16 or 17. Most of them will get to work on their cars immediately, even putting up in cottages at the track, in order to be near their work; Goux and Boillot, however, seemingly confident that their machines need no further attention, have arranged to stay downtown.

Arrangements are being made, both in New York and Indianapolis, to give the visitors a rousing reception. In Gotham a number of their compatriots will meet them, as last year, while in the Hoosier capital the whole town is expected to turn out. W. F. Bradley, the foreign speedway representative, is expected to accompany the party as guide and interpreter, also as business agent and watch dog.

The cars of the outfit will be shipped simultaneously with the drivers. They will be accompanied by the various mechanicians, so that they will be under guard all the way. The European is as careful of his machine as a baby. Not the slightest chance of harm, either accidental or designed, is permitted to approach it.

In general, the foreign machines are much smaller and lighter than last year, averaging roughly 350 cubic inches piston displacement and 2,000 pounds in weight. The only notable exception, as regards motor dimensions, is the Excelsior of Christiaens, whose firing chamber measures 446.6. Even this car, however, weighs well within the one ton limit, being built unusually light for its power.

The baby of the outfit is the Sunbeam, with six cylinders of a bore of 3.14 and a stroke of 5.9. The total piston displacement of this car is only 17,245 cubic inches, not much more than that of the average domestic runabout, yet it is capable of speeds up to and in excess of 100 miles an hour. The Peugeots and the Delage can hit 110 with ease. It is not thought that they will have much advantage over the Sunbeam, however, because of the latter's noted consistency. The Excelsior is expected to travel along with the best of them, knocking off 100 miles an hour on the average. With such speed being developed right along, it is predicted that all present speedway records will surely take a drop.

COINS CLEVER PHRASES.

Englishman Is Adept in Describing Cars, Says Designer.

"The descriptive phrase 'stream-line,' as applied to body shapes, is borrowed from England," says W. H. Emond, Franklin body designer. "The Englishman is pretty clever in coining or applying characteristic descriptives to his productions. For example, he does not call a single compartment, closed body by the meaningless name Sedan; he calls it a Pullman, because to his mind the single compartment suggests an American one-compartment Pullman railway coach, as distinguished from the English coach made up of a series of compartments.

"The term 'stream-line' was originally applied to bodies only, but the American adapter employs it whenever he makes an attempt to run body and hood lines together. If he really did this and did it right, he would have a truly stream-line effect, but his efforts have been confined to putting a little slant and back flare in his engine hood and strenuously bumping his body cowl so as to get a flush joint between the hood and cowl. The rest is advertising.

"To produce a true stream-line effect from radiator to tonneau, the designing on plan and section must be done at the radiator and at the section of greatest body width, corresponding to the midship section of a boat hull. The radiator section must be free from angles. Every section can then be proportionally developed from the minimum toward the maximum width. Much of the good effect is dependent upon the curves used in these two sections, and it is in this that most of the designer's skill is shown. The fact is a true stream-line effect cannot be worked out of any haphazard shape of hood or radiator."

Another Ford Shipment.

The Mutual Auto company received a shipment of nineteen Ford cars during the past week. This is the largest shipment of cars ever received in Duluth at one time. This is the third large shipment of Fords that the Mutual Auto company has received this year.

One hundred and thirty Fords have been sold in this territory since Jan. 1, 1914. E. J. Fillatrault predicts the sale of 250 more, judging from the orders received for spring delivery.

MOTOR TRUCKS CHEAP.

Horse Feed Is Big Item in Deliveries, Says Willys.

"The cost of feeding horses has increased practically 137 per cent in the last five years, according to government statistics, and in this fact alone we have one of the biggest and best arguments for the motor truck," says John N. Willys, maker of the three-quarter Willys-Utility truck. "The high cost of living is proving just as big a factor to the business man who has delivering to do, as it is to the laboring man, who, day by day, sees the price of meat and other foodstuffs steadily mounting. On the other hand, the cost of motor trucks is continually going down.

"In applying the principle of quantity production to the manufacture of motor trucks, we are not making an experiment. The principle has been tried and found highly successful in the pleasure car field, and it is proving just as successful with trucks. By concentrating all the facilities of our big, modernly-equipped factory on the production of thousands of trucks, we are working vast economies for the consumer, for we can purchase, manufacture and market 10,000 trucks at a great deal lower cost per truck than we could 100.

"Aside from the factor of maintenance, the truck has the advantage of the horse in other ways. The horse, being flesh and blood, has limited endurance. The truck has no such limitations. The horse grows older and less valuable every day. Age wears him out even though he spends most of the time in his stall. The motor truck wears only when in use. When it is idle there is no expense connected with it, whatever. A comparatively careful watch over the truck, with adjustments and small repairs made promptly, makes it an actually better vehicle the longer it is in use."

UNDERGOES HARD TEST.

Tryout Proves Motor Most Important Part of Car.

The Chalmers car selling at $1,800 and representing 48 H. P. went through a most severe test with a number of other cars at the Chicago Technical institute during the month, which has clearly proved the quality and general make-up of designs of the new Chalmers motor.

The Chicago Technical institute holds these annual comparative tests for the benefit and instruction of the students attending this mechanical engineering college. After comparative road tests had been made, six of the cars were furnished by the manufacturers' and the Chalmers light six was the only one on the test made selling at $1,800. The test consisted of the six cars being mounted on blocks and given a full horse power pull load for a period of forty-eight hours non-stop continuous operation on full load. The Chalmers light six completed the best record of the six cars on this test and full 48 H. P. pull load was maintained for a continuous duration of forty-eight hours. The percentage of drop in horse power was less than 1¾ per cent in comparison with cars selling at $2,700 to $5,000. In the majority of cases the drop horse power represented 6 to 9 per cent loss, which showed conclusively that the success of the up-to-date car is represented, not so much in bore and stroke, as it is in the design of the motor. Until one stops to realize that if they were to take a full capacity load on a trip of continuous operation up a severe grade, which would tax the car to its utmost capacity and continue for forty-eight hours pulling up such a grade of full capacity with only a loss of less than 1¾ per cent, it conclusively proves that it is a car that is suitable for the rough country in and tributary to Duluth.

The last report obtained by the Mutual Auto company from the factory showed that there were only 274 cars remaining unsold at the factory for the year 1914.

we have solved this problem for you. On the Haynes gears are shifted by electricity. The confusing hand lever is eliminated forever, and in its place there is a neat set of push buttons located on the steering wheel—a separate button for each speed. To shift the gears, you merely press a button, and depress the clutch pedal. No effort required. Simplicity itself. No matter which button you press, the gears are not shifted until you depress the clutch pedal—the electric gear shift is fool-proof.

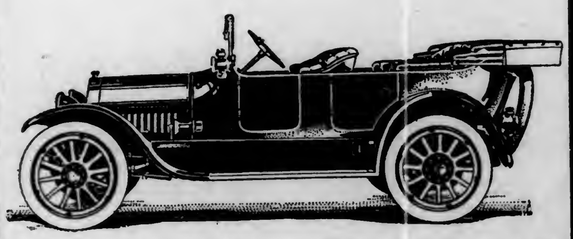
The 1914 Buicks



Two favorite models, the most popular cars of their class ever produced—familiar sights on every thoroughfare in the world. They are unchanged in the essentials—refined here and there—housing the wonderful motor that has been the backbone of Buick success. The Roadster is the busy man's car par excellence; handsome in design, amply powered, easy riding, roomy. The touring car (B25) is, of its economical class, the ideal family vehicle—capacious, well upholstered, graceful in line and with a notable excellence of equipment and trimming. All models are equipped with the Delco system of lighting and starting, which is without doubt the best lighting and starting system on the market.

Two Radiator Shells Per Minute

THE above machine is another one of the numerous Overland cost reducers. This machine turns out 120 whole outside radiator shells per hour.

Small manufacturers, who must by necessity use small equipment, can only turn out two per hour.

We make two per minute!

There you have the difference—which is one of the many reasons why the Overland costs less than any other similar car in the world.

This machine costs $12,500.00. It is 18 feet high, weighs 185,000 pounds, and has a capacity of 100 tons or 200,000 pounds pressure.

It is called the "double toggle press" and is one of the most remarkable economizers used in the automobile business.

Thus you see why the Overland costs 30% less than any other similar car made.

employ. Many people believe that this plan was only operative in Detroit at the home factory, but the employes of the Minneapolis branch have enjoyed this increase in salary since Jan. 1. Mr. Ford, however, insists on every one of his employes being worthy and willing to earn this increase. Every employe in Minneapolis was carefully investigated, his private life, home, and if single, his room, and its condition were taken into consideration. Single employes rooming adjacent to saloons and pool rooms, etc., were requested to move to more uplifting quarters.

Minneapolis has benefited already from Mr. Ford's plan and will continue as other concerns are already following Mr. Ford's example. Stenographers who were formerly paid $60 are now receiving $120. Elevator men who were paid $2.50 a day are now receiving $5, and so on up the line to the highest salaried employe at the Ford branch.

The new Ford assembling plant at Minneapolis, which is a ten-story building, 208x200, modern fireproof construction, employs at the present time almost 300 hands, and when it is taken into consideration that the minimum salary paid is $5 a day it means a great deal to the uplifting and moral condition surrounding these employes at this assembling plant.

Mr. Hildebrand, the manager of the Ford factory, spent the entire day with Mr. Fillatrault last Wednesday, and was more than gratified with the volume of business being obtained through the efforts of the Mutual Auto company.

Two years ago when Mr. Ford was seeking a location in Minnesota, Duluth came very close to being the favored Minnesota city for this assembling plant.

FAVOR LIGHT CARS.

Pamphlet on Franklin Auto Sets Forth Salient Features.

Features of the 1914 Franklin automobile are described in a pamphlet just issued by the factory and copies of which are being sent out among local buyers by Joseph F. Peacha, Jr., manager of the Interstate Auto company, agent for the car. The pamphlet follows:

"The work of operating a car, steering and controlling, is in proportion to the car's weight. The heavier the car, the harder the work. A practical illustration and proof of this statement can be secured by driving a Franklin car through a muddy, heavy road and then driving a heavy car through the same road.

"Safety comes when operation is easy. A light-weight car is also safer because its parts are stressed less, due to the less weight of every other part. Since all parts carry less load, each and every part receives less stress when subjected to a sudden shock as may happen, for example, when running into a depression in the road.

"Dependability is a feature that an owner can get only when he is sure that tires were considered as seriously as the frame and all other parts when the car was designed. It is possible to reach your destination on the time planned only when the tires are dependable. Having all other parts strong enough and the tires too weak produces the reverse from a dependable car. There is also a limit in the size of tires possible to buy. An owner, therefore, can be sure of dependability only with a light car equipped with large tires.

The range of operation of a car is governed by its weight. The heavier the car, the better roads it is necessary to pick out, and in bad weather the use of the car is more difficult. With a light car one can travel nearly everywhere during any season.

"Depreciation is less in a light car, and an owner can sell it at a higher price after a year or two of service, because the man who may purchase it can afford to operate it. It is well known that the purchaser of a second-hand car can rarely afford to use a heavy, rigid car. Even if the original buyer of a heavy car can afford to operate it, it is difficult for him to find a man to give the car to, because the man who will use a second-hand car cannot even afford to buy the tires.

"Real comfort means reducing to the minimum the jars and vibrations produced by uneven roads, and this can best be accomplished by reducing to the smallest point that element (the weight of the car) which governs the force which make jars and bumps. Roads cannot be altered at our will, but the other factor, the weight of the car, can be controlled.

"Economy can be obtained in no other way but by light weight. But it must be real, scientific light weight. Light weight obtained by putting on small tires, for example, is not true light weight. Proportional design and a uniform factor of safety in the tires and in all other parts produces a true light car, and this type of construction will give the greatest economy possible for any given size of car.

"Light weight has always been the governing principle in Franklin design, and twelve years of experience, with greater lightness and greated strength always in view, has produced the Franklin Six-Thirty, a six-cylinder, 30-horse power car, weighing only 2,725 pounds."

OLDFIELD IN "MOVIES."

Veteran Speed King Is Now in New Pastures.

Barney Oldfield is in pastures new. The redoubtable Barney has been flirting with death at the wheel of automobile racing machines for more than a decade. He made his reputation as a driver long before most of the present day speed men were heard of, and whereas most of the old-time racing men quit some years ago, Barney has stuck to racing persistently. Several times he has retired, but always has "come back." At one time, for a while, he tried acting, driving a racing car on a tread-mill in a musical comedy, but he tired of the life. Some days ago, while preparing to enter the Vanderbilt cup and grand prize races at Santa Monica, he followed the footsteps of many other prominent persons and became an actor of the more modern school—moving pictures. Barney has been posing for photoplays written around him by a progressive California moving picture concern. Barney driving the big Mercer which he entered in the races there.

Up to a few days before the running of the classics, Barney filled in time playing leading parts in "movie" dramas and comedies, his trusty, formidable Mercer racer being featured prominently. It got to be a common sight for residents in the suburbs of Los Angeles to see the daring pilot scorching along the highways with "the kidnaped bride" held in the mechanic's seat by the arch fiend of a driver (that is when Barney was playing the villain parts) and an excited police force giving chase, in another automobile or on motorcycles. At other times Barney doing hero stuff could be seen chasing the villain, or else having ludicrous mishaps in comedy chase.

MICHELINS IN LEAD.

Tire Contest Is Conducted By 10,000 Club Men.

Joseph F. Peacha, Jr., manager of the Interstate Auto company, local agent for the Michelin tires, yesterday received the result of a recent tire test made by the Automobile club of New York. The figures show that the Michelin tires lead in the average mileage contest conducted by 10,000 members of the club. They follow:

Michelin	4,618
Fisk	4,101
Goodrich	4,096
Ajax	4,075
Goodyear	4,068
Firestone	4,056
Kelly-Springfield	3,886
United States	3,851
Diamond	3,010

SELLS WAGON PLANT.

Mitchell-Lewis Company Will Make Autos Only.

H. L. McClaren, president of the Mitchell-Lewis Motor company, announces that the company has sold its big wagon plant, also located at Racine, Wis., and will permanently retire from the wagon business, devoting its entire attention in the future to the manufacture and sale of Mitchell automobiles.

The consideration involved in the sale is private, but by the transaction the motor company added to its operating capital $2,700,000. Of this amount $2,200,000 is permanent capital and $500,000 is an issue of gold notes due Aug. 1, 1915.

By this arrangement the Mitchell-Lewis Motor company will pay off its entire gold note issue, due Aug. 1, 1914, and take its place in the front rank of automobile manufacturers in the matter of permanent financial stability.

OCEAN-TO-OCEAN ROAD

Is Suggested at Association Meet in Colorado.

Colorado Springs, Colo., March 14.—Plans for a great central trans-continental highway to be known as the Pike's Peak Ocean-to-Ocean highways of the Central Transcontinental highway or by some other equally suitable name, were inaugurated at the third annual meeting of the Lincoln Highway Association of Colorado, held in Colorado Springs recently.

A special committee, headed by President Austin Gavin of Glenwood Springs, was appointed with full power to act in negotiations with road associations in Utah, Kansas, Missouri, Nevada, California, Illinois and Eastern states with a view to the development of such a highway of which the Pike's Peak route would be the Colorado link. The association has already been in touch with many associations in the states named, and its committee is now arranging for conferences for the further consideration of this matter. Within a month it is hoped to have effected preliminary organization across the country.

Important action with regard to the western outlet was taken at this meeting when the application of Rio Blanco county, Colorado, was favorably acted upon. This will give the Pike's Peak route the Rifle-Meeker-Vernal road as an alternative route into Utah to Salt Lake City. While the association still retains the Grand Junction-Midland Trail outlet, it is believed that the addition of the new route will strengthen its position as the central transcontinental highway.

QUICK DETECTION.

Stolen Studebaker Car Located in Twenty-four Hours.

When his Studebaker "Six" fell prey to a discriminating automobile thief, Dr. H. G. Peregrine of Seattle, notified both the police and the local Studebaker dealer.

The police threw out their usual dragnet. The dealer set in motion a plan of detection, carefully worked out for just such an emergency.

Within twenty-four hours his friend, the dealer, informed Dr. Peregrine that his car was in a certain garage in Portland, where it had been stored after its arrival by boat, several minutes before.

The car was recovered and an arrest followed.

That was quick work and represented an unusually striking instance of the faculity with which a stolen Studebaker car can be traced. But the result would have been the same in the long run, regardless of the route taken by the thief. Eventually he would have run foul of the watchful, patient, infallible system by which the movements of each Studebaker car can be traced.

By this system a car stolen last year in Minneapolis was recovered in San Antonio, Texas, and one stolen in Providence, R. I., turned up in Los Angeles. In each of these cases long before, but for the fact that the thieves had kept them out of Studebaker garages they had passed en route.

Tracing of cars is done by means of a complicated system of numbers stamped on the motor, chassis and various other parts of each Studebaker car and its equipment. Some of these number are hidden. Others are in plain sight, and often these are removed. But a defaced number is sure to lead to inquiry later on, and no thief, not conversant with the system of numbering, can expect to deface all the means of identification provided.

Accurate record is kept of all the numbers at the Studebaker headquarters in Detroit. The man in charge can, if given one of half a dozen numbers, identify any one of 150,000 Studebaker cars and supply the name of its original owner. A simple bulletin service from this department puts on the trail of any stolen car at least 2,000 skilled detectives. Sooner or later the thief must show up with his car at a Studebaker garage; thus ending his joy ride and paving the way for a long rest, far from further temptation.

BUY CARS NOW

Now is the time to buy automobiles. There are many reasons for this, chief among which is the fact that dealers are now able to secure cars and will also be able to deliver them when wanted. Later on, when the demand increases, there will be more or less trouble with deliveries.

"THE HUMAN EQUATION."

Causes Difference in Cars of Same Make and Power.

Motorists have often marveled over the fact that, when two automobiles of the same model, both fresh from the factory, have been compared in performance, one was almost always superior in power and in general ability.

Structurally these cars may have been exact duplicates as nearly as duplication can be secured by automatic machinery. Their parts would tally to the thousandth of an inch. Their weights would vary by a few ounces only. The old comparison "as alike as two peas" would have been coarse for such an application. Yet one car was better than the other.

Quite often this dissimilarity, it has been noticed, disappeared after the cars had been for some time in use. Sometimes, however, it has remained in evidence for years.

That this condition is due to the difference in adjustment is the explanation which engineers have always given to this singular phenomenon. It has been merely one more case of the human equation. Cars can be built by machinery, but they must still be adjusted by hand.

Until recently this adjustment has been one of the duties of the road tester, who, from his seat at the wheel, passed judgment on each car. If the tester was a good guesser, perfect adjustment was the result. But the process at the best was still guesswork.

This condition was tackled in a new way several months ago by the Studebaker corporation, which, after a long series of experiments, fitted up a new factory building with apparatus by which each complete chassis is given a thorough and complete block test before it is handed over to the road tester for final approval.

A Studebaker chassis comes to this test complete except for body and wheels. It is attached by its rear axle to a large brake equipped with speedometer, pressure dial and other devices. The chassis starts by its own electrical system and runs under its own power while skilled workmen test not only the power and flexibility of its motor but also go over in detail every adjustment of gear and bearing. The definite nature of the result attained and the unusual facility for the detection of noise and vibration make this method of adjustment absolutely accurate, for each car must score a certain definite record before passed along for road test and completion.

PULLED FIRE TRUCK FROM A SNOW BANK.

Heavy snowfalls throughout New York state have created many transportation difficulties and not the least serious have been those encountered by fire apparatus in responding to alarms. On some occasions even the powerful motor trucks have been stalled in the snow banks and have required outside assistance.

A spectacular incident of this nature occurred recently in Binghamton. A 10,000-pound combination motor fire wagon, in responding to an alarm, got stuck in a knee-deep snow drift and never did get to the fire. Fortunately the fire did not amount to much and so the results were not disastrous, but the problem of getting this truck back to the firehouse remained.

Chief Hoag, however, came to the rescue. The chief drives a Cadillac, built on a regular chassis but with a special demi-tonneau body. He backed his car up to the truck, put extra weight in the tonneau to get traction, then hooked onto the truck. A start was made and the stalled truck moved slowly at first, but soon got under way. It was towed three blocks to a car track, where it was able to move under its own power.

The Binghamton fire department has two Cadillacs in service. One has been in constant use for five years. The other was bought four months ago.

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

A motorcycle was recently the means of saving members of a semi-official British exploring party from great hardships and perhaps death. The party was traveling through Africa from the cape to Cairo, gathering data concerning the interior of the continent. Their equipment consisted of a big automobile and a motorcycle. When in the depth of the continent the automobile broke down, leaving the party stranded many miles from aid. Though the motorcycle had kept pace all the way with the larger car, it was still in excellent condition, and journeyed back to civilization, returning with the necessary repairs and supplies.

Ranch life without a motorcycle would be extremely dull, according to D. Spencer, who is employed on a ranch near Goldsmith, Wyo. The ranch on which Spencer works is forty-seven miles from Cheyenne and eleven miles from a postoffice. On his two-wheeler he can go to town for the mail in about one-third of the time it formerly took with a horse. He is also enabled to run into Cheyenne on Saturday evenings and spend Sunday with his people. Spencer also makes use of his motorcycle on the ranch, finding it very serviceable in rounding up the range horses.

Charlie Yen Hi is a progressive Chinese gardner who lives outside of Los Angeles, Cal. By much hard labor he has been able to raise larger and better crops than his competitors. Then came the question of how to get his vegetables to market more quickly than his neighbors were able to do. This problem the up-to-date Chinaman solved by purchasing a motorcycle, on the carrier of which he loads his fresh vegetables each morning and hustles them to town before his competitors are fairly started.

Columbia, Mo., is the first city in the state to equip its fire department with motorcycles. The department now has four motorcycles, fitted with fire-fighting apparatus. This motorcycle squad is the first to respond to a call, and is thus able to save the city the expense of many runs by the big motor fire truck.

So successful was the exclusive motorcycle show recently held in St. Louis, under the direction of the motorcycle clubs, that the dealers are clamoring for another show to be held early in the spring.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

"The sale of Kissel Kars at the Boston show, which, by the way, surpassed New York and Chicago in the number of exhibitors, was far and away beyond expectations," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., of the Interstate Auto company. "Not only were many dealers added to the Kissel Kar New England representation, but a great number of retails were closed.

"This situation is fairly typical of the interest in this year's Kissel Kar models throughout the country. I think this is largely due to the fact that there is nothing experimental about the current Kissel Kars, no mechanical innovations not yet proved practicable. The Kissel Kar is, mechanically, as good as it can be built, and we have confined all our recent important changes to refinements and added equipment."

An action to determine whether a husband is responsible for his wife's negligence in the driving of his motor car recently came up in the New York supreme court. It has now been determined that where a car belonging to a husband and which has been purchased by him for the mutual pleasure of himself and his family, including his wife, who was privileged to use the same, was being driven at the time of an accident by the wife, the husband is not liable for personal injuries to a pedestrian caused by the wife's negligent driving.

It was held that the car was used for the wife's recreation, and not on any business of the husband; that a wife is not her husband's agent while utilizing his property as a means for her pleasure.

At a recent conference between Governor Dunne, members of the state highway commission and Warden Allen of the Joliet penitentiary, it was decided that any township in Illinois can avail itself of convict labor on the road. Five miles will be the minimum length of highway on which convicts will be used. Penitentiaries will furnish the rock. Two hundred prisoners will be available for the work.

George S. Mills has prepared plans and will award contracts during the present month for a new building planned by the Willys-Overland company to be erected at the plant on Central avenue, Toledo, Ohio. It will be 410 feet long, 200 feet wide, two stories high, of concrete and brick, and used for the construction of car bodies. It will cost $150,000 and is one of the first of a series of large extensions that will be made at the plant during the coming summer.

Three and one-half cents per mile for 2,800 miles is the operating cost of a Franklin "Little Six," driven by Robert B. Wolf of Berlin, N. H. The itemized cost per mile follows:

Gasoline	$.0143
Lubricants	.0027
Tires	.0010
Repairs	.0003
Electrical	.0018
Wash, polish, storage	.0062
Miscellaneous	.0091
Total	$.0354

Mr. Wolf has made some interesting comparisons of these figures with those showing the cost of operating two other cars which he owns. One, a two-passenger runabout, cost over 33 per cent more per mile than the five-passenger Franklin touring car. The other, a five-passenger car, cost nearly three times as much, or $.116 per mile.

The Plankington Packing company of Milwaukee has a Kissel Kar three-ton truck which has covered 21,000 miles and averaged 6,800 miles to a set of tires. Although of limited capacity, the owners state that they have carried as much as 9,800 pounds on this truck without apparent ill effects.

Emerging from vague talk and tentative discussion the plan that the Pacific Northwest shall have a modern, high-class automobile speedway has taken concrete form. To construct, maintain and operate in Seattle the fastest speedway in the world is the undertaking now well under way in the hands of the Northwestern Speedway corporation, incorporated under the laws of this state about the middle of February. The location of the speedway will be at The Meadows, which famous playground has been obtained for the corporation, along with considerable areas of adjoining property, under agreements for long-term leases, with the privilege of outright purchase at any time.

Good roads agitation in the United States is to be crystallized at a meeting Nov. 9-14, in Atlanta, when a number of the associations and organizations interested in the good roads movement will get together. More uniform road laws and a better class of road financing will be worked out.

Over eighteen miles on two quarts of gasoline is the economy record made by a Franklin Six-Thirty touring car driven by W. A. Wicks of Seattle. In a gasoline mileage test Mr. Wicks, accompanied by Frank M. Fretwell, secretary of the Auto Club of Seattle, drove over a course 18.45 miles long on two quarts of gasoline. This corresponds to 36.9 on one gallon.

The car was fitted with an auxiliary gasoline tank holding just two quarts. The main pipe to the regular gasoline tank was disconnected, the only connection to the carburetor being from the temporary tank attached to the side lamp bracket.

Syrup as a substitute for lubricating oil was tried with dire results by J. G. Powell of New Orleans, who recently completed a 5,000-mile tour. Mr. Powell with three others left New Orleans in a Franklin 1909 touring car and spent the greater part of four months touring through several states. The only serious accident was in Lexington, Miss., where they were directed to a drug store for lubricating oil. The next morning they discovered that they had been sold syrup. When their machine went dead nine miles from Crystal Springs it was five hours before aid could be secured to help them on their way.

Scarcely less important than the recent deal whereby the Kissel Kar is now handled in Chicago and adjacent territory by the big McDuffee Automobile company, is the disposition of the Philadelphia territory by the Kissel Motor Car company to the Gibbons-Wetherill company, which will hereafter market the Kissel Kar line in connection with Maxwell cars. The Gibbons-Wetherill company has the largest and best equipped service station in the Quaker city, having leased the spacious three-story building vacated by the Alco company. It is therefore ideally equipped to carry out the pet Kissel hobby of service to owners. The taking of the Kissel line by McDuffee in Chicago and Gibbons-Wetherill in Philadelphia is eloquent testimony to the regard in which the Wisconsin product is held by leading dealers. J. J. Jane, Jr., who has represented the Kissel Kar in Philadelphia, has built up a splendid trade for Gibbons-Wetherill to take over.

The quick handling of stock which is one of the essentials of good manufacturing, has been solved probably in a better manner than other factories by the Chalmers plant. There every moment of time is utilized, every movement of man, or machine works out beforehand. Stock chasers as they are known, are trained to anticipate the requirements of the different departments. One of the latest methods put into use at the factory has caused no end of surprise to visitors. In the big stock departments the stock chasers are equipped with roller skates. In taking the trip through the factory it is no uncommon sight to see one of these modern mercuries darting about among the machines carrying tools and small parts to the working men. This is only one of the small items that together make up a manufacturing system that cannot be excelled. No little thing is overlooked in the Chalmers factory that makes a better production at better cost.

STAGELAND

Lyceum

Little did Bud Fisher think, when he conceived the idea of the "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon series that it would prove to be the most remarkable success a newspaper artist ever achieved, nor that his effort would be the nucleus of a play that will live forever as the greatest laugh-producer for young and old the stage has ever known. Of course, it was Fisher's good fortune to have had a big daily newspaper adopt his daily comedy picture, to which fact is due a great part of the success. The fact that Gus Hill produced and managed the play was also good fortune for "Bud," as there is no more successful showman in the world than Gus Hill. It can be truthfully said that he never had a failure. That "Mutt and Jeff," in its third season, bids fair to be more profitable than either of the previous two is due to the personal attention Mr. Hill gives to every attraction that bears his name. He never allows anything to become shopworn or moth-eaten. Every year a show is sent out to tour the country it is a new one in everything but the title. No matter how many seasons the old title may be used, the material in the entertainment is not permitted to retrograde.

"In Panama," the vehicle used for laughing purposes this season, is an innovation in play writing. "Mutt and Jeff" will be seen at the Lyceum Wednesday matinee and night.

With all the pomp and magnificence which characterized its run of one entire year at the Park theater, New York, and two years at the Adelphi theater, London, John P. Slocum offers the English musical success, "The Quaker Girl," at the Lyceum theater Friday and Saturday, March 27 and 28, with popular matinee on Saturday.

It is the No. 1 and only organization presenting the piece and practically no changes of importance have been made in the cast. Victor Morley will again be seen as the featured comedian in the part of "Tony Chute." This announcement, in itself, is enough to assure theater patrons of a high-class and delightful performance. Other prominent members are Harry Macdonough, Jr., Dixie Girard, Bernice McCabe, William Blaisdell, Mlle. Corday, Phil J. Moore, Connie Mack, Harry Sinclair, Murray Stephen and Carol Parson.

"The Quaker Girl" is the collaborated effort of James Tanner, Adrian Ross and Percy Greenbank, with music by Lionel Monckton, a quartet of authors and composers who have written a large share of recent musical comedy successes. Two love stories are involved in the plot with an American naval attache of the embassy in Paris and "The Quaker Girl" as the parties of the first part, and with an exiled Bonapartist princess and a king's messenger as the other couple. The matrimonial and pre-matrimonial obstacles that beset the two couples provide a sufficient diversity of action and the scenes are an English country village where the couples are first seen and then a dressmaking establishment in Paris, to which localities the entire company finds excuse for going. The numerous songs and dances that are introduced come naturally in continuing the story and there is no attempt at effect so much in vogue in musical comedy in this country.

The advance sale of seats will open Monday.

McIntyre & Heath, with their world's greatest chorus, will be the attraction at the Lyceum early in April, in a magnificent revival of George V. Hobart and Jean Schwartz' musical comedy, "The Ham Tree." The production is staged by Ned Wayburn, whose direction in this particular style of stage novelty is pre-eminent.

* * *

"Peg O' My Heart," the most successful comedy ever presented on Broadway, where it is in its second yetr of continuous popularity at the Cort theater, New York, with Laurette Taylor as the star, will come to the Lyceum soon with charming Florence Martin in the role of the Irish girl, who takes all hearts by storm. The play is one of sentiment and laughter, love and tears, and is essentially a comedy of youth. Miss Martin, who made such a decided success in New York, in "Little Boy Blue," brings her charming naivette and personal charms to help her in the role, and the supporting company is a brilliant one, including Isabel Vernon, Colin Campbell, Maude Allen, Fred L. Tiden, Nella Horan, Pell Trenton, Reginald Carrington, John Lyons, etc.

An engagement which is looked forward to with pleasureable anticipation is "Little Women," a dramatization of Louisa M. Alcott's beautiful story, made by Marian de Forest and produced by William A. Brady, and which comes to the Lyceum soon.

"Little Women" is the story of Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy, known to millions of readers in the United States, and which has been translated into German, French, Spanish and other foreign languages. There are few homes that do not boast of one or more copies of "Little Women," for the book has been before the American public for the past forty-three years. More than 2,000,000 copies have been sold in America alone, and to meet the very recent demand for the book the publishers have turned out a new edition showing scenes from Mr. Brady's production. "Little Women" contains no villain and is without intrigue of any description, relying solely upon the charm of its characters, the sweetness of its story and the realism of its simple home life.

Maurice Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird," has attracted larger audiences than any other play of the present time, and while many offerings have received but indifferent business, "The Blue Bird" has been performed to capacity audiences in New York, London, Paris, Berlin and St. Petersburg.

No doubt a large part of the extraordinary success of "The Blue Bird" may be attributed to the spectacular splendors of the production and to the interesting story of the pursuit by two small children of the "Blue Bird," which in the folklore of Northern France and Belgium is symbolical of happiness. But the fact remains that "The Blue Bird" has a deeper meaning for those who seek it and appreciate it. It is on account of the beautiful inner meaning of the story that persons in all parts of the world have given their support and sympathy to the Maeterlinck drama, and this also explains why parents are anxious to have their children see this beautiful play.

In fact, it is a kind of "Alice in Wonderland," with a moral and philosophy of its own, which Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" lacked. Tyltyl and Mytyl are more nearly flesh and blood children than any that Maeterlinck has previously depicted, and they are besides, boy and girl in a vivid and delightful fashion; but aside from their vigorous and charming individuality they are doubtless intended to typify the soul of man on its endless quest for the answer to the riddle—Happiness. Everywhere man has sought the secret of happiness, and in the search Nature, animals and the elements all combine to hide away from man the answer to the enigma. Herein enters the poet's curious viewpoint that of all the things in the universe Light, meaning wisdom and intelligence, and man's humble companion, the dog, are his only allies.

Through fairyland, dreamland and mystery the children, who typify humanity in its search, carry their quest for the secret of happiness. Maeterlinck shows in a succession of scenes the present, the past and the future; the happiness, that is, permanent happiness, is to be found in none of the dreaming or waking fantasies of adult or childish lives.

In the end the children Tyltyl and Mytyl, returned from their wanderings, find the Blue Bird within their own cottage door. Lo and behold! their pet dove has turned blue. And its blue beauty cures the neighbor's sick child of all its ills. There are wonderful things, mysteries, fascinations far afield; but, in Maeterlinck's own words, "at the very center of our being we hear the equal of the greatest mysteries. The happiness that we sought far afield lies bidden within us or around us, within reach of our hand. It is enough that we should be conscious of the greatness of our expectations, for we are in the ardent and marvelous state of life, the fairest period of happiness, its youth, its childhood."

And so it is that every auditor of Maeterlinck's "Blue Bird" feels that the search for the mystic bird has not been in vain. Even the children who follow the story so breathlessly must imbibe unconsciously some of the poet's wise lesson.

Orpheum

Hans Robert, who is remembered by thousands of theater-goers as the hero in the title role of "Checkers" for several seasons, will be the headline attraction at the Orpheum for the week beginning with the Sunday matinee. Mr. Robert will make this return visit to Duluth in a playlet by Edgar Allan Woolf, that prolific writer of vaudeville sketches. "A Daddy by Express" is the title of the sketch which Mr. Robert will present, and the little play involves the sort of sentiment that appeals to the heart of the theater-going public, a tender little story and comedy features that have delighted many spectators.

After his several seasons' success in "Checkers," Mr. Robert was co-starred with Edmund Breese in "The Man of Honor." He also was featured in one of William A. Brady's companies of "A Gentleman From Mississippi." His stage career has won him much deserved popularity, and many Duluthians will remember his delightful work in "Checkers," and be glad to welcome him again.

Miss Sophye Barnard, who will be one of the attractions of the week's bill of vaudeville, has been billed as the "Girl With the Thrushing Voice," and such nomenclature was given because of the clearness and beauty of her mezzo soprano voice. She has experience in concert work, in musical comedy and her vaudeville tours have met with success. She began her musical training in Philadelphia, later studied with Victor Maurel in New York, and later in Paris with Jean de Reszke. Beside her concert work she has appeared in many musical comedy successes, including the ever popular "Merry Widow." "The Gay Hussars" and she created the title role in "The Red Widow," which she played in the New York run of that piece. She has appeared in the European music halls and on her return chose the vaudeville stage of this country rather than musical comedy.

Lou Anger, who will also appear on the week's bill, is also a former member of the company of "The Gay Hussars." For his vaudeville engagement he appears as "The German Soldier," and as such he wears a make-up, in itself amusing, and presents a monologue rehearsing the troubles of the soldier's life that has proved most amusing to those who have heard it.

Etta Bryan and Roy Sumner will appear at the local playhouse during the week in another of Edgar Allan Woolf's sketches, "The College Proposition," which presents a bit of campus life that is cleverly acted by the two, assisted by Louis Chavalier. Both Miss Bryan and Mr. Sumner have had their stage experience in the legitimate theater, and they were for many seasons identified with many popular successes. Mr. Sumner had great success as Skinner, the cook, in Paul Armstrong's play "Going Some."

Sammy Weston and Sidney Clare are singing comedians, dapper youths who sing, dance and chatter in the neat style dear to the vaudeville lover's heart.

The Power brothers, athletes, who will be a part of the week's bill, are properly named and the feats of strength accomplished by them are of a type to cause amazement. With their acts of power they combine a series of poses that are interesting and difficult.

The Reeds, who will present "The Athletic Waiter," combine a delicious comedy with athletic features on the side. The act has proved satisfying to vaudeville standards from two points of view, as comedy and as an acrobatic offering.

The new motion picture service, known as the Hearst-Selig Pictorial Review, and the overture by Director Fred G. Bradbury and his Orpheum orchestra, will complete the bill, which will continue all week with a daily matinee.

AT EMPRESS

"The world is mine."

Even with the help of permutations and combinations it is probably impossible to estimate the number of thrills that the above phrase has caused among theater goers during the years that "The Count of Monte Cristo" has been before the play-loving people of the world. In modern Americanese the phrase would be rendered simply "The world is my oyster," but it does not in any manner convey the same dignity of achievement and the thrilling sense of power as does the phrase which has rung around the world on the lips of actors of German, French, English, Swedish and almost every other nationality which supports the theater.

"The world is mine" is the phrase that will mark the climax of the play "Monte Cristo," which will be the attraction at the Empress theater for four nights, starting matinee Sunday, March 22.

The action is intensely dramatic and the plot is such as to sustain the interest from the rise of the curtain on the first act until the curtain is lowered at the close of the play. The dialogue is bright and is interspersed with comedy that is quaint and very funny.

The company is a large and competent one. In securing this cast, Mr. Allardt has spared no expense or trouble and has procured the very best talent that money can buy. Every individual performer has won prominence at some time in companies in which they have been starred. The costumes and scenery used in this production are historically correct, being made from models and designs from the original.

For the three days, March 26, 27 and 28, a new program of four acts of vaudeville and a feature film will be the attraction at the Empress. The acts booked are Dolly and Mack, a team of entertainers; Clara William and her company in a funny sketch "The Substitute Umpire;" Sigsbee's Dogs, a canine act, and Baron and Farnum, two comedy acrobats with many startling feats. The feature film, "Marie," is a story of love and tragedy on the island of Sicily.

"A Hot Old Time," which will open at the Empress theater Sunday, March 29, contains some sure-fire song hits, all up-to-date. The suffragette number in which all of the girls don a suffragette costume, is one of the best things in the show and calls for repeated encores. Then there is "The Ragtime Sailor Man," written especially for the show with a beautiful set of costumes.

The second act opens with "Ragging the Nursery Rhymes," in which the chorus all wear rompers and this is one of the best numbers in the show but the number that is the piece de resistence is "The Irish Tango," sung by Lary Mooney and eight girls in Irish costumes doing the "dance mad" tango, finishing up with a burlesque Irish tango by Larry and Cherry, which is always good for four or five encores.

The patrons of the Empress will have an opportunity of witnessing a performance of one of America's youngest leading ladies, on April 2, 3 and 4. This being the date set for the appearance of Little Nell Burt, who was associated with William Farnum, during his recent starring tour in that celebrated war drama, "The Littlest Rebel," Miss Burt playing the title role. This little lady has been associated with Miss Maud Fealy, Miss May Buckley, Edward Mackey and many others of stellar reputation, as well as posing for child characters with the "Famous Players" moving picture plays and many of the critics of "things theatrical" have pronounced Little Nell the cleverest child comedienne on the stage today. As the street waif, in "The Redemption of Mame" the youngster has great scope for her talent, as the playlet was especially written for her.

AT THE REX

"Clothes," in which Daniel Frohman presents the Grace George sensational society drama, will be at the Rex theater, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Even jaded metropolitan society has been startled out of its well bred stare, so vivid and true to life are the contrasts of love and desire, sham and sincerity. The story in a few ways will make the lover of finery long to get up on the housetops and defend the rilly loving partner of the family.

Oliver Sherwood, a pretty Western girl, fond of luxury and finery, is fortunately or unfortunately given an opportunity to try out life in the gilded circle. One will agree with Carlyle's immortal line "society is founded upon cloth" after seeing this drama.

Margaret, "Our Mutual Girl" meets Dorothy Dix, the famous actress, next week. Margaret also plays a leading part, in her dream, of a scene from "High Jinks," the latest musical comedy. Members of the Broadway cast, including Elaine Hammerstein and Burrell Barbaretto and the beauty chorus of sixty, appear in this big ensemble. "Our Mutual Girl's" aunt is a very interesting personage, and by Lary Mooney and eight girls in Irish costumes doing the "dance mad" tango, finishing up with a burlesque Irish tango by Larry and Cherry, which is always good for four or five encores.

"The Man With the Bark On," that's Dustin Farnum—will appear at the Rex Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the "Squaw Man." The right to exhibit this Jesse L. Lasky feature is considered a bit of good news for the Rex Patrons. Dustin Farnum has deserted the regular stage, and gone over to the film field.

In the "Squaw Man" is represented a wonderful triumph of the pictures. The original play was in four acts and four scenes, while the motion picture drama to be shown by the Rex is in 264 scenes, and required a cast of 127 people. The film story is made in the exact locale of the story, and the scenery is magnificent, the beautiful Rocky Mountains with their glorious sunsets are an inspiration aside from the wonderful drama which they serve as a background. No expense or danger was spared. Hundreds of miles were traveled. Deep ravines and giant mountains all fill their mission in this true-to-life story. As the first part of the story is laid in England, the first two reels were made at Sheham, Eng., just outside of London.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Klaw & Erlanger's "The Little Cafe," which closed a long run at the New Amsterdam theater, in New York, opened at the Colonial in Boston.

* * *

It is reported that Zelda Sears will again forsake vaudeville, to appear in a new play at the Little theater, in the metropolis.

* * *

Ola Humphries, known on the stage as the Princess Hassan, will be seen in the two-a-days shortly in a condensed version of Oscar Wilde's "The Picture of Dorian Gray." April 20 is the date set.

* * *

The two hundredth performance of "Seven Keys to Baldpate," the George M. Cohan success, was given recently at the Astor theater, in New York.

* * *

Arnold Daly, last seen in the title role of "General John Regan," will endeavor to secure a one-act playlet during his absence in London for the purpose of making his appearance in vaudeville next season.

Arthur Byron will make his vaudeville debut April 27.

* * *

A. H. Woods is planning something decidedly novel in the way of theatrical production. When abroad recently he acquired the English-speaking rights to "Sleepy Theodore," a German farce comedy. It is at present Mr. Woods's intention to produce his new play

Fiske O'Hara is meeting with so much success on his present tour in "Old Dublin," that his season has been extended into May.

* * *

Arline Fredericks has become the successor of Maybelle MacDonald as the leading soprano on "America" at the New York Hippodrome.

* * *

Laura Hope Crews has obtained the rights to "Dolly Madison," the Edgar Allen Woolf sketch, which was formerly used by Henrietta Crosman. She will use it in her debut in vaudeville, which takes place next month.

* * *

William Elliott is getting busy signing players for the several Kitty Mackay companies, which he intends putting out next season.

* * *

It is stated that Pauline Hall, the well known comic opera star, is in negotiation with the Columbia Burlesque circuit, with a view to heading one of that organization's shows.

* * *

T. Roy Barnes and Bessie Crawford, the well known vaudeville team, are about to split up. Barnes is to be featured by Charles Dillingham in a new production, while Miss Crawford will continue in her chosen field as a single.

* * *

The announcement is made by the Schuberts that they have made arrangements with John Cort by means of which "The Midnight Girl" will be the summer attraction at the Cort theater in San Francisco during the Panama exposition in 1915.

* * *

"Maria Rosa" has closed in New York. It may go on tour through Canada. Lou Tellegen, who was seen in the principal male role, is said to be leaving for Paris, where he is to assist in the production of one of his own plays.

* * *

Cyril Maude and his company gave their one hundred and fiftieth performance of "Grump" at Wallack's theater last Monday night.

* * *

Wolf-Ferrari's latest opera, "L'Amore Medico," will have its first American production at the Metropolitan next Friday evening.

* * *

After all the talk which has been created about the revival of "The Girl From Kay's," with Sam Bernard and Gaby Desly's in the leading roles, the affair has been declared off. One of the reasons given for the abandonment of the project is that Gaby insisted that Harry Pilcer be intrusted with the juvenile lead. Gaby sails for England Tuesday, but will favor us with her presence again next October.

* * *

Christine Norman, who created the role of Ethel in "Peg o' My Heart," is to have the lead in a new play which Oliver Morosco will produce.

* * *

The production of "The Unseen Empire," which was announced for the near future by Klaw & Erlanger, with Elsie Ferguson in the principal role, has been postponed until next season, according to reports.

* * *

It is stated that William Faversham is to receive $2,500 per week during his vaudeville engagement.

* * *

To Leon Errol instead of Julian Mitchell will fall the duty of staging the new edition of the "Follies."

* * *

Charles Frohman has obtained the rights to "Belle Adventure," now playing at the Vaudeville in Paris. He will present it on this side next season.

* * *

Rumor has it that Lew Fields will be under the management of A. H. Woods next season. Among others, Woods is planning to send out in the fall eight companies playing "Within the Law," eight in "Potash and Perlmutter" and four each in "The Yellow Ticket" and "Under Cover."

* * *

Italy also complains of a bad theatrical season. The famous Scala, in Milan, is said to show a deficit of $12,000.

* * *

In order to protect himself in advance a Chicago author has taken out a temporary injunction restraining the Windy City police department from interfering with his sketch, entitled "Police." It is said that the guardians of the peace in Chicago have been particularly sensitive of late in regard to plays dealing with police methods, censoring any act that might be constructed as a gibe at their ways and means of conducting affairs.

* * *

Elsa Ryan, the interpreter of the title role in "Peg o' My Heart," as seen here this season, has evidently caught the fever. She threatens to break into vaudeville in earnest this summer, and is having a sketch prepared for the purpose.

* * *

It is said that Indianapolis is to have a new Keith house. According to reports an option has been obtained on three desirable sites.

* * *

Minnie Bond, of the Senator Gore damage-suit fame, is stated to have received offers to enter upon a stage career in vaudeville. The act proposed for this purpose is to be based upon the order of the allegations made in her suit.

* * *

It may be that another Mayor will be added to the list of Sullivan and Considine features. Hi Gill, who was recalled last year and re-elected recently, is said to be the recipient of a flattering offer from the circuit.

* * *

The present Winter Garden show, "The Whirl of the World," will close about June 1, to open an indefinite run in Philadelphia. A Pacific coast trip is also planned.

* * *

Billie Burke will appear at the New York Lyceum theater shortly in a new play by the author of "Kitty Mackay." It is entitled "Jerry," and one of the things which have been especially noted about it is that it will afford Miss Burke a chance to appear in pajamas. The scenes are laid in suburban Philadelphia in the spring time. This is quite a change from Miss Burke's present vehicle, which plays in the Canadian Northwest, and is called "The Land of Promise."

* * *

Winsor McKay, the cartoonist, was forced to abandon his projected Pittsburg vaudeville appearance last week on account of the opposition of William Randolph Hearst, who does not approve of the appearance of his employes upon the boards.

* * *

Florence Ziegfeld evidently has no superstition in his makeup. He has chosen April 13 for the first performance of the new "Follies." Gertrude Vanderbilt is to be a member of the cast.

* * *

"Alma, Wo Wohnst Du?" which has been seen in English under the title of "Alma, Where Do You Live?" has been revived by Adolph Philipp at his Fifty-seventh street house in New York.

* * *

Frances Cameron and Walter Lawrence, well known in the musical comedy field, will be members of the cast of "Auction Pinochle," Oliver Morosco's new production, which will be staged in Los Angeles in the near future.

* * *

H. V. Esmond, the notable English actor, has brought his American tour to a close.

* * *

Eva Tanguay has finished her season at Omaha. Illness is given as the cause.

* * *

H. B. Warner has been engaged to head the cast of "Under Cover," which shortly begins a Chicago engagement.

* * *

* * *

Marie Dressler and her manager, J. H. Dalton, were made subjects of a Mann act inquiry at San Francisco. The district attorney, who investigated the charge, refused to hold them. Miss Dressler says that the affair was spite work on the part of the management of the Gayety theater, with which she has had some trouble recently.

* * *

Montague Glass has gone to London to superintend the production of his play, "Potash and Perlmutter," at the Queen's theater.

* * *

Selwyn and company will give a new play by Augustus E. Thomas, entitled "The Squealer," a try-out early next month in Boston. In this trial performance Jane Cowl and William Courtenay are to figure prominently in the cast.

* * *

"Mlle. Moselle" will have its long-delayed first production in Cleveland tomorrow night. Edward Paulton wrote the drama, while Ludwig Englander is responsible for the music. Chase and Evenall, a new managerial firm, will finance the project. In the cast are Jefferson de Angelis and John Henderson, while George W. Lederer has staged the piece.

* * *

The Schuberts have in preparation a comedy entitled "The Third Party." It was originally presented in London under the title, "The Chaperon." Taylor Holmes will have the principal comedy role.

* * *

"Forward March," the new musical play which is to serve as a starring vehicle for William Collier, is said to be based upon the farce, "Love Among the Lions," which was produced by Charles Frohman several seasons ago.

* * *

The Lambs' club has decided to send a company composed of its members upon a tour of the principal cities during May. The program will include the best skits given at the club during the year. A prominent place upon the program will be given George W. Hobart's morality play, "Experience," to which the music was written by May Bendix.

* * *

Fay Templeton, according to present plans, will have the role of Little Buttercup in the proposed revival of "Pinafore" at the New York Hippodrome.

* * *

A new musical play by Leo Dietrichstein was produced at the Burbank theater, Los Angeles, last Sunday night. It is called "Rita's Romance" and was given with such gratifying results that Oliver Morosco is planning to send it to the East. Featured in the production is a new musical star, Selma Paley by name. Miss Paley is a native of California.

* * *

A stock wheel embracing the Southern cities Atlanta, Birmingham, New Orleans, Memphis and Nashville has been organized. Other cities may be added later. Among the stars engaged for the new venture are Percy Haswell, Emma Bunting, Billie Long and Norman Hackett.

AT THE DIAMOND.

The management of the Diamond theater has secured for tomorrow's program only an exceptionally strong drama, "A Question of Right," that has been produced by the Lubin company. The story deals with a politician in a large city who is dishonest and a grafter and who is elected mayor. His wife, however, learns of his dishonesty and denounces him before a large crowd of citizens, who call on the mayor to notify him of his acceptance. She decides to leave her husband and as she prepares to go the wife finds her husband's dead body in the library. The former lover, Vanacito, is a city detective who believes her guilty and she is rendered temporarily insane until the real murderer is found. Several other good pictures, including a side-splitting comedy, complete the bill.

"Ann," by Edgar Jepson, is the noncommittal title of the complete novelette in April Ainslee's. It is a brilliant piece of work. A more delightful, bewitching, piquant heroine than Ann has never flashed into fiction. The hero in the story needs to know more about women. He learns it from Ann to everybody's satisfaction. A series of unusual interest begins in this number, called "Stories of the Superwomen." It is by Albert Payson Terhune. He writes of the kind of woman who appears in almost every generation the woman who does not necessarily possess beauty, or genius, or brains, but exerts some powerful influence over men. The subject of the present issue is Lola Montez, "the dancer who kicked over a throne," and the sketch is written in a lively, entertaining manner, presenting this famous woman's life vividly and attractively. The May Ainslee's will continue the series with a sketch of the life of Adrienne Lecouvreur.

The April Woman's Home Companion contains the clearest and most interesting report of the militant movement in England that has yet appeared in any American periodical. It is called "John Bull's Misbegotten Daughters" and is written by J. Nilsen Laurvik. The article shows exactly wherein English women are discriminated against by English laws, and although it does not, of course, justify violence, it at least explains it. Other interesting articles in the April Companion are: "The New Freedom for Little Children," by Mary Heaton Vorse; "The Other World," by Charles E. Jefferson; "A Two Weeks' Trip in Italy," by Albert Lee; "Amateur Dramatics," by Sally Conrad Fauntleroy; "The World's Greatest Paintings," by Laura Spencer Portor, and "The Kitchen Garden," by Franz Biehler. A further report of the Better Babies movement is included, accompanied by a "two-page spread" containing photographs of 101 prize babies. Fiction is contributed by Mary Heaton Vorse, Lloyd Osbourne, Molly Elliot Seawell, Constance Du Veen, Juliet Wilbor Tompkins and Ellis O. Jones.

Influx of immigration regulated according to the rate of its assimilation —this is the basic principle of a new immigration policy for the United States, suggested by Prof. Sidney L. Gulick. He explains his plan in the March magazine number of The Survey. Twenty-six years of distinguished service in Japan convince him that the United States must treat all nations alike. Limiting immigration from each country to, say 5 per cent, of those already here and naturalized would accomplish this, he says, and would keep the door wide open to Northern Europe, while allowing only a slight Asiatic immigration. The ripe thought of an English social philosopher on a problem of fundamental importance in America as well as in Europe, appears in Sidney Webb's article on the relation between voluntary philanthropy and state or municipal action.

A thoughtful and sincere attempt to sum up the situation in art today is to be made in the Century Magazine for April. The editor says that a revolution against settled art standards is now in full career and "it is time that we study signs, seek to define directions, and somewhat forecast the convention that is to come." Under the general heading of "This Transitional Age in Art" have been gathered five authoritative papers, covering every phase of the subject and profusely illustrated with more than fifty pictures, some of them in full colors. The subjects are: 1, "Is Our Art Distinctively American?" by John W. Alexander, president National Academy of Design; 2, "The Painting of Today" by Edwin H. Blashfield, president Society of Mural Painters; 3, "The Painting of Tomorrow," by Ernest L. Blumenschein; 4, "The Point of View of the Modern" by Walter Pach; 5, "The Ancestry of Cubism" by Jay Hambidge and Gove Hambidge.

The April number of Woman's World offers to readers an unusually large number of good stories, editorial comment, interesting articles, and departmental suggestions. The stories are of a distinctly new character. In "Pitfalls I Have Escaped," a bachelor tells the six reasons why he has never married. Crittenden Marriott, in "The Making of a Man," narrates most interesting phase of a woman's love and its influence on the man, and "Margaret Winston's Story," by Thomally Holbeck Anderson, sounds a warning to girls not to let foolish pride stand in the way of their life's happiness. "The Three Sorrows," the thrilling serial of life on the Texas Panhandle, by Alice MacGowan, is continued, and Maude Radford Warren recounts the story of a woman who sacrificed her career as a grand opera star to heed the call of love. Strickland Gillilan, too, continues to amuse his readers with quaint anecdotes of his experiences as a traveling lecturer.

A little group of men in a confidential, after-dinner-cigar sort of mood, on a comfortable veranda of a moonlit June night, or sitting around the hearth fire when the cold-weather tang is in the air, are noted for the good stories they can tell. "A Balance in Souls," by Anne O'Hagan, the opening feature of Women's Stories, first April number, is one of this kind. The general discussion has touched closely upon one of the great experiences in Garraway's life and the reminiscence of a woman, which he offers, is a statement of his philosophy concerning the whole man-and-woman question.

The National Magazine for March abounds in ideas, meaty articles, and fiction and verse of sup and interest. "Affairs at Washington" presents some very suggestive pictures of a reform administration, whose opponents seem indisposed to savage attack or criticism. The methodical and effective office work of the president's assistants, the single tax convention at Washington; the group of sight-seers, and the demolition of ancient Washington structures, and flashlights on public men and fair ladies, maintain a perennial interest in this kaleidoscopic causerie of Joe Chapple. A fascinating picture of "Chile, the Yankeeland of South America," given by Peter MacQueen, the famous globe trotter. An industrious, hard-bitted, money-greedy and independent race, our travelers find them very prosperous, very self-reliant and by no means over "well affectioned" toward Americans. The stories in the March National are particularly bright and wholesome, and with contributions by E. Phillips Oppenheim, Octave Thanet, Ed. Cahn, Lewis F. MacBrayne, Frank M. Evans and Oney Fred Sweet, this issue offers an unusual and unique menu of up-to-date fiction.

"In a little wooden building on the grounds of the University of Pittsburg thirty-six young chemists are working at scientific problems, the solution of which will earn millions of dollars for many industries and eventually add to the happiness and prosperity of everybody in the world," says Frank Parker Stockbridge in an interesting article, "Harnessing Science to the Factory," that appears in the April number of Popular Mechanics Magazine. In this article is explained how these chemists have found out by scientific experiment how to make bread of a better quality "than the kind grandma used to make;" how they have discovered a successful method of preserving orange juice, a thing that has been a puzzle to fruit growers for thirty years; and how they are daily discovering new processes that will not only make many manufactured products better, but, in the end, will make them cheaper. The April magazine contains 344 articles and 350 full-page photographs of incidents of illustrations, many of the latter being universal interest.

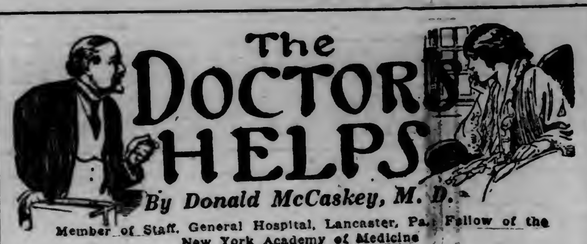
The DOCTOR HELPS



By Donald McCaskey, M. D.

Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine

THIS LADY NEEDS SURGICAL ATTENTION

A Canada lady says:

"About every three or four weeks I take a terrible distress in my stomach and over my gall duct. The pain runs along over my hip and goes up my right shoulder. The pain is the worst, however, over the gall duct. Sometimes the distress will last from nine to twenty-four hours. When the pain has gone I get very yellow and the urine that passes from me is dreadfully yellow and looks like bile. I have tried all kinds of applications and take lots of Epsom salts, but I hope you will be able to explain what causes this distress and can advise me what to take for it? It seems as though there is something hard over the right hip all the time."

It is utterly impossible for me to tell you what to take for your trouble without knowing just what is causing your attacks of jaundice. Maybe you have a lot of gall stones lodged in your gall bladder and they choke up the exit of the duct into the bowel. Maybe your liver is involved with a growth. These things can only be determined by a personal examination.

From your letter it looks to me as though you need the surgeon. The latter will tell you whether or not a gall bladder operation is in your case going to be of benefit or not. Go consult your doctor at once and take this letter with you.

A GANGLION ON HIS WRIST TENDON.

An inquirer writes:

"My doctor says I have an inflammation of the tendon on my left wrist. It is on the back and first appeared as a hard lump. I hit this lump, as a doctor advised a friend of mine to do with his, and it became soft and has remained so ever since. There is no trouble, except when working the fingers of the left hand become numb and grow so dead I have to stop work. I have been rubbing iodine on it, bathing it with hot water, also covering the wrist with hot salt. The doctor gave me some medicine. Do you think working against a furnace and having a fan blowing a breeze on me would cause this trouble at my wrist? The doctor says the trouble is caused by rheumatism and is often chronic. I shall welcome anything you may have to say to me."

From your letter it looks to me as though your wrist lump was a ganglion, or what is sometimes known as a dropsy of the tendon. Another term for the condition is a "weeping sinew."

If the condition is really a ganglion, all the iodine in the world which you would paint on will not cure it. The thing must be punctured and permitted to drain. It might fill up again, when it should again be punctured.

The last ganglion I treated was in an elderly lady 67 years old. I used a sterilized three-cornered sailmaker's needle and the trouble was over never to return.

About the rheumatism theory for your ganglion, I frankly do not know. It is as good a cause as any. No. Working against a furnace and having a fan blowing wind on you won't cause a ganglion, but it certainly will do a lot towards making you rheumatic unless you are careful with your diet and habits.

THIS PATIENT NEEDS A GENERAL OVERHAULING.

An Ohio farmer, "D. G. J.", writes:

"I am 46 years old, five feet ten inches and weight 150 pounds. I have a pain in the back of my neck and head. My neck is stiff and I cannot turn my head without it hurting. I take cold very easy; my urine is acid. I move around and do some work, and have been advised to see an osteopath; my stomach is weak; my bowels regular, and to my knowledge very free. What do you advise?"

You need a general overhauling. Go to your physician and have your urine analyzed for a series of several weeks; if need be, have your bowel movements studied. The bowel is over thirty feet long and will reveal much important information if each movement is saved and carefully examined. Your heart and lungs should be examined likewise, your blood pressure taken and if necessary a stomach pump should be inserted in your stomach and the gastric contents removed and analyzed. Unless fundamental information such as this is obtained, it would be difficult to intelligently advise you. Go to your doctor. Take this article with you.

WHEN YOUR SYSTEM HAS BEEN POISONED FOR YEARS.

A lady who likes good coffee and good beer writes me. She has been suffering for several years with stiff joints and muscles, and two months ago took up the regimen advocated in these Doctor's Helps for cleansing the system. Her letter says: "I finished my eighth week of regular treatment of five grains powdered calomel, followed by one-half a glass of castor oil. It has helped me wonderfully. I have stopped all other medicine. My stiffness is still with me and my legs ache sometimes so bad that I hardly know what to do. This morning I had to hold on to things when I walked, such sharp pains flew into my right leg. I confess I have not been living on a fruit diet, because I don't like it, and it is mighty hard to cut out eating white bread and Irish potatoes. But I don't eat as much as I used to, and very often I take nothing for breakfast but coffee. Of course, I like my coffee, and I also like a glass or two of good beer each day. I guess I have the rheumatism all right. I believe in your simple, straightforward treatments, but I like too many good things to eat and drink which do not seem to agree with my rheumatic joints and muscles."

About your stiffness. Here's your problem. You've gradually been accumulating poisonous matter in your system for many, many years. If five weeks of regular weekly elimination has not as yet brought your joints and muscles into comfortable working condition, it merely reveals how utterly overloaded your blood is with waste matters. If I could analyze and keep tabs on your urine, say every two weeks for the next six months, it would reveal how the chemistry of your "inwards" is actually going on. If you wish, you can try the use of parcels post, mailing a four-ounce sample of a twenty-four hours' specimen in a regular wooden packing box. I'll be glad, indeed, to give you the best I know.

It looks to me as though you soon must decide a very important question. Too large a percentage of the food and liquid that is going into you is making poison instead of good nourishing strength. You will have to decide in your own mind just how strongly you will partake of the "eats" and the "drinks."

UNSIGHTLY ECZEMA BURNED AWFULLY

On Baby's Face, Head, Chest and Arm. Was Disfigured. All One Crust. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Completely Cured.

R. F. D. No. 1, Box 72, Dennison, Ohio. —"My baby was two months old when the eczema started to break out on her face and head and a little on her chest and arm. It broke out into pimples and it must have itched and burned awfully badly because the child would do nothing but scratch. I had to keep her hands wrapped up and when she scratched it would get sorer and unsightly. She was disfigured. It was all one crust. Her clothes would be sticking to the sores on her arm and chest. She was always getting worse.

"I tried ——— and it did not help her. I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and the first few days I used them I could tell she was feeling better. I used three cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment. I washed her with the Cuticura Soap and then dried her and I would take my fingers and put the Cuticura Ointment on the sores. In three months she was completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Mary Paulin, June 7, 1913.

To allay itching and irritation of the scalp, prevent dry, thin and falling hair and remove crusts, scales and dandruff, Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most effective, agreeable and economical. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

NOAH WEBSTER A BACK NUMBER

James Arthur Williams Out-Bostons Boston With the Wealth of His Picturesque Vocabulary—His Letter to Judge a Masterpiece.

THE Bostonian has been outdone. No longer will his splendid rhetoric, his superb diction and his voluminous vocabulary set the pace for the literary aspirants of the world. He must now take a back seat and he will please take his hat off to James Arthur Williams, who is, perhaps, better known under the nom de plume, Dr. James W. McDonald, Jr.

James Arthur—let it be known—was born of dusky parents way down in sunny Louisiana, who little suspected that the little pickaninny who used to run around on the plantation twenty years ago would become a second Noah Webster. James Arthur did not know it himself.

Two years at Oxford university, England, and one year at Fisk on this side of the Atlantic gave polish to Williams and inculcated in him an insane desire to write. He wrote constantly because he needed the practice to keep in training.

And so it came about that writing under the nom de plume of Dr. James W. McDonald, Jr., Williams thoughtlessly affixed his signature to a bogus bank check and carelessly cashed the same.

At this point the majesty of the law interfered with the doctor's studies and James Arthur was taken into custody. He had been lodged in jail on a charge of obtaining a diamond ring worth $120 from the Henricksen jewelry store on Jan. 20 by means of the bogus check.

Williams 'fessed up to the theft in court shortly after he had been indicted by the grand jury.

When brought before the court later for sentence, Williams related a brief history of his collegiate affiliations and a genuine hard luck story of how he had been buffeted around the country. He was sentenced to the St. Cloud reformatory.

His Masterpiece.

It was while Williams was incarcerated in a cell at the county bastile that he produced his real masterpiece. It was written to Judge Dancer of the district court and is an appeal for clemency.

The letter follows:

"Duluth, Minn., March 11, 1914, to the district judge of St. Louis county.

Honorable Sir: I am distinctly averse to burdening your honor with information concerning non-essentials, but I assume that you will understand my reasons for divulging the fundamentals of my past life as well as of the cause of my present circumstances. However, which I will try to explain to your honor in the best possible way. Unquestionably you will have an intuitive insight into the psychological significance of my humble appeal, which if either successful or unsuccessful would naturally have a profound psychological effect on my future life. You are the only one I can think of who could and might help me to redeem myself for after which time I shall return to my Southern home.

"Really and truly I was, however, by reason of my extreamly indigent circumstances wholly unconscious of the seriousness of my acts, for I actually did not intend to commit a breach of the criminal law. Incredibable, however, as such may appear to you, yet it is an inarticulate truth that I am not neither naturally nor instenctively a criminal nor a crook. For I have ever been scrupulously careful not to do anything to any person that which I would not have them do to me. My acts in thus obtaining money was not prompted by any criminal or alcohol-inherited tendency or non-moral education. For I come from good family of moral worth and all of whom is widely known and esteemed by both white and colored people.

"My object on the day of my arrest in refusing to divulge my parents name and home, was to prevent them from warry and anxiety. However, my parents' home is at St. James, La. But after my marriage I did not like the environment. Consequently I left the state and come North. I did not anticipated any great difficulty in obtaining employment, but sence which time have experienced that a young man, especially one of my race in a strange city without both money and friends and without having some one to illuminate the path wherein he strides to attain success. However, rairely, if ever, secure employment that would enable him to live a deasent and useful life regardless of his moral and educational warth.

"I tried to the best of my knowledge for three mounths to secure employment. However, without avail. The money which I took home with hop been spent for daily necessities. Of course, I had to eat and pay for my lodging, but I had no money other then that which I left home for my wife and child. Hence, I obtained a small sum of money from a person of my race. However, I could not refund the full amount on the date on which I promised and pecular to the crynical hardness of heart which so generally characterizes my race, he made a charge against me for which I was sent to the county prison. However, I subsequently refunded the money and left the state namely Pennysylvania, to go to Minneapolis.

"Inflexibly determated to secure employment of any kind I inserted a continual add in the Minneapolis Tribune for employment, however, without avail. Yet I did not stop the add till after a consultation with one of the Tribune's clerk in relation to adds that are inserted by persons of color, who frankly informed me that such adds are rarely successful. My conditions was, therefore, equally bad as it was during the time I was in Pennsylvania. Consequently I was forsed to commit this act. The book out of which I secured the check was found in the streets.

JAMES ARTHUR WILLIAMS.

"I do not possess sufficient mental facilities for to defraud any person effectually, as I am not inately encumbered with any criminal accretions or satanic pronensities. Quite truly, as the plaintiff asserted, namely, that he known by my excessive nerviousness that I was divining something wrong. However, my nerviousness was merely symbolical manifestations of the presence in my remoreseful, though sub-sconsciousness of the principalities of my parents radical precautions.

"Moreover broding over my excessively nervious countenance was a settled and fixed expression of malancholy, which, of course, he, the plaintiff, observed and therefore ordered me arrested, thus, your honor will see that I am in reality purely a victim of circumstanc, generally.

Asks for a Chance.

"I therefore, humbly entreat the court that if the object of modern law in relation to netty offenders are reform rather then revenge, please give me a chance which if granted, however, or respected, would have a psychological effect on my futher life. I tried to the best of my knowledge to attain an honest success for my wife and child. The latter I had not seen. My acts was apperiently inevitable. Thus, by disgustingly vindictively trusting me into prison would positively have no benefical effect on my futher carrer, as I actually did not consciously felonously commit a breach of the criminal law. It was, however, after waiting vainly for a reply to my continual add in the Minneapolis Tribune for employment that I was forsed to, though with extream reluctence, namely to resort to these means of obtaining necessities.

"My constant failure to secure employment was by no means due to any dereliction on my part. There are means of ascertaining definately through the Tribune the relative facts of this, my statement to the effect that I did intelligently and persistently advertise through that journal for employment, without avail.

"Mentally and physically weakened as I was by the long endurence of hunger and privation, generally to which I was invariably subjected to naturally I was intensely refreshed and stronthened by the trival sum of money which I quite incidentally obtained at Minneapolis.

"I extemporaneously resolved to plan for a betterment of the crude condition into which circumstances had so abruptly casted me. The journalistic assertion to the effect that their are four or eight checks at Minneapolis which I gived, however, is radicuously untrue.

"My precise object in committing these acts was to avert starvation and exposure. Logically preposterous as such may appear, yet it is manifestly as well as proverbially nature that I would not perish from want of vital necessities. Though I do not and never have ventured to arrogate to myself the right to directly or indirectly prey upon society nor to violate an established statute.

"Finally in view of the impecunious condition which unquestionably forced me to relunctantly and consequently, unconsciously commit a breach of the criminal law, I therefore submissively entreat the court to impartially and dispassionately consider the psychological significance of my humble appeal. I remain with best wishes,

"JAS. W. McDONALD, Jr.,

"County Prison, Duluth, Minn.

"P. S.—I returned the ring to Mr. Henricksen."

ANGLO-AMERICAN EXPOSITION

Will Recognize Centenary Anniversary of Signing of the Treaty of Ghent—Exhibition Buildings Occupy Tract of More Than 150 Acres in London.

In London next summer the people of the United States and Great Britain will get together in an exposition that promises to go far beyond anything of the kind in which they have been interested heretofore.

The year 1914 brings the centenary anniversary of the signing of the treaty of Ghent, which has resulted in 100 years of peaceful and friendly relation between the two countries, and it is proposed to recognize this anniversary in a way that shall fittingly commemorate its importance as well as illustrate in a definite way just how influential the two countries have been in the material progress of the world.

The idea of a practical demonstration to commemorate as well as to celebrate this 100 years of peace, has taken root in a way to ensure unusually interesting results, and the Anglo-American exposition, as it will be called, has assumed an aspect that promises to unite the two nations more closely than ever.

It will be an occasion of joining hands across the sea after a fashion never before attempted, and the scope of the undertaking provides for exhibits that will illustrate what the United States and the United Kingdom have done for the world in the century just closing, in every branch of industry, art, science, and education, and will include a historical summary of the progress of the two countries for a century.

The plan of a dual exposition of American and British products was first definitely suggested at a meeting of the American society in London in 1908, at which the late Ambassador Reid presided. In his remarks he said: "It has been borne in upon a good many of the American residents in London engaged in business here, that they see under their eyes the first opportunity in the history of the world as far as international exhibits are concerned of having one ready on time with the buildings already constructed and with nothing to be done but to get manufacturers ready to exhibit to come in and take possession."

From time to time since these remarks were made, the project has been discussed by members of the American Society in London, and culminated in a decision that the centenary of this year would be the proper occasion.

Definite plans were adopted and an inaugural meeting was held at the Mansion House, London, on March 26 of last year at which the lord mayor of London, Sir David Burnett, presided. It was then decided to conduct this dual exposition of the British and American products; also to serve as an exhibition of progress achieved in education, science, literature, inventions and improvements in social life as well as betterment of the conditions of working men and women, thus placing before the world the fruits of the intellect and genius of the people of both nations.

The lord mayor, in closing his address at this meeting, said:

"No exposition has ever been afforded such unique and interesting opportunities, and certainly there never was an occasion more fitting for a achievements of two nations of the same blood, celebrating their hundreth aniversary of peace and concord, where people of the same family, although separated by a great ocean, will be able to join hand in hand, to unite in shaping their mutual destines, and as kinsmen advancing the welfare of humanity and of the whole civilized world."

The distinguished motives of those who are more prominently identified with the execution of this plan is indicated by the following resolution proposed by Mr. Ginnell, M. P., seconded by the lord mayor of Cardiff, and adopted by a unanimous vote:

"Resolved, That all profits derived from the Anglo-American exposition, 1914, by the committee shall be devoted to some public object of national utility to the Kingdom and to the United States."

The site of the exposition, which will be open from May to October, 1914, is the Shepherds' Bush section of London, where have been constructed an imposing group of exhibition buildings. These buildings occupy a tract of more than 150 acres readily accessible from the center of London's main thoroughfare. The main entrance is connected directly with the terminus of, or in close proximity to, the leading railways, tramways and subway tubes, in the center of a network of transportation lines, affording easy means of communication with all parts of London and all England.

Elaborate plans are well under way to make the various exhibits as comprehensive as possible, and a great advantage is the fact that the buildings, all of fireproof construction throughout, are complete and actually ready for occupancy. This makes impossible the delay and inconvenience sometimes caused by the inability to finish construction work on time.

The undertaking is popular in origin and the promotion of the project has enlisted the co-operation of hundreds of men foremost in the affairs of England and this country. Organized under the auspices of the duke of Connaught as patron, and the duke of Teck as honorary president, the list of vice presidents includes some of the most prominent members of the American society in London, and influential Americans in Great Britain.

The American vice presidents to the exposition are Nicholas Murray Butler, president Columbia university, New York city; Joseph H. Choate, New York city, formerly ambassador to the Court of St. James; Abbott M. Lowell, president of Harvard university, Cambridge, Mass.; James B. Forgan, president First National bank, Chicago, Ill.; David R. Francis, ex-governor of Missouri, president recent International exhibition, St. Louis, Mo.; Alba B. Johnson, president Baldwin Locomotive works, Philadelphia, Pa.; and Samuel Mather, president of Verona and Hemlock River Mining companies, Cleveland, Ohio.

Included in the American executive committee are J. J. Arnold, vice president for foreign trade division, Chicago Association of Commerce, Chicago, Ill.; James A. Chadwick, Fall River, Mass.; J. B. Dimmick, ex-mayor of Scranton, Pa.; Walter A. Draper, president of Chamber of Commerce, Cincinnati, Ohio; H. A. Fitch, chairman Kansas City local committee, Kansas City, Mo.; W. O. Hart, New Orleans, La.; George H. Kelly, president Commercial club, Omaha, Neb.; Clarence R. Mengel, Louisville, Ky.; Frank L. Mulholland, president Commerce club, Toledo, Ohio; Erskine Ramsey, Birmingham, Ala.; W. Champlin Robinson, Baltimore, Md.; Ashton Starke, Richmond, Va.; William H. Stevenson, president Chamber of Commerce, Pittsburg, Pa.; G. F. Watt, Harrisburg, Pa.; and Harry Welch, secretary Phoenix Board of Trade, Phoenix, Ariz.

Each member of the American executive committee is the chairman of a local executive committee in his city, composed of prominent merchants and manufacturers. The American committee as a whole consists of United States senators, congressmen, governors, mayors of the principal cities and many leading citizens from all sections of the country—more than 400 in all.

The keynote of the exposition is suggested in the following resolution introduced by the lord mayor of Cardiff at the organization meeting:

"London and the United Kingdom welcome the Anglo-American exposition to be held at Shepherds' Bush next year, in celebration of the hundred years of peace and progress of the English-speaking people, as a means of strengthening the bond of friendship and kinship between the American and British nations, of drawing them closer together, and of further developing their great commercial and industrial relations."

American executive offices of the exposition are in the Woolworth building, New York city.

A company has been formed in Copenhagen that will make it a business to clean and disinfect telephones.

WOMAN WEAK AND NERVOUS

Finds Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Creston, Iowa.—"I suffered with female troubles from the time I came into womanhood until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would have pains if I overworked or lifted anything heavy, and I would be so weak and nervous and in so much misery that I would be prostrated. A friend told me what your medicine had done for her and I tried it. It made me strong and healthy and our home is now happy with a baby boy. I am very glad that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and do all I can to recommend it."—Mrs. A. B. BOSCAMP, 504 E. Howard Street, Creston, Iowa.

Tons of Roots and Herbs

are used annually in the manufacture of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is known from ocean to ocean as the standard remedy for female ills.

For forty years this famous root and herb medicine has been pre-eminently successful in controlling the diseases of women. Merit alone could have stood this test of time.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

LEPROSY IN THE PHILIPPINES

Under the Direction of Dr. Victor G. Heiser, Practically All the Lepers Have Been Segregated By the Board of Health on the Island of Culion—Clarence B. Miller Tells of Visit to the Island.

By CLARENCE B. MILLER,
Representative From Eighth Minnesota District.

When the Stars and Stripes were raised over the Philippines, the practical-minded, yet sympathetic-hearted Americans gave immediate attention to the unfortunate, the afflicted and suffering members of the Filipino people. In Spanish times there was practically no care given the insane, the blind, the dumb, the feeble-minded, and the bodily stricken. True it is that in restraining the insane from violence, the afflicted one was often subjected to severe cruelty and most acute suffering. The other unfortunates suffered proportionately. In these modern days, civilized people show their advancement more by the care they give unfortunates than perhaps in any other way. In fact, generous provision for the afflicted members of society is usually one of the last and perfecting steps that society takes in its evolution. The wandering blind asking for bread; the insane woman tied to a tree with little or no clothing; the hopeless leper shrinking in the shadows, shunned by his fellows, picking up scraps to eat, all these, wind tossed and storm drenched, were common sights in the islands. But not so now. A better day has dawned for these wretched mortals. Beneath the folds of the American flag, not only shall there be peace and liberty, but there shall be relief for the distressed, hope and comfort for the afflicted.

CLARENCE B. MILLER.

An Ancient Disease.

Probably no class of afflicted humanity was in a more pitiable condition in these olden days than the lepers. Leprosy is a strange disease. It is as ancient as the race. Its rotting blight has cursed humanity in all ages of history, but it never seems to creep to any extent outside the tropics and adjacent country. It has been the great dread. Where once it visited, it never left till the soul departed from the unclean body. It was beyond the reach of the surgeon's knife or the power of the physician's drugs. Only the Saviour's touch could make the body clean. It was mysterious in its workings, yet inexorable in its demands.

The Filipino people had long suffered especially from this scourge. There were thousands of lepers at large in the islands, some secreted by their relatives, but most were moving about eating everything from the fruits of the trees to the vile garbage of the barrio. Then they died by the roadside. Of course contagion spread the disease, and no effective corrective measures were taken. Leprosy was increasing, and the lepers dying, oh so fast!

To handle this situation was a full-grown man's job. The Americans tackled it with determination. One of the splendid things about us Americans is our sublime conceit. We are not afraid to try anything. So why should we back down here? Had we not already astounded the world by cleaning up Cuba? Were we not doing the same thing in Panama, the microbe cesspool of the universe? What though other nations might have failed in controlling leprosy, that was simply one more chance for Americans to show what they could do.

So the bureau of health under the matchless direction of Dr. Victor G. Heiser, its chief, set to work. In the first place the lepers had to be segregated, taken from their barrios, where they were at large spreading the disease, and removed to a place where they could be treated and where they could be made comfortable. This had to be done in the face of violent opposition. Superstition rose like a gaunt specter and terrified the natives. It told them their relatives were to be taken away to be tortured and even to be put to death. In a panic they secreted the lepers, resisted often with force the order to segregate, and yet Dr. Heiser kept on with his work. Villified, abused, sometimes in danger he hung on with grim tenacity. He knew who was right.

People Change Attitude.

Then later when it was found that the afflicted ones were taken to good homes, carefully looked after, fed, clothed and treated, and some of them actually cured, then the people turned with joy to aid in the cause. Now it can safely be said that the relatives and communities in general voluntarily give up the lepers in an earnest desire to provide best for them.

Today the lepers have practically all been segregated. Some 7,500 have been removed, and Dr. Heiser informs me that not more than 100 remain in all the islands. As soon as those cases can be positively identified as leprosy, they will also be removed.

Leprosy there did not visit the poor and lowly alone, but touched with its death fingers many of high degree. One day a beautiful daughter of the richest man in the islands, one who had been educated in Europe, was about to board a steamer to go abroad, but she was stopped by the health officer. She was a leper. And there are many others. When possibility of contagion is eliminated, then leprosy will be eliminated. Segregation is absolutely necessary to prevent the spread of the disease.

Naturally one is curious to know whither these lepers were taken, where is the spot upon which they now reside. To the north of the wild island of Palawan, and separating the Sulu from the China Sea is a group of volcanic islands known as the Culion islands. One of these is called Culion. Here is the spot. These islands constitute one of the most picturesque areas of the Philippines. They are not flat, low-lying islands; nor are they mountains. They are rocky and elevated but not high. Their sides are precipitous and the sea is beautiful. But it is a lonely spot. No route of sea vessels passes this way; no human current moves in that direction. The place is well drained, sanitation perfect, the scenery is beautiful, but the very air speaks of loneliness.

Visit to the Island.

I arranged to visit the island and the lepers. It was an experience always to remain vivid in memory. The lepers who are not far advanced are permitted to live in very comfortable houses; many live in quarters adapted to care for many people. I journeyed among the homes. There were many. The people were all happy. I really did not see any one out of the big hospital who really looked dejected. All were at least pleasant and not afflicted with the blues. I saw many playing games, both indoors and outdoors. The children or young people, of whom there were many, all seemed to be having a fairly good time.

Lepers are permitted to marry and, if they do so, have a comfortable isolated house assigned to them. I found one American there. He had been a leper for some four years. I talked with him. He seemed to be fairly cheerful under the circumstances.

Some areas are separated from others by wire fences. This to prevent a general massing of the lepers. There are practically no vegetation, no grass, no trees within the colony, a circumstance somewhat impressive to one who has seen the glory and the luxury of vegetation elsewhere in the islands. But this spot must be kept sanitary and clean.

Each person can, however, have as much land to cultivate as he desires. The cultivated area is not within the limits of the colony proper, but is near at hand. Lepers are urged to this outdoor occupation, and every facility is extended. Many a neat little place can be found where cocoanuts, bananas, hemp, rice and numberless fruits are started.

It is advisable to keep their minds from themselves. Therefore not a little attention is given to amusement. A fine concrete moving picture house was building when I was there and now it must be in operation. I venture that "movie" will be moving all hours of the day, for there are nearly 4,000 lepers on that spot.

Horribly Disfigured.

The ravages of the disease disfigure in a horrible manner, but do not seem to produce pain. I saw many moving about, even playing games, who had lost one or both hands, the fingers dropping off one by one, or who had perhaps lost a foot or a nose. As the disease advances, it eats life away, till finally the body almost disintegrates and death follows. The advanced cases are all in the big hospital. Here are many, many hundreds. It takes resolution to go through the wards. But think of the poor mortals there! Hands gone, arms often, feet, legs, ears, eyes, nose,—O the sickening horror of the sight! Entrance there means admission to the outer chamber of the tomb. And how awfully slow death is in coming to end this unspeakable misery! How it seems to the creeping flesh. But to him who pauses to look, how different! He can see the Angel of Death moving busily about.

In the hour of peril is heroism born; in a nation's stress, statesmen appear; human suffering is relieved by human sympathy, and sinful depravity is outweighed by the beauty of a saintly soul.

So here where human flesh in misery reaches the limit of all that is horrible, hopeless and revoltingly, so here I saw the human soul elevated to saintly perfection. Among these suffering, soul-yearning, hopeless victims of a malignant power, among the dying and the dead, there moved five Sisters of Charity, dedicated to this work. With calm, peaceful bearing, with sweet smile and hopeful word, they cared for the suffering, the dying and the dead. Many a dying wretch with his last strength lifted his head for the blessing that always came; many a miserable mortal lifted his stumps of arms to feel the pressure of a human hand, to hear the sympathy of a human heart as his soul winged its flight. Here, shut off from all the world, never again to leave this barren isle, never again to see their human kind, they are doing their Master's work.

Leprosy has always been held to be incurable, but some actual cures have been effected at Culion, and there is great interest in the outcome of present investigations. Patients are being treated with chaulmoogra oil in various forms. Last June two cases were discharged as cured, both having failed to show any signs of leprosy for an entire year. Two other cases were about ready to be discharged. A fairly large number of cases have been helped in that the disease has been arrested. Some cases do not show favorable results. But much has been done and there is great hope that American genius will solve one more of the world's big problems.

MOST PERFECTLY EQUIPPED AND FINEST CLINIC BUILDING OPENED BY DRS. MAYO AT ROCHESTER

Culmination of Highest Ideals for the Purpose for Which It Was Created.

Magnificent and Artistic Main Waiting Room Is the Center of Attraction.

THE MAYO CLINIC BUILDING.

Rochester, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Undoubtedly the largest, most perfectly equipped and finest building in the world for its specific purpose has been opened in Rochester for the reception of the hundreds of physically weak members of the human race who constantly visit the city to receive the magic touch of the skilled hands of the surgeons—the Mayo clinic building. For two years the office building of the Drs. Mayo has been in course of construction, and now this beautiful structure that adorns a prominent corner in the business section stands as the culmination of the highest ideals for the purpose for which it was created—the relief of the physical ailments of the human race and scientific research in the field of medicine and surgery. To the layman it stands as a monument of architectural beauty, perfect in the appointments for it purpose. To the scientist it stands for more, the acme of perfection in combining every detail that will reach the goal of not alone the alleviation of human suffering, but it will make the farthest advancement in the study of that greatest structure, the anatomy of man, and a search into the innermost recesses of science as applied to life and its preservation.

Over 400 Rooms.

The building occupies a ground floor space of 143 by 121 and is four and one-half stories in height. In all there are a total of over 400 rooms, splendidly arranged and grouped for the various departments and every inch of space is devoted to some part of the great work of the profession. In the arrangement of the various floors for the several departments every effort has been exerted to combine the facilitation for the convenience and comfort of the patient, the reduction of time in consultation, the systematizing of the clerical department, all of which will produce a greater service to a larger number of people with the smallest loss of time, or rather has for its purpose the accomplishment of the greatest possible good in the smallest possible time. The different departments, including the professional, clerical, and mechanical have been grouped in a systematic manner that the work may be accomplished with the highest degree of harmony and precision. Two 120-horse power boilers, pumps for forcing air and water, a large rotary valve vacuum cleaner, and an incinerator for the burning of refuse are on the ground floor. In addition to these are the stock clerk's office, stock rooms, lounging room and shower bath for mechanical employees, surgical dressing rooms, sterilizing room, department for the analysis of stomach contents, prescription counter and filing department on this floor.

On the main floor is the main waiting room, the business office, postoffice for the staff, stenographers' rooms and consultation offices.

On the second floor is the eye, ear, nose and throat department, the genitro-urinary and bacteriological laboratories and the X-ray department.

On the third floor are a study and reading room for the staff, the large medical library, the staff assembly room, smoking room and pathological laboratory.

The museum, photographer's studio, machine shop and plate room are on the fourth floor, while the fifth floor is devoted mainly to research and experimental work.

Splendid Waiting Room.

The center of attraction, however, and the features that commands the greatest admiration is the magnificent main waiting room, where the artist has displayed the greatest talent. Its soft tones in the decorative effects, its peaceful surroundings, its alluring appointments are conducive to a forgetfulness of one's physical suffering, calling forth the higher instinct of love for the aesthetic and sublime, giving to the broken in spirit a new vision that dispels gloom and bids him who enters here not all hope to leave behind. Rookwood pottery, which is a new material in this section is used entirely in the design of the lobby, with rookwood title floor. A green color motif is given in the decorative tints. Near the entrance is the large double stairway also of rookwood pottery, which is a masterpiece of art, at the landing of which is an improvised rostrum for a speaker's platform for any public meetings that might be held therein. In the center is a large fountain of the same material, where streams of water play from the mouths of diminutive lions' heads upon potted plants and flowers in the base below. The fountain serves a greater purpose, however, for from the head is forced the air that circulates through the room and changes every three minutes. Air is forced through the entire building, passing through water to thoroughly purify it and over steam pipes in the winter to heat it. The heating, ventilation, water pressure, sanitation, etc., are the latest methods known to science.

The consultation rooms are about 9x15, and are simple in appointments, being equipped with a plain desk, sanitary lavatory, examining table, intercommunicating telephone, and a telegraph ticker and signal lights for the summoning of any member of the consultation staff in any part of the structure without any disturbance to anyone.

Fine Telephone System.

Perhaps the greatest scientific feature of the building is the telephone system, pronounced by electrical experts the finest in the world, which was devised by Dr. H. S. Plummer, a member of the staff. Intricate in its technique, it has been designed to meet the needs of a busy people without the loss of any one's time and is three-fold in construction. With it one member of the staff can talk to another in any part of the building, without requiring another person to answer the call, or he can call the telephone operator in the office direct, or can call direct to the city telephone office. The entire building and its appointments and arranged equipment was designed and arranged under the supervision of Dr. H. S. Plummer.

Undoubtedly the largest building in the world devoted to diagnosis and medical research, it has been builded for the noblest cause of an earthly life, the alleviation of human ills and stands as a powerful testimony of the achievements of the Drs. W. J. and C. H. Mayo. Fitting it is that this handsome structure should stand as a monument upon the spot where was once the home of the late Dr. W. W. Mayo, father of the Drs. W. J. and C. H. Mayo, while the fountain in the main lobby marks the location of the home where was born Dr. C. H. Mayo.

SOME EARNEST REMARKS ON GOLF

By George Fitch, In Collier's.

On this, the last calendar day of winter, with spring looming more or less imminently ahead, the subject of golf is moving up from the rear of a million minds in a quiet but forceful manner, elbowing aside business, politics, opera, the tango, winter literature, and other subjects which have intruded more or less since last November.

Golf will be played on a few courses and beside a hundred thousand hearthstones in March. By April men who could talk quite rationally on currency, disarmament, the prices of stocks, and woman suffrage in December will have given over these trivialities and will be once more engaged in their great research work on grips, stances, lies, putts, and wrist angles. There will be much talk about the perfecting of golf games from now on—enough, measured in cubic feet, to arrange treaties between nations—and books and articles will be written all over the world for the man who aspires to become a good golfer and win silver cup profusely adorned with handles. But no one will write a book for the benefit of the man who could not become a good golfer if he were to devote his exclusive attention to the game for the next two thousand years.

When We Dubs Awaken.

There are very few castes in this country and not many pariahs. The dub golfer is one of these. An impossible, unbridgable gulf exists between the man who gets mad when he takes eighty-five for eighteen holes and the man who is delighted when he gets around in 120 strokes, a broken club, and four lost balls. Dubs are treated kindly in golf courses because one corner of the clubhouse usually rests on their broad financial shoulders. But real golfers cannot understand the motives of Providence in turning out a man who can survive the horror of turning in a score of 120. To real golfers this sort of man is merely a curiosity. He may be allowed around, but cannot possibly be taken seriously except on business or other minor subjects.

For this reason the dub golfer will have to struggle through this year, as he has preceding years, with no advice except that of the club professional, who takes oplates before giving him a lesson, or the caddie who insists on giving him the club he doesn't understand and spends his time building up a dense cloud of gloom around his customer when his advice is disregarded. Some few missionaries will surround a victim here and there and try to make a good automobile out of a lumber wagon. But no one will use any intelligence on the situation. No one will try to glorify the lot of the poor golfer and to make him content with it. It is time we dub golfers organized for mutual protection. Until we demonstrate, to ourselves at least, that a 120-stroke game gallantly played has as great possibilities for pleasure, inspiration, and skill as a seventy-five stroke game, we must remain forever the prey of kind but contemptuous friends who grab us on beautiful June mornings when we are trying to enjoy ourselves and bend us into strange, warped positions in an effort to make us play golf the way they do.

Gaudeamus Igitur.

As a matter of fact, poor golf—very poor golf, plus very good philosophy—is full of rarer pleasures than the good golfer can ever know. Why should the unashamed slasher who comes home at night all illuminated over the fact that he has pulled off a 200-yard drive envy the scratch player who rides home on the same car exuding rage from every pore because he got only ten 200-yard drives and sliced most of those? Why should we, who preserve the card on which we got a three and live happily in the hope of getting another, feel humble before the unfortunate cuss who has to get a three every time on certain holes or go into retirement and analyze his mashie stroke with anguish? If pleasure is the first end of golf, the dub who has accepted his lot is by far the most successful player, for at least three reasons. In the first place, he is not cast down by a bad shot, which is his average performance; in the second place, he is immeasurably exalted by a good shot, which is the better golfer's average performance; in the third place, there stretches before him a golden vista of years, forty in number, in which he could improve vastly without getting inconveniently and distressingly good.

He Strays in Haunts of Coot and Hern.

The good golfer walks his course straight to the green, seeing nothing but the ball, thinking of nothing but the stroke. The dub wanders by creek and roadside, in deep grass and through bosky woods, whatever bosky woods are, soaking in the beauties of nature through every pore and occasionally enriching himself to the tune of 75 cents by finding his ball. The delights of his youth, when he roamed the hedges and thickets and found now and then a speckled egg in a nest, are repeated when he parts a hazel bush and discovers his perfectly new golf ball shining up at him. As for driving —Orville Wright, when at last after years of effort he felt his aeroplane leave the ground and glide swiftly through the air, felt the same thrill that comes to the habitual producer of bumpy, hoppy, thirty-yard drives when at last he sees his ball rise from the tee and sail low and straight down the course. The fact that this glorious 75-yard drive usually comes when the dub is negotiating a 135-yard hole doesn't bother him. He is not so particular as the expert.

Evidently Humorists Are Not Champions.

Dub golfers in every club should organize and formulate rules for themselves. King George's tyranny was nothing compared with the Scotch oppression in our country clubs. We suggest as a starter the following rules for golfers beyond the pale of the handicapping committee:

1. A lost ball shall remove two strokes from the score on that hole. When a dub loses a ball he needs comfort, not punishment.
2. The dub missing a ball entirely shall give a cigar to his opponent. It is ridiculous to punish a score for the fault of the player.
3. How a dub gets out of a bunker is none of the other man's business.
4. When a dub takes more than ten strokes for a hole he shall be allowed to go back and play the hole over left-handed.
5. When a dub has attempted to drive over a water hazard three times in good faith, his intentions shall be respected by his opponeot and he shall be allowed to proceed from the other side.
6. When a dub's ball nestles behind a rock he shall be allowed to remove the rock by throwing it at the first expert who plays through.
7. After four putts a dub may be allowed to move the hole up to within a reasonable distance of the ball.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Last Basketball Game of Season Is Played—Cathedral High Quint Defeats Central; School Commercial Club Secures Speaker; Schiller Bund Gives Program; Agriculture Club Is Formed.

The last basket ball game of the season was played on Thursday night at the Washington gymnasium between the Duluth Central and Cathedral high school teams. Central had been previously beaten by the Cathedral team by a decisive score and the "come-back" spirit was strong for this contest. A fast and well played, though rather rough, game resulted in a victory for the Cathedral boys by a score of 34 to 20. The veteran players of the latter team were a little too much for the more inexperienced members of the red and white; although it is generally admitted that Central played the best game of the season and her many loyal rooters had just reason to be proud of the showing made. As a curtain raiser the second teams of the two schools were pitted against each other, and this contest was also won by the Cathedral boys, score, 28 to 15. This proved quite a surprise, as in the former contest the Red and White second team won by a good margin. Mr. Connelly of Superior and Mr. Deighton of Duluth officiated at the two contests. A large and enthusiastic crowd turned out and both schools were well backed along the side lines.

At the sophomore class meeting held on Monday at the close of school it was decided to hold the annual closed party on Saturday evening, April 25. These closed parties are proving very popular this year and the second-year classmen are planning to make one of the best showings of the year.

The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Hiestand, is keeping up its regular routine of practice, and splendid progress is being made on the music which is to be given in connection with the class play.

• • •

During the Friday morning chapel exercises the business manager of the Zenith, Leo McNally, gave the students a business manager's private opinion of what a "sponger" really is. The student body, and especially the lower classmen, are not responding well to the opportunity of securing the Zenith slips, thereby affording a saving of 25 cents a copy. Inasmuch as next week—Monday to Friday—will be the last chance of securing the Zenith slips, all students who have not already done so are plannig to invest their 50 cents.

• • •

Dr. W. W. Lawrence of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church addressed the student body during the chapel exercises on Wednesday morning. The subject of the address was "The Ideal and the Patriot," and Dr. Lawrence was able to make many applications of his subject to student life.

• • •

The Charity club of the high school, composed of the girls of Central high, conducted a candy sale on Saturday, the proceeds of which are to go to charity. The sale was held at Bagley's.

• • •

Mr. Carey of the Commercial department secured A. Ahlen of the Floan-Leveroos company as the speaker for the commercial club of the high school on Tuesday morning. All seniors are expected to be present at these informal talks on business principals and methods.

• • •

The fourth number of the university extension course was given last night at the Central high school by Prof. E. M. Lehnerts on the subject of "Minnesota, the Heart of the Continent." The lecture was illustrated with stereopticon slides and was of special interest to students of history and commercial geography.

• • •

Next week closes the work of the second month's grade of the semester, and, as usual, most students expect to finish up the month's work to their own advantage.

• • •

A very important rehearsal of the choir was held on Wednesday at the close of school under the direction of Mr. Custance.

• • •

During the lunch period on Thursday a mass meeting of the students was held in the assembly hall, the purpose of which was to stimulate interest in the basket ball game between Cathedral and Central high schools. W. H. Schilling, "Scotty" Brown and Student Manager Lawson were the speakers, and the effect of their remarks was noticeable by the increased attendance at the game.

• • •

The many friends of T. F. Phillips will be glad to know that he is making a fine recovery and will very likely return to Duluth before school closes in June and will probably resume his school duties next fall.

The Schillerbund, gave a very interesting program yesterday at the close of school. The program and those taking part follows:

Gesange ..... Society.
Goethe's Leben ..... Helen Dryer.
"Erlkonig" ..... Dorothy Patton.
"Wie herrlich leuchtet uber allen gipfeln was willst du immer".. Bessie Simon.
"Ich ging im Walde" ..... Marciah Helmbach.
Gesang—"Uber Allen Gipfeln" .... Esther Berg and Marie Kallio.
"Ich stand auf hohem Berge'..... Fanny Weinberg.

Preliminary steps toward the organization of an agricultural club were taken at a meeting of a group of agriculture students Wednesday afternoon.

A committee on constitution was elected, consisting of Gilbert Denfeld, Carl Olson and Chauncey Larsen. This committee will report at the meeting for permanent organization next Tuesday. Some of the features of the club's work will be to establish an agricultural reading room; to arrange for lectures by prominent agriculturists; to hold meetings for discussing and debating practical agricultural topics; to conduct excursions for the inspection of successful farms, dairies, greenhouses, etc.; to engage in stock judging and cow testing; to organize for actual garden work outside the regular school plots.

• • •

Mr. Gibson is at present busily engaged in arranging for the city lot garden demonstration plots to be conducted by the agricultural department of the high school during the spring, summer and fall of this year. The hotbeds and indoor planting will be started about April 1.

RINGING UP DEBTOR IS HELD TRESPASS

London, March 21.—The view of a county court judge that the action of money lenders in ringing up a debtor at his employer's office constitutes "electrical trespass" is indorsed by the Law Journal, which states: "To ring the telephone at another person's house in order to put pressure on some person employed there is not only a most offensive thing to do, but is an insufficient trespass for which, no doubt, substantial damages could be recovered by the owner.

SIMPLE SYSTEM OF ELECTRIC TOWING

Paris, March 21.—A new and simple system of electric towing has been installed with great success on the canal from the Marne to the Rhine, near Nancy. Along the banks a series of stout posts has been placed, fitted with rollers, over which run endless cables which, at each end of the installation, pass round a drum worked by electric motor. The barges hitch their tow rope to the cable by a special contrivance. Prolonged trials have established that the new method costs about 60 per cent less than any other method tried up to the present, and is, in addition, much quicker. The great superiority of the system consists in the ease in which it can be applied anywhere.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

"Do It Now," Is a Good Axiom to Follow.

Almost everyone has the habit of procrastination to a greater or lesser degree. Almost everyone has a pile of duties which should have been performed in the past, tucked into out-of-the-way places in desks and work baskets waiting to be attended to.

Usually the completion of these small tasks would take but a little of a person's time if they were promptly dispatched. A few minutes here, a second there, and a half hour on something else would have straightened them all out at the start and they would have been off the mind.

But it is not so when they are neglected. They increase rapidly and almost before one knows it there is work ahead which should rightfully be completed, sometimes weeks before. "A stitch in time saves nine;" a piece of work taken up and completed in its natural order seems to save as many tasks. There is nothing that one attacks with less good nature than a lot of odds and ends which have lain about and rested heavily on the conscience for several weeks or months.

"Do it now," is a splendid bit of advice which it would be well for most mortals to follow. One of the printed slips which bears the inscription should be tacked in a conspicuous place where the eye of the clerk, the housewife or whatever the person's occupation may be, can plainly see it during the working hours.

Letter writing is something against which a large number have a special antipathy. They offend friends by their laxity in answering letters and sometimes make enemies. The small short-coming of putting off till tomorrow things better done today is full of pitfalls and the direct and indirect cause of much trouble to the person who allows it to govern his or her conduct.

Why not pattern all the working days after the last few days spent in an office or your home before going away on a vacation or visit? Then every small thing that has been left undone is straightened out, every necessary stitch is taken, so that everything may be left in perfect working order. Most of us have experienced the relief of mind such action on our part occasions. Why not be abreast of our tasks all the time?

UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB AND SOLOISTS SCORE BIG SUCCESS

THE University of Minnesota Glee club presented a concert at the Pilgrim Congregational church last evening that surpassed any previous college club entertainment given in this city. The church was crowded and seldom has a more enthusiastic audience been seen.

Owing to the illness of Ingolf A. Grindeland his scheduled solo number, "Mattinata," by Tosti, was canceled and in its stead was heard Henley's "Invictus," very ably sung by Earle Balch. As an encore he sang "In a Persian Garden," by Liza Lehmann.

The hits of the entertainment were the comedy singing and acting of Agnew and the exceptional piano playing of Earnest Golden. The former kept the audience in constant good humor with his antics, while his numbers, "I Wanta Be in Dixie" and "My Angeline," accompanied by chorus, scored real hits. As the school teacher in the rendering of "Schweitzenbund," he was extremely good and proved himself an able comedian.

William L. Smith, assisted by the chorus, also gave a solo number, "All Through the Night," the old Welsh air. The club quartet, composed of Farnquist, Smith, Agnew and Balch, ably presented several comedy numbers.

Earnest Golden deserves much credit, not only for his pianologue number, but for the accompaniments he played for the soloists and the chorus.

The excellent ensemble work of the chorus reflected much credit on Carlyle Scott, director. The best ensemble numbers of the evening were Haesche's "Friendship" and "Swinging Along," by Cook. Popular college medleys and old-time songs were also features of the program. The latter were sung with the real old-fashioned college spirit and brought back fond memories to the many alumni at the concert last evening. The Minnesota yell closed the program.

William MacPhail, violinist, who has been heard here on several occasions, received an ovation when he appeared dering of "Zigeunerweisen," by Sarasate, and "The Traumerei" as an encore were the most enjoyable of his program. Mr. McPhail is a finished artist, who plays with beautiful tone and intelligent interpretation.

Following the program a reception

"STUDENTS' FROLIC" WILL TAKE THE FORM OF VAUDEVILLE ENTERTAINMENT

MISS BERTA AND LEO SCHMIED.

THE frolic with which the student members of the Matinee Musicale are planning to close the activities of the year has been arranged by Mrs. Stephen H. Jones and promises to be an original affair.

Contrary to the custom of making the event a program of "stunts" by the students themselves, the entertainment this season will be of the nature of a dignified vaudeville bill. Mrs. Jones has as her assistants several local professionals, each clever in a particular line of work. The students' department of the club has become too large for many individual appearances but by introducing several of the most popular chorus selections from the "Mikado," a student orchestra and student ushers many of the young members of the club will be able to have a part in the entertainment.

T. W. Hugo will open the program with a short address. Misses Josephine Cotton, Mary Winton and Cordelia Collins, in Japanese garb, will herald each act in true professional style. Student ushers, also in Japanese dress, will include Misses Dorothy Moore, Margaret Florada, Judith Hartley, Dorothy Dowse, Marie Christenson and Dorothy Crosby.

Many Dance Numbers.

The program has not been arranged formally but will include folk, solo and social dancing, parts from the "Mikado" and other attractions.

Folk dances by children of the Endion school will be under the direction of Miss Nellie Stoughton, the supervisor of this work in the public schools, who has had great success in her specialty.

Miss Berta Schmied will introduce some of the little pupils of Miss Wilson's private school in the "Buck and Wing Clog." These little "cloggers" will wear aprons and sunbonnets and are expected to make a hit. Miss Schmied has originated a butterfly dance which will bring out Miss Charlene Bagley's charm and grace. Miss Bagley will also dance a charming number called "Joy of Spring" that is set to the familiar air of Chaminade's "Flatterer."

Several character dances in costume will be given by pupils of Prof. Leo whose admirable work with children is well known. There will be a solo dance by Miss Patsy Watson, a minuet by Sue Bailey and Frances Barthe, misses of 5 and 6 years, and a Dutch dance by Miss Gertrtude Collins and William Magie.

Master Louis Gomberg, dressed as little Mozart, will play one of the childhood compositions of that musician.

Student Orchestra.

The Esther Gomberg orchestra will be assisted by Miss Valborg Gunderson as concertmistress and by Master Louis Gomberg. In the orchestra there will be violins, Misses Valborg Gunderson and Beatrice Miller; trombone, Joseph Hasler; cornet, Ernest Paulsen. Miss Esther Gomberg will be the piano accompanist.

Misses Gladys Reynolds, Valborg Gunderson and Loretta O'Gorman, active members of the club, will assist in the "Mikado" part of the program. Some of the songs to be given are: "Three Little Maids From School," Misses Myrtle Hobbs, Gladys Reynolds and Myrna Newell; "I've Got 'Em on the List," Charlie Young—the only boy student in the club; and a duet by Nanki Poo (Charlie Young) and Yum Yum (Miss Myrtle Hobbs). Miss Hobbs will include Misses Dorothy Moore, Margaret Florada, Judith Hartley, Dorothy Dowse, Marie Christenson and Dorothy Crosby.

AT THE LYCEUM.

Rose Stahl in "Maggie Pepper" Pleases Duluth Audience.

Theater-goers who saw Rose Stahl in "The Chorus Lady" a few seasons ago recognized in her one of the greatest character actresses that the modern stage has produced. Those who saw her at the Lyceum last night in "Maggie Pepper," the saleswoman, saw her in a new character, but one not unlike Patricia O'Brien.

Owing to many other attractions of various kinds in the city last night, Miss Stahl was not greeted by as large an audience as she deserved. No doubt more people will witness the remaining performances, this afternoon and this evening.

"Maggie Pepper" is a Rose Stahl play. It is true that the author was Charles Klein, but nevertheless, after seeing the performance, no one can imagine any other actress interpreting the leading character and making a genuine appeal in the part. It is a different character from Patricia O'Brien, for it calls upon the star for emotional as well as humorous qualities, and that Miss Stahl is not found wanting whatever the demand, is a tribute to her genius.

"Maggie Pepper" tells the story of a girl of the department stores. It is full of wit and that heart interest which never fails to awaken the sympathies of the audience. She slips up on the stage very quietly, so quietly that the audience anticipating her entrance, doesn't realize for some minutes that it is really "Maggie Pepper"—Rose Stahl. As she stands there waiting, they merely notice a short, wiry, rather hard-faced little woman, with quick movements and tawny hair, the kind of weather-beaten girl you can find behind the counters of any big department store anywhere. Long hours, hard work, and confinement, had hardened the lines of her face. The day-long endurance of the stupidity and bad manners of those who buy dry goods, has given her that cold glance and the cynical curve to the lips. She is typical of the deft-fingered, nimble-tongued women who are "saleslades" in retail stores, so typical that one catches one's breath as if recognizing an acquaintance on the stage. The art of Miss Stahl is shown as the play progresses, for the hard, cynical Maggie Pepper softens as she succeeds, becomes gentle and refined in the higher station, the tawny hair gains the luster of gold, and all in all, she typifies the woman who has worked and won.

Although Miss Stahl is a whole show herself, she is supported by a very capable company. John S. Robertson is a virile personality as Joe Holbrook, proprietor of the store. That necessary dignity and self-reliance of the store manager, John Hargen, is well portrayed by Harry Maitland. The Hebrew salesman is a living personality in the hands of Frank Manning.

The women of the cast are equally good. Josephine Bernard as Holbrook's fiancee did her part well. The brusque lady store detective was well portrayed by Adelle Adams. Maggie Pepper's demure little niece was nicely portrayed by Lillian Clare, and Jean Thomas acted well as the heartless mother of Maggie's niece.

The play was well mounted, giving many fine scenic effects, and the lines were breezy, sparkling in wit, and contained some choice bits of slang.

ACTIVITIES AT BOYS' DEPARTMENT, Y. M. C. A.

The popular Friday night social at the boys' department, Y. M. C. A., attracted many of the members last night.

The fishing contest was won by Wallace Hankins, the aeroplane race by Herbert Burg, and the spelling match by Alex Tresise. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

The outing committee is conducting an observation trip this afternoon to the carbolite works. The party left at 2:30.

The Knights of Sir Galahad will meet Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. They will be addressed by Rollin Hawkes. The Sunday club will meet at 4 o'clock and William Lauterbaugh will speak. These Sunday meetings are open to all boys of the city.

Announcements are under way for the Duluth boys' expoisition to be given May 8 and 9. The exposition is open to every boy in the city under 19 years of age and will give them an opportunity to engage in friendly rivalry. The exposition will feature industry, art, collections, pets and contests. One of the special features this year will be the publishing of a paper to be edited by a committee of boys.

The interscholastic field meet date has been set for Saturday, June 6. At a meeting of school principals held some time ago it was decided to hold the field meet every other year. There will be no school baseball league this year. It will have its turn in 1915. The next field meet will be in 1916.

SAYS FAMILY LIFE IS BEING DESTROYED

Prof. Ross of Wisconsin Points Out Economic Difficulties.

Princeton, N. J., March 21.—Economic conditions in cities are destroying family life, according to Prof. E. A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin, who delivered a lecture here last night.

"Children in the city are more of an economic burden than a help," he said. "Men are liable to dismissal at a day's notice, and won't asume the burden of marriage. Industrialism also tends to break up the family because it leads women to work for their own money. The average age of marriage used to be 18; now it is 24½, with a resultant diminution in the size of families. Women are constantly rising higher in their profession, and are having larger rewards held out to them.

"Divorce is as much a social as a moral problem. Man is coming to realize that he is merely supporting a woman, that the wife is not contributing economically as the grandmothers used to, and the result is dissatisfaction. Woman, realizing that she is making a sacrifice, also has her complaints. Grandmothers had to be satisfied with their marriages, because there was no alternative. The wife today can make money by her work."

"ACTRESS" NEVER WAS ON STAGE.

New York, March 21.—Ethel Lorranine Belmont had to undergo a searching cross-examination when she appeared as a witness in her suit for a separation from Raymond Belmont, son of August Belmont, whom she married in November, 1912. Although she had passed as an actress, she admitted that she had never been on the stage. She had met Belmont in 1909, she said. They had discussed marriage many times, and planned in detail their married life together.

Mrs. Belmont said that at the present time she had only about $1,000 left of a lump sum of $20,000 and other amounts that her husband had given her before her marriage. She said she had received only $50 from him since the wedding.

The case was adjourned to next Friday.

DERIDES TEACHERS' EFFICIENCY CHARTS.

Chicago, March 21. — Efficiency charts, diagrams, scales and percentages as applied to the work of school teachers were derided by Prof. F. N. Scott of the University of Michigan, in his president's address to the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools.

"The passion for testing efficiency by curves plotted on a percentage diagram may lead the teacher to a rage for measuring everything in sight, and induce him to overlook the true aim and end of education," said Prof. Scott.

Montclair Church Burned.

Montclair, N. J., March 21.—The first Congregational church, the largest in this city, was destroyed by fire last night, causing a loss estimated at $200,000. Crossed electric wires, it is thought, caused the fire.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Post-Junior Ball to Be Given in Armory April 17.

Junior Engineers to Celebrate Arrival of the 1915 Gopher.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Owing to a deficit of nearly $100, the Junior Ball association has planned to give a post-junior ball in the university armory on Friday evening, April 17. The association in its attempt to bring the dance within the range of everybody's pocketbook and at the same time overcome the difficulties which were met in transforming the armory into a suitable ballroom met with several unlooked for expenses, which were the cause of the deficit.

Compete arrangements have been made by the junior engineers for a large May-day party, to celebrate the arrival of the 1915 Gopher. The party will be held May 1 in the armory. Special decorations have been ordered, including a large May pole, with many colored streamers and a new and novel electric lighting effect. The most popular girl will be elected in a campaign held the week before the dance. The winner will be announced on the platform and she will be awarded an appropriate prize.

At the election of the Y. M. C. A. of ficers, held last Wednesday night, Fred Bruckholz was selected president, Robert Crounse, vice president, and Philip Tryon, recording secretary. The new officers are all Minneapolis men.

Two farces will be given in chapel by members of the Scandinavian society shortly before or after the Easter vacation. Both of the plays will be given on the same evening and each will last about half an hour. The first on will be "Neel," by the great Norwegian writer, Heiberg, and will be given in the Norwegian tongue; the second play is "Det Ringer," by Helena Nyblum and will be given in Swedish.

* * *

Starting out with a parade at noon, and finishing with a dance at night, the engineers Tuesday entertained the university in a striking and original manner. The parade was a great success, as was the green tea and the dance and vaudeville.

* * *

At the last meeting of the board of governors of the Men's union, further plans were formulated for the conversion of the chemistry building. The dining room will accommodate from 400 to 450 men at one time, so that approximately 1,600 can be accommodated during the lunch hour.

A miniature theater with a seating capacity of from 300 to 400 will be a feature.

This is the season when the seniors hold unquestionably the first place on the campus. The class will make its formal debut, costumed in cap and gown on April 7, and at the same time Phi Beta Kappa elections will be announced. The Ben Greet performances that the class is planning to give will not all be on the campus. At least two will be given at Loring park, and one on the campus. The second of the series of informals given by the class will be held May 2 at the Leamington.

The University Men's Glee Club has been unusually successful this year and its concerts have been in great demand. In fact so numerous are their engagements already that Mr. Scott was obliged to reject a splendid offer from Webster, S. D. April 18 will find the men in Glenwood, where they will give a popular concert under the auspices of the High School Athletic association. The club is also planning a short Easter trip through the state during the coming vacation. The men will leave Monday, April 13 and will give concerts in about half a dozen towns, returning home on Thursday, April 16.

SYLVIA TALKS FROM AMBULANCE.

London, March 21.—Sylvia Pankhurst, the militant suffragette, ill and haggard, made a dramatic appearance at a meeting of suffragettes in the Limehouse district last night. Lying in an ambulance, attended by nurses who administered stimulants to her, Miss Pankhurst delivered a brief speech which aroused her audience to great enthusiasm.

KAISER'S LETTER IS ANTI-CATHOLIC.

Berlin, March 21.—An alleged letter from Emperor William in which he is said to have expressed strong anti-Catholic views, is attracting much attention in the press. The letter is understood to have been written by his majesty to the Landgravine of Hesse, who was a princess of Prussia and was converted to the Catholic faith on Oct. 9, 1901.

The Volksfreund of Aix-la-Chapelle, a Catholic newspaper, declares the letter contains the phrase:

"I hate the religion which you have adopted."

The letter is said to have been found among the papers of the late Cardinal Kopp.

PREPARE TO VIEW ECLIPSE OF SUN

German Astronomers Taking Lively Interest in the Work.

Berlin, March 21.—German astronomers are already taking a lively interest in a total eclipse of the sun that occurs Aug. 21. The city of Hamburg is fitting out an expedition at its own expense and Prussia will give assistance to an expedition headed by Prof. Miethe of the Technological institute of Charlottenburg. A number of German astronomers will attach themselves to American expeditions. Prof. Miethe's expedition, which will be chiefly for the purpose of making photographs of the eclipse, will go to the island of Alsten, far up on the coast of Norway, where the path of totality first touches the European continent. The Hamburg expedition will make its observations in Russia. It is understood that the Russian astronomers are making extensive preparations for facilitating the work of the American and other foreign expeditions by having the proper astronomical calculations worked out for each important point in the path of totality.

NOON SERVICE AT LYCEUM

Dr. J. W. Hoffman Will Hold First Meeting on Monday.

On Monday Dr. John W. Hoffman, minister of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will begin noon meetings at the Lyceum theater at 12:10 o'clock. These meetings have become an institution of Duluth. They were auspiciously begun and continued by Dr. Rice while he lived in this city and are now to be continued by his successor, Rev. Dr. Hoffman.

The topics for consideration for the week will be as follows:

Monday, March 23—"View-Points."
Tuesday, March 24—"Alertness."
Wednesday, March 25—"Materials and Use."
Thursday, March 26—"An Amazing Word."
Friday, March 27—"Throttled Convictions."
Saturday, March 28—"Final Alternative."

There will be a large chorus in attendance to lead the music, directed

DR. JOHN W. HOFFMAN,
Pastor of First M. E. Church.

by J. R. Batchelor of this city. Mrs. John Koneczny will preside at the piano.

The special music will be as follows:

All of these services are open to everybody and strictly undenominational. No collection will be taken.

The song service will begin promptly at 12:10 and Dr. Hoffman's address at 12:30. The meetings will close sharply at 12:50 each day.

EMIGRATION TO CANADA SLACKENS

Four Steamships Cancel Sailing Dates Within Next Month.

London, March 21.—The tide of westward emigration has slackened decidedly. Four steamships scheduled to sail within the next month have had their advertised departures cancelled. At this time last year it was impossible to get even a third-class berth on an English liner going to Canada without an order several weeks in advance.

The migration toward Australia continues, but diminished in comparison with last year. It is expected to increase soon, however, with the first trial of the government plan to assist English lads to places of apprenticeship among South Australian farmers. Under legislation passed last session, the commissioner of crown lands and immigration is empowered to act as guardian of boys taking advantage of the plan, and ample safeguards have been placed about the interests of the boys as well as the rights of their employers.

The first party of boys for Australia will leave Liverpool late this month. This party will serve as an experiment, and if successful the plan will be carried out on a large scale. In the past Australia has complained that the adult Briton does not readily adjust himself to rural life in the Antipodes, and, becoming discontented, joins the already overfilled ranks of labor in the cities, leaving the problem of rural depopulation as acute as ever. It is believed that by the time their apprenticeship ends the boys will be quite willing to stay on the farms.

AFGHAN RULER NOW PLAYS GOLF

Amir Taught the Game By Scottish Mining Engineer.

Kabul, Afghanistan, March 21.—This country, which has kept itself as free as any place in the Orient from Western institutions, has finally succumbed to the charms of golf. The sponsor of the royal and ancient game is the amir himself who is rapidly becoming an expert player under tutelage of a Scottish mining engineer. This Scotchman came to Kabul looking for mining concessions. He brought with him his bag of clubs on the remote chance of finding golf links in a country, which had cherished a prejudice against any game played with a ball since the time of Omar Khayyam, and soon discovered that the monarch was fonder of talking sport than business. When he spoke enthusiastically of the Scottish royal game, the amir lost no time in putting a corps of sappers and miners to work constructing a course under the direction of the visitor. Since that time the amir has become a devoted exponent of the game and he has attained a fair degree of proficiency. But no matter what his skill, he bids fair to remain champion of the country, for it is not considered politic to defeat a man who enjoys the power of life and death over every one of his subjects.

The game has reduced the girth of the amir and improved his health, but he is afraid of overdoing it, so at his winter capital he is having built a minature links de luxe, limited in size and as smooth as a tennis lown. Here he will play the game without any of the bunkers or hazards usually provided by the ordinary course.

KHYBER PASS IS NOW FORTIFIED

England Making It Gibraltar Against Invasion From North.

Peshawur, India, March 21.—With secrecy and speed unusual in public work, English army engineers are rushing completion the forts and roads of Khyber pass, to make it a Gibraltar against invasion from the north. As domestic unrest grows in India, the fear of the Russian bear and the unruly states between Russia and the Indian empire increases and England is clearly determined not to be attacked in the rear in the event of a native rebellion.

Two years ago the road across the famous pass was hardly more than a trail for pack animals, but today Khyber is traversed by two roads suitable for the fastest and heaviest military traction. The defensive works have been constructed with such secrecy that none of the details are known to the public. It is believed that the natural battlements formed by the cliffs above the roads are honeycombed with hidden embrasures behind which great mountain guns lie hidden. Competent engineers believe that unless the defending forces be cut off from the south, the pass can be defended by a small garrison even against a host such as the ancient invaders of India brought down from the north.

LONDON HOTELS ARE STILL OVERCROWDED

London, March 21.—Notwithstanding that London has spent $65,000,000 during the past ten years in building new hotels or improving old ones, largely for the accommodation of American visitors, the hotels are still overcrowded during the tourist season.

It is estimated that 100,000 Americans now pay visits of some length to London during each summer, whereas a few years ago the metropolis was declared to be only a stopping place for a day or so for tourists bound to the continent.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out to-night and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret to-night straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

REMER BOASTS OF FINE CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL

Remer, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—This young and growing Cass county town is proud of the fine consolidated school located here in a district comprising two and one-half townships with a valuation of $400,000. The district also has the Slater and the Pelky schools.

There are about 130 pupils enrolled in the Remer school. Pupils are conveyed by wagon on two routes for the Remer school and one for the Slater school. The Remer school building is of brick construction with white stone facings. There are six rooms, five being finished and in use. Domestic science and manual training are in the basement, primary, intermediate and eighth grade in the upper rooms. The building was constructed under plans furnished by the state. The heating plant and water supply and other appliances are modern.

The school is in a very flourishing condition. A tract of land has been secured and practical agricultural work will be carried on. The school ground which comprises two acres will be graded and leveled up in proper shape, and shade trees, plants, shrubs and flowers will be planted throughout the grounds.

LEAVE LAW ALONE.

Is Former President Taft's Idea of Anti-Trust Statute.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 21.—It would be better to leave the present anti-trust statute absolutely unchanged than to risk losing the advantages gained through years of judicial interpretation, in the opinion of Former President William H. Taft, as expressed in his closing lecture before the law school of the University of Minnesota here late yesterday. He advocated the enforcement of the present law and would add thereto wherever found necessary, but declared much might be lost in the business world by repealing that which has been found effective and stood the test before the highest court of the land.

Mr. Taft was elected an honorary member of the Minneapolis Rotary club at a luncheon of the organization here Friday. He left for the East last night.

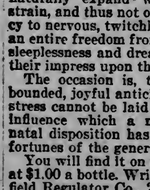
Hooray! Baby To Rule the House

No Longer Do Women Fear the Greatest of All Human Blessings.

It is a comfort to know that those much-talked-of pains that are said to precede child-bearing may easily be avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."



This is a penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. They naturally expand without the slightest strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervous, twitching spells, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leave their impress upon the babe.

The occasion is, therefore, one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and too much stress cannot be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, prenatal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generation to come.

You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle. Write to-day to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 230 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for an instructive book.

NEW YORK CAPITALISTS ARE INTERESTED IN THE CUYUNA

Have Engineers Making Examinations With View to Investment.

Pit Mines Are Getting in Shape for Heavy Shipments.

Brainerd, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—New York capitalists are becoming interested in the Cuyuna iron range. Prominent men who refused to divulge their names have had engineers and geologists on the range examining properties with a view to investment.

It is believed by many that the ore market will be established by the end of March. Many independent companies will then be at liberty to increase mining operations, basing them on the amount of business contracted for.

It is believed that the Longyear company's drills are blocking out a large ore body in section 13, township 45, range 30, where holes are being placed fifty feet apart, it is reported. Drills are also working in sections 7 and 18, township 45, range 29. The Hale-Bradley Exploration company of Deerwood has removed a drill from section 6, township 45, range 28, to section 12, township 44, range 31, three miles south of Brainerd on what is known as the Stillings place. The Cameron farm across the road from the county farm is being drilled. The county farm is being drilled by the Longyear Exploration company. One drill is still in the surface. John Helmer of Duluth has been drilling in section 11, township 46, range 28. The Helmer Exploration company has drills at work in section 21, township 47, range 28; section 19, township 47, range 28; section 10, township 46, range 29; section 1, township 46, range 29; section 16, township 46, range 28.

Preparing to Ship Heavily.

The pit mines are getting in shape for heavy shipments. The Pennington pit mine, west of Ironton, and the Thompson mine of the Inland Steel company at Crosby have their shovels and crews at work. The Pennington shipped 100,000 tons last year. The Thompson made shipments as an underground mine last year and this season will make its debut as a newly converted pit mine. Capt. William Weaone has been at the mine this week inspecting the work done. The Rowe pit mine at Riverton has had a steam shovel steadily at work. Preparations are being made for hydraulic work and it will be resumed as soon as weather conditions permit, and with much new machinery. This mine will do its first shipping this year.

The drill on the Cuyuna Iron & Manganese Ore company's property, next to the Pennington mine, is working in hole No. 42 and at last report was in ore that runs near 60 per cent in iron, and still in the same material. This hole is fifty feet north of hole No. 22 and about 600 feet west of hole No. 11, and the fact that such good ore has been found in this hole demonstrates that their own ore body is one of large extent and of great richness. This company has forty-two drill holes on their eighty acres and it is claimed has proved up one of the finest and largest ore bodies on the range, and as the surface is shallow, similar to the Pennington, development by the open pit process is assured, and it is reported that the work will start during the present year.

Ore Struck Near Ude.

H. B. Blackwood is reported to have struck ore near Ude. The drill at the Cuyuna-Sultana property near Deerwood is in hole No. 6. The lands near the Cuyuna Iron & Manganese and the Cuyuna-Mille-Lacs companies' properties are rich in ore and it is believed enough ore has been blocked out to establish two mines.

The shaft at the Duluth-Brainerd Iron company's property is now over 110 feet deep. A three-compartment timber shaft is being sunk. The Northern Pacific railway will build an extension from the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine to this property and the right-of-way is now being cleared preparatory to grading. Drills of the Cuyuna-Iron Valley Mining company are working on the Dehning and Linstrom farms. Mining is being carried on at the 110, 160 and 200-foot levels of the Cuyuna-Duluth mine at Ironton. Drifting is being carried on at the 280-foot level. The Cuyuna-Millo Lacs mine has enlarged its pump station at the 205-foot level.

Mayor Vibert of Cloquet, whose Crowing Iron Mining company is drilling in section 6, township 46, range 29, was on the range this week. John Helmer has a drill in the Bay lake country. William Quinn and Ab Brotherton of Duluth, interested in the Federal Mining company, having property in section 31, township 47, range 29, were on the range this week.

Adams Is Stockpiling.

The Adams mine at Oreland now has about 1,500 tons in stockpile. The ore is of good quality, averaging 58½ per cent iron. About 260 gallons of water a minute are being handled by the pumps, which show that the situation as regards water is not a difficult one at the mine. The Barrows mine of the M. A. Hanna company at Barrows is hoisting 200 tons a day and has now about 20,000 tons in stockpile.

At the Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in the city limits of Brainerd, work is progressing favorably on the second shaft. Pumps are on the ground to handle all water that may be encountered. Drilling will soon commence on the lands optioned by J. R. Harrington of Hibbing.

The Potts Exploration company of Deerwood has three drills north of Riverton and one in section 20, township 47, range.

On Saturday the Toulouimoe Mining company had its annual election, and on the board of directors were elected A. J. Hovde, H. V. Gard, James M. Glynn, P. A. Lignall and James E. Pederson, all of Superior, Wis. Reports made on the year's work done showed that $10,000 had been expended in drilling. The Potts Exploration company will continue to drill for the company. There are but eleven stockholders in the company, each owning an one-eleventh interest. They control 600 acres on the north range, and the general impression prevails that a fine body of ore has been blocked out.

Canadian-Cuyuna.

At the Wilcox mine of the Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company, six miles east of Brainerd, the contract has been closed for the furnishing of electric power to run pumps, the Cuyuna Range Power company to furnish the power from their dam at Crow Wing river. M. D. Stoner of the company is now buying equipment for the extension of the power line from Brainerd, and the building of a sub-station at the mine. Pumps and compressor are to be electrically driven. The hoist and some of the pumps are to be steam driven. Underground the usual mine cars will be used.

The new 1,200-gallon pump at the Armour No. 2 mine of the Rogers-Brown Ore company will also be electrically driven. At present the Armour No. 2 and the Kennedy mine of the same company at Cuyuna use electric power for underground and surface haulage, they generating their own current.

Assessors of all but five of the townships of Crow Wing county assembled at the courthouse and heard the new tax laws explained by J. G. Armson, chairman of the Minnesota state tax commission, who dwelt on the changes made in the assessment laws and especially drew attention to the taxing of mineral lands. For the last six months the commission has been working on Cuyuna range reports, and by the month of July it will have a pretty fair idea of the merchantable tonnage developed on the range. He referred to the large tonnage which the range might also possess in the way of unmerchantable ore having less than 40 per cent metallic content. Assessors were reminded that mineral lands possessed two valuations, surface and buildings and mineral.

NEW LEASE OF LIFE FOR ASHLAND MINE

To Be One of Largest Shippers on Gogebic This Season.

One of the largest individual shippers on the Gogebic iron range this year will, it is expected, be the Ashland mine at Ironwood. It is reported that already 200,000 tons of ore have been sold. The mine is owned and operated by Congressman E. A. and J. O. Hayes, brothers, of California. The former has been a recent visitor at the property, devoting several days to an inspection of the work in progress and mapping out future developments. The principal operation during the winter has been that of rebuilding the No. 9 shaft, a big undertaking. This work is nearing completion and it is expected hoisting will be started within a few weeks. Considerable new ground has been opened the last few months.

When the Ashland reverted to the owners of the fee in the spring of 1889 it was in very bad condition physically. The surface improvements were mostly in ruins and the shafts had fallen in. Yet in the first year Hayes brothers mined and brought to surface something like 150,000 tons of high grade ore, although it was the opinion of the preceding operators that there did not remain as much as a thousand tons in the entire mine. The work of exploration was kept parallel with that of development and various deposits were cut by the diamond drill. The resuscitation of the mine was almost a resurrection, and the spring of 1901 the mine was leased by Hayes brothers to the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company for a large consideration.

The Cleveland Cliffs company operated the mine until after the close of the shipping season of 1912, producing during the interval more than three and one-quarter million tons of ore, and then surrendered the lease for the reason, it is said, the deposits had become too greatly depleted and additional bodies could not be found. The Hayes brothers have for several months again been exploring and developing ground. The results are not reported, but the understanding that already 200,000 tons of ore has been sold for delivery this season is taken as indication that additional important finds have been made and the mine still possesses large reserves.

SUIT ON LEASE BY BUTTE & BACORN

Friendly Action Started as Step in Reorganization Program.

Butte, Mont., March 21.—As a step in the program of the reorganization of the Butte & Bacorn Copper company, F. W. Bacorn, one of the original promoters, has begun a friendly suit against the company and John B. Finley to interpret the terms of a lease given by him on claims embraced in the holdings of the company, it being planned to turn over this lease to the company for offering to a new corporation to be called the Great Northern Copper company, the latter to be financed by a syndicate composed of Butte & Bacorn stockholders. The company embraces 278 acres of mining ground in the northern part of the Butte district, and during the past year promising surface showings have been disclosed, three tons of which shipped from a cut assaying 3.67 per cent copper and 13.1 ounces of silver. This cut showed a mineralized area forty-eight feet in width. The workings on the 1,000-foot level were within about 500 feet of a point under this cut when operations were suspended. At that time, though, the existence of this surface showing was not known. The Butte & Bacorn has a number of east and west veins crossing its property. The company is seeking to raise about $150,000 through reorganization; it has an indebtedness of about $50,000.

GREENOUGHS GET TUESDAY GROUPS

Snowstorm Interests in Idaho Acquire More Valuable Properties.

Wallace, Idaho, Marchh 21.—Following the recent acquisition of approximately 800 000 shares of the capital stock of the Missoula Copper Mining company under option at about 60 cents a share by the Snowstorm Mining company, the Greenough interests have acquired the Tuesday group No. 1, Tuesday No. 2, Tuesday No. 3 and Tuesday No. 4, near the Missoula, National Copper and Lucky Calumet properties. The group lies south and east of the Missoula and north of the Lucky Calumet, the Olive and Rose claims joining on the north and the Missoula and Lost Horse claims on the west, while the Lucky Friday and Setting Sun claims join them on the south.

The acquired ground practically joins the Snowstorm on the south and will permit extension of the latter's long lower tunnel through the four claims directly into the Missoula ground without passing through the Snowstorm or the Lucky Calumet.

The conveyance has been recorded to Leo Greenough, manager of the Snowstorm company, from George A. Gaumond, Sr., George A. Gaumond, Jr., and Lawrence J. Bischel of Burke. The consideration is not made public. No notice of location of any such claims is recorded, and it is presumed that the locations are of recent date and the time for recording the notices, ninety days after the date of location, has not expired. It was generally believed that no vacant ground existed in such close proximity to these well-known properties.

FIVE PLANTS ARE PLANNED

Leaching Process Invented By Anaconda Officials Is a Success.

First Unit of 2,000 Tons Capacity Likely to Be Erected.

Butte, Mont., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—From all information available it seems that the Anaconda Copper Mining company is going to erect in the near future a big leaching plant. The matter was discussed with the officers of the company during President Thayer's visit to this city a short time ago after a very thorough examination of the eighty-ton experimental plant which has been in operation for several months. It was demonstrated beyond a doubt that the leaching process invented by Anaconda officials after months of experiments was a complete success, and Mr. Thayer asked that plans and estimates of construction be forwarded to him in New York. This request has been complied with and a complete set of plans and an estimate of the cost of construction, with the necessary details have been forwarded as requested. The plans and estimates provide for the first unit of 2,000 tons, with provision that eventually the plant can be increased to a capacity of 10,000 tons. According to one of the officials the plans provide for really five plants. There is first the unwatering plant in which the tailings are taken and the water practically removed from them. Next comes the roasting plant in which the tailings are roasted. There is the acid plant where the acid solution to take the copper from the tailings is prepared. Then there is the leaching plant proper, where the tailings are treated by the acid solution and finally the precipitation plant, in which the the copper in solution is turned over the scrap iron and the copper recoveries are made. The plan also involves the saving of the silver values of the ores, and for this purpose salt has to be used in the acid solution. For the present the electrolytic process will not be resorted to, although experimenting will continue to find out the most valuable process in the extraction of the metals from the solutions. Once the plans are approved, work on construction will be rushed with all possible speed and machinery will be ordered at once.

In the Kalispel District.

The Anaconda Copper Mining company intends to prosecute development work in the Kalispel district this spring and summer on an extensive scale. A large force of men is now being organized to send into the district under the direction of experienced miners. A small force of men have been prospecting all winter and while the weather at times has greatly interfered with their work, good progress has been made in establishing beyond a doubt that the ground secured by the company is rich in copper ore.

Butte & Great Falls.

A number of Illinois men, including E. Bryant Crump of Bloomington, Ira Honnold of Kansas and Z. D. Avery, have been in the city inspecting property they are interested in and which is known as the Butte & Great Falls Mining company. The Illinois men were much pleased with the development work and the strength of the showing so far made decided to invest $20,000 more in the stock of the company. Mr. Crump, who is president of the company, said that the churn drills which had been put in operation showed some very rich ground and he believed that before the close of the year the Butte & Great Falls company would become one of the producing mines of the district. The property consists of 105 patented claims and is just north of the city. Arrangements have been completed for the securing of a direct electric power line to the mine at once.

"Safety First" Campaign.

The "safety first" campaign inaugurated by the Anaconda Copper Mining company has been placed under the direct charge of Charles W. Goodale, manager of the Boston & Montana department of the company, one of the most energetic and conscious men in the employ of the company. Mr. Goodale has gone east to remain at least a month to study the safety devices and sanitary rules and regulations of the United States Steel corportation, a concern which has devoted more time, attention and money to the care and safety of its employes than any other corporation in the country. Mr. Goodale will also visit some of the leading mining centers during his absence, and he intends to return prepared to make many improvements looking to the health and comfort of the men underground.

Davis-Daly.

Although the Davis-Daly company failed to find any ore body of value on striking the Belmont vein on the 1,000-foot level the management is not discouraged and crosscutting is now going on on a lower level in the hope of cutting the vein. On the 1,000-foot level the vein was found to be faulty and badly shattered. The company has reported that it was shipping 300 tons a day, but it is now stated that the shipments have been reduced to 150 tons a day.

To Enlarge Plant.

Capt. Wolvin has announced that instead of making his new plant handle 1,000 tons a day he intends to enlarge it to 3,000 tons a day. He says that the cost price of producing copper for the month of February was 8½ cents and with the enlarged plant in operation he believes that he can produce it at 6½ cents a pound.

DEEPER SHAFT AT TUOLUMNE URGED

Special Report on Strike on the 2400-Foot Level.

Butte, Mont., March 21.—The report of Supt. Neenan of the Tuolumne and Engineer Arthur Corry, which was asked for by the stockholders at the annual meeting on March 9, was sent out this week, together with the annual report of President Hickey, which was submitted to the annual meeting.

Interest centers largely in the former report, which gives definite data on the recent developments at the mine.

Speaking of the recent strike on the 2,400-foot level that has caused the big advance in Tuolumne stock, this report says:

"On the 2,400-foot level a crosscut 253 feet intersected the vein and drifting commenced thereon. At the date of this report thirty feet had been drifted upon the vein.

"The physical condition of the vein herein, thus far disclosed, has vastly improved over that shown in the three levels above. The walls are less shattered, and the veins less disturbed by the numerous cross-faults. The vein filling shows better mineralization, the pyrite and zinc minerals being superseded by copper glance, bornite and chalcopyrite.

"When first encountered upon this level the vein is 15 feet wide, showing 18 inches of glance. At a point 30 feet east the vein is at least 15 feet wide and shows 30 inches of ore in the hanging wall streak, which averages 20.1 per cent copper and 35.5 ounces of silver. The face also shows a streak of pyritic ore assaying 1.2 per cent in copper.

"A reasonable expectancy of this level developing a considerable tonnage of good ore is justifiable, considering the general improvement therein over that disclosed in the 2,000 and 2,200-foot levels.

"We would call attention to the great amount of prospecting within the short period since ground was first broken at the Tuolumne.

"The Jessie vein has been drifted upon from the compromise line to the east boundary of the Tuolumne property, a total of 3,591 feet of drifting. There has been 6,719 feet of crosscuts driven and 4,151 feet of raises. The crosscutting has most thoroughly prospected the property and veins therein disclosed.

"In regard to future development, we unanimously agree that inasmuch as the Tuolumne is doing better than making expenses, and from the encouragement so far met with on the 2,400-foot level, it is advisable to continue sinking the shaft at least 400 feet deeper, opening up the ground on the 2,600 and 2,800-foot levels with the end in view of bringing in more than one productive level at a time. To do otherwise is, in our opinion, a grievous mistake and a want of appreciation of the splendid possibilities of the Tuolumne property."

ARIZONA MINERS SEEK "LOST MINE"

"Lost Dutchman," Mysterious Source of Gold, Is Again Sought.

Globe, Ariz., March 21.—Arizonans once more are hunting for the mysterious Lost Dutchman mine. That such a mine exists there is no doubt in the minds of some of the most sane prospectors; no more doubt than would have been provoked by the straightforward tale of Perry Wildman, the storekeeper at Pinal, who, thirty-five years ago, took gold bearing ore of great value on deposit from two German prospectors who thereafter disappeared in the desert.

If this mysterious gold came from a mine, where was the mine?

Many explanations have been given for the disappearance of the two Germans. Some say the discoverers of the mine died of starvation in the desert, seeking egress to settlements where money for development could be obtained. Others contend they were followed from the Pinal store by Mexicans, who assassinated them because the Germans refused to tell them the location of the treasure.

Another theory advanced is that they were killed by a roving band of Apache Indians then on the warpath.

Certain occult folk, who ascribe the disappearance of the Germans to a "hoodoo," recall that Al Sieber, who led one of the most pretentious expeditions in the country of mystery, was killed by a falling stone, and they tell of a prospector who died in the madhouse when he believed he had found the mine.

James C. Bell, a Globe miner, who also has been on searching expeditions for this and other mines, believes Goldfield, Ariz., is the site of the Lost Dutchman mine.

"I have been over that part of the country many times," Bell says, "and that is the place in my opinion where is found such mineral as the Dutchmen left at Pinal. It is the most likely spot in the Superstition mountains for the lost mine."

CONSOLIDATED COPPERMINES

Company Is Carrying on an Extensive Drilling Campaign.

Ely, Nev., March 21.—There are big things doing in the district by the Coppermines company at present, with the result that millions of tons of commercial ore are being blocked out. Three churn drills are operating on the Emma Nevada claim adjoining the Liberty Fit of the Nevada Consolidated on the west.

Some of these holes are now down more than 700 feet, and while no information is given out as to the value of the ore, there is apparently no reason to doubt that it will average up as well or even better, than the ores of Liberty Pit.

Two new drills, with a capacity of 1,400 feet each are now on the way from the factory and will soon arrive in the district, when they will go into commission, making in all five churn drills employed in demonstrating new ore bodies. As the ground is soft they will prove up ore bodies very rapidly.

Before the consolidation of these various properties a considerable force of engineers was employed for some time in measuring up the ore bodies. The report of Engineer Crumb showed something more than 7,000,000 tons of sulphide ore, which has been largely added to since that time.

This report of course did not take into consideration the sulphide ores later discovered on the Ora claim, which doubtless contains several million tons, and from which 1,000 tons of ore per day has been extracted for some months past.

It is known that results from the development work have been most satisfactory, and that the work of additional development is now being crowded along more rapidly than at any time in the past.

The development of large ore bodies is the best guarantee of the eventful erection of the concentrating and smelting plant, which the management has announced as a part of its plan for the future.

The Minnesota claim of the Coppermines company, which is an underground mining proposition, is also being developed with most satisfactory results. The main shaft has now reached a depth of 240 feet, and it is stated that the vein shows values for a width of 70 feet, with a large portion of the ore running from 4 to 7 per cent.

WALL PAPER STORIES.

Washington Star: The first thought of a young mother is that her child's nursery should be airy and bright, although it may not be spacious, and that every suggestion contained in it should be a happy and cheerful one. The old folklore fairy tales that have become classics, and without which no childish education is complete, are now reproduced in friezes, and one may see Cinderella and the magic slipper or the white cat in charming figures with appropriate settings in landscape, etc.

This is a new phase of decorative work, which promises an interesting development. There are young boys who would delight to have a King Arthur frieze, and others to whom illustrations of scenes in "Ivanhoe" would be a constant enjoyment.

RESULTS OF DRILL WORK

Diamond Drill Exploration of Eight Holes at the Naumkeag.

Franklin Pushing Drifts to Get Rock for a Mill Test.

Houghton, Mich., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Naumkeag's results from the diamond drill exploration of eight holes have just been given out for the first time in volume XI of the Copper Handbook, edited by Walter Harvey Weed. The property comprises 1,200 acres in one tract of approximately a mile and three-quarters in length and a mile and a quarter in width, lying along the strike of the formations southwest to northeast, with its northern end fronting for a mile on Portage lake. It is a half mile west of the bridge uniting Houghton and Hancock. The drill work was begun in July, 1912, and was continued for nearly a year. It covered the formations in cross-sections from the Ashbed lodes to the underlay of the Kearsarge lode, inclusive, passing through the three Hancock and the several Pewabic or Quincy lodes. The holes of the cross-section were not in tandem as is the usual custom, some of them being quite far apart on the strike. Hole "A" disclosed a good showing of copper to the depth of 513 feet on what is supposed to be the Hancock lode No. 3, and at that of 1,308 feet a six-inch streak of coarse copper. "B," which reached the depth of 1,378 feet, passed through the Atlantic lodes at 258 and the Pewabic at 1,295 feet down. The first were barren and the latter had six inches of fine particles quite evenly distributed. There was also in this hole three feet of heavy copper in an unidentified lode at the depth of 535 feet. "C" had traces at 660 feet down and a little fine at 720 and two inches at 870. "D" had some copper at different depths from 938 to 1044 feet down. "E" had a core closely resembling that of "D." "F" met with twenty-one feet of copper from 485 to 504 and a little at 584 and 1,134. "H" revealed some good showings of the metal at 380, 400 and 605.

A shaft was sunk last fall to the depth of fifty feet or so and some cross-cutting and drifting was done, but with no results of importance. This shaft was located near the eastern side of the property close to the Atlantic road. An old adit or tunnel was reopened and found to be 200 feet long. This is entered at the side of the road running along the lake front, and has apparently a southeastern direction across the formations. This shaft is now the small one drill is in operation and another soon will be. The rock-pile displays some good amygdaloid but no copper. A temporary wooden structure has been built to house the six-drill Sullivan compressor, its electric motor and a fan, and at the mouth of the tunnel there is a square wooden tower for a regular electric freight Otis elevator, which is to hoist the rock fifteen or thirty feet so that it can be carried off and dumped out of the way.

The company is exceedingly well financed, having over $200,000 in the treasury. The number of shares authorized is 200,000, of which there are 102,000 outstanding. The company is controlled by the Lawton interests of the General Development company. The president is J. Parke Channing, the eminent mining engineer.

Franklin.

Franklin, in order to obtain a more complete opinion of the contents of the Allouez lode at the new opening made by a cross-cut on Thirty-second level, will push its drifts so as to get rock enough for a mill test. The drifts have now an extent of about 30 feet, the rock showing just the same excellent quality as when first blasted a month ago. They will be 19 feet wide leaving only the 4 feet that is necessary to support the clay seam and the hanging wall. The drift is being made wide to break down as much rock as possible in the shortest time. It is a very large cut, course, the drift includes 5 feet of the leaner portion of the lode. Three shifts are being worked, the men relieving each other in place as is done in the regular mining in the Western camps and taking only twenty minutes for lunch. Machine drill runners and four shovelers are being employed in each drift on each shift making twenty-four a day. It is a picked force, the shift and trammers' bosses among the number and it is progressing at the rate of about 10 feet a month. The annual report will be distributed in a very few days and will show $180,000 of liabilities over the assets. President Edwards states that the financial needs of the company may be cared for without calling an assessment. At the present figure the 33,642 shares could be disposed of for more than $200,000, which would leave over $80,000 for the development of the conglomerate. As the markets seems to be appreciating the possibilities of the lode, a higher price may be obtained later.

New Arcadian.

New Arcadian has now nearly 100 feet opened up on the new lode with hardly any poor spots. A cross-cut has been already begun on the 600-foot level. After the new hoisting engine is installed about the first of the month, another cross-cut will be started at the 900-foot level. On the 600-foot level it will take about two months to reach the lode and on the 900-foot about four. If these levels disclose the same grade or anything approaching it, it can be pretty safely predicted that there is a paying mine or the lode. The night shift has been resumed. One drill is being operated each shift in each of the two drifts and in the cross-cut. The drifts are 6 feet in width, the usual figure for exploration work.

South Lake.

South Lake watered the shaft in less than a week's time and began to sink again Wednesday, March 11. It will be carried down as rapidly as possible through the 73 feet remaining to the sixth or 600-foot level, where, will then begin the cross-cut of 1,000 feet southeast of the four South Lake lodes, disclosed about two years ago by seven diamond drill holes. After the cross-cut has been driven far enough so that the men will be out of danger, the cross-cutting of the three so-called Evergreen lodes cut by the sinking of the shaft, on the third level will be recommenced. These lodes were met 210 feet, No. 1 having the width of 40, and all having a remarkably good and very evenly distributed mineralization. When the work was discontinued, this cross-cut had been in the lode for 40 feet and had not reached the hanging wall. The copper values disclosed were good. Plats had also been cut at the fourth, fifth and another will of course, be cut at the sixth and cross-cuts extended from all of them as soon as possible. A crushing plant has been installed and the rock comes from the openings on the lodes will go direct to the mill which will enable a thorough test to be made of them as work progresses. There was on hand Dec. 31, 1913, $39,495 cash with $8,740 unpaid on account of assessment No. 2, due June 3, 1913.

Isle Royale.

Isle Royale had a yield of almost seventeen pounds a ton for last month. All the shafts are working both night and day shifts except No. 1, where the day shift will be begin again in a short time. The daily shipment is about thirty-eight cars, as compared with a normal of sixty, which is also the number required to keep all the stamps running to full capacity.

Wolverine.

Wolverine is averaging about forty-one cars, as against a normal of forty-four. It has all the men it can handle now, and in fact is about to resume sinking at No. 3 shaft. It is customary at this mine to sink two levels at one shaft and then the same number at the other. This is done since the sinking is started at one side of the shaft for twenty feet or so before it is turned into the course of the shaft in order to leave an arch to protect the men working below, and another level can be reached without repeating this extra work, two being all that it is desired to handle at one time. The shaft is carried about forty feet beyond the level so that the top of the skip can stand flush with the floor of the level and have room to spare. The shaft is now down about 140 feet below the thirty-eighth level and will therefore be lowered 100 feet more, when the arch will be cut away, and plate made and tracks laid. Immediately thereafter the sinking crew will be transferred to No. 4.

Hancock.

Hancock shipped to the Centennial-Allouez mill on March 14 forty cars or 1,600 tons. Similar shipments will be made about every ten days. This is a somewhat more rapid rate of production than before the strike. The management has about all the men they need at present.

Quincy.

Quincy welcomed back about twenty of the old miners this week, men who were working there before work stopped and who have since been employed in the iron country southeast of here. This addition makes the aggregate at the three producing shafts about up to the normal. The pumping preparatory to sinking will be started in a few days at No. 7 shaft.

Mass.

Mass up to Tuesday had shipped about fifty cars and will this week average about ten cars daily, increasing as fast as miners can be hired.

Superior.

Superior is gradually increasing its tonnage, having forwarded to the mill thirty-eight cars, 720 tons, last Saturday. The rock from the West vein is described by all who have seen it as rich.

SHATTUCK AND DENN-ARIZONA

No Increase in Ore Shipments By Former---Denn Resumption.

Bisbee, Ariz., March 21.—Shattuck has as yet made no increase in ore shipments, although it was expected in December that by the present time Shattuck would have about doubled its output. There was then expectation of a $1 dividend rate. There is nothing official on the subject, but it was intimated by an official during the week that there is no expectation of early raising of the ore output. It was said that the copper market at the present time extends no encouragement to increased mining activities. The ore is worth more in the ground than in the pig, as things look right now. The pig will be worth much more in the latter half of the year, the way it is figured now.

Since the first of the year, when Denn resumption reports had most vigor, there has been a change in metal and share market conditions that is not at all favorable to the picking up of new enterprises. Those who are able to go ahead, feel that matters might as well rest in abeyance, and probably better. As the market outlook stood in the better part of January, announcement of resumption of development in Denn would undoubtedly have brought a strong line of market-interest and support to that stock. Similar announcement today would not move Denn's price much, if any, because there is a different feeling about things. There is likely to be more in this view of the probable passing along of Denn resumption until future time than there is the intimation that it will be profitable to let Junction do more development and possibly more unwatering of the country before going ahead.

LEGAL NOTICES.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.
In Probate Court. In the Matter of the Estate of Anna Thurnher, formerly Anna Franzen, Deceased.

The petition of Bernhard A. Diers, having been filed in this Court, representing, among other things, that Anna Thurnher, formerly Anna Franzen, then being a resident of the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, died intestate, in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, on the 2nd day of February, 1914; leaving estate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and that said petitioner is the son of said decedent and praying that letters of administration of the estate of said decedent be granted to said Bernhard A. Diers.

It is ordered, That said petition be heard before this Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in Duluth, in said County, on Monday, the sixth day of April, 1914, at ten o'clock a. m., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted. Ordered further, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald, according to law, and that a copy of this order be served on the County Treasurer of St. Louis County not less than ten days prior to said day of hearing and by mailing a copy of this order to each heir and interested party at least fourteen days before the said date of hearing.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., March 13, 1914.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—
Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Fifteen Hundred Twenty-four ($1524.00) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Janet Lenore Costello and D. H. Costello, her husband, Mortgagors, to Harry C. Strong, Mortgagee, bearing date the 11th day of November, 1912, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of December, 1913, at 8:30 o'clock A. M., in Book 288 of Mortgages, on page 341, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz.:

The Easterly seventy-five (75) feet of fractional Block Sixteen (16), Longview Addition to Duluth; Lot Five (5) and Easterly one-half of Lot Six (6), and Easterly seventy-five (75) feet of Lot Four (4), Block Seventeen (17), East Lawn Division of Duluth, according to the plats thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of St. Louis, the premises conveyed hereby being that portion of said Block Sixteen (16), Longview Addition to Duluth, and of said lots in Block Seventeen (17), East Lawn Division of Duluth, that lie between the Westerly line of Twenty-fourth Avenue East and a line drawn parallel therewith and seventy-five (75) feet Westerly therefrom. Subject to the terms and conditions of that certain agreement duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in Book "S" of Miscellaneous at Page 238, in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County in the Sheriff's office in the Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 6th day of April, 1914, at 10 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Fifteen Hundred Twenty-Four Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five ($25) Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 17, A. D. 1914.

COMBINING POULTRY KEEPING AND FRUIT GROWING

How They Benefit Each Other and Their Owners.

By A. F. HUNTER.

Poultry keeping as a sole interest is practically never met with. Some other interest is always associated with it. Of the many different lines of agricultural interest fruit growing is the best to work in with poultry keeping. This combination is advantageous for two reasons—first, two crops are being grown on the ground at one time; second, both fruit and poultry are directly benefited by being grown together. Poultry is benefited by the shade of fruit trees and bushes and by the worms and insects which are chiefly found about trees and bushes, while fruit trees and bushes are benefited and their growth promoted by the rich nourishment of the droppings of poultry; also by the destruction of worm and insect enemies and by the stirring of the ground by the scratching and dusting of the birds. Because of these advantages poultry runs should be liberal in space set with fruit trees, such as apple, pear, peach, etc., and baby chicks should be given range of the bush fruit plantings—the patches set to blackberries, raspberries, currants, etc. In the latter case it is better to set brooders or colony coops forty to fifty feet apart along the border of small fruit patches, the chicks being permitted to range at will.

Setting Out the Trees.

In setting out fruit trees consider their future growth, and here again a combination can be advantageously made. Standard apple trees should be set thirty-five to forty feet apart each way; but, as apple trees do not reach bearing size under about ten years and will not attain full size under about twenty, it is best to set quicker maturing and earlier decaying fruit trees between them. Two peach or plum trees can be set in spaces between two apple trees, and rows of pear and cherry trees can be set between the rows. The earlier decaying trees are removed in season to give the apple trees full room to grow.

The cultivation of ground about fruit trees is aided by poultry, which keep up a constant scratching and searching for worms and insects, and it is found that worm and insect pests are kept in subjection where fowls or chicks are permitted to range. When the range is among newly set trees or bushes it is found desirable to place a mulch of small stones or bricks, one or two inches apart, about the trees to protect the roots from too much scratching. Young trees are always benefited by being utilized as shade for poultry.

SOFT CHEESE.

The Art of Making It.

By C. B. LANE.

The primary difference between hard and soft cheese is the result of different methods of manipulation of curdled milk. In hard cheese, as Cheddar, Swiss, American, Edam, etc., milk is curdled rapidly and the curdled mass then cut into small pieces to allow much of the whey to separate from the curd, and the curdled mass is often heated further to separate curd and whey. Then the curd is placed in frames and subjected to high pressure that forces out most of the whey, leaving a hard mass of tolerably dry curd. Such a curd ripens slowly and is not ready for market for months, and even when perfectly ripe it preserves its form and never becomes very soft.

Soft cheeses as Camembert, Brie, Isigny, limburger, Backstein, Neufchatel and cream cheese, although each is never fully drained from them. The curdled milk is commonly ladled into forms and allowed to drain naturally. Soft sheeses are not subjected to pressure or heat and so contain a larger percentage of water at the start than hard cheeses. They therefore afford favorable conditions for the growth of micro-organisms and enzyme action which ripen cheese rapidly and develop higher flavors, and flavors are known to be physiologically necessary to proper digestion and assimilation of food, so soft cheeses have a decided value of their own. They are more perishable than hard cheeses, and to put them on the market so as to reach them consumer's table at a proper stage of ripening is a difficult problem of the industry.

Cheese as a Food.

Cheese used to be considered a luxury or so called appetizer, but recent investigations show that it is a valuable food and stands near the top from the economical standpoint. No kind of meat except dried beef carries such a large percentage of protein and other food constituents as cheese. Fresh beef has little more than half the food value of cheese, and a pound of cheese is equal to two pounds of eggs or three pounds of fish. As to cheapness, practically the only food that rivals cheese in food value is dried beans, yet the people of the United States consume per capita 175 pounds of meat annually and only four pounds of cheese, while the people in foreign countries are, of course, much larger cheese eaters, and much of the poor people live entirely on rye bread and cheese, making a fairly good diet and a digestible one.

HOW TO GROW ASPARAGUS.

A Profitable Source of Income—$286 From Less Than an Acre.

By KATE V. SAINT MAUR.

An asparagus bed is ready for use in very early spring, when every one craves fresh vegetables. It is easy to grow after once started, and yet an asparagus bed is rarely found on a farm, though the pecuniary advantages to be reaped from it are sufficient to satisfy the most ambitious gardener.

Three years after our bed was started we sold 564 bunches at an average of 40 cents a bunch. Early in the season we got 60 cents. Toward the end of the season some were sold for 35 cents. Since then the annual returns have never dropped below $286. Manuring and cultivating cost about $12 a year, the bed occupying a quarter of an acre of ground. Having a number of egg customers, we sell direct, getting the full price, but even wholesale prices range from 12 to 15 cents.

There are two ways of starting beds, by sowing seed or setting out plants. One-year-old plants will cost from 60 cents to $1 a hundred. Planted in April and well cared for, they provide several dishes for the home table the following spring and nearly a full crop the second spring. Seed sowed at the same time will take a year longer, but after that give a larger yield than transplanted plants, and, as asparagus beds are productive for fifteen or twenty years, a one year loss in the beginning is an economy.

How to Plant.

In selecting ground for asparagus remember it is a permanent crop and cannot be transplanted after it is established. It will grow on any ordinary well drained garden soil, but heavy subsoil, with light sand above it, should be selected, as it invariably produces an earlier crop than heavy ground. The land should slope to the south, and spread well rotted manure four inches deep over the ground, and plow and harrow if for a large bed. A small garden bed can be dug and cultivated with a hand rake. Make furrows four feet apart, one foot wide and six inches deep. If you start with seed sow in the furrows two inches apart. If one-year-old plants are used soak them in water for a few hours, then spread out the roots in every direction from the center of the plant and set two feet apart in furrows. Use the space between the rows for the first two years, as it insures the ground being well cultivated, and each space will accommodate two rows of carrots, onions or lettuce, and in the fall, when the tops of the asparagus begin to die, they must be cut off and burned and the bed given a good covering of stable manure.

HOW TO LOCATE ACID SOILS.

A Simple Way to Remedy Them.

By GEORGE H. DACY.

Sour soils spell poor crops, so poor crops mean less to eat and wear for the farmer. Therefore every farmer should play detective, and seek out soils on his farm that are acid and reform them by the use of lime, which neutralizes the acidity. The chief handicap experienced by the farm with an acid soil is that the culture of clovers and similar legumes is prohibited by the fact that the nitrogen fixing bacteria which inhabits the nodules on roots of the clovers abhor an acid or sour soil, and clay loam soils that are deficient in organic matter are especially prone to acidity.

The farmer desiring to locate sour soil on his farm should purchase about 5 cents worth of blue litmus paper at the local drug store. As soon as possible after a rainstorm, when the surface soil is still moist, he should go out into the field and with his jackknife cut a slit in the earth into which he should insert the litmus paper. He should then pack the soil firmly about the indicator paper and allow it to remain in place for about five minutes; then he should remove the earth and examine the paper, which, if it has turned red or pink, indicates the soil is acid. The farmer must be careful in handling the test paper, as perspiration is acid and affects the litmus paper.

There is also the ammonia test, made by putting a few drops of common ammonia water in a glass holding a teacupful of pure water. Into this stir a teaspoonful of the soil to be tested. If the soil needs lime the water after the soil has settled for a few hours will have a darkish, red brown or black appearance.

Raw-Ground Limestone the Best.

If the countryman finds his soil is sour he can correct it by using finely ground unburnt limestone, marl or refuse from sugar beet factories. Freshly slaked or burnt lime is objectionable because it tends to burn out the supply of organic matter contained in soil. The application of from one-half to one ton of ground limestone or marl per acre every seven or eight years controls any acid tendencies of soil and puts it in a fit condition for clovers, alfalfa and other legumes. It is a good plan to use ground limestone as an absorbent in the dairy or horse stable and to apply the lime to the land with the manure. It is a correspondingly bad practice to apply freshly slaked or burnt lime to the soil with manure; in fact, it should never be used the same year it manure is distributed over the field, as its tendency is to burn up and waste the organic matter in the fertilizer before it can be used by the plants.

HEATING TO SAVE BUDDING FRUIT TREES FROM FREEZING

Methods Advocated By Specialist in the United States Department of Agriculture.

Washington, March 21.—In many parts of this country the late spring frosts make it absolutely necessary for fruit growers to adopt the practice of orchard heating in order to obtain annual crops of fruit when the fruit buds pass through the winter safely. This is particularly true with all tree fruits except apples and pears in the Eastern and Southern states, and with all tree fruits in the Central and Western states. Enough has been done in orchard heating throughout the entire country to prove its efficiency and practicability, but little has been done on the study of air currents, heat radiation, influence of slopes, hills and surrounding country generally on orchards where heaters have been used. Following are directions for orchard heating prepared by a specialist of the department of agriculture.

Types of Heaters.

There are many types of oil burning orchard heaters of all sizes and shapes at prices ranging from 20 to 75 cents each. The early ones were mostly small and of the "lard pail" type while the more recent ones are larger and rectangular in shape. Each manufacturer claims certain advantages for his particular make and the fruit grower may compare these claims by securing catalogs of the many types now on the market. Advertisements of these appear in the horticultural periodicals.

The "lard pail" type is extremely simple and serviceable, is easily stored because it nests and requires little space. It may be made by the local tinsmith if desired. A useful size is seven inches across at the bottom, nine inches at the top, and twelve inches high. This will hold three gallons of oil and burn about one quart per hour burning twelve hours at one filling. Smaller heaters have the disadvantage of requiring to be filled often. This type is fitted with covers.

The rectangular type is usually divided into storage compartment and a burning compartment both being provided with covers. The size of the flame can be controlled so as to throw out little or much heat depending upon the temperature of the air and the danger of it going lower. This type is large, rather costly, is very serviceable and desirable, but requires considerable storage space.

If empty metal paint kegs are available they will answer the purpose admirably and will give splendid results. They must be provided with covers; roofing slate does very well for this purpose, but it must be held in place by a weight of some kind.

In lighting new oil heaters it is usually necessary to use burlap or excelsior to act as a wick. After a deposit forms on the sides of the heater the wick is no longer necessary. Usually a few drops of gasoline are thrown over the oil and the torch applied at once. A wad of cotton wrapped with wire and dipped in oil makes a good torch. There is on the market a combination gasoline discharger and torch which is extremely useful.

These are circular or angular with parallel sides, or inverted cone-shape with broad flaring sides. The latter is always lighted from the bottom while some of the former are lighted from the top. Kindling wood and oil-soaked burlap or excelsior are necessary aids in lighting the coal burners.

Makeshift Heaters.

Under this head may be included the small piles of wood, brush, oil-soaked sawdust, and other combustable material, which are often used with good success. The object is to produce heat at the proper time and place no matter what is used to do it.

The oil heaters are quickly filled, easily lighted, throw off the maximum heat almost instantly, can have size of flame regulated by the cover, can be replenished quickly, and can be extinguished instantly by replacing the cover. The coal heaters require considerable time and care to be filled properly, are slow in starting when lighted, throw off little heat at first, cannot well be extinguished except by dumping and then the fuel will continue to burn for some time, can be quickly replenished while burning, and must be refilled after each burning.

In a section where a good grade of coal is very cheap the coal heaters may be most desirable even though more labor is required in operating them. In other sections the oil heaters are to be preferred.

The oil heaters discharge great quantities of smoke and soot which often almost become a public nuisance and it is suspected may in some instances collect in quantities on the blossoms to prevent successful pollination. This point remains to be proven but is worth considering.

Number of Heaters Per Acre.

It is better to have many sources of heat than few; even though the total amount of heat is the same in both instances. The heaters should be placed from twenty to twenty-two feet apart each way in rows between the trees rather than near to or under the trees, and on the windward side of the orchard they should be about ten feet apart in a row perhaps fifteen or twenty feet away from the first row of trees and outside of the orchard. This outside row thus has an extra number of heaters because it must protect the first row of trees and because the heat from it is so much scattered by the wind that fewer heaters could not give the necessary protection. The heaters are placed in rows to facilitate filling, lighting and extinguishing them.

When to Light the Heaters.

The condition of the fruit buds whether partly open, or wide open, makes some little difference in the danger point of the temperature, but as soon as they first begin to open, 32 deg. Fahrenheit had better be accepted as meaning trouble. While the buds are still closed they will stand a lower temperature and heating is seldom or never done until they begin to open. Good judgment is necessary at this time in order not to burn fuel uselessly. Tested thermometers should be distributed throughout the orchard and also at a couple of places for comparison outside the orchard. If the temperature goes down slowly during the night and reaches 32 deg. a short time before sunrise, it will not be necessary to light the heaters. If the temperature reaches 32 deg. earlier in the night then every fourth heater should be lighted, and more if necessary to keep it at 32 deg. or a little higher. The thermometers outside the orchard must be watched so as to know how cold it is away from the heated area.

If the temperature drops rapidly toward the danger point in the evening or during the night then the fruit grower must be alert and get fires going before 32 deg. is reached because it is easier to maintain a safe temperature than it is to raise an injurious one. When the outside temperature begins rising and approaches 33 deg. the fires may be extinguished as fast as weather conditions permit. The length of time the heaters are lighted may vary from an hour to several days depending on weather conditions.

There is much more danger on a clear night than on a cloudy one because the radiation of heat from the earth is more rapid. Clouds act as a blanket and check the radiation very considerably. Fruit growers, during the season when there is likelihood of frost damage, should maintain careful observation of weather conditions. They should also study the U. S. weather reports and whenever the forecast indicates likelihood of frost, make ready to light their heaters and thereafter keep especially close watch on local weather conditions.

Alarm Thermometers.

One or more alarm thermometers may be installed in the orchard and be connected with wire and battery to an alarm bell in the house. If this thermometer is set at 33 deg. it will automatically complete the circuit when the temperature falls to 33 deg. or below, and the bell will rng until someone breaks the circuit or the temperature goes up above 33 deg.

It is absolutely essential to have storage tanks so as to have fuel at hand all of the time. These should be placed near to or in the orchard for convenience in refilling the heaters. If 100 heaters per acre are burning it means the consumption of 100 quarts of oil per hour or 100 gallons in four hours. In many parts of the country it is usually necessary to light the heaters only three or four times per season and keep them going from two to four hours. This will mean a consumption of 300 gallons or less of oil per acre each season. It is not safe to risk having less than this amount per acre available even though the season be favorable and none is used, and the orchardist can quickly compute the amount of storage space he needs for his orchard. He should also have an understanding with the jobber to ship oil immediately upon receipt of a telegraphic order.

Storage tanks may be made of wood, iron, or cement at the option of the owner.

A wagon tank with large faucet and short piece of hose is desirable for distributing the oil in the orchard. The oil is drawn into buckets—lipped or spouted ones are best—and poured from these into the heaters.

The kind of oil used whether crude, fuel, or distillate, will depend upon which is available in the different sections. The oils with an asphaltum base are not desirable because there is too much unburnable residue; those with a paraffine base are much better in this respect.

Cost of Equipment.

The cost of oil heating equipment varies greatly, and each fruit grower must work it out for himself. The heaters are worth from $20 to $75 per acre, depending upon the kind used. At least 200 gallons of oil per acre must be on hand to begin with, this will cost from $9 to $20. Distributing tanks and storage tanks will add to the expense, according to the size and kind used. The buckets, torches, etc., do not add much to the expense.

The coal heaters cost about $20 to $30 per acre, and since the coal may be dumped on the ground there is no expense for storage. In fact, the coal may be distributed in piles throughout the orchard and the heaters be refilled from these without more equipment than ordinary baskets and shovels.

There had better be an oversupply of equipment than an undersupply, because if one heating is omitted at a critical time the whole expense goes for naught that year.

It may seem like a heavy expense to put in equipment for heating the orchard, but this expense is really a premium on insuring the crop. There are plenty of instances where the investment of a few hundred dollars and active work at critical times resulted in the saving of a crop worth several thousand dollars. Many orchards would be unproductive without orchard heating. Over large areas covering one or more states there is an average of one peach crop in three years without orchard heating; with orchard heating there would be from two to three crops in three years.

It must be understood that orchard heating applies not to protecting the orchard in winter, but to the protection of the blossoms and very young fruits from late frosts in the spring.

MANAGEMENT OF BEES IN SPRING SEASON.

By FRANCIS JAEGER, Agriculturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

The bees are at their lowest ebb when taken out of the cellar in the spring. There are only old, worn-out bees from the preceding fall in the hive, greatly decreased in numbers by winter losses. The old bees will die in about five weeks so the queen now begins to lay eggs in the wax cells which the bees feed and keep at a temperature of about 98 deg. To provide food for the growing swarm the bees begin to forage the surrounding country for honey and pollen. To keep the brood warm they cover it with their bodies and wings. If there is no pollen or honey in the hive, or if the brood gets chilled, the larvae or young bees will die, and their white bodies will be found in front of the hive in large numbers some morning.

A good bee-keeper will not allow this waste of life. He will feed his bees sugar syrup if there be no honey in the hive or put some scented rye flour in a sunny place near by to take the place of the pollen if no natural pollen can be had. It is especially important to keep the hive warm by covering it with tar paper, sacks, or blankets, and closing part of the entrance, and to see that there are no cracks or openings left in the hive through which the wind may blow. Such management lays the foundation for a large crop of honey.

TESTING ALFALFA AND CLOVER SEED.

By W. L. Oswald, In Charge of Seed Laboratory, University Farm, St. Paul.

In testing alfalfa and clover seed for germination, it will be noticed that some seeds will not germinate although they are healthy in appearance and not decayed at the end of the test. These are termed "hard seeds." They have unusually hard seed coats which prevent them from taking up water readily. These seeds germinate readily when the seed coats are scratched. In former years it was thought by some that hard seeds in alfalfa and clovers were as so much inert matter. It is reasonable, however, to believe that many of the seeds become sufficiently scratched during seeding operations so that they will grow at once, while others will grow later on. Experimental work is being done along this line and it is hoped that soon the hard seeds in alfalfa and clovers will be found nearly as useful as the others. It is found that alfalfa seed from the various states differs greatly in the percentage of hard seeds. Minnesota grown seed nearly always has from 15 to 20 per cent hard seeds.

The Minnesota seed laboratory, in its enforcement of the new seed law, has made a regulation regarding the hard seeds in alfalfa and the clovers as follows: In placing the germination test on the label when seed is sold, one-half the percentage of hard seed may be added to the percentage of seeds that germinated.

HOG CHOLERA.

By M. H. REYNOLDS, Veterinarian, University Farm, St. Paul.

When treated by the serum-virus method, hogs receive simultaneous injections of serum and virus. Serum-virus treatment should as a rule be permitted only for healthy hogs in a cholera neighborhood and hogs with normal temperatures in infected herds. Under any ordinary circumstances serum-virus treatment should not be permitted in uninfected territory.

The only safe or economical rule is to use full doses of serum or even larger doses than may be actually necessary in either the serum-only or serum-virus method. The serum-only and serum-virus methods should both be recognized as legitimate and standard procedures when used in a proper way and under proper control. Cholera-free neighborhoods should aim to produce their own feeding-stock and not risk infection by shipping in feeders.

A farmer living in uninfected territory and who wishes to increase his herd should do so if possible by raising his own stock or buying from the immediate neighborhood where he can be sure there has been no cholera. There can be no assurance of entire safety to the neighborhood if hogs are shipped in any stock car or pass through any stockyards or have had any real serum-virus treatment. "Doctored" virus is being sent out by some commercial firms. This is safe if sufficiently "doctored;" but it is of no use so far as conferring immunity is concerned.

FARM CREDIT BANKS.

The first debates between the colleges of agriculture of Wisconsin and Minnesota will occur on March 27. The literary societies have been interested for some time in establishing intercollegiate debating and have raised a guarantee fund to provide for expenses. It is intended to make this one of a series of public discussions of current agricultural problems. For this contest the question is, Will cooperative rural banks best meet the demands for real credit of the farmers of Minnesota and Wisconsin? The team upholding the affirmative will debate at home and the negative team will go to Madison. Minnesota has the following representatives: F. C. Clapp, Otis Brewster, Arvid Nelson, C. Wirth, Neil Head, C. A. Halverson.—R. C. Lansing, Minnesota College of Agriculture, University Farm, St. Paul.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

By LE ROY CADY, Associate Horticulturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

Hotbeds may be started now if this has not been done before.

Plan a good flower garden from which flowers may be cut this summer. Order the seed now.

Try topworking a few apple or plum trees. The work is interesting but not hard.

Flower and vegetable seed for later transplanting may be sown in hotbeds now or in flats set on the hotbed.

Melons and cucumbers may be started in hotbeds in berry boxes, or on squares of sod, by the middle of April.

Plant more berry-producing shrubs about the home for ornamental purposes. Some are useful for both food and ornamentation.

Feed and shelter the birds that will soon be migrating to the North. They have especially hard times in our early spring snow storms.

Early sweet peas may be sown in berry boxes or pots and transplanted outdoors as soon as the weather is settled and the soil workable.

Berries of highbush cranberry, barberry, mountain ash, cotoneaster, and seed pods of Japanese lilac still add interest to the shrubbery plantings.

A few currant bushes ought to be in every garden. White Grape is the best white; Perfection and Red Cross are good red, and Lee's Prolific is a good black variety.

Cuttings of willow, dogwood, grape, etc., may now be made ready to plant as soon as the weather is warm and settled.

It is safest to plant all kinds of nursery stock in the spring. It will soon be time to do this work. Better order it now so as to get it in good season.

If snow has drifted over currants and small shrubs, forming a crust, scatter cinders or ashes over them. These will melt the snow irregularly and the bushes will not be smothered.

A few boxes fitted up for bird nests or houses and placed in trees where cats cannot get at them often help to keep very desirable feathered neighbors in the neighborhood. Now is a good time to put these up.

IS THE INCUBATOR BETTER THAN HENS?

By A. C. SMITH, Poultryman, University Farm, St. Paul.

The hen is an efficient mother and has certain advantages which no artificial system has yet been able to provide, but the incubator is better adapted to large enterprises and to some small ones where the hen is not properly understood. Notwithstanding the popularity of incubators, large and small, and of brooders of different styles and sizes, there are yet many of our best authorities as well as our most successful raisers that maintain that there is no incubator or brooder that can rear chicks quite equal to those hatched and raised by the natural process.

There are however a few fundamental advantages in the old-fashioned method for the small grower. First of all a good setting hen involves very little additional expense—none at all if she is one of your own flock. Second, a small number of eggs may be set, thereby allowing incubation soon after eggs are laid which often means better hatches and stronger chicks. Third, with proper arrangement, and up to a small limit, the same number of eggs set under hens, requires no more work than when in an incubator. Fourth, fewer eggs are spoiled when a hen abandons a nest than when an incubator goes wrong. Fifth, perhaps the greatest advantage of all lies in the fact that the average hen takes a great deal better care of a young chick than the average human being can take. Sixth, the hen supplies much cheaper labor. Chicks when hens are require very much less attention than those reared in brooders. Finally, results are usually more satisfactory because of less mortality and with only average skill, growth is much more rapid.

Man selects a box of large or small dimensions, but usually not less than ten or twelve inches in height, places therein a nest of hay, the eggs, the hen, and outside a little water and corn, and expects the hen to do the rest. Of course the hen has to leave the nest, and to return she must jump first upon the edge of the box ten or twelve inches high and from this perch she is expected to alight in the midst of 13 or 15 eggs without striking one. If the hen selected that nest it would be where she could walk on and off, and the sensational high dive would be omitted from the daily program.

LONDON HAS FEW AMERICAN CROOKS

Scotland Yard Man Says They Give London Wide Berth.

London, March 21.—American crooks now give London a wide berth. Supt. William McCarthy, of the criminal investigation department of Scotland Yard, states that only on rare occasions does his department have to handle a case in which an American crook plays a part. When Frank Froest, McCarthy's predecessor at the head of the criminal investigation department, was serving his apprenticeship as a detective inspector, American crooks were so numerous that he was sent several times to America to study their habits on their native heath.

At present, however, London is suffering from an invasion of crooks from the colonies. Most of these come from Australia and South Africa and they are of the type which resort to violence without hesitation. Many of them thrive by blackmailing wealthy colonials, who have taken up their residence in London. Some of these residents have pasts, the revelation of which would spell disaster and social oblivion, and the blackmailers who follow them from the colonies fatten on this knowledge.

In accounting for the disappearance from London of the American crook, Scotland Yard officials expressed the opinion that the skillful confidence man finds better openings on the continent, while his less artful colleague finds a safer outlet for his energies at home.

GRAIN BEING GROWN IN ITALIAN COLONY

Rome, March 21.—Agriculture is proving so successful in Tripoli, the new Italian colony in Africa, that the government expects to see soon a great deviation of the usual emigration to the United States in favor of the opportunities near at hand. The Italian soldiers in Tripoli, with the fatigues of war past and the most urgent roads built, are experimenting with various kinds of agriculture to learn what is best adapted to the soil.

Already immense tracts which have hitherto yielded only thistles are green with the promise of abundant crops, the government having distributed thousands of bushels of grain among the Arabs on the condition that it is returned when the crops are gathered. At Azizia the harvest of barley has been multiplied forty times, and at Sosfa medical herbs and potatoes are being grown with great success.

ARMY AND THE ULSTER TROUBLE

Gen. Paget Says Orders of the King Will Be Obeyed.

London, March 21.—Gen. Sir Arthur Paget, who commands the troops in Ireland, at a dinner given him at the Corinthian club, Dublin, told his audience what the exact feeling was in the army over the Ulster question. He had been assured, he said, that there was no intention on the part of the government to make use of troops in Ireland except "to maintain law and order." Speaking of Irish troops and the Ulster volunteers, which are being organized to resist home rule, the general said:

"It is not thinkable, it is not possible for me to contemplate ever being asked to concentrate my men and to move against the forces in the north of Ireland.

"At the same time, you must remember that in our lives we soldiers often have to do things that we do not like. When we have to deal with large bodies of men who understand the meaning of the word discipline it means that, however, distasteful it may be to them, they will carry out any orders given to them by the king.

"And it may be—God forbid it should be—my lot to be ordered to the north. I should regret it. I have no doubt that many officers would regret it, but if the order comes that order must be obeyed."

This speech is taken as the reply of the official heads of the army to those who have suggested that many officers would refuse to obey orders to put down revolution in Ulster.

RADIUM HAS COME TO AID SURGERY

Now Going Through Experimental Stage of Radium Treatment.

London, March 21.—"It would be well if those who are experimenting with radium would be silent for the next couple of years until they know where they are, and can make some definite announcement," said Dr. Charles Ryall, chairman of the medical committee of the cancer hospital, at a recent meeting of the governors.

"Radium," he added, "has not come to supplant surgery in the treatment of cancer, but to aid it in fighting the disease. The properties of radium are comparatively little known, and we are therefore going through the experimental stage of radium treatment, endeavoring to fathom its effect on disease, especially cancer, estimate its dosage and classify what cases are suitable for treatment by it. That will mean some years of work, but we can wait with confidence for a definite pronouncement, as the radium research work in the country is being carried out systematically and is in the best hands."

Dr. Ryall said there was enormous field for resarch work at the cancer hospital, but it was hampered by the inadequate supply of radium and its enormous cost.

SWISS DIFFER ON SALE OF ABSINTHE

Berne, March 21.—Opponents of the prohibition of absinthe in Switzerland declare that since the law went into effect the consumption of that spirit has greatly increased. They claim that the principal effect has been to give absinthe powerful and wide-spread publicity, and to introduce it into many homes where it was hitherto unknown. Another effect has been the flooding of the market with a host of inferior products destined to replace absinthe, which itself is smuggled in in large quantities and forms a fast growing and highly remunerative illicit industry.

They propose that a government monopoly of the sale of absinthe should be substituted for total prohibition. This, however, is strongly combated by temperance advocates.

EFFORT TO HUSBAND ITS SUPPLY OF OIL

London, March 21.—The British navy is being handicapped by inability to keep up a continuous and adequate supply of oil fuel. This is said in naval circles to be the real cause of the decision not to hold any grand maneuvers this summer and for the cancellation of the review of the fleet which the king had intended to hold at Spithead. Every effort is being made to husband the supply of oil at the supply stations and to use it only in such ships as burn oil exclusively. The destroyers have been kept in harbor since they arrived at Christmas.

Allain Redou, of Havre, France, has invented a life preserver based on somewhat the same principle as that adopted in the water wings that children use. It consists of a garment of strong material of the same shape as an ordinary vest, but equipped with inflatable rubber tubes.

MARKET HAS QUIET DAY

Wheat Trading in Small Volume and Prices Are Unchanged.

Flaxseed Operations Featureless With Small Offerings and Demand.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 21.—Trading in the wheat market was lifeless today, and the price movement came within the narrowest possible range. Fractional weakness was shown on lower Liverpool cables and softness in coarse grains at Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City. May wheat opened unchanged at 92⅝c and it closed ⅛c off at 92½c. July wheat opened unchanged at 93⅜c and it closed ⅛c off at 93⅜@93½c. The September quotation was placed on the board at 89¼c bid. No business whatever was put through in durum. The May option in it was closed up at 92½c asked and July unchanged at 92¼c nominally.

Offerings of oats were liberal, and they closed off ⅛c at 36⅞c.

Rye closed a cent higher at 55⅝@57c for the best grades. There was again no market in barley.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 36⅝c bid and July at 38c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 91c bid and calls at 91⅜c bid.

The day's news was generally on the bearish order. The cash demand turned slow, and it was intimated that the winter crop outlook could not well be improved upon. Export bids were out of line, with interest at Liverpool quiet for the time being.

Both corn and oats sold off further at Chicago, and Armour was reported to be a heavy seller of wheat there.

In face of these generally adverse conditions for holders, the statistical position of spring wheat is regarded bullish by Duluth grain men. There is said to be an accumulation of wheat by the big operators on all the weak spots.

A letter was received by a local grain house today from Sentinel Butte, N. D., under date of March 18, advising that farmers had been at work on the land in that section for a week or more, and that some of them had already seeded wheat. It snowed five inches there that night, which will check operations in the fields for a time. The ground was said to be in good condition for cultivation, and everything was thought to look promising for the season. The elevators in North Dakota were reported in the communication to be busy shipping out wheat to escape taxation on April 1.

Receipts of wheat were moderate at all points. Inspections at Duluth for the day were 24 cars. For the week the day were 24 cars. For the week the day were 24 cars. For the week

BENCH WARRANT FOR DIVORCEE

District Judge Fesler today issued a bench warrant for the arrest of Alfred J. Carlson, defendant in a divorce action, who failed to pay any attention to an order of the court requiring him to appear and show cause why he should not pay alimony regularly. The order was returnable on Feb. 28, but Carlson put in no appearance.

At the instigation of G. A. E. Finlayson, attorney for Mrs. Carlson, an order was secured today directing the sheriff to arrest Carlson and bring him before the court to be punished for contempt. Carlson was divorced several months ago by his wife, Carrie M. Carlson.

AGED CASS LAKE WOMAN IS CALLED.

Cass Lake, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. K. J. Gilmore, mother-in-law of Archdeacon Parshall of the Episcopal church, died today, aged 69. Mr. and Mrs. N. Gilmore celebrated their golden wedding last August. Her husband is still here, and is 79 years old. Mrs. H. J. Parshall was the only child born to the couple. The funeral will be held Monday, Rev. Caleb Benhan of Park Rapids officiating.

THIS IS THE FIRST DAY OF SPRING.

Today is the first official day of spring.

Signs of spring occurred in Duluth long ago, but this is the advent of the season, and the public in general should take notice and say "last winter" rather than "this winter," as heretofore.

This is the time of the spring equinox and according to traditian there should be storms, which, however, have not materialized, and about whose absence there is not the least complaint.

From now on until June 21 it will be spring. That day will mark the beginning of summer.

HIGH COURT MAY DECIDE

Right to Assess Board of Trade Memberships Is Disputed Question.

Final determination of the question of whether memberships on a board of trade are taxable as an item of personal property may rest with the United States supreme court, although the state supreme court has held them subject to taxation.

A dispatch from Washington today states that members of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce yesterday filed in the supreme court an appeal from the decision of the Minnesota courts holding their memberships in the chamber subject to taxation as personal property.

The complaint, the dispatch states, is made by the members that the taxing officials of Minneapolis arbitrarily discriminated against members of the chamber of commerce in that membership in lodges, golf clubs and other social or fraternal orders similarly situated as voluntary associations were not taxed.

The proceedings will be watched with interest in Duluth in view of the recent test case which went to the supreme court from this city. The supreme court in its decision held that the Duluth taxing officials were within their rights when they placed memberships on the local board of trade on the assessment rolls as personal property.

WANTED

Accountant now employed, having a wide experience in credits, collections, adjusting, office management, and accounting, desires a change. Exceptional credentials. Address T 307, Herald.

WANTED HERE FOR FORGERY

After operating throughout the country for four years, and being "wanted" by the police in almost every large city, C. Howe, 35 years old, wanted by the Duluth police on a charge of forging a cashier's check for $300, by which he cashed at a local bank, was yesterday afternoon arrested by the authorities at Richland, Mo., where he attempted to pass a check on the local bank.

Chief Troyer and the American Bankers' association had sent circulars throughout the country requesting the apprehension of Howe on a charge of forgery.

Chief Troyer will leave this evening for Richland and will bring Howe back to Duluth to answer a charge of forgery.

Howe, who has used the aliases of C. Wade, C. Weston, C. Wood, C. Ware, C. Harris and C. West on the various checks he has passed since 1910, has a novel plan on which he works. He will go to one city, obtain some blank cashier's checks, saying that he is a banker himself and rather likes the form of one he desires to get. He also learns the name of the cashier and then goes to the next town and forges a cashier's check, made payable to himself.

On March 4 last, Howe operated in Duluth and succeeded in cashing a check on a local bank, using the cashier's check of Freeport, Minn. He had forged the name of F. Risland, cashier of the latter institution. He asked first for the cashier of the local bank, knowing that the latter was out, and then stepped up to a teller's window and explained that his friend, the cashier, was out and that he was very anxious to have the check cashed immediately. He was not very well acquainted with the other officials, he said, and must consequently ask a favor of the teller. He was in the act of trying the same game at Richland, when the teller recognized his scheme through the circulars that had been sent out by the American Bankers' association, and he immediately notified the police. The arrest followed.

Howe is described as being 35 years old, five feet eight inches tall and weighing about 160 pounds. He is very smooth in his manners and is apparently well educated.

GOVERNMENT BUYS LAND IN WISCONSIN.

Marinette, Wis., March 21.—The United States government has just closed a deal for the purchase of 3,200 acres of land in Forest county from the Keith-Hines Lumber company, which is to be used to establish farm homes for the Pottawatomie Indians. The land lies east and north of Stone lake. Other tracts are near Wabeno, Forest county, and in the reserve part of Marinette county.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 21st, 1914.

The buying the past week in Calumet-Corbin has easily taken care of all the offerings and the market has been firm at 30 bid every day. A new and a higher range of prices must be established before this demand from the very best of investment buyers is satisfied and the market was never in as good a shape to respond to buying orders as it is at this writing.

This issue is acting most excellently in our opinion, and everything is in readiness for a great, big, broad, active market, which has never resulted in anything but higher prices.

Calumet-Corbin, selling at such low levels, backed by a producing paying property, an A-1 mining management with finances sufficient for each and every need and with a market from one end of the country to the other, listed on the largest curb exchange where trading is done on a strictly first-class basis, appeals to us and must appeal to any intelligent speculator or investor as the greatest opportunity of making a good, substantial profit on a very limited investment.

Our advice is the same, BUY AND BUY RIGHT NOW, but if you must sell DON'T WORRY, you will see a market to sell anything you care to dispose of.

CLAPP TALKS ON PENDING SUITS

Tells Club Members of Litigation Against Two Railroads.

At the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club last night City Attorney Harvey Clapp gave a talk on several suits against corporations which are pending and some that are being contemplated.

Mr. Clapp spoke in reference to the proposed action for damages against the Canadian Northern for alleged damages to the West Duluth fire hall, the action that might possibly have to be taken against the Northern Pacific to have it construct a subway under its tracks at Smithville and also gave a short talk on taxation and assessment.

The speaker outlined in a general way what the grounds in the action for damages would be and stated that there was as yet no need for haste, as the damages could probably be better determined after the road had been in operation for some time.

In reference to the subway at Smithville, which is proposed as a passageway under the railroad's tracks for the street railway extension to New Duluth, Mr. Clapp said that there existed in his mind no doubt but that the city would win its case. No action could, he said, be started before June 1, the time limit given the company to act in the matter voluntarily.

In speaking of taxation and assessments, Mr. Clapp said that this subject was a "hobby" with him. He said that the only people who appealed from the assessments were those paying large amounts, owing to the fact that the small owners could not afford to bring the matter into court. He said that in these actions often resulted in the court arbitrating the matter by striking a middle ground and that the difference between the original assessment and the amount determined by the court would fall back on the city as a whole. He said that he had under consideration an amendment to the city charter which in the case of an appeal of a property owner from an assessment would bring every property owner affected into court and allow it to spread the entire assessment over the benefited property. "As a rule the spreading of an assessment is considerable of guess work and in many cases the court knows far less about the property than the assessor who levied the amounts," he said. "We have several such cases in court at present."

Mr. Clapp also spoke on the proposed subway for Highland street, stating that it was expected that within a short time an agreement would be reached between the city and the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad officials. He recommended that the members of the club assist in securing petitions for the closing of some of the streets between Fifty-seventh and Sixty-fourth avenues in return for the railroad building the subway.

ATHLETES ORGANIZE.

Industrial High School Is Ready for Spring Sports.

The Duluth Industrial high school athletic association was formally organized yesterday afternoon at a meeting of students representing every class in the school. A constitution was adopted, officers elected and plans made for taking an active part in field sports.

Otto Blais was elected president; James Donald, vice presiden; Arnold Erickson, secretary; Frank Martin, treasurer and John Nettleton, sergeant at arms. The board of control will include the officers and members of the faculty. The members of the faculty on the board will be W. Nonnamaker, H. J. Sullivan, C. A. Avery and J. A. Walker.

SURE SIGNS OF SPRING.

Boys Begin Playing Baseball on the Corner Lot.

Spring is here!

It is said in all confidence, because the sign seen this morning is unfailing. While other columns of the paper may be carrying news of curling, hockey skating and other winter sports—still spring is here.

This morning all decked out in uniforms—they may have been those of last year, but that makes no difference—with chest protectors, masks, mitts, baseballs, and bats, twenty youngsters were playing an exciting game of baseball on a corner lot on Fifty-first avenue west and Ramsey street.

OBJECTED TO HOUSEWORK.

West Duluth Man Flees From Dish Washing and Is Arrested.

Peter Rivers of West Duluth yesterday contributed $5 to the coffers of the city treasurer of Superior. It came about because Peter had felt himself degraded in the sight of his family when asked to "wipe the dishes."

Peter decided that he would leave home and Thursday night set out for Superior with the intention of "doing the town," but he ran afoul a policeman.

In imposing sentence on him yesterday, Judge Parker of the municipal court told Peter, that a little housework once in a while would not hurt him.

"Fanny Crosby" Sunday.

"Fanny Crosby" Sunday will be observed tomorrow evening by members of the Grace M. E. church in honor of the great composer's ninety-fourth birthday anniversary. A song service in which the songs rendered will be those composed by Miss Crosby will feature the program. The following program will be given:

Organ prelude, Miss Myrtle McDonald; anthem, "I Was Glad," choir; prayer, Agner Swan; duet, Mrs. David Jones, O. Stenberg; solo, Miss Nellie Nelson; song, "Love Song," choir; offeratory, Miss Myrtle McDonald; trio, George Jewell and Mr. and Mrs. David Adams; vocal solo, "Face to Face," Miss Della Jones; hymn, "I Am Thine," congregation; address, "Life of Fanny Crosby," Abner Swan; duet, "Lift Up Thine Eyes," Mrs. Kelley and Mrs. Adams; hymn, "Blessed Asurance," congregation.

Two "Kid" Rinks.

Two "kid" rinks have been organized at the Western Curling rink and will contend for honors at the rink this evening. The boys are all members of the Fitwell ball team and intend to play at the curling rink next winter.

Meetings at New Duluth.

Ensign and Mrs. W. E. Graham of the Duluth Salvation Army corps last evening began the first of a series of meetings to be held in New Duluth. Ensign Graham said this morning that it was proposed to hold these meetings on Friday evenings every two weeks.

Class Is Organized.

At a business meeting of the Westminster Bible class of the Westminster Presbyterian Sunday school held last evening at the home of Murdock McBeth at Proctor, the class was formally organized, officers elected and bylaws adopted. The class also adopted "We Do Things" as its motto.

The officers elected are as follows: Andrew Johnson, president; William Ritchie, vice president; Miss Clara Winness, secretary and treasurer. Harvey Simpson was elected chairman of the membership committee; Miss Agnes Winness, chairman of socoal committee, and L. A. Barnes, chairman of the religious committee.

Will Repeat Plays.

The Delta Gamma club of the West end will repeat its two plays at the assembly hall of the Irving school Tuesday evening. The proceeds from the affair will be turned over to the senior class of the school for the purpose of assisting it in getting out its annual publication "The Oracle."

The club presented the two plays "A Lark at Nonotuck Hall" and "Samantha Allen and Her Neighbors" successfully before a large audience at the Woodmen hall, Wednesday evening.

Final Hockey Game.

The final championship hockey game between the junior and senior classes of the Duluth Industrial high school, will be played Monday afternoon at the Western Curling club. Each of the teams now has two games to its credit and both are claiming the championship honors.

Royal League Party.

A novel party is being planned for the entertainment of members of West Duluth and Pocahontas lodges of the Royal league Tuesday evening. Every member of the lodge attending is being requested to come wearing an apron. The style of the apron is not stated, it being left to the taste of the members. The hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. T. F. Olsen and Mrs. Thomas F. Brain.

J. Nylund Summoned.

Justus Nylund, 24 years old, died last night at St. Luke's hospital following a short illness. The body was taken to Richter's undertaking rooms from where it will be taken over the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad to Eveleth for burial. Nylund leaves a widow and an infant child living in Eveleth.

HEAR ABOUT MARKETING

The first short course in agriculture at the Northeastern Minnesota Experiment station, Duluth, Minn., ended today after a most successful session of two weeks. The close was marked by the whole class, under guidance of Supt. Mark J. Thompson and A. B. Hostetter, taking in several wholesale houses with the idea of learning about the marketing branch of agriculture at first hand. At the end of the trip the members of the class expressed themselves as having received a revelation which will be worth a good deal of money to them.

They were taken first to the Marshall-Wells Hardware company's building, where they inspected the laboratory and were instructed in methods used there, and shown the harness department and how the harness is manufactured. They were also shown how everything is managed to prevent waste, and how each department is made to work in co-operation with each other one. After that they were taken to commission row, and in the house of the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company were taken in charge by W. Gage Baldwin, secretary of the company, and shown the various departments. Mr. Baldwin explained how products should be sent to market. He showed, for instance, in the matter of cabbages, how surplus leaves were a total waste in the commission house, whereas, if the producer would remove them, he would not only be accommodating the commission man but would be furnishing extra food for his own cattle. Other matters of facility and economy were pointed out to the class.

At the Bridgeman-Russell plant, Henry Bridgeman took the class in charge and showed them many valuable points about the marketing of dairy products.

The class formed what is named the Northeastern Minnesota Pure Seed league, and have pledged themselves on returning home to begin the raising and developing of pure seed, not trusting to outside sources for the furnishing of seed.

Dean Woods and Prof. Boss of the state agricultural school were present at the closing sessions of the school last night and gave addresses.

STREET IS UNSIGHTLY

Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, is planning to improve the appearance of the city in the vicinity of the union station in order that visitors arriving on trains or leaving on passenger boats may receive a better impression.

To this end he proposes to introduce an amendment to the employment office ordinance to include West Michigan street between Fifth and Sixth avenues in the district in which they are prohibited. No employment offices are now allowed on Superior street between Second avenue east and Eighth avenue west.

By this change he hopes to eliminate the gangs of men who now loiter in the block. He states that he does not wish to work any hardship upon the employment agents as he believes that it will not be very difficult for them to get new locations. He would allow those who have leases to remain in their present offices until their expiration.

In this connection he will have the traffic regulations announced to prohibit drays from standing in that block. These will be allowed to occupy other stands on Michigan street, west of Sixth avenue. The patrol box at the union station will be moved to another location, so that men who are being arrested will not serve as an attraction to gather crowds, as is now the case.

Commissioner Hicken began to secure improvements to better the appearance of the city's gateway last summer. Under his direction Harbormaster Inman caused the removal of eyesores along the water front, and this will be continued the coming season.

PREPARING TO FILE PROTEST

The objectors who attended the recent meeting of the international commission at Detroit to protest against permission being granted the Northern Michigan Power company to raise the level of Lake Superior nearly seven inches will probably gather in Duluth next week to outline what action they will take at the next meeting of the commission, which will be held at Washington, April 7.

D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department, who represented the city commission at Detroit, said that he has had a telephone conference with E. F. Potter, who appeared for the Soo road, and that they will make efforts to hold their meeting with the other objectors as early as possible. Manager Reed is sending to all the members of the joint commission copies of local newspapers containing interviews opposing the raising of the lake level.

MINNESOTA IN IDEAL POSITION

That the state of Minnesota is ideally situated upon the continent of North America and is one of the most fertile in various resources was the claim of Prof. Edward M. Lehnerts of the University of Minnesota, who spoke last night on "Minnesota: the Heart of Our Continent" at the auditorium of the Central high school under the auspices of the university extension department. This lecture was the first of the series in the extension course.

The speaker illustrated his lecture with stereopticon views. He first showed how Minnesota was favored by weather conditions, being out of range of the tornado belt of the Southwest and also out of the path of the severe wind currents. A good fall of snow, too, was pointed out as one of the best assets of this climate.

Views were shown of mines on the range and of various crops grown in the state. The progress in stock raising, poultry raising and diversified farming were also emphasized.

In speaking of the "Seeing Minnesota First" tour, conducted last summer, the speaker said that the whole trip cost each member of the party but $67. Another trip is planned for this year, he said.

SECOND DIVING CONTEST HELD

Three young women who had entered for the Orpheum swimming contest last evening failed to appear, and in their place seven young men competed for the second cup given by Manager Billings.

Capt. Adams, manager of Odiva, read the names and addresses of the three young women who had entered, but they did not respond, so the men repeated the contest of Tuesday evening.

The theater was filled to capacity, and several hundred people were turned away. The audience seemed to thoroughly enjoy the stunts.

Frank Williams, who took second place Tuesday evening, won the cup, performing all of the stunts demanded of him. He resides at 475 Mesaba avenue.

Harry George was a close second.

The other entrants were: Robert Chamberlain, John MacInnis, Frank Wright, Lester Murray and William Diamond.

JUST COULDN'T KEEP STILL

William Oates, Colored, Had to Enter Ragtime Contest.

William Oates, colored, came all the way from Superior last night to see the ragtime contest at the Empress. He had not planned to participate, but when the contestants were syncopating to their hearts' content, William just couldn't make his feet behave.

He either had to dance or play, to keep from dancing.

When the contestants had finished playing, William jumped out of his seat and asked Jimmie Allen, the contest manager, for a chance at the piano. He would show the crowd who put the rag in ragtime. And the crowd immediately fell in line and yelled in behalf of the colored player.

"Bill" was given his chance and a vote was taken on his playing. But he only got third prize, according to the applause of the audience, the first and second honors being given to Miss Marie Nelson and Miss Bertha Durkee, respectively.

PEOPLE NOT AWAKENED IN PURE FOOD CAMPAIGN

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley Takes Rather Pessimistic View of Conditions.

Fears Agitation Will Die of Inanition—Opponents Well Organized.

SOME WILEYISMS:

"The people of the United States are less interested in the matter of pure food and health than in the tolls of the Panama canal, a question that concerns the happiness of no one.

"It would seem that there are more people who want unhealthful conditions than healthful; or at least they are working harder and make their presence felt more.

"The school children want to be healthy; therefore let us teach the question of pure food and the proper nutrition in the public schools.

"Let us make it a great big national question; let us have a church day and call it public health religion.

"The interests arrayed against the great and grave question of public health are aggressive, solidified, determined and alert; this is the handicap that the national issue of pure food and better health is contending against.

"Why is it that the people of this nation are 100 times more interested in the tariff question, an issue that means only dollars and cents, than in the vital questions of good health?

"'The Jungle,' the novel dealing with the rotten condition of meat preparation, raised a great popular outcry against certain methods and we passed two important bills in one day; since that time we have allowed ourselves to forget all about it.

"Unless the people of the United States raise the issue of pure food and make it a national one, taking the initiative in this important matter, agitation in this regard will die of inanition."

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the most famouse advocate of pure food in the land, is a Duluth visitor today. Dr. Wiley is a large and florid man, and therefore it is difficult to picture him in a pessimistic or depressed mood; but while talking of the national question of pure food, the doctor gave unmistakable evidence of his pessimism over the future of pure food legislation.

Dr. Wiley lunched at the Kitchi Gammi club. Whether or not he ate pure food at luncheon, he talked of it before going into the dining room.

"For instance," said the doctor, "Governor Glynn of New York appointed a commission to secure better and purer milk. It was found that the members of the commission were the very men who had been fighting such a commission, together with some of the farmers with the dirtiest dairies and most insanitary herds.

"The governor denied that he knew of the existing conditions, saying that these men had been recommended to him as appointees. This is a single illustration showing what those fighting for pure food and better conditions surrounding the health of the nation, are contending against.

"I have heard that you have the most healthful city in the country. You don't have the conditions that abound in New York. If you did, you would realize the obstacles placed in the way of proper legislation and ordinary safeguards to the public health.

Court Steps In.

Now, for instance, the United States supreme court placed a construction on a law that was passed some few years ago. The court held that in curative medicines no claim as to curative qualities could be assailed. The court held that only in the matter of composition could there be interference. This knocked out the efficacy of the law, as medicines of this kind have practically no complex composition.

"Later congress amended this ruling, but the amendment was not very drastic, and the law is without real power.

"Again, government officials are against the enforcement of the law and have fought me when I held public office. There is not an awakened national interest nor a public conscience upon the vitally important matter of pure food, which means nothing less than good health.

"Unless there is an awakened interest upon the part of the public, I can see very little progress. It is a fact that the interest that flamed into being regarding the question of pure food and our health, has been allowed to dwindle to a very low plane.

"The interests fighting new laws or the enforcement of present laws, are unified and intensely alert to take every advantage. Imagine then the grave handicap we are under when government officials are passive to put the case mildly, and the people exhibit little or no interest.

"Children want to be healthy—therefore let us teach them in the public schools. Make it a national issue—wake the people up. I am in favor of having it discussed in the churches. It is the religion of health."

Dr. Wiley is an excellent example of a man who has lived on pure food. He would make an admirable exhibit A in this regard.

The doctor is large and vigorous and walks like a man who was good for miles. His countenance glows with health and his eye is clear and vigorous, and as a health advocate he gives one the impression that he could go along fighting the question for years.

Dr. Wiley will lecture tonight at the First M. E. church.

ARRANGE FOR ADVISORY BOARD

Several representatives of Duluth manufacturing firms met last evening at the Commercial club with Miss E. P. Evans, a member of the state minimum wage commission, and decided to name five representatives of Duluth firms to act as an advisory board to furnish the commission with data, etc.

The individuals who will be on the board were not named, but the firms from which they are to be appointed were, and it will be up to the various firms to determine who will represent them. In most cases, it is believed, the head of the firm will be chosen. The firms designated are: Stone-Ordean-Wells, Marshall-Wells, the F. A. Patrick company, Northern Shoe company and the Union Match company.

MORE WITNESSES TO BE EXAMINED

Witnesses called at the afternoon session of court in the Gran divorce case yesterday were Police Detectives Herman L. Toewe and J. L. Bradley, John Saari, a local attorney, and Elizabeth Sandell, a domestic employed at one time in the Gran home. The case was adjourned yesterday afternoon until Monday morning. It is understood that several more witnesses are yet to be called by the plaintiff.

Detectives Bradley and Toewe recited in detail the facts alleged in connection with a raid which was made on Heino's office, Sellwood building, on Jan. 31 last, when Mrs. Gran and Heino were arrested.

John Saari, a local attorney, testified to hearing certain conversations over the telephone line between Heino and Mrs. Gran. Saari said that he used the traps which Gran had installed on his own telephone line.

Elizabeth Sandell, a domestic employed at the home of the Grans, testified that she had witnessed numerous champagne suppers and midnight revelries at the Gran home during Gran's absence. She claimed that Mrs. Gran and Heino were participants.

TO FACE GRAND JURY.

Allen Ransen, 33 years old, who was arrested by the authorities at Pontiac, Mich., early this week on a charge of having stolen $50 on Feb. last from John Kerns of the Sixth Avenue hotel, was brought to Duluth this morning by Deputy Sheriff Schubisky.

Ransen was arraigned in municipal court shortly after on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree, and waiving examination, he was bound over to await the action of the May grand jury. Bail was fixed at $250. Ransen was formerly employed as a clerk at the hotel and was traced by means of a letter to a friend in Duluth.

WILL RECOUNT CHISHOLM BALLOTS.

Harry H. Austin and Charles R. Woods, both of Chisholm, were selected this morning in district court as two of the three inspectors who will make the recount of the ballots cast for village president in the recent village election at Chisholm. The recount has been ordered in connection with the contest which Henry Fugere, defeated candidate for village president, has filed against Joseph Austin, successful candidate.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

INQUIRY FOR ALL PROPERTIES IS BEGINNING TO BROADEN

Large Wholesale House Plans to Establish Branch in Duluth.

Rental Agents Report Great Demand for Houses and Flats.

In so far as the actual closing up of transactions was concerned, the present week was comparatively featureless in local real estate circles. The broadening interest being shown in all classes of properties is, however, a source of gratification to operators.

Capitalists have been in the city during the last few days inquiring into the situation here and looking up propositions that had been previously submitted to them. One of the number represented a prominent wholesale house in a Middle West city that has under contemplation the establishing of a branch here, and perhaps eventually making Duluth its headquarters.

Negotiations in two new factory projects referred to recently are said also to be making progress, and announcements in connection with them are expected within the next few weeks.

Business frontages in West Duluth are said to be very much in the limelight at present. A party of prospective investors who visited the city recently are said to have been much impressed with the investment possibilities offering in several locations that way, and it is considered probable that as a result a number of deals will be put through during the early part of the season. The steel plant districts are also coming in for attention both from an investment point of view and for improvement. Sales of several blocks of lots at Gary, Ironton and New Duluth are expected to be effected within the next month.

Rental Agents Busy.

The extraordinarily active rental demand for houses continues an interesting feature in the realty situation. Rental agents aver that the present call for houses is the best in their experience. There is said, in fact, to be inquiry for more than double the number of houses and flats likely to be vacated on May 1.

"It is no trouble at all to rent anything modern. We are having the best inquiry since I have been in business here," said John A. Stephenson today.

H. L. George of the Little & Nolte company told a similar story. "We are being swamped with applications for houses," he averred. "The large new flat building at Fourteenth avenue east and Second street, which we are the agents, has been filled up from the time it was opened. We notice that many of the people inquiring for homes and flats are newcomers. That is good evidence that the city must be growing."

* * *

The Greenfield Realty company reported a good call for houses and building lots at Lakeside, resulting in the closing up of two sales yesterday. A lot was sold on Robinson street between Forty-second and Forty-third avenues east at $1,000, and a lot at Gladstone street and Fortieth avenue east at $550.

* * *

W. M. Prindle & Co. sold two lots in Crescent View park and one in Kenilworth park, both for improvement this spring. The erection of several homes in each addition during the present season is already being planned.

* * *

C. L. Rakowsky & Co. advised the receipt of earnest money on the sale of 100 feet frontage and two houses at the southeast corner of Fourth street and Third avenue west, the property of W. S. Milnor of Sioux City, Iowa, at a consideration of $6,000.

* * *

The E. D. Field company received earnest money on the sale of four lots on Central avenue, West Duluth. These are being bought for investment by an outside party.

* * *

"The present week has been our busiest in some time," said H. W. Chandler of Richardson, Day & Cheadle. "We have had people in our office every day looking up propositions, and the best of it is that the inquiry has been all of a substantial nature."

Mr. Chandler averred that the interest in West Duluth properties is especially good. Sales just closed up included three lots on Huntington street and Fifty-ninth avenue west; one lot on Olney street between Fifty-seventh and Fifty-ninth avenue west and two lots on Tacony street, near Fifty-ninth avenue west. Three one-quarter blocks of property were also disposed of in Superior.

* * *

The N. J. Upham company sold two building lots in the Dickerman division on the West end hillside.

* * *

The Hoopes-Kohagen company sold a number of lots in Its Park Drive addition near Chester park, bringing the number disposed of in the last few weeks up to thirty. The office also sold four acre tracts in a division now being placed on the market near Colbyville. This property is considered very desirable for market gardening purposes, being within twenty minutes' walk of the street car line.

* * *

A. W. Kuehnow, president of the Gary Land company, reported sales of seventeen lots in Gary during the week, all to buyers from outside the city. He averred that the inquiry for property in the steel plant district is steadily improving, foreshadowing a heavy turnover within the next few weeks. He now has negotiations on with a Chicago syndicate for a block of Gary lots.

MUCH BUILDING NOW UNDER WAY IN DULUTH

Activity in Residence Construction Found Imperative Because of Shortage

Work Progressing on Theaters and Other Business Buildings.

In spite of the unfavorable weather considerable new building work was taken in hand in the city during the week, especially in the way of moderate-priced residences. Ground was broken for several houses in the various parts of the city, and the indications are now regarded as promising for a busy season.

In the opinion of realty men, activity in the building of houses would be fully warranted by conditions, as there is admitted to be a shortage of homes at present to accommodate persons being attracted here through the recent expansion in industrial operations. That is especially the case in the West end, West Duluth and in the steel plant districts.

In Gary alone, proposals to build thirty-five houses were announced during the last few days by A. W. Kuehnow, president of the Gary Land company. A contract for fifteen homes has been let to George Droolet. J. F. Stocker of Racine, Wis., will build five cottages and E. W. Trok of Fort Wayne, Ind., ten or twelve two-story houses.

It was reported by the New Duluth Land company that six residence lots were sold there during the week, and that inquiries for dwellings are coming in daily, but that at present every available place of habitation is occupied. It is said by Louis R. Taylor, local sales agent of the company, that twenty-five additional homes would find tenants at once. Ground is now being broken there for five modern frame dwellings. It is intimated that a material advance in the price of all New Duluth properties will be made within the next thirty days.

Permits issued at the building inspector's office during the week made a fair showing, for this early in the season, being fifteen in number with the cost of improvements placed at $18,860. With one exception, they were all for residence work and repairs.

The Herald has made arrangements with Edward P. Shurick, a local architect, to run a series of residence designs on its Saturday night Beautiful Homes page. The series will comprise nine different types of domestic architecture as follows: The American home, the colonial home, the English half timber house, the Swiss chalet, the German half timber house, the French renaissance, the Italian renaissance, the California bungalow type, and the Swiss mission type.

Mr. Shurick has had considerable experience in residence architectural work, having been engaged with some of the leading architects of the country. He is making a specialty of residences in this city costing from $3,500 to $40,000, and he gives his personal attention to the work.

The contract for the rebuilding of the premises on Michigan street and First avenue west, formerly occupied by the Barthe-Martin company, and gutted by fire a few weeks ago, was let yesterday to the D. H. Clough company. An expediture of approximately $20,000 will be entailed. The building will be made practically fireproof. The Railroad street and Michigan street floors will be of reinforced concrete construction, with the floors above of millwork. The premises will be equipped with automatic sprinklers throughout. An additional story will be added, bringing the building up to four stories. An elevator, enclosed in a fireproof shaft is to be installed, and adjoining the elevator, also fully enclosed, will be a stairway running from top to bottom of the building. The contractors will proceed at once with work on the job and it is expected that the premises will be ready for occupancy by the Barthe-Martin company in about sixty days. The building is owned by Charles Davis of New York and Charles P. Craig & Co. are its rental agents.

Edward P. Shurick, architect, will have plans ready to go out for figures on March 20 for a flat building to be erected on Fourth street east. It will be of brick and stucco construction and its exterior will be modernly appointed in every respect, including hot water heating.

Arthur Hanford, architect, has plans in hand for a $4,000-frame residence to be built at Silvely road and Livingstone avenue, Kenilworth park.

* * *

Wangenstein & Gilluson, architects, are taking figures on a brick store building to be built for the Duluth Brewing & Malting company at Willow River, Minn.

Splendid progress is being made by Fawcett & Bergstrom on their contract for the new M. S. Cook theater building going up on the site of the old St. James hotel. The erection of the steel frames is nearly finished and work has been started in setting the terra cotta. It is proposed to have the structure ready to open early in June.

The same contractors are also making a good showing on the erection of the new Abrahamson moving picture house on Superior street near the Columbia building. The brick walls are up, and they are awaiting delivery of the terra cotta material. Wangenstein & Gilluson, architects, prepared the plans and are supervising the work on both structures.

It is expected that the Western Rug company's new factory building at West Duluth will be completed next month. The installing of the heavier machinery has been started. A feature commented upon in this building is that it furnishes the first example in this city where reinforced concrete construction has been treated architecturally in design, forming an attractive exterior. Anthony Puck, its architect, is being congratulated on that score.

The following permits were issued during the week at the office of the building inspector:

DECISION RESERVED

Judge Fesler Takes Under Advisement Questions in Mandamus Action.

Residence of Railroad Company in County Is Subject for Dispute.

After listening to arguments an alternative writ of mandamus directing the judges of the municipal court to appear before him and show cause why they should not vacate an order entered by Judge W. L. Windom remanding a damage suit back to the Hibbing municipal court for trial after it had been sent from the Hibbing court to Duluth, District Judge Fesler this morning announced that he would take the matter under advisement before announcing his decision.

The action is of an important nature in that it will result in a clearer interpretation of the procedure to be followed under a 1913 law governing municipal courts, their jurisdictions, and the rights of a defendant railroad corporation in a change of venue proceeding in counties having more than one municipal court.

The question is also raised as to where the legal residence of the Great Northern railway is so far as St. Louis county is concerned. The mandamus action resulted from a suit brought in the Hibbing municipal court by August Juntonen against the Great Northern Railway company to recover damages for the loss of a cow killed by one of the company's trains.

In the Hibbing municipal court, Baldwin, Baldwin & Holmes, attorneys for the railroad company, filed affidavits setting forth that the residence of the railroad company so far as St. Louis county is concerned is in Duluth, its principal place of business, and asked that the court remand the action to the Duluth municipal court for trial. The order was made accordingly.

After the change of venue had been granted, Victor L. Power and A. E. Templeton, attorneys representing Juntonen, appeared before Judge Windom in municipal court and asked to have the case remanded to Hibbing for trial on the ground that a railroad's residence is wherever its lines operate and consequently as much in the village of Hibbing as in Duluth. Judge Windom ordered the case sent back to Hibbing for trial.

Attorneys for the railroad company then started an action in mandamus to settle the question. The proceeding is a rather unusual one, in that it invokes the power of a higher court over an inferior court, seldom exercised.

LUNDGREN MUST PAY FINE OF $500

Judge Morris Sentences Former Postoffice Employe.

Gustav Lundgren, former clerk in the money order department at the postoffice, who was last January found guilty on a charge of embezzlement, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Page Morris to pay a fine of $500.

Lundgren was arrested last fall, together with Arthur P. Young, another clerk, and Fred C. Hanson, superintendent of the department. Hanson was later found not guilty and the two clerks pleaded guilty following the indictment by the January grand jury. Young was sentenced to serve a jail term, while the sentence of Lundgren was continued until yesterday afternoon.

On mtion of Andrew Nelson, attorney for Lundgren, Judge Morris allowed the prisoner several days in which to raise the money for his fine. He is now out on the bonds in force since last January.

OBITUARY

Marie Jansen, 65 years old, a comic opera favorite twenty-five years ago, died in Milford, Mass., March 20. She was known off the stage as Hattie Johnson.

Ira N. Goddard, who was elected town clerk of Millbury, Mass., for his sixty-second term at the annual meeting on Monday, died of pneumonia, March 20, aged 84. He was the oldest city or town clerk in point of service in the country.

John A. Danielson, one of the oldest pioneers of the upper peninsula of Michigan, died at Calumet, March 21, aged 82. He had been employed by the Calumet & Hecla Mining company for forty-six years. He came to the Lake Superior region in the early fifties.

Abner Conro, in the early sixties a lumberman at Oshkosh, Wis., is dead at Rhinelander, Wis.

John W. Runkel, a retired lumberman of Oconto, Wis., died in Oshkosh, March 20, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John C. Zentner. He was over 70 years of age.

Henry G. Newton, Federal referee in bankruptcy died at New Haven, Conn., March 21 of heart failure. Mr. Newton was personal counsel for William Jennings Bryan, executor of the estate of Philo Bennet, in Mr. Bryan's appeal from a decision in the superior court, which held invalid a bequest to the executor contained in a sealed letter found with the will.

Wilton Lockwood, painter of portraits, folk studies and flower pieces, died in Boston, Mass., March 20. He was born in Wilton, Conn., 53 years ago.

Superior

Wife Starts Action.

Andrew Turvala, laborer, was arrested yesterday on a charge of non-support, preferred by his wife. When arrested he had $42 on his person. When arraigned in police court, Swan Herd, poor commissioner, testified that the county had been contributing to the support of the man's family. The defendant pleaded not guilty and hearing set for next Thursday. Bail was set at $300, which Turvala was unable to furnish.

Old Resident Called.

G. F. Nelson, 71 years old, 1622 Hammond avenue, a resident of Superior for thirty years, died last night after a short illness of pneumonia. Nelson was a member of the G. A. R. and had served three years during the Civil war. He leaves a widow and two sons, Frank and Harry, both of this city, and a brother and two sisters residing in Nebraska. The funeral arrangements will be made this afternoon.

Swindler in "Mission Work."

A swindler has been soliciting funds among farmers of Douglas county for the last week, claiming to be an agent of the Superior Salvation Army, according to officers of the local corps. In a number of instances he is said to have secured sums of money amounting to $5. He is said to have pretended that he was getting funds for the purpose of sending a missionary to China.

Paving Bids Opened.

The city commission yesterday opened bids for the paving of Ogden avenue from Fifth to Belknap street. Warren Bros. were sole bidders on bitulithic material, their figure being $60,938.60. Peterson & Holm bid lowest on concrete, $34,791.04. The White Construction company submitted the lowest figure for sheet asphalt, $41,749.60. Peterson & Holm were lowest on brick, $52,334.99, and Fielding & Sheppley, lowest on creosoted blocks, $51,296.23.

COTTON OIL COMPANY REORGANIZES ITSELF

Officers Deny Action Is Owing to Government Request.

New York, March 21.—The lines of business conducted by the American Cotton Oil company will hereafter be divided and placed under the control of three allied companies, according to an announcement today by R. N. Munro, president. The business of refining and selling cotton seed oil will be conducted by the American Cotton Oil company itself, the cotton ginning and cotton seed oil milling and fertilizer business will be conducted by the Union Seed & Fertilizer company, a subsidiary, and the manufacture of lard soaps and the like by the N. K. Fairbanks company, another subsidary.

The company denies that the reorganization has any connection with recent reports that the government had asked it to correct its affairs, and say that the arrangement is for the purpose of affecting a "more simple organization and a more effective carrying on" of the company's business.

WANTS "PURE FOOD" LAW AS TO BOOKS

Harvard Man Criticizes Book Reviews in the Press.

New Haven, Conn., March 21.—"Literary criticism in American book reviews is lacking in good taste and intellectual candor," declared Prof. Bliss Perry of Harvard in the first of his Bromley lectures on journalism at Yale. "Criticism is influenced by the league between the publisher and the critic to obtain the best commercial results from the sale of books. Most criticisms are done by ill-paid and untrained journalists."

He also criticized the book advertisements. "The courts insist on labels for food," he said. "There is no pure food law for books. This indiscriminate advertising will ultimately defeat itself."

MEMORY LOST IN DRINK.

Pat Landy Loses Deposit Slip While on a "Spree."

Yesterday morning Patrolman Link found a certificate of deposit for $50 made payable to Patrick Landy, and the officers at headquarters immediately agreed that Pat was probably out drinking and had lost the paper. The surmise was correct, for a few hours later Pat himself was brought into headquarters in a hopeless state of intoxication.

Pat sobered up over night and remembered having obtained the certificate at a local bank. He did not know he had lost it, nor did he realize that his silver watch was also missing until this morning. He had been drinking for several days, he said.

On his promise to behave in the future, Judge Cutting suspended sentence.

JOBS ARE IN DEMAND.

Johnson Gets Many Applicants for Civil Service Tests.

Many applications have been received by Ruben Johnson, secretary of the city civil service commission, for the examinations which will be given for city positions next Saturday.

This morning he had received twenty-seven applications and he said that he expected a number of others. Six applications have been filed for stenographer, eight for clerks of first and second grades, three for chauffeurs, five for roiman, axman and chainman, and five for promotion to lieutenant of the police department. Five sergeants will take the examinations for lieutenant. They are Sergeants McDermott, Barber, Butchard, Roberg and Holmstrom.

FIVE CONFESS TO OPIUM SMUGGLING.

San Francisco, Cal., March 21.—When seventeen alleged members of an opium smuggling ring—former Federal customs employes, mail dock watchmen and Chinese merchants—were brought to trial before Judge Maurice T. Dooling in the United States district court, five of the indicted men at once pleaded guilty. It was announced they would testify against the others. Four of the guilty were former United States customs guards. The fifth is Young Tai, a Chinese.

It is the contention of the government that the indicted men were connected with an organized gang of smugglers operating in connection with trans-Pacific liners, which had in recent years brought contraband drug to the value of hundreds of thousands of dollars into the United States.

John L. McNab, former United States district attorney, who resigned after accusing his superior, Attorney General McReynolds, of holding up the prosecution of the Diggs-Caminetti white slave and Western Fuel customs frauds trials, is counsel for the alleged smugglers, opposing his successor, District Attorney Preston.

TRY GERMAN FOR KILLING IN DUEL.

Metz, Germany, March 21.—A secret court martial of Lieutenant von La Valette Saint George of the Ninety-eighth infantry regiment for killing Lieutenant Haage in a duel on Feb. 26, began here today. Nothing of the trial will be known except the verdict, the president of the court having decided that the publication of the evidence would be a menace to military discipline.

Continue Bruyere Hearing.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 21.—(Special to The Herald)—The hearing of E. N. Bruyere of Larimore, charged with agreeing to accept a bribe while a juryman in the McLain Copper murder trial, yesterday was postponed till March 30, which is the same day on which J. E. Sullivan will have his hearing. Sullivan is the bailiff who has given the state its principal evidence against the alleged crowd of bribers.

The next developments locally will be the hearings of Messrs. Bangs, Mahon and Harry Cooper next Friday.

SHOE DYE BLAMED FOR GIRL'S DEATH.

Marquette, Mich., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.) — Dye from a tightly fitting colored shoe is blamed for the death of Miss Agnes Griffin, aged 17, of this city. Blood poisoning was contracted through a small hole in the stocking when the heel became chafed and inflamed, and death ensued within three days.

CONFESSES RECORD; WELCOMED BACK.

Cumberland, Ky., March 21.—Harry Shaw Hayward, a newspaper man who left here several weeks ago when, because of his editorial attacks on what he considered evils in the community, a threat was made to expose his record, received an enthusiastic welcome on his return yesterday.

When Hayward disappeared he left a letter to the proprietor of the newspaper by whom he was employed, enclosing the anonymous threat and confessing that he had served a term in the penitentiary. He said he had tried to live down his disgrace, and now that his past was about to be bared to the public, he thought he ought not to embarrass his friends. He had been pardoned by Governor Goldsborough.

A monster petition for Hayward's return was signed by the leading men of the city.

Methodists at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the Grand Forks District Methodist association opened here yesterday afternoon and will continue till Sunday evening. Rev. Edwin Starbuck, delivering the series of six Hazlett lecturse, made his first address yesterday afternoon.

By AUGUST R. NORMAN,
County Auditor.

Dated March 9th, 1914.
D. H., March 14-21-28, 1914.

ORDER TO EXAMINE FINAL ACCOUNT—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.

In Probate Court. In the Matter of the Estate of Dwight G. Cutler, Decedent. The petition of Jane Thorn Cutler, as representative of the above named decedent, together with her final account of the administration of said estate, having been filed in this court, representing, among other things that she has fully administered said estate, and praying that said final account of said administration be examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, and that the Court make and enter its final decree of distribution of the residue of the estate of said decedent to the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of the representative and the sureties on her bond. It is ordered, That said petition be heard, and said final account examined, adjusted, and if correct, allowed by the Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County, on Monday, the 6th day of April, 1914, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted. Ordered further, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald, according to law.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., March 14th, 1914.

By the Court,
S. W. GILPIN, Judge of Probate.

Attest: A. R. MORTON,
Clerk of Probate.

Seal, Probate Court, St. Louis Co., Minn.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS. (Continued.)

WHY DON'T YOU LEARN MORE ABOUT SUNNYSIDE GARDENS

and the great opportunities offered there for the profitable growing of small fruit, such as strawberries, raspberries, currants, etc.; also poultry raising and truck farming?

DO YOU KNOW

that strawberry growers in this district have made as high as $1,000 per acre? There is a reason for this. Why not inquire? And that these 10-acre suburban farms can be bought on monthly payments of $10 to $12.50 per month.

WOULDN'T IT SEEM TO YOU

that the land at Sunnyside, which is located only four miles from the city limits of Superior, where the combined population of Duluth and Superior amount to nearly 150,000 and growing rapidly, would have a great speculative value?

Sunnyside has two macadamized auto roads leading into Superior and Duluth, as well as three railroads and a dozen trains a day; also daily mail and telephone service. The land is level, free from rocks, easily cleared and a fine soil for intensive cultivation. It offers you every advantage possible even to the extent of living there and working in the city if you want to.

ASK US

for our descriptive matter telling what others are doing, and we will send it to you free of charge, together with maps, prices and other interesting information. Over 100 have already bought 10-acre farms here.
